We sign up to go riding.
We sign up to have a date.
We sign up to spend week-ends out of town.
We sign up to go horse-back riding.
We sign up for rooms.
We sign up for courses.
We sign up for pictures in the Ad building.
We sign up for reserved tables in the dining hall.
We sign off every time we sign up or it costs us two bits.

We run to meals.
We run to the gym.
We run to every class
We run to the library with reserved books.
We run to get in the dorm before light flash.
We run for the trains.
We run for the buses.
We run for places.

We report to the business office
We report to the personnel office
We report to our classes.
We report to convocation.
We report to the Dean.
We report to judiciary.

We take rides up the hills with men.
We play "hies" out of hours.
We make unnecessary noise out of hours.
We keep our lights on after light flash.
We have dates without signing up.
We go on hikes without six in a crowd.
We spend the night three in a room.
We stay in another room without signing up.
We go to town at night without signing up. Then,
We report ourselves to CGA
We get restricted.

We get tapped for cabinet.
We get tapped for Esteem.
We get tapped for Spinsters.
We get tapped for Greek letter honoraries
We get tapped for Mortar Board
We get tapped for sources of information, but we have none.

We gripe about the meals.
We gripe about the teachers.
We gripe about late classes.
We gripe about early classes.
We gripe about the Dean.
We gripe about the rules.
We gripe about CGA
We gripe about convocation.
We gripe about the hills.
We gripe about the walk to town.
We gripe about term papers.
We gripe about exams
We gripe about one thing or another all of the time.

We cry when we have to leave home.
We cry when we don't get a letter.
We cry when we get bum grades.
We cry when we have a load work to do.
We cry when our teachers tell us we aren't working.
We cry when our friends cry
We cry because we have to stay up here.
We cry because we can't control our emotions.
We cry when we have to leave.

We lend clothes.
We lend money.
We lend soap.
We lend pape and pencils and ink.
We lend books.
We lend stamps.
We lend notes.
We lend term papers.
We lend our services for all occasions.
and

The other people do all the borrowing.

We make friends.
We make enemies.
We make A's.
We make F's.
We make good. or
We make a mess of things.
We make a stab at living down our mistakes
We make plans and most of them go up in smoke.

We talk about our friends.
We talk about our families.
We talk about our love life.
We talk about our lack of an-esty.
We talk about our past.
We talk about our future.
We talk about Gainesville.
We talk about the faculty.
We talk about our enemies.
We talk about everything and everybody.

We go to college.
We go to teas.
We go to conferences.
We go to examinations.
We go nuts.
We graduate.

Library Features "Planned Reading"

"Planned reading for the year" is the theme of the library exhibit which opens tomorrow in the vestibule of the library.

Students are urged to pick subjects according to their individual likes and interests instead of selecting books on a "hit and miss" basis.

There will be a poster up on the bulletin board and selected books on specific subjects and various fields for individual interests in the bookcases around the main distributing desk in the library.

Books on world affairs and for recreational reading will be in the other bookcases.

★ FASHIONS ★

To look your best, even if you can wear anything, care should be taken that your attire fits perfectly at important points, according to the October issue of Good Housekeeping magazine. Note in above photo, how waistline and shoulder pads are perfect and dress looks as well in rear as it does in front.

Supervisors Plan

The Regional Supervisors Council held a meeting last Wednesday and Thursday to discuss the curriculum laboratory of the Demonstration school on the campus of the Florida State College.

The council is composed of the various county and city supervisors in north Florida. Their meeting was carried on under the direction of the State Department of Education. Their work is concerned with the regional planning of county programs of instruction.

The meetings began at 2 p m on Wednesday afternoon and continued until 12 p m Thursday afternoon

Canterbury Girls Attend Conference

Canterbury club representatives at the Duncsan Youth commission held in Jacksonville last week-end included Sarah Lewis, co-chairman of the commission Barbara Randolph, acting secretary replacing Nancy Jones, and Dottie Sperry, Canterbury club delegate.

The purpose of the conference was to revive the United Movement of Church's Youth in the northern Florida Diocese. The commission was made up of 50 representatives from parishes and missions in this section of the state

Presbyterians Hold Session

Lakeland Pastor Is Named Fifty-fourth Moderator

During a three-day session of the Florida Synod of the Presbyterian church, which convened at Tallahassee Wednesday evening, many Florida State College girls have gotten the chance to renew acquaintance with their hometown pastor.

Rev C A Raymond, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Lakeland, was elected moderator of the Fifty-fourth session. The three-day session is being held at the educational building of the First Presbyterian church.

Out of state visitors to this meeting are as follows: Rev Thomas Kay Young, DD, pastor of Idlewild Presbyterian church of Tennessee. Rev Charles W Bain, moderator of the Strood of Florida of the Presbyterian church, USA; Rev Melton Clarke, pastor, Anniston, Ala; Rev Laurence I Bird, new pastor of the First Presbyterian church in this city; Captain Ralph McCaskill of the U S army; Rev M A McDonald, president, Thornwell orphanage, South Carolina; and Dr John R Cunningham, president Davidson college, North Carolina.

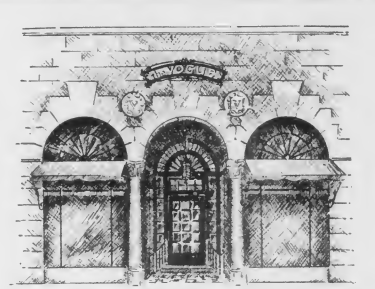
Class Elections

A sophomore class meeting will be held this afternoon at 5 pm in 303 Westcott to make nominations for sophomore representatives to Senate The elections will be held in lowe, Westcott on Wednesday.

Plans will be discussed at the meeting for the Thanksgiving dinner with Carol Claus as chairman of the dinner.

Irma Lee Shephard and Connie Savage, president of the sophomore class, will be in charge of the Even Feather-Selling booth.

Always Buy Chesterfield
MILDER...BETTER-TASTING...COOLER



If you're coming to see me tonight don't forget your A B C's for more smoking pleasure. You know, A—ALWAYS MILDER, B—BETTER TASTING and C—COOLER SMOKING.

Chesterfield's Right Combination . . . World's Best Tobaccos gives you ALL the benefits of smoking pleasure.

CHESTERFIELD
Copyright 1945, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. RIGHT COMBINATION • WORLD'S BEST TOBACCOS

This Shop Has Attracted Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Former Students Of F. S. C. W. Since 1923——

We Shall Do All Within Our Power to Prove Equally Worthy Of YOUR Patronage

The Vogue

The Florida Flambeau

Keep Journeying — Half-Dead Week

Z 106

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Tallahassee, Florida

VOL. XXXIII, No. 5 — OCTOBER 26, 1945

Cotterill Advises Seniors To Covet Freedom of Thought In the Investiture Address

303 Girls Hear History Professor Emphasize Role Of Independent Thinking After Dr. Campbell Invests Them With Caps

Those going forth from college on the journey of life must cherish that freedom of thought which they have won by hard apprenticeship in education, Dr R S Cotterill, professor of history, told 303 newly invested seniors of the class of 1946 at the traditional Investiture service Tuesday evening in Westcott auditorium.

Emphasizing the value of independent thinking in their life-long search for knowledge, Dr Cotterill spoke after the investing of the seniors with their academic caps by Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College, who was aided by their sophomore sisters.

"Although it will mean many a who wish to do your thinking for you, most insidious menace to the thought is within yourself," Dr Cotterill warned. "If you allow yourself to think and act as others direct you will loose the treasure of free though that your education should have given you," he said.

Dr Cotterill presented this journey in freedom as one of three ways in which those leaving college should go forward. Likening the seniors of journeymen, who, having completed their apprenticeship as skilled workers, set out as "journeying" in search of further knowledge, he expressed the hope that they may also travel without fear and in peace.

"This freedom is the result of further education which you who are seniors will soon undertake as life-work," Dr Cotterill declared. "There is," he said, "no limit to knowledge and no end to the search for it. The best we can hope for is to be faithful journeymen."

"The real dangers to a journey," he said Dr Cotterill, "are conventions, smothering your zeal and prejudices, barring your way to wisdom."

Most issues raised in order to pursue your free will, however, merely call moth-eaten answers up to rotten poles, demanding their overthrowing," he added.

In order to travel in peace every journeyman should carry an element of himself with which he may withdraw, undisturbed by external circumstances, Dr Cotterill said. Each person may in this way keep internal reserve which will provide balm for his soul in time of need, he said.

The ceremony included a traditional service, led by Miss Mary Brogan, president of Phi Beta, honorary science, and Buzz-Pecia's

Continued on Page Three

SAB to be Called Longmire Building

The Rovena Longmire building, which is situated on the southeast corner of the Student Alumnae Institute, should be called by its proper name it was decided by the board of management of the Student Building Thursday.

At the meeting which was held at 7 p m in the board also decided that grounds, especially those between committee meetings, or conferences, should be kept at a normal hour in connection, will it is future be expected to use the bathroom on the first floor of the center rooms on the fourth floor. Students may use the lounges on the main floor for campus groups. The smaller lounge is to be used by a group of fifteen or less and the main lounge for a group of more than fifteen.

Two students have been added to the board in the management of the Longmire building. They are Judy Millican and Henrietta Dorgan.

Kuersteiner Speaks To Musicale Today

Karl O Kuersteiner, acting dean of the school of music, will be the guest speaker at a program of the Foreign Musicale at Sacrosville this morning at 10:30. Mr Kuerstenier will speak on "The Beauty in Music."

Before coming to Florida State College Mr Kuerstenier's musical experiences include his study at Chicago Musical College, graduate work at the University of Minnesota, and study of the violin abroad.

Mr Kuerstenier was greatly interested in the music camp, and he hoped to see the FSC music become one of the foremost educational institutions of its kind in the South. Plans for FSC's music department include the building of a new music building with practice and rehearsal rooms complete with air-conditioning.

Odds Begin Dem Practice

Chairmen, Cast, Start Task On Original Program

Odd Demonstration script is finished, rehearsals were started last Saturday when final musical and speaking parts were cast and committee chairmen have been named and put to work, according to Nell Clark, demonstration chairman.

Three original compositions, including a ballad and some blues, and was written by the band director, will be featured along with Eleanor Bragg's piano adaptation of a symphony and another special piano arrangement played by Dixie Coleman. Another chorus, Chris Morrison's swing band, under Dorothy Cole and Betty Murray, Alice Gehan, and Dallas Stever will complete the musical background. The plan are

Continued on Page Three

Baritone to Appear Here November 19

Donald Dickson to Be Feature Of Blue Artist Series

Donald Dickson, nationally known baritone, will appear in Florida State College in a program sponsored by the Artist Series on November 19.

Since his debut at nineteen with Chicago Symphony as a symphony soloist, Mr Dickson has starred in opera, concert, radio and screen performances. The youngest male singer to appear with the Metropolitan Opera Company, he is also considered to be one of its most versatile performers. His repertoire covers a range of composers from Jerome Kern to Verdi.

Donald Dickson will be featured in a feature of the Blue Artist Series, but season holders may buy extra tickets who wish to attend this performance may obtain tickets for half-price at the College Book Store. Tickets will be available from November 5 through November 12 in the Student Alumnae building.

World Community Day to Be Observed

In observance of World Community Day on November 2, two members of the Florida State College for Women and Tallahassee branch of the United Council of Church Women.

At an inter-denominational meeting at 8:15 p m, church women to be held in the Presbyterian church at 7:30 p m November 2. Dr Marion Irish, professor of political science at FSC, will speak on the subject of the United Nations and the influence church women can exert in making it effective.

Dr Anna Forbes Liddell, professor of philosophy, will broadcast over WTAL at 7:40 p m that night on the subject, "Women as Peacemakers."

Heinlein to Talk On 'Color Photography'

Tonight at 7:45 in Broward louine Dr C P Heinlein, professor of experimental psychology, will speak on the subject "Color photography" and will show in connection some of his own scientific photographs. Everyone on campus is cordially invited to attend, according to Mrs Ray M Warner, Broward residence counselor.

Prior to the lecture Dr and Mrs Heinlein will be entertained at dinner in Broward dining room by the Broward house council. Following the dinner there will be a coffee held for a number of Broward members and invited guests.

Atomic Power Is Discussed By Lecturer

Richards Speaks at First Meeting of Academy Of Science

History and Possibilities of Energy Are Outlined

"When the first atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima, New Mexico on July 16, 1945, the atomic era was ushered in with an unparalleled man-made bang," said Dr Harold W Richards, head of the physics department at Florida State College. He spoke on "Atomic Power for War and Peace" Friday night, at the first meeting of the Tallahassee branch of the Florida Academy of Science, this year.

Dr Richards pointed out that secrecy in the engineering processes of atomic power would be impossible for long, even if it were to now today. He exhibited private text books which, coupled with a recent War Department bulletin, gave much information to enable a competent physicist, aided by his government, to work out the secret of the atomic bomb within two years at most.

"Is it necessary to antagonize the rest of the world by hugging these little explosive secrets for a year or two?" he asked.

Pioneer work in the practical release of nuclear energy was done abroad by foreign scientists before we left the war. The United States by them, making atomic power international in origin," Dr Richards said.

Believing that no sound policy

Continued on Page Three

Bryan Suite Proves Shocking to Campus By Being Bright Red

There are, no doubt, many clever and attractive rooms throughout the resident halls at Florida State College; however, there is one that quite outshines or perhaps outdraws the rest. When people passed this room, they spontaniously stopped dead in their tracks and stared. Others were taught that red meant stop or perhaps because they were just overcome by the brilliance of the color this striking little suite at 111 Bryan Hall. The color scheme which was timed a brilliant shade of red, attracted campus attention.

If one would visit it now, however, he would find that its original scheme of white with a touch of red-minded occupants have made a slight alteration. This consists of painting about the brilliant red of the walls to a pink, not a delicate pink, but a shocking pink. There will be some who will tell the reason for this, but one member of the suite has announced that they just couldn't sleep too well at night.

As the suite stands now, one side room is half blue and half green, for the walls are in the process of painting it blue. Just to add a little cheer to it they put up pink and blue checked bulletin boards. The other side room is done in white with a dull gray of the ceiling with rosebud paper. In both of these

Continued on Page Three

Professor Appeals For War Fund Drive

Dr Raymond Bellamy, professor of sociology, spoke over radio station WTAL Wednesday morning at 8:45 on the need for the people of Tallahassee to give generous contributions to the United War Fund Drive.

One of the organizations that the drive will benefit is the Boy Scouts of America. Dr Bellamy presented the value of scouting, and the need that they have for more scouts.

"With the funds secured during the drive, the scouts in Tallahassee will have better opportunities in developing their ideals," said Dr Bellamy.

Dance Cancelled

Because dormitories will be having Hallowe'en parties during the week-end of October 27 it has been necessary to cancel the soldier dance scheduled for that time, it was learned from the Personnel office.

On November 17 and December 8 the Florida State College Swing Band will furnish music for dances in the Leon County Service Club on Johnston and Dale Mabry may be invited.

Flambeau Conducts Opinion Poll On Honor System Effectiveness

In order to find out some of the opinions students had on the honor system and its effectiveness on this campus, the Flambeau asked 20 students from different parts of the campus their opinions on the subject. Of the group 11 thought it was not effective on this campus, but thought it would be a good system if it could be worked. The others thought it very effective and generally liked it better than a strict rule system.

In the poll all the freshmen and day students interviewed liked the system and couldn't think of no way to improve upon it.

The most frequent complaint of the students who were critical of it was the claim that it was not expressed it, "having to report another girl for doing something wrong."

When asked why she especially disliked that system one girl answered that she didn't think she should report anyone unless she was doing something that would harm someone else.

A transfer student said, "I don't like it at all for any of my business to tell on her, but if I were asked questions I would answer them."

Another observed, "I would speak to a girl myself if I saw her committing a major offense. She could report herself if she wanted to, but I don't think I ever would."

Concerning minor violations of rules, she said she would just let it go if it wasn't hurting anyone. Another student's criticism of about the system was that there wasn't one. One girl gave as an excuse for the honor that the lights were supposed to be off at 10:30 and that a proctor was not appointed to see that each one turned his off.

One of the interviewed had among her grievances the practice of having a girl withdraw from college as punishment for major offenses. She said she did not think it was very "honorable" to ship a girl for violating a rule, as that not only did not teach her to be honest but also made her a sort of "social outcast."

Continued on Page Three

Professor Confers On Latin Education

Meldrim Announces Scheduled Publication, December 1

Mrs Angela Palomo Cambell, tlrector of Casa Iberia at Rollins college, has been appointed visitor at Florida State College, where she will confer with the director of the associate professor of education. The meeting was a discussion of a program on the teaching of Latin-American and Inter-American education in public schools.

Dr Yancy said that an announcement which will include a state contest in the Spanish field will soon reach all state Spanish teachers. This contest will be made possible by a grant from the office of Inter-American affairs for the promotion of good neighborliness according to Dr Yancy.

Mrs Cambell is professor of Spanish at Rollins, was entertained by Dr Dorothy T Hoffman, associate professor of Spanish and French at a tea held on Saturday afternoon, October 20, in the modern language department, the members of Sirma Delta Pi, Spanish honorary, and the Spanish speaking students on campus. Mrs Cambell is a former representative of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish.

Sellers Predicts A 75-piece Band

A 75-piece band is expected this year at Florida State College by O P Sellers, director.

Because of the shorter band it was necessary to order 15 new uniforms. All those who signed up who were interested in joining the band to see him before Wednesday, October 31, so that well the uniforms might be ordered at once.

He said there was a special need for students who play French horns, bass saxophones, cornets and bass horns. The French and bass horns can be furnished by the college, but the band would have to be furnished by the students who play them.

"The band is planning," said Mr Sellers, "to order some of the larger instruments as soon as they come back on the market."

A trip to Camp Gordon Johnston is about tentatively the activity planned by this organization. The date has not been set, but they plan to play at the basketball and recreation hall, and then eat supper at the camp.

The director said he thought the rehearsals this year had been quite successful. He urged that everyone band members to come to the Lambda Chi Alpha house on Lands Creek every Saturday afternoon at 2 p m.

Kay and Johnston Elected to Senate

Peggy Kay and Corrine Johnston were elected senior representatives to the senate Thursday in the senior class elections held Wednesday and Betty Kennedy and Candy Jones are candidates for the sophomore Senate representatives in the final election which is to take place in lower Westcott tomorrow.

Other senior cand idates who ran for Senate were Catherine Gallacher and Mary Stallings.

Sophomores who were nominated for the Senate positions were Ann Avery, Lucy Felden, Jackie Norton, Betty Tipp Doris Johnston and Dale Mabry may be invited.

Attention, Seniors

Seniors may make their picture appointments today through Tuesday, October 31, in lower Westcott. Caps and gowns with formal collars will be worn.

Baugh Names Annual Staff

38 Appointees Begin Work On 1946 Flastacowa

With the selection of new staff members the production of the 1946 Flastacowa is now officially underway, according to Margaret Baugh, editor of the annual. Because previously scarce materials are now available, Margaret added that the aim of the new staff is to turn out the best annual ever published.

The new appointments to the staff are as follows: Kit Land, assistant editor; Jean Ann Ramsdell and Marshall Lee Vernon, administration section; Jean Sharer, Betty Jo Craig, Jackie Ferver, and Frances Brown, class section; Pat Pattishall and Jean Ann Graham, sorority section; Betty Ann Shiver, feature section; Louise Sims and Sarah Ann Gwin, organization; Shirley Duggan; honoraries; Catherine Gallacher, Frankie Hall, and Juanita Bennett, WAA section.

Jane Lyles and LaPerne Quinn, activity section; Franklin Smith and Dot Butts, copy editors; Betty Ann Shiver, Peggy Kay, Jean Sharer, art staff; Anne Hamilton, Lucille Barry, Peggy Pearson and Rasela Cuervo, photographers; Kit Land, Franklin Smith, Lucille Barry, Corrine Johnson, Bea Weaver, Betty Jo Bacon, Marcia Daniels, Sara Corry and Catherine Moore, staff assistants; Marianne Jones, Lavonia Allen, Joe Watt, Kitty Chaires and Ann Anderson, business staff.

Gremli Is President Of School of Music

Kathryn Gremli was elected president of the School of Music yesterday at the student recitals held in a recital hall of the Music Annex.

According to Eleanor Bragg, who was in charge of the elections, the other officers elected were: Kresmer Bragg, vice-president; Anne Townsend, secretary and Helen McCann, treasurer.

Lois Hyde, Wilda Hayes and Dolly Bolton had their piano recitals. Lois played a "Mac-Dowell Sonata," Wilda played "Bruyeres" by Debussy and "Ritaudon" by Havel and Dolly's "Andante" by Mozart.

As a special feature Dr Robert D Miller, associate professor in education, spoke to the group on "Recreation and Re-creation in Music." According to Dean Karl O Kuerstelner of the School of Music, it is going to be a regular feature this year to have a guest speaker at each of the recitals.

Owen F Sellers, associate professor of cello and other orchestral instruments, presided at the recital.

Stories of Summertime Linger As Students Recall Vacations

Summertime is just a memory to most Florida State College students, but memories are lingering on. The girls are still telling stories of their most exciting vacations.

Peggy Kay was a counselor at a camp on Cape Cod for a while until she and another counselor from the camp decided to hitchhike through the White Mountains of New Hampshire. "We covered 60 miles in 15 days," Peggy said. They rode bicycles and hitch-hiked rides on trucks. "We were over the mountains. Eating outside and never sleeping indoors were part of the novelties of their outdoor life. "The other girls at camp sold us a few meals when they found out we gained." They picked apples, ate fresh vegetables, roasted corn from the fields, and met some Canadians. Englishmen, and some South American girls who were also hostelling.

Lee Perrin Quin was a cub reporter on the Jacksonville Journal all summer. She went with regular reporters on their assigned beats and once she covered a Federal Narcotics Bureau raid. She was sent to get a story about the American "Frogmen" who are the swimmers who hit the war front with explosives that they shove out and blow up underwater obstacles and map out landing beaches. "I got a story," she also covered dog stories and was in charge of the Girls' Service Page Column and got my by-line on a Western Union feature story," she added.

Marion Floyd was chemical safety on a circus going to Canada, while Frances Pease kept a check on the water plant at Fort Benning and covered weds in that vicinity. Another of the students in the Florida Flambeau office, "Doc" Barber of the pre-med department, worked at the Osceola Theatre at night and studied during the day at surgical and operational technique.

Dalia Santon and Kay Moore had jobs supervising children and recreation in Tampa. Dalia was supervisor of the junior department of the Presbyterian Mission and was in charge of Bible School, the choir, and a basketball team. Kay was at a day nursery where she told stories and played most of the day. "I learned a little of Spanish children," Kay said "And

Continued on Page Three

Second Meeting of Senate Results in Modification Of Dead Week Restrictions

Artist Series and Traditional College Events Are Exceptions to Usual Limitations According to Senate Chairman

The student policy of dead week was modified yesterday afternoon at a second meeting of senate to allow artist series events and traditional college events to take place during dead week. The question was brought up and discussed by Senate at its regular meeting at 5 p m Wednesday; however, no decision was reached and a continuation of the meeting was called for Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock for the purpose of further discussion and voting on the motion and on a modifying amendment.

The motion approved by Senate vote reads in full as follows: "Dead week under the quarter system is amended to include Artist Series and traditional college events." An amendment was also suggested which defined traditional college events as "dormitory and sorority Christmas parties, the senior Christmas party, and church programs," but this was defeated. The motion was made by Martha Jane Brown and seconded by Jean Koesy, and this amendment made by Bobbie Hill, seconded by Pat Pattishall.

In the past, under the semester system, dead week was designated as a week during which no social or academic business activities were to take place As a result, the Christmas party could be scheduled during the six weeks of the year thus closed, and many rehearsals for the dance performances of well-known artists have been missed for the same according to Jackie Allison, CGA president.

Under the quarter system the first dead week of the year will begin on December 3 and each week will be held from December 10 to December 15, immediately after which Christmas vacation will begin. Scheduled for this time by tradition are dormitory and sorority Christmas parties, the senior Christmas party, church programs and the Glee Club vespers program. Also tentatively scheduled for this time is a series dance to be held on December 1.

As stated by Sarah Lewis, business manager of Florida Flambeau was to decide among three of the following schedules of Dead Week in all particulars, which would include all Christmas parties, Glee Club Vespers and any Artist Series event which might arise to be defined during this

Continued on Page Three

Evens Swing Into Rehearsal

Quinby Names Dem Cast; Includes Composers

"Even Demonstration rehearsals are running smoothly due to the competent cast and committee heads" says Ella Mae Quinby, chairman of this year's Even production.

Original songs have been written by Anne Pfifield, Corrine Jackie and Jackie Bledsoe. The solists for the occasion will be Calista Hefner and Ann Tucker.

"As usual Even Dem is so good Odds are going to have a run for it. Odds may have the quantity, but the Evens have he quality plus experience" declared Ella Mae.

Speaking parts in the production have been given to Corrine Johnson, Bea Weaver, Betty Jo Bacon, Marcia Daniels, Sara Corry and Catherine Moore. Dance staff assistants: Marianne Jones, Lavonia Allen, Joe Watt, Kitty Chaires and Ann Anderson, business staff.

Richards Works on Expansion Measure

Physicists Seek New Method Of Indicating Heat

Dr Harold Richards of the physics department, with the help of Miss Elizabeth Gehan, recent graduate of Florida State College for Women, is on an experiment to test the possibility of a new method of measuring and indicating very small amounts of heat expansion.

Pyrex glass and fused quartz art examples of materials which expand a little that special methods are needed to measure their expansion. Due to their small expansion, Pyrex and fused quartz are desirable because they are not subject to heat shock and can undergo sudden change of temperature without much danger of cracking.

The method of the experiment is supposed to be that a thin platform mounted on posts, to be level, is actually at different temperatures and if a piece of glass, panel or contract equally when the temperatures changes. Ordinarily this occurs. In the experiment, two optically flat glass plates are used—flat to within a few millionths of a wave length of light. Monochromatic light from a sodium vapor lamp is reflected from these plates. One plate is stationary, the other rests like a platform on top of posts made of the different materials to be tested. Unequal expansion of the posts tilts the plate and causes a shift of black interference bands which can be read directly in micrometer. By this means small expansions can be measured directly in wavelengths of light. When this experiment is completed it will be useful in the laboratory for demonstrations, according to Dr Richards.

"Teeny" Lanzeton, student assistant in physics, is helping with the work on the Service Project.

Cast Is Announced For First Production

Miss Mary Wood, director of the speech department's initial play "Time and the Conways," by J B Priestly, has announced the tentative cast for the play. Several male parts are being played by students in the Florida State college and at Leon Hig school.

The cast is as follows: Kay Ann Hunter; Madge, Maureen Petty; Havel Sarah Lewis; Joan, Claire St. John Carol, Barbara Holt; Mrs Conway Catherine Steed; Robin, Pfc Ralph Donaldson, assistant professor of industrial arts at FSC, Ernest, Mr Owen F Sellers, associate professor of cello and other orchestra instruments at FSC.

"Time and the Conways" was first produced in London in 1938,

Symposium Will Be Feature of Distaff

A symposium on post war recreation will be the feature of the first issue of the Distaff, scheduled for publication on or around the first week in November, Distaff editor announced

The purpose for the question and answer discussion on post war recreation is to find out what interests the students thoughts about such lines said Winifred "And I hope that this will be resolved theme other contributions in any particular field of interest, articles, politics, or entertainments will also be accepted."

Advertisement were especially urged to turn in all material to the Distaff, in care of campus mail by November 1 for this issue, after not to delay the date of publication.

"The lay seems to be in short stories and poetry," said Winifred, "and contributions in these forms needs any help with her writing, consult either the associate editors or myself, and all possible advice or suggestions will be given."

Associate editors of the Distaff are Jean Ann Ramsdell and Ellen Whitman. Beryl Tavlor is business manager Anyone caring to work on the Distaff staff may see the Distaff is asked to see Beryl.

Club Ends Drive

The Home Economics Club completed their membership drive on Thursday, October 18, the membership to a total of 111 students.

Those who signed their names on the traditional blue and gold banner were Mary Lou Hall and Imrie. 30 sophomores and 41 freshmen. Bobbie Glenn, treasurer of the club, announced today.

Anyone who would like to become a member and failed to sign on the appointed days may now do so by contacting Grace Sims, president.

All members are asked to watch the bulletin board at the Science building for an announcement regarding the next meeting.

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

YOU KNOW ABOUT THIS ONE

● FSC'S EMILY POST

Opinion has been voiced on campus that the Social Standards Council is not as effective as it might be. Some students have continued to wear slacks, blue jeans, and other sports attire in public eating places such as the Spic, Soda Shop and the Sweet Shop, even though the council decided that the wearing of the aforementioned apparel reflected poorly on the college social standards. So strong has the opinion been that Student Senate plans to devote a meeting to the discussion of making it more effective with the possibility that the decision will be reached to make violations of the standards punishable by house council.

It is the opinion of this student who seldom wears dungarees that the social standards council is at present serving its function properly and effectively enough. That is, the council now plans and arranges for many of the social affairs given for students' pleasure, it campaigns against bad manners in the dining hall, offers suggestions for correct social behavior, and attempts to correct breaches of good manners. This is the purpose a council of this nature should serve, if such a council must exist.

I might be compared to Emily Post, an accepted authority on what one wears when, the proper postures to be assumed, and other little niceties that have become the accepted and proper social behavior. Her advise is accepted or rejected. Human nature being what it is, most people strive to have social approval, and accept the proffered suggestions. However, in the event that they do not wish to comply with certain accepted standards, those who digress from the conventional ways are not punished by law, but receive the frowns and disapproval of other people.

Consequently, there is no reason for making the council one more agency whereby students are regulated in their behavior by a hard, fast law or threat of shaming penalty in case of violation. Already much too prevalent here are the petty rules and regulations which indicate that students are not capable of being "good citizens" and exercising discretion of their own free will.

● A FREE PRESS OR A HOG-TIED PEOPLE?

"A tongue-tied press is a hog-tied people." If the public understands these few words, they will have no doubts as to the need for a free press.

There are those who believe in press freedom—believe in a free press as long as the paper says what they think it should say. There are those, too, who regard the free press in this country as a social evil.

One of the chief complaints of both these groups is the fact that our press emphasizes conflict in human relations. Their suggestion runs along the line of "suppression" of those stories that result in dissension.

This is a dangerous policy to follow because these people or any other group have no concrete way to determine where the line should be drawn, except through bindsight.

If an editor starts the dangerous policy of leaving out those stories which might "hurt somebody's feelings" or feels will have an unfavorable effect on the people, by permitting himself to be controlled and ultimately giving up his right for a free press. In addition to loosening the grip on the free press privilege, which has been won by the blood and sweat of millions of conscientious newspaper men, he is withholding information from the public; thus allowing them to have a distorted viewpoint.

It is not the policy of editors to hold back information that they think should be released, just because it may disturb the surface harmony. But many editors will refuse to print stories that, in advance, they are able to see will be harmful to the general welfare.

Those people who enjoy reading only what they want to read usually hold to the idea that "We know everything isn't rosy, that there is conflict, but let's not say anything and maybe it will go away." This is a defeatist, apathetic attitude, one which is unhealthy for a democratic form of life. Human relations are marked by conflict, and if the newspapers do not give a picture of the world of which everyone, good and bad, is a part; then they are not true recorders of events.

When a newspaper runs a story of a strike, it isn't the newspaper who started it—it is a fact and the editor is carrying out his job—giving the story to the public so that they may too know what is going on about them. But still, there are those who read about strikes and connect them with the newspapers only. If the public does not enjoy reading about strikes it is up to them to dissolve this action. If the public could just realize that what happens in the world is their own action it would be much easier to understand the essential necessity of a free press, with no if's or but's.

As long as unsocial actions of people are suppressed from the public those actions can grow and grow until these men and women destroy things which are dear to us. In other words, when the press "kills" a story about a crime, for instance, it is in actuality harboring a criminal, for how is the public to know of such actions; how is the public to campaign with public opinion and law against such practices?

One must believe in freedom of the press, without reservation, or one doesn't believe in it at all.

● TO CUT OR NOT TO CUT

The students of Florida State College have apparently been given an opportunity to exemplify the mature judgement of which they are expected to be capable by the time they reach college age.

The elimination of the cut system, according to the 1945-46 student hand-book, places the responsibility for absence from class upon the student. The faculty of this college has by administration that the old system of a limited number of excused "cuts" resulted in unnecessary absence, it apparently was thought that by letting the student judge the necessity of an absence the number of cuts should be reduced.

As we have graduated from the period of compulsory education and on the assumption that students are in college because they are desirous of a higher education, it seems probable that students would be anxious to attend classes regularly, missing them only when it is inevitable or when they believe the quality of their work will not be impaired, by the absence. College students surely realize, however, that contributing to a rounded discussion in class is primarily dependent on their background in that subject and hence, to a great degree, dependent on regular class attendance. The individual teacher has the right to discriminate among values is a desirable achievement for any college student. Taking a responsibility such as decided the importance of an absence as against the importance of material to be presented in the class might be a step toward learning what college is all about.

There seems to be some confusion on the part of the students, however, as to the degree to which the faculty is to leave the discrimination to the student. Some students are under the impression that the individual teacher has the right to determine the number of absences into account in determining the final grade regardless of the over-all quality of work done in the class. The statements regarding absence in the hand book read:

"All students are expected to attend all of their scheduled college classes and not to absent themselves without adequate reason."

And under Upperclass Students: "Since the responsibility for class attendance rests with the student, no excuses will be issued for absences of upperclassmen. For excessive absences will be reflected in the quality of work done by the individual."

These statements, which represent the legislation of the matter to the student, apparently give the student full responsibility for determining absence necessity.

If, however, the instructor as well as the student may determine the necessity for absence, it seems possible that faith in the mature judgment of the student may be lost and the opportunity for students' acceptance of responsibility will not have been increased.

The Students Speak...

BY BARBARA WICKHAM

No matter where you look in a newspaper these days, on every page from the editorials to the comics you see comments on atomic power. They have even prefaced the comics to give you a lovely curly hair. Last week Dr Richards spoke on the problem of the atomic power and what to do about it. This made the students even more conscious of the problem.

This week we turn from "cuts" exams in our effort to seek student opinion. The question was is "Do you think we ought to keep the secret of the atomic bomb ourselves or what do you suggest we do with it?"

Marjory Cook, senior—

"I don't think they should keep it a secret and hold it over Russia's head as a threat."

Ann Colvin, junior—

"We ought never to have used it or if it was necessary we should never have even announced it but just continue to drop it secret. Now we should either tell the whole world or drop the subject from all of the papers and stop making so much comment about it."

Lee Goodman, sophomore—

"I think we ought to keep it a secret until we find out more about it and know what it can do."

Harriet Ruth Dews, sophomore—

"We might as well give it out because we have been able to keep it a secret anyway."

Betty Jane Wright, freshman—

"We should keep it a secret and not use it at all except perhaps for commercial use. It should never be used again for distruction."

Sarah Stewart, graduate student—

"We can't keep it a secret, so we might as well let everyone know as much as we have found out so it can help everyone. Now it is just causing unrest and might even lead to another war."

Emily Shetfall, junior—

"No, it ought to be given to the United Nations Organization to be kept in trust and only be used for constructive purposes. We definitely should have an international outlook about it."

Mary Ann Cannon, junior—

"I don't think it should be given to anyone under any conditions."

Margaret Ann Marshall, freshman—

"I think we ought to keep it a secret because it might get into the hands of the enemy and if they had it we'd be back where we started from."

Dot Fouts, sophomore—

"I think that it ought to be buried six feet under the ground. It is very destructive to mankind and will eventually lead to annihilation."

College Comments . . .

BARBARA BECKMAN

Many students have reported to be receiving in all directions last week when Indian tribes were seen invading the campus.

"P-Day —Polecat Day or Anti-Li'l Abner readers!) is here," was the cry. It was later confirmed all a mistake and realized they were merely part of the YWCA drive and it was only Y-Day. That's when you "Come and Get Acquainted to college!"

—Kentucky Kernel

The Crimson-White, University of Alabama publication, reports that "no classes met and that no university exercises were held Saturday will be held tomorrow." These two days are official football holidays. Here is one problem we at Florida State College don't have to worry about—if we can attend all of our beloved Saturday classes.

A freshman knows not and knows not that he knows not:

A sophomore knows not and knows that he knows not:

A junior knows and knows not that he knows.

A senior knows and knows that he knows.

—The Creightonian

A group of irate students descended on the cafeteria at 7:30 breakfast Wednesday morning. They were beating bowls of cereal, and laying the "stuff" down through the long line, found a table, and fixed their breakfast to the tune of one to they thought. The first bite of cereal or the first swallow of coffee revealed to them that the night someone had substituted salt for the sugar! Everyone left the table in disgust and was tasting "what was in the sugar bowl" before using it.

—FSC

"That's just exactly what I think of you!"

Click goes the receiver and the person who put in that call gives a slash of HELL—guess she got THEM told! Students have been receiving calls from the girls' hall phone with a hand ringer which is now in the speech office. Dr. Lewis Patton, director, who has been in Mildred Whatley's family for years, has found it convenient to the speech department to be used as a prop in plays, but has also found it very useful for those who wish to register a complaint or get somebody "told."

—Gripe Machine

FREE OF CHARGE

When hysterical laughter comes from the speech office it's safe to assume something funny has sincerely tried to call only to discover that the phone doesn't really work!

—The Loss-o

Van Johnson will pick the final winner in the North Texas State Teachers College cover girl contest! Twelve students were nominated to enter. Each girl had full length pictures in street dress and formal gowns made. The pictures will be sent directly to Van Johnson in Hollywood, who will pick the final winner. What do you think of that?

The latest fashion fad at Mississippi State College for women, according to the Spectator, is the perk-a-boo bang. To quote them: "Speaking of the perk-a-boo bang, the freshmen seem to have a few ideals along that line. Anyway, a lot of them seem to be getting quite a bang out of cutting them, and a good talent scout shouldn't have much trouble finding a double for Ish Kabibble in these parts."

In This Our Time

By GLORIA REED

War Crimes

A four-power commission of jurists, composed of representatives from the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia, has been in Berlin formally indicted 24 major war criminals. The accused have been given until November 20 to prepare their defense.

Russo-American Split

A rift between Russia on the one hand and the United States and Great Britain on the other is becoming more and more apparent to many observers. In Germany, it is pointed out, that Russia and the Russian Communists. Meanwhile there is considerable controversy between Russia and the United States over the limits placed on Japanese newspapers and other organizations. In order to straighten out differences between the two the American occupation in Japan, the United States has invited representatives from the United Nations to act as an advisory board conference to be held soon in Washington. It is thought by some observers that Russia's out of her opposition to the American policies in Japan will not attend the conference.

Latin American Affairs

In Argentina, a president-dictator Peron, supported by the Buenos Aires police and the laborers, recently forced the president of Chile and Lima, both of whom had taken over the major cabinet posts in the president-elect Parrell last week after the army-navy coup. Farrell, apparently afraid to oust the fiurehead president and is supporting Peron although last week he welcomed Avalos and Lima as the restorers of Argentina.

Or Forever Hold Your Peace . . .

To the Editor—

Steps are hard to climb. Forty or fifty steps a day would not overtax the average individual, but the prospect of locomoting four or five flights of steps several times a day would throw a Swiss mountain climber into a state of panic.

Yet that' is what is happening right here in Landis hall. We students, purseurs of knowledge, are compelled to expend a great deal of time, energy and effort trudging up and down, the result of which is much fatigue and little mental knowledge gained.

Although this is a little exaggerated the point to be made is that there is no need for the majority of the 500 girls of approximately 500 girls can at present boast of only one elevator, and that is used even then in a state of "repair". When one considers that the building has five floors and that there is a dormant elevator for now prize freshmen have been disposed of, there is really no reason why the west elevator should not be in use. Besides, I believe I speak for the students' general attitude when I say this, would you please consider this a complaint registered?

Mary Pat Weedon.

Sororities Disband At Hendrix College

CONWAY, Ark. (ACP)—Sororities of Hendrix College voted to disband all social sororities. Three of the four sororities voted to disband unanimously, the other by a large majority.

The matter arose this fall when a group of girls representing all four sororities, were discussing the effects of the nucleus politics and the chance of friendly atmosphere on the campus by lack of a clanish spirit brought on greatly by sorority rivalry.

The group discussed the subject and the idea of disbanding other sorority members were called in to express their opinion. The feeling seemed to be the same throughout the group.

The news spread quickly over the campus. Regular meetings of the sororities were held and this topic was the main discussion. Plans were made for each group to present a vote for or against disbanding .

Tine Good Government

A utility and transportation strike, which workers had threatened to call in case Peron weren't installed to power, was carried out during the 24 - hour celebration of the "strongman's victory."

In Venesuela President Medina was forced from control by an organized attack of army officers to put into power a seven-man junta headed by Betancourt, a well-known author and leftist.

Japanese Education

In an order from General MacArthur there will be five powerful changes in the Japanese educational system. They inclune the following: abolition of military training; ultra-nationalistic ideologies; screening of all educators to weed out the militarist element; restoration to jobs of teachers with liberal ideas; removal of discrimination against educators with regard to race, color creed, etc: and the liberalization of a system to teach the ways of a representative government.

Strike

During the last week John L. Lewis, UMW head, announced the end of the soft coal strike in six states. This order immediately allowed the continuance of the asses and other industries suffering from the lack of coal to resume work.

A settlement between the operators and the UMW on the re-assemblion of a foremen's union has been reached.

The longshoremen's strike in New York has officially ended.

Machinists over the workers all-ead a strike in demand of a 30 per cent wage increase. This week the state were not long ripplet for power, however, since state troopers were called and arrested the plants. Meanwhile, these strike workers have agreed to accept a settlement.

In six western states glass workers are on a strike for higher wages, and the United Automobile Workers union will demand a raise week in their wage dispute.

The number of strikes in the country, however, is on the great s concern on Capitol Hill as revealed by a statement by a member who said that during the war the no strike pledge kept the wheels of control not known in peace time. He also stated that the pledge should be kept for the outcome of reconversion and that their number, in time, would be somewhat.

Atomic Control

The Senate has voted in favor of a committee of 11 members, six Democrats and five Republicans, to study and control the domestic knowledge and production of atomic energy. The bill passed the Senate after Dr Urey, the leading authority on atomic energy, said that a law would be contrary to international good will and cooperation.

French Elections

Three powerful political parties of France have emerged in the first national election since 1936 and the fifth election in which women have ever voted in France. Figures showed a 96 per cent vote for the new constitution by which would write a constitution for the Fourth Republic and a 66 per cent vote in favor of limiting the functions of the Assembly and forming a provisional government until the new constitution is completed.

Bennett Elected

Jean Bennett was elected good counselor in the Pearls last Tuesday night at a meeting held in the club room of the Student Union building.

Fifteen gosts nominated three of their group for the presidency: Jean Bennett, Mae Manning, and Juanita Bowls.

The Florida Flambeau

1944-1945 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS ..... Associate Editor
LYDIA GAITOR, PEGGY KAY ..... Associate Editors
LOIS BYRD ..... Managing Editor
SHIRLEY ROGERS ..... News Editor
MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON ..... Columnists

Copy Editor ..... Lois Byrd
Feature Editor ..... Mary Nell McBrady, Jeanne Pitts
Columnists ..... Anne Hutton, Marie Cannon
Assistant Managing Editor ..... Lois Byrd
Society Editor ..... Margie Flinn
Assistant Society Editor ..... Betty Lou Bell
Sports Editor ..... Jack Hall
Outside News Editor ..... Catherine Moore
Photographer ..... Jerry Crusoe, Barbara Jean Dee Carter
Proof Readers ..... Betty Lou Bell

REPORTERS: Eupesia Albers, Alfra Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Eleanor Bayer, Betty Bell, Betty Lou Bell, Lois Byrd, Laura Lee Carter, Marjorie Clark, Jean Douglas, Mary Jo Dunagan, Barbara Farrer, Dorothy Fowler, Winifred Lane, Barbara Lanford, Betty Lattimore, Jo Mingledorff, Jacqueline Powell, Eileen Perry, Joyce Petty, Perna Quinn, Mary Jane Sherman, Marianne Southerland, Mary Terr, Toni Thomas, Frances Traxler, Kay Van Devie.

BUSINESS STAFF

Brice Tarpaan ..... Business Manager
Eileen Bayer ..... Advertising Manager

Entered as second class mail matter, January 30, 1919, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of October 3, 1917.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Sorority Chit-Chat . . . .

Weiner roast, "coffees". Hal-[lo]ween parties, and pledge activi-[ti]es high-light sorority functions [th]is week.

The Alpha Chi Omegas enter-[tai]ned Saturday afternoon with [a] "coffee" bonoring their patrons [an]d patronesses. Special guests [inc]luded Dr Marian Irish, Dean [and] Mrs Karl O Kuersteiner, Dr [Ca]rmen Rogers, Miss Madge Clay-[to]n Dr and Mrs M W Carothera, [an]d all sorority presidents and [ho]use mothers. Mary Bloodworth [...]ot and small daughter, Marcy, [fro]m Charlotte, North Carolina, [vis]ited the Alpha Chi house over [th]e week-end.

Saturday night the new Alpha [Chi] pledges sang their "goat" [so]ngs for entertainment of the [ac]tives' Newly elected pledge [o]fficers are Nancy Ware, presi-[de]nt; Virginia Der Garry, vice-[pr]esident; Judy Rhodes, secretary, [...]an Carter, treasurer; Charlotte [...]nner, chaplain.

Members and their dates en-[joy]ed a weiner roast at the Alpha [De]lta Pi house Sunday evening. [Th]e A D Pi's will hold a pledging [cer]emony next Wednesday for [Ka]thleen McKinnon.

The new Alpha Xi Delta pledge [of]ficers are: Evelyn Lee, presi-[de]nt; Mervin Thomas, vice-presi-[dent;] Betty Lovett, secretary; [...]ude Mims, treasurer; Kathleen [...]ares social chairman; Judy [Co]urtney music chairman; Sally [...]e sergeant-at-arms; and Ver-[...] Rogers, chaplain.

[A]lpha Gamma Delta pledges [...]ted their officers at the reg-[ula]r Thursday meeting last week. [Th]e new executives are: Alice [...]ler, president; Anne Butler, [vic]e-president; Frances Stock-[bri]dge, secretary; Clara Jane Car-[...] treasurer; Marion Moorhead, [ch]aplain; Dunis Clifton, activi-[ti]es chairman; Catherine Cooper, [in] charge of breakfasts; and Vio-[...] Walters, skit chairman.

[Al]pha Omega actives and pledges [p]articipated in a weiner roast in [ba]ck of the Chi Omega house [Su]nday night. The pledges are [wo]rking on skits to be presented [fo]r the entertainment of actives [an]d their guests at a "coffee" to [be] held this Sunday night.

New Delta Delta Delta pledge [o]fficers for the year are: Amante [Se]mmes president; Beaufie Rob-[...], vice-president; Marjorie Nor-[...], secretary; Jean Roof treas-[ur]er and Louise Hutchinson, [sch]olarship chairman.

An informal party for members [an]d their guests was held Satur-[day] night at the Delta Phi Ep-[si]lon house On Sunday morn-[ing] D Phi E's were given a pic-[nic] at the estate of Mrs Rosen-[...]. The following pledge of-[fic]ers were elected recently: [Gl]adys Atlas, president; Annette [...]kler vice-president and treas-[ure]r; Joan Langner, secretary; [an]d Annette Vitsky, parliamen-[tari]an.

Joanne Kirkland was elected [pr]esident of the Delta Zeta pledges [at] a recent meeting. Other pledge [of]ficers elected at the same time [are] Barbara Nolen, vice-presi-[de]nt; Sue Hilton, secretary; Mil-[dr]ed Turner, treasure; and Shir-[ley] Huggins, chaplain.

Other news this week of Delta [Ze]ta activities include a pledg-[in]g ceremony held Friday night [...] Faye McCracken, Lou Tay-[lor,] Priscilla Mullins, and Marilyn [W]atson were also repledged at [thi]s time. Wednesday night the [De]lta Zeta's observed their [Fo]under's Day with a banquet at [th]e Floridan Hotel. Special guests [we]re Dr and Mrs Mark H De-[...]aff faculty advisors. The Al-[ph]a Sigma chapter here on the [Flo]rida State College campus was [...] years old Wednesday, Oc-[tob]er 24.

This week-end Betty Jane Sin-[...]ton and Anne Chillingworth [we]re on the University of Kentucky [c]ampus for the installation of the new Gamma Iota chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta. Last Sunday night suppei was served at the house for actives, pledges and guests. Joyce Stroberg entertained with several songs.

Members and pledges of Kappa Delta celebrated the 48 national anniversary on October 23 with a Founders' day ceremony. It was in 1897 at Virginia State Normal college, Farmville, Virginis, that Kappa Delta was founded by Julia Tyler, Mary Sommerville Sparks, Sarah Turner, and Lenora Ashmore. Mrs Ben McGinnis, chairman of the alumnae advisory board and special guest at the ceremony, presented an award to Kappa Alpha chapter for outstanding achievement during the past year.

New Kappa Delta pledge officers are: Emmela Pate, president; Iris Parsons, vice-president; Betty Lou Maddox, secretary; Ruth Ellen Olsen treasurer. At their regular meeting this week, the pledges made plans for a Halloween party to be given Saturday night for "actives" and their guesis.

Kappa Delta entertained Thursday evening at 7:30 with an after-dinner "coffee" in honor of Mrs J H MacFadden, dausbter of Mrs Barbara Haerem, K D chaperone. Mrs MacFadden recently moved to Tallahassee and is a member of Leon high school faculty.

At the "coffee" Maurine Ashton, president, received the guests and members, and pledges were bostesses for the occasion

Special guests invited to share the celebration with the bonoree were: Misses Katherine Warren, Williams, Elizabeth Lynn, Edith McCollum, Mirian Wilson, Ruth Schronherst, Mildred Finnigan, Florence Tryon, Dean Olivia Dorman, Dr Elizabeth Andrews, Dr Ezda Devinay, Dr Annie Pepper, Dr Myra Yancey, Mrs Frank Pilcher, Mrs Herbert Mendenhall, Mrs J G Kellum, Mrs Sally Mrs Harrell, Mrs Ellen Barrett, Mrs Rosabelle Gilliland, Mrs M Turner, Mrs C S Lanier, Mrs Lillian B Crume, Mrs W E Murr, Mrs T R Crovatt, Mrs James H Morgan, Mrs H T Webb, Mrs Frances Fogg, Mrs J O Cooper, Mrs Wilifred Dodge.

Last Saturday night the Phi Mu pledges took over the house, while the actives moved temporarily into the dorms. The pledges had a party all by themselves, and gloated over having the run of the house.

There's going to be fun at the Sigma Kappa house tomorrow night when the pledges entertain the members with a Halloween party. Proper atmosphere will be provided with haystacks, cider, pumpkins, and orange and black decorations. An "apple bobbing contest" will high-light the evening's entertainment.

Zeta Tau Alpha pledge officers elected recently are: Sarah Woodward, president; Jackie Waybright, vice-president; Joyce Williams, secretary.

Bryan Suite

Continued from Page One

rooms they have stooped to having white bedspreads. Maybe their mothers sent them.

As this attractive little suite stands in its complete prospective, the main pink room separates the two side ones, one blue and the other green. What is it that's said about surroundings?

"One's environment goes a long way in forming one's character and disposition." According to this statement, it would certainly be safe to predict that this foursome will be quite the britest students on campus.

Sororities Begin Initiating Today

Although pledging has just been completed for the fall quarter, several sororities have begun initiating girls pledged last spring or those who failed to make their grades.

Alpha Chi Omega members are initiating Bett Hancock, Jonnie Mires, Margaret Johnson and Luella Rouse tomorrow night. A banquet in honor of the initiates will be held some time next week at the Cherokee hotel.

Betty Bazemore, Marie Everitt and Catherine McKinnon will be initiated into Alpha Delta Pi tomorrow night.

Tonight Chi Omega members are initiating Barbara Covington and Georgene Davis.

Joyce Evans, Chris Morrison and Betty Labree completed the first half of their initiation into Delta Delta Delta this morning and by tomorrow afternoon will be members. After initiation, Tri Delta "actives" and pledges are given a Hallowe'en wiener roast in honor of the initiates.

Tonight Mary Ann Walts will become an "active" of Pi Beta Phi and a dinner will be given in her honor at the Three Torches Tea room after her initiation ceremony.

Atomic Power

Continued from Page One

can be formed without general information about the history and possibilities of atomic energy, Dr Richards outlined the theories which led to the invention of the atomic bomb.

The problem which scientists faced in working on the atomic bomb was to shoot a number of neutrons into the nucleus of an atom, splitting it into two parts not greatly different in mass and releasing new neutrons. This is called explosive chain reaction by fission. The method of producing this fission has not yet been released

For peacetime harnessing of atomic power, the number of neutrons must be built up to a certain value, then remain constant, Dr Richards explained. This controlled reaction has not been done to his knowledge, he said.

In a discussion period following the lecture, the possibility that the atomic bomb might have started a chain reaction that will result in the destruction of the planet was raised. The physicist stated that he didn't think this would happen since no known artificial substance made by fission is long-lived

By listing the scientists and giving their contributions to this problem, Dr Richards illustrated the long evolution of the atomic theory, the internationality of the scientists, and the head start of the Germans Starting with Lavoisiers' theory of the Conservation of Mass, in which he traced the story to Dalton, English; Mayer and Joule, German; Becquerel, French; Einstein, German; Rutherford, English; Chadwick; English; and Otto Hawn, S Strassman, F Fritsch, and Lise Meitner, German.

Saying that "Hitler was shrewd, but he wasn't smart," the leeturer attributed the United States' success to greater understanding of the importance of science by the government.

While working on this problem of releasing atomic energy, two new elements were discovered. These were named Neptunium and Plutonium, making the total elements number 94. In peace time, this would have been considered a great discovery in itself, Dr Richards reminded.

The physicist compared the complete atom to the solar system. With the nucleus representing the sun, the diameter is approximately in proportion to that of the sun and its outer planet's orbit.

"If 15 pounds of anything—air, water, clay, pork chops, or you—could be completely converted, it would equal about 170 billion kilowatt hours, or the total annual electrical production in the U S for one year." Dr Richards said. At present, the method is about one-tenth of one per cent effective.

Uranium 235, which is rarer than the common uranium 238 although no different chemically, might be reperated from uranium 238 by electromagnetism or defusion, stated the lecturer. He said that he saw no reason why the releasing of atomic energy should be limited to uranium, bowever. Experiments with the heavy elements of plutonium, thorium, and protoactonium have proved successful, he reported.

In answer to the question, "What defense of the atomic bomb do we have?" Dr Richards said that our only defense is education. An international free press could do much towards this end, he suggested.

If one pound of uranium could be completely fissioned, the result would be about a half a million dollars worth of electrical energy sold in one hundred kilowatt hour lots at the retail price in Tallahassee.

"The only practical reason that we cannot visit the moon or commune with Venus via rocket propulsion is a lack of power," the lecturer said. He believes that atomic energy may provide the answer.

"With the harnessing of atomic power, we have a great responsibility," Dr Richards said. "If we use it wisely for the good of mankind, we can create a paradise."

Graduates Write

Tuesday Miss Louise Gehan, alumnae secretary, received two letters from Florida State College graduates. One was from Rosemary Hubell, '45, who is living in the Canal Zone. Rosemary is with the Research and Service Bureau of the Personnel Division in Panama.

The other letter was from Betty Jane Harriman, '45, who is in Rochester, New York and is on the cafeteria Administration in Camera Works. In her letter B J said that she had humped into Dot Marsh, former physics instructor of FSC at Kodak Park. She also mentioned that Barbara Wheelock, '45, is on the cafeteria administration with her.

Second Meeting

Continued from Page One

time: doing away with Dead Week completely, which would allow for all committee meetings, house meetings convocations, and any social event in which the student may wish to participate; or modification of the rule, which would mean the upholding of Dead Week with certain exceptions.

Several suggestions were made, among them that Dead Week be changed to run from Friday, November 30 to Friday, December 7, that a committee be appointed to study events classed as traditional, that Dead Week be consolidated to the final three days before exam week, and that the Glee Club Vespers program be scheduled for one week earlier. A tentative calendar of events was also submitted under which all traditional avents should take place on the week-end immediately preceding exams.

At the second session of the meeting, on Thursday afternoon, reports were submitted by Alice Walton varifying the date of the soldier dance, and by Daphne Rowe, concerning the date of Glee Club Vespers.

The calendar of events now scheduled for Dead Week and exam week under the modification ruling is as follows: December 10, Tallahassee Civic Music Event; December 12, dormitory Christmas parties; and on the evening of December 12, the Senior Christmas party.

Other business disposed of hy Senate during its first meeting on Wednesday afternoon included the announcement of new appointees within the Senate. They were: Handbook committee, Doris Carter; usher committee, Marjorie Miller; organization committee, Harriet McCarty, and junior representative, Sarah Helen Moon. A report of the legislative and codifying committees activities was made by Mary White, who stated that in the work of the joint committees, emphasis had been placed on a complete reorganization of the Gold Book and re-classification of students by classes. Kit Land reported on CGA house meeting skits. The vacancy in the vice-presidency of Hillside was filled by the unanimous election of Jean Skinner to that office.

The next meeting of Senate is scheduled for next Wednesday, October 31, at 5 p m.

Evens Swing

Continued from Page One

Shirley, Catherine Sullivan, Peggy Futch, Jane Gunn, Babs Mc Carty, Anne Fielding, Theresa Munroe, Katherine Jackson, Doris Snow, Anna Giese, Jeanette Hollister, Frankie Hall, Catherine Gallagher, June McCurdy, Jean Bates, Margaret Baugh, Jean Ann Ramsdell and Rose Marie Ferro.

"Evens would be glad of the opportunity to present their program on the first night since Odds might get some professional and colorful ideas", says Ella Mae.

The committee heads chosen for the work back stage are: lights, Jane Lyles and Kit Land; dance, Dot Tucker; music, Jackie Belcher, Calista Hatcher; costumes, Virginia Collins; puhlicity, Frankie Hall; program, Jean Sharer, usher, Peggy Kay; make-up, Bonnie Hunt; business manager, Sarah Jane McKelvy; and stage manager, Sarah Bennett.

Three Sororities Honor New Pledges

Pledge banquets of the sororities on campus are concluded this week with the final three.

The Alpha Xi Delta formal banquet will be held at 7 o'clock tomorrow night at the Cherokee Hotel, according to Mary Mims, president. Dr Annie Popper, Alpha Xi faculty advisor, Mrs Deane Turner, house-mother, and Mary Mims will give welcoming speeches. Evelyn Leek, predge president, will give the response.

The Delta Delta Delta pledges were honored at a formal banquet held at the Cherokee Hotel Monday night. Gnests present were Mrs John Berry, Mrs Olive H Cross, Miss Kay Warren, and Miss Agnes Gregory. The pledges were welcomed by Miss Warren and Mrs Cross, Amante Semmes, president of the pledge group, responded in behalf of the pledges. Betty Touchton, chapter president, presided as mistress of ceremonies.

All arrangements for the banquet were made by Mae Evans, social chairman, who was assisted by Joyce Pepper and Miggie Gillis, according to Joyce Benton, publicity chairman.

A formal banquet was given at the Wakulla Hotel Thursday evening in bonor of the Pi Beta Phi pledges, according to Ann Tucker, publicity chairman. Louise Brown, chapter president, served as toast mistress and also addressed a welcoming speech to the pledges. Ann Carter, pledge president, gave a speech in response.

The table was decorated with garden flowers, and the favors consisted of sorority stationery and roses which were given to each pledge.

Jackie Fosdick, social chairman, was assisted by Ann Allen, Beverly Heard, and Sarah Davis in making all arrangements.

Stories

Continued from Page One

they learned my English faster than I learned their Spanish."

Paulette Blank was at the beadquarters of the Overseas Transport Command in West Palm Beach. She had to keep track of the routes of the Green Project Airplanes, which were the C-47s that brought the boys home from Europe. "I knew which boys were coming home before they got here, and I kept charts on big wall maps and transferred incoming messages about the planes to their individual cards in the file," Polly said.

Jackie MacGee is an Art Major and had a spree in her chosen field. She did fashion illustrating for the Yowell-Drew-Ivey company in Orlando, but she also had a few harder chores, literally and figuratively, for she made-up advertisements for pots and pans and hardware ,besides writing some copy on the side.

Janet Rogers and Kit Land pursued their academic interests at Columbia University in New York City. Both returned with the opinion that New York is a wonderful place for study but they didn't qualify their statement. Aside from studying professional writing, English literature, political science, and sociology to the tune of approximately 4000 navy midshipmen drilling, they managed to get in some of the conventional sight-seeing tours as well as many little expeditions of their own. Only once they were lost, and that was when they ended up in Harlem via subway instead of Columbia Circle. Being there for V-J Day and seeing the Empire State building shortly after the bomber crashed into it were bits of excitement in addition to the usual ones New York offered them during the seven weeks they were there.

Ruge Hall Holds Freshmen Banquet

The first formal banquet to be given for freshmen by a religious organization will take place tomorrow night at Ruge hall, Episcopal student house, at 7:15.

Bishop Frank Juhan, bishop of the diocess of Florida from Jacksonville, Bishop Henry Louttit, suffragan bishop of South Florida from West Palm Beach, and Mrs Randall Chase, former Student secretary at Ruge hall, will be special guests.

All transfers, freshmen, and new faculty who are Episcopalians are invited.

Doris Corry is in charge of arrangements for freshmen and Harriet McCarter will be toastmistress.

Saturday morning at Ruge hall there will be a faculty-vestry breakfast at which both bishops will be present.

Odds Begin

Continued from Page One

Joyee Stroberg, Patsy Crosby, Nancy Jones; and Laura Simpson, Ruth Kennedy, and Hazel Clarkson.

Only the names of the cast could be devulged, Nell said, because it is traditional to keep the title and story a surprise until Thanksgiving. The main characters will be played by Nancy Wright, Little Shonter, Patty McColpin, Bookie McMicheal, Terry Johnston, Virginia Allen, Laura Simpson, Rosemary Fleming, Robbie Summer, Sbirley Longino, Frances Stockbridge, Tobie Jacobson, Joan Longdon, Ann Butler, Margaret Ann Blocker, Joyce Hall, Rosetta Carver, Kay van Deurs.

Committee chairmen chosen to organize the hundreds of students who volunteered to work behind the scenes are: Ann Parker, costumes; Mary Lou Norwood and Eleanor Bragg, music; Ann Hunter, properties; Joy Fleming, make-up; Sarah Lewis, lights; Frances Traxler, scenery; Shirley Rodgers, programs; Mary Louise White, stage manager; Shirley Palmer,. stage construction; Frances Ewart, typing; Nancy Wright, business manager; Kay van Deurs, publicity.

Among the wits called the Script committee, who fled to camp several week-ends ago to finish the play, are: Frances Myers, Ann Colvin, Jean Cole, Rosetta Carver, Nancy Wright, Laura Simpson, Ruth Kennedy, Patty McColpin, Maggie Flynn, Mary Louise White, and Mary Lou Norwood.

Singing in the chorus, Mary Lou says, will be: Marie Aiken, Bobbie Bradley, Jeanne Bagley, Betty Banks, Betty Jean Brobston, Betts Brown, Clara Brown, Katherine Cooper, Judy Courtney, Betty Dowd, Ysobel Dupree, Ann Grant, Joyce Hansen.

Terry Johnston, Katherine Klein, Cynthia Merrin, Bobby Middleton, Betty Murray, Beverly McCollum, Martha McCormac, Mavis McMillin, Betty Joyce Owen, Jean Rhodes, Mary Jane Shirley, Sally Slater, Alice Stolncker, Frances Stockbridge, Pat Warner, Violet Walters, Jane Arnold, Nikki Nicbolson, Jean Ann Daly.

Piano accompanists will include Sidney Conner, Sylvia Meisch, and Mary Lou Norwood.

Cotterill Advises

Continued from Page One

"Gloria", sung by Katherine Gremli, senior music major. The processional, "Processional on College Songs" and the recessional, "War March of the Priests" by Mendelssohn were played by Mrs Ramona Beard, associate professor of organ piano and theory. Pat Pattishall and Beth Fuhrer, representing Sophomore Council, served as marshalls for the procession.

Three Dormitories Celebrate Hallowe'en

Fortune-telling and games will highlight the Reynolds Halloween party tonight. Costumes will add a holiday spirit to the occasion, and according to Louise Illingworth, the social chairman, "surprises are in store for all."

Music and dancing hy the light of an open fire will be features of New Hall's party tonight. Jane Whitfield, the social chairman said that games and stunts would be presented as entertainment.

Bryan will celebrate Halloween with a combination party and informal dance Saturday night. Dancing will be alternated with a floor show and several skits to be presented during the evening. About 160 invitations have been issued to men at Camp Gordon Johnston, according to Nickie Bettie, the social chairman.

Flambeau Conducts

Continued from Page One

When asked how they thought the honor system could be made more effective, several students said they thought the idea of a personal honor code should be stressed more. Along this same line, one junior said it was stressed in the wrong way. "They make it seem so complicated," she explained, "when it's a mere matter of honesty."

Two of the students admitted that they couldn't understand it at all, and they would not be entitled to an opinion on the subject.

One upperclassman thought it was worked out as well as could be expected. She said she thought it meant more to upperclassmen than it did to freshmen because the upperclassmen understood it better.

The good points brought up about the system were that it made better citizens out of students because it was more like life outside of college. They liked to see teachers really trust students on tests and in other instances. It was believed that one is more likely to do right when trusted, and that the honor system eliminated the constant closely guarded feeling.

Dormitory Teas Feature Musicales

Dormitory teas were held on Wednesday from 5 to 6 in their respective parlors. Special musical programs were featured in several of the halls.

Mildred Robson was in charge of the Jennie Murphree tea. Ruth Wilkie played the piano and Marthat McCormack sang, accompanied by Helen McCann.

The fifth floor of Gilchrist, under the direction of Anne Fielding, had charge of the program in that hall. Elizabeth and Emilie Harper player several numbers on their tonettes. Mary Helen Tew played the piano, and a quartet composed of Jean Sharer, Irma Lee Shepherd, Judy Rhodes, and Anne Fielding sang three original songs.

Campuside and Hillside had tea together and enjoyed a solo by Eloise Ziglar. The Village had its tea in Cockrell. A special committee was in charge of the tea in Broward. New Hall's committee was headed by Jane Whitfield. Virginia Baack played the piano during the Reynolds tea, which was under the direction of Louise Illingsworth. Parkside enjoyed tea but had no special entertainment.

Last week the Landis tea table accidentally held salt in place of sugar but things were in their right place Wednesday and the tea ran smoothly.

Bryan did not have a tea this week.

Tallahassee Music Company
Come in and see our new stock of Record and Wide Selection of Sheet Music
123 S. Monroe St.

Stop! Look! Choose!
FROM OUR COSTUME JEWELRY DISPLAY
A New Lapel Pin . . . for your suit
A Locket . . . . . for his picture
A Charm Bracelet . . . . for luck
Or One of Our New Perfume Rings Just for Fun!
MARTIN & DALTON
Phone 123 210-212 S. Adams St.

RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES:
TRAIN FOR A CAREER WITH THE
Johnston O'Conner Research Foundation
11 E. 62nd St., New York, 21
N. Y. Fellowship Basis, $85.00 a Month

In Tune with F. S. C. W.
The co-ed's delight, skirts and sweaters, tailored suits, simple, unassuming, woolen dresses--we have these these all-time favorites in our sophisticated shop created specially for you.

The FRENCH SHOP

COAT and SUIT DUET
WEAR THEM TOGETHER OR SEPARATELY IN BRIGHT AND PASTEL SOLIDS
$49.95 To $79.00
TWO PIECE SUITS
100% Wool Pastel Gabardines, Pin Stripes and Tweeds
$16.95

The Surprise Store

WAA Discusses Coming Events

Secure City Bleachers For Thanksgiving Games

Plans for the comma Thanksgiving games were among the main topics discussed at the meeting of the Women's Athletic Association Wednesday night, with Jo Guthrie presiding.

With the change of soccer and hockey from third sport season to fourth, games will have to be played out-of-doors. This shift has necessitated the securing of benches, which have been the city's, which will seat 2000, for these annual Thanksgiving games. Bids will be referred by patrol officials. Each team will have its own benches and there will also be a reserved section. Six cheerleaders will be elected by each team, three from each class.

As the plans go now, the band will play during the games. There are also between the hockey and soccer games they will perform on the field. All of these features will be together with Kite Winter to give when Jo Guthrie hopes will be the best Thanksgiving Carnival ever devised.

There are four main reasons why we have changed the meeting nights to 9:00 as ordered. Which in the order of their importance are as follows: 1. It is impossible to get all the members together at one time who want to go to the movies. Secondly it will enable everyone to attend the meetings. Thirdly we will be able to have an official Alumnae club here in New York City. Number 4 is do most people work for dinner at Ann Sterzels Mimosa a French restaurant on 52nd street. Other reasons for wanting to eat with some Florida girls could almost be certain to find one or more FSC girls there Thursday evenings."

Marietta Sterzel, who is an executive secretary at the Marriage Hotel Lee Malmoff 45, is now living in Manhattan. She was living in NYC Della Perez '45, is studying at the New York School for Social Work. Minnie Lee McCarthy, '45, is a student dietitian at a New York hospital. Pinky Calhoun, '45, is working for McGraw-Hill Publishing company.

Life Saving Corps Has Splash Party

The members of the Life Saving Corps and their guests, prospective freshmen members, gathered at the college pool last Friday night for their first splash party of the year.

There was a short program, including a comic diving and swimming act presented by members Joyce Cases, Anna Horne, and Nance MacKwards. All those present divided themselves into three teams, call: Starboard, Port and Ensign, and competed in a pajama relay, a tandem relay, and a variety of water-polo. The Ensign team won all events, scoring nine points, with the Port and Starboard teams came in with equal scores of four and one-half points each.

A business meeting of the Life Saving Corps was scheduled for 10 o'clock last night according to Gordon "Skeeter" Carter, president of the corps for the purpose of the election of an assistant secretary from the active members and four discussion of other current business.

Alumnae Meet For Dinner in New York

In a letter Miss Bertha Bloodworth publicity director received last week, Mildred Horton was the latest news on Florida State College alumnae in New York City. In her letter, Mildred wrote, "Just a few lines to inform you of the Flambeau, Tallahassee, that we have an official Alumnae club here in New York City. A number of us do meet weekly for dinner at Ann Sterzels Mimosa a French restaurant on 52nd street. Other alumnae wanting to eat with some Florida girls could almost be certain to find one or more FSC girls there Thursday evenings."

Marietta Sterzel, who is an executive secretary at the Marriage Hotel Lee Malmoff 45, is now living in Manhattan. She was living in NYC. Della Perez, '45, is studying at the New York School for Social Work. Minnie Lee McCarthy, '45, is a student dietitian at a New York hospital. Pinky Calhoun, '45, is working for McGraw-Hill Publishing company.

Tarpon Club Selects Nine New Minnows

58 Girls Compete in Finals; Plan Demonstration

Nine girls out of the 58 that competed were selected last Friday night by the Tarpon Club as minnows, after the final tryouts held October 19.

The newly chosen members are: Corinne Dunn, Camille Baston, Amelia Reaves, Myrta Long, Sybil Meisch, Dot Wynn, Phyllis Strickland, Norma Schaeffner, and Doris DuBois. They will remain minnows until they give their first performance on Thanksgiving day after which they will be recognized as regular members.

In order to be chosen for Tarpon a girl must be able to do the front crawl, the back crawl, the breast stroke, the side stroke, a standing front dive, a surface dive, the back roll, and the lob to the satisfaction of the members who make the final decisions.

Plans are already being formulated for the Thanksgiving demonstration given by Tarpon, it was announced by Dr. Hamilton president.

Minnow practices began yesterday under the direction of Margery Holm.

'F' Club Sponsors FSC Song Contest

All students are eligible to participate in a contest for original college song which opens today under sponsorship of F club, Constance Mims, chairman announced. both words and music of their own composition or with original words and familiar music, according to Skooks" Lester, chairman of the contest committee.

In regard to the purpose of the contest, "Skooks" said, "We believe that new college songs are badly needed and those through this contest an unlimited interest in both composition Those eligible to participate, which include individuals students faculty members, groups of students, clubs and sororities, may submit their entries to any F club members o, send them to box 394 campus mail," she added.

Deadline for the contest has not yet been decided upon, but this will be posted during the week Other members of the contest committee headed by Bobbie Jordan, Anna Giese, Nancy Backlerards, Joyce Garmon and Betty Jane Gardner. Babe Evans, a club president, will also serve on the committee.

YWCA Begins Work On Year's Projects

With its major committees organized and functioning the Young Women's Christian Association has begun two of its projects for the year.

Under the guidance of the Community Service committee, under the chairmanship of Betty Bennett, are taught recreational games. In the afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock, the girls go to the Governor Brevard elementary school where they supervise playground activities for those pupils who wait for bus transportation home.

Another committee of the YWCA is the Creative Activity Group. It is their responsibility to present the pageants and plays given throughout the years. At present, under the leadership of Doris Hill, they are devoting their time to a Christmas program. Unlike those presented in the past which consisted entirely of musical selections, this year's production will be a full length play with musical effects.

Varied Social Activities Planned by Church Groups

Varied activities of religious organizations including a picnic, a banquet, initiation, parties, and meetings be held at the various student houses for the girls of that particular denomination.

Episcopalians will hold their annual freshman banquet tonight at 7:15. Bishop McCarter, president of the vestry, will be toastmistress, and members of the vestry will act as toastmasters. The Rev Frank A Juhan, bishop of the Diocese of Florida, will be guest speaker. Other guests will be the new members of the faculty and Canterbury club faculty advisers, Jo Dawkins, vice president of the vestry, will be toast mistress for

Dr Dupre to Open WSSF Campaign

Opening the annual World Student Service Fund campaign for the campus of Florida State College will be addresses by Dr Hurley W. Dupre, executive secretary fo the WSSF, wi-o will speak 'n both conversations next Tuesday

"Unless our students and the world give all they can to the World Student Service Fund," spokesman for the Fund, declared, "it won t be necessary to have a drive next year. There are a few students left in many parts of the world, but in the Philippines China and in some the European countries will be worse this winter than they were at the time during the war, Jessie explained.

The The WSSF, an international organization, "dedicated to students by students," the purpose of which is to provide bookliving essentials, and other things necessary for the maintenance of students all over the world, particularly Far Eastern and Eastern countries.

Dr Dupre, who has had experience working with students in the Far East as well as in this country, will also speak at Florida A and M Monday.

INSIDE CGA

By FRANCES MYERS

The growth in importance of the honor code within the last few years and the increase in the increasing value in the lives of students on this campus have led the Honor Council to initiate a number of projects for the year with an eye to the future and long-lasting results.

The Honor Committee, which is headed by a member responsible to Student Senate, is headed by Rosalie Bond, junior representative to judiciary. Its members are Catherine Barrs (ex-officio), Babe Evans, junior class president, Sara Stallings, senior class members; Clarice Truehart and Betty Lou Kelly Frances Myers, junior class members; and Betty Kennedy, Juanita Johnson, Mary Ann McCarthy, sophomore class members.

The work of the committee began in the spring of last year, when Rosalie Bond was elected. At that time general policies were formed, which were to be the basis for the rest of the year's work.

An attempt has been made this year to make the committee's actions to the honor code on this campus. An honor code pamphlet was circulated among upperclassmen in house meetings, and among freshmen and transfers along with their handbook examinations. It is hoped that every student will go to the worth which individual students place upon the code, now, may be pleased with this questionaire, and may be helpful in directing the course of the Honor Commitee in the future.

A suggestion which was made by the 1943 Honor Committee and which has now been carried out, was the removal of some bulletin worn signs adorning the walls of so many of the classrooms. These signs for many years had served as rather moldy reminders of the virtue in honor and integrity, but they had since outlived their effectiveness. The committee saw to it that they were taken down last week.

Several members of the committee have been delegated to investigate the programs used by other schools which have similar honor codes in an attempt to find new suggestions that would help broaden our own standards and make our own code a more functional one.

With this start, and with plans for many other undertakings which have not yet gotten under way, the committee hopes to make many advances this year, which will make each student more aware of the code and ready to incorporate it in her daily campus life

Dr Pinkerton Addresses Faculty Meeting

The annual faculty-vestry breakfast Saturday morning at 8 o'clock. All members of the faculty who are Episcopalians are invited and the vestry will be their hostesses.

Approximately 150 Presbyterians are expected to attend the informal party which is being given tonight to honor Presbyterian freshmen, according to Lillian Hendrix, student assistant in charge of arrangements. A surprise skit will highlight the evening's entertainment. Guests invited to the party are: Dr and Mrs W Carothers, sponsors; Dr and Mrs W H Rogers, Miss Sarah Herndon, Miss Elizabeth Lynn, and Colonel and Mrs H D Mendenhall. Dr Carothers will be the regular instructor of Bible classes of the Westminster Fellowship beginning next Sunday morning.

Dr. Pinkerton, Presbyterian Rev. Lawrence I. Stell, now minister from Dallas, Texas, will lead a discussion group-led on the first chapter of a study book of which he is co-author. "Bases of World Order" will be the subject for discussion. Reverend Stell is a graduate of Austin, Texas, College and Union Theological Seminary at Richmond. He has acted as pastor of churches in Virginia and Missouri, and is reportedly popular at young people's conferences.

Fifty-three girls were initiated into the Newman Club, Catholic student organization, last Sunday night at 7:30 in the club room of the Student-Alumnae club house. The initiation exercises were followed by a coffee. On November 5 the Catholic freshmen will entertain upperclassmen at Camp Flastacowo. Members who will desire to go to camp are requested to sign up on the bulletin board in the Student-Alumnae club house, a special bus leaves from in front of Dodd Hall at 4 p. m. Each Catholic girls to 8 o'clock mass, according to Kileen Perry, president of the Newman Club. The regular weekly meeting of the club will be held at 7:30 Sunday night in the Student-Alumnae club room.

Methodist freshmen will entertain the Methodist students at a Hallowe'en party to be given tonight from 7:30 to 9:30 in the odist student house. Girls may attend the informal party in costume. Prizes will be given for costumes. Ruth Young, chairman of the entertainment committee, is in charge of plans for the party.

The first meeting of the Baptist Student Union project committee will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the student house. The committee is being composed of the officers of any phase of the Baptist Student Union work.

Tomorrow night, the young people of the Christian church will meet before the church at 6:30 to go on a hayride to the marshall Bellamy home where they will go to honor Dallas Lindsey, ex-staff sergeant in the U S Army who recently returned from France. Church ceremenes Sunday morning will be conducted by Rev T. Boyd Clayton, state secretary of Christian churches, in the absence of a regular pastor

Playnight Features Hallowe'en Carnival

A Hallowe'en Carnival will be the special attraction of Playnight tomorrow night from 8 to 10:30 at the Student house.

The main feature of the evening will be kept secret until 9:30 that night.

Booths will be the fad of the evening. Fortune telling booths, a shooting gallery, freak show, crazy house, fish pond, cake-walk, bobbing for apples, cutting candy, wheelbarrow roll, and darts will be found in the booths.

Miss Henrietta Greenberg's recreation class, working in cooperation with the entertainment committee, is in charge of the entertainment.

A large crowd attended last week's Playnight but twice that number is expected this Saturday according to Eloise Boyles, member of the recreation class.

All students and dates are welcome to this evening of free entertainment.

QUOTABLE QUOTE
By Associated Collegiate Press

"The Ph D is one of education's many ills," stated Joseph Brandt, ex-president of the University of Oklahoma in current issue of Time Magazine.

He recommended that "the institution of the doctorate should be either abolished by our universities or reformed so that it will reunite the people and the scholars."

From Me To Y'all

SHARPIE

From the overflowing mail box, we chose the following problems because they seem to be the most general. All letters will be answered, however, so watch for the solution to your particular problem.

An unorientated freshman puzzles over this one. Says she, "Since I signed up for my first class, I have not been able to locate it. I was told that it would be held in the building." To which building did they refer?" Child, as everyone knows, "the building" house "the department" where "the major" become educated. Our best advice to you would be to follow the first major you see. Good luck on this venture.

This next letter deals with a fine point in etiquette. A reader who weekended at O'ville explains her problem. When she left the university her host failed to "tip" her a nice weekend but this wasn't it," and wants to know should be offended by his statement.

After giving this problem much discussion we decided that the manpower shortage hasn't improved to the point where a girl can afford to set aside her little formalities like this. No, continue to be nice to your host and maybe he'll get you a date with his roommate next week.

Our next question is from a civilian from town who says, "Dear Miss Sharpie, I'm the subject of a week, which lessured, "I'll Be Seeing You." I have a strange phenomena. When a large red brick building with a sign saying, "Women's Rest Room" is found faced on the screen the girls in the audience scream with high shrieks groans and laughter. Can you tell me the reason for this?" It is needed to save the world, technical, and artistic problems of the present-day world will be presented next Friday night at 8 o'clock in 303 Westcott.

The technological film, jointly sponsored by the Tallahasee Arts Center and the fine arts department of FSC, is open to the public and no admission charges will be made.

Garnet and Gold

Alice Wheeler, soprano soloist, was the musical editor of the Garnet and Gold radio program which was broadcast from the college radio last week. Alice sang four songs and was accompanied by Pawn Travaille.

Sara Norman and Bertha Bloodworth took care of the announcing and news reporting.

Allee's selections were "In the Luxembourg Gardens" by Marjorie Lockhart Manning, "Pale Moon" by Frederick Knight Logan, "The Little Road of Mercy" by Charles Wakefield Cadman, and "Wind Song" by Samuel Richard Gaines.

organization, and Nancy MacEdwards, committee chairman, were in charge of the affair. Their assistants were Eloise Boyles, Caroline Avery, Rose Marie Perro, Frankie Hall, Catherine Sullivan, and Anna Geise.

The program was lecturing to the recruits on modern methods of warfare.

"What you men have got to remember," he said, "is that science has revolutionized the art of war. Now, can anyone suggest what is the most outstanding contribution that chemistry has made to the Army?"

"Yes", said a voice from the back of blonder". Sheffield (England Welsh Telegraph.

Basketball Ends; Volleyball Begins

Defeating Delta Zeta 20-18 Reynolds hall, on Wednesday afternoon, won the final game and became winner of intramural basketball.

At the semi-finals on Tuesday Reynolds won over Gilchrist 26-21, and Delta Zeta defeated Phi Mu 22-20.

Volley ball practices have been going on since Tuesday and there has been a very good turnout according to Theresa Munroe, intramurals manager. Volleyball games will begin Monday and officials for them will be girls taking practical examinations for national rating as volley ball officials.

Swimming will be the next intramural sport and practice will begin Monday, November 5, Theresa said.

Fall Term Charm

Add a new beauty habit to your fall term curricula. Have your favorite Roger & Gallet scent a part of your personality. Deb it on your skin his liquid perfume. It's an everlasting fragrance that's just starny with charm.

She exciting scents of Roger & Gallet — Fleurs d' Amour, Jean d'Orsay, Lavender Imperial and Muhlleja, priced at $1.25.

DRY PERFUME

ROGER & GALLET

AIR CONDITIONED
FLORIDA
PHONE 185

Today and Tomorrow
"Naughty Nineties"

Sunday and Monday
"Patrick the Great"

Tuesday and Wednesday
"George White Scandals"

Thursday Through Saturday
"You Came Along"

COOL WASHED-AIR
STATE
PHONE 185

Today and Tomorrow
"Utah"
and
"Two O'Clock Courage"

Sunday and Monday
"Frisco Sal"
and
"Swinging on a Rainbow"

Tuesday and Wednesday
Horn Blows at Midnight"

Thursday
"The Clock"
and
"Hotel Berlin"

Friday and Saturday
"Flame of Weste"
and
"Caribbean Mystery"

COOL WASHED-AIR
RITZ
PHONE 185

Today and Tomorrow
"Maisie Goes to Reno"
and
"Fuzzy Settles Down"

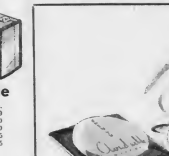
Sunday and Monday
"Sunday Dinner for a Soldier"
and
"San Diego I Love You"

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday
"Here Come the Waves"
and
Man in Halfmoon Street"

Friday and Saturday
'Death Rides the Range
and
"Music for Millions"

Travel Light

Jacksonville



A. M.	P. M.
12:15	1:30
3:30	3:00
5:45	5:00
5:00	6:45
6:45	8:45
8:30
11:00

Tampa

A. M.	P. M.
1:00	1:30
6:45	5:00
8:30	6:45
11:00	5:00

ALL BUSES LEAVE UNION BUS STATION COR. ADAMS & PENN. PHONE 701

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

CHEN YU
Cloud silk Make Up

Just a dream world into yours comes this new make-up for a perfect complexion—light as a cloud and smooth as silk.

$2.00 ...Refills $1.25 (tax extra)

BENNETT'S

MONROE STREET PHARMACY
Phone 93
COLLEGE INN PHARMACY
Phone 800

THE BOOK CORNER
FOR YOUR BOOKS, PERSONALIZED STATIONERY AND MATCHES
PHONE 1418 131 S. MONROE ST.

Traditional F Club Goating Activities Proceed on Campus

Every Friday night the tables in the Epic and Span are shoved against the wall and the chairs are made into a large semi-circle. The Floor is cleared and we walk 15 meek and humble individuals who apparently can't bear to be separated from each other. They stand very close together strive each other comforting support. They remain quietly in a straight line until one of the seated individuals calls out "cow——, step forward." The ordeal has begun. And from that moment on, anything can happen. Here it is possible to see apparently sane college students become fiubbie cats and dogs, "the White Chiffs of Dover" or "Training Maniacs." Nothing is sacred.

In front of the new dining hall is another center of attraction for F Club goat antics. Here you can see a goat "making a comishman," be a "semented worm," "the last of a long line," or "taxation without representation."

Jean Bennett, president of the goats, says all of the goats have been long together in preparation for the Game Woods party which the goats are giving for the F Club members next week. This is the first in the series of entertainments which the goats sponsor for the members.

Movie To Be Shown On Design Methods

A two-hour movie portraying the methods used in the Architecture of Design in Chicago to train and develop the new type of designer needed to solve the social, technical, and artistic problems of the present-day world will be presented next Friday night at 8 o'clock in 303 Westcott.

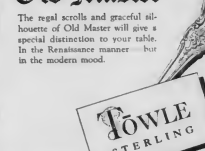
The technological film, jointly sponsored by the Tallahasee Arts Center and the fine arts department of FSC, is open to the public and no admission charges will be made.

Garnet and Gold

Alice Wheeler, soprano soloist, was the musical editor of the Garnet and Gold radio program which was broadcast from the college radio last week. Alice sang four songs and was accompanied by Pawn Travaille.

Sara Norman and Bertha Bloodworth took care of the announcing and news reporting.

Allee's selections were "In the Luxembourg Gardens" by Marjorie Lockhart Manning, "Pale Moon" by Frederick Knight Logan, "The Little Road of Mercy" by Charles Wakefield Cadman, and "Wind Song" by Samuel Richard Gaines.



PEA Has Outing

The annual Big-Little sister outing of the Physical Education association was held Wednesday evening around the traditional campus "family tree" in back of the gym.

Upperclassmen, in accordance with their seniority, chose freshmen little sisters for the occasion. Alice Taff vice president of the

Old Master

The regal scrolls and graceful silhouette of Old Master will give a special distinction to your table. In the Renaissance manner—but in the modern mood.

POWLE STERLING

For the bride-to-be, Old Master is just one of the patterns created by Towle true to craft traditions from 1690. And Towle Sterling — solid silver — is not expensive. A place setting costs as little as $22.72 including 20% Federal Tax.

Moon's

Students There

Z 106

The Florida Flambeau

Students Here

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Tallahassee, Florida

VOL. XXXIII, No. 4

NOVEMBER 2, 1945

Dupre Asks Contributions For World Student Service To Aid War-Ravaged Nations

Executive Secretary of WSSF Advises Student Union For Moral Revolution Against Conventions Forcing Poverty and Illness Upon World

Emphasizing the utter devastation and spiritual demoralization of war-ravaged countries, Dr J Huntley Dupre, executive secretary of the World Student Service Fund, called upon Florida State College student at convocations last Tuesday night to give as much as he is able to aid her fellow students abroad in their fight for an education—an education which must instigate a moral revolution.

Dr Dupre, who helped to reunite the students of enemy nations after the last war, said that if humanity is to live in peace, there must be a moral revolution against prevailing attitudes in a definite conventions a which force upon this nation and the world poverty, illness, disease and waste of resources. He pleaded to the students of the world to unite in an attack upon the evil forces which prevent common men from achieving the "good life" here on earth.

Pointing to the Golden Gate Francisco Charter as an example of the moral unreadiness of man to organize for "peace," Dr Dupre stressed the control of the atomic bomb by an international organization in which the autonomy of individual nations would be abolished. Students of the different countries have been forced to make life or death choices of submission or re-

Continued on Page Three

Course Added In Chemistry

Kelley Plans to Alleviate Repetition of Work

A new course in chemistry has been set up this year by the chemistry department. It is hoped that this plan will be very helpful in fulfilling the needs of the students who are choosing various fields of endeavor, according to Miss Lucy E Kelley, assistant professor of chemistry.

The method planned in teaching Freshman Chemistry which Mr Kelley believes will alleviate much repetition for those students who have a good background in high school chemistry. Fundamental principles are stressed; fundamental principles necessary for those beginning chemistry, it is felt should be understood so that they are more easily applied, he said. The laboratory work is supplemented by readilab experiments. This parallel reading enables the student to make a comparison between the methods of preparation in the presence of chemistry and the contemporary methods.

The use of experiments is another interesting phase of the students' work, Mr Kelley said. Many experiments are used as basis of class study. Such experiments as density of gases, valence and equivalent weights serve as practical, for study of gas laws and density.

A third phase of the work consists of experiments in industrial projects which concern planning, research, examination of information, expressing or pre-

Continued on Page Three

Freshman Flunkies Do Campus Chores

Typing, Poster, Miscellaneous Groups Are Divisions

Freshman Flunkies have begun another year of service on Florida State College campus.

As the many college clubs and organizations function, there are numerous odd jobs that must be done. These are tasks for the Freshman Flunkies.

There are three separate divisions of this organization, the typing committee, the poster committee and the miscellaneous group, says Patricia Dillard, general chairman. The results of their activities are seen all over campus, she declared. The many posters announcing convocation, pep rallies, color rush, F Club activities and dormitory teas were planned by the poster committee under the leadership of Laura Simpson. The Flunkie typists with Fran Evarts as their chairman, have busied themselves with the Odd Rosenwald scripts, the Student Senate announcements and many minutes from house meetings. Whenever a message has to be delivered or an errand run Jane Hollingsworth contacts one of the members of her committee for the job.

Then there are times when all the Flunkies work together on one project. Such was the time when convocation seats were assigned. The main office of the Freshman Flunkies, however, is to be on call whenever needed, Pat added.

Distaff Articles Must Be in Monday

Since next Monday, November 5, is the deadline for contributions to be submitted for the first issue of the Distaff this year, Wyckoff Meldrim editor, urges that students who wishing to contribute send in their material before that date.

Both contributions to the freshman column and upperclass articles, stories and poems should be sent through campus mail addressed to Winifred Meldrim, Box 607 editor.

Winifred said that freshmen have been slow in turning in their copy but there has been an enthusiastic response from upperclassmen in answer to the call for material for a symposium on post war reconstruction. This topic, announced Winifred, will be the theme of the comin Distaff to appear on or around December 1.

Irish Appointed

Dr Marian Irish, professor of political science, has recently been appointed to the editorial staff of the New York Times Book Review. Her first review which will appear in a November issue will be of Let's Talk Peace by Henry Allen.

Dr Irish has been writing book reviews and book notices since 1939. Other publications for which she has written are American Political Science Review and the Journal of Politics.

FSC Girls to Match Wits With Army Men

Five Florida State College students will match wits with five servicemen at Camp Gordon Johnston on Thursday, November 8, The quiz program is sponsored by Mortar Board and will take place in the camp theatre.

As yet only four of the contestants have been chosen. They are, Ann Durrance, graduate student, Marjorie Potter, junior, Thyra Bennett, junior and Rosetta Carver, junior. Bea Weaver, president of Florida State Union is chairman of the group. The Army contestants have not yet been announced.

The party will be transported to and from the base on the Camp Gordon Johnston bus and the program the girls will have dinner at the camp officers club and be entertained briefly before returning to the college. Several members of Mortar Board will accompany the group.

Wyckoff Addresses Home Economists

Miss Gladys Wyckoff of Washington, D. C. Field Secretary of the American Home Economics association, made a return visit this week to Florida State College for Women to confer with students in the field of home economics.

In an address to the students of the School of Home Economics Tuesday, Miss Wyckoff discussed, "The Professional Opportunities for Home Economics Trained Women." Pointing out that there are more than 62,300 openings in teaching, dietetics, research, business and social welfare and health for graduates in home economics, she said that these comprise more positions than there are trained women who may fill them.

Monday afternoon Miss Wyckoff, the faculty of the School of Home Economics, and the executive council of the Home Economics club met to formulate plans for a future program work-shop to be held at FSC this spring.

Dickson Is Making Second Appearance; Was Here in 1939

When Donald Dickson, famous Metropolitan opera singer, comes to Florida State College on November 19, it will not be for the first time. The young American baritone whose golden voice is well-known to radio fans and music lovers everywhere appeared on the campus, October, 1939.

During his visit here six years ago, Mr Dickson was interviewed by several reporters of the Flambeau. The tall broad-shouldered singer ended this interview by saying, "I've been pretty lucky so far, and I hope my luck holds out. Time is the only real test of a singers' worth." By the ever-growing popularity of Mr. Dickson, it appears that his luck is still with him.

Even at that time the question of co-educational was an important subject, and when asked if he approved of women's colleges, Mr Dickson considered a moment and then said, "I think they're all right, but I favor co-education more. It seems necessary." He also expressed his opinions then on the subject despite further urging.

The reporters of the 1939 Flambeau learned that Mr Dickson liked all baritone roles, "As a matter of fact, any good concert, classic, operatic, light opera or swing—give me a tingle, I sing it. My job is singing, that's what I try to do—nothing else."

Seniors Work At Institute

Political Science Majors Tell of Experience

Virginia Collins and Carol Bradford, senior political science majors, told International Relations club members of their six-weeks' work this summer at the World Affairs Institute in Salisbury, Connecticut at a meeting of the club last Friday in the Social room of the Kowena Longmire building.

The two girls said that foreign students at the Institute from countries were present, 18 coming from abroad, and 18 male students from all sections of the United States.

Lectures, panel discussions, committee work on special problems, and recording discussions constituted to an intensive and educational summer for these two girls who attended the Institute on a $150 scholarship.

Class work was under the direction of Joseph C. Harsch of the Hunsr college. Students did all their own work, such as washing clothes and dishes, during the leisure moments they went on hikes, swam in the nearby lakes, and danced many special folk dances of the various countries represented. Tim Dinan, a Princeton student studying at Columbia university, taught most of them to do the rhumba, for he had learned the dance in New York direct from Arthur Murray.

Among prominent men present were W F Bailey of the War Production Board, head of the Harvard government school, and Sir Norman Angell, past member of England's parliament who addressed the students. Movies were made by the students in the form of a round-table discussion of the Institute will be broadcast over a national network in the near future.

Membership fees were collected and about 20 members attended the discussion meeting.

Another meeting of the International Relations club will be held next Thursday night at 7:30 in the club room of the Kowena Longmire building.

Hayes Guest Pianist On Garnet and Gold

This week the Garnet and Gold radio program, which is broadcast each Thursday night at 7:30 from the college studios, featured Helen Hayes as guest pianist, Katherine Bell as announcer, and Sarah Norman as news editor.

Miss Mary Tom Colonos, new instructor of art school Watercolor Groplius, now head of the architecture department at Harvard, founded in 1919. This school pioneered in the field of industrial design education and furthered modern architecture.

Ad Lib Modernizes Ancient Adventures In Film Shown to Humanities Students

By JOYCE PETTY

"Yo-oh-heave-ho . . uuh!" Huh, he, Hubbs. "Odysseus, you have returned at last!" Such remarks as these modernized the adventures of Odysseus, Homer's Greek hero, when the humanities students on Tuesday night saw a silent movie filmed in 1909 based on the Odyssey.

Miss Martha G Chapman, assistant professor of English and the humanities staff "ented the film from the Film Classic Exchange. She thought the students enjoyed it in the "right spirit".

Listening to in the right spirit consisted of ad libbing to make up for the lack of sound in the picture.

One example was the last scene in which Penelope, the loyal wife, "threw herself into the arms of her long lost husband" to quote the text of the film, and several voices rose in unison, "Odysseus, you have returned at last!"

In a scene showing the suitors and maids of Penelope in amorous poses around the palace hall, one girl queried them with, "Is that dating area, boy?" while another commanded, "No loitering on the lawns, pleas."

In another scene of the suitors when they were feasting, one or more cynical students warned them with, "Eat, drink, and be merry, and tomorrow you'll get shipped."

The movie did not lack background music either. Odysseus' ship sailed to the tune of "Yo-oh-heave-ho" from the Volga Boatmen. However, a grunt was stated as they were making it "Yo-oh-heave-ho . . uu-h!"

The love scenes caused no end of hilarity. One of the wives, in epidemic of them came when Penelope's husband left her. Penelope, the goddess with whom he had been detained for seven, then started to push his raft off shore the film stopped and had to be started again before the film went smoothly. As a result of this interruption the line in a moment to kiss the goddess, the film would stop . . . he would kiss her again, the film would stop . . . and so on ad infinitum.

Continued on Page Three

Construction of New Buildings to Begin

Dr Campbell Says New Dorm, Museum Will Be First

New and badly needed buildings are in the light of the not-too-distant future, according to President Doak S Campbell.

The first building that will be under construction will probably be a new dormitory unit, which will house approximately 200 girls. Even though the building will not be completed in time for this year's crop of students, it is hoped probably be ready for occupancy next fall. The dormitory will be built in the little area north of the college infirmary, it is hoped to be started within a few weeks.

Another building being considered is a museum, a necessity for the relics that have been donated from time to time. Although the materials for such a building have not yet been secured, one step toward its construction has been a recent receipt of the $50,000 endowment bequeathed by the late Dudley Beaumont Chair of Art. When the museum is completed it will be the home of the Beaumont Hemisphere Art.

Remodeling Dr Campbell, other buildings have been suggested, but no definite plans have been laid. Among these are a new auditorium and music building. The location suggested for the latter is the auditorium was the present site of the music annex.

With the lifting of building restrictions more construction on campus will be possible. One prospect is a new Demonstration School. Another is a north wing to be built on the Physical Education building.

Attention, Seniors

Seniors who expect to complete their work for graduation at the end of the second quarter are asked to see either Miss Helen Parker or Mrs Frances Roberts in the Personnel Office as soon as possible.

Dr Graham Is New President

New Members of Phi Beta Kappa Welcomed

Dr Viola Graham, professor of physiology, was elected president of the Alpha of Florida Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at the annual business meeting Monday night. New members were welcomed by Dr Marion Irish, presiding officer.

Other officers elected at this meeting were: Dr Lucretia Daley, vice-president; Miss Betsy Haich, secretary; Miss Miriam Wilson, treasurer and Dr A R Seymour, historian.

New members included Mrs Mary Alfriend Patterson and Mrs Lilah, who was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa in April, 1945, at the same time Mrs Lilah was made a member of the local chapter, and Miss Carolyn Trump, instructor in physical education on the campus from the University of Alabama.

A Council meeting will be held in the fall of 1946 at the College of William and Mary where Phi Beta Kappa was founded in 1776, said Miss Marguerite R Dressler, secretary, who also announced that this recent announcement from Washington, D. C. indicates that wartime restrictions on travel and conventions, the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa council will meeting of the Council, the legislative body of the organization, will be resumed after the war.

Plans for the annual celebration of Founder's Day, December 5, were discussed.

Dr Dorothy Rose Dalier, retiring president, announced a position in the department of psychology at Adelphi College, New York, the beginning of this year, Miss Dressler stated.

Kelley Publishes Chemistry Article

An article written by Jerry B Kelley, assistant professor of chemistry, appeared in the Journal of Chemical Education, July, 1945, entitled "A Simple Apparatus Illustrating Preparation and Properties of Isobutylene (2-Methyl propene)." The article was the result of numerous experiments in the Florida State College laboratories of the materials used were necessary until the experiment was perfected.

In the last few years isobutylene has become one of the outstanding compounds of the petroleum industry, and this important alkene has been investigated in many articles studied by pupils taking Miss Mary Reeder, Miss Olea Elmer, Miss Gladys G Koch, Miss Florine Marlatt, Miss Gladys Hoffman, Miss Mary Reeder, Miss Patricia Mercer, Miss Mary Dunn and Professor W R Cowles.

History of Mortar Board Is Studied

The history of Mortar Board and its constitution and by-laws were studied at the Mortar Board study meeting which was held by Miss Elizabeth Thomson's home last Sunday. Mortar Board members voted to continue their project of taking some entertainment to Camp Gordon Johnston hospital once a month, and to sponsor monthly faculty-student coffee side chats, Beatrice Weaver, president, stated.

At the October 21 Mortar Board meeting the following officers were elected, vice president, Shirley Duggan; secretary, Dink Ashton; treasurer, Martha Jane Brown; historian, Peggy Lou Thomas; editor, Margaret Beuil; and publicity advisor, Dr Ruth Hein, professor of experimental psychology at Florida State College.

Day Students

The Day Students' organization of Florida State College will sponsor the United Nations Victory War Fund drive on the campus.

The day students, headed by Daphne Reve, decided at a meeting Friday to take charge of a contributions booth in the hall of Westcott building from October 31 through November 3. The organization is composed of FSC students who are residents of Tallahassee and Geraldine Brumby is vice-president.

Parker Appointed

Miss Daisy Parker, instructor in political science, has been appointed coordinator for the program of the joint meeting of the Florida Historical Society and the Florida Academy of Science which will be held in St Augustine on December 7 and 8.

At the meeting Miss Parker will deliver a paper entitled "The Inauguration of the First Governor of Florida."

Twenty Outstanding Seniors Selected to Represent FSC In Who's Who Publication

Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities Includes Seniors From All Campuses Elected for Annual Edition

Twenty seniors of Florida State College have been chosen by popular election to represent the college in the annual publication of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities which contains outstanding seniors of all colleges.

Those chosen were Ann Carolyn Allison, Maurine Ashton, Catherine Barre, Sarah Bennett, Martha Jane Brown, Shirley Duggan, Lura Beth Evans, Jo Guthrie, Corinne Johnston, Madelyn King, Jeanne Koesy, Catherine Land, Gladys Lester, Winifred Meldrim, Audrey Perry, Janet Rogers, Peggy Lou Thomas, Peggy Lu Thomson, Beatrice Weaver, and Anne Widerquist.

Dr Carothers Dons Uniform to Aid in Tornado-Hit Area

Curious students who saw Dr and W Carothers in a sergeant's uniform recently were relieved to find out that Dr Carothers was not joining the army. He had merely donned the uniform of a sergeant in the Florida State Guard to help other members of the guard keep order and restore the damaged homes in the tornado-struck area near Tallahassee.

"The men of the guard kept curious onlookers away from the scene," Dr Carothers said, "and helped homeless people find their stricken, homeless neighborhood."

Dr Carothers was a captain in the National Guard before he resigned.

As soon as the National Guard becomes demobilized, and returns to its peace time status, the State Guard will be disbanded. The Florida State Guard was only organized to fill in the vacancy left by the National Guard when the latter was called into service.

Dr Carothers held the rank of captain in the National Guard for two years ago.

Dean Is Chairman Of State Meeting

Mr Karl O Kuerstener, acting dean of the school of music, will be the chairman of a convention of the Florida State Music Teachers' Association which will be held in Orlando on November 3 and 4.

Public school music will be the main topic of discussion at the meeting and several talks will be given by members during the convention. Dr Kuerstener will give the introductory talk on "The Collegiate Training for the Prospective Teacher of Music."

Dr T P Giddings of Minneapolis, Minnesota, who, according to Dr Kuerstener, is "in a historical way the most important figure in public school music in America," will also be present at the meeting.

Members of the school of music at Florida State College will also attend the convention are: Dean Ella Scobie Opperman, Miss Rosamond Bevan, Miss Olea Elmer, Miss Gladys G Koch, Miss Florine Marlatt, Miss Gladys Hoffman, Miss Mary Reeder, Miss Patricia Mercer, Miss Mary Dunn and Professor W R Cowles.

Large Enrollment, Shortage of Help Puts College Laundry, Hand-Laundry, Dry Cleaning Units Under Great Strain

By JEAN DOUGLAS

Everybody talks about the laundry. In fact, a lot of people kick about the laundry. It is one of those numerous institutions whose effects are widely seen but little known. As one of those institutions, it plays a vital but far too often unappreciated part in the activities of this campus.

The triple job of laundering, hand laundering, and dry-cleaning for 1,500 individual college girls is at present under somewhat of a strain, due to the unusual increase in enrollment and to the acute shortage of help. However, as soon as new help can be trained, and as soon as the approach of winter substitutes woolens for summery cottons, the laundry hopes and expects to swing back to its normal schedule.

The first of the three duties of the laundry is that of dry-cleaning and ironing, is by far the biggest and most complicated. This one department requires the services of 48 workers, with enough an array of alarming Rube Goldberg-ian contraptions of mechanism the like of which one rarely sees—or wants to! Missing steam-pressing every thing, great washers churning horribly away at favorite buttons, pressing, steaming, sloshing, growling monsters lurking in corners, all are employed at the laundry-machine end, task of getting the first dirt, then the wrinkles, out of clothes.

The second of the "big three" tasks, special laundering, is handled at the same end and in approximately the same manner as is regular laundry. Garments are washed more carefully, are partly machine-ironed, then finished by hand rugs, curtains, spreads, and other such items receive the special care specified in such cases.

Dry cleaning, under the direction of Mr T L Glover, is carried on in a separate room at the end of the department, which, incidentally, is located directly underneath the gymnasium. To this division are sent the garments which cannot be washed as regular laundry. These are then treated in dry cleaning solvent, then dried and pressed. Stubborn spots and stains are treated chemically first with a rust eradicator—oxalic acid is the favorite—then, as a last resort, with an oxidizing process which removes not only the spot but also the color from the garment. Considering, however, is done only with the permission of the student. At present there is a cleaning plant which uses carbon tetrachloride as the cleaning agent, but it is installed, and is expected to be ready for action within two or three weeks. This new system much more effectively cleans all types of garments and materials, with the exception of natural rubber and some synthetic materials.

The exact procedure, station by station, of the laundry package, from the time it leaves the hands of the local laundry room, begins with a trip to the checking room, where each package is counted and checked by the laundry list, and examined for damaged garments and for old laundry marks. It is first sent to the washing machines, then to the dryer, where 95 per cent of the water is removed by centrifugal force. After this, it is sent to the breaking-room where it is sorted according to the type of finishing which it will receive. The most complicated type of finishing has been accomplished, each piece is folded and placed in the compartment to be re-assembled into packages. Each day's laundry is distributed, rooms are replaced, and any minor damages are repaired. Dresses are tagged with the students' names, put on hangers, and assembled according to dormitories. The ride back to the dormitory laundry rooms then takes place, and the cycle is completed.

The college this year added one new laundry room to the two already in existence, the Florida Flam-

Continued on Page Four

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

● WARTIME TRACES

The war is officially over, but still existent in many fields of activity are the changes growing out of war-time expediency. An example of one of these activities is visible by the actions of the Army and Navy programs in the higher educational institutions.

Although it is reported that in the main, the speed-up program of wartime will disappear, many colleges and universities will retain the accelerated three-year course until the veterans have earned their degrees.

The influence of Army and Navy programs are being felt in other more important directions such as teaching, techniques and practices. Courses have been modified and new courses added.

A survey of 21 representative institutions of higher learning in various parts of the country which was conducted by Benjamin Fine, New York Times writer, shows some of the influences exerted by the military services through the Army Specialized Training Program, the Navy's several V-7 and V-12 projects, and the aviation and marine divisions on the campuses. University presidents predict that the imprint will be permanent.

Five major changes were discovered by this survey: (1) modified way of teaching foreign languages; (2) increased use of visual aids; (3) more emphasis on science and technical subjects; (4) greater stress on physical education; (5) greater flexibility in the use of faculty members in subjects outside their own field.

Of these changes, we are inclined to agree with Mr Fine in that the teaching of foreign languages is the most striking. Although the Army's teaching method was criticized as well as praised, it had, with variations, been accepted by almost all of the institutions polled.

Yale's program is typical of the new language teaching trend, according to Fine. All beginning courses in modern languages are now being taught by the intensive method similar to that employed by the Army training programs. Ten hours weekly are devoted to classes in the language selected by the student, with eight hours confined to oral practices.

Recording machines, after being used by the Army Military Intelligence School, have shown the far-reaching consequences of their service. This can be seen when it is revealed that seven instructors learned as much in one week using the mechanical devices now train 150 men; whereas 15 techers without machines were formerly required to instruct 30 men.

The University of Nebraska is an example of another modification of the language program as a result of Army experience. A revision of the lecture-reading system is now in effect which includes two hour laboratory periods in which students hear the spoken language. Sound films and recordings have been introduced to supplement classroom instruction also.

That a change is to become a definite part of the college curriculum appears likely for the universities listed before have already revised their language-teaching method: Smith, Chicago, Indiana, Massachusetts State, Northwestern University, University of Denver, University of Iowa, Wellesley, Princeton, Brooklyn College, Mills College, Vanderbilt, Fordham, Syracuse, Minnesota, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth and Colgate.

● LOCAL TALENT

In the course of the four-year term at college, students have little opportunity to more than sample the 250 members of the college faculty. Limited by time and major requirements, the average student is seldom able to penetrate far beyond her chosen field. But the human mind is a complex thing, made up of various interests and numerous talents. Its desires cannot be satisfied by knowledge of one field only nor can its interests be answered in the classroom alone.

During the last two weeks, students of Florida State College were able to hear two speakers from the faculty, outside of class hours. Speaking from the viewpoint of the history professor, Dr Robert Cotterill gave enlightening and inspiring advice to newly-invested seniors, showing through the historical analogy of the journeyman the way to free thought and higher education. During the latter part of the week, Dr Harold Richards gave a timely lecture on the atomic bomb in an era when those specializing in sponge cake or the Elizabethan sonnet have a new and vital interest in the basic stuff of the universe.

Although the Artist Series provides for contact with some of the headline speakers and top-ranking artists of the day, we have few such chances to learn of the excellence of our own teaching staff. In the routine of classes and study, we seem to emphasize the big-name personalities and minimize the importance of lectures sponsored by specialized branches and featuring local talent in the form of members of the faculty. Yet it is opportunities such as these that are needed to help prevent too limited a specialization and to allow for a further integration of college and life. In this survey, and in this way only, can students come to know the faculty members outside of their own major interest and to understand something of the other fields and viewpoints which go to make up the varied whole of life.

● WHAT BETTER WAY?

Every year about this time the campus is besieged with drives—and we feel obliged to give for this cause and that cause, without really thinking about the ultimate future of the money we contribute. November has been designated as Wool and Student Service Fund month on the school calendar. We are being urged to set aside some money each week so that at the end of the month we may meet our pledges.

What why give to WSSF?" In convocation Tuesday night, Dr Huntley Dupre, executive secretary of World Student Service Fund, outlined the desperate need of students this winter in war-ravaged Europe and Asia. No histrionics were necessary to put before us the picture of the plight of thousands of students in each country. The facts speak for themselves. The need is desperate, the need is NOW.

Still the question arises, "Why should we give? There are many richer colleges in the country who have more money to spare than the average student. Why not let them take every cent that every college and university in the nation can muster to begin to reach the needs of world-wide student relief. Some colleges average well over two dollars per person in their drives, yet the goal for our college is an average of at least one dollar, budgeted over the whole month of November. The previous years Florida State has contributed her share. This year we will be no exception.

Now that we are no longer at war, our interests are concentrated toward a complete victory for decency and justice in the world. In what better way can we each do our share in building for a world we dream of than by contributing to the education of our contemporaries who will shape the future along with us?

MAGAZINE JOTTINGS

By CATHERINE NOLLMAN

The Fascist Ghost Stalks Europe

Not only intellectual receptivity but a willingness to sacrifice in order to understand Europe's political problems is the attitude necessary, according to the October issue of Harper. Mr Wimer Brown, correspondent years in Europe as a correspondent.

"The notion that the war against Germany was fought to end war against fascism is such an oversimplification," he says, "that during the time during the war but in defeating Germany we have not finished the job of defeating fascism. Fascism is no says, acceptable to the people who have it, but because it is the only way they know of securing a factual and psychological security. The Fascist leaders are not all alike but one thing that the many variants have in common is one way or another fascism solved each one's personal problem or claimed to solve it, or claimed to solve it, at the expense of someone else." And it solved was acceptable because the people had been driven to the deepest layer of despair, neglect, and intolerable insecurity, and an emotional equivalent of the bottle of kill. The circumstances of European life during the last quarter of a century have been such that the leaders who helped promote this feeling.

There are three major elements in fascism: the seekers of wealth and power who use the rabid hirelings of Fascists, the fanatic Fascist leaders, and the masses who were led. The latter two groups solved their problems greatly in the realm of psychological security, fantasy.

The French critic, Jacques B Brunius, pointed out, "No people has ever given itself to a dictator for the simple pleasure of being oppressed. An analysis of the radio-mesmeric complex which develops in the masses, during the advent of a dictatorship would reveal a whole in which the need for emancipation acceptance of submission through fear of responsibility and liberty, the will to dominate self-abuse, and the sirens of combat to the catastrophe are intermingled"

Added to these psychological aspect the Fascist benefitted socially and economically at the expense of some scrapegoat and later other nations which appeared to the Fascist as potential enemies. "The Fascists dealt, destruction and death without feeling because they had no fear in themselves . . ."

Democracy?

"Only confidence and faith in the possibility that democracy can solve the deep emotional problems can keep the western world's faith." On the material side we have already begun the task of relief and rehabilitation, but on the psychological side we are less capable of handling this present situation of restlessness and insecurity. Extra-legal trials, mob violence, and vengeance without they do not solve the psychological problems and cannot help to pave the way by providing an outlet for the Europeans' sense of guilt.

Communism?

The author says that as present fascism is dissolving into the extremists the composed th. "Impelled by the economic motives, the joining parties which seem to offer fair hope of success, even though an influx of reactionaries from among the Fenanists and Fascists into the extreme Right-parties might influence an anti-democratic line. The possibility of a new Fascism in France would be remote without the help of a Communist movement, against which at present does not exist because the majority of leaders of Fascism are emerging as rank-and-file supporters of Communist organizations. For the most part they will be Communists as they were Fascists, existing because it is easier to be obedient than to resist, because being led is more important than being free. "They will turn to Communism because it offers a simple faith. while democracy is a faith every man must find for himself as an individual."

There is no need, says Mr Wimer, to fear that the converted Fascists will change the gradual evolution of Russian Communism into the "democracy". The real danger presented by the survival of Fascism lies in civil war and then international war if a future choice between nationalism and internationalism were to split French Communism. The ideal of the United Nations could be preserved by a whole and united Europe which would make their plans only through material and phychological security.

Classes Compete

Odds and Evens will compete in the sale of Victory bonds and stamps for the lection of their sponsor of the Thanksgiving games, Sales will take place during the week from Wednesday, November 14 through Wednesday November 21. Results of the sale and the election will be revealed by house meetings on Tuesday, November 6.

In This Our Time

By GLORIA REED

Upstirings were notable during the week in China, Java and Brazil.

In China the Central Government troops, under the leadership of General Chiang, and the Chinese Communists have been waging a bloody campaign for the control of Northern China. There is an unsupported rumor that Russian officials have given the Chinese Communists weapons captured from the Japanese in the last days of the war, and an unofficial source recently said that secret Japanese groups were sending munitions to the Chinese Communist armies.

Java was the scene of a bitter struggle of a British garrison of 1,600 men attempting to hold out against a force of 10,000 armed natives who refuse to allow the Dutch colonists to enter the key city of Batavia.

Brazil's President Vargas removed his office and announced strong guard around the war ministry. War Minister Monteiro also resigned because it is believed that the two strongest candidates for the presidency in the December elections, Generals Gomes and Dutra, are preparing for revolutionary moves.

Tied up with the rebellions throughout the world are the reports that Nazi and Fascist secret weapons are being used in the Latin American and East Indies conflicts. Such statements caused the State Department to declare that the United States supplied those weapons against possible Axis invasion. According to official reports, one-fifth of the total lend-lease exports to Latin American countries by Brazil, the largest. No such armaments, however.

Or Forever Hold Your Peace . . .

To the editor:

The West elevator in Landis is for the use of the maids, janitors, housemothers, the Sweet Shop janitors, and for the delivery of express which comes in every day. It is not for the use of instructors and servants do not make up the timetable. Ill. the enrollment of Landis Hall, but their need of the elevator is much more constant than that of the students. Time spent in going from floor to floor will give them more time to do their work and will be a great decrease for complaint.

The building of approximately 500 girls can boast of one elevator which is often in a state of disrepair. For this reason we the students must be deprived of the use of the west elevator. It is now in running order for more important uses. When the possibility for the use of this elevator by the students was discussed with Mrs Nold she stated: "My experience in Landis has been that this elevator was constantly in need of repair." Considering the work of the house servants and the delivery of supplies, Mrs Nold "Steps are hard to climb." Girls now living in Landis have trouble enough. Obviously, although not so large as Landis, also has five flights of stairs, the students there have no elevator for their use Landis is the only dormitory on campus which does have an elevator for student use. Girls in other dormitories in the absence of even one elevator are not complaining as loudly as those in Landis. Let's appreciate our one elevator!

(Signed)
Happy McCarter
Irene Mendoza.

Grosts and Gremlins Abroad to Practice Hallowe'en Pranks

Many a girl hopped on her broom Wednesday night and went out on campus to see what was going on. Some girls left the broom and see what had been done during the game.

As usual "pie" beds, greased doorknobs and "stacked" rooms were the order of the day. Even stories on Doors opened, lights went on and mysterious cries of sis a girls found their rooms in utter turmoil. Such outbursts as "Who's been in my closet?", "I'll bet I know who did this", or "I'll get even with you if you do me!" could be heard at every turn.

Lipstucked and soaped mirrors carried such messages as "no reflection on you, of course" "Keep off the grass," and "Boo. Happy Hallowe'en Hurrah!"

One girl had certain scientific or inventive leanings placed a water filled coca-cola bottle, with a straw and stopper and stirling in a "friend's bed. The stirling was placed in the bed in such a way as to make it disastrous to pull down the covers. One unsuspecting girl, tired after a night of playing pranks, went to bed. Her screams of fear and disgust filling down the hall.

Even Miss Ruby F club post had the spirit of Hallowe'en for she reigned from her high position dressed in a gay costume of orange and black Hallowe'en would not have been complete without ghosts so a few girls donned sheets and "floated" around on the dark campus to complete Ali in all. Hallowe'en as Florida State College was a night of little study and lots of fun.

VV Elect Officers

Officers of the Village Vamps were elected at a business meeting held in first meeting last Wednesday night. They are: Yesbel Dupree, president; Nell McNiel, vice president; Joan Cramer, secretary; Sarah Jane Gallagher, treasurer; and Norma Schaeffner, reporter.

Plans were discussed for the Thanksgiving Dance at which Florida State College was host. The dance will be held in the Day Student's Lounge.

The Students Speak...

By BARBARA WICKHAN

"To wear blue jeans or not to wear blue jeans" that is the question this week. The Social Standards Council has issued its annual reminder of what is and what is not done on campus. The entire student body seems to agree that slacks are not the thing to wear in front of the campus but there is a great deal of controversy over the point of wearing them in places like the Sweet Shop, Soda Shop, and Spic.

The general viewpoint of the students who were asked on the library steps Westcott, and thicker and yon on campus seemed to be that they wouldn't look so bad when worn with a raincoat.

Betty Brown, freshman—

"Yes, I think slacks cover you even more than a dress. Shorts would be a different matter."

Martha Gerber, senior—

"I see no reason when I'd like to wear them myself but I guess on the whole they do not look right on campus"

Betty Jean Thomasson, junior—

"I wouldn't approve of shorts but I think that slacks are okay."

Betty Dot Galbraith, freshman—

"They are both sides. But when a person has been studying in her room in jeans and wants something to eat it's a lot of trouble to change your clothes. I think slacks and jeans are all right late at night."

Bobbye Bradley, freshman—

"Blue jeans look collegiate. So many girls go on hike, and to camp that it's hard to distinguish a co change before they get something to eat It's a lot of trouble, too."

Betty Shirley, sophomore—

"I think that it's all right with rain coats. Almost everyone this year that you see in the Spic and Sweet Shop in slacks are girls on their way to play basketball or volleyball or something where they have to wear them."

Jean Sherer, sophomore—

"No, it lowers our standards. Perhaps if you're on your way to camp it's okay to stop."

College Comments . . .

BETTY LILLYCROP

In a poll conducted by the Los Angeles Collegian, students were asked: "What are the qualities you desire in your ideal woman?"

"After all the results were tabulated, the blondes are still holding their own and th trend is toward long hair," stated the poll. And as the small, dark sweater girl walked by a long low whine could be heard.

In a poll conducted the week before the Yale-Cornell game the characteristics and qualities do you want in your man?" It was five fifths of the College men polled there have no elevator for their use Landis is the only dormitory on campus which does have an elevator for student use. Girls in other dormitories in the absence of even one elevator are not complaining as loudly as those in Landis. Let's appreciate our one elevator!

"Steps are hard to climb." Girls now living in Landis have trouble enough. Obviously, although not so large as Landis, also has five flights of stairs, the students there have no elevator for their use Landis is the only dormitory on campus which does have an elevator for student use. Girls in other dormitories in the absence of even one elevator are not complaining as loudly as those in Landis. Let's appreciate our one elevator!

"Diersell

According to The Wheel the revival of one of Emory University's oldest traditions, Freshman Day, is scheduled for November 14. At this time the day will include a chapel program, a push-ball game, a free lunch, and dance in the evening. Freshmen will be required to wear their clothes backward, with the fabric strips worn in reverse, and know all the traditions and verses of the Alma Mater.

The freshmen who registered this fall will play the upperclassmen in the push-ball game, the sponsor of the winning team receiving a queen of the freshman hop. The members of the losing team must wear their rat caps till Christmas.

Here's good news. College women needn't turn grey any more at the prospect of being old maids. A survey made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company proves that the smarter a woman becomes the more likely she is to marry, to make a so called "good match."

The study shows both men and women are likely to choose men and women with schooling similar to their own. Almost half the college men interviewed had married college women, and only one in sixteen had married a woman whose education had stopped with grade school. The fair sex did even better, more than half stated that they had married college men.

The survey didn't go into the details on how to catch the man, whether college girls or not, college women know the hows and wherefore of the chase.

The Daily Athenian.
West Virginia

Featured Seniors Voted at Meeting

Upperclassmen will vote on the seniors for the feature section of the 1946 Flatlanders at their meeting in the compulsory house meetings, announced Margaret Baugh, editor.

At the meetings printed ballots will be distributed and will be given out to be voted on and taken up that night Not more than 20 girls are to be put on.

There are no specific qualifications for the feature section, the editor declared, adding that the votes of the upperclassmen will be only criteria used in determining the seniors who shall be featured in the Flatlanders.

Gautier Chosen

Miss Linnie Lou Gautier, a freshman student of Florida State College who is now taking graduate work at Farrell college in Nashville, Tennessee, has been selected as one of six students from that school to appear in Who's Who Among College Students in American Universities and Colleges for 1945-46 according to word recently received from Nashville.

The Florida Flambeau

1945 1946 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

LANEY ROGERS — Editor
LOIS GAITHER, PEGGY KAY — Associate Editors
LOIS BYRD — Assistant Editor
SHIRLEY SUDGERS — Editorial Secretary
MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON — Assistant Secretaries

Copy Editor — Lois Bee
Copy Staff — Mary Nell McClendon, Jeanne Wilson
Feature Editor — Barbara Wickham
Columnists — Anne Horton, Mary Ann Hall, Bobbie Bell
Assistant Managing Editor — Mary Ann Hall
Assistant Society Editor — Marion Perry
Sports Editor — Betty Jean Thomasson
Outside News Editor — Catherine McIver
Literary Editor — Barbara Stephens
Opinion Editors — Dee Caskie
Exchange Editor — Lois Perry

REPORTERS: Eugenia Albers, Alma Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Eleanor Barber, Barbara Beckman, Jean Bishop, Virginia Bunting, Frances Burnett, Lee Bullock, Mary Ann Cannon, Dorothy Carter, Dorothy Fowler, Dorothy Farrar, Dorothy Foster, Winifred Lane, Barbara Lankford, Betty Littleton, Jo Mangum, Jacqueline Revell, Eileen Perry, Joyce Petty, Esme Quinn, Mary Jane Sharman, Marianne Sapsis, Mary Terry, Tani Thomas, Frances Trainor, Kay Van Deusen.

BUSINESS STAFF

Helen Terpaud — Business Manager
Eileen Dees — Advertising Manager

Entered as second class mail matter, January 30, 1925, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla. under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Sorority Chit-Chat....

bilations, out-of-town guests, ridge party and informal par- highlighted the sororities' eek-end activities.

Pi Alpha Chi Omegas had a week-end. They initiated ueret Johnson, Jonnie Meyers, Loretta Rouse last Saturday ernoon and Saturday night, and then enjoyed a delicious spa- ash supper at the chapter house- Sunday night the new initiates were honored with a formal at Cherokee Hotel. Gloria Smith Gloria Reed were chairmen the banquet-planning com- ee. Jane Arnold managed the rangements. Louise Sims deco- ns and Lillian Brown made the ssive place cards.

ge Saturday night the Alpha Phi's initiated Betty Ann Marie Evatt, and Catherine Conn. Wednesday night Ellen W. Barrett, A D Phi ergeme, honored these new ini- ates and J D Pi pledges with informal buffet supper. The e decorated with autumn ers, each setting the tone ecorated members, who as- Mrs Barrett in entertain-

Sunday night the A D Pi pledge ass to entertain the chapter members and their guests with ffee at the chapter house.

Theta Delta members had an ty-seats last week-end alum- Miss Nell Hawkins, of Monti- and Miss Ann Thomas, from Greenville.

ree members will be taken Alpha Gamma Delta tonight their traditional initiation cer- ies. The girls are Mary Bird, ney Futch, Betty McIntosh, ston Belle Morris, Lewis. morrow night a Hallowe'en ty will be given in their honor Kimberly Rose, assistant ial chairman, in charge of rangements. Committee chair- who will help her with the ers are Carolyn Abrams, deco- ns; Lillian Engle, refresh- ents; Violet Walters, pledge r; and Aileen Sayers, recrea-

The Chi Omega house was the ne of a pledge party last Sat- day afternoon. On the side ere Hallowe'en theme carri- ut with skits, fortune-telling, ch apple-bobbing.

Chi Omega new initiates are ginnie Davis and Barbara Simpson.

The Trident Degree initiates into Delta Delta Del- ta on Friday morning at 8 o'clock to Betty LaBree, Joyce Smith and Chris Morrison and Saturday afternoon they re- ceived their Stars and Crescent in a Halloween supper-party held at the house Saturday evening in honor of the three ini- tiates. After bobbing for apples and having their fortunes told, the girls roasted weiners and marshmallows over an outdoor

Delta Phi Epsilons members ini- ated Arlyne Siegel last Satur- day afternoon. That night the ister honored Arlyne with a ner at the Cherokee Hotel. She presented with a corsage of rple and gold flowers, the ter colors.

Tomorrow afternoon the activ- and pledges will hold a joint ening at the chapter house. ish will be followed by an in- mal party for the pledges and ir non-sorority girls.

Betty Ames, of Leesburg, who graduated from FSC last ter spent last weekend with her ents there. Kappa Alpha Theta ers had a supper Sunday ht to celebrate Halloween. The new pledge class of Kappa lpha Theta elected officers Mon- day night. They are: Pauline Tuttle, president; Anne Leach, vice-

THE MOST HONORED WATCH ON THE CAMPUS

Longines

THE WORLD'S MOST HONORED WATCH

WINNER OF 10 WORLD'S FAIR GRAND PRIZES, 9 GOLD MEDALS AND MORE HONORS FOR ACCURACY THAN ANY OTHER TIMEPIECE

Tallahassee Music Company
Come in and see our new stock of Record and Wide Selection of Sheet Music
123 S. Monroe St.

president; Martha Lanahart, secretary-treasurer; Betsy Brown, activities chairman; Juanell Kelley, parliamentarian; Jeanne Ann Daly, scholarship chairman.

New Phi Mo members Anne Widerquin and Fay Irvin, were honored at a spaghetti supper Saturday night at the sorority house. Pledges were enslaved to fix breakfast for the initiates Sunday morning.

Dupre Asks

Continued from Page One

sistence to tyranny, while we here have not been tried nor tested on our fundamental beliefs in freedom of thought and education. Dupre pointed out.

Living on two slices of bread and one cup of tea a day, wearing tattered clothing, shivering because of lack of coal, yet still maintaining their self-respect is the heroic yet tragic story of the European and Chinese students who have been bombed by the great universities and forced into underground existence, he said in Holland, Poland, Czechoslavakia, Belgium, France, and China.

Sunday night the world's most famous universities were closed or completely controlled, and their students had to have ninety per cent of student from Lowland countries attempting to flee to neutral countries or to the Soviet waters of the Baltic Sea.

Yet today, Dr Dupre declared, the great universities are once more struggling to educate warriors against the enemy, he said in which Betty Jane Bird, Ruth Futch, Betty McIntosh, Marion Belle Morris, Lewis. Tomorrow night a Hallowe'en party will be given in their honor by Kimberly Rose, assistant social chairman, in charge of arrangements. Committee chairmen who will help her with the party are Carolyn Abrams, decorations; Lillian Engle, refreshments; Violet Walters, pledges; and Aileen Sayers, recreation.

The Chi Omega house was the scene of a pledge party last Saturday afternoon. On the side were Hallowe'en theme carried out with skits, fortune-telling, and apple-bobbing.

Chi Omega new initiates are Virginnie Davis and Barbara Simpson.

The Trident Degree initiates into Delta Delta Delta on Friday morning at 8 o'clock to Betty LaBree, Joyce Smith and Chris Morrison and Saturday afternoon they received their Stars and Crescent in a Halloween supper-party held at the house Saturday evening in honor of the three initiates. After bobbing for apples and having their fortunes told, the girls roasted weiners and marshmallows over an outdoor

Delta Phi Epsilons members initiated Arlyne Siegel last Saturday afternoon. That night the sister honored Arlyne with a dinner at the Cherokee Hotel. She was presented with a corsage of purple and gold flowers, the sister colors.

Tomorrow afternoon the activities and pledges will hold a joint meeting at the chapter house. Which will be followed by an informal party for the pledges and their non-sorority girls.

Betty Ames, of Leesburg, who graduated from FSC last June spent last weekend with her parents there. Kappa Alpha Theta members had a supper Sunday night to celebrate Halloween. The new pledge class of Kappa Alpha Theta elected officers Monday night. They are: Pauline Tuttle, president; Anne Leach, vice-

Recital Is Held

A regular student recital of the music department was held Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock in West- cott auditorium.

The following program was presented: Cecil's "Ara Maria Stell," Fawn Trawick; "Waltz in A Flat," by Chopin, Lucille Wooten; the "Romance" of Sibelius, Annabelle Redwine; "If I Could Tell You," Sarah Ann Summerlin; and "Fling Wide the Gates" by Karg-Elert, Jane Casterline.

At the close of the musical program, President Doak S Campbell spoke to the group, choosing as his general theme the idea that music should be for everyone to understand and enjoy.

Trump Is Honored

Miss Carolyn Trump, new sociology instructor at Florida State College, was honor guest on a bird study trip Sunday morning to Bradfordville, which was made by several members of the faculty.

Members of the party were: Dr Enda Devitney, professor of zoology; Miss Helen Rogers, instructor in public school music; Miss Betty Lonthicum, instructor in botany, and Dr Mary Hood, assistant professor of bacteriology.

The motor trip was made to introduce Miss Trump to the flora and fauna of the state.

Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi, Sigma Kappa Have Annual Formals Tomorrow Night

Members and pledges of Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi, and Sigma Kappa are holding their annual formal balls tomorrow night.

The Chi Omega Pi Phi dance will be held in the Longmire building. Decorations for the occasion will be red and blue, Pi Phi colors, and red and yellow, Chi Omega colors. Music for dancing will be records.

Guests at the ball will include members of the faculty and patrons of the sororities. Dr and Mrs Doak S Campbell, Miss Olivia Dorman, Miss Katherine Warren, Dr and Mrs Harold Richards, Miss Edith McCollum, Dr and Mrs Frank Miller, Miss Bess Burrell and Mr and Mrs George Lewis, who are patrons and patronesses, have been invited as guests of Chi Omega.

Guests of Pi Beta Phi will include Dr and Mrs W R Cowles, Dr and Mrs W Rudson Rogers, Miss Sadie Young, Mrs R E Pope and Mr and Mrs Sidney Carlton.

Members of the committees for the ball are: Betty Ann Allen, Esther Kerr, Sara Ann Davis, and Betty Hutchinson, Pi Beta Phi; Jackie Poudick, Ina Jo Wrench, Claire Canben, Martha Hanley, Margaret Spencer, Chi Omega; Godfrey and Isabel Wilson, Chi Omega.

Separate entertainments are being planned by both sororities for the Friday night balls. Pi Phi and Chi Omega will give tea dances at their houses tomorrow afternoon, and both plan to have picnics Sunday. During the intermission between formal nights, pledges of Phi Beta Phi will entertain at an intermission party at the Pi Phi house.

Silver Anniversary

In celebration of its silver anniversary, the Omega chapter of Sigma Kappa, which was installed at Florida State College in 1930, will give its annual ball.

Silver and blue will be the theme of the ball, which is to be held at the Sigma Kappa house Saturday night.

Guests will include Mrs Royal Mattice, faculty adviser, and patroness, who are: Dr and Mrs Paul Shankweiler, Mrs Nina Fay Williams, Miss Daisy Parker and Miss Louise Stanley.

Dorothy Hahn is chairman of the committee in charge of the entertainment for the evening, and committee members include Edna Earle Baker, Agree Ayres, Dallas Stevens, Alice Comstock and Martha Magruder.

Before the dance, members will entertain their house mother, Mrs J O Cooper, and the three honor guest at the Cherokee hotel. Sunday at 2 p m they will go to Lafayette park for a picnic

Course Added

Continued from Page One

paring information, theoretical chemistry, and industrial, or applied chemistry.

Also, much of the class work will be done through discussions, Mr Kelley asserted. For instance, he added, there is one group taking chemistry for Phi Mu girls, and a degree in Home Economics. Therefore, the interest of students in that group centers around practical problems to fit the needs in that field of work. Other groups are interested in problems of teaching chemistry, laboratory technique, medicine — pharmacy, and other fields.

Although this plan of teaching has been considered by the department for quite some time, it was not until this year, that it began to get under way. Mr Kelley is applying some principles which he acquired while working with Dr Laurence Quill, formerly the head of the chemistry department at the University of Kentucky. Mr Kelley hopes that adequate space will soon be furnished the chemistry course to become a permanent and profitable part of the chemistry curricula.

Sororities Enjoy Hallowe'en Parties

Most of the sororities on campus celebrated Hallowe'en last night in the traditional "witch craft" fashion of olden times. Bobbing for apples, roasting marshmellows and telling ghost stories took the lead in entertaining the "greet jeter" girls on the "Eve of All Saints."

The Alpha Delta Pi chapter other "spooky" ghost stories and then after first light flash they gathered 'round and popped corn for the rest of the evening.

The Alpha Delta Pi chapter members were entertained at a party given by Mrs Ellen Barret, house mother. Hot ginger bread, hard sauce, coffee, candies and pretty red candied apples were served as refreshments. Chapter members, who came to the party in fancy dress, were entertained with songs and dances.

Tomorrow night Alpha Gamma Delta will honor new initiates, Betsy Bird, Kathleen Robb, Betty McIntosh, Dorothy Futch, and Mary Futch, with a party. Costumes will be worn and a prize awarded to the best costumed person. A short skit will be presented by pledges, followed by games and dancing.

An unearthly smell coming from a "safe bomb" from the Kappa Phi Delta get into the spirit of things. Wearing their costumes with this "bomb and the girls, when last heard of, were rushing out of the building. Sigma Kappa Phi Mo members donned their sheets and ran through the halls of the sororities by roasting marshmallows and popping pop corn.

Down in the center of the Chi Omega house, Chi O girls also roasted marshmallows and popped corn, then joined in singing songs.

A combination Sunday night supper and Halloween party was Kappa Alpha Theta's way of celebrating. The house was decorated attractively decorated for a buffet-style supper. Members of the faculty and guests of actives and pledges were invited to the Theta supper. The table which comprised the center of the dian, consisted of a peach decorated with spices and coloring made into a face, and chicken salad and chicken were other "goodies" included in the meal.

Betty Ames, an alumni, told ghost stories in the candle-lit room. Group singing was also included in the evening program.

Kappa Sigma went all-out for Halloween fun last Saturday night when the pledges entertained the actives and their dates at a gala dance at the house.

Patsy Folsom, the pledge who was in charge of the party, saw to it that the house was decorated to create the proper "mood" — with cut-outs of black cats, pumpkins, witches on brooms, etc generously distributed throughout the party rooms. Even the mirrors were adorned to carry out the Halloween spirit.

Just before the flash, chapter members, pledges, dates, and guests were served the traditional Halloween do-nuts, apples, and coffee.

The night before, the K D's held their second-degree ceremony for three girls who will be initiated sometime in the near future. These girls are: Nancy Wrisht, Mary Ann Herring, and Teddy Hamlin.

The Phi Mos will celebrate tomorrow night with a Halloween party. Fortunes will be told, games will be played and a chamber of horrors will hold thrills galore for Phi Mu girls.

Dr Raymond Bellamy, professor of sociology, was the center of attraction at the Phi Beta Phi house. The gourd figures Dr Bellamy brought were lighted Halloween faces with funny eyes and noses which merrily added the spirit of Halloween down "Pi Phi" way.

Paper Staff Gives Farewell Banquet To Honor Shepard

Miss Pearle Shepard, journalism and English instructor, was entertained at a farewell banquet given her by the Flambeau staff at the Monday evening at the Three Torches. Miss Shepard resigned at the first of the year to accept a position as secretary on an Arizona ranch, but consented to remain in her present position until a substitute could be secured.

In addition to members of the Flambeau group, the following guests were present at the banquet: Mr and Mrs Fred V. Vance Dr and Mrs Harold F Richards, Miss Vivian Ahlswede, Miss Bertha Bloodworth, and Mrs Evelyn DeWitt.

Betty Dowd acted as mistress of ceremonies. At the beginning of the banquet Mr Vance spoke a few words in praise of Miss Shepard's work at Florida State College; Mr and Mrs Evelyn DeWitt and Mr Richards spoke briefly at the end of the banquet in commendation of the journalism department and the Flambeau, for which Janet Rogers expressed the regret of the group at the loss of Miss Shepard. Miss Shepard's departure and presented her with two farewell gifts.

Miss Vivian Ahlswede, who graduated from FSC in June, has been selected to fill Miss Shepard's position. A former news editor of the Flambeau, Miss Ahlswede has since worked on the staff of the Tallahassee Democrat, Miss Ahlswede did she did two years of social work. She holds the position formerly held by Elizabeth Lee Hackett, who joined the Army in 1941, and whose place Miss Shepard took on her arrival here at that time.

Miss Shepard, also a graduate of FSC, was managing editor and co-editor of the Flambeau immediately prior to her coming here as an instructor, she taught English and journalism at the West Palm Beach High School and Junior College. She also worked for the St Petersburgh Times.

Miss Shepard plans to leave this campus on Wednesday, November 7. She has accepted a position as secretary on the Flying V Ranch at one of their ranches in New Mexico.

Graduates Write To Alumnae Secretary

During the past week Miss Louise Gehan, alumnae secretary, has received letter from two Florida State graduates, graduates of last year. The first letter was from Mrs J Byron Wyatt, formerly Sibyl Wool. Sibyl married an Australian soldier and is now living in Epping, W S W, Australia. She writes that Australia is a good substitute for home and says "if anybody comes down this way I now extend an open invitation to them." She told of seeing some kangaroos and koala bears not long after her arrival there a month ago.

The other letter was from Mildred Zindler, who writes that she is living with Elizabeth McFarland in Greenwich Village in New York City and is taking work for her Masters degree at New York University. She states that living in " the village" is "an 'out of this world' existence."

Martin and Dalton's
Has What You Need to Enchant Him On That Special Date!
BEAUTY PREPARATIONS BY Coty
Bourjois
Max Factor
Three Flowers
Elmo
Campus
Almay
Colognes
Perfumes
Phone 123
210-212 S. Adams St.

Mrs B F Whitner Visits FSC Campus

Mrs B F Whitner, former resident counselor at Florida State College, visited friends on campus this week while the guest of her parents, Mr and Mrs F O Byrd of Tallahassee.

Mrs Whitner, formerly Miss Katherine Byrd, is a alumnae of FSC and will be remembered as head counselor and as resident counselor for a number of years first in Gilchrist and then in Landis hall. Since her marriage two years ago, Mrs Whitner has been living in Sanford.

Opperman Has Tea

Miss Ella Scobie Opperman, recently retired head of the School of Music, was hostess at her home Sunday afternoon at a tea which students of Latin American literature were invited.

Miss Opperman showed her guests arideas which she has collected in her travels in South and Central America. Afterward she served argentinian tea, which was "something new to most of the students," according to Miss Opperman.

Ad Lib Modernizes

Continued from Page One

Not only did the audience enter into the action wholeheartedly, but also they were critical of the film's production. When the picture skipped, a scene from the book they yelled, that the producer had not read the story. And when one girl was quoting lines from a scene other than the one being shown, she was reprimanded by, "Hey, kid, why don't you get on the right script?"

As the girls left the room one remarked, "Well, I would have enjoyed it, but everyone made so much noise I couldn't hear a thing." Said another student as she left. "This all proves that art lives forever."

Black Cats, Witches on Broomsticks Appear to Celebrate Hallowe'en

Signs of ghosts, goblins, and cheated leaps marked the festivities on campus this week as four dormitories celebrated All Hallow's Eve.

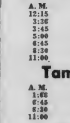
"The Old West" was the theme of the party held in Gilchrist parlor Wednesday night. The evening's square-danced to music played by Jackie Floyd-Jones and refreshed themselves afterward with apple juice and donuts. An amusing skit was presented which carried out the "Old West" theme.

Anne Fielding, Gilchrist social chairman, was in charge fo the party. Those working with her were Franklin Smith, program chairman; Yvonne Boatwright, chairman of the refreshment committee; and Marie Dozier, chairman of the decoration committee. Witches rode transcontinental pumpkin faces three beams of light arrow Maunolia parlor last Friday night, all due to Gene Richbourg, chairman of the decoration committee. The guests served argentinian tea, which was plane music by Dawn Shirah. They were served punch and doughnuts for refreshments.

Those responsible for the party were Jane Whitehurst, social chairman; and committee chairmen Gene Richbourg, decorations; Kitty Landrum, games; and Gloria Hughes, refreshments.

The chairman of horrors highlighted the Hallowe'en antics in the Pine Village Wednesday night. All the guests came masked and between the times they spent guessing who their companions were, they had their fortunes told and bobbed for apples. The unmasking came at 8:30 instead of the usual midnight hour, but it still held the same number of surprises.

The celebration of Hallowe'en at Bryan included an informal dance which was held last Saturday night. The program displayed a variety of talent. Solos were given by Phyllis De Kalb, Charlene Crews, Christine Stasinos, and Betty Murray. Sara Rose gave two tap dancing numbers. Irene Sanders, Margaret Graydon, Gwen Clements, and Edra Womble played the piano. Betty Jean Allen gave a trumpet solo. A quintet composed of Jean Bagley, Betty Murray, Ida Schmid, Bunni Pandolfini, and Ima Jean Lyons sang "Sentimental Journey." A skit was given by Betty Murray and Alice Stalmaker in which Betty played Oleg Scooby and Alice, Mrs Primrose. Mixture of ceremonies for the evening was Mary Philpot, Nickie Britt, social chairman, was assisted by several committee chairmen: Art Skrzakis, decorations; Jesse Bagley program; Jean Paul, punch; Ann Turtlville, name tags; Marjorie Klaus, music; and Pat Randolph, clean-up. Each girl that attended the dance worked on a committee, according to Nickie Britt.



Vacancies Filled

To fill vacancies in student senate, Betty Kennedy was elected sophomore representative, defeating Candy Jones by 28 votes in the final elections held last Saturday in lower Westcott.

Sara Ellen Gleen will serve in the capacity of senator for the Juniors while the seniors will be represented by Perry Kay and Connie Johnston.

RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES:
TRAIN FOR A CAREER WITH THE
Johnston O'Conner Research Foundation
11 E. 42nd St., New York, 21
N. Y. Fellowship Basic, $85.00 a Month

Learn to Fly
AT
Wheeler Airport
1½ Miles East of the Capitol on the old St. Augustine Road
OPEN 9:30 A. M. TO SUNDOWN
ALL FLYING PERSONNEL ARE CAA RATED
Planes Are Inspected Daily by A. & E. Mechanics
CALL 2570
FOR INFORMATION CONCERNING LESSONS AND FREE TRANSPORTATION

Plan Ahead Jacksonville

A. M.	P. M.
12:15	1:30
3:30	5:00
3:45	5:00
5:00	6:45
6:45	6:45
8:30
11:00

Tampa

A. M.	P. M.
1:45	1:30
6:45	1:00
6:30	6:45
11:00	6:00

ALL BUSES LEAVE UNION BUS STATION COR. ADAMS & TENN. PHONE 701

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Rivalry Runs High In Volleyball Games

Yesterday afternoon the volleyball competition gained momentum when the Kappa Alpha Theta's won over Zeta Tau Alpha, 52-45; the Kappa Delta's over Alpha Chi Omega's, 36-23; Gilchrist Hall over the Chi Omegas 34-15, and 46-22; the Chi Omega's over Broward Hall, 41-31; and the Villars over Reynolds Hall, 39-25.

The rivalry Wednesday afternoon ended with the Alpha Chi Omega's defeating the Delta Delta Delta's, 51-43; the Chi Omega's defeating the Delta Gamma's, 41-17; the Kappa Delta's defeating the Delta Phi Epsilon's, 37-29; the Kappa Alpha Theta's defeating the Pi Beta Phi's, 34-28; Jennie Matthews Hall forfeited to Reynolds Hall and the Alpha Xi Delta's forfeited to the Villars.

Tuesday afternoon the games started when the Alpha Chi Omega's eliminated the Sigma Kappa's, 39-22; the Zeta Tau Alpha's eliminated the Alpha Delta Pi's, 31-26; Gilchrist Hall eliminated Reynolds Hall and Magnolia Hall forfeited to Broward Hall.

The semi-finals and finals for the volleyball match will be played Tuesday and Wednesday. There will be no games Monday because of the class meetings.

Swimming has been omitted this quarter due to the crowded season. The next intramural sport will be badminton.

Large Enrollment

Continued from Page One

nolia laundry room, under the direction of Dorothy Butler. The other two laundry rooms are located in Reynolds and Broward Halls respectively by Mrs Ruth Adams and Mrs Mary Church, respectively. Reynolds is now at present undergoing a revision, which will allow almost completely for self-serving of wet and returning laundry.

About the only thing that registers with the laundry, unfortunately, is complaints, which the laundry does its best to rectify. However, upon being questioned, laundry staff and workers admitted that they had a few complaints to register, also. One is that laundry slips are rarely filled out correctly or correctly, if at all; the same goes for damage slips. If damage slips are not entered and enclosed within the package, all damaged articles must be sent back unlaundered. Frazile buttons or plastic buttons likely to be damaged in washing should be removed before the garment is sent to the laundry, as these are not always easy to spot before washing, and are usually difficult. If not impossible, to replace. Jewelry should always be removed before the laundry is sent. Incidentally, quite a large package of jewelry recovered from the laundry is waiting to be reclaimed by the owners at the laundry office. Also, though complaints are registered with the laundry room clerks, blame should not be placed on them, as they cannot be rightfully held responsible in these cases. Complaints should be written on a sheet of paper, complete with name, residence hall and number, description of garment, date the laundry was sent, and the number of the laundry room and this paper turned in to the laundry room.

The entire job of running the laundry and keeping it as nearly as possible on time was recently taken over by Mr W J Gerrell, who returned to this college on June 1 of last year, after his discharge from the army on May 8. He was first put in charge of the duplicating department, but initially he resumed the laundry position he held when he entered service on April 16, 1942. At that time the laundry was under the direction of Mrs Rhodes.

Campus Post Office Does Big Business

The post office is one of the busiest spots on the Florida State College campus in spite of the fact that very few packages are being sent overseas and almost no bonds are being bought, according to Mr W H May, clerk in charge of the post office. The stamp window has averaged a $100 worth of business a day this month.

Mr May has two regular assistants, Miss Juanita McQuaise who is in charge of the stamp window and Mrs Ralph Brown who takes care of the general delivery mail. There are two regular student assistants and four volunteer students who aid in the sorting and putting up of mail.

Approximately 450,000 incoming letters were handled through the campus postoffice from July 1944 to July, 1945, Mr May said. During that same period, some 45,000 parcel post packages and 60,000 newspapers were distributed, he estimated.

A whirlpool microscope, used by scientists to compare different groups of bacteria, permits one to look two ways at once.

Hallowe'en Carnival Features Hula Dance

Night Climaxed by Awarding Prize to Guest Sailor

A hula dance by Sarah Race was the feature number on the Hallowe'en Carnival program presented at Fisrtnight last Saturday by members of Miss Henrietta Greenberg's recreation leadership class.

The amusement booths and program as a whole were unusually big successes, judging from the crowd attracted and their apparent enjoyment, according to Ruth Brokaw, head of the entertainment committee of the recreation class.

The carnival was climaxed by the counting of 'points' which had been accumulated by participants at the various competitive amusement booths throughout the course of the evening. For the best score a sailor guest was awarded a large jar of hars' candy.

The program included, besides the feature attraction, the following numbers: vocal trio, "Ride by Side", by Martha Nell Booth and sisters Dawson and Margie; a tap dance to "I hispering" by Sarah Race; two numbers on the accordion, "Starlight" and "Tico-Tico" played by Mary Luther Wheeler, and "Tangerine" sung by Alice Phillips. Mistress of ceremonies for the evening was Lynn Richard.

Twenty Outstanding

Continued from Page One

sident of Reynolds Hall Mortar Board, second vice-president of COA, chairman of Sophomore Council, Esteren, and Alpha Lambda Delta;

Shirley Durgan, Miami, Mortar Board, junior representative to Judiciary, Esteren, Sophomore Council, Florida Flambeau;

Lura Beth Evans, Orlando, president of F Club, Mortified, Esteren;

Jo Guthrie, Punta Gorda, president of WAA, Mortified, Esteren, and Sagamore;

Corinne Johnston, Fort Myers, Mortified, past chairman of Event, chairman of COA, Mortified, Esteren;

Madeline King, Tallahassee, chairman of COA, Mortified, Esteren;

Jeanne Korey, Miami, representative to Judiciary and Senate, Esteren, secretary of junior class, Sophomore Council, F Club;

Kit Land, Apopka, Esteren, senior representative to Senate, assistant editor to Flastacowo; Sophomore Council;

Gladys Lester, Jacksonville, vice-president of senior class, Esteren, Sophomore Council, F Club;

Winifred Meldrim, Elkton, editor of Distaff, and assistant editor of Flambeau, president Chi Delta Phi;

Audrey Perry, Miami, freshman advisor, Mortified, Esteren;

Janet Rogers, Apopka, editor of the Flambeau, copy editor of the Flambeau, reporter on Flambeau, Sophomore Council, class editor of Flastacowo, secretary of the sophomore class, Esteren;

Perry Lou Thomas, Clearwater, chairman of Residence Halls Committee, Mortar Board, president of Classical Club;

Perry Lu Thomson, Gainesville, Spirorira, news editor of Flambeau, associate editor of Distaff, president of Chi Delta Phi, sophomore representative to Senate, Sophomore Council, Alpha Lambda Delta;

Beatrice Weaver, Kissimmee, president of Mortar Board, vice-president of Esteren, president of junior class, Zeta Phi Eta, Sophomore Council, Alpha Lambda Delta;

Anne Widerquist, Fort Myers, chairman of playnight committee, junior athletic manager of WAA, Kappa Delta Pi, Sophomore Council, F Club, Esteren, orchestra.

Minnow Added

Tarpon Club received another minnow into their club October 22, making a total of ten girls taken in this quarter. The new minnow, Joanne Zewadski, has, along with her fellow minnows, begun practice for the annual demonstration that new members present at Thanksgiving.

First practices for Tarpon club members were began Monday under the direction of Betty Jane Singleton, president. Minnows swim on Thursday under the guidance of Margery Rolin, vice-president.

Tickets Available

Reserved seat tickets for Donald Dickson, baritone, who will appear at Florida State College on November 19 as a feature of the Artist Series will be available to students holding Blue series tickets from November 6 through November 12.

The tickets will be given out in the basement of the Lonsmine building by the members of the new usher committee, under the direction of Marjorie Miller.

Esteren Entertains Faculty and Goats

Last night Esteren honored their faculty and goats at a weiner roast in Games Woods.

Faculty members who were invited to attend were Miss Grace Fox, Miss Sara Krentzman, Miss Ellen Stone, Miss Ruth Hughes Mc Medlin, Miss Louise Richardson, Dr Katherine Montgomery, Dr and Mrs Harold Richards, Dr Ruth Schornherst Dr Hazel Stevenson, Miss Lucy Morgan, Miss Ruth Kay, Florence Tryon, and Miss Katherine Wynn.

Esteren members and goats also met Tuesday in the Soda Shop to find out if Coyle E Moore's goat song which turned out to be a poem, lasted. Members conferred the title of poet laureate of the goat group upon the author. Esteren climaxed the meeting to return for Thanksgiving festivities, Sarah Bennett said, are Marie Lambert, Jeanne Ryman Smith, Mary Lippets, and Martha Twitty, graduates of 1944.

Students Experience Midnight Fire Drill In Sleepy Confusion

"Do you close the windows and open the transom or close the transom and turn out the lights or is it the door you close?" These were the sleepy but frantic queries that echoed through the dormitories of Florida State College at a few minutes past midnight Monday when the school "celebrated" its first fire drill of the year.

A group of sleepy-eyed, pajama-clad figures collected about the campus, metal wastes, pin curls and even a few brightly colored socks pinch-hitting as curlers were in evidence.

Apparently a number of quick-witted souls remembered to bring cigarettes and matches as well as towels, for several were observed "lighting up" for a quick smoke and midnight jam session before breaking up many flights of stairs to bed once more. Others made quick excursions to neighboring dormitories, while a few conscientious girls carefully examined bulletin boards to learn exactly what is the proper procedure for the drills.

Students testify that beating on tin cans "subbed" for a fire alarm in off-campus houses. Other declare that the scuffle of closed gizna heavy overcoats and unused doors opened forewarned them of the coming midnight excursion.

Numerous bets were waged on which night the drill would come, some maintaining that the "zero hour" would arrive Saturday night following the test alarm that afternoon, while others alleged that drills usually come during the week and that, therefore, Monday was the long-anticipated night.

At any rate all agree that their peaceful sleep will now be undisturbed by nightly visions of fire engines—that is until the time approaches for the next of FSC's fire drills.

Dateless Saturdays Threaten FSC When Flyers Leave Town

The hey-day when youthful cadets and even lieutenants in shiny convertibles were a familiar sight on campus at Florida State College seems to be drawing to a close. Persistant rumors have it that Dale Mabry field, a primary source of the college girl's "dates," will be inactivated within a month.

As the long-dreaded news spread throughout the dormitories, varied protests were voiced by girls faced with the prospect of "dateless" Saturday nights. Others reminisced upon the series of events in which college girls and GI's have participated since the field was first opened.

Upon hearing the recurrent rumors, one student offered her solution. "I'm going to start wearing bobby socks again and cultivate the high school boys," she declared.

"Guess I'll have to invite some girl friends for the weekend," commented another.

A gloomier view was, however, expressed by another student, "I'm going to organize an old maids' club and learn to knit," she declared.

As they heard the news which will mean the end of all GI-cadet jeep affairs, students recalled a long parade of social events in which FSC girls and the boys from Dale Mabry have taken part since the field was first established. Soldier dances and parties for servicemen had become almost an integral part of the college social calendar.

Following the expression of approval by faculty members, officers' dances were first held in the fall of '43. In May of the next year the entire students body was invited to visit Dale Mabry for an air show, review and tea. Other such trips included visits by dirigibley glee clubs to the base hospital and excursions by political science and journalism classes to the news room at the field.

Pardon Us!

Delta Zeta observed its national Founders' Day last week, rather than the local founders' day, Zeta Tau Alpha, founded 42 years ago on October 24, 1902.

INSIDE CGA

By SARAH LEWIS

Our campus life is centered around a college community—a community made up of students, faculty and staff. Because this is a college community, our government is a college government. In this way students and faculty work together in governing the activities, which take place on our campus.

Student Senate is the legislative channel through which we as students take our part in that college government. It is the body through which the voice of the student body may reach us. By pooling the ideas of both groups, the faculty and through which the faculty may reach us. By pooling the ideas of both groups, we strengthen the unity of our college community.

Senate's membership is made up of fifty students, some who are elected at large, some by their respective classes and who are elected as senators from their respective classes and others who represent the student body through clubs and other organizations. These members of Senate are supposed to be representative of the student body in general, but they can be so only when each individual student calls upon her Senate representatives to let them know her views on campus issues.

In the first meeting of this school year, Senate discussed its plans for 1945-1946. It was agreed that the student body should be informed of it and encouraged to participate in matters to be discussed in Senate meetings. Also, it was decided that the action of Senate may represent general student body opinion, Senate should always strive to know class opinion.

One of the major aims of Senate for this year is facilitating and supervise the work of the legislative and the codifying committees. These two committees together are studying the handbook in order to present revisions in a more simple form and according to the rules formulated as for effectiveness and consistency.

It depends largely upon the interest of the student as to whether or not our part in college government will be successful and progressive. By working through our class senators and by participating in Senate discussions we can make a more active part in College Government and consequently help to unifying our campus life

Life Saving Corps Sponsors Classes

Demonstrations of elementary forms of rescue and elementary swimming strokes will be given by members of Life Saving Corps on November 4 and November 7 at 5 p m in the college pool. The purpose of the demonstrations is to present these forms of rescue which can be most easily utilized by the untrained s-simmer, and to demonstrate the several swimming strokes.

Attendance is required for all freshman orientation swimming classes, but demonstrations are open to any others interested. Sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 of class 121 will attend on November 6 and sections 6, 7, 8 and 9 of class 121 will attend on No-mber 7.

Liddell Speaks

Dr Anna Forbes Liddell, director of philosophy and religion at Florida State College will talk on the subject, "Woman as Peacemaker" over WTAL tonight at 6 o'clock. Her address will be in observance of World Community Day.

"Y" and Religious Groups Sponsor Talks and Parties

"The Faith of the Student Christian Movement" was the subject of one of several talks given at meetings, of religious groups this week. Other religious activities included parties.

Betty Ruth Goode conducted the YWCA service at which she spoke on "The Faith of the Student Christian Movement". Hymns were sung at the meeting, accompanied on the piano by Jeannette Sermons. Dorinea McRee carried out the theme of the program with a poem.

A business meeting followed the worship service, and Margaret Clayton, president, was in charge. Group chairmen were appointed to one of several talks given at meetings, of religious groups this week. Other religious activities included parties.

Betty Ruth Goode conducted the YWCA service at which she spoke on "The Faith of the Student Christian Movement". Hymns were sung at the meeting, accompanied on the piano by Jeannette Sermons. Dorinea McRee carried out the theme of the program with a poem.

A business meeting followed the worship service, and Margaret Clayton, president, was in charge. Group chairmen were appointed to all discuss their plans for meetings. Joyce Petty spoke for the creative group in the absence of Doris Hill, chairman. Betty M Lee spoke for the social action group, and Betty Ruth Goode, for the worship group. In the absence of Marvis Core, chairman, Margaret Clayton said a few words about publicity. Anne Singleton spoke on community service.

It was announced by Margaret Clayton that fifty members may go to camp the second week-end in November. A paper was put on the bulletin board for those interested in it. Miss Sarah Larson, instructor in geography, was introduced to the members. After the business meeting Wilma Humphrey directed the group in songs.

The Sunday will be Affiliation Sunday at the Presbyterian church for all freshmen and transfers, according to Rita Frazer, president of the Presbyterian student organization. Sheila Barrineau will be in charge of affiliation.

The Christian Youth Fellowship organization of the Capital Christian Church had a weiner roast at the home of Lloyd Marsh last Sunday night. They sang songs around the campfire, had social games, and did quite a bit of folk dancing, according to Ann Campbell, secretary. Dorothy Sperry is honor of ex-Sergeant Dallas Zimmerman, who has returned from two years in Europe.

The missionary journeys of St Paul were discussed by Ann Nevers at the vesper service in Rugg Hall last Sunday night. The information for this discussion was taken from the Acts of the Apostle, according to Dorothy Sperry, publicity chairman.

Conference meetings began two weeks ago at Rugg Hall. All who are interested in the Episcopal church are invited to attend said Dorothy Sperry.

Bishop Wilson's book Faith and Practice is used in breakfast discussions on Sunday morning from 9 to 10:15 a m. Dorothy said that this discussion is a study class which takes the place of Sunday School.

The Fall Planning Conference of The Student Methodist Movement for this year is meeting this week-end in Gainesville. Girls present at the conference from Florida State College are Rosie Redfearn, Dot Binner, Grace De Wolf and Martha Jane Brown. Plans to be made at this meeting include those for the National Methodist Student Conference. This will be held this year in the University of Illinois, and the Student Conference next March.

From Me To Y'all

Ho, hum, the mail bag is overflowing with problems this week. Everyone seems to have some trouble and why anyone would have any troubles at Florida State College, we don't know.

Here's one signed, "Bruised" who is concerned about the new office mob spirit. Well, we're so glad to get just one little piece of mail that it's worth the wait and nine eleven and four. However, we find it helps to equip ourselves with mumies and any suitable weapon such as a tennis racket.

And here's one for the people who met in the revolving door and started going around together and all going around reminds us of Senate and so on to another letter. This one is signed, "Muddled" and we can sympathize with her. The try didn't grow on the walls over night. We'll bet she was discussted and took a nap Thursday when Senate met again and straightened everything out to their own satisfaction. It only took 20 minutes, too.

What's this we hear? Sharple's little chickens say their parents have been letters saying they must not cut. And mother used to complain that she didn't get any mail from us!

Here is a letter on pink stationery with the faint aroma of "Embraces-mot parfum." It reads, (the text of the letter must be censored) mad and curses, "You can imagine how embarrassed I was at home after Wednesday before last." This one is signed, "Affectionately, Cuddled." You sum-mum-mites, too, Cuddles, who would have an idea for a new college song to replace, "FSC. We Love Thee." The solution to your problem may be to stay in next weekend and compose.

Do you have something on your mind? If so, don't hesitate to send your problem in to us. We try to cull from the mail bag occasionally, we might step on somebody's toes but it ain't necessarily intentional. Our motto is "Sweetness and Light."

Thomson Entertains Spirogiras at Party

Miss Elizabeth Thomson, recently returned instructor in speech, entertained members and goats of Spirogira at a Hallowe'en party at her home Wednesday.

Ghost stories, bobbing for apples, and a contest for the most original hand-made mask were featured attractions at the party.

Assisting Miss Thomson were Miss Percy Barker, Miss Charlotte Cooper, Miss Virginia Greene and Miss Betty Hatch, all faculty members of Spirogira. Other faculty members attending were Dr Raymond Bellamy, Dr M W Carothers, Miss Edith West and Miss Daisy Parker.

TURNER'S FEATURING Rommel

COBBLERS
Made In California
Brown Red, Black
Turner's
DOORWAY TO FASHIONS

Flastacowo

Sophomores may make their appointments for Flastacowo pictures starting Monday, Nov 5 through Saturday, Nov 10.

Freshmen will make their appointments for annual pictures beginning Thursday, Nov 8, through Saturday, Nov 15, in lower Westcott. Bring two dollars.

Seniors Apply!

Miss Eva Mae Atwood, assistant registrar, announced that November 1 is the last day for seniors to apply for a degree if they graduate on December 15.

Saturday, October 27, was the last day for students to reduce their load of hours without receiving a "F" grade; therefore everything but the kitchen sink will be in Brer Rabbit and who would dare say that won't?

Even Dem Publicity Spreads Propaganda

"Even rehearsals are moving along in fine fashion," said Frankie Hall, publicity chairman for Even Demonstration. Frankie added, however, that they are having a terrible time trying to retain their complete cast for the Metropolitan is after the trio and the Rockets are trying desperately to contract their dancers.

In one of these recent rehearsals a big surprise greeted an Odo when he came down to enroll in the Even dancing chorus. This is the third time Odds have tried to change their colors. "Well, maybe they know a good thing when they see it," Frankie said.

The property committee is busy getting things from the physical department right on down to the home economics department, according to Sheila Barrineau, and everything but the kitchen sink will be in Brer Rabbit and who would dare say that won't?

Sweater Story!

Yours for a warm smart winter—sweaters galore for every occasion! Brilliant contrasting "twins," gay jacquard sweaters, versatile coat sweaters. Choose yours today!

Steyermans

Sew Yourself Some Super CLOTHES

The new woolens are full of interest, and the new pattern books show you how to make those stunning fashions that are just coming in, with their deep armholes, softer shoulders, the necklines, and smart detail. Invest your money in these fine quality fabrics, make your own clothes and you'll end up with super suits and dresses at a fraction of what their ready-made or custom-made price would be. We'll help you in the selection of fabric and style and accessories; if you wish. Come in now all the materials are snapped up!

P. W. WILSON CO.

"Tallahassee's Best Department Store"
—SINCE 1837—

Examinations Coming

Z 106

The Florida Flambeau

Is Conscription?

Tallahassee, Florida

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

VOL. XXXIII, No. 5

NOVEMBER 9, 1945

Examination Plans Adopted By Council

Teachers Will Announce If Classes Will Meet December 11

Students Must Attend Classes Day Before Vacation

Examination schedule plans as adopted by Executive Council, November 1, 1945, have now been announced by Dr. M W Carothers, registrar.

Students having examinations on Tuesday, December 11, will not be required to attend other classes on that day; however each teacher may decide and announce in advance whether a certain class will meet that day. The number of students excused on account of the examinations in the interrelated courses, history, and English, will make it inadvisable for certain other classes to meet at their usual hour. The teacher will secure from the students themselves the information as to whether they are entitled to be excused from class on Tuesday.

If a student has three examinations scheduled for the forenoon or the afternoon of December 11, she is entitled to make a special arrangement for the third one. A student having four examinations scheduled for the entire day of December 11 is entitled to a special arrangement for the fourth one.

Examinations other than those in the interrelated courses, English, and history will be held at the regular class hour during the week beginning Monday, December 10. No class having students who are to take examinations in course. English 101 or 005, or

Continued on page four

Officers Urge Girls To Take Part in CGA

WSSF Sets Goal for November At Dollar Par Student

In an effort to stimulate more active participation in College Government Association, officers of CGA addressed students in the campus-wide house meetings held Tuesday night, urging students to vote in class and CGA elections, to attend Forum meetings, and to make known to their representatives their opinions and desires through student conferences.

Representatives of the World Student Service Fund drive also spoke upon the need of aid to students of other countries who are using their time in their studies due to the privation and destruction occasioned by the war. Florida State College women were asked to pledge a contribution for the month of November in an effort to reach the goal of one dollar per student which has been set for the campus.

Among the announcements from the faculty and CGA committee was a clarification of the regulations governing trips to Game's Woods. According to Patsy Lou Thomas, chairman of the Residence Hall Committee, it is not necessary for students going to Game's Woods to sign out; however for reasons of safety, students must go in groups. Parties of five or more girls are required to return to the campus by 7 o'clock; parties of more than eight must return by 6 o'clock.

Broward Hall held elections for two dormitory officers at the

Continued on page four

Three FSC Seniors Interning in Town

Three seniors at Florida State College are serving as interns in public administration at the state capitol during this quarter, Patsy Lee Wheeler, one of the interns, announced.

Virginia Collins is interning in the office of the Secretary of State R A Gray. Interning under Robert Ammerman, assistant to the Florida Industrial Commission, is Jessie Carlisle. Nancy Lee is serving her internship under John Kilgore, information director at the state department of revenue.

All three of the girls are majoring in political science. They are combining practical experience with theory under the direction of Dr Marian D Irish, professor of political science at FSC.

Under the interne plan, which was instituted in 1939, the students work for eight weeks or more in a state office and learn about public administration by practicing it. During this period, the girls receive college credit and guidance.

Survival of Fittest Apparent Doctrine On Crowded Buses

"Just a little bit more," he cries, "just a little bit more," as a crowd of girls push relentlessly on an already crammed bus. There's always room for one more," he continues encouragingly, "so let's move back, just a little bit more."

Screaming protests can be heard from the back of the bus as the driver continues to stop at every station, greeting dubious looking customers with a cheery "Room right on in, there's plenty of room."

Apologies are not infrequent as many a Miss is sent flying into the lap of the person in the next girl's. Breathing becomes practically impossible, and sharp looks of disapproval are thrown in the direction of the girl who nonchalantly taps out a cigarette and proceeds to smoke.

The long pull up the hill to town becomes not a leisurely afternoon among those not yet initiated into the ways of campus life. Others less fortunate have been left in strands of a current popular song.

As the bus makes its first stop in town, the confusion begins again, as many for fear of being left behind rush the conductor pushing and apologizing. As the bus

Continued on page four

Daniel Wins Annual Poetry Competition

Distaff Announces Winners; Springs In Runner-up

Marcia Daniel was announced as the winner of the annual Distaff poetry contest for freshmen, sponsored by Distaff, Inc., and Cornelia Springs was awarded honorable mention. Miss Daniel is no winner in the prose division, but Gladys Navock was awarded full mention for her short story.

Pat Ellen Thomas for her short story.

Winifred Meidrim, editor, said that although the contest was not wide in scope, the entry was satisfactory. There were 25 freshmen who competed in the contest and 20 who entered prose. However, she said that most of the entrants in the poetry division submitted outstanding work.

Winifred expressed the wish that all entrants would talk to some member of the staff concerning her writing. She stated all who were interested could send a note to box 752 in campus mail.

"We hope to find a number of each person individually about her writing, for we realize that judgment is sometimes too largely arbitrary," said Winifred.

The editor is also pleased with the enthusiastic response from the upperclassmen this year. Although the material for the first issue went to the press this week, the largest share of the material in planning now for contributions to be handed in between now and November 15, the deadline for the second issue.

Becker and Jacobs To Address AAUW

Henry Becker, professor of geography at Florida State College, and William Jacobs, assistant state forester, will speak at the Tuesday night at 9:15 in the Longmire auditorium at the regular meeting of the American Association of University Women, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, president, announced. The meeting is open to students, and Miss Judy urges that as many as can will attend immediately after the first convocation.

Following the theme of this year's programs, The Development of Resources through Natural Resources in Florida," Professor Becker will give a survey of the state geography in this field. Also on this subject, Mr Jacobs will speak on the "Place of Timber-crops in Florida Economics."

Students to Honor Dr Campbell Friday

Students at Florida State College will, join next Friday in celebrating the birthday of Dr Doak Sinclair Campbell.

On this occasion Dr and Mrs Campbell will receive Government Association, class officers, sponsors and college officials at tables in Landis dining hall, following which students will gather in front of the new dining hall and sing to Dr Campbell. Seniors, clad in their academic caps and gowns, will then present him with a special birthday cake.

The junior class has charge of entertainment, and under Doris Ann Whitney in 1939, and the Julliard School of Music in 1938,

Annual Pictures

Tomorrow is the last day that sophomores can make appointments for Fla-tacovo pictures at the table in the lower Westcott.

Margaret Baugh, editor, said that freshmen could make their appointments until next Tuesday at 5 p m.

Also, all upperclassmen who failed to make their appointments during the time allotted them may make them at any time during the period for freshmen to sign up.

Conscription Is Discussed

Rogers, Vance Give Pro, Con of Military Training

Whether or not the United States should have a system of compulsory military conscription in peacetime was the subject discussed by W H Rogers, professor of English, and Earl L Vance, associate professor of English and journalism, at the Methodist Student Center Sunday night. Dr Rogers advocated conscription, while Vance's description for this country as insurance against any eventuality.

Mr Vance opposed such a plan on grounds that a small, well-trained, volunteer army is required for modern warfare rather than a large, inadequately trained, standing army.

Dr Rogers presented the idea that military conscription would not only train men in modern combat tactics but would also train them in the operation of the many planes. He said that conscription, of the 19-year-olds was a fair solution to the problem of the future of the armies of occupation. Not every 19-year-old would be drafted conscripted but only the number which would be necessary to fulfill needs of the occupational forces.

Mr Vance said that he believes that we need a small regular navy and air force, and a small professional army rather than a large, inadequately trained army. Enlistments should fill the requirements for these forces, Mr Vance said.

A comparison was drawn by Dr Rogers between the life insurance that he pays each year and

Continued on page four

IRC Girls Sponsor Panel Discussion

A panel discussion by three members of the Florida State College faculty concerning the United Nations will be held in Dodd Hall tonight at the meeting of the International Relations Club in the Westcott building. Those who formed the panel were IRC sponsor Dr. Marian Irish, professor of political science at FSC; Miss Daisy Parker, instructor in political science at FSC; and Miss Lucy Morse, professor of journalism. The discussion will be open to the public, and many non-members of IRC, according to Jesse McCalla, chairman.

International Relations Club, which is composed of the Caribbean Endowment for World peace, have been organized all over the world since 1941. It is considered the opinion that a club larger than IRC, composed of twenty members could and should be built up at FSC.

Rule Changes in FSC Handbook Would Shock Students of 1914

Had it been possible for "Tilly Jassies" way back in 1914 to look forward and see today's students at Florida State College they would probably have been shocked at the rules allowing smoking, dancing, card playing, and dating.

Numerous changes in these and other social procedures are to be found on looking back into the past, and the present-day campus-goer "Gold" books did not become such until 1937. Before that time they were small handbooks called "Constitution and By-laws of the Student Government Association" and contained rules and customs for the student.

Under "Rules Forbidden" in the 1914 handbook it stated that a student could not receive gentlemen callers. Juniors, however, could receive callers once a month and seniors, who had certain privileges, had permission to have gentlemen callers once a week. Calls were supposed to be received in Bryan parlor and such engagements had to be recorded in books provided for that purpose.

The book also stated that dancing with men on the campus was not allowed.

In 1921 rules were still generally the same. Dancing with men was still a forbidden thing, and smoking and card playing were mentioned. That is also was mentioned as being absolutely "out" for the students. Gentlemen callers were to be conducted in the parlor of Bryan hall. On warm evenings it was permissible to sit on the steps and seats around the front door of Bryan and in the summer gardens there. The girls were reminded that the swings were not a be used in the evening when sitting with a gentleman. Callers were to leave at first light of day. There were no special functions in cafes, except one's immediate family, on Sunday.

In 1924, 1925, and 1926 some very different regulations and conditions were made in the rules and regulations of the campus. There was no definite regulation, however, and regular hours daily for receiving callers. Each girl was entitled to three hours "out" each week

Continued on page three

Series Tickets Are Available

Donald Dickson to Appear On Campus Nov 19

Students who hold blue Artist Series tickets may obtain reserve seat tickets for the performance of Donald Dickson, famous operatic baritone, from 4 until 5 p m this afternoon and Saturday morning in the basement of the Longmire building. Dickson, Metropolitan Opera star, will appear on the campus Monday, November 19 and 20 at 8:15 in the Longmire auditorium as a feature of the Artist series programs.

The cast of Dickson for this song recital will begin Tuesday in the college bookstore with the purchase of the armies of occupation. Not every 19-year-old would be drafted conscripted but only the number which would be necessary to fulfill needs of the occupational forces.

Mr Vance said that he believes that we need a small regular navy and air force, and a small professional army rather than a large, inadequately trained army. Enlistments should fill the requirements for these forces, Mr Vance said.

A comparison was drawn by Dr Rogers between the life insurance that he pays each year and

Continued on page four

Music Association Elects Kuersteiner

Convention Votes to Convene On FSC Campus Next Fall

The Florida State Music Teachers' Association has just held its eleventh annual convention in Jacksonville, and the business of this week, has accepted the invitation of Florida State College to convene here next fall. Mr Karl O Kuersteiner, acting dean of the school of music, and other members of the music department were delegates to this convention.

Dean Kuersteiner, who was elected first vice-president of the association for the coming year at the business session, attended members of the music department took part in various activities during the phases of public school music during this convention. Among prominent speakers present were Dr T P Giddings of Minneapolis, Minnesota, who has accepted the invitation to be the guest artist and visit the school of music classes at FSC next fall.

"The Collegiate Training for the Prospective Teacher of Music" and "The Duty of the Music Teacher in Race Kuersteiner, which opened discussions at the convention. He also attended the meeting of the executive board which took part in the regular topic and took part in other discussions.

Dean Gladys Koch, assistant professor of voice and solfegio, acted as chairman of the meeting of voice in the absence of the regular chairman. Speaking on junior high school phase of Music, Miss Charlotte Cooper, assistant to the dean Kuersteiner, also took part in panel discussions.

Dean Kuersteiner states that one of the highlights of the convention was the appearance of Dr

Continued on page four

Freshman Honorary Fetes Old Members

Members of the Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman honorary, entertained their last year's members at a party last Wednesday night in the home of Dr Dorothy Hoffman, faculty sponsor of the group.

A wiener roast had been arranged but an unexpected thunderstorm necessitated a change of plans. Activities continued indoors, however, with a short program and song fest.

In addition to the twenty-two girls who were members were present. Dr Vanila Shores, professor of English, and Mrs Nellie Kannwischer, assistant instructor in Spanish.

New Odd-Even Cheerleaders Are Selected

Sponsors to Be Presented At Thanksgiving Celebration

Both the Odds and the Evens have chosen their cheerleaders this week have nominated candidates for queen of the Thanksgiving dance, and have selected faculty sponsors, whose identity will not be disclosed until their presentation at the Thanksgiving game. Plans for the holiday events and for pre-Thanksgiving activities were also made during committee chairman for them chosen by the various classes during the week.

Arrangements are now being made for the Odd-Even bond drive rally, which will open Wednesday at booths in lower Westcott. During this drive Odds and Evens are competing for sale of bonds, and the faction with the larger total sale at the end of the drive will win the privilege of having their queen reign at the traditional Thanksgiving dance.

Geneva Bettle will have charge of the Odd booth, and for the first time this year Freshmen Flunkies will conduct the sale of bonds at their booth. The drive will continue through November 30. No definite goal for the bond drive have been made as yet, according to Connie Savage, president of the organization.

New Even cheerleaders, Anne Wedgeworth, Ann Gardner and Katherine Donohoe for the seniors and Jean Ann Ramsdell, Norma Southerland and Betty Brown for the sophomores, were chosen in the traditional way. The two classes Monday afternoon in the Little Theater.

Women in the Odd cheering section were Alice Taff, Booksie McMullen, Jean Hall, Jane Stewart, Juniors, and Wylene Bennett, Mary Alice Pitts and Gloria Lanier, freshmen. Head cheerleaders were selected at class meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Evens have selected Carol Claus

Continued on page four

"Fireside Chat" To Be Held Sunday

Booths for Bond Drive Rally To Open Wednesday

Mortar Board is sponsoring faculty-student "fireside chats" to be held once a month in the Longmire drawing room for purpose of discussing topics of interest and of intellectual value to the campus. The initial chats because of the informal nature will be held between students and faculty members.

The first such event of the year will be held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Dr C P Heinlein, professor of economics and sociology, will be the faculty member present to stimulate discussion. Virginia Parrott and Alva of Higher Education." A discussion of Mortar Board will speak, and tea will be served.

In order to keep the group small enough for interesting discussion, each member of Mortar Board invites two girls. Mary Ann Bush, president of Mortar Board, announces that any girls particularly interested in the chosen topic who would like to come should contact her.

New Seasonal Fad Called "Nutting" Hits FSC Students

"Bend down, sister," there's a new tween classes diversion. No, it's hunting. In the green is not trying to make like a camel she's practicing the seasonal "nutting" fad. It's simple, a sure way to lose that classroom slump and at the same time relieve off your burner until dinnertime.

Some sincere "nutters" claim that the sport is beneficial to the eyes as well, since you develop a technique for spotting your prey in the grass. Sport refers to your chances of beating an easier opponent to the punch—or rather to the nut.

Once you have cornered a nut.

Continued on page four

Forum Topic Is Atom Bomb

Richards, Young, Irish Present Viewpoints

"We the People of the Atomic Age" will be the topic of a forum which will be presented by the Press club, Thursday night at 8 p m in the auditorium of the Longmire building. Presenting economic, social, political and scientific aspects of the atomic age, this discussion will include an address by Dr Harold P Richards, professor of physics, who will outline the atomic bomb and its power.

Miss Sadie Young, associate professor of economics, Dr Marian Irish, professor of political science, and a speaker who has not as yet been selected will discuss economic, political and social aspects, respectively. This discussion will be the first of a series of such forums, presented by the Press Club. The importance of the atomic age in relation to economics, education, religion, and the free

Such panel discussions, forums and public lectures will serve as a special project for the year by the club. Founded on campus in 1937, the organization has as its objective the fostering of interest in subjects relating to journalism. Its membership includes anyone who is interested in the field of journalism and writing.

The first meeting of Press Club for the present year will be held next Friday afternoon at 5 pm in

Continued on page four

Navy Day Is Theme In College Library

Navy Day was the topic featured this week in the information center of the library. The display usually installed in the lobby and devoted to exhibits on current events, was arranged for this week included books and pictures on the major naval battles of World War II, and information on different types of naval ships and planes.

This center is designed to help students in keeping abreast of current affairs, Miss Mary Agnes P Haynes, reference librarian, informed. Plans will be made for the proposed International Conference on Education and Cultural Topic, during student assembly.

"We feel" said Miss Haynes, "that keeping education week, it would be especially appropriate that we keep in mind the importance of an international view of education to promote an understanding among the peoples of the world."

A special exhibit will be placed in the library next week in connection with Children's Book Week.

Seniors Register For Placement

Registration of seniors for placement interviews this week will begin this week, according to Dr Elizabeth O Andrews director of personnel and placement. She sent a blank to be filled out with information on home address, hours, major subject, and faculty references. All seniors are urged to register with the bureau of office even though they may not wish to be placed, because the personnel files should be kept up to date in case of future need. Registration should be completed this week also. Dr Andrews explained that the placement office had had interviews with at least 1000 students

Conscription In Peacetime Is Discussed

Arguments For, Against Compulsory Training Given in Forum

Stone, Drummond Favor Idea; Ellis, Van Deurs Oppose

Arguments for and against compulsory military training were presented by two student speakers and two guest speakers at a forum sponsored by the YWCA last Wednesday evening in the Longmire building auditorium.

The two speakers favoring military training were Dr Mode Stone, recently returned from the navy and Carolyn Drummond, freshman, while Fuge Ellis, former Army air corpsman, and Kay Van Deurs, junior, presented the con arguments. They were introduced by Miss Marjorie Bristol, assistant professor of sociology.

Dr Stone, first to present his views, stated that the youth of America would be most affected by this measure.

"Traditionally, compulsory military training is contrary to principals of democracy," Dr Stone declared. "But contrary to the standard set by Marjorie Bristol, assistant professor of sociology.

Dr Stone, first to present his views, stated that the youth of America would be most affected by this measure.

"Traditionally, compulsory military training is contrary to principals of democracy," Dr Stone declared. "But contrary to the standard set by Marjorie Bristol, assistant professor of sociology. In a democracy under military discipline, there is in the armed forces no discrimination. He based his statement on his experience in the Navy where he found that from time to time men would make suggestions to improve efficiency so as

Continued on page three

Speech Department Presents First Play

"Time and the Conways" Is 3-Act English Drama

The first production of the speech department of Florida State College this fall, "Time and the Conways" by J B Priestly, will be presented here November 29, 30 and December 1 in the Augusta Conrad Little Theatre. The play will be directed by Miss Mary Wood.

The entire three acts of the play have their settings in London and the first act is set in the living room of Mrs Conway and Mrs Kay Conway's home in 1919. The Conway brothers, Allen and Robin, have returned from the war and their family is happily together once more. Act II has its setting in the Conway's living room and the scene is the present. The costumes, make-up and the setting for Act II have a distinct change from the other two acts.

The main parts in "Time and the Conways" are being played by Mary Conrad, associate professor of cello and other orchestral instruments at FSC, who will play the part of Mrs Kay Conway, and Ralph Donaldson, associate professor of industrial arts, as Robin; Mar Warren Green, as Alan; and Jane Rich school who is to play the part of Kay Conway. Other members of the Treasury Department, in the role of Jerald.

The entire script itself the cast is Americanizing the English idioms for the benefit of the audience.

Junior English Exams Are Graded

The Junior English examination which was given at the beginning of the year has been graded, says Dr Hazel A Stevenson, professor of English, but the majority of students will be required to see their papers until a later date.

Those sirls whose papers indicated the need of remedial help will be sent notices to this effect immediate future. If a weakness is shown in only one particular phase of the work the girl will be notified to attend an interview for a better understanding of the difficulty.

These interviews for seniors who took the test are being conducted now since a successful completion of the examination is a necessary preliminary for graduation. Such a comparative basis the girls did not receive their first year than last," said Miss Stevenson.

Bellamy Selected

Dr Raymond Bellamy, professor of sociology, has been selected to do abstracts for the publication Biological Abstracts. The magazine has recently added a new section carrying abstracts of books and articles dealing with the social aspects of human significance and this is the section in which Dr Bellamy contributes.

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

IT'S A GREAT LIFE IF YOU DON'T WEEK-END

ENERGY FOR PEACE OR ENERGY FOR WAR

"When the first atomic bomb was dropped in New Mexico on July 16, 1945, the atomic age was ushered in with an unparalleled man-made bang," Dr Harold F Richards stated in a recent lecture on atomic power.

It is apparent that the complications of using and controlling a power as great as atomic power present the world with one of the gravest and most difficult of problems. The practical application of our knowledge of atomic energy for the good of humanity could form a higher civilization than the world has ever known, but ill-use could just as easily make it break down our existing ideals of culture.

We have no assurance that the secret can remain as such in the hands of our government for long. Eminent scientists have made it clear that research will soon open the atomic field to any nation that cares to undertake the task.

There has been much discussion and speculation of the possible outcome of man's new knowledge, but only a few concrete suggestions have been made. This week student officials on our campus have received a letter from the student officials of Bennington College, Bennington, Vermont, suggesting "that the college youth of this country should add its voice to that of the nation's foremost scientists, and ask our government for a bold and responsible step toward international control of atomic energy."

The letter further states, "The problem is how to keep the United States from leading the world into the most ferocious armament race it has ever seen. The atomic bomb has opened up unlimited possibilities of destruction. Unless the facilities of producing and controlling this weapon are placed under effective international control, the great powers of the world will develop them in a vain search for security, and run blindly into another war.

"This would spell catastrophe for the world in which we are living and destroy all of our hopes for the future. We are certain that you and your fellow students are as deeply concerned with this challenge as the people at our college."

We feel that the students of Bennington College should be highly commended for taking this initial stand on a problem which is vitally pertinent to every college student.

Thus far, nothing concrete has been done on this campus to show an active interest in the problem. With the hope that the students of FSC feel a need to become more fully informed, a forum on the subject has been planned for next Thursday night. Discussion of such a universal issue should bring together one of the largest groups of this kind that FSC has ever seen.

It is probable that many colleges throughout the country are taking similar steps, and we should stand with our fellow students in furthering an intelligent opinion on the use and control of atomic power.

SO FAR, SO GOOD

Congratulations are in order for FSC students this week for their prompt response to the World Student Service Fund drive. Although many pledge cards have yet to be turned in the unofficial returns of these pledges show that FSC is well above the amount received last year.

Of course it is easy to sign pledges for contributions and think we have fulfilled their obligation, but the responsibility does not end with the act of pledging. The definition of the word according to Webster is "anything given or passed by way of guaranty or security for the performance of some act."

Many pledges have been signed, but the WSSF purpose is still dependent on the collections. If all cooperate no financial strain will be imposed on anyone. As has been previously announced it is still not too late to pledge and contribute for the drive will last throughout the entire month of November.

This is but another opportunity to show we are adults, able to discipline our responsibility and to become a real part of the world community.

HEREIN LIES OUR DEFENSE

As the defeated nations the world over are surrendering their arms, the question of maintaining peace or preparing for defense in case of failure of that peace becomes of paramount concern. In the United States the question has taken the form of a compulsory one-year conscription for boys of 18 years of age.

It is an obvious truth that the future cannot be foreseen. It is also an obvious possibility that the world is not yet ready to accept an international government which would prevent all wars. Some sort of national security for the United States is therefore a wise move, but still to be decided is whether universal military training is the ideal solution.

Under such a plan, military instruction will be split in two parts, the regular professional army with distinct and separate duties at home and abroad and the civilian instructor army to train and indoctrinate the nation's youth. With one army for instruction and one for domestic and foreign duties there can be little cooperation between the two, but only a loose and unwieldy organization. Furthermore, it has been suggested that the instructors are to be rotated into the army and back into civilian life in a year or two, thus making the instruction markedly uneven and inavoidably inefficient.

Advocates of the conscription plan, staunch ones among them being our military leaders, feel that a large reservoir of civilians with one year of military training will be our bulwark of defense. Yet one year of military training is not sufficient time in which to convert a man into a soldier under modern conditions, since a soldier must learn infinitely more than he had to know in the past.

Technical training in modern mechanical warfare will be so highly specialized as to allow for little of an all-over picture of army structure. Specialists in such fields of mechanical warfare, intelligence, and reconnaissance will be of little value as graduates of one-year conscription unless qualified by previous training in civilian life.

Experience has shown that no army ends a war with the weapon with which it began it, so quickly are advances made. In time of peace as in time of war the progress of technology will make the training of 1950 obsolete in 1955 and instruction received one year of little value the next.

Limited by the regimentation characteristic of the army, conscripted recruits will have little of the resourcefulness and ingenuity they would develop in civilian life. They will learn to obey and little more. Yet many times on the battlefront, in situations requiring quick and accurate thought, it is not training in obedience and obedience alone which is effective, but rather the ability to think rapidly and accurately for oneself.

Herein lies our defense.

In This Our Time

In the wake of peace, observers' attention this last week was turned to the rebellions and riots raging throughout the world.

In northern China Red troops armed with supplies captured from the Japanese were gaining control of several large cities, heavy industries and railroads. American troops stationed in China to end Japanese activities and to collect Japanese material there are working with the central government, and because of this are finding some difficulty keeping out of the hostilities.

Javanese natives, armed with captured Japanese equipment and massed in the center of the island for a strong, concentrated attack, are combating British forces who would eventually pull out and leave the Dutch colonials in control.

Korean political parties presented Allied officials with an announcement demanding immediate and complete independence and protested against the splitting of the island into a Russian and an American zone of occupation.

In Cairo and Alexandria, Egypt Arabs and other anti-Zionists groups staged riots in protest to making Palestine the national Jewish homeland.

In Argentina supporters of vice president Peron staged several demonstrations in which some were injured demanding that the "strong man" be made official president of the republic.

Reconversion strikes and general labor unrest this last week brought several new developments. In Washington labor and management sat down with government officials to try to settle labor-management reconversion disputes. Meanwhile, boat builder Andrew J Higgins has closed his three plants in New Orleans where an AFL request for a congressional investigation has been made. The Pennsylvania and Central and Southwestern Greyhound bus unions are on strike for a 30 per cent wage increase, and telegraph and auto workers are threatening to temporarily close those industries by striking. The strike situation may be broken for a time, however, since Mr Truman hinted that it may be necessary to take over some vital industries if the number of strikes continue.

Since legislators on Capitol Hill still do not know just what to do about the atomic bomb control, both the House and Senate committees are now attending night classes conducted by four prominent physicists in an effort to understand the bomb and its effects. Meanwhile, Major De Seversky, aircraft designer who is now studying the effects of the bomb in Japan, said that the American people are overestimating its destructive power and that American cities were far safer from devastation by the bomb than Japanese cities since American cities are constructed with steel and concrete.

There have been two important developments in Venezuela this last week. New revolutionist president Bettancourt has made no move to nationalize Venezuela's oil industry as Mexico did, thus allowing American control of the industry to remain in tact. President Bettancourt also has issued an order that all foreign correspondents may send their dispatches out of the country completely uncensored.

Campus Mail Note

Stating that students have repeatedly disregarded post office regulations concerning campus notices, Mr W H May, college postmaster, emphasized this week that the post office will accept only those which are of postal card size or are enclosed in an envelope. Only exception to this regulation will be in the case of organizations whose members will post their own campus mail, he added.

Armistice Day

A five-minute period of silence will be observed this Sunday evening at 8:15 in memory of those who gave their lives in World War I. During this period of reverence in observance of Armistice Day the chimes in Westcott tower will be played.

Miss Koch to Give Address at Recital

An address on "Musical Criticism" by Miss Gladys Koch, assistant professor of voice and solfeggio, will be featured at a student piano recital Thursday afternoon at 5:05 pm in the recital hall of the Music annex.

"Dialogue Without Words" by Carl Preyer will open the musical portion of the program played by Anne Townsend. "Sonata op. 14 Number 1, Allegro" by Beethoven, played by Frances Duckworth and Mozart's "Fantasie in C Minor", played by Wildo Hayes will follow.

Eleanor Bragg then will conclude the program with the playing of "The White Peacock" by Griffes and Chopin's "Ballade in F"

MAGAZINE JOTTINGS

By CATHERINE NOLMAN

The Fate of American Science

Let's take a second look at the role which science will play in this our postwar world. "For the realization of fuller and more fruitful employment and a fuller and more fruitful life, we need a National Science Foundation and a country-wide awareness that governmental support for knowledge - research is henceforth basic in the national policy." This is the opinion expressed by Professor Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard College observatory, in the article "Status Quo or Pioneer" which appeared in the October issue of Harper's.

Farmers, miners, machine operators, merchants, and housekeepers, although not scientifically trained, are employing scientific methods rather than old time superstitions and are fast becoming conscious of the fact that conclusions based on observation, testing, and logical reasoning form the intelligent method of living. Moreover, not only does scientific advance in medicine provide for a longer and happier life for millions of individuals, but also scientific advance provides for the national defense so that these lives may be lived outside the horrors of war. Therefore, says Professor Shapley, it is time for the government to decide what it is going to do about the advance of scientific research and development.

Undeniably our scientists played a great part in the winning of this war. They produced "miracles of medicine, transportation, communication, and entertainment," but when we came to the peace conference at San Francisco not a scientist or engineer was invited to help plan the world of peace. Although Professor Shapley speaks sarcastically of the authorities who failed to invite the advise of technology, he also blames the scientists for their long indifference to their social responsibilities.

This took place before the explosion of the atomic bomb set the whole world to vibrating with the knowledge that its very existence depended on the proper handling of science. But says Professor Shapley, its occurrence has tended to produce in some people a desire to escape from science back to the old days. Fortunately, he says, there have been civilians in high places who realized the importance of government interest in science.

Action in Congress

Lately about half a dozen science bills have been introduced into Congress. Several years ago Senator Kilgore of Virginia tried to get governmental interest in the management of science. Scientists at first objected on the grounds of free enterprise, but later bills have been more acceptable. From the reports prepared in answer to a letter written by the late President Roosevelt inquiring about recent scientific developments and what should be the government's responsibility toward scientific research in general the Magnuson bill has materialized.

The Magnuson bill provides that there be established 'in the executive branch of the government an independent agency to be known as the National Research Foundation' which among its duties will include the "support of medical, military, and basic research with the help of grants, and the discovery of scientific talent and its development with the aid of governmental scholarships. In its full development the yearly cost of this plan will be less than the cost of one day of the past war. Professor Shapley continue to say that "A wide dispersion throughout the country of research activities, of scholarship assistance for young scientists, and of technological service to industry must be a fundamental principle of the National Science foundation." In the past a great deal of our basic research came from Germany where research was supported by Government funds. Now we must stand on our own feet in this field.

In answer to the question, "Does not this emphasis on science mean the death of art and poetry?", the author asks the reader to look at Russia where the use of science is a major concern. "No one questions the leadership of Russian musicians in composition and performance. Paintings are found in the modern art museums which the experts tell us are masterpieces. They are not escapist canvases like those we so often paint . . ., nor experiments in decadence, but interpretations of the grimness, humor, and serious thoughtfulness of life in a society that was reborn in heavy weather only a brief generation ago." along with science, he says, we also should include eventually all historical and social studies.

Or Forever Hold Your Peace . . .

Dear Editor:

Due to lack of dormitory space a number of us are living in Landis recreation room this fall. Although such living arrangements necessitate a number of inconveniences, we who stay there have raised no objections to these living quarters. We realize that other students at Florida State College, many of them freshmen who would find it difficult to become acclimated to college life under normal conditions, are living in crowded, uncomfortable quarters. All this, we understand, is an unavoidable and temporary situation, which will be corrected as soon as humanly possible.

What we do object to is the fact that we were required to pay Landis prices for the doubtful privilege of living in its recreation room. Supposedly students paid this extra 18 dollars per year and in return had the conveniences of private telephones, modernistic furniture, sound-proof rooms and elevators. What we girls in the "rec" receive is the privileges double-decker bunks, of walking up three flights of stairs in order to use a telephone and of an elevator that is constantly in a state of disrepair. I believe that in all fairness we should be refunded the difference between Landis prices and those charged for other dormitories.

(Signed)
Kathleen Wagner
Betty Jean Barber
Bettye Martin
Dolores Edwards
Willa Land
Marian Curry

From Me To Y'all

By SHARPIE

Our first letter is signed, "Pleasingly Plump". She writes, "I seem to be gaining too much weight and it's in the wrong places. If this keeps up, I can't imagine the shape of things to come." We have had many weighty problems like this and the sad part of it is that these cases usually feel tired, nervous and rundown after a mere 15 hours of study.

Here's how Virginia Budd, Marguerite Reynolds, June Moore and Patty Evans are solving a similar problem. To the rhythmic beat of 1 - 2 - 3 - 4, the girls, with their blankets lined up on the 100 floor of Broward, exercise nightly from 10:30 until 11:00 When asked if they recommended this procedure, one of the quartet groaned, "We've lost pounds," and they all flopped over to make Miss Tracy's desserts less noticeable.

We are anticipating a deluge of letters next week from girls whol walked Landis' freshly painted arcade and want to know how to get rid of black feet. If you have a question like this, don't bother us with it. You should have worn shoes anyway. Feels awful when your toes stick together, doesn't it?

There is a shortage of letters this week from worried souls and this letter just about sums up the reason. "Sharpie . . . Why should anyone have problems when there are only five weeks until that beautiful Christmas vacation? Why should we complain if our naps are disturbed by people who sashay down dormitory halls enthusiastically beating drums? Hurray for the Evens and Odds. I want to go home. . . . Anxious." So Anxious thinks she has no cause for worry. She doesn't object to loyal fans. Ahaaaa (and that is Sharpie's fiendish laugh which shakes this L C Smith). There is always a place for worry as long as we write this column. If nothing else is a cause for worry, exams are always with us.

No one is even lovelorn this week but here's an interesting letter. A freshman with dark circles under her eyes writes, "Ugh, flup, zzzzzzzzzzzz." Well, if she hadn't fallen asleep, we know she would have asked how upperclassmen manage to go home for week-ends so often and still retain their vim, vigor, good looks and wide awake sparkling eyes. I tell you, it's like this, uh zzzzzz.

Music Department Shows New Movies

Three sound movies on the importance of acoustics in music were shown yesterday afternoon at the regular Thursday recital of the School of Music. These recitals are open to all students.

"Sound Waves and Their Sources", "Fundamentals of Acoustics", and "Sound Recording and Reproduction" were the films shown, Mr Karl O Kuersteiner, acting dean of the School of Music, said.

The movie program was arranged by Miss Elizabeth Lynn, assistant professor of physics, and shown by Mary Langston, one of her students.

Dean Kuersteiner said that the School of Music is trying to obtain the use of several excellent sound films on music in the near future and that he hopes many students will take advantage of these Thursday afternoon movies and recitals.

The Students Speak...

Evenings and week-ends seem to find some students at a loss as to how to occupy their spare time. The question, "What recreational facilities do you think should be provided on campus?" brought forth an assortment of ideas and suggestions as to how we might fill in those spare hours.

"Since Dale Mabry Field is being inactivated, I don't believe the soldier dances would prove successful. There doesn't seem to be enough room for both tables and dancing in the Alumnae building recreation room. An enlargement there would be a great improvement."

Kathryn Clark, sophomore

"The bowling alley in town isn't fit for student use so why not build one for the college girls to use. Recreation here on campus seems pretty complete, it's Tallahassee that lacks entertainment."

Nadine Bolin, junior

"I think carpet golf would be a great success. I played it all the time at home and it's one of the main things I miss. I see no reason for restricting dances on Sunday. It would help to enliven the weekends."

Constance Miller, freshman

"Why not open some stables on campus and have horseback riding? We could do so many things if a barirer of rules didn't stand in the way. For instance, sailing on the lake.

Gene Ryan, senior

"There is not enough organized play on campus. The equipment and facilities are good but there is not enough student spirit to utilize them. As for the dances we should be able to invite the boys we know in addition to the soldiers. This way we get a more select group of fellows."

Charlotte Bouland, sophomore

"More things should be open for our use on Sunday. The pool is always closed then, and the library is not open long enough for recreational reading. If we do anything, a show is the only alternative."

Violet James, freshman

"I believe if a student really wants to do something he can find it right here on campus. What we need is student-wide participation in the activities. Playnite is an example of a lack of cooperation."

Betty Bell, senior

"Now that things are getting back to normal we can shift our attention from the Army camps to Gainesville. It would be nice to invite the boys up as a group to our dances. It could be operated on the same basis that the soldier dances were.

Mary Glaviano, junior

College Comments . . .

FRANCES TRAXLER

Well, at last someone's recognized the importance of lipstick. We read in a magazine recently that lipstick was a protection against disease. That may suggest many things to you, but the one we are talking about has to do with the restaurants. It seems that pearl divers clean the glasses and silverware much more thoroughly when lipstick is deposited on them. They can't help themselves. So, you see, ladies, don't worry if you've left your mark: you are doing your part to prevent disease and unsanitary conditions.

—Los Angeles Collegian

Co-ed—My mother always told me to say "no" to everything.

Ed—Well, do you mind if I hold your hand?

Coed—No.

Ed—Do you mind if I put my arms around you?

Coed—No.

Ed—Honey, if you're on the level about this, we're going to have a lot of fun.

—Kentucky Kernel

Geronimo, a small pet toad at Los Angeles City College, gives diners heart failure when roaming about the table during supper, by pointing himself toward a scalding hot cup of coffee and preparing to leap.

"No, Geronimo!" we will scream, "not that!" And lest the brave tyke's life end amidst clouds of toad vapor, we invert an empty water tumbler over him.

One day an unfamiliar visitor came to see Geronimo's owner, who forgot that Geronimo was sitting on his nose. Suddenly Geronimo jumped.

Apparently the visitor had mistaken Geronimo for some odd kind of wart, for he screamed: "My God! it jumped!" and fell over backward in his chair.

—Los Angeles Collegian

"Here lies an atheist
All dressed up and no place to go."

—Kentucky Kernel

Smith—Jones, I think that sea of yours is spoiled.

Jones—I am inclined to disagree with you, old man.

Smith—Well, come out and see what a steam roller just did to him.

—The Log

He (embracing her firmly)—Darling, your freckles are cute.

She—Freckles, heck, I've got measles!

—Los Angeles Collegian

We've been reading polls and more polls about how many college-age veterans there are, and what kind of girls they prefer, etc., but the dreadful truth for us non-coeds is that about half of those veterans who come to Gainesville, when the special veterans' semester opens November 6, will have their attractive wives with them.

Crotwell on Radio

The Garnet and Gold radio program, presented every Thursday night at 7:30 featured this week violin selections rendered by Rachael Crotwell, accompanied by Miss Ruby Dunstan, instructor in piano.

Sara Norman, station announcer, introduced Rachael and also Maurine Petty who acted as news editor for this program.

Selections chosen by Rachael were "Suite in F Major" by Corelli and "Hungarian Dance" by Haesche.

Because the transcription of "Garnet and Gold," station theme song, has been broken, Rachael also played the theme to close the program.

Simmons Returns

Mrs Ida Simmons, secretary to Dr M W Carothers, registrar, has returned to her office after an absence of a week, due to the sudden death of her mother in Thomasville, Georgia.

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS — Editor
ANNE GAITHER, PEGGY KAY — Associate Editors
LOIS RYAN — Assistant Editor
SHIRLEY RODGERS — Managing Editor
MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON — News Editors

Copy Editor — Lola Rose
Copy Staff — Mary Nell McFadden, Jeanne Tillman, Betty Jo McLeod
Feature Editor — Anne Hutton, Marie Waters
Columnists — Bobbie Bell
Assistant Managing Editor — Beryl Kitchens
Society Editor — Madge Pilcher
Assistant Society Editor — Betty Dowd
Sports Editor — Evelyn Shea
Assistant Sports Editor — Gloria Reed
Outside News Editor — Catherine Nollman
Literary Editor — Jerry Crume, Barbara Wickham
Opinion Editors — Dee Gardner
Picture Editor — Lucy Felden
Art Editor

REPORTERS: Eugenia Albers, Alicia Armstrong, Alvera Aska, Eleanor Bayer, Barbara Beckman, Jean Bess, Paulette Blank, Virginia Budd, Laura Lee Butler, Marjorie Clark, Jean Douglas, Martha Jo Dunagan, Barbara Farrar, Dorothy Fouts, Winifred Lane, Barbara Lanford, Betty Lillycrop, Jo Mingola, Jacqueline Nevers, Eileen Perry, Joyce Petty, Ferne Quinn, Mary Jane Sherman, Marianne Snyder, Mary Tarr, Tami Thomas, Frances Traxler, Kay Van Deurs.

BUSINESS STAFF

Helen Tarapani — Business Manager
Eileen Davis — Advertising Manager

Entered as second class mail matter, January 30, 1915, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Sorority Chit-Chat . . .

Initiations, banquets and after-dinner coffees are enjoying the social spotlight this week.

Alpha Chi Omega honored its new initiates on October 29, with a banquet at the Cherokee Hotel, the theme of which was "The Magic Lamp." Jane Overturf, vice president, spoke on "The Lights by Which We Aspire." Margaret Johnson, a new initiate, gave a speech on "The Heights We Attained." Virginia Dempsey's topic was "The Dream of a Doll," and Mrs J W Harrell, new mother, spoke on "The Results of Cooperation." Other guests of the occasion included the program consisted of a duet, "Mother of Mine," by Mary Arnold and Renee Hodgson, and a skit "Olympian Nights" given by four sisters. The new initiates are Betty Bullock, Margaret Johnson, Jonnie Mims, and Emily Mahan. Following ceremonies were held last night for Mary Jean Sanders. Another event for the Alpha Chi Omegas was a coffee-hour Sunday afternoon at Mrs Revell's daughters, Mrs V Cox.

• • •

Delta Phi Epsilon and faculty guests gathered around an open fire in the living room Sunday night for a festival of the Greek. Entertained the group with a skit, "The White Cliffs of Dover."

• • •

Alpha Gamma Delta's Halloween party was highlighted Saturday night when the pledges presented a program of skits, readings, and a prophesy of the future based on the Zodiac numbers. Violet Walters was the skit chairman. Everyone entertained was dressed in costume, carried in Halloween colors, under a later, regarding the supernatural. Recognition pins to wear as their lapels were presented to the new initiates at the close of the party was given. Under the direction of Aileen Sperry, several games were played, including apple bobbing.

• • •

Dr and Mrs Dames Woods for a picnic on Sunday night is being planned for Alpha Gamma Delta pledges, and friends, with Catherine Rogers in charge of preparations.

• • •

Dr and Mrs C P Heinlein, parents for Alpha Gamma Delta, entertained the members and several Tallahassee alumnae of the sorority at an afternoon tea in their home yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6. Mrs Rosabelle Gilland, house-mother, and Mrs Sexton Long, alumna, poured. Wife attended at the serving table. Mrs Heinlein with the service.

• • •

Alpha Xi Delta's new initiates are Mary Ann Leonard, Jackie Troutman, Billie Kachnal and Kitty Baker. These girls were initiated Saturday night. Mrs Dean Turner, house mother, was hostess to the guests. The pledges with a coffee, to which all patrons and other sorority house mothers were invited.

• • •

Chi Omega has planned a coffee for Sunday night for members and guests. The pledges will take charge of all arrangements for the affair.

• • •

Delta Delta Delta had an afternoon coffee for the Wednesday night to be patrons, patronesses, and alumnae of Tallahassee. Miss Evans, social chairman, was in charge of all arrangements. Patrons and patronesses present were: Governor and Mrs Millard Caldwell, Mrs Cary D Landis, Mr and Mrs George Martin, Judge and Mrs Alto Adams, Judge and Mrs Tom Shelrine, and Mr and Mrs Frank Moore.

• • •

Active and pledges of Delta Phi Epsilon had a joint meeting Saturday at 3 o'clock. Following this monthly meeting a party was given in honor of the new freshman pledges.

• • •

On Saturday Delta Zeta initiated Ann Bailey Marye Grace, Jo Long, Priscilla Mullins, Carolyn Smith, Lou Taylor, Betty Johnston, and Marilyn Watson. Following the initiation, Mrs Z Crowell, housemother, honored the new initia es with an informal party last Monday night the initiation banquet was held at the house. At this time Betty Johnston received the scholarship cup and bracelet awarded the best pledge. The cheque gave each girl a copy of the Delta Zeta song book. Miss Crowell presided her little sister with a recognition pin as a gift. Friday night Ruth Wilkes and Mary Lou Hofma were pledged.

• • •

The Kappa Alpha Thetas initiated Betty Jane Brophy Friday night. Mary Margaret Orazo, Jo Long, Priscilla Mullins, Carolyn Smith, Lou Taylor, Betty Johnston, and Marilyn Watson. Following the initiation, Mrs Z Crowell, housemother, honored the new initia es with an informal party last Monday night the initiation banquet was held at the house. At this time Betty Johnston received the scholarship cup and bracelet awarded the best pledge. The cheque gave each girl a copy of the Delta Zeta song book. Miss Crowell presided her little sister with a recognition pin as a gift. Friday night Ruth Wilkes and Mary Lou Hofma were pledged.

• • •

The Kappa Alpha Thetas initiated Betty Jane Brophy Friday night. Mary Margaret Orazo, Jo Long, Priscilla Mullins, Carolyn Smith, Lou Taylor, Betty Johnston, and Marilyn Watson. Following the initiation, Mrs Z Crowell, housemother, honored the new initia es with an informal party last Monday night the initiation banquet was held at the house. At this time Betty Johnston received the scholarship cup and bracelet awarded the best pledge. The cheque gave each girl a copy of the Delta Zeta song book. Miss Crowell presided her little sister with a recognition pin as a gift. Friday night Ruth Wilkes and Mary Lou Hofma were pledged.

• • •

Alpha Gamma Delta's Halloween party was highlighted Saturday night when the pledges presented a program of skits, readings, and a prophesy of the future based on the Zodiac numbers. Violet Walters was the skit chairman. Everyone entertained was dressed in costume, carried in Halloween colors, under a later, regarding the supernatural. Recognition pins to wear as their lapels were presented to the new initiates at the close of the party was given. Under the direction of Aileen Sperry, several games were played, including apple bobbing.

• • •

Dr and Mrs C P Heinlein, parents for Alpha Gamma Delta, entertained the members and several Tallahassee alumnae of the sorority at an afternoon tea in their home yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6. Mrs Rosabelle Gilland, house-mother, and Mrs Sexton Long, alumna, poured. Wife attended at the serving table. Mrs Heinlein with the service.

• • •

June Moore, Ann Grann, Elizabeth McLean, Dorothy Bower, and Eugenia Chasel will be initiated into Kappa Alpha Theta Saturday night.

On Friday night the Zeta Tau Alphas will initiate Beth Puhrer, Catherine Nollman, Audrey Dyer, Peggy Mack, Inez Bishop, Jean De Bevoise, and Nancy McMullen. After initiation ceremonies will be held Sunday morning at the Cherokee Hotel. Last Sunday night Mrs Hodge, Zeta Tau housemother, entertained at dinner for prospective initiates. Following dinner, the pledges gave a skit and sang their pledge songs.

Dr Irish Gives Party For Department Majors

Dr Marion Irish, professor of political science, entertained a group of girls from her department at an informal party Monday night held at her home on Country Club drive, immediately following the house meetings.

The girls, all advanced political science students, ashered to hear Virginia Collins and Carol Bradford tell of their experiences at the World Affairs Institute which they attended this summer at Salisbury, Connecticut.

Faculty members attending included Miss Florence Tyron, Miss Daisy Parker and Dr. Lucretia Illsley.

Phone for travel information
Jacksonville

A. M.	P. M.
17:15	1:30
1:30	3:00
3:00	4:30
5:00	6:45
6:45	6:45
8:30	11:00
11:00

Tampa

A. M.	P. M.
1:00	1:30
6:45	5:00
8:30	9:00
11:00

ALL BUSES LEAVE UNION BUS STATION COR. ADAMS & TENN. PHONE 761

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Gifts . . .
For Every Occasion

Select Them Here for Your Family and Friends

Remember—
Christmas Is Coming!

MARTIN & DALTON
Phone 123 210-212 S. Adams St.

Journalism Majors Work in News Field

Newspapers throughout the state have beckoned journalism majors of the class of 1945 and this fall finds four of them engaged in part or full-time journalistic work.

Cordelia Barclay, editor of the Flambeau last year, is now reporting for the Tampa Tribune. In connection with this she also writes the column, "Tribune Talks on, for which she conducts interviews on questions of current interest.

Rachael Ball and Janet Pancoast, last year's associate editors, are now in Tampa and Washington respectively. Rachael is now employed by the Tampa Times as a reporter. Having received a government scholarship, Janet is now interning at the State Department 'n Washington, in connection with which she has attended lectures by Archibald MacLeish and other noted government officials.

Mary Arnold was asked to be chaperone wa with the party, but dancing on campus or in town is still strictly taboo.

During that year there sp peared in the handbook these words: "The student must subordinate her wishes to the rights of the community and college students may not smoke until they are members of the College Government Association."

In 1939 the wording about smoking was changed. The only places a girl may smoke are in the residence halls, in the sorority or off-campus houses, in any college building, on college property or in any public place. In either case, she may smoke unless she knew of a nice unpublic place that didn't belong to the school and that she would be allowed to go, or could get to, without leaving the campus on trip. Those extras were still going strong. Freshmen could have dates Sunday afternoon and Sunday now and they had no extras granted them. They were also to tell their young man to come at those times or not at all. Juniors and seniors had 12 extras and sophomores had nine.

Nineteen hundred and thirty-five saw the beginning of the Big Red Bow. It was followed, if you got permission from college authorities, and the year when the lovely crystal chandelier Bryan were first called the dating area.

The following year students at PSC were told for the first time that they could invite girls and have in their possession any intoxicating beverage. Smoking areas were also established this time but smoking in public was still not allowed.

During 1934 until 1936 many new changes were made in the rules. Regular dating hours were specified and an extended dating area was given. Freshmen were required to introduce callers to their directors or chaperones; besides calling down boundaries, dates; Juniors, an average of 5 week; sophomores, an average of three; and freshmen have new age of two. Late dates were permitted in exceptional cases. Informal dancing was now permitted at certain hours and special dances were given for different occasions. For the first time beer was forbidden for the students.

In 1935 early dates were abolished being with permission in exceptional cases. Late dates were now to be in Bryan or off-campus parties only.

In 1739 a girl became liable for suspension if she drank or possessed intoxicating beverages. This year juniors got unlimited dates and seniors automatically late permission three times a semester. Approval of a date the

This fine reproduction of a colonial favorite reflects all the character and charm of early Colonial days.

Today, too, the simplicity and ageless beauty of the 1810 design appeals to those who appreciate craftsmanship in solid silver.

1810 Pattern

International Sterling

Moon's

Rule Changes

Continued From Page One

suppose Joe showed up at the wrong time. There were provisions for just such people. When callers came at an "off" time, or with space they were considered as an extra. Seniors and juniors could have 12 extras and sophomores and freshmen were given nine extras. All social engagements still had to be signed for in Bryan and callers still had to be entertained in and around Bryan. Sorority girls had to have the approval of their chaperone before receiving callers at their house. Special arrangements had to be made for leaving the campus with an escort. A girl had to register and have her parent's permission to do this. When rolling at night with an escort it was necessary to have a chaperone unless the couple was of sonville representative for a new magazine which is now being published in Miami.

New Band Students Are Entertained

An informal after-dinner coffee was held for the new band students in the clubroom of the Longmire dormitory Wednesday night. Mr O P Sellars, band director at Florida State College for Women, Lottie Cooper, assistant director, and Karl G Harrelson, assistant to the dean of the School of Music were present to receive the more than 30 members.

The band is scheduled to play for Camp Gordon Johnston on Thursday, Nov. 29, and for the concerts, one in the late afternoon and the other in the evening for the hospital and recreational hall. Numbers to be played at the two have been announced by Mr Sellars who is directing the band.

Badminton Begins

Intramural badminton practices are now being held in the building the close of the volley ball season.

Last Wednesday and Thursday afternoons practices were held, and will be continued this afternoon and November 12-13. Tournament competition will begin on November 19, according to "Butch" Breedlove who is in charge of the games.

Engagement Announced

Wedding bells are about to ring for a faculty member PSC's faculty. Miss Mary Wright, who was assistant professor of sociology three years ago.

Plans for her wedding sometime in the near future to Richard David Winters a Princeton graduate from New York state, are being made.

Speech Honorary To Honor Players

Upsilon chapter of Zeta Phi Eta, the national speech honorary on the campus of Florida State College, will give a tea for the cast and stage crew of the play "Time and the Conways" after the performance of the play November 20 in the speech office.

The cast members of the honorary are: Barbara Holt, president; Beatrice Weaver, vice president; Kathryn Steed, secretary; Maurine Petty, treasurer, and Sheldon Bennett. The remainder of this organization is Miss Elizabeth Thomas, director in speech.

Zeta Phi Eta meets twice a month. The group holds a business meeting the second Thursday every month and is scheduled to call once a month for a social meeting. Every quarter the honorary gives a banquet. Entertaining the cast and stage crew will be their project this quarter.

Music Club Honors New Majors at Tea

Freshman Music majors were honored by the Music Club last Friday afternoon at a tea in the Longmire building All members of the band orchestra, glee club, and Florida State College music staff were invited.

In the receiving line were Dean and Mrs Karl Kuersteiner, Miss Gladys G Koch, Music Club faculty sponsor; Katherine Grenell, president of the school of music, and Pawn Trawick, Music Club president.

Dolly Sutton was floor chairman for the occasion. Other committee heads were Frances Duckworth, refreshments; and Jane Gaertner, decorations. Annabelle Redwine, Dolly Sutton and Eleanor Bragg provided background music.

Artist Series

Continued From Page One

Orient. Later they struck out on their own, learning to work on the theory of dance as a vital force in contemporary life — simplified, meant the theory of modern dance. They appeared at the New York in 1928 to further this idea, and since then have danced both as soloists and as a concert group, and have performed with the Philadelphia Orchestra, the New York Philharmonic Symphony, and the Cleveland Symphony, and have toured the United States.

Mischa Elman, well-known violinist, will appear on March 26 as the added attraction of the Artist Series. Born in Stanislo, Russia, Mr Elman first played the violin in public at the age of five. He studied with Professor Auer at St Petersburg, and at the age of 13, and toured the European capitals before he lived in America. He made his debut in New York in 1908, with the Russian Symphony Orchestra, and has since toured the American continent six times.

The Australian pianist-composer-conductor, Percy Grainger, it quite well-known to many PSC students since his week-long visit on campus during Music Week in last May. He made a sper turn for two days during next spring for the final Series event on May 6 and 7. Those who were here remember him as a gentleman who kept both students and amused and informed by his ec tric commentaries, as well as entertained by his virtuosity and brilliance of performance as the piano. The entire music department, including the band, orchestra and glee club, also took part in this celebration of Music Week, and many of Mr Grainger's own compositions were performed, among them "Country Gardens", "Handel in the Strand", "Lord Peter's Jig", "Shepherd Boy", "Gum Sucker's March", "Colonial Song", and "Molly on the Shore."

first time he called now became necessary.

Unapproved places were inaugurated in 1940 and a attempt at such a place was liable for immediate suspension.

In the time since then other new laws have been added or taken away according to the needs and problems arising. Changes have been many since the fall of 1914, and they will be many as years go on. Perhaps they will come a time when everything is left to the discretion of the student. Who knows?

Pre-Med Club Elects Officers for Year

Members Hope to Establish Chapter of Honorary

The Pre-medical Club elected officers for the coming year at its first meeting held November 4. Joyce Pusie is the new president; Peggy Limroth, recording secretary and treasurer; and Ella Mae Baer, corresponding secretary.

Election of a vice-president and further action concerning the establishment of a chapter of Alpha Epsilon Delta, national premedical honorary fraternity, on this campus will be the business of the next meeting to be held in the near future as announced by the president.

"If we do succeed in establishing a chapter here, we will be the first woman's college ever to have one of this fraternity," Joyce stated.

Faculty advisors for the organization are Dr Viola Graham Bear of the physiology department, and Dr Reda M Devinney, professor of zoology.

Aims of the Pre-Medical club, as stated in its constitution, include: "To foster, a cooperative association of pre-medical students for the mutual benefit in helping reach their goals by collective striving; and to provide opportunities of study in the principles of the medical profession and related scientific fields (also to provide opportunities for the members to broaden the scope of their scientific knowledge by sponsoring programs, discussions and lectures designed for this purpose."

All students enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences who are pursuing pre-medical, physiotherapy, or laboratory technology studies are eligible for membership.

Newman Club Takes Initiates to Camp

Members of Newman Club went to camp last weekend, with the new initiates as the honor guests, according to Mary Cooney, social chairman for the club.

Working with Mary in making arrangements for the weekend were Dixie Baile, vice-president of the club, and Audrey Perry, Mary Parker, Amelia Travers, and Irene Mendoza, committee chairmen.

Skits, dances, and songs by the newly initiated members were given as entertainment during the weekend.

Through special permission from the Office of the Dean of Students, Father Coleman came out to the camp on Sunday to say Mass for the girls.

Faculty Committee Honored at Dinner

Executive Council of College Government Association entertained the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs at dinner last Friday night in Landis dining hall followed by an after dinner coffee in Landis parlor. Arrangements were made the committee of Robin Hill, Jean Cole, and Sarah Lewis.

Members of the attending faculty committee were: Dr Doak S Campbell, ex - officio member, Dean Olivia N Dorman, chairman, Miss Florence Bitzes, Dr O L Kelly, Dr Ruth O Kenaga, Dr Mary Noka Hood Dr Coyle E Moore, Dr Ruth O Schramm, Dr H L Waskom, Miss Kay Warren, Miss Lucy Lester, and Miss Elizabeth Lynn.

Dormitory Teas Feature Programs

At the weekly teas last Wednesday, two of the dormitories, Landis and Cockrell, presented programs for the entertainment of their guests.

At the Landis tea, three numbers were sung by Patti Landis, "Music, Music, Music" "Sweet Jane Along" and "Does Purple Sage Carry, social committee member in charge, said that at this tea there were guests from the faculty and administrative staff and from out of town.

The program given at Cockrell House for the whole of the Village included a duet, "Till the End of Time", sung by Earlene Davis and Arlene Love, accompanied by Mavis McMillan on the piano. Mrs Pauline S Mansfield, counselor at the Lodge, sang "Because" according to Kay Moore, social chairman for the Village.

Conscription

Continued From Page One

to better the system and conditions which they were being taught and trained.

"Three things are essential in the making of an effective fighting force," he said. 'Equipment is the first necessity. Second is the matter of skills by the men so as to enable them to use this equipment. Third, and most important, are the ideals for which men fight."

Kay Van Deurs, student speaker, opposed Mr Stone in his belief that America should undertake compulsory military training.

"Compulsory training would be the most drastic compulsion that could be given to us, and it would be sad if it should be established here after the war.

"Twelve million reserves will not be able to stop an atomic bomb. What we need is a small, highly specialized army ready to the best of their mind and machines." said Kay.

Her opinion was that a large peacetime army under government control would develop into a huge dangerous propaganda machine which would be detrimental to American democratic ideals.

Carolyn Drummond opposed Kay, saying that, in her opinion, it would be more undemocratic to be unprepared as the United States was at the time of Pearl Harbor.

"We owe it to those who did not return from this war to be prepared for another," she declared.

Carolyn said that too much emphasis was being placed on "over". There should be more consideration given to "years from now" instead of "now." Our "now" will be an emergency 'then' if we don't prepare."

"Preparing for war will lead to war—preparing against war will lead to peace," Carolyn concluded.

Mr Eugene Ellis, a local attorney who was with the army air corps before his recent discharge, was the last of the four speakers. His introductory comment was that the subject of compulsory military training is too close to be clearly seen and therefore "we should not make up our minds too hastily."

The basic consideration, according to Mr Ellis, is to grasp "what is best for democracy."

"We set confused with idealism as opposed to what we should do," he stated.

A definite point made by Mr Ellis was that although the United States has never had any kind of military conscription, it has never lost a war. Wherever other countries, such as Germany, Japan and Italy with a had conscription, have lost wars.

"Under military regimentation, one loses his ability to think in an emergency. It was the quick-thinking, short, unpublicized American mind, the product of a natural environment, a free society and freedom of thought that came through most efficiently in the heat of battle. This can only be preserved by not regimenting men," stated Mr Ellis.

"Maintain a strong army and navy yes, but only through voluntary enlistments in the army and ROTC, not by half of the nation. A large national army would not set a good example for nations if we wish to preserve a spirit of peace. We cannot lead the world toward peace if we prepare for war."

After the speakers had expressed their opinions, Mrs Bristol turned the discussion over to the audience. A series of arguments for and against the question at hand followed, after which the discussion was adjourned.

Magnolia Hall Has Formal Reception

A total of 145 guests, including faculty members, administrative staff, residence counselors, and house managers were present at the annual forma' reception given at Magnolia Hall last Wednesday at 8 o'clock according to Jane Whitfield, social chairman at that hall.

The decorative motif carried out a red, white and gold color scheme with large bouquets of fall chrysanthemums. During this "at-home" coffee some of the guests were shown about the rooms of the dormitory by girls who live there.

In the receiving line were Dr Olivia N Dorman, dean of students; Mrs Marriet C Barksdale, counselor at Magnolia Hall; and the house officers. Coffee was served by Edith McClenahan, director of residence; Miss Caroline J Pace, instructor in English; Miss M Lynette Thompson, instructor in classics and assistant counselor; and Miss Mary Cadman, student

War Fund Aided

The Community - War Fund Drive, which was held on this campus from October 31 to October 31, to Saturday, November 3, amounted to $114.09.

The drive on this campus was sponsored by the Day Students Organization with Daphne Rowe as its president.

States has never had any kind of military conscription. it has never lost a war. Wherever other countries, such as Germany, Japan and Italy with a had conscription, have lost wars.

"Under military regimentation, one loses his ability to think in an emergency. It was the quick-thinking, short, unpublicized American mind, the product of a natural environment, a free society and freedom of thought that came through most efficiently in the heat of battle. This can only be preserved by not regimenting men," stated Mr Ellis.

"Maintain a strong army and navy yes, but only through voluntary enlistments in the army and ROTC, not by half of the nation. A large national army would not set a good example for nations if we wish to preserve a spirit of peace. We cannot lead the world toward peace if we prepare for war."

After the speakers had expressed their opinions, Mrs Bristol turned the discussion over to the audience. A series of arguments for and against the question at hand followed, after which the discussion was adjourned.

THE COLLEGE SHOP

Newest Fad for College Girls

HOT OFF THE DISH

"CONTRA-BAND SETS"

NECK BAND and BRACELET TO MATCH

•

"MAIL-BAIT" BRACELETS

with

Your Name and Address

ENGRAVED

FREE

$1.00 Plus Tax

The College Shop

FLORIDA

Today and Tomorrow
"VALLEY OF DECISION"

Sunday and Monday
"THE GREAT JOHN L"

Tuesday and Wednesday
"WUTHERING HEIGHTS"

Thursday, Friday, Saturday
"ALONG CAME JONES"

STATE

Today and Tomorrow
"CISCO KID IN OLD MEXICO"
—and—
"ADVENTURES OF RUSTY"

Sunday and Monday
"THE WAY AHEAD"
—and—
"I LOVE A BANDLEADER"

Tuesday and Wednesday
"XMAS IN CONNECTICUT"

Thursday
"SONG OF BERNADETTE"

Friday and Saturday
"WEST OF PECOS"
—and—
"TELL IT TO A STAR"

RITZ

Today and Tomorrow
"BARBARY COAST GENT"
—and—
"THE PINTO BANDIT"

Sunday and Monday
"BELLE OF THE YUKON"
—and—
"MARK OF THE WHISTLER"

Friday and Saturday
"PINTO CANYON"
—and—
"LOST IN A HAREM"

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday
"SONG TO REMEMBER"
—and—
"SERGEANT MIKE"

Song Contest Winner Named

Anonymous Seniors Write "All Hail to Thee"

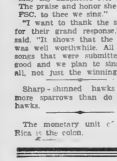
First place in the F Club song contest was won by a group of seniors who would rather remain anonymous. Babe Evans announced. Their song, "All Hail to Thee, Dear FSC," was written to the tune of "Navy Blue and Gold."

The F Club points won second place with their song, "All Through the Night." "Dear FSC," with the words by Gladys Novak and Toby Jacobskind and melody "When Day is Done", took third place.

Babe Evans asks all students to learn the words to the winning song by Thanksgiving. They are: "All hail to thee, our Florida, Hail to your torches three, And to the garnet and the gold— The pride of FSC.

Hail to our Alma Mater dear, May thy daughters ever strive The praise and honor she is due; FSC, to thee we sing."

"I want to thank the students for their grand response," Babe said. "It shows that the contest was well worthwhile. All of the songs that were submitted were good and we plan to sing them all, not just the winning ones."



Sharp-shinned hawks catch more sparrows than do sparrow hawks.

The monetary unit of Costa Rica is the colon.

Stardust in your "Bonnet"?

We mean "captured stardust" or Roger & Gallet dry perfume. Just put some of this powdered perfume between two thin layers of cotton and suddenly tuck it in your "bonnet". It's the cutest surest way of keeping your favorite Roger & Gallet scent with you all the time. Your hair will be fragrant with "captured stardust."

Six exciting scents — Night of Delight — Fleurs d'Amour — Bien Que Heureux — Jade — Sandalwood and Violette, priced at $1.25.

ROGER & GALLET

Heirloom Sterling

FROM GENERATION TO GENERATION

Here is silver that becomes a most cherished possession. Silver that you'll enjoy using through the years. Brides who select it today will find individual Place Settings a most convenient way to start their service.

6-PIECE PLACE SETTINGS Start at $20.96

20% Fed. Tax Inc.

Design shown is the VIRGINIAN

*Trademark of Gorham Ltd., Mfr.

W. W. PUTNAM Registered Jewelers AMERICAN GEM SOCIETY

308 No. Monroe Street

Sideline Squints

With Florida's cold streak about to snap, and with Thanksgiving just around the corner, FSC's mermaids, archers, modern dancers, hockey and soccer players, and color rush enthusiasts, are working to capacity in order to be at top form for the holiday festivities.

Class games, which begin next week will climax practice that has been going on for four weeks. These games will be a determining factor in deciding the members of the Odd and Even teams. The hockey games will be played on Monday and Wednesday and the soccer games on Tuesday and Thursday at 5 o'clock.

Looking at the hockey teams, the Evens appear potentially stronger at present with the hulwark of the team being built around experienced seniors such as Evelyn Stuckey, Shirley Duggan, Jane Lyles, Sarah Bennett, Anna Giese and Frankie Hall.

Injected with "new blood" this year, Nita Nord, Odd leader, boasts fifty freshmen and juniors out, and from these try-outs, Nita is building a strong team with the juniors leading the way. Marion Looby, one of last year's outstanding hockey players has switched from hockey to soccer and her services will be greatly missed by the Odds this year.

Reinforced by a new coach, Miss Lois Ver Hoeven, and new freshmen talent, the Odds should field a powerful and capable soccer team for Thanksgiving. According to Virginia Pickens, Odd leader, her freshmen have shown remarkable job of learning the game. Along with the freshmen are the juniors who comprise the forward line for the Odds. Every member of last year's Odd line has returned and with the addition of Marion Looby, Virginia's charges should be comparatively strong. However, the Odds' glaring weakness is in the backfield where freshmen dominate the positions. One of the more promising Odd backfield players is freshman Pauline Tuttle of West Palm Beach, who incidentally is one-half of the Florida double's tennis championship dollar last year, with Jane Hunter as partner.

Catherine Gallagher, Even soccer leader, has led the Evens through a successful practice season. Although the Evens do not have as many out as the Odds, the girls are well-seasoned and should be up to, if not better than last year's team. From this corner it looks as if this year's soccer game should be as good as the 0-0 game last spring.

IT SEEMS TO ME . . .

That WAA's passage of the motion to use umpires and referees who are officially rated for Odd-Even games whenever possible, regardless of whether or not they coached a team is a move towards better playing here at FSC. For, as Babe Evans pointed out, the whole state of Florida is crying for nationally rated officials and yet we've had them here on campus and have neglected to use them in the past, because of their association with an Odd or an Even team. There are eight nationally rated officials in the physical education department. However, these ratings do not cover every sport.

A SUGGESTION FROM THIS COLUMNIST . . .

Why don't the soccer teams wear shin guards in the Odd-Even game this year and every year, for that matter? The equipment is available. It might save many bruises and cuts in the long run. Soccer rules permit these guards to be used.

JOKE OF THE WEEK . . .

Miss Lois Ver Hoeven, new Odd coach, and a 1944 graduate of Purdue, had never seen a sailboat up until last weekend. Miss Ver Hoeven went to camp and promptly proceeded to go out on the lake in a sailboat, leaving out the rudder. About half way across the lake, her blunder was discovered and she and her companion were forced to resort to the use of paddles to return to the dock. Why did she forget the rudder? Because as Miss Ver Hoeven said, "I wouldn't have known the rudder if I had seen it."

ORCHIDS TO . . .

F Club for their successfully conducted song writing contest which produced many good school songs.

New Seasonal Fad

Continued From Page One

there still remains the problem of cracking it. There are those handy souls who can practically disintegrate a nut by merely clenching their fist about it. A few revert to the old standby, of shoe-on -nut-and -everything -on-the-sidewalk method. One wise sophomore is never without nutcracker. (She says it's grand for opening bottles and hammering nails.)

Just how this all started, no one can authoritatively state. Perhaps someone told the girls that it was their patriotic duty to keep our campus clean.

Music Association

Continued From Page One

Goddings. One of the founders of the Interlocker, Dr. Giddings formerly directed more than 86,000 children in public school music in Minnesota.

Members of the school of music at FSC who with Dean Kuersteiner attended the convention, include: Mary Margaret Bell, Mrs Ramona Beard, Misses Etta Robertson, Mary Winslow, Gladys Koch, Florine Marlatt, Charlotte Cooper, Mary Reeder, Patricia Mullett, Mary Dunn and Zadie Phipps.

New Odd-Even

Continued From Page One

as chairman of the committee that will plan the Even tables at Thanksgiving dinner and Irma Lee Shepherd to be in charge of the Even freshman booth which will open Thursday in lower Westcott.

Other freshman-junior activities include plans for the sale of the traditional Odd caps and lanterns, which will also begin Thursday and the selection of committees to supervise decorating the fountain and planning the Odd Thanksgiving tables. In charge of decorating and selling at the booth in lower Westcott will be Virginia Palmer.

Chairmen of the table committees include Sarah Ellen Glenn and Barbara Mann, placecards and favors, and Lois Meriwether, invitation and seating arrangements. Mae Manning and Lena Harding will be in charge of decorating the Odd fountain.

Then he brandished a long knife and robbed the woman of two diamond rings and a wrist watch.

M & N CAFE
OPEN DAY & NIGHT
Steaks—Sea Foods
Shore Orders at All Hours
119 E. Jefferson Phone 1054

RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES:

TRAIN FOR A CAREER WITH THE
Johnston O'Conner Research Foundation
11 E. 62nd St. New York, 21
N. Y. Fellowship Basis, $45.00 a Month

F Club Goats Give Banquet

Bluebird Theme and Camp Climaxes Hell Week

Climaxing the F Club hell week will be a banquet given tonight by the goats in Landis dining hall. After the dinner, members will meet to decide which of the goats are to be sent to camp to join the club. Sarah Bennett said. The old and new members will go to camp Plastacowo Saturday for the weekend.

Today is the day that F Club members wear white with their letter, but the goats are blue devils. They wear all blue, chirp like a bluebird, sing "Am I Blue?," and "talk a blue streak" all day. They also drag the goats they made. At noon today will be the parade of the goats.

At the banquet tonight, goats are to wear evening gowns, horns, saddle shoes, and sarah tries to get their goats with the blue horns.

During this past week the last week of initiation, Shirley Duggan and Sarah Bennett, goat trainers, reported that they had to be Sarah's room at 8:10 every morning. If the girls were one minute early or one minute late, they had to carry a clock with them all day. Goats could use no profanity during hell week.

Each week has to carry a raw egg and eat it sometime prior to it by tomorrow. Members often play catch with the egg while the goat looks on, praying that they won't drop it, Sarah said. Also during hell week, goats must also dress members by their whole title—Most Honorable, distinguished and esteemed F Club member; and polish at least one member's shoes daily.

At the 8:10 meetings, the goats had to line up according to originality, color of eyes, size of nose, or bowleggedness. Then they were told how they were to dress that day and at exactly 9 o'clock to assemble their costume. Effie, the lamp post outside of Landis dining hall, had to be dressed the same way as the other goats each day.

Monday, the goats appeared as pirates wearing eye patches, black patches over the left eye, leather jackets, and boots. The goat with the largest feet was allowed to wear the traditional F Club boots, Sarah said. That day, the girls carried swords, repeated "touche" when they saw a member, and walked out of the side of their mouths.

Singing original words to the tune "Old Rocking Chair," the goats dressed as old ladies in grey with shawls, cotton stockings, and black shoes on Tuesday. Each girl carried a cane and greeted members by saying in a weary voice "I am looking for youth as I raise cane."

Pete laureates of F club was the theme for Wednesday. On that day, goats wore smocks, barrels, aprons, monocles, and talked with an English accent. Each time a goat said "By Jove," the monocle fell out of her eye. Original books of poetry was part of the requirement for the day.

Yesterday goats appeared as Donald Ducks. The costume for the day was a blue coat, Donald Duck hat, and webbed feet. They walked with a waddle and ducked every time they saw a member.

The theme of the F Club goat sing, which was held last Friday night after dinner on the hill in back of Jennie Murphree, was "the spirit of '45."

Goats, clad in sheets came over the hill singing, "Where Babe Evans, president of F Club, said, "Each girl sang the goat song which she is required to write some time during the goating period, about F Club.

Members warmed themselves around the large fire and enjoyed the marshmallows passed by the goats during the sing, Babe said.

Kappa Delta Wins Volley Ball Finals

Kappa Delta girls won the finial victory in Intramural volley ball yesterday afternoon when they topped their close competitors, Gilchrist hallp layers, with a score of 31 to 27.

Last Tuesday afternoon Kappa Delta tied the Village with a 25 to 25 score, and Wednesday, Kappa Delta won the play-off game, and became the challenger of Gilchrist, the other un-beaten team of the volley ball season.

The victorious girls of the Kappa Delta sorority team who won the final game yesterday are: Betsy Wilson, Lois Wilson, Ann Mikell, Margaret Olson, Jeanette Chapman, Jean Wilson, Marjorie Woodberry, and Joan Sparkman.

The battle-cry beat Gilchrist players are: Betty Sue Grey, Mary Louise Van Natta, Elizabeth Harper, Emily Harper, Josephine Story, Gweneth Duden, Loretta Pfoertsch, and Mary Ferfeal.

Juanita Bowles refereed the game and Peggy Grimsley was time-keeper.

Military Training

Continued from page one

military conscription. He said that although it might reap no immediate dividends it would certainly be worthwhile if it saved us from another war.

On the other hand, Mr Vance said he felt it would be disastrous should we embark on the militarism which we have always condemned in Europe and which tending to adopt, he said, the very thing we have always fought against.

After both speakers had presented their opinions on the subject for discussion the members of the audience were permitted to ask questions. A student asked Dr Rogers how a year of military training would affect a young man's education. Dr Rogers replied that, in his opinion, a year of the first 12 years of school was wasted, anyway, and that two years could be profitably replaced by a year of military training.

One student asked Mr Vance what the fate of the United States would be if it did not have military conscription and did not have England and Russia as buffers as they did in this war. "In other words," she said, "what if some nation should attack us and just say 'Here it is, brother, it's your war'?" Mr Vance answered that a large standing army would not stop bombs, and that, as he saw it, the solution still lay in having a strong navy and air force.

A student suggested that life insurance, being a cooperative plan, could be compared to compulsory military conscription unless such conscription should become international. Another student added that if the United States should adopt such a plan, all other countries would immediately feel the necessity for a similar provision.

Dr Rogers and Mr Vance agreed that education for Christian-ization of the world was the answer to the prevention of future wars. Dr Rogers went on to say, however, that until such an ideal could be realized, he felt that we should take other precautions. They also agreed that the only European nation with which the United States might go to war is Russia, and that war with Russia is highly unlikely for many years to come.

Meet Your Friends at BENNETT'S
Fountain - Luncheonette

SANDWICHES

GRILLED CHEESE	20c
CHICKEN SALAD	25c
BAKED HAM	25c
GRILL HAMBURGER	20c
GRILLED HOT DOG	10c

SODAS—AND—SUNDAES

Chocolate Fundge Sundae	20c
Pineapple Sundae	25c
Chocolate Soda	15c
Large Limeade	05c

BENNETT'S

COLLEGE INN PHARMACY
PHONE 800
MONROE ST. PHARMACY
PHONE 93
FAST MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

Exam Schedule

Group examinations for certain classes with multiple sections will be held as follows:

Health Education 105	10, — 5:05	to 5:55
Physical Science —	11, — 9:05	to 10:25
Humanities —	" — 10:35	to 11:55
History 101 —	" — 12:05	to 12:55
Soc Studies 101 —	" — 2:05	to 3:25
English 101, 105 —	" — 3:35	to 4:25
Biological Science —	" — 4:35	to 4:25
Physical Ed 121, 131 —	12, — 5:05	to 5:55

Examination

Continued from pag.: one

History 101 may have its examination scheduled for Tuesday, December 11. Classes carrying one, two, or three hours' credit should schedule examinations for one class period. Four and five hour courses may use two class periods for examination. A class having an examination earlier in the week may have a short supplementary test in the last class hour of the quarter, and classes will meet during the last week at the regularly scheduled hour even though the examination may have already been held.

All students are required to attend all classes on the last day on which they have classes preceding a holiday or vacation.

A schedule for group examinations for certain classes with multiple sections can be found on the back page.

Forum Topic

Continued From Page One

the Flambeau office, announced Betty Dowd, club secretary. Business at this time will be the election of a president to replace last year's officer who did not return to school this quarter and the formation of plans for the coming year.

Games Scheduled

At a meeting of the Women's Athletic Association on Wednesday night, the schedule for hockey and soccer class games was decided. On November 13 and 14 hockey will be played and on November 12 and 15 soccer will take the spotlight. All who wish to participate in the class games must have ten practice points and be in "A" health.

Survival

Continued From Page One

deposits most of its load, sighs of relief and exhaustion can be heard from the remaining passengers, while the driver loses about one and contrives on his way with a bun that is many pounds lighter.

The ride back to school is much the same performance, but no one seems to mind too much. On arriving at the front gate of the school, the driver says his good night as he cries "Old Maids' Home, last stop," while the girls scream out, cheerful and not the least bit discouraged.

Officers Urge

Continued from Page One

housemeeting. Rose Mayhew was elected to fill the office of secretary of Broward, and Elizabeth Hunter was elected parliamentarian. Dormitory sponsors for this year were announced at the Landis housemeeting. They are: Miss Mildred Finnegan, assistant professor of French. Miss Elizabeth Thomson, instructor in speech, and Dr Claude R Flory, professor of English.

Playnight Features Individual Talent

Playnight this Saturday night will feature a program of individual talent under the direction of Marguerite Ross and Dot Carter announced Anne Widenmaier, chairman of Playnight committee.

Hostesses will be Jane Carey, Betty Jean Phillips, Thera Sellers, Norma Chalker and Bobbie Burnsed. The publicity committee for this Saturday night entertainment is Elaine Perrymore, Nancy Birnam and Kay Moore. In charge of arranging for the chaperones is Harriet Nesbitt.

Playnight committee has announced a program of good works for dancing in the gymnasium and students are invited to get away from their studies and relax for a few hours. Girls who dates are reminded to get out cards to be presented at the door.

'To Err Is Human'

The Flambeau wishes to correct a statement made in last week's issue regarding the resignation of Miss Elizabeth Thomson, instructor in speech. Miss Thompson has not resigned as instructorship as was so stated.

Three Torches Beauty Shop

WE CAN FILL ALL YOUR REQUIREMENTS FOR BEAUTICIAN WORK

JUST ACROSS THE STREET FROM THE EDUCATION BLDG.

103 S. Copeland Phone 885

THE WORLD'S MOST HONORED WATCH

Longines

WINNER OF 10 WORLD'S FAIR GRAND PRIZES, 19 GOLD MEDALS AND MORE HONORS FOR ACCURACY THAN ANY OTHER TIMEPIECE

THE CAMPUS

THE MOST HONORED WATCH IN THE WORLD

DO YOU KNOW YOUR ABC's

SIGNE HASSO

Signe Hasso (Mrs. Peter Ustinov) and star in currently appearing Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film "The House on 92nd Street."

Always Buy Chesterfield

Take your pick. Name any pleasure you enjoy in a cigarette. You'll find them all in Chesterfield's A B C: A—ALWAYS MILDER, B—BETTER TASTING and C—COOLER SMOKING.

The point is: Chesterfield's famous Right Combination . . . World's Best Tobaccos gives you ALL the benefits of smoking pleasure.

They Satisfy

Chesterfield CIGARETTES

ALWAYS MILDER BETTER TASTING COOLER SMOKING

Copyright 1945, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Gobble, Gobble — Z 100 — The Florida Flambeau — Hubba, Hubba

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Tallahassee, Florida

VOL. XXXIII, No. 6 — NOVEMBER 16, 1945

Tickets For Thanksgiving Now Available

Students Can Obtain Them For Demonstrations, Tarpon, Dance

Distribution Begins Today in Longmire Building

Tickets for Thanksgiving activities, including both demonstrations, Tarpon club performances and the Thanksgiving dance, will be distinguished at table on the ground floor of the Longmire building today, tomorrow and Monday.

Anne McDonald, chairman of the ticket committee, has announced that Dorms may get tickets this afternoon from 2 until 5:30 o'clock. Odds are to get their tickets tomorrow morning between the house of 9 and 1 and tomorrow from 2 until 5 o'clock. Both Odds and Evens may secure tickets Monday afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock.

Since the seating capacity of the auditorium is not large enough to accommodate the entire student body, Evens will be entitled to tickets to the dress performance of Even demonstration on Thanksgiving night, to either of the Tarpon club performances, and to the first performance of Odd demonstration.

No tickets to attend the Odd-Even games in Doak Campbell Saturday are necessary.

It has been necessary, according to Anne, to distribute the tickets for the Tarpon programs among the dorms in proportion to the percentage of the classes to be found in each dorm. The first members of each class asking for Tarpon tickets on Friday and Saturday will get them. However, no tickets will be required for admittance to the Tarpon performance to be given on Sunday, November 25 at 4 p.m.

Each student is expected to call for her own ticket unless she is to be out of town or in the infirmary on the day that is scheduled to receive her ticket, in which case another student will be permitted to call for her ticket.

Any students expecting alumnae tickets should call Anne Barnes.

Continued on Page Four

Alumnae Tickets

Students who are expecting alumnae for the Thanksgiving weekend are asked to stop by the Alumnae office immediately to reserve tickets for the Demonstrations, Tarpon Club and Thanksgiving dinner.

There are a limited number of Thanksgiving dinner tickets on sale in the Alumnae office, and no dinner ball room can be made until a ticket is bought.

Even Talent Ready to Go

Broadway Is Next Stop After Campus Success

Even Demonstration is lined up and all ready to go next Thursday night according to the Evens in charge, with Broadway as the next stop.

Slight hitches-ups are all that are necessary before the big night, and the Evens are confident that the theme gets better and better with every preview.

Jackie Belcher and Odell Hazlehurst are the ones with musical parts includes: Doris Musselman, Carol Cross, Barbara Fennell, Eugenia Booth, Martha Nell Booth, Pat Harrison, Betty Ann Archer, Anne Pifield, Ann Tucker, June Armistead, Mary Frances Powell, Jean DeBrevise, La Ferne Quinn, Naomi Vaught, Anne Lindsay, Kathrine Conover, Betty Hart, Beryl Lou Brown, Blanche Wedon, Betty Vaughn, Janet Robertson, Sarah Daughtery, Ann Shilson, Sarah Daughtery, Ann Shilson,

Continued on Page Four

Thanksgiving Tables Planned by Students

Information Available Today In Longmire Building

For the first time the students, under the direction of Sptrogtrn and Esteren, are in complete charge of arrangements for dining in, preventing duplication on, and confusion in the Thanksgiving table lists: the dining hall staff and Residence counselors find it impossible to handle these seating arrangements according to the plan of previous years.

A Thanksgiving information table will be available this afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 and tomorrow from 1:30 to 2:30, on the ground floor of the Longmire building, for persons desiring information in addition to that which may be obtained at house meetings Monday night and at the Tuesday night convocation.

All table lists have been turned in to house presidents and opportunity will be granted this third light flash last night, according to the announcement made by Betty Alexander, invited guests at Thanksgiving dinner to "out of town" students and to faculty members of Florida State College.

Students, Faculty Attend Music Clinic

Several Florida State College students and faculty members are planning to attend the Tampa Educators' Association and which will be held Friday, Saturday and Tuesday

The work in music will be vocal, orchestral, and band with a large number participating in each. There will be a chorus of 1,000 a band of about 400, and an orchestra of 100.

The students taking part in the convention are seniors who are majoring in music in this field. These students are Sidney Conner, Hugh Gilbert, Annabelle Redwine, Jackie Floyd Jones, Jane Gaertner, Pwyn Trawick, Marion Gaertner, and Ann Hall.

Faculty members attending will be Miss Marjorie Truman, Miss Charlotte Cooper, Miss Florine Marlatt, Miss Ruth Byrne, Professor Gordon Sellers, and Dean Karl Kuersteiner.

Professors Address Alumnae Meetings

Dr Harold P Richards, professor of physics, and Florence R Tryon, instructor in history, will spoke this week at one of the series of alumnae meetings being held all over the state.

Miss Tryon addressed the Women's club at Jacksonville on relations with Latin America, Tuesday night, and Professor Richards spoke Miss Tryon spoke to the Alumnae association about the college.

Also on Wednesday, Dr Richards spoke at an alumnae banquet held in St Petersburg at the Pennsylvania hotel. This meeting was arranged by Mrs J D Wood (Marjorie McClure '40), president of the St Petersburg Alumnae club, and Mary Cotton '43), secretary.

Tallahassee Girls See Bulldogs Meet Gators in Jax Game

Football is king—even at Florida State College, strictly for Women. FSC students testified to that fact last weekend when they journeyed to Jacksonville to watch old rivalries renewed as the Gators met the Bulldogs in the traditional Georgia-Florida football game.

The blue and gold pennants of Florida and Georgia's red and black bedecked the city, which with the sudden influx of the University crowd took on all the appearances of an old fashioned college town.

Odd-Even rivalry was temporarily forgotten as students joined the rat-capped boys from Gainesville in cheering on the team in the Saturday afternoon. University pennants and ribbons and girls sported huge yellow chrysanthemums strung with blue and gold ribbons.

"Tally was never like this!" exclaimed one girl as she left the last whistle blew. She was assiduously attempting to board a bus actually crowded—with room.

Saturday night, although the game was over, the football crowd was once more in evidence. The evening saw a number of Tally girls and also Florida "daties" flocking to a special dance at the

Continued on Page Four

Senate Hears Report Of Social Standards

CGA Housemeeting Programs Evaluated in Meeting

Senate business this week centered about a report from the Social Standards Council and a discussion on the house government association programs which were presented in the Tuesday night house meetings. The meeting of Senate took place in the Longmire building conference room Wednesday afternoon at 5 p m.

The discussion of the Social Standards Council, Alice Walton, presented a reported on that organization's duties and activities.

Senate also did not pledge as much as the intend to give, and there are still a few housemeeting returns," said Jessie, when questioned concerning the progress of the drive. Senate will hold a meeting the week of November 26 through the December 1 to collect tables in Westcott where people may pay their pledges. After December 1, all pledges not collected will be considered delinquent.

The drive was started with the speech of Dr J Hunley Dupre, executive secretary of WSSF, in convocation October 30. At house meetings students spoke about WSSF and also Senate met and pledged to students for them to pledge the amount they intended to give during this month. Last year's WSSF drive lasted only a week but the period of the drive this year is to obtain an average contribution of a few dollars from each student budgeted over the entire month of November. All pledges will be due December 1.

Relief, rehabilitation, and reconstruction help in the world distress by American students to students around the world since 1937. Now that the war is over the needs of

Continued on Page Four

WSSF Drive Totals $1300 in Pledges

A total of $1300 has been pledged up to the present time in the World Student Service Fund by students at Florida State College, according to Jessie McCalla, president of WSSF at FSC.

"Some students did not pledge as much as the intend to give, and there are still a few housemeeting returns," said Jessie, when questioned concerning the progress of the drive. Senate will hold a meeting the week of November 26 through the December 1 to collect tables in Westcott where people may pay their pledges. After December 1, all pledges not collected will be considered delinquent.

The drive was started with the speech of Dr J Hunley Dupre, executive secretary of WSSF, in convocation October 30. At house meetings students spoke about WSSF and also Senate met and pledged to students for them to pledge the amount they intended to give during this month. Last year's WSSF drive lasted only a week but the period of the drive this year is to obtain an average contribution of a few dollars from each student budgeted over the entire month of November. All pledges will be due December 1.

Relief, rehabilitation, and reconstruction help in the world distress by American students to students around the world since 1937. Now that the war is over the needs of

Continued on Page Four

Dickson Will Appear Here Monday Night

Star of Radio, Opera and Concert Makes Second Appearance Here

Students Have Last Chance To Secure Tickets

Donald Dickson, baritone, will sing at Florida State College in Westcott auditorium Monday night at 8:15, as the third Artist Series attraction of the season.

Students who failed to get seat reservations by the designated date will be given a chance to secure these seats Monday night at 7:15 at the box office in Westcott.

Dickson, star of radio, opera, and concert, first appeared in Tallahasee in 1939.

The first part of the program will be sixteenth and seventeenth century poems set to music by modern composers. Selected included in this are "There Is a Lady" by Winifred Welles, "The Bailiff's Daughter" by Frederick Corder, "Has Sorrow Thy Young Days Shaded" by Hermann Huhns, and "Good Ale" by Peter Warlock.

German accompaniments make up the second division of the program. Those included are: "Die Mainacht" by Johannes Brahms, by Hugo Wolf, "Hat Dich Die Liebe Berrurt" by Robert Schumann Durch Die Daemmerung" by Strauss and "Es Werde Licht" by Erich Wolff.

The third part of the program will be piano selections by Clarence Stevens, soloist and accompanists to Mr Dickson. He will play four pieces by Chopin. After

Continued on Page Four

Donald Dickson, baritone, will appear in Westcott auditorium Monday night at 8:15 as an Artist Series feature.

Atomic Energy Is Forum Topic

Faculty Speakers Stress World Cooperation

World cooperation, socially, economically and politically, was advanced as the main solution to problems presented by hte atomic era by speakers at the Press club forum last night in the clubroom of the Longmire building. In opening this discussion, entitled "If the People of the Atomic Age," Dr Harold P Richards, professor of physics, stated that the international commission to control the threat of atomic destruction proposed yesterday by the United States and Canada is a fine step in the right direction.

"If the outcome is to be conducive to world peace and progress, this conference will, however, be the full effect of an enlightened public opinion," he said. "We must avoid any appearance of an armament race or of using our knowledge of the bomb as a club in international negotiations and at the same time obtain the benefits of the new power sees for atomic energy," Dr Richards added.

In a new, more powerful international court and disarmament

Continued on page three

Caps and Feathers Are Bought Rapidly

Sales of caps and feathers from the Odd and Even booths in Westcott have surpassed even those of last year, it was learned yesterday $100 during the first day.

The theme of the Even booth this year is "The Garden of Even". Even feathers have been made to form a tree which is enclosed by a fence. Outside of the fence is a red, white, and purple snake with the words "I'll never ret in" written across its back.

"Thanksgiving" is the theme chosen by the Odds for their booth. A huge horn of plenty covered with red, white, and purple paper extends from the center of the booth and Odd caps are placed in and sold from the top of the horn. Brightly colored lanterns are suspended from the sides of the booth.

Each booth has the advantages of both Odds and Evens over each other are placed on either side of the hall around the booths.

Tarpon Movie Short Is Current Feature At Florida Theater

"Campus Mermaids" is the name of the Tarpon club short which has brought nation-wide attention to Florida State College and which is currently appearing at a Tallahassee theatre.

This Grantland Rice production pictures swimming and diving at the Wakulla Springs under the direction of Rod Warren and Russ Ervin.

Shooting began last May when Tarpon members posed for campus shots around Westcott and Dorms of Leads Ave. On the last night of their stay, a dance was given in the girls honor at the Wakulla at the Lodge with officers from Dale Mabry field invited.

Underwater formations used in the short were flower patterns, the Tarpon circle with diving in the center of it. Dives used in the short, a head and a half, and a back dive. A combination of back rolls,

Continued on Page Four

Professors Discuss Allied Organization

United Nations Charter Is Topic of IRC Forum

At a meeting of the International Relations Club last Thursday night Miss Daisy Parker, instructor in the social science, Mr Earl Vance, associate professor of English and journalism, and Dr Harold Richards, professor of physics, spoke on topics related to the United Nations Organization.

Miss Parker outlined the 19 divisions of the United Nations Organization Charter and pointed out some of the more possible weaknesses inherent in it.

Mr Vance talked of the difficulties to be overcome if the charter is to work and another war to be prevented. The solution of these difficulties included the establishment of international law, international court advancement, toward a sound economic system. "The material needs of any people," said Mr Vance, "must be met before peace can be guaranteed."

Dr Irish summarized the steps taken by the United Nations Organization, from the conference at Dumbarton Oaks through the Potsdam conference.

During the discussion that followed one of the conclusions reached was that the United Nations Organization had little or no effect in the question of civil strife. Opinion was given on the issue of the disposal of the atomic bomb with the possible suggested topic of peacetime conscription accordins to Dolores Gardner, president of the IRC, in charge of the program at this meeting.

Homecoming Week Festivities To Feature Odd-Even Rivalry, Demonstrations and Dance

Hockey-Soccer to Replace Basketball-Volleyball; Dr Shores to Speak Thanksgiving Day; Band to Perform Between Games

For the first time in the history of Florida State College the annual Thanksgiving celebration will be high-lighted by Odd-Even hockey and soccer games instead of the traditional basketball and volley ball.

In anticipation of the large crowds who will attend the Thanksgiving celebration at FSC, the Homecoming Week festivities will begin on Tuesday night with the presentation of the first of two Even Demonstrations to be followed by the first Odd Demonstration on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

Thanksgiving night the Evens will give the second performance of their Dem leaving the Evens Monday night free for the second Odd Dem. After the Dema Thursday and Friday night Tarpon club will ligve their annual performance.

Thanksgiving Day will begin on campus with a bang as the runners in the traditional Turkey Trot line their toes for the buildings at the pistol shot at 7:30. Ending duration will be the week-end will be the annual Thanksgiving dance to be held Saturday night at 9 o'clock in the Physical Education building.

The games will be played Saturday afternoon on the Athletic field which will provide almost unlimited seating for the students and alumnae. Soccer will be played at 2:30 and hockey game will begin at 4 o'clock. Between the games the FSC Band will play and give a concert.

At the annual Thanksgiving service to be held in Westcott auditorium Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, Dr Venilla L Shores, professor of religion will deliver the address. A litany of Thanksgiving will be led by Sarah Lewis, and Dr Doak Campbell will give a prayer and benediction. FSC Glee club will sing Shilling's Recessional with Joyce Funke as soloist.

Breakfast in the dining hall will be served Thanksgiving morning from 8:15 to 9:45. Dinner will be served at three different hours for the individual dining-rooms. Dinner in Landis will be served

Continued on Page Four

Odds to Show Talent in Dem

Nell Clark Predicts Unique Presentation of Teams

Odd demonstration, which will be presented next Wednesday and Friday nights, will be highlighted by the presentation of the teams in a way which, according to Nell Clark, chairman of the demonstration will be unique.

There is a lot of talent in the freshman class, as well Nell as she says. "I'm in a state of unprecedented elation over the talent displayed by the freshman class. Those freshmen are just plain valis sequis-superlative."

Among the promising among the new talent seems to be a freshman trio consisting of Hazel Clarkson, Lucia Bellamy, and Ruth Kennedy who sing in harmony.

The ad-libbing done by Kay Van Deurs, Nancy Wright, and Bookie McMichael during the play practices promises to be equalled only by such former

Continued on Page Four

Bob Zubrod Heads First Aid Classes

"Uncle Bob" Is Giving Talks To Life Saving Courses

Mr Robert "Uncle Bob" Zubrod, Red Cross field representative, is now on Florida State College campus conducting faculty classes in first aid and life saving, and is also giving scheduled talks to the life saving classes. He arrived on Monday, November 5 and will remain until December. November 17.

Since 1942 Mr Zubrod has conducted two yearly Red Cross courses, and has had charge of the entire Red Cross program on campus. Miss Katherine L Cienis, physical education instructor, has been assisting Mr Zubrod to give the water safety course, and Dr Katherine Montgomery of the physical education department is instructor in first aid and accident prevention. Mr Zubrod's faculty on campus is the initiating of the several Red Cross courses.

His second visit to campus will be from March 11 until March 15, during which time he will give examinations in these courses.

In his talk to the senior life saving class yesterday morning at 7:30, Mr Zubrod outlined the history of life saving, and the responsibility of the lifesaver to the Red Cross.

He stated, "A career in life saving remains incomplete until the life saver has gained actual experience by rendering life guard wherever she is needed. Only half the course is given in the pool and the rest is through a guarding, through using her training in service. Red Cross activities on the college, ran the other essential half of the course be added."

3 Faculty Members To Attend Meeting

Three teachers from Florida State College will attend a joint committee meeting of the Florida Academy of Sciences and the Florida Historical Society in Gainesville this week, according to Dr Raymond F Bellamy, professor of sociology.

Miss Bessie Leal of Miss Sadie Young, assistant professor of economics will attend for the Florida Academic of Sciences. Miss Daisy Parker, instructor in political science, was appointed by the Florida Historical Society as representative at this meeting.

The purpose of the committee meeting is to make final arrangements for a meeting of the Florida Academy of Sciences to be held at Gainesville December 7 and 8," said Dr Bellamy.

Thanksgiving Plans Outlined in Convo

The Odds victors in a straw drive on campus yesterday last Tuesday night won the right to present their demonstration on the covered night before the Thanksgiving games.

Numerous announcements concerning Thanksgiving holiday celebrations were read by Ann Allen, president of the Senate. Resolutions concerning the Thanksgiving dance on the Saturday night, November 24. In the gymnasium were given.

Bill Sinclair announcements, Mrs Frances Luce, Episcopalian student secretary, FSC, graduate of 1938 said that Thanksgiving is the one holiday which FSC celebrates as a united community and added that "if we think we must carry a turkey in the air of 1945. We will surely find true Thanksgivings in our hearts."

In the announcement of the audience, she pictured herself as an old gray mare remembering on the "Lincoln Zephyrs" of '46. She said it would be about as appropriate for her to tell students of 1945 about Thanksgiving traditions as it would be for an old gray mare to tell Lincoln Zephyrs "how to get to Sopchopp". She said, however, a present understanding of the meaning of these traditions is the birth of which we as experienced them and has had the opportunity to realize how much they would mean in the years after graduation.

Honorary Pledges

Kappa Delta Pi education honorary pledged five new members recently at a meeting held in the Club Room of the Longmire Building.

Pledges are Hilda Carolyn Dodson, Geraldine Anna Hansen, Mary Frances Powell, Mary Ann Turner, and Erin Poythress.

The pledge service was conducted by Harriet McCarter, publicity chairman, in the place of Miss Edna Parker assistant professor of education and president of the society.

After the pledge service there was a short business meeting, and refreshments of tea, cookies, and nuts were served.

Traditional Thanksgiving Festivities Had Beginning in 1910; Familiar Yells, Mysterious Preparations Evident Once More

By LAURA LEE BUTLER

"Yea, Team, Yea" the red, white and purple!" "Hail to the green and white!" These are familiar cheers when Odds and Evens will clash in the traditional series of events that ushers in Thanksgiving at FSC, College's time-honored, festive Thanksgiving weekend. Cheers shouts as these once-more echo across the campus.

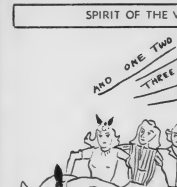
And girls mysteriously carry about everything from boxes to back-packs—destined for dark secrecy in the demonstration—and go dashing across campus from practice for color rush, then explain!, they are playing their part in a college tradition as old as the campus itself—approximately 35 years ago.

First beginnings of the Odd-Even rivalry and ancester of the present Thanksgiving Day was in 1910 when "young ladies" of the freshman and sophomore classes raised against those of the sophomore and senior by presenting skits in convocations deriding the opposing faction. In 1916 these productions began to assume the form known today but it was not until after the lull in such activities occasioned by World War I that the idea of elaborate musical comedies was first adopted.

A familiar campus tradition concerning the demonstrations had its origin in 1923, when the custom of giving a banquet to coincide upon the night for the respective "dems" was first established. Another popular superstition that the faction which drew Wednesday considered the more likely night, would present the better demonstration and win the game was not, however, begun until two years later. When in 1925 the Odd demonstration night was announced that she had found two pennies bearing an Odd date, her faction took this as a good omen and the resulting enthusiasm caused the floor of the old gymnasium to cave in.

The annual Thanksgiving pageant, which has come down the Odds approximately six years of coming-out party, is a clean account of all games for the Evens 12 times, first from 1910 to 1921 years ago. In 1941 the first present-making game pitted the college Odds against the junior normal school team and gave the former a clear victory.

Color runs in these games was customarily different from color rush, the present-day custom of Hell the week before Thanksgiving, it consisted of putting colors in the highest place possible on each building.



As a result of this, one year an enterprising girl crawled out on the roof of Bryan hall and from there hung a pair of red panties where she triumphantly posted her colors. Not to be outdone the Evens hung their panties, who lived in the lower room, procured a long pole and, using her colors to the end of it, leaned out of her window and raised them to the very top of the tower.

Later when girls ran for the buildings, all of them stood for everything. Leaving their rooms at the rising bell, they even ran to the dining hall lamp long the telephone poles. Dr Katherine Montgomery, head of the physical education department, was active in inaugurating in 1918 the system now used for color rush.

A step in the evolution of the Odd and Even colors also may be these early days. To show that the normal school had become included in the spirit, she took the added the schools colors, purple, to their own. Later Evens dropped back to green and gold, while the Odd team retained their new familiar red, white and purple.

A number of features now absent

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

DEM THINGS ARE GETTING ME DOWN

● UNITE IN THANKSGIVING

The first peace-time Thanksgiving in three years finds an extra note of joy in the air as the entire nation says a prayer of gladness for our servicemen who have returned and are returning from the world's battlefields.

The years of war and its consequences will leave its mark around the festive board in many an American home next Thursday. But we must consider that those who will not return to take their place in the family circle died just so that circle might still exist.

That first Thanksgiving was a scene of tranquility and peace, of a cessation of hostilities between the white man and the red, of a mutual working together for the common benefit.

Today, we are striving to achieve that status with our fellow man which our forefathers had. Once more hostilities have ceased. International committees, conferences, parleys —all are working together for the common benefit. But that tranquility and peace which our ancestors so cherished is being threatened by scattered uprisings, rebellious murmurs and narrow-minded "isms" and "ites."

We have a challenge—a challenge to unite and create an international feeling of "Peace on Earth, good will to men." given to us by those who gave their lives that democracy might live.

So let us answer this challenge and look forward to an unbroken chain of peace-time Thanksgivings—as we dust off the ole' Odd caps and Even feathers and enter this holiday season with a lighter heart.

● TRAINING OR EDUCATION

The majority of students claim they come to college to get an education. Then they settle down to a hard year of training, excluding all the education they can squeeze by without getting.

A simple definition of education would help young people to understand what they mean when they talk glibly of a "college education." A concise way of stating it is to say that education is learning to read on any subject, to understand the content, and to be able to express one's own ideas on the various subjects. This makes education a life-long project and not just a college project.

A definition of training is preparing in one specific field. It is possible to be labled as "educated" with a college diploma without being educated, but merely trained. A vocational school could do the same thing fo: one and save money and time.

Students fight education. They register for the required subjects and then select the essiest courses they can find to make out the necessary hours. They work for grades and not for knowledge. They don't take advantage of the opportunities put before them in the form of Artist Series, Forums, and a library crammed full of books.

The Artist Series on campus introduce students into a world that they don't properly appreciate. The Forums that formerly were sponsored regularly were never attended as they should have been. The library browsing room is seldom used by the majority of students.

A knowledge of current events can be had by daily newspapers, but young people read only the text assignments. When parallel reading is to be done, students skim through the required number of pages, just to ease their consciences when they hand in their reading reports. If the professors give examinations only on the text material, why pay attention to the content of the parallel material?

Education struggles to penetrate this attitude of people who do only what they have to do and fear they may learn something not required. To make good grades is their only desire; that has pushed itself above the desire to get good knowledge.

Upton Sinclair wanted an education and cared nothing for grades. He didn't want to be trained but to be educated. He would start a course, get a preliminary view of the subject and the list of required reading; then he would go off by himself to do the reading and look for more material on the subject just to satisfy his thirst for knowledge.

If students could learn to love books and have fun finding but new things from them, school would not seem a drudgery. If they would think of school as an opportunity and not as a duty, classes would be more interesting.

But, most important is the need for more young people who want ● go to college for the sake of an education and not for the purpose of preparing them to make a living.

● TO HAVE OR HAVE NOT

Early in the fall the question "Can those qualified seniors not living on Senior Hall enjoy designated special privileges when spending the night on the Hall?" was brought up in Senior Hall house meeting. The question was submitted to Executive Council, composed of faculty members and students, for study and ultimately an answer.

Until the verdict is reached seniors not living on Senior Hall may not use these special privileges. Because all girls who are rated as seniors in the Registrar's office are eligible for Senior Hall it seems to us that they should at least be permitted to enjoy these senior privileges when they have the occasion to spend the night on the Hall. There are various reasons why not all seniors live on Senior Hall, many of which are not voluntary but for cases of necessity. Sorority girls, for instance, help facilitate housing conditions on campus by living at their respective houses. Some students attended summer school thus becoming a qualified senior during that period; nevertheless their names did not appear on the official list at the time when rooms were being assigned. Seniors who signed up late and the above groups of students are just as entitled to senior privileges as those who live on Senior Hall, it seems to us.

Some few have expressed the opinion that girls might abuse the privilege; that is, spend the night on the Hall just to stay up or stay out later and maybe to take a shower at 11:20. In the first place, non-senior hall girls will not have too many chances to sojourn to the Hall to spend the night for there will not always be an extra bed elsewhere for the non-senior Hall occupy. In the second place, exercising privileges cannot be an abuse when legally all are entitled to live on Senior Hall. Then, too, who can say that visiting sailors, if granted these extra concessions, would abuse the privileges any more than do regular Senior Hall girls? It would be difficult, we think, to draw a line to distinguish "privileges enjoyed" and "privileges abused".

We trust each member of Executive Council will add to many seniors' happiness in granting them those few extra privileges, which they so rightfully deserve, when they have the opportunity to spend the night with their senior colleagues who reside on Senior Hall.

College Comments...

LA FERNE QUINN

Listen to this, girls, and groan, because the beer-guzzling trend has come to Emory, as evidenced by the healthy specimen one by one of the sex-starved male boys. If the movement grows as rapidly as the beard, the student body will soon look like a bunch of reincarnes from the Civil War.

The Emory Wheel

Doopatch came to Los Angeles City College last Wednesday when a Sadie Hawkins Day "girl drag boy" dance was held. Highlights of the dance included the lauding of dummy marriage licenses by a tattered "Marriage Hall" and the indulging of "kick-a-poo-joy-juice."

—Los Angeles Collegian

These two great intellectual statements come from the same place. Oh my goodness, such wit!

Seventy-five per cent of the girls today are working girls, the rest are women of the world.

Life is one fool thing after another; love is two fool things after another.

—The Branding Iron

Alumnae of 25 Years Join Thanksgiving Celebration

As "turkey day" rolls around again, Florida State College will again be hostess to the many reunion classes who will flock to join in the many festivities of this occasion. From all points east, west, north and south, loyal Odds and Evens of the past are now preparing to "dust off the green and gold" and "down the red and white" or vice-versa.

Although most of the "returning F S C veterans" are 44 and '45 graduates, there are still a number who are expected that are graduates of earlier years. Among these is Mrs Virginia Holland Gallemore, sister of ex-governor Spessard Holland. Mrs Gallemore is a graduate of 1913 and is now connected with the Polk County Record in Bartow. Her daughter, Virginia Fran, plans she will visit, is a freshman here at F S C.

An Odd number and an Odd daughter are Mrs Marie Underwood and her daughter Ann Shelton, also a freshman here. Underwood, another 1919 graduate, majored in Home Economics while at F S C, but is now post mistress at DeFuniak Springs.

Another expected graduate from the class of 1919 will be Edwine Conner.

Among 1920 and 1930 alumnae who are coming are: Johnette O Wallace, '29; Louise Verri Newton, '26; Rita Logan Wheeler, '29; Elizabeth Hall, '29; Teresa Myers, '23; Marion P Berry, '23; Mary Mosby, '33; Marjorie Fain Lowery, '36; Helen Cate, '37; Fran Lewis Luce, '38; Louise L Levis, '38; Marion Conn Bashinski, '38; Mary Reed Bridges, '39; Elouse Rhodes, '39; and Margaret Fisher, '39.

Anita Jackie Anthony will be the only alumnae from the class of 1940, and Margaret Clements, of the 41 class. Marion Swan-

Lawyer: "Why didn't you scream as soon as he touched you?"

Old Maid: "I didn't know he wanted my money."

—The Branding Iron,
University of Wyoming

Sixteen beauty nominees, four from each dorm at TSCW were guests at Texas A & M, where the final judging of the beauty contest was done by the entire Aggie corps. The girls attended the Aggie-Utah game and were presented at a huge Jamboree program and dance.

—The Lass-O, TSCW

But now we have an original joke of our own, which we stole. Bud: "I like a girl who can take a joke."

Art: "Then you stand a good chance of being accepted."

—The Utah Chronicle

"Oo dear, I've missed you so much!"—and she raised the revolver and fired again.

The Pantsique,
Georgia Tech

MAGAZINE JOTTINGS

By CATHERINE NOLLMAN
The Little Woman

The famous jester, Joe Miller, once boasted that he could make a joke on any subject. When challenged to make one about the King, then a dangerous thing to do, he replies, "Th. King, gentlemen, is no subject", thereby winning the bet. In this article "The Little Woman" published in the current issue of Harper's.

Wherein lectures, essayists, psychoanalysts, . . have nothing to talk, write, or analyze about they take up the subject of "Do Women-Are Women-? Women, although essentially always women, have taken different stands in different ages. In the Victorian era the Woman was a Wife and Mother and could faint at the sight of a mouse. Going into reverse the Woman became a Career Woman who could drink and Love smoke through her nose Says Miss Wylie, "Next to the dinosaur, Woman is probably nature's most outstanding failure. She has man thoroughly licked, however, in her ability to survive. Nevertheless whatever's wrong with her, successfully some man has done so much better — even done to hairdressing and cosmetics. Where there is biologically possible, men have been successful.

Yet Woman can't be studier than Man for look what mastic. It has come with the world. No sooner does he invent "one cure for the common cold" than he works out a new and better way to kill it. Consequently when penicillin versus the rocket-bomb Woman couldn't do any more than do a little research and makes only sporadic efforts and man lends her no help.

"Now Man has come to know that they have led him to such a mess of affairs he is mentally unbalanced and no wonder with one half of humanity "intellectually inert and chapter minded" quote." Although we know little about our brains it is known that it is fairly certain, says Miss Wylie, that Man has a better co-ordination in muscle and brain power. At that time they were traveling toward the moon. Then suddenly Woman sat down and waited for Man to come back and explain to her what on earth had happened. That Woman remained on the least line of research first was proved by Eve.

From Me To Y'all

SHARPIE

Here we are in the middle of November already and we can still remember way back when school was buzzing with all the Tempus really does fugit but that's about all that fugits these days. Remember when we had to sing about the junior birdmen? Now they're rare as the dodo. That's sorta. And that's just what everyone has been complaining about. Remember when some of the first letters have been the weepy, wish-I-were-a-coed-type.

This is one of the happy news for you love-lorn comes in. We got a letter last week from two sailors in Japan. They say, "Dear Madam, This is just one of those letters that you must do sometimes to get a little mail. I'm from the South and I know you like to hear from boys who have to have my name and my friends have written to you. Please write paper, also our descriptions, and a little note asking the girls to write us." We will be glad to do just the present time and don't expect to be here for the next couple months, so if you will help us out this much we will appreciate it very much.

This letter is signed Leo Claude Pilch, Pvt. and Joseph Antonelis and Charles C Blankenship, V2-c. If you are skeptical, here are descriptions which we took over before choosing someone to write to. First, we'll look at Al McGlohon. He's 21 yrs., eleven inches tall, weighs 185, has light brown hair and blue eyes. Charles Blankenship is five feet, eight and one-half inches tall, weighs 135, has light brown hair and blue eyes. Leo Groom is a blonde, five feet, seven inches tall, 21 yrs. old and weighs 145. Incidently, none of them are married!

We are all ready to go except for the address and it's written right here on my desk. You can all be stationed at the USS Mobile (CL63), care Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Calif.

This is the nicest thing I've done for you girls in many a day.

Here's a letter from a girl who wants to give credit where credit is due. She writes that she is tired of hearing dies about F club. Says she, "I like to see them dressed up in their F club sweaters but I'm not at the fish table." Well spoken. We like to get letters from people who can see some good in anything.

This next letter concerns a problem in etiquette which will be answered with Sharpie's usual finesse. "I left the belt to one of my favorite dresses in a more or less public place to dry. Someone has taken the belt and I am left with the dress which doesn't look nice without it. What is the proper'm is what to do now?" That is signed, "Perfect 34." With a delicate problem like this on her hands, "Perfect 34" must act with discretion. We would say that if she takes any pride at all in the appearance of her classmates, she would take the dress where she left the belt so that the new owner can be a well-dressed woman. Otherwise, she may wear the belt and have people think she stole it and this is considered very bad taste this season.

"Terrifically Tall" writes that she has a date for the Thanksgiving dance with a man whom we shall call, "Sorrily Short." She wants to know, "How can I look up to him?" Consultation one of those delicate problems that we hesitate to answer with our usual finesse. Perhaps a ladder will help pass on what Sharpie always says.

"To better to have loved a short man,
Than never to have loved a-tall."

News Is Received of Burhans, Mitchell

News has been received this week from Beverly Burhans and the former Cherry Mitchell, resident students of Florida State College.

According to information from Beverly Burhans, who is a 1945 graduate, has been accepted for a Rotel Cross scholarship in social work and will enter her graduate study at Tulane University soon. Scholarships are to be granted by the Red Cross carry an obligation of one year's employment with the Red Cross.

Cherry, now the wife of Donald Cook, political columnist for the Miami Herald, announced the birth of her Earl L. Vance, associate professor of Journalism announced the birth of her child. Also, in the letter written from London to be sent now is, Cherry said that she was now beginning a series of articles for the Sunday edition of the New York Herald Tribune.

Since leaving FSC three years ago, Cherry has been employed as the Office of War Information in Washington, D. C. She also did script-writing for a radio news service there before her marriage to Mr Cook.

In This Our Time

Gloria Reed
Java

The rebellion o 20,000 Indonesian soldiers and 100,000 other armed natives against the British in Java appeared to grow more fierce Foreign Minister Sostardjo of the "Indonesian Republic" sent a radio appeal to Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov asking for Russian intervention since he believes it is now apparent that Britain is paving the way "for the reimposition of Dutch rule in Indonesia." Reports from Indonesian generals were placed under arrest by British authorities on charges of violating Allied surrender orders by turning weapons and ammunition over to the Indonesians.

Washington Conference

In Washington Prime Ministers Atlee and Xing sat down to a conference with President Truman to attempt to reach a joint atomic energy control plan. President Truman has recently indicated that he wishes the bomb to be outside of politics. Atlee believes that it cannot be outlawed effectively and that the way to handle it is to put it under control of the United Nations security organization. It was indicated that if Russia were to be granted the secret of the bomb through membership in the council her price must be "drastic cessions" of her "policy of national secrecy."

China

The battle between the nationalists and the Chinese Reds continues in the central area of Manchuria. A peace conference between the two factions has been set around November 25. The Democratic League, made up of Chinese intellectuals, have agreed to call the political consultative council session to consider the end of hostilities. Ambassador Hurley of War Patterson said that Chinese Communists are "Shapie" "Students Speak," editorials, and the two main front page stories.

"The two leading stories on the front page are usually the ones of any first choices."

Margaret Baugh, senior

"The sports page is my number one choice. Second comes the Flambeau, since that is the field that interests me the most. Next, I like the "Speak Around" because it usually deals with subjects that interest me as a student."

Moira Long, sophomore

"I always skim over the headlines on the front page first and stop to read anything that might prove interesting. Next I like "Speak" and "Students Speak" are always my second choices."

Rosalind Riegle, junior

"I always read the stories that take the dominate placed on the front page first because I like to find if they take the most important places in the paper they should be interested first. I look at headlines and read the stories that particularly appeal to me."

Pat Small, freshman

"First off I always turn to "Sharpie" when I get my Flambeau on Friday and then editorials

The Florida Flambeau

1941-1942 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS ..... Editor
JUNE GAITHER, PEGGY KAY ..... Associate Editors
MARY HELEN ..... Assistant Editor
MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON ..... News Editors

Copy Editor ..... Mary Neil McFadden, Helen Dodson
Columnist ..... Mary Schalenberger
Columnist ..... Anne Sutton, Marie Hood
Assistant Managing Editor ..... Betty Fleming
Society Editor ..... Betty Fleming
Assistant Society Editor ..... Evelyn Wilson
Sports Editor ..... Evelyn Wilson
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Betty Fleming
Literary Editor ..... Catherine Nollman
Literary Critic ..... Jerry Crume, Rosalind Riegle
Picture Editor ..... Mary Jane Sutton
Art Editor ..... Lucy Ferry

REPORTERS: Fuzeia Albers, Alda Armstrong, Alyce Ada, Eleanor Berry, Barbara Beckman, Jean Bess, Betty Budd, Lelia Lee Bryan, Marjorie Clark, Jean Douglas, Martha Jo Dunagan Barbara Fortune, Betty Fleming, Jeanne Gilbert, Mary Hood, Mary Jane Hutton, Mary Ann Travers, Elvira Perry, Joyce Perry, Petra Quinn, Mary Jane Shuttuck, Margie Snyder, Mary Tart, Tami Thomas, Frances Tranier, Kay Van Deusen.

BUSINESS STAFF

Helen Parapaan ..... Business Manager
Eileen Davis ..... Advertising Manager

Entered as second class mail matter, January 26, 1933, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla. under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Sorority Chit-Chat . . .

Coffees, teas, and informal suppers complete the sorority social cycle for this week, as another busy week looms large in Gainesville.

The Alpha Chi Omegas are giving a coffee Friday night in honor of Miss Pat Pollitt, home economics instructor and resident manager of the home economics house. Miss Pollitt is an Alpha Chi Omega alumna from the Alpha Omega chapter at Pennsylvania University, who has just come to this campus. Also, an informal supper for members, pledges, and guests was held at the house Sunday night with Charlene Skinner, Joyce Carter, Jean Carter, and Betty Sweet in charge of the preparations. A new Alpha Chi Omega chapter, which is being installed recently at the University of Toledo, Ohio, has been announced. This will be the 104th Omega chapter.

* * *

A winter coat was held by the Alpha Delta Pis in their back yard Sunday night with Betty Baize and Henrietta Treesvant in charge of arrangements.

* * *

Alpha Gamma Delta members and pledges had a picnic at Myers Park Wednesday night with Mary Cooney taking charge of the arrangements.

* * *

A coffee was given by the Alpha Xi Delta chapter in the home of Mrs H Schellenbach, the national first vice-president of the Alpha Xi Delta sorority, Wednesday and Mrs Lydia Mitchell, chapter president, announced that Alpha Xi Delta chapter here this past weekend. Invited to the coffee were Dr and Mrs Donald Campbell, the sorority's patrons, and the presidents of the various other sororities. Billie Kuhnki headed the preparations committee.

* * *

Friday night the Chi Omega sisters had a party for their house mother, Mrs C S Lanier. Miss Mary Lanier presented her with a gift, and served cake and ice cream. Miss Cook, Geor-gene Davis, Betty Jo Wilson, and Eunice Avant were on the committee. A coffee will be held on Sunday night for the members, pledges and guests.

* * *

A faculty tea was held Thursday afternoon at the Alpha Delta house. Mary Evans, social chairman, was in charge of the arrangements.

* * *

Delta Phi Delta members will have an informal party for their guests from Gainesville and Camp Gordon Johnston Saturday night. Also, a picnic was given for the sorority by Miss Rosenberg Sunday morning at her home.

* * *

Mrs Odis Johnson, province director, was the guest of Delta Zeta from last Sunday until Tuesday. Mrs Johnson, the former Ella Hilliard, is a graduate of Florida State College. Monday night she was guest of honor at dinner coffee with Ann Brady in charge. Invited guests included the sorority presidents and house mothers.

* * *

The Kappa Alpha Thetas pledges were in charge of Sunday night supper last week. They served buffet entertained with a skit. Monday night they "broke" and "made rest together!" The history of Kappa Alpha Theta was told by Betty Jane Hall. Jill told about the founding of the chapter, the founders, Bethany Longworth and Betty Jane Singleton, and their experiences while attending the institution. A new chapter in Kentucky and Elma McWhorter told about life on the co-ed campus which she attended in Colorado this summer.

* * *

The forty - first birthday of Sopsy Alpha chapter of Kappa Delta was celebrated by the members at an informal coffee last Sunday afternoon. The pledges entertained the members and their guests with a skit and later a game was enjoyed by all. KD of the first sorority founded on the campus and the Kappa Alpha chapter was instigated by Miss Mamie Tennent. Tennessee night the KDs will entertain at a spaghetti supper for its members and their guests. Martha Jean Satterfield and Mary Wright are in charge. Jeanne Gullette and Betty Nicholson are weekend guests at the KD house.

* * *

Phi Mu will hold an open house for members and guests Saturday night after the Odd-Even Medley Dance. Mary Jane Lasseter will be in charge with Jane Nighbert, Jean Leslie, Betty Jean Underman, and Della Rhoden serving on her committee. Frances Harris, a Phi Mu pledge, is withdrawing due to illness and is going to Duke Clinic.

* * *

Pi Beta Phi pledges gave their annual pledge party Thursday night. The party was centered around a circus theme and entertainment and decorations were in keeping with the circus idea. Jane Hardacre was in charge of the party and appointed special committees to work on decorations, entertainment, and refreshments. This week-end the pledges will spend the night at the house Saturday, and Sunday morning the actives are going to serve breakfast for them.

* * *

Last Monday was Founder's Day for the Kappa Kappas. They had a program Monday afternoon at the house. Last Sunday afternoon they enjoyed a picnic.

* * *

The Zeta Tau Alphas are having a winter roast tomorrow afternoon for actives and pledges. Sunday night the ZTA house mother, Mrs William J Dodge, is entertaining at supper for the pledges.

Fashion Flashes

By JOYCE PETTY

Because of Friend Weather's curious unseasonableness in the weather of the past week, college girls who don't wish to "melt on down" have been forced to discard their cooler clothes for a sweater for the cooler gabardine and corduroy skirt.

By the way, those basic garbardines are as good as usual this year, and a new fall plaid pattern and oomph can always be added by a snappy belt—amazingly wide this year—with a flat buckle in the shape of a face shield, cigarette case, or other original design.

On Sundays during the delayed time interlude the girls are giving their dark crepes their final fling for the season. The particular are the light wool suits with bracelet-length sleeves, perfectly enhanced by the addition of a matching choker and wristband of fur.

Shoes are definitely going up this fall if one can judge by the platform soles worn on the campus. With a small number of new types available, they run into the Tally lassie's wardrobe, it becomes inhreasingly important to have those last-right footwarings. Among the favorites with these heavens are low-cut sandals are the wide ankle straps, decorated with brads of all sizes, shapes, and forms.

An ever increasing number of coeds are now sedetting their big-bowed blouses with fraternity pins and other collegiate trinkets. So it is quite common that the wings and other symbols of a military love are holding their own with girls whose "Johnnie" has not yet "come marching home."

Goats to Entertain Esterens Thursday

Esteren and its alumnae will be given a banquet on Thanksgiving morning at the Rainbow Inn, according to Ann Widerquist, president of the group, who is in charge of preparations for the banquet.

The Esteren alumnae who will be here for the celebration are: Miss Emma Kennon, '44, Ruby Lambert, '44, Mary Lippitt, '44, Martha Tyree, '44, and Sara Reagan Wiggins, who is interning in Chattahoochee. They will begin to arrive the first of the week.

At the Thanksgiving breakfast the members will read letters from members and alumnae. They are making the place cards and favors for the breakfast which is one of their projects.

Besides the breakfast project the Esteren goats will decorate the Even gates March 4 for a big war. Widequist said. They are working on the invitations for Even Demonstration to be sent to Spirogira next week and also a special treat to be given to them at Even Den.

Episcopal Group Has Various Plans

A business meeting and a freshmen get-acquainted party are the plans of the Episcopal student group on campus.

There will be a business meeting of the Canterbury club on Sunday night, November 18, at 8:30 p. m. The main business will be the adoption of the constitution. Supper will be served at 6 p m as usual.

Vestry members will be the hostesses to the Episcopal freshmen at camp on Saturday and Sunday, November 24 and 25. All of the freshmen who wish to go should sign up on the bulletin board in lower Westcott before Monday morning. November 19. Transportation will be provided. The students will leave from Rose Hall at 5:30 p m on Saturday afternoon. Expenses, to be determined later, will be divided among the students.

Delta Zeta Formal Will Have Theme "Garden of Roses"

"A Garden of Roses" will be the theme of the Delta Zeta formal dance to be held Saturday night at 8:30 in the Delta Zeta house. The rooms will be carried out by a rose covered arbor at the entrance, illuminated Roman lamp made of roses, and a replica of the Delta Zeta pin in the reception hall. In the date parlor punch will be served from a table decorated with roses.

An intermission program will be presented solo by Dot Jean Tessarden and a So Ann Long, and a piano solo by Ruth Wilkie. Sallie Bettes, Gloria King, and Barbara Nolan will take part in a specialty number.

Dr and Mrs M B DeGraff and Mrs T R Crovatt, Delta Zeta house mother, will be chaperones for the occasion. Invited guests include the sorority's patrons and patronesses, Mrs Ernestine Dreveler, Miss Betty Lenthicum, and Miss Mary Belle Brown, according to Lou Taylor, D Z publicity chairman.

Phi Mu's Take in New Boarder, Phil

The housing shortage has caused a new boarder to appear here and here on Florida State College campus, the Phi Mus have taken Phil to board. His name is Phil.

Phil usually wears light grey fur and has been observed to match his eyes. Jane Nightingale, pledge, picked him up in Bellamy Westcott and took him to the sorority house. For both the Phi Mus and Phil it was a case of love at first sight.

All this happened a week ago Friday when Phil was found during which Phil cried and cried, but he has been very cheerful in the house. Phil sleeps upstairs most of the day on his favorite couch. His favorite pastime is eating. But Phil doesn't say a word, he just sits there peaceful until the offender moves.

Yes, the Phi Mu house is completely complete with the little seven weeks old kitten.

Alumnae Council To Form Policies

Plans for the first general meeting of the Alumnae Association of Florida State College for Women since 1942 will be formulated at an all day meeting of the executive council of the Association tomorrow at 10 a m in the Longmire Building, announced Miss Louise Gehan, executive secretary and ex-officio of the board.

This executive council is the governing force of the Association, forming its policies and outlining the year's program.

Officers of the board schedule to attend are: Mrs Ernestine Sargent Boyle, president, from Tampa; Florence Byrd Whitner, vice-president, from Sanford; Laura Cornell, secretary, Jacksonville; Dorothy Burwell, treasurer, Tallahassee; and Florence Tryon, past president, Florida State College.

Board members are: Betty Nichols Hemenway, Eunice Grady, Miami; Audrey Packham, Winter Park; Anne Jones, Gainesville; Dorothy Welch, Plant City; and Louise Gehan, secretary and ex-officio of the board.

Students or faculty members who wish to have anything discussed by the board are asked to turn in their requests before morning to Miss Gehan in her office in the Longmire building.

YWCA Will Sponsor Week-end at Camp

Sixty girls are expected to go to camp for the weekend this year. They will meet on Landis green at 2:15 tomorrow and leave on a chartered bus.

Boating, an outdoor vesper service, wiener roast, group singing and a candlelight circle around the campfire are the events planned for Saturday. Sunday will be ushered in by an early morning worship service. After breakfast a discussion of current events will be held. The planned activities will end with Sunday dinner at camp.

Margaret Clayton, president of the YWCA, said that she would like to compliment the committees on their work of planning the weekend. The following girls served on committees: Food committee—Mary Belle Bridges, Shirley Pelser, Josephine Story, Patricia Carr. Vesper committee—Betty Ruth Goode, Martha Jane Bird, Jeanette Zetrouer, Bobbie Bell and Jane Anne Ramson. Publicity committee—Marvis Core, Ruth McCallister, Pit Kahlenberg. Recreation committee—Anne Singleton, Willardeen Pullion, Doris Samford, Martha Vail McDonald. Work Planning committee—Doris Samford, Maxine Mears. Campfire committee—Betty Ann Morgan, Margaret Stringfellow, Jean Heima.

Dormitory Teas

Broward Hall:

Last Saturday night Broward girls enjoyed their second in the month series of "at home" parties, according to Mrs Pearl M Wood, counselor of that hall. Blanche Weedon was in charge of the affair and saw to it that the girls enjoyed bridge games, rummy, Chinese checkers, and bingo. Pertinent entertainment, they listened to Blanche's first symphony on records. Toward the end of the evening, sweet cider and doughnuts were served.

According to Mrs Warner, the purpose of these "at homes" is to have the students come and also bring guests to enjoy an informal social evening in the dormitory.

Landis Hall:

Guests at the tea in Landis last week enjoyed musical numbers by Claire Brown and songs by Patty Milligan. Claire played "Resume Medley," "As Time Goes By," and "Stardust."

* * *

Jennie Murphree:

Joyce Hanson and Sally Slater entertained guests at their tea Wednesday afternoon tea in Jennie Murphree, with songs, accordian and piano renditions.

Piano Instructor Will Give Recital

Miss Virginia Allen, instructor in piano at Florida State College, will be presented in a recital in the music auditorium next Friday at 8:15.

The public is invited to the recital, which will be Miss Holmes' first public appearance in Tallahassee since her graduation. Her performances as music editor of the college Garnet and Gold radio program.

Miss Holmes joined the FSC faculty last fall after receiving a master work at the University of Southern California. She received AB and BM degrees She also studied at Northwestern University.

Her Friday night recital will include compositions by Haydn, Beethoven, Bach, Liszt, Brahms, and Chopin.

Lighting Difficulty Lends Atmosphere

College girls' dreams of being in a forbidden night club were almost fulfilled Saturday night when the Sweet Shop enjoyed a post-war blackout. With candlelights and a juke box, it wasn't hard to imagine yourself "back in the States."

Lighting difficulties began about 9:56 and were not overcome until 10:36. Even then, the girls were still entertained themselves by singing and dancing and there was much cream to put in their coffees. Several couples left Whitney for a walk from the library, no doubt, wandered over curiously to see why the place was so dark, but with its usual friendly glow. Evidently entranced by the "honky-tonk" atmosphere, they stayed and stayed and stayed. In fact they were late getting back to their dorms.

Wonder how many people ex-pected visitors during their checks.

Special Religious Service to be Held

Student leader of the Thanksgiving service to be held November 21, at 11 a m in the music auditorium, will b Sarah Lewis, who will assist in the conduction of prayer and present the Thanksgiving Hymn.

Services will include the opening hymn "Now Thank We All Our God" read by Dr. Roberts, Invocation Beard organist, the prayer and benediction by the Rev. Dr. Campbell, and the Thanksgiving address by Dr Venila L Shores. Music for the Thanksgiving in the program are: Joyce Funke, who will sing a solo; Eleanor Brady, accompanist, and members of the Glee club, singing under the direction of Miss Ruth L Robertson.

Faculty and staff members planning the service are: Miss Ruth McCallister, chairman; Miss Anna Mae Tracy Miss Louise Gehan, Miss Ruth Gilbert, Miss Bertha Bloodworth, and Miss Margaret Clements.

Tickets on Sale

Reserved seat tickets for Time and the Conways, the play to be given by the FSC speech department in the Augusta Conway Theatre on the evenings of November 29, 30, and December 1, will be on sale for 90 cents each at the box office on the ground floor of the History Building on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, November 26, 27, and 28. The hours that the box will be open: afternoons from 4:30 until 6 and nights from 7:30 until 9.

Reynolds Freshmen Plan Soldier Dance

An informal soldier dance will be held for all the freshmen in Reynolds Hall tomorrow night from 8 until 11 p m in the Longmire Building. Soldiers from Camp Gordon Johnston and Dale Mabry field have been invited to attend.

The theme, contrasting the old South with the new, will be carried out in both the decorations and the entertainment. Dances will vary from colonial waltzing to modern jitterbug.

The Reynolds' social committee, under the chairmanship of Lois Illingsworth and Esther Rasmussen, is in charge of the preparations, with Reynolds' junior counselors acting as hostesses and ticket takers.

Music for the occasion will be provided by the college orchestra.

Atomic Energy

Continued From Page One

backed by Reynolds' democratic structure and social reconstruction are necessary measures for peace during this new era. Those participating in the discussion included Dr Richards, Dr Paul Shankweiler, associate professor of sociology, Miss Sadie Hoffman, associate professor of economics, and Dr Marvin Brim, professor of Latin-American science. The speakers were introduced by Betty Dowd, secretary of the group.

"In order ot control the atomic bomb more effectively, the social problems that lead to its manufacture," Dr Shankweiler said. He said that the United Nations Security Council must be given the power to reconstruction is a necessary step in world progress.

Economics exploitation, political corruption, religious denominational tensions and forfeitfulness of the four freedoms are the specific problems that must be overcome before the world can be safe from the threat of atomic annihilation, according to Dr Shankweiler. In order to do this, social control based on democratic brotherhood must be established, he said.

"The accompanying social remaking means the overcoming of the old order of things. Many of our social arrangements will keep abreast of technological change," Dr Shankweiler continued. "This further means," he said, "that our institutions will be brought up to date, religion socialized, industry democratized and the economy made available to all men everywhere."

A re economic structure which will gradually become more international in character, increased production and lessened private initiative will be the three major economic reforms that will come, Miss Young stated. She added, however, that these results will be somewhat less drastic in influence because industrial potentialities of atomic energy are as yet undeveloped.

"Our pattern of economic control demands the maximum production," Miss Young stated. Pointing out that international economic machinery is even now inadequate, she said, "Our lack of ability to control international trade illustrates the insufficient scope of this country's economy."

Increased production will result in lowered costs, she said, which will in turn mean the establishment of higher living standards and more leisure time. Modifications in the present distribution and organization of private initiative will be essential controls of atomic age, according to Miss Young.

Living control of the atomic bomb secret is the only possible course for world security, discussions presented by the new era, stated Dr Irish. She then proposed a world constitution which would provide for the purpose of drafting a new foreign court and social and cultural autonomy for the peoples in political blocs as necessary for the ecumenical operation of this organization.

Freshmen Weep for Junior Counselors

"Junior counselors are certainly important to the lives of freshmen," said Miss Louise Creamer, counselor of Reynolds Longmire Hall. "Last Saturday night we heard the sounds of weeping from the unit floor (the girls call it the 'younut' floor), and upon investigating found freshmen girls were homesick because their junior counselors were gone for the week-end."

The next night all the unit girls were asked to come to a compulsory floor meeting and to bring their towels with them, said Miss Creamer. "They were commanded to weep into buckets and washcloths. Of course they all got hysterical." Miss Creamer laughed. Miss Creamer said they concluded the spontaneous party by serving popcorn.

Test To Be Given

The Economics and Commerce department will give the upperwriting test Friday, November 16, at 5 o'clock in the Typing room 302 History Building's announced today by Miss Hughes a rating may take the test at this time Students must provide their own paper.

Tomorrow Is Last Time to See Exhibit

"United Through Books," Is Theme for National Book Week

With the end of National Book Week, students have only the remaining time until 1 p m tomorrow to see the exhibits in the library featuring the theme "United Through Books."

Upstairs near the library science classroom display cases are decorated carrying out the idea "United Through Understanding" featuring informational books about many countries; "United Through Music," with books written about famous composers; and "United Through Great Deeds," displaying biographies of famous men and women of all nations.

The library science laboratory displays an exhibit on Russia. A photographic section shows Russians at work and at play. There are copies of the Russian book, the constitution of the Soviet Union, the national anthem, a gift from Russia, and a Russian book ordered about the country.

Displays have been done as projects in the library science classes.

Downstairs, still carrying out the theme of National Book Week, there are two cases filled with books. Exhibits in these cases are the problems of peace, and the science, beliefs and governments of other nations.

The center and right cases in the downstairs library are exhibiting the processes through which a book is printed in the U S A, according to Dr Shankweiler. In order to do this, social control based on democratic brotherhood must be established, he said.

"The accompanying social remaking means the overcoming of a way in of thinking away from the old social arrangements will keep abreast of technological change," Dr Shankweiler continued. "This further means," he said, "that our institutions will be brought up to date, religion socialized, industry democratized and the economy made available to all men everywhere."

A re economic structure which will gradually become more international in character, increased production and lessened private initiative will be the three major economic reforms that will come, Miss Young stated. She added, however, that these results will be somewhat less drastic in influence because industrial potentialities of atomic energy are as yet undeveloped.

"Our pattern of economic control demands the maximum production," Miss Young stated. Pointing out that international economic machinery is even now inadequate, she said, "Our lack of ability to control international trade illustrates the insufficient scope of this country's economy."

Increased production will result in lowered costs, she said, which will in turn mean the establishment of higher living standards and more leisure time. Modifications in the present distribution and organization of private initiative will be essential controls of atomic age, according to Miss Young.

Living control of the atomic bomb secret is the only possible course for world security, discussions presented by the new era, stated Dr Irish. She then proposed a world constitution which would provide for the purpose of drafting a new foreign court and social and cultural autonomy for the peoples in political blocs as necessary for the ecumenical operation of this organization.

Social Standards Committee Undertakes Drive to Improve Dining Hall Conduct

Seniors Register Now for Placement

All seniors who expect to graduate first and second quarters and all seniors enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences are being registered this month with the Placement Bureau of the Personnel Office, announced Miss Elizabeth G Andrews, director of personnel Seniors in the Schools of Music, Education, and Home Economics who expect to graduate third quarter will be enrolled in January.

The 30 minute conferences are scheduled all day for almost four weeks and the Personnel office asks that those to be interviewed please come promptly. If a student is unable to be interviewed by her designated hour she is to go to the office in advance and change the hour of her appointment.

It is necessary for every graduate to have a permanent placement record whether or not a position is desired at once, the office said and appreciate the cooperation of those being interviewed at this time.

Council to Hold Monthly Meeting

The Wesley Foundation's executive council will invite Methodist students on campus' monthly supper meeting at Wednesday night at the supper hour. The newly elected freshmen council will be the special guests.

Reverend C L Spottswood, director of the Wesley Foundation at the Methodist student center at the University of Florida, and state director of the Methodist student Movement of Florida, will be the guest at the monthly supper meeting. He will talk to the students about the National Methodist Student Conference at Ocean Springs this December, and he will also tell the students about plans made at the Fall planning conference at Gainesville.

The council will discuss the possibilities of mid-year retreat and plans for the Thanksgiving activities for the summer. Martha Jane Brown will present the plans for the next quarter's devotional program. Janie Redfearn will tell about "Small Talk", the state Methodist movement paper, which she puts out.

The newly elected freshmen council include: Martha Jane Brown, president; Fern Roberts, secretary; and Betty Arnold, Martha Jane Bird, Dorothy Wells, Marian Tyrie, Frances McLamore, Frances Clopton, Alice Ann Taylor, Flora Mae McBride, Annette McClellan, "Inky" Parker, Betty Jo Bozeman, Sue Mae Gaskins, Martha Donald, Madge Phinney, Betty Jo Mundy, Emma Jean Smith, Peggy Smith, Marily Morgan, Olivia Letton, Annette Simmons, and Marjorie Caswell.

British Attache To Lecture Here

Mrs Marjorie D Spikes, attache for Women's Affairs, British Embassy, Washington, D C, will speak on Wednesday, November 21, at 8 p m in the Longmire building on the topic "Post Wa: Problelems". Her talk is being presented as a part of the current events lecture series sponsored by the Personnel Office and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Mrs Spikes has been brought to Tallahassee by the Daughters of the American Revolution through the British Information Service. She is the first attache for Women's Affairs ever appointed by the British government and joined the staff of the British Embassy in Washington early in October of this year.

From 1941 until she came to Washington, Mrs Spikes worked in the Ministry of Labor in Cambridge. She was also concerned with Women's Labor Supply, welfare of transferred workers, and re-settlement of girls and women coming out of military service.

While in Tallahassee Mrs Spikes will speak to the DAR and to the Rotary club.

"Odd" Conveyance

A "full-fledged, legitimate police squad car," to quote the excited beholder, arrived at the Odd pey rally last night with firemen screaming full-throat. To further surprise the astonished Odd revelers, Eugene Myers, the most honorable, distinguished and accomplished president of Spiritgira, stepped out accompanied by several of her colleagues.

The 30-piece band composed of freshmen and juniors balled her arrival with "appropriate" music.

Although questioned eagerly, Frannie declined to disclose the method by which she obtained the unique conveyance.

RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES:
TRAIN FOR A CAREER WITH THE Johnston O'Connor Research Foundation
11 E. 62nd St., New York. 21
N. Y. Fellowship Basis, $85.00 a Month

THE MOST HONORED WATCH ON THE CAMPUS
Longines
THE WORLD'S MOST HONORED WATCH

WINNER OF 10 WORLD'S FAIR GRAND PRIZES, 28 GOLD MEDALS AND MORE HONORS FOR ACCURACY THAN ANY OTHER TIMEPIECE

FSC Alumnae Hear Richards

Uses of Atomic Bomb Plants Is Address Topic

It is the duty of our government to use the present atomic bomb plants for strictly practical peacetime uses for atomic energy," said Dr Harold P Richards, in an address he delivered at the Annual Banquet of the St Petersburg FSC Alumnae Association in Pennsylvania Hotel, Wednesday evening.

"We must maintain those plants in working order anyhow, for world security reasons, just as we must maintain a navy—and we might just as well get peacetime benefits out of them and a fine profit for the taxpayers who furnished the two billion dollars that the United States put into atomic development," Dr Richards said.

The speaker explained that the release of atomic energy has a long history. As only the practical engineering details are kept secret to-day, there is no use in outlawing merely one particular weapon. The alternative is war for safety. Dr Richards maintains, is a world-wide free press. "Secrecy breeds suspicion, and suspicion breeds hatred", he said.

Dr Richards made a plea for those who can see ahead to wake up and realize that if, ten years from now, we are as hard for the good of man as they work to win a war we could practically remold the world.

He pointed out that we must not let our fears lead us into taking a worm's eye view of the possibilities which science has opened up for us. He believes that the quickest way to end war is to use science to the fullest possible extent to raise standards of living.

After giving a scientific review of the present amount of energy being obtained from the fission of uranium, Dr Richards stated these facts in general terms by saying that the possibilities of practically unlimited amounts of cheap energy stagger the imagination.

"The drudgery of manual toil can be practically eliminated," said the physics professor. "Whole cities can be heated by heat from central plants; we can have cheap electricity in amounts vastly greater than those we now think are large. Practically, we are still living in a cold age, because coal still provides more energy in the U S than all other primary sources together, and only 'water electricity' put together."

The conclusion of the talk was that now, as never before, we need mass production of character to match mass production of power and goods.

"Since the only safety in the long run is removal of the causes of war — education, religion, and a free press are the three major lob of all ahead of them," Dr Richards said.

Tallahassee Girls

Continued From Page One

Dural County Library honoring the visiting college crowd.

Last evening the big football weekend were heard in the buses bound for Tally Sunday evening. Singing the Florida State University songs, the girls reluctantly began the trek back to college, back to basketball and Cold-en competition.

TICKET AGENCY
Phone your Trailways Agent first . . .
Jacksonville
A.M. 12:15 3:30 5:00 8:00 8:45 8:38 11:00
P.M. 1:30 3:00 3:45 6:00 6:45 6:45 11:00
Tampa
A.M. 1:00 4:45 8:38 11:08
P.M. 1:38 5:00 8:38 9:00
ALL BUSES LEAVE UNION BUS STATION COR. ADAMS & TENN. PHONE 701
NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

F Club Initiates 15 Goats at Camp

The initiation of 15 goats into F Club Saturday night at Camp Flastacowo climaxed a four-week goating period. Before going to camp the F Club members and the goats, who were dressed in various costumes which the members made them explain, met in front of Byrnan Hall for the first goat meeting. The prospective members had to walk the entire distance to camp with all their equipment for the week-end on their shoulders, while the trucks and cars carried the F Club members the five miles to camp.

Declaring that turn about is fair play, the newly initiated members in the traditional white shirt and sweater with their letters right side out for the first time "egosized" the old members Monday in front of the dining hall.

The new members of F Club are: Audrey Evans, Jeandelete Bennet, Charlotte Bonfield, Doris Gill, Lois Byrd, Mae Manning, Harriet Kirk, Nita Bowles, Cora Lee Wells, Ann Hall, Ann Hall, Innis, Eileen Perry, Eugenia Bowden, Frances Myers, and Mary Nell Goldman.

President of the goat class was Jean Bennett, who "did a fine job" F Club president, Babe Evans, said.

Playnight Features Team Competition

Odd-Even modern dance teams will compete in interpreting "Thanksgiving" at Playnight after the Thanksgiving holidays, it was announced students of the modern dance classes taught by Miss Hall in the Physical Education Building. Assisting Miss Hall is Ann Wilderquist, playnight chairman.

Judging the dancing on the basis of technique, rhythm, pattern, costumes, skill of the dancers, and interpretation of the general theme will be Miss Hall, Mary Stanlon, Miss Calloge Papatsos, Mrs Fred Cone, Miss Mary Barfield, Mary Calley, Bayne Culbreath, Sarah Lou Wells, Enid Sandler, Jeanne Tuttle, Mary Jeanne Peach, Rachel Chambers, Marian Looby, Jeanne Hall, Ann Wilderquist, Twirp Barry, and Elaine Gavigan.

Evens—Hockey: Sarah Bennett, Shirley Dugan, Audrey Perry, Betty Bell Dyal, Mary Jane Lyles, Kit Laird, Anna Geise, Betty Bryan, Rosalie Davis, Katherine Beasell, Marian Floyd, Jean Bennett, Amarene Thompson, Charlotte Bonfield, Mae Mannines, and Irma Lee Shepard.

Odds: Virginia Bowden, Winifred Anthony, Nita Bowles, Nancy Gleaton, Mary Nell Goldman, Frances Gallagher, Virginia Virginia Goodell, Lucy Harding, wards, Esther "dis" Miller, Nita Mary Hall, Elizabeth Smith, Dottie Patrick, Mari Richardson, Clarice Strickland, and Ann Marshall.

Archery teams have not yet been chosen. Tournaments will be held the Saturday and Wednesday of next week, and will be done by Wednesday of Thanksgiving. Both Odds and eight Evens will make up the teams, four from each class to play in each of the two tournaments.

Odd modern dancers are as follows: Alice Taff, Ann Parker, Lavrain Smith, Harriet Kirk, Mary White, Marjorie Bolin, Barbara Lindsey, Pat Small, Bettie Jo Bryan, Martin, Violet Walters, and Jane Levy.

As yet not report has been received on Even modern dance plans.

Evens Have Rally

The Evens showed their spirit Wednesday night when Even sponsored a pep rally in the field behind Jennie Murphree Hall after dinner.

Cheers were led by Betty Jo McAleer, Ann Wilderquist and Katherine Donohoe, senior cheerleaders, and Jean Ann Rameidi, "Dip" Brown and Norma Schaefer, junior sophomore cheerleaders. Following this, Frankie Hall spoke on the Even sales of war stamps and bonds. Then the Evens buried the effigy of the Odds while all sang "Even Spirits Never Die." The burying of the Odd effigy in the Odd graveyard climaxed the rally.

"Fireside Chat"

Mortar Board had its first faculty-student "Fireside Chat" Sunday afternoon in the club room of the Longmire building.

The purpose of the meeting at this informal meeting to discuss the topic "Purposes and Aims of Higher Education." There were 30 present including Dr C P Heinlein, professor of experimental psychology, and Miss Mary D Irish, professor of political science. Tea was served at the meeting.

Peggy Kay and Corinne Johnson, junior representatives, and Betty Kennedy, sophomore representative.

Betty Kennedy was appointed publicity chairmai. for the next meeting scheduled for Wednesday at 6 p m.

Sports Events Fill Calendar

Odd-Even Teams Work Hard as Games Approach

As the Thanksgiving Odd-Even sports events approach, the sports calendar is filling rapidly, and getting heavy. Practicing has about drawn to a close, class games have been played, and most of the teams have been picked. Last-minute practices will soon be on for those who made teams, in order to get teams working as a whole.

Two class games in each of the major sports, soccer and hockey, were played this week, Tuesday on Monday and Wednesday evenings, and soccer on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. In the first hockey game on Monday, the Evens successfully held the Odds to a scoreless tie until, in the final 10 minutes of play, Odd player Nancy Ward was sparked to the goal, and the game was called at dark with the score standing at 1-0 in favor of the Odds. In the second game on Wednesday evening, the Evens, the evenly matched teams battled to a 1-1 finish.

The end of the first soccer game on Tuesday evening found the Odds victors by a 2-0 score in favor of the Evens, and the second game yesterday saw another battle to a tied finish. The score in this game was 4-4, with both Even scoring coming in the fourth quarter and both Odd scores in the last quarter.

Participants in Odd-Even practices have voted on those who will take part in the various teams. Teams are as follows:

Even—Soccer: Candy Jones, Elsie Jean Bennett, Jeanne Booth, Catherine Barrs, Elaine Gavigan, Betty Bell Dyal, Jeanne Sullivan, Rosemarie Perro, Anna Horne, Mary Calley, Gulland, Louise Conn, Babe Evans, Jean Koesy, Joy Little, Jean Bliess, and Betty LaBree.

Hockey: Lea Wells, Shirley Palmer, Joanne Schwartz, Helen Bowden, Mary Jane Barfield, Mary Calley, Bayne Culbreath, Sarah Lou Wells, Enid Sandler, Mary Jane Tuttle, Mary Jeanne Peach, Rachel Chambers, Marian Looby, Jeanne Hall, Ann Wilderquist, Rosemarie Perro, Anna Horne, Mary Calley, Gulland, Louise Conn, Babe Evans, Jean Koesy, Joy Little, Jean Bliess, and Betty LaBree.

Odds—Soccer: Sarah Bennett, Shirley Dugan, Audrey Perry, Betty Bell Dyal, Mary Jane Lyles, Kit Laird, Anna Geise, Betty Bryan, Rosalie Davis, Katherine Beasell, Marian Floyd, Jean Bennett, Amarene Thompson, Charlotte Bonfield, Mae Mannines, and Irma Lee Shepard.

Odds: Virginia Bowden, Winifred Anthony, Nita Bowles, Nancy Gleaton, Mary Nell Goldman, Frances Gallagher, Virginia Virginia Goodell, Lucy Harding, wards, Esther "dis" Miller, Nita Mary Hall, Elizabeth Smith, Dottie Patrick, Mari Richardson, Clarice Strickland, and Ann Marshall.

Archery teams have not yet been chosen. Tournaments will be held the Saturday and Wednesday of next week, and will be done by Wednesday of Thanksgiving. Both Odds and eight Evens will make up the teams, four from each class to play in each of the two tournaments.

Odd modern dancers are as follows: Alice Taff, Ann Parker, Lavrain Smith, Harriet Kirk, Mary White, Marjorie Bolin, Barbara Lindsey, Pat Small, Bettie Jo Bryan, Martin, Violet Walters, and Jane Levy.

As yet not report has been received on Even modern dance plans.

WHAT'S IN STORE

Friday, November 16

Dr Campbell's birthday dinner	Landis Dining Hall	6:30
Sing night after dinner	Landis Green
Senior's party for Dr Campbell	Dr Campbell's House
Miss Virginia Holmes' recital	Music Annex	8:15

Saturday, November 17

Play Night	Gymnasium	6:30-10
Delta Zeta Dance	Delta Zeta House	8:30
Reynold's Soldier Dance	Longmire Building	8:00

Monday, November 19

Donald Dickson	Auditorium	8:00

Tuesday, November 20

Even Demonstration	Gymnasium	6:00

Wednesday, November 21

Faculty Senate		5:00
Odd Demonstration	Auditorium	6:00
Tarpon Demonstration	Gymnasium	6:00

Thursday, November 22

Thanksgiving Service	Auditorium	10:00
Old Union Hall		2:00
Thanksgiving Dinner	Landis, Gilchrist Marshall, Dining Hall	2:30
	Broward Dining Hall	3:00
Even Demonstration	Auditorium
Tarpon Demonstration	Gymnasium	After Even Dem

Friday, November 23

Odd Demonstration	Auditorium	6:00
Tarpon Demonstration	Gymnasium	After Odd Dem

Saturday, November 24

Alumnae Gathering	Lower Longmire building
Odd-Even Soccer Game	Athletic Field	11:00
Band Drill and Concert	Athletic Field	3:30
Odd-Even Hockey Game	Athletic Field	4:00
Thanksgiving Dance	Gymnasium	8:30

Sunday, November 25

"Recuperation Day"	Entire Campus	All Day

Plans for Annual Weekend Told

The annual week-end at Camp Flastacowo sponsored by the Physical Education association is to be December 1, according to Evelyn Stuckey, president. The traditional canoe races will be held between freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors, the winners of the two races competing for the final award.

Vera Cone, program chairman, will work with Miss Ruth Hall, vice president, on general plans for the week-end at camp. Helping them will be Mary Jane Barfield, Jean Beckwell, Sara Broxson, Margaret Brown, Mildred and Rose Marcoux, Mae Manning and Anna Horne are in charge of plans for the canoe races and will take place at 4 o'clock that Saturday afternoon.

Miss Stuckey announced that a PEA meeting last Monday night are Joyce Garman, secretary-treasurer, and Rose Marcoux, publicity chairman and Roses Marcoux, social chairman.

Odds to Show

Continued From Page One

artists as Nancy Kulp and Betty McMichael, bowie Hall.

"Also," continued Nell, "we have one cue, but Even, publicity and both of them are really sensational."

Mary Lou Norwood, music director, has written a symphonic jive, composed several original numbers which will be used in the play.

The two choral numbers, which will be a symphonic arrangement of "Stormy Weather" by Ellington Bragg, and a ballet dance by Pat Small.

The committees helping with the production of Odd demonstration are: Betty Jo Bryan, Jo Anne Hardacre, chairman, Faith Adams, Martha Jane Bird, Betty Blakemore, Betty Jo Bryan, Marjorie Marshall.

Properties—Anne Hunter, chairman, Jane Hardacre, Rosemary McCoy, Mary Calley, Dixie Jean Allen, Betty Jo Bryan, Hel Houlihan, Anita Friedman, Sara Corry, Fin Nickinson, Dolores Spivey, Kathryn Smith, Jean Bennett, Mary Cooney, Lavonne Black and Billy Martin.

Costumes—Geraldine Bushaj chairman, Ann Parker, Hynol Heath, Jean Wilson, Jeanne Phillips, Kathleen Johnson, Polly Sanders, and Jean Ann Rameidi, Gross, Sara Ann Jones, Fran Harris, Gwen Clements, Nancy Bogg, Jeanne Sullivan, Rosemary Peters, Elinor Law, Frances Smithers, Patty Pilson, Jane Neilly, Winifred Hughes, Bobbie Lee Bird, Jane Carol Levy, Betty De Verg Catherine Eustis, Caroline Drummond, Elsie Suber, Frances Robinson, Biff Irving, Patricia Elliss, Carmen Mahney, Dorothy Gillen, Peggy Glover, Sue Hilton, Nancy Harvey, Evangeline Johnson, Louise Bintliff, Shirley Jarrett, Celine Gunn, Kitty Spurgeon, Betty West and Peggy Hamilton.

Construction — Shirley Palmer, chairman, and Jo Miller and Margaret Hubard, assistant chairmen. Work on: Margie Norman, Jean Pearson, Jean Hall, Nell Thomas, Margie Berna, Gladys Clark, Fern Roberts, Joan Lanigan, Virginia Bowden, Sarah Yelveston, Sybil Harrison, Betty Harris, Ella Jean Turrsville, Helen Looby, Lucy Harding, Charlotte Snyder, Virginia Wilson, Martha Waits, Nell Gray and Betty Wills.

Lighting—Ann Nicholson, chairman, Harriet Kirk, Jean Ann Gravam, Barbara Mann, Twerp Borry, Gladys Clark, Helen Dwaksen, Jeanne Padgett, Jeanne Rameidi, and Jean Ann Helms, Dot Boring, Sally Walker, Marion Looby, Joanne Schwartz, Betty Schwarts and Mae Gwynn.

Even Talent

Continued From Page One

Ingworth, Jean Oldfather, Peggy Moss, Mary Morris, Nancy Lee Wheeler, Pauline Council, Betty Kent, M L Vernon, Anna Horne, Beverly Hendon, Amelia Pavese Betty Bolles, and Ida Lee Rentz.

Those with dancing parts are: Jo Guthrie, Betty Whalton, Doris Dubois, Jean Bennett, Jeanne Avery, Patsy Gilliam, Lee Goodman, Bobbie Lincoln, Emily Harper, Elinor Law, Betty Ann Welch, Do Wynn, Ann Skull, Doris Sweet, Lillian Lewis, Polly Cone, Martha Carter, Dot Tucker, Rosalie Davis, Marian McEwen June McLennan, Marcoux, Dot Butts, Betty Birch, Jane Gunn, Nancy Habard, Betty Sinclair, Ines Parker, Betty Barrington, Tess Daniels, Mary Jo Whidden, Georgie Pilon, Margaret Tate, Merl, Norge Carter, Carol Oates, Betty Bird, Jane Hardacre, Mary Robertson, Marion Cross, Georgia Jarzel, Doris Samford, Sopie Whitaker, Georgia Story, Betty Pulver, Elizabeth Riegler, Jean Ann Hammond, Virginia Hatton, Jeannette Zetrouer, Adelaide Hall, Nancy McMullen, Juanita Ault, Marian Hollinger, Joyce Hood, Claire Bill, Joyce Cayce, Martha Carter, Dixie Lee Dunwody, Patsy F Allen, Peggy Langland, Florence Bartleson, Sarah Daughetty, Norma Jean Hall, Betty Jo Douglas, and Virginia Budd.

Members of the script committee are: Sarah Bennett, Shirley Duggan, Bea Weaver, Corrine Johnston, Anne Hardacre, Rose Marie Ferro, Catherine Bullivan and Sue Hilton.

The make up committee consists of Bonnie Hunt, Margie Turner, Pat Pacheco, Jeanne Programs, Maurine Petty, and Barbara Holt.

Jane Lyles and Kit Land have the following people working on the lights committee: M L Vernon, Anna Horne, Beverly Hendon, Amelia Pavese, Betty Bolles, Ida Lee Rentz, Barbara Tate, Betty Sue Gray, Nolen Wynne, Mary Jeanne Peach and Fielding.

Although the official performance of Even will be on Thursday night, there will be dress rehearsal Tuesday night. Those who have been unable to get tickets for the regular performance will be admitted to the dress rehearsal.

Homecoming

Continued From Page One

will be at 2 o'clock; in Magnolia at 5 o'clock, and in Broward at 7 o'clock. Dr Cambell has announced that faculty students and faculty members who regularly dine on the college and out of town alumnae who obtain tickets in advance will be able to have Thanksgiving dinner in the college dining hall, due to crowded conditions in the college."

Former students who have returned for Homecoming will meet in the lounge of the Longmire building Saturday morning at 11 o'clock for an alumnae gathering.

Bries, Natalina Rogolin, Mary

Becker, Jacobs AA Speakers

Emphasis of Florida Is Topic for Discussion

Campaign to End December 7, Goal Is $1 Per Person

The development of the human and natural resources of Florida was the theme of talks by Mr Henry Becker, professor of geography and Mr Bascom Jacobs, and Mr William Jacobs, assistant state forester, at the regular monthly meeting of the local branch of the American Association of University Women, Thursday night.

Mr Becker gave a survey of the Florida Resources Education Project, of which he is chairman. Mr Jacobs spoke on "The Place of Timber in Florida Resources".

"The whole educational system in the United States has been based on the three R's—reading, writing, and arithmetic," said Mr Jacobs, "while we have been neglecting an important fourth R—resources."

Stating that the Florida Resources Education Project is a part of a southwide educational movement, Mr Becker outlined the Florida plan. This included the preparation of a handbook on Florida Resources, conferences with school supt. use, teacher education through a group of teachers studying resources, and resources education for Negroes, and resources materials laboratories.

The getting and processing of natural resources is the only source of wealth, Mr Jacobs said. "Florida's future lies largely in the sterility of resources because nine out of ten people earn their living by living in their resources somewhere. The tenth person, professional men, are paid with their earnings from the nine."

"If you had taken wood out of the war, the war couldn't have lasted six months," the assistant state forester said. In the beginning of the war, there was a shortage of metals. The chemist found a way to treat wood so that it would be stronger in lifetime and more flexible than steel. Through this discovery, plywood became more fire resistant than steel. Plywood was used to build the factories which produced the atomic bomb, the B-29's, the gliders, floating bombs as bases for radar antennas, and the flight decks on aircraft carriers among many other uses, Mr Jacobs told the audience.

Florida has a great economic advantage in the fact the climate and soil enable the state to produce trees quickly and cheaply, Mr Jacobs said. One of the world's land area is in timber, this commodity is in great demand, Mr Jacobs said.

Until the war, we were wasting three-fourths of every tree in the forester said. With the new developments it will be possible to use 90 to 95 percent of each tree.

Florida has 16 per cent of all the forest products in the U S, Jacobs said. Out of 20,000 fires in one year, only six cases reached the forest proportions, he stated.

The Florida Resources Education Project includes representatives from the State Department of Education, the University of Florida, the State Planning Board, A and M College, and various other state institutions, according to Mr Becker. The project is administered by Dr M Ashby Jones, president at FSC.

Mr Becker was introduced by Miss Marion Jones, program chairman of AAUW He introduced Mr Jacobs as being one of the real inventors of the atomic bomb.

After the meeting, which was held in the auditorium of the Leonardo Da Vinci School, was served in the club room.

Esteren Sponsors Even Stamp Booth

The Even's booth for sales of war stamps and bonds will be open between classes Friday, 16. Esteren will sponsor the booth, with Corinne Johnston in charge, Miss Mary Jeanne Peach, chairman. The theme of the Even's in this bond rally is, "Put Even Spirit" and Uncle Sam on High." Posters illustrating this theme are already up. Every student who are Evens as well as students are urged to buy stamps and bonds to help carry out this theme.

The group who sells the most war stamps and bonds will determine whether the Evens or the Odds will get to crown their candidate at Queen of the Thanksgiving dance.

Pre-Medical Test

The medical aptitude test for pre-medical students will be given Friday, December 14, at 3 p m in 315 Westcott. A fee of two dollars is required to take the test. Students interested should make arrangements with the Personnel Office at once.

Tarpon Practices For Thanksgiving

This year's annual star performance of the Tarpon club will be presented on Thursday and Friday, November 22 and 23, following Even and Odd demonstrations, and also at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, November 25, in the gymnasium.

Various strokes will be used in executing the surprise theme of Tarpon club in this year's demonstration, S J Singleton, president, said that the swimming experts of Florida State College have won nation-wide fame by appearing in various moving picture shorts This year, B J said, the club has practiced patiently and is expecting to present an even better performance than in previous years to retain the reputation built up by the performances given in the past.

As contrary to the custom in years past, dress rehearsals will be closed to the public.

Tarpon Movie

Continued From Page One

sips, surface dives, and ballet legs executed by the club.

Duet surface and underwater swimming, featuring Betty Sue Singleton and Theresa Myers, was one of the high lights of the short.

Betty Sue and Jane Singleton, Several; college and Tallahassee girls filled in exciting gaps when the larger formations were used. College girls helping out are Myra Lane, Phillis Strickland, Rosa Lee Davis. Tallahassee girls who swam were Ann Cordell and Betty Thompson.

The cliaperon for the week was Dr E W Manscreen, better known to the girls as "Miss Katie."

This year's short far excels the ones produced in years past, according to the movie directors. Other colleges have asked to see the film in swimming courses. They are founding swimming clubs and have asked the assist tha se not yet been decided. The student body will be invited to see the traditional Thanksgiving decorations of chrysanthemums, greenery, and berries.

WSSF Drive

Continued From Page One

foreign students have multiplied Jessie said.

Members of the WSSF committee at FSC, other than the president, are Margaret Clayton Mc-Elhaney, Beatrice Weaver, Jane Sphear; Virginia Palmer, Reynolds Ann Parker, Bryan; Mary Ellen Broward; Martha Peacock, Gilchrist; Beatrice Weaver, Jane Lewis Rome; Mandolin Cross, Ann Wickham, Marjorie Austin, Elsie Lee Law, Monroe; Barnett, Carolerine Nolan, Janice Richey, Miriam Van Horn, June Worrell, Winifred Hughes, Pat Cleveland, Ann Bamberg, Ann Cornelius, Janet Knight, and Anita Hebble.

Tickets

Continued From Page One

office and have a ticket reserved as soon as possible.

Those interested in working on the ticket committee with Anne are Rita Fraser, Jinkie Airth, Audrey Baker, Letah Glascock, Ann Wickham, Marjorie Austin, Elsie Lee Law, Monroe, Barnett, Carolerine Nolan, Janice Richey, Miriam Van Horn, June Worrell, Winifred Hughes, Pat Cleveland, Ann Bamberg, Ann Cornelius, Janet Knight, and Anita Hebble.

Church Group Lay Thanksgiving Plans

Student Centers Will Have Coffees and Services

Preparations for Thanksgiving day coffees and services for the various religious organizations on campus have already been planned.

The Methodist student hour will hold its traditional Thanksgiving coffee during the time between the campus worship service and the regular Thanksgiving dinner in the dining hall. All of the arrangements are in the charge of Y-T Recreation Committee which includes Rose Young, chairman, Rose Berry, Mary Jane Kirsi, Joyce Cayce, Betty Lu Bree, Betty Jo McBride, Ann McClellan and Cleo Letton. Alumnae and guests will be entertained as well as the Methodist girls on the campus.

On Monday the Presbyterian group will hold a coffee in the clubroom of the Rowena Lemire Building in honor of the Foreign Missions Conference Secretary, Dr Richard Gillespie, from Thomasville, Georgia. The coffee will be from 4 p m until 6 p m. Lillian Lewis, president and the newly appointed Freshman Council, in charge of the arrangements for the affair.

Plan for the annual after-dinner coffee of the Episcopal group will be held at the home of Mrs Bowden at 4 p m until 6 p m on Thanksgiving day. Mrs Bowden is the counselor of the group.

Baptist student hour from 4 to 6 p m to 8 p m on Thanksgiving day. At 5:30 they will have their Thanksgiving vesper service. Rev Dickenson, Rev Dickenson who will speak on "Thanks Be To God." Barbara Holt will lead the singing and have Thanksgiving prayer. There will be a piano and violin prelude and postlude. The 8 o'clock will give the choral benediction. Sarah Norman will give a reading with violin accompaniment. There will also be a solo. The soloist has not as yet been decided. The student body will be invited to see the traditional Thanksgiving decorations of chrysanthemums, greenery, and berries.

Tussy Lipstick Sale
Here's great news for any gal! Close-out, half-price sale on all those smooth, creamy TUSSY Lipsticks in beautiful shades to suit your complexion. Smart vibrant shades to match your complexion and costume. Get yours today!
NOW ONLY 50¢ plus tax

BENNETT'S
COLLEGE INN PHARMACY
PHONE 800
MONROE ST. PHARMACY
PHONE 93

The Florida Flambeau

Alumnae Pass In — Students Pass Out

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

VOL. XXXIII, No. 7 — Tallahassee, Florida — NOVEMBER 24, 1945

Odd-Even Rivalry and Dance Climax Thanksgiving Frolic For Homecoming Weekend

Band to Drill Between Soccer and Hockey Games; Thanksgiving Queen To Be Crowned At Dance in Gymnasium Tonight

A week packed with fun and frolic will culminate this afternoon when the Odds and Evens will clash on the athletic field for the 1945 soccer and hockey games. Before the game, scheduled for 2:30, will be followed by the Band Drill and Concert on the field. The hockey game will be played immediately after the Band Concert.

This evening at 8:30 the Thanksgiving dance will be held at the Physical Educational building. At that time, the Queen of the Thanksgiving dance will be crowned. The queen will be the candidate of the group, either Odd or Even, who sold the most war stamps and bonds during the drive which ended last Wednesday night.

Red, white, and blue and green and gold brought color to lower Bellcot for the past two weeks as the two rivals pitched booths care for the purpose of selling war stamps and bonds. Odd caps and lanterns, and Even feathers. On one side of the hall the Odds erected a tepee of sheets of plenty overflowing with red, white and pussy cats, while opposite them the Evens built a Garden of Even, adorned with a white picket fence. Inside the garden was a tree hung with green feathers and outside the garden, a real live, but very "private space" that was not allowed to enter.

The early morning Color Rush on Thanksgiving brought swarms of cheering people out into the hall as the Odds and Evens in their Even runners make a mad dash to pin their colors on the bulletin board. The Dr. Raymond Bellamy's gym was the arsenal to which the Evens had to go for their building, which was won by the Odd runner making a total of five victories for the Odds. The Evens won a total of four races.

The Thanksgiving Day band performance was presented to the name of "Garnet and Gold" this year. The program was a combination of which followed the demonstration on Thursday and

Continued on page two

Dr Shores Speaks At Worship Service

History of Thanksgiving Is Subject of Address

A resume of the history of Thanksgiving Day was given by Dr. Della L. Shores, professor of history at the annual Thanksgiving worship service which was held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the auditorium.

Music on the program was furnished by the Florida State Collegette Club who sang the "Recessional" under the direction of Miss Elsie Hamilton. Also a vocal solo by Joyce Funke and accompaniment by Mary Brazz.

The call to worship and the responsive reading were both led by Sarah Katz after which Dr. Dask B Campbell gave the Thanksgiving prayer.

The speaker, Dr. Shores, started with the first Thanksgiving of the Pilgrims which was held in 1620, and traced the history of Thanksgiving up to the present day and President Truman's proclamation of November 29, 1945.

Dr Shores first mentioned that in 1621, Governor Bradford recommended a Day of Thanksgiving after the severe winter of 1620 and 1621 when many colonists were forthcoming.

The earliest known formal proclamation, said Dr. Shores, was issued by the Council of the town of Charlestown, Mass., on June 20, 1676, and appointed June 29 as a day of fasting and prayer for Thanksgiving and praise to God for his goodness and favor."

More the next eighteenth

Continued on page two

Star Appears Monday Night

Capacity Audience Hears Donald Dickson Sing

Donald Dickson, star of radio and concert, sang to a capacity audience Monday night in the auditorium as the third artist series event.

The first part of the program included: "There Is Peace" by Winifred Burg. "The Bailiff's Daughter" by Frederick Corder, "Ich Grolle Nicht" by Franz Shaded" by Herbert Hughes, and "Good Ale" by Peter Warlock. These selections were eighteenth and seventeenth century poems set to music.

Following this, Mr Dickson sang a number of German works including "Du Meine Seele" by Brahms, "Er ist's" by Hugo Wolf, "Auf dich die Liebe beruhet" by Marx. "Traum durch die Dammerung" by Strauss, and "Es werde Licht" by Erich Wolf.

Completing the third part, Mr Dickson sang "Ho Ye Hirelings" by Handel, piano-accompanist, played "Prelude" "Arabesque," Waltz, "La Plus Que Lente," and "Gaspard de la Nuit," all by Debussy. He played "Etude Tableaux de Lisle," also by Debussy as an encore. After these, Mr Dickson sang "Nemico Della Patria" by Giordano and "The Vagabond Kins" for an encore.

After a brief intermission, Dickson sang "Hills of Donegal" and Mecnikoff "The Statue" by Cui, and "The Coal" by Mussorgsky.

The final part of the program included: "You are So Small" and "Autumn" by Laurence Stevens, Dickson's accompanist, and "Northbound" and "Don't Ask Me Lawd" by Marlin Skiles.

Dickson was recalled three times for applause when he sang for encores "Nuffin' Plus Nuffin", "A Woman is a Sometime Thing" from "Porgy and Bess" by George Gershwin, and "Old Man River" by Jerome Kern.

Campbell Receives Book Ends as Gift

A pair of book-ends were presented to Dr Doak S Campbell, president of the college, yesterday as his birthday dinner in Landis dining hall last Friday night. Miss Mary Louise Cox, secretary, and members of Judiciary attended.

In charge of invitations, decorations, and place cards for the dinner were Mary Elizabeth and Rebecca Bouton. Frances Myers, junior class president, Connie Lee, sophomore class president, and Audrey Perry, freshman adviser, made arrangements for the election and presentation of the gift.

As has been the custom in years past, students gathered in front of the dining hall after dinner to sing college songs, such as "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow!" When Dr Campbell appeared they wished him a happy birthday in song.

Members of the senior class went afterwards to his home and presented him with his birthday cake. Hilda Jane Brown, president of the senior class, and Gladys Lester, vice - president, poured punch.

Nuts To Be Sold

Peanuts will be sold this afternoon at the outdoor hockey and soccer games under the sponsorship of the members of Mortar Board. They were also sold at all four performances of the Odd and Even demonstrations.

Members of Mortar Board will also sell cold drinks at th. games which will end at the Thanksgiving dance tonight if enough drinks are available.

Odds, Evens Present Annual Thanksgiving Demonstrations; Clark and Quinby in Charge

'Pinocchiodd,' 'Rome Was Never Like This' Are Themes of Presentations Given Admidst Cheers and Crackling Peanuts

Amid the rousing cheers of loyal teams, the crackling of peanuts, and the best wishes of alumnae through telegrams, the Odds and Evens presented their annual demonstrations for the 1945 Thanksgiving season Tuesday through Friday nights in the auditorium. In accordance with the drawing for presentation nights, the Evens gave their production under the leadership of Ella Mae Quinby Tuesday and Thursday. Odd Demonstration was presented on Wednesday and Friday with Nell Clark in charge.

"Pinnochiodd" and "Rome Was Never Like This" were the productions given by the Odds and Evens, respectively. Two performances of each demonstration were necessary this year because the increased enrollment made it impossible to seat everyone at one show.

"PINOCCHIO WANDERS THROUGH" ODD PRODUCTION

Pinocchio, the little wooden creation of Geppetto's genius, who gets into trouble by playing hooky with Jiminy Cricket through Easter Inn, the low-down sin city somewhere Texas, to the safety of FSC's campus where he becomes a real-live boy and is re-named Pinocchiodd was the version of the schoolboy story presented at Odd demonstration last Wednesday and Friday nights in the auditorium.

In Act I, just before New Year's of an Odd year in Geppetto's toy shop, Pinocchio, played by Van Deurs, was being chisled, sawed and generally worked by foster father Geppetto, played by Louise Shonter. Jiminy Cricket, played by Nancy Whitfield and Figaro Ite Cat, who was Patsy McCullen, were interesting bystanders. Suddenly, the block of wood came to life, and as the Fairy Godmother, played by Ann Cade, the purple fairy appeared with a magic wand, Pinocchio became, and told him to journey to FSC, home of the Odds. "But can little Boy go there, too?" asked Pinocchio. "Yes," said Fairy Godmother, "but another legislature passed a bill making FSC Co-Odd."

In Act II, feeldom Honest Jimb, Bookie McMichael, and Foulfeath, er, Terry Johnston, with "feather your weak" Bird and Ann Cade the den of Eater Inn. An Odd swing band led by Jim Sasser, "Swingin' boogie woogie," and Laura Simpson, Hazel Charlton, and Ruth Kennedy harmonized on a song

Continued on page three

Students Are Urged To Submit Material

Students are being urged by Winifred Meldrim, editor of the Florida Flambeau, to submit material for the winter issue, the deadline of which is December 15, Miss Winifred said that this issue would stress short stories, familiar essays, and other features of the students' life. She said that a very few short stories were in for the last fall issue, and she hopes that so many more will be submitted for the next edition.

Printing has already begun on the fall issue of Folio, and it was said that this issue is expected to come out the first week in December

"ROME WAS NEVER LIKE THIS" IS EVEN THEME

Rome, having a slightly modern Canada Dry Ginger Ale flavor was admitted in the silk, "Rome Was Never Like This" or "Mark Word, Mark," was the theme presented in Even demonstration Tuesday and Thursday nights in Westcott auditorium. First on the bill was Ella Mae Quinby and Bates, proclaiming that Mark Anthony would address the populace of Rome in the event of darkness began to fall a group of slaves effectively executed a modern dance with the cows began to gather to hear the speech of the citer's hero. With the fashion of Rome (Ala Wesner) arrived to inspire the people to cheers and shouts of adoration.

As Mark was leaving after his pep talk in the Forum, he met

Continued on page two

Winner of Contest Revealed at Games

Odd-Even Rivalry in Sale Of Bonds Concluded

This afternoon with the presentation of the sponsor of the Thanksgiving games, Odds and Evens will learn which group bought the majority of bonds and stamps in the seven days war bond sales totaled $3,377.75.

This drive was sponsored by the Odd and Even honoraries, Spirigins and Esteren, in an effort to make bond buying on campus more effective.

The bond was put up by the Freshman Flunkies and was opened for business Wednesday, November 14.

The candidates for the honor of being queen of royalty called Odd and Even treetimes Secretelections at the meetings have been announced by the Odd and Even faction to be presented if they should be victorious.

Last year's sponsor, Marjorie Philyaw, an Odd, will be present to crown the queen.

"This is the last victory bond drive" Helen Sasser, Even Princesses for Uncle Sam show a vital interest in campus life."

The drive was under the direction of Corrine Johnston, while the Odd activities were directed by Geneva Bettle.

Ella Mae Quinby direct. Even production of "Rome Was Never Like This" or "Mark My Word, Mark!"

Play To Be Presented

'Time and the Conways' To Begin Thursday

"Time and the Conways," the drama speech department production of the year, will be presented in the Augusta Conradi Little Theater next Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Admission price is fifty cents. Reserved seats may be obtained at the box office in the History building between the hours of 4:30 and 6:00 and from 7:30 until 9:00 every afternoon and evening Monday through Wednesday.

Miss Mary Wood, assistant professor of speech, will direct J B Priestley's play. "Time and the Conways" is a play of mood and emotional relationship, a psychological study of human beings and how character development rather than plot development.

The setting is in Newlinsham, London Act 1 and Act III are set in the living room of Mrs Conway's home after World War I. The Conway brothers, Alan and Robin, have returned from war and the family is together once more. The highlight of Act II is the charades. This is a guessing game in which each syllable of a word is acted out in pantomime tableau or action. Act II portrays Kay's twenty-first birthday, as do the other two, only 26 years later. Within the script itself, the cast is given minimal directions and cues for the benefit of the audience.

Katherine Steed will portray

Continued on page two

DeWitt Is Appointed Residence Counselor

"This is my first job," explains Miss Delores DeWitt, newly appointed residence counselor in Jennie Murphree. A recent graduate of the University of Georgia, she majored in home economics and minored in journalism. Miss DeWitt comes to Florida State College from Evansville, Indiana, and "Mom with her rest of Annie, I'm an Odd. Miss DeWitt remarked "I am" also added, "I am intrigued by the unique system of Odd-Even competition, which is the basis for all activities among the campus. Moreover, I have especially enjoyed the opportunity I've seen in sports shown by students at FSC."

A member of Miss DeWitt increases to 15 the number of residence counselors now in the dormitories at FSC.

Torch Night Is Scheduled

Sophomores Give Torches To Freshmen Thursday

The traditional Torch Night service which symbolizes the Freshmen receiving the torch of knowledge from the hands of the sophomores will take place Thursday night at 7:30 p m.

Pat Patuchall, chairman of the ceremony, instructed all freshmen to wear white and meet on the sunken gardens in front of Jennie Murphree hall at 7 p m. She urged them to come early in order for all of them to get their individual torches and get their places in line.

The main program is in the form of a Greek pageant and is staged behind Westcott where the sophomores will give their platform so that they can be seen by all those present.

Following the sophomore chant their line from the sunken gardens to Westcott, Ann Carolyn Allison, president of College Government Association, will explain the ceremony to the audience. It is based on the original Greek one honoring Prometheus the god of fire. The Greeks supposed that by receiving this fire from the torch of Prometheus they would acquire the opportunity of knowledge. They believed that it was the duty of each person to hold his torch high

Continued on page five

Students to Sign Forms for Rooms

Students will sign forms on Monday requesting rooms for next month by the winter quarter of school, January 2 to March 20, according to Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence.

No deposit will be necessary to reserve rooms for students already living on campus.

The form is to be distributed by the floor chairmen of all residence halls and of cottages to every student, whether she plans to change her room or not.

These forms will be collected by the floor chairmen and will be turned in to the residence halls offices and then to Miss McCollum's office.

"Notices of official room change from this office are expected to be given to students after 12." Miss McCollum said. "They will be accepted and distributed.

The first moving day is Saturday, December 15, before Christ-

Continued on Page Three

College Infirmary Proves To Be FSC Rest Home and Sick Bay, Equipped to Meet Emergencies as Well as Ordinary Accidents

BY BARBARA FARRAR

The rhythmical beat of a swinging door, the echo of footsteps on a tile clad hallway . . . the metallic clinking of steel instruments in the distance. . . . These are the sounds that a newcomer to the college infirmary carries away with her.

Since 1926 the infirmary has been given special attention to the many minor ills and emergency treatment of the students. Dr Swan's the same modernly equipped building now on campus, however. Upon the patients were inadequately housed by Reynolds Annex. Here the sick were given a bed on the "porch," the division which now connects the infirmary to the present dormitory. The normal accommodation of the building was 60 students. Four regular nurses, a doctor, and two scholarship nurses composed the entire staff.

This is quite a contrast compared to the new four story edifice which we erected five years ago. A staff of eight persons are now on duty including the college physician, Dr Dorothy Chayes; a head nurse, Miss Ruth Hall; five graduate nurses, Mrs Marjorie Bran, Miss Jimmie Couch, Mrs Mertice Gaskins, Mrs Flossie Bailey, Miss Edith Moore and Miss Pay McCracken. Miss Mermaret Maxwell serves as secretary to the infirmary. A group of six maids and one janitress, under the direction of Mrs W T Williams, sees that the numerous rooms are kept clean and attractive for the patients.

Many students have never seen inside the infirmary farther than a hasty peek from the outside. Scales provided. Here they have the numerous tabs of the sadistic treatment the b lieu visiting nurse gives them at the first sniffle. The suspicion of a visit there brings forth a shriek of "What? Me go to that mouse?" or "They'll never get me in the "inferno." However, a recent survey proves that anyone who is reasonably sicere [illegible] and receive at least one visit there.

A sunlit west facing sun porch is the room commonly known as the "spray chamber." Here sore throats and colds are treated with the use of an efficient spraying device. Here also cold tablets are distributed to the students and all the final verdicts given as to whether you go "up" or "out." On the first floor is the dispensary. In this room the nurses speak to him and fearful demons as they beckon with bared hypodermic needles to trembling victims. When it is all over, however one agrees that the suspense was worse. Most of the private electric refriterator has been installed which keeps all the vaccines and serums at the proper temperature.

The X-ray room is one of which the staff is very proud for here is found a modern General Electric X-ray machine and Surgery completed. A d.. room is provided in which the pictures taken are developed. Mrs Mertice Gaskins, technician keeps all pictures on file for future reference.

There are always three duties about the infirmary that every patient lives for—breakfast, lunch, and dinner. Although lunch and dinner are served on trays in the ward, in the infirmary has a large electrically equipped kitchen for the preparation of breakfast and also for nurses' meals. Large containers are kept filled with ice cream and trays are kept warm until delivered by the maids to the various rooms. No less need be said for the poor nurses always going over a dumbwaiter for their meals.

Another thing housing the patients lives quarters for six nurses except the north end of the building. Here in the accommodation of a house in miniature are a living room, sitting room, kitchenette and the use of the

Continued on page three

Odds and Evens Clash Today In Hockey and Soccer Games Climaxing '45 Homecoming

Thanksgiving Spirit Runs High With Competition Promising To Be Close; Games to Start At 2:30 on Hockey Field

Climaxing the height of Odd-Even rivalry, the Odd-Even soccer and hockey teams will clash today in the traditional Thanksgiving games. The soccer teams will battle for the winning score at 2:30 this afternoon, and the hockey game will follow at 4:00. For the first time in the history of Odd-Even competition, victory or defeat rests on the hockey and soccer teams, and the contest promises to be n

Continued on page three

Even feathers and Odd caps already been dusted off and aired out. Leading the cheers at the game will be the Odd cheerleaders: Alice Nell Brooks Marshall, Henrietta Treevant, Wyiene Bender, Gloria Lane and Mary Alice Pitts; and the Even cheerleaders; Betty Jo McAtee, Ann Wilder-muth, Katherine Donnelly, Jean Ann Ramsdell, "Dip" Brown and Norma Schaeffner.

In the past three years the soccer games have been tied so that both teams will be out to win and put their sid- ahead. Last year the close-fought game ended with a 1-1 tie.

Evidence from last week's soccer clas games shows the Evens in a tough spot. The Evens won and on 'to In the first game the Evens won a score of 5-0, but the hard-fighting Odd team came from behind to even up the score with a 6-6 tie.

The Odds are confident of winning this time, according to Virginia Lee Hall, captain of the Odd leaders Virginia says, "I would not dare say positively what the outcome of this game, We are ready to meet the Evens and I'm sure that we have a good team." Hovens Odd coach, affirmed that the Odds have a score of 5-0, but the hard-fighting Odd team came from behind to even up the score with a 6-6 tie.

The Odds are confident of winning this time, according to Virginia Lee Hall, captain of the Odd leaders Virginia says, "I would not dare say positively what the outcome of this game, We are ready to meet the Evens and I'm sure that we have a good team." Hovens Odd coach, affirmed that the Odds have a score of 5-0, but has plenty of Odd pep.

Catherine Gallagher, the Even leader, is also confident of victory "We have a good team that has had much practice in the class games so we aren't contemplating defeat," she said.

Members of the Odd team are: Lea Wells, Shirley Palmer, Jo-anne Boyer, Helen Lasley, Mary Jean Satterfield, Mary Calley, Bayle Culbreth, Sarah Lou Wells, Reid Sanders, Pauline Thirstie, Virginia Palmer, Rachel Chambers, Martian Looby, Betty Edwards, Betty Gardner and Tweep Barry.

The Even members are: Candy Jones Eloise Boyles, Alva Ray, Beginning his study of music Regina Hall, Elaine Gavran, Evelyn Shea, Catherine Sullivan, Rosemarie Perry, Jeanne Bowden, Peggy Wells, Mary Lois Coon, Babe Sanders, Jean Little, Jean Fiess and Betty LaBree.

Betty Jo Jones spent the week end in Miami with friends and devot-

Continued on page two

Dr Eyman Attends Meeting at U of F

Dr R L Eyman, dean of the School of Education, attended a meeting of Southern Council Correspondents at the University of Florida in Gainesville Tuesday and Wednesday of this week during which he participated in discussions of problems and plans for teachers and the need for teachers in Florida.

Housing facilities for the schools and the responsibility of the county in the field of teacher training and internship programs were also discussed, Dr Eyman reported, according to Dr Eyman. The meetings which were composed of 15 or 16 persons, a portion of its program of training for county supervisors, were also concerned with the problem of certification of teachers and with the state supervisory program instituted at the last session of the state legislature.

Dr Eyman and also Mr Milton W Carothers, registrar, were present at a meeting of the Teachers' Educational Advisory Council held in Miami. Mr Carothers also attended the Youth Resources conference.

Honorary Elects

New officers for the year were elected at the first meeting of the Delta Psi Kappa honorary, held last Monday afternoon. Helen Tarapani was elected president; Ruby Faul, vice-president; Joan Shanor, secretary; Emma Jean Hackle, treasurer; Mary Thisler, historian; and Dr Dorothy Hoffman, sponsor.

The next Monday in every month was set aside as the date on which regular meetings will be held.

Dodd to Give Talk Thursday in Annex

Musical Program by Majors Will Precede Address

Dr William G Dodd, dean emeritus of the College of Arts and Sciences, will be guest speaker at a program to be held next Thursday at 3 p m. in Recital Hall in the Music Annex. Dr Dodd will speak on "Improvition and Popular Music."

Beginning his study of music in 1897 with the Gulman Organ school in New York, Dean Dodd taught private lessons for a while. He has also been a member of the music staffs of two colleges, Franklin college in Angola, Indiana, and Boxwell college in Nashville, Tennessee, from which he came to Florida State College in 1910 as head of the department of the School of Arts and Sciences until his retirement in May of last year.

Presecdne Dr Dodd's address will be a short musical program by seven majors of the department.

Emily Bridges will play "Sonata in A Major" by Scarlatti, Mozart's "Rondo in D Major" will be played by Helen Edmiston, Bess-Marie Kucinski, accompanied by Mary Margaret Hunter, will play Farro Senna Eurillez" by Gluck Corland Morrer will play two dances by Schuna and Grieg's "Warum?" and "Grifferr" Wilda Hayes will play "Prelude in G Minor" by Brahms. "Polka" by Silver Cascade" by Ethelbert Nevin, Eleanor Brass and Fann Tyewick will play Nelman's "The Butterfly."

Both faculty and students are invited to attend.

Lt Edith Manford Talks on Program

The regular Garnet and Gold radio program of Florida State College was presented Thursday by the Alumnae Association. Miss Louise Gehan alumnae secretary interviewed First Lt Edith Manford of the Army Air Forces Army Nurse Corps, who told of experiences as a prisoner of war.

Manford was a dietitian on the refuge staff before going into the service for 30 months in the service 25 were spent in France and England.

Across the radio talk week's edition of Garnet and Gold were Myrtle Avery flutist, and Lillie Woods, accompanist, who rendered "Intermezzo" from Cavalleria Rusticana, by P Mascagni and "Reverie" by Claude Debussy.

Announcing the program was Miss Patricia Woodworth, FSC publicity director.

Alumnae Here For Weekend

200 Graduates Honored At Gala Celebration

Graduates of Florida State College came back to their Alma Mater in droves this Thanksgiving weekend to see old memories of the years they spent here and to compare notes as to what they have done since they left with the diplomas in hand. The Alumnae office expected nearly 200, which was about the same number as last year's "returnees," number as last year's "returnees." The alumnae was planned by the Alumnae Association, Estere n, Spirgis and Mortar Board. An Alumnae coffee and doughnut party will be held this morning at 11 o'clock in the small lounge of the Longmire building, with Mrs Arthur West, formerly Jane Mallison Gowan, '22, as chairman. Serving on her committee were Florence Tryon '34, Virginia Green '43 and Betty Harrison, '39. Esteren entertained at breakfast Thursday morning at the Rainbow Grill and member of Mortar Board were hostesses Friday in the Soda Shop for a get-together. Spirogira held a breakfast Thursday morning in the Spic.

The class of '45 held a reunion immediately following the Alumnae coffee this morning Plans were made to meet in the Spic to enjoy sandwiches and cokes.

About 16 members of the class of '45 will gather together in New York City this weekend, according to a letter from Betty Lewis, permanent class president.

Traditionally the dormitories and sorority house hold open house Thursday afternoon, and these functions were attended by the alumnae.

In addition to the hat in the Flambeau last week of returning alumnae to come to the Spic and cheer for the teams at the big games: Penton Davis Avant '08, Iris Wilson Nicholson, Flora Floyd '17, Sarah Frances Jones '22, Vida Martin '26, Ruth Martin '27, Alice Nicholson '27. Of the class of 42: Jeanette Thorpe Lesle, Sarah Gallop, Ann Bowling; class of '43: Ruby Hutson, Octavia B Edwards, and Cleo Lochas. In the class of '44 Marjorie Morrison, Harriet Knarr, Mary Katherine Kathryn Watkins, Mildred Ford, Laurel Pierce, Octavia M Coker.

Among visitors returning in the '45 class were Irene Johnston, Betty Lou Boynton, Dorothy Caswell, Emmie Nicholson, Dorothy Terry, Mickey Fountain, Joyce Tongue, Doris Bullock, Betty Wells, Mary L Ceighert, Margaret Fisher and Bonnie Kindig.

Also coming in for the festivities were: Susan Lee Wible, Elenor Mae Sims, Mary Malone Krentzman, Mable Houser, Hope King Hines '41, Lillian Bowness, Marion Bowness, Mable Martin '34, Juleina Martin, Mary Baker, Mattie Lee Ray, Alice Hamlin, Winona Murphy, Elizabeth Leach, Florence Wanzer, Aleyne Clayton Haines, Edith Mandford, Betty Harrison, Dora Shiper, Anna M Sikes, Bernie Gramlins, Eva Culley, Josie Atkinson, Dotie B Hall, Galsagin, Anita Mitchell and Alice McKenny Anderson.

Dr Shores

Continued from page one

century the custom of Thanksgiving became a firmly established local institution in New England. It was an annual family festival of great importance.

Dr Shores pointed out that Continental Congress was the first to issue a recommendation that worldly employment be set aside on that day.

After six years of having no public observances, Thanksgiving was reenstated by George Washington in 1789 for the last Thursday of November, the speaker said.

The next president to set aside a special day for giving Thanksgiving was John Adams on May 9, 1798.

President Thomas Jefferson would not issue any such proclamation. He opposed the belief that this savored too much of monarchial practice, Dr Shores explained.

Forty-seven years elapsed before President Lincoln proclaimed a national day of thanksgiving on April 15, 1862.

From 1870 to 1939, Dr Shores told that the President of the United States has appointed and proclaimed a Thanksgiving Day. For these 69 years it was consistently the last Thursday in November. President Roosevelt broke the tradition by proclaiming the fourth Thursday. In 1940 he declared the third Thursday. There was so much objection that in 1941 he returned to the former practice. Later in that year, a joint congressional resolution decreed the fourth Thursday as Thanksgiving day for all future years.

Doctor Shores concluded her address by reading a part of President Truman's message to the people of our country in calling us to this observance.

Odd Lanterns, Even Sheets Are Sign Of Annual Nights Out

Odds and Evens journeyed about the campus in the traditional magic dances that are features of the annual Odd night out and Even night out.

Following their snake dance Thanksgiving night, the Odds carrying multi-colored lanterns, gathered at Westcott steps where Miss Calliope Papalus, instructor in physical education, and Dr Raymond Bellamy, professor of sociology, were short pep talks by the Odds. Led by members of Pansigma and by the newly elected Odd cheerleaders, the Odds, who as the junior and freshman classes total 1,240 of the 2,446 members of the student body, joined in singing Odd songs which instructor had "borrowed" the band by Evens in the farthest wing of Landis.

Their singing soared high last night as the wearers of the green and gold celebrated their victory. Dressed in sheets, sophomores and seniors met in front of Westcott after which they did a snake dance about campus, ending up in the field behind Jennie Murphree dormitory. There, around a big campfire, the Even cheerleaders led the group in songs and yells and pep talks were given by Dr Raymond Bellamy, Dr Harold F Richards, professor of physics, and Miss Grace Fox, instructor in mathematics.

Meeting Attended

Dr Marcie Burks, professor of Spanish, left Thursday night for Columbia, South Carolina, where she attended the Southeastern Modern Language Association meeting. Dr Burks is a member of the executive committee of this association.

When the meeting convenes this week-end it will be for the first time since the war began. Before the outbreak of war it was an annual affair.

Odd-Even Rivalry

Continued from page one

Friday night, and one to be given at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the annual school life in Florida. The various swimming strokes were in rhythm to the tunes represented by the Odds and Evens on the campus.

The "turkey day" brought turkey a la king as the main dish of Thanksgiving dinner, plus an extra helping of cranberry sauce and green lima beans: an Odd collard salad of spicy cabbage and celery strips; sweet potatoes; and fruit cups of apricots and cherries to bring out the Even colors of green and gold. Centering each table was a miniature pumpkin filled with ice cream, cookies and toasted pecans were served for dessert.

In many of the sororities halls and sorority houses after dinner there was entertainment in which the denominational student houses had teas, coffees, and programs to bring out the spirit of Thanksgiving.

The rival spirit was put away Thursday morning at 10 o'clock for few minutes of solemn worship in the Westcott auditorium. A service opened with the Call to Worship, followed by responsive reading, a prayer, and a song by the Glee club. Dr Venila L Shores gave an address on the history of Thanksgiving.

Each Thursday classes were resumed yesterday after a day of celebration on Thursday. Homecoming activities continued last night when the Odds opened the curtain on their final demonstration, the first one since heaven's riven Wednesday night

After the Odds and Evens drew straws for privilege of having Wednesday and Friday nights to give their Dem. is fell to the Evens to give thirs on Tuesday and Thursday nights. It was then that the Evens showed their talent in their production of "Rome Was Never Like This, or Mark My Word, Mark." The Odds then retaliated on their nights with their production of "Pinocchio."

It was Thursday night at 11:30 when the Odds flocked around the concert steps with their lanterns in hand to begin their pep talk. Last night the Evens wrapped in their white sheets, surrounded the campfire on the front of Murphree hill to hear their pep talk.

And Then

The committee in charge of the Five Thanksgiving program was Miss Bertha Shepherd, Miss Mary Margaret Clements, Miss Louise Gowan, Mrs Edith Gullet, Mrs Frances Lore Miss Anna M Tracy, and Miss Edith McCollum, chairman.

Rome

Continued from page one

learned soothsayer of Rome, played by Margaret Baugh, hurried up to him with the ominous words, "Mr Anthony, you have a problem!" The soothsayer muttered in his low voice heard but recording to the oracle. Mark would have to live up to the highest Evens ideals at all times if his reign was to be successful. His failure would cause himself and all the citizens of Rome to be banished to the Dodoridi. Three days of the soothsayer proved to be the key to the ensuing plot, for besides the friendly Evens, three Odds, namely Brutod, Corinne Johnston, Shaky, Rose Maria Perro, and Itchy, Catherine Sullivan, overheard the soothsayer's prophecy and began planning Mark Anthony's downfall. In their search for a plan of action "perhaps they could" they decided to break down Mark's strength of character first, and upon failure of that they would test his honesty. Even spirit, courage, wit, and lack of a few worthwhile did fallen his valor. A bit of Odd atmosphere was brought into the picture when Brutod and Corinne came to confer with the intriguers. Their plot was to put poison on Mark Anthony's office, where Brutod put in a call to Cleod, played by Bonnie Hunt to fix to Rome and get her work. Soothsayer to break down Mark's strength of character M a r k Anthony came in person and announced that he would be having an executive committee meeting in five minutes and asked why the Odds were found in his office. Brutod, Corinne, Shaky and finally excused himself by stating that he had come for his "after dinner mint candy." This candy was made with slightly erasti material. Perro was next for favoring with a cold cream for butter. "It smelled grand," she laughed, "but you could see the look on the faces of the recipients as they bit into it."

Another teacher remembered the plays given by the students

Honorary to Give Cup to Sophomore

Omicron Nu, home economics honorary, will present the scholarship cup to a sophomore at the Home Economics club meeting to be held in the auditorium of the Lunsford building Wednesday at 7:45. Since 1926, this cup has been awarded annually, in recognition of scholarship, to the sophomore home economics major who maintained the highest average during her freshman year. Miss Carolyn Fierstos, president of the chapter, will present the scholarship cup.

Immediately following the meeting, a brief reception honoring the winner of the cup will be held in the Lonemire clubroom. The Home Economics club invites all home economics students to attend.

Strange Rules of Bygone Days Revealed as Teachers Reminisce

Cokes, pickles, fried chicken, and ice cream blacklisted! Students at Florida State College about 1925 were not only forbidden to eat those particular delicacies at any time but were also restrained from eating between meals. This and many other rules were laid down by some one hundred years ago, when the present teachers began to reminisce about the days they spent as students at FSC.

One teacher said, "When the authorities ruled there would be no eating between meals, they meant it." She remembered that the chairman of the discipline committee used to stand just inside the door of Westcott and take the names of all the girls "perfectly hungry" to see the "candy store" before mealtime.

"Law and order" hung at breakfast, though," laughed another teacher, Breakfast was a must, and lack of it was punishable at the head of each table, and "no" was checked on a little pad that hung there. The girls were allowed a few cuts at breakfast, though, as well as at all other compulsory gatherings.

Dining room etiquette was very compulsory, added an instructor were chapel services and church attendance. Faculty members sat there held every day. The girls were, of course, allowed to pick their own church, but regardless of the strength of their religious convictions they had to attend all its services each Sunday.

"But don't think we didn't have fun, too," said one teacher. One of the favorite pranks of the girls about 1910 was "candy gift candy." This candy was made with slightly erasti material. Perro was next for favoring with a cold cream for butter. "It smelled grand," she laughed, "but you could see the look on the faces of the recipients as they bit into it."

Another teacher remembered the plays given by the students as having been quite a bit of fun. "At that time," she said, "the girls were not allowed to wear slacks at all." All the plays were given behind a waist-high curtain, which was stretched across the entire width of the stage. This successfully hid the dresses of the girls, but couldn't do much about their long hair.

"But the most fun of all were the mock faculty meetings," said one instructor, surprisingly. The girls borrowed the teachers' clothes, copied their speech and their mannerisms. Only the most skillful performers among the students were chosen, and the imitations were so good that no one ever failed to recognize the teacher being mocked. "I guess they think we can't take it now," she added.

The teachers all agreed that since the school had grown so large, the girls didn't seem to have the same spirit that they did some years ago. But one added sadly, "The girls themselves haven't really changed. It's just that they do things a little differently now."

Play To Be Presented

Continued from page one

Mrs Conway, a high-strung, flighty, high-class woman who loves her children and takes great pride in them. Warren Green, as Alan Conway, is an easy-going, optimistic member, who, with Kay, played by Anne Hunter, is the unifying force of the family. Ralph Donaldson as Robin Conway, the youngest son, is one of a very romantic and "no count" nature. Sarah Lewis is Hazel Conway who has wondered the world beautiful young lady of Newlingham, Claire St John takes the part of Joan, a friend of the family, very sweet and naive, with whom Robin falls in love. Maude Conway, played by Maureen Petty, who is even more of an idealist than Kay, believes in doing all she can to make the world a better place in which to live. Barbara Nell is Cecily, the youngest Conway, a life-loving and fun-loving girl. Ernest Bevers, a family friend and lawyer, who can take the part of Gerald, who is capable and fun-loving young lawyer.

For the first time in several years, the speech department has selected a play with male characters. In real life Even Sellers is a cadet's professor of music at FSC. Mr Sellers had been on leave of absence of over two years in the army as Flight Instructor before returning to the campus this year. He has played in two comedies in the past: "He Who Acts Slapped" and "No Time for Comedy."

Ralph F Donaldson, associate professor of the journalism area has directed plays at the Demonstration school, and has played straight roles and character parts in "Wooden Slippers" and "Enter Madame."

Warren Green teaches English at Leon high school. While at Florida College, he took part in "Pirates of Penzance" and "Winterset."

Interns to Return To Campus Monday

Seminars About Experiences In Teaching Scheduled

The 15 Florida State Colleges students who are interning in state public schools this fall will return to campus next Monday, according to Mr Robert C Moon, director of intern teaching. These girls will then participate in a seminar, lasting the remainder of the quarter, during which they will discuss their experiences with the public schools and information obtained from their method course.

Approximately 70 students plan to do intern teaching during winter and more than 95 the third quarter, bringing the number of students participating this year to 100. The program, therefore, includes more students than at any previous time since its inauguration more than four years ago and three times as many as last year.

In regard to future plans Mr Moon stated that all students who wish to intern next year should submit their applications as soon as they decide to do so. This is necessary, he said, because the directors of intern work, under the county superintendent, the school principal and the critic teacher at each school where a girl plans to do intern teaching.

Those participating in the program this quarter include Ruth Bishop, who is teaching commercial subjects at Leon high school; Jeanette Bowden, high school in West Palm Beach; Ruth Clark, who is teaching grade five in Greenwood elementary school; Martha Jane Brown, social studies at Leon high school in Tallahassee; Betty Jean Devane, commercial subjects at the Miami City high school; Annette Ely, high school in the Alachua elementary school.

Betty Jo Fussell, grade two at South Ward school, Clearwater; Elenalou Benson, mathematics at Lakeland high school; Doris McIntosh, grade three at Lake Shore Smith Elementary school in Gainesville; Mary Belle Rihard, grade three at Lake Shore Elementary school in Tampa; Gladys Silverblatt, social studies at the Andrew Jackson high school in Miami.

Carolyn Fay Smith is teaching social studies at Landon high school in Jacksonville; Virginia Smith, grade three at Woodlawn Tarpon Springs elementary school; Ruth Spivak, the girls grade at Mattie V Rutherford school in Jacksonville; and Ruth Sturrock, science at Palm Beach high school in West Palm Beach.

FSC Girl

Continued from page one

man in bright red dress ran around taking pictures of the house, the decorations and the many miscellaneous scenes. Teddy found herself being pulled into the picture by Ann Shull, and told to pose for a "romantic" picture. One of the scenes, she said that "certain" window and a manhold moan issues from within. I told your friend being crucified. Some poor nurse has just dropped her favorite thermometer."

"It was all such a surprise!" exclaimed Teddy, who is still stunned from the excitement. She said that Saturday afternoon, one of the pledges took all the dates for a tour of the campus. While they were gone, the members had a meeting and nominated three girls for sweetheart; the final votes were cast at the dance that night.

Teddy remembers that one of the members came up to her and said, "Congratulations." "I didn't know what he was talking about," she confided. Then she and the other two girls were taken up stairs and given their bouquets. The other girls (she doesn't remember their names) had her duets of red roses.

Teddy is a member of the Kappa Delta sorority here at Florida State College.

Old-Even Clash

Continued from page one

opting possible "surprise" plays for Saturday's games. The Odds, spurked by the addition of freshman players and backed by experienced juniors should offer some stiff competition to the sophomores and senior Evens. But the Evens' players will "try to keep things from becoming too Even."

In the hockey games the Odds have held a slight edge over the Evens team from the scores of scrimpage games. But they only gained a victory after a bitter struggle, with the hard fighting Evens close behind. When asked her opinion on the coming game Evelyn Stucky, Even leader said, "We Even hockey team is good and we know we are good but this knowledge does not make us over-confident, because we know at the same time that the Odds have managed to whip-up a team that will give us a wee-bit of observation. I know the Even team will be ready to play a good game tomorrow."

Nita Nord Odd leader said, "I am proud of the way the freshmen have learned hockey. The whole team is well coordinated and the freshmen are going to put up a fight against the Evens Saturday that will long be remembered."

Members of the Odd hockey team are: Mary Ann McGrevey, Mary Jackson, Virginia Anthony, Winifred Anthony, Nita Bennett, Sadie Bennett, Mary Nell Goldman, Catherine Gallagher, Virginia Goodall, Lucy Harding, Sis' Miller, Nita Nord, Lucille Osenkop Dottie Patrick, Marji Richardson, Clarie Stoddard and Nancy Ward.

On the Even hockey team are: Sarah Bennett, Shirley Dugan, Audrey Perry Frankie Hall, Dot Parker, Janet Lister, Mary Ann Anna Gelve, Evelyn Stucky, Rosalie Davis, Katherine Benzell, Marion Ford, Jean Benzell, Annamae Thompson, Charlotte Bouland, Ann MacInnes and Irma Lee Shepard

College Infirmary

Continued from page one

on the second floor at the station. Communication between patients and nurses is carried on through a "buzzer" systems. Whenever a patient pushes the light above her door goes on and registers in the station. The nurse then knows which room needs attention.

Also on the second floor is the utility room where the girls wrap sprained muscles take their "daily dip" in the stationary tubs.

Basal metabolism and diathermy machines are two of the latest additions to the infirmary. They are contained in a single room accompanied by a bed so the patient can remain overnight; and next her date early the next morning.

Every medical institution must have a laboratory and the infirmary isn't lacking. Dr Viola Grissett, professor of physiology, is assisted by two students, Tray Thompson and Peggy Limroth, in all the laboratory work.

The third floor is a replica of the second except for the fact that the "untouchables" are kept here. Those poor unfortunate creatures with measles, mumps and other contagious diseases mope away their solitude on half rations.

No, those aren't barred windows on the third floor, either, and again, no padded cells either. This is "doctors' delight," the operating theatre so fully equipped and modernly equipped, the room serves for emergency operations. Dr J Pound, assisted by Dr Chayes, performs all the surgery. Last year there were 12 appendectomies and one skull fracture, but the record is clear so far this year.

The infirmary is awaiting the arrival of a gas-oxygen anesthesia machine for minor operations. The machine operates by means of a little rubber ball placed in the person's mouth and nostrils and it releases nitrous oxide, putting her to sleep. As relaxation takes place there is more oxygen and less ball. Whenever pain is felt she squeezes the rubber ball and again causing an influx of the anesthetic. In this way it is impossible to fail into a deep sleep.

In addition to the operating room there are also a delivery room and nursery accommodating 18 persons each. Cots can be added in emergencies.

Furniture will soon be arriving for the spacious sun deck. Convalescents may take setter the view as well as the sunshine.

So next time you are troubled with that "certain" window and a manhold moan issues from within, I tell your friend being crucified. Some poor nurse has just dropped her favorite thermometer."

Smart Luggage . . .

For a Gala Vacation

Be proud of your traveling bags with one of our new blue airplane-weight valises

11.46 14.55 20.00

Powers Model Hat Boxes

So chic and so handy for your make-up, and other small articles. A thousand and one uses. Sophisticated shades of black and red, blue and white or yellow and white

49c to 79c

Visit Our Ladies' Ready-to-Wear

The Surprise Store

101-105 E. JEFFERSON PHONE 299

Strickland's Brownbilt Shoe Store

TALLAHASSEE, FLA.

SEARS PHONE 2400

SEARS

Sweater Siren

In gloriously colored June O'Day sweaters, you'll win his heart!

They're designed to help you achieve brilliant results.

100% long sleeved wool pullover

Sizes 34 to 40.

Evolution of Years Completed By Elimination of Cut System

This year the cut system which has been in effect here, has been a part of Florida State College life for nearly a decade was eliminated. Attendance of classes is now left to the discretion of the individual student, and although attendance is left to the discretion of the individual teacher.

At one time, back in the days when FSC was "a seminary for young ladies," cuts were allowed. Infirmary excuses were issued in case of illness. Necessary absences were arranged for in advance with the dean of students.

According to the Bulletin issued in 1934, one quality point was deducted for the first unexcused absence; two quality points for the second; three for the third. This was true of all classes except chapel attendance, where one and one half quality point was deducted for each absence. Double deductions were made in case of one or more unexcused absences just before or after a holiday.

The cut system appeared in 1936. The bulletin for that year states that each student, except freshmen and transfers, will be allowed three cuts in any course where than two being in any one one hour course or more than three in any course carrying less than three hours credit. A student was allowed in addition to the three cuts, one-half as many cuts per quarter as she had quality points above a C average, provided the number of cuts in one class did not exceed the number of times that class met per week. If, after using her allowed number of cuts, the student should cut as that her average fell below C, she was placed on academic probation. Students on academic probation had no cuts. The dean of students could grant excuses in cases of extreme emergency.

In 1936, these regulations were amended to allow transfers to have the full number of cuts their class rank permitted. Also, all students having an average under B, except first semester freshmen and students on academic probation, might have a right cut a quarter. Students having a B average or above had no cuts allowed per quarter. Students who absent themselves from a class immediately preceding or following vacation were placed on academic probation immediately upon returning to the college and must explain their cuts until the end of the quarter. At the time of the latter, it was decided by the Registrar's office when she had used all of her cuts. Students who were dropped from one or more cuts for one quarter was placed on academic probation.

If a student cut again, she was called before Executive Council, and, if she could not explain sufficiently, was asked to withdraw.

Unlimited cuts were granted to students making an average of one less than the semester immediately following a B average. In that year, it was ruled that summer school students should not count towards academic probation or honorary points. Students with a B average were allowed two-thirds of a cut for the number of times a class met each week of any course carried. Students having an average of one and not on academic probation were allowed one cut in each semester per week of academic education, two absences equaled one cut.

In 1944, unlimited cuts were given to students who made a 2.0 average each quarter, graduate students, and adult special students. One cut was given for each class meeting. Only those students made C or above, provided that number of cuts per week as the number of times that class met per week. Students making unsatisfactory in any class at quarter lost all further cuts in that class for the remainder of the quarter.

Until the war emergency, a doctor's excuse was required of all day students who remained at home due to illness. Since then, a statement from a parent in the home has been accepted because of the shortage of doctors, a recent handbook says.

This year no infirmary excuses are given. A list of students who spent the night in the infirmary is posted on the faculty bulletin board each day for those who care to consult it. Under this new no-cut system, first quarter freshmen are required to attended classes. Second quarter freshmen making a B average make take the responsibility of attending or not attending classes. Third quarter freshmen are considered as upperclassmen in respect to cuts, according to this year's handbook.

FSC Girls Consume Enormous Quantity Of Thanksgiving Day

Two thousand pounds of turkey, seventy-five gallons of ice cream, and two hundred forty-six dozen cookies constituted a small part of the annual Thanksgiving dinner served Thursday in the dinning hall.

The rest of the menu included sweet potatoes, lima beans, corn, cabbage, celery, olives, rolls, and pecans.

The tables were decorated with a centerpiece composed of oranges, apples, kumquats, and a pineapple, which was raffled off at most of the tables. The dinning hall girls were dressed in white frocks for the occasion.

The ten Even Thanksgiving tables were decorated by members of the Sophomore class. The tables were for the members of Reeves, Even Sixteen, Even Seventeen, the Even soccer archery and hockey and modern dance teams, the sophomore and senior class officers, and the Even members of the Executive council.

Centerpieces were rainbows of green and gold with EVENS written across the top, and the placecards rested on little pine cone turkeys.

The odd tables composed of the four teams members of the odd honorary, Spirogira. Junior class officers, and members of the Executive council, were decorated with placecards in the form of small turkeys which contained the odd songs.

From Me To Y'all

Our first letter looks interesting. It starts: "We think that you are about as sharp as a mashed potato sandwich." How did that get in here? I told my secretary to weed out fan letters such as that. Some group (small and select) don't appreciat. old Shakespeare. Well, it's a free country.

"Cynical" writes us, "I'm sick of it. They keep commenting on the beautiful weather. They say the food is delicious, the rules are lax, life is a picnic, and the dean is swell. Now is when they call college days are the happiest in one's life."

We know that "Cynical" can only be talking about one thing. The seminar. We'd hardly remember good old FSC and who have nostalgic memories this time of year, were it not for those who have poor memories. They forget that the seminar is a must. It proves around it becoming time and we're glad it does. They have gotten their fill and don't spend many hours eagerly portal over to see if Joe could beat the racket Yes, the worst blow of all is when they tell us how much they like it. Then we can suggest for "Cynical" is to drop around the one who is the fervi-scent alumna and explain that we may get pushed around a bit, but we don't spend the money we're happy and when we ain't. Here is a letter from a senior who asks "In my entire four year stay at FSC, I have never seen color film. Will I, before I die, have the opportunity to see a film produced in color?" We could start a new under the PSCW banner. Within its rather flimsy bindings are selected written material carefully gathered by its authors and a few pictures of the student body and the faculty arrayed in sailor shirts, long, ankle-length skirts, and unwept pompadours. Secrets of four sororities which were in the air the campus and announces the beginnings of many of our present campus institutions and also some which now exist only within its pages. The Pinetum and Thalian literary societies, the crescent and star basketball teams, and the Talisman, which is now the Distaff, represent some of these early organizations.

In passing down the row, the succession is broken when 1918 is reached. The publication of the Flastacowo was stopped then and not resumed until 1920 due to conditions created by World War I. Here is a gap of four years, therefore, which standards created by the Flastacowo.

Next the brilliant luster of 1926 a small catches the eye because its cover is of a silver hue. This is the Silver Jubilee number representing the 25th anniversary of the founding of the college.

Progressing further, we take to the other, he sees the efforts of each succeeding one become more extensive and elaborate. The buckskin covers of the fore-runners give way to hard back covers with the 1922 edition. The 1923 book bears in another advance the change from the 8x11 book size to that of 9x12. This difference makes the 1932 issue seem quite small and insignificant beside its larger successor.

That will never happen. A large percentage of the freshman class will go, the team and the biggest women on campus will be there, so naturally it will look like a crowd anyway.

"We don't think Donald liked us," remarks one girl who calls herself, "Disappointed." We know what you mean. At times like this, we like to be kept theirs. At least the Voice puts his heart into it.

"Discouraged" writes this touching note. We know that when one is real ill, the sorrers that be, crocodile tears will roll down withered cheeks because they just don't know what they do to us. Oh, the note. Well, she says, "Have you been hit in the face like I was by the sign in the Alum—oops, pardon us! the Longwire building which says 'Boys Without Dates Not Allowed- I wouldn't mind if it said, 'Men aren't allowed' because I don't know any men. Like the rest of the FSC girls I am forced by circumstance to date boys from junior high to draft age. If they were allowed to come down to the game room and brine their little chums, it might lure them into a game of marbles. Can something be done to fix up some and sponsoring the voting age?"

We are not sure of what this girl's problem really is. She is evidently an intellectual girl with high literary ideals. For this reason may we suggest that the reading matter on this sign be improved? Perhaps we owe an explanation to the little fellows such as this, "Boys Without Dates Proceed at your own risk—Girlies Below", or "Warning—College not Responsible for Safety of Unescorted Youths", or they could grow up and just forbid entrance to "men" instead of "boys". That would be more hospitable sentiful to us. And so Sharpie solves one more maiden's problem.

Florida State College Band will perform this afternoon by executive drills and playing a concert in between the soccer and hockey games.

Now Forgotten Volumes of Flastacowo Unfold Traditions of FSC for 35 Years

The story and traditions of Florida State College lie folded within the 32 volumes of the Flastacowo. On a forgotten shelf in some somewhat dusty memorials of their year, forsaken for the new annual, the one which will stand for all that is the present.

Filling the first space in this shelf is the year book of 1910. It is a little buckskin covered book with the word, "Flastacowo," boldly imprinted on the front, which announced to all of the time that there was something new under the PSCW banner. Within its rather flimsy bindings are selected written material carefully gathered by its authors and a few pictures of the student body and the faculty arrayed in sailor shirts, long, ankle-length skirts, and unwept pompadours. Secrets of four sororities which were in the air the campus and announces the beginnings of many of our present campus institutions and also some which now exist only within its pages. The Pinetum and Thalian literary societies, the crescent and star basketball teams, and the Talisman, which is now the Distaff, represent some of these early organizations.

In passing down the row, the succession is broken when 1918 is reached. The publication of the Flastacowo was stopped then and not resumed until 1920 due to conditions created by World War I. Here is a gap of four years, therefore, which standards created by the Flastacowo.

Next the brilliant luster of 1926 a small catches the eye because its cover is of a silver hue. This is the Silver Jubilee number representing the 25th anniversary of the founding of the college.

Progressing further, we take to the other, he sees the efforts of each succeeding one become more extensive and elaborate. The buckskin covers of the fore-runners give way to hard back covers with the 1922 edition. The 1923 book bears in another advance the change from the 8x11 book size to that of 9x12. This difference makes the 1932 issue seem quite small and insignificant beside its larger successor.

That will never happen. A large percentage of the freshman class will go, the team and the biggest women on campus will be there, so naturally it will look like a crowd anyway.

"We don't think Donald liked us," remarks one girl who calls herself, "Disappointed." We know what you mean. At times like this, we like to be kept theirs. At least the Voice puts his heart into it.

"Discouraged" writes this touching note. We know that when one is real ill, the sorrers that be, crocodile tears will roll down withered cheeks because they just don't know what they do to us. Oh, the note. Well, she says, "Have you been hit in the face like I was by the sign in the Alum—oops, pardon us! the Longwire building which says 'Boys Without Dates Not Allowed- I wouldn't mind if it said, 'Men aren't allowed' because I don't know any men. Like the rest of the FSC girls I am forced by circumstance to date boys from junior high to draft age. If they were allowed to come down to the game room and brine their little chums, it might lure them into a game of marbles. Can something be done to fix up some and sponsoring the voting age?"

We are not sure of what this girl's problem really is. She is evidently an intellectual girl with high literary ideals. For this reason may we suggest that the reading matter on this sign be improved? Perhaps we owe an explanation to the little fellows such as this, "Boys Without Dates Proceed at your own risk—Girlies Below", or "Warning—College not Responsible for Safety of Unescorted Youths", or they could grow up and just forbid entrance to "men" instead of "boys". That would be more hospitable sentiful to us. And so Sharpie solves one more maiden's problem.

exclusively . . .

Rose Laird

Young Skin

Beauty Preparations

THE COLLEGE SHOP

23 Boys to Present Recital Next Week

A boys' musical recital will be presented Friday night, November 30, in the Music Annex, according to Miss Mary Reeder, instructor in piano and piano methods.

This musical group is composed of 23 boys who all play the piano or the violin. The boys themselves make up the entire program including the accompaniments which will be played by Ben Phipps, Larry West, and Bobby Leslie. The three violin players are individually instructed by Miss Clea Simpson, associate professor of violin and theory, and Eleanor Bragg and Rachael Cridwell, both Florida State College music students. The pianists of the group are studying under Miss Reeder or Rebecca Rodenberg, also a Florida State College music student.

This group originated about ten years ago when it was discovered that there were many boys studying music on the campus and since then it has grown to the present number. Miss Reeder stated, Dr Guy Maier, an eminent musical authority, mentioned this boys' musical group in the Etude magazine as being outstanding, Miss Reeder said.

At the conclusion of the program punch will be served by the boys' sisters, Miss Reeder's pet girl protested, "But, Mr Dickson, we aren't allowed to drink at this college."

"I know," he retorted, "that's why I'm going to sing this song."

Turning to another number Dickson jovially prodded his accompanist, "Let's see how fast we can go," he urged. As the crowd looked on in open silence, he continued, "See, it says 'very lively'; that means 'let's get going, kid'."

Gazing about the auditorium, Dickson inquired where the classes were in leveled form being told that they are upstairs and upon observing girls in increasing numbers pop in to watch the show, Dickson shook his head and smiled: "Oh well, what difference do the classrooms make?" he remarked; "you'll never find the students there anyway."

Regarding his screen debut in the Danny Kaye production "Up in Arms", Dickson emphatically stated that he is through with the movies. However, that he can't compete with the cutting Kaye, Dickson dismissed Hollywood as "just a pleasant little town."

"Do you play boogie-woogie?" one piano student inquired impudently of Lawrence Stevens.

While the pianists hestitated, Dickson interposed. "Sure!" he said emphatically. "They then defended boogie-woogie by explaining that while it is not of permanent worth, that type of music is clever and amusing and forms a definite place in American musical expression.

When the girls started to mob-set Lawrence Stevens, who is a faculty member at the Institute of Music in Cleveland, they learned that this is his second season of concert tours with Donald Dickson.

When a student inquired about his favorite musical work Stevens shook his head, "I have none," he said. "Music is too universal. Every composer believes that he is like eating only raw carrots or only roast venison."

Two of Mr Stevens' own compositions, still in manuscript form, were sung by Mr Dickson during the performance. Named, You Are Not Small and Autumn, they were composed on the boats he found in the Good Housekeeping magazine. The composer believes the authors of the poems should have equal credit and should be named on the program. (The audience however, knows where the credits should go).

Mr Dickson came to Tallahassee as part of a tour of the southeastern states. His last engagement was at Pensacola and he expected next to go to Daytona Beach.

Drawings by Kirn Appear in Review

Drawings by Miss Ann Kirn, instructor in art, recently appeared in the Parnassus Review, a literary, children's book issue. They are examples of the drawings which she did for the book Old Caboose, written by Miss Evelyn DeWitt, former student at Florida State College.

The theme of the book is a short review of the school which reads: "Pine swooping lines catch all the exhilaration of transcontinental travel in these pictures of Callie the Caboose's last odyssey. Callie, undistinguished because of her years, is rejuvenated by an elderly couple and hitch-hikes her way across the tracks to California to settle there into a placid old age as a permanent home for her rescuers. The narrative doesn't live up to the dramatic pitch of the drawings, but these will capture the eye and the imagination of the picture book age."

Alpha Lambda Delta To Present Program

Alpha Lamba Delta, freshman scholastic honorary, will present the convocation program Thursday, November 29.

The theme of the program is to be centered around scholarship with all the scholastic honorary to fit the student for living in the world over.

Prior to a discussion period on a vital problem of the day and its relation to the student and education, a faculty member will speak on "The Importance of Higher Learning."

Members and sponsors of Alpha Lambda Delta will compose the group taking part in the discussion and being in charge of the devotional and special music.

Undimmed Lights Enable Star, D Dickson, 'To Have Fun Too'

"I wnt to have fun too," smiled Donald Dickson, baritone, in explaining why the auditorium lights remained undimmed during his concert Monday night. Apparently Mr Dickson enjoyed looking over his audience as much as his audience enjoyed watching him.

This pleasure in his listeners hold a definite clue to the personality of the visiting Metropolitan Opera star. Whether pacing restlessly across the stage or lounging lazily against the piano, Dickson managed to inspire something of his own whole-hearted enjoyment and pure love of singing in all who witnessed his 9 o'clock rehearsal Monday.

Quips were exchanged as a group of admiring girls crowded about the star, enjoying an impromptu concert in the form of his afternoon practice session, although he previously appeared on campus in 1939 and again in 1940, Dickson revisited the auditorium that afternoon because, as he explained, Florida State College, expressed it, artists like to "get the feel" of a hall before their concert.

As the last notes of "Good Night, Sweetheart" took place the girl protested, "But, Mr Dickson, we aren't allowed to drink at this college."

"I know," he retorted, "that's why I'm going to sing this song."

Turning to another number Dickson jovially prodded his accompanist, "Let's see how fast we can go," he urged. As the crowd looked on in open silence, he continued, "See, it says 'very lively'; that means 'let's get going, kid'."

Gazing about the auditorium, Dickson inquired where the classes were in leveled form being told that they are upstairs and upon observing girls in increasing numbers pop in to watch the show, Dickson shook his head and smiled: "Oh well, what difference do the classrooms make?" he remarked; "you'll never find the students there anyway."

Regarding his screen debut in the Danny Kaye production "Up in Arms", Dickson emphatically stated that he is through with the movies. However, that he can't compete with the cutting Kaye, Dickson dismissed Hollywood as "just a pleasant little town."

"Do you play boogie-woogie?" one piano student inquired impudently of Lawrence Stevens.

While the pianists hestitated, Dickson interposed. "Sure!" he said emphatically. They then defended boogie-woogie by explaining that while it is not of permanent worth, that type of music is clever and amusing and forms a definite place in American musical expression.

When the girls started to mob-set Lawrence Stevens, who is a faculty member at the Institute of Music in Cleveland, they learned that this is his second season of concert tours with Donald Dickson.

When a student inquired about his favorite musical work Stevens shook his head, "I have none," he said. "Music is too universal. Every composer believes that he is like eating only raw carrots or only roast venison."

Two of Mr Stevens' own compositions, still in manuscript form, were sung by Mr Dickson during the performance. Named, You Are Not Small and Autumn, they were composed on the boats he found in the Good Housekeeping magazine. The composer believes the authors of the poems should have equal credit and should be named on the program. (The audience however, knows where the credits should go).

Mr Dickson came to Tallahassee as part of a tour of the southeastern states. His last engagement was at Pensacola and he expected next to go to Daytona Beach.

Alpha Lambda Delta To Present Program

Alpha Lamba Delta, freshman scholastic honorary, will present the convocation program Thursday, November 29.

The theme of the program is to be centered around scholarship with all the scholastic honorary to fit the student for living in the world over.

Prior to a discussion period on a vital problem of the day and its relation to the student and education, a faculty member will speak on "The Importance of Higher Learning."

Members and sponsors of Alpha Lambda Delta will compose the group taking part in the discussion and being in charge of the devotional and special music.

FSC Girls Consume Enormous Quantity Of Thanksgiving Day

Two thousand pounds of turkey, seventy-five gallons of ice cream, and two hundred forty-six dozen cookies constituted a small part of the annual Thanksgiving dinner served Thursday in the dinning hall.

The rest of the menu included sweet potatoes, lima beans, corn, cabbage, celery, olives, rolls, and pecans.

The tables were decorated with a centerpiece composed of oranges, apples, kumquats, and a pineapple, which was raffled off at most of the tables. The dinning hall girls were dressed in white frocks for the occasion.

The ten Even Thanksgiving tables were decorated by members of the Sophomore class. The tables were for the members of Reeves, Even Sixteen, Even Seventeen, the Even soccer archery and hockey and modern dance teams, the sophomore and senior class officers, and the Even members of the Executive council.

Centerpieces were rainbows of green and gold with EVENS written across the top, and the placecards rested on little pine cone turkeys.

The odd tables composed of the four teams members of the odd honorary, Spirogira. Junior class officers, and members of the Executive council, were decorated with placecards in the form of small turkeys which contained the odd songs.

LEARN too!

FLY with

TAC

Operators of the Original Civilian Pilot Training Program at F.S.C.W.

WE WILL BEGIN INSTRUCTING IN THE NEW TAYLORCRAFT SOON

CARL HOFFMAN
JEFF LEWIS
FRANK LEWIS
IVAN MUNROE

All Licensed Pilots and Ex-Servicemen With a Total of 35 Years Flying Experience—Military and Civilian

TALLAHASSEE AIRCRAFT CORPORATION

Municipal Airport

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

● WHAT'S YOUR OPINION?

The climax of Thanksgiving festivities seems a poor time to do any rational thinking about anything. The whole college is wrapped up in a gala celebration spirit. Yet it seems as though it is quite apropos to pause a few minutes to visualize just what is going on to make us stay in a continual whirl around this time. Endless practicing for the perfection of Even and Odd demonstrations; working out strategic plays to use against one another in this highly rivaled sports season, soccer and hockey; polishing new and better formations for Tarpon exhibition; careful planning for the Thanksgiving dance, and alumnae get-togethers along with countless other jobs which are not especially noticed but all of which are included in making Thanksgiving weekend a success—all of these things embody the spirit of this week.

This buzzing activity is not created or started overnight. Since the beginning of school many minds have been at work thinking about their part of Thanksgiving weekend. Every day a little more work and a few more plans were set in motion for the successful end to take place this week. Everything comes to a bend starting Tuesday and ending Saturday night with a tired work-crew returning chairs, lights, records, and pop bottles to their owners after "curtain" is called on the Thanksgiving dance at 12 midnight. Cinderella is then once again herself. The extra bottles of kinetic energy can again be put on the shelf for later use—much later.

The point is, without description this time, during the first quarter we have an overload of activities to carry, most of which terminate with Thanksgiving week. In September we, even seniors who know the ropes fairly well, orientate ourselves to college lives again—we discipline ourselves to get in at a certain hour, and we try desperately to get into the swing of studying after, in most cases, a non-academic summer. In addition to re-orientating ourselves at the beginning of the fall quarter, there is Investiture for seniors and sophomores, Artist Series events for everyone, Academic Procession, and YWCA recognition. Do not jump at the conclusion or suggestion that we deem it advisable to liquidate these functions. Reason for mentioning them is only to show that there are other activities boiling on the stove first quarter in addition to the emphasized Thanksgiving Homecoming celebration. Now take a look at the college calendar for second quarter—Youth Conference, Sophomore Hop and Freshman Carnival.

Compared with first quarter's functions it is quite sparsely scattered with special activities which take time and energy of most of the students. As we are not super-women, we are finding out these last few days that we do need at least six hours of sleep now and then, we do owe 100 pages of special Monday morning, we have neglected our daily assignments too often to pose as an intelligencia in class; that in general we are rapidly becoming physical and mental wrecks for working so hard. The revised version of "Hail to the Caps and Gowns"—worn out bags, decrepit old bags—is not peculiar only to seniors! Those who say just being under the quarter system is hard enough are under even more of a strain with additional Homecoming and Thanksgiving activities.

In order to somewhat solve the problem it might be well to consider placing our Homecoming activities in the second quarter. Thanksgiving could then be more fully observed for the purpose for which it was started, a day of thanks. The Thanksgiving dance, Tarpon exhibitions and the regular sports season could be retained on the weekend.

We have already seen that it makes no difference what games are played; those at Homecoming do not command student interest because of the fostered spirit aroused in every loyal Even and Odd. By second quarter most students will have had a quarter's work behind them. We would have a pretty good conception of just how our academic pursuances stack up, thus knowing generally how much we can bite off without finding ourselves caught in the whirl of activities. The demonstrations and second sports season could constitute the exclusive Homecoming weekend; it could easily be placed on the college calendar so that it would not encroach upon Freshmen Carnival, Sophomore Hop, and the Youth Conference—the last two which concern a minority group in comparison to the whole college personnel.

By having Homecoming in second quarter its activities could be exclusive; no Thanksgiving day, no Christmas plans already in the making and practicing stages, no intricate plans yet in working condition on Junior Minstrels or May Day festival.

This is a subject which we should think about for it affects us all directly or indirectly, if we are a true active part of FSC college life. It is hoped that students and faculty members will discuss this in their various groups and express their opinions (at the same time offering constructive ideas) through the letters to the editor column.

● GRIPES GET A HEARING

All is not well with the students of the School of Education at Miami University, in Oxford, Ohio; they feel that the type of schooling they are getting is not entirely satisfactory.

According to the Miami Student, the weekly student newspaper, "gripes and grievances" have been confined to midnight bull sessions, or conversational exchanges between classes for the most part. But having accomplished little in the way of improving what they consider existing evils, they then tok action by electing a student-faculty board whose purpose is to investigate the problems presented in the training of future teachers.

Basic problems which they feel should be given much consideration are the rigidity of the curriculum which Education students are required to follow, the multiplicity of required professional courses often overlapping in content, and the fact that students who decide to make teaching their profession are more often likely to find that they have all but closed the door to satisfaction of any intellectual curiosity they may have outside of their chosen fields.

Required professional courses come in for what often seems to them a disproportionate amount of the student's college training, and that too rigid a curriculum sacrifices to narrow specialization the benefits of a wider college education. They also feel that criticism to the effect that students are "taught how to teach, but not what to teach" is justified.

The newly elected board is to consider the aforementioned question and it is hoped that it will study the prescribed program for teachers which, in general, includes numerous courses in education, but little instruction in subject matter connection with the student teaching, and the application of methods in his study of the principles of teaching.

The board consists of two faculty members and two students elected by the students from each division of the school of education: elementary, secondary and pre-med arts. The board will hold monthly meetings which will be open to all students of the School of Education, and will act as "a co-ordinating group between faculty and students."

This plan originated with students who were concerned with the type of education to which they were being submitted. The faculty evidently was not opposed to students' confining upon what is commonly accepted as the right of professors to decide what shall constitute the program of study.

This, then, is a shining example of faculty-student cooperation which Miami University has set forth for itself and other colleges. Out of it should come advancement for better education with both a small "e" and a capital one.

● WE ARE THANKFUL

Someone has said that gratitude is health of the soul. Callous would be the student who could pass over this season without being grateful for being allowed privileges that didn't even exist not too many years ago.

This beloved campus of more than 2,400 souls, has been spared the ravages and horrors of the devastating outside world. The iron gates protect the school from the cold, cruel reality of life. It is a blessing that adults' problems do not seep into the innocent minds of the students.

The freedom that is enjoyed today at FSC is a costly possession. But former students who have fought for laxity of rules have done no in vain. Their names are written in our minds as having fought that others might attend college in a less binding atmosphere.

Then, let us be thankful for these predecessors. We are indeed grateful for the results of their efforts. It is gratifying to know that all seniors are eligible for Senior Hall, even though those living off campus are not allowed the Senior Hall privileges.

We realize that our being allowed to dance with men is something that students of 15 years ago were not allowed to do. We appreciate this privilege, even though there are few men with whom to dance.

It is a comforting thought to know that we have elevators in the dormitories. And despite the fact that they all aren't for student use, we are thankful that we have up and down conveyances for our maids.

We are thankful for the mercies of the alumnae to whom we are indebted for the Longmire building. We enjoy the basement with its game room and soda shop and we are proud to show the upstairs lounge to our guests.

We revel in the freedom of smoking and don't mind the specific smoking areas. We have learned to control our desire for a cigarette while we study in our rooms.

We can't overlook the new ruling out of the cut system. A little responsibility is good for our self-confidence and we are thankful to feel that we are attending classes out of our own heartfelt desire to attend. We can, for that reason, put up with a few professors who, personally, do not believe in cutting.

We appreciate the dining halls, but we are indeed grateful for the repeal of the rule that enforced students to eat three meals per day in the dining hall. We are delighted in being allowed to go out to eat even if there are only a few places that we may go.

To our predecessors who have struggled for freedom, we are very thankful.

Let us be thankful also that it is our privilege to answer the call of this epochal period in history for women of sound minds and determined purpose, to join together in an effort to bring about a better campus order.

Emory Did Not Hold Its Peace

Student government at Emory University, Georgia, broke down this week as Emory F Via, president of the student body and chairman of the Student Council, recommended in a four page letter to President Harris Purks White that the Council be dissolved for the rest of the quarter and that student government assume its function.

"The Council's record throughout the quarter," said the letter, "and especially its inability to obtain a quorum for the past three meetings is evidence enough that it is in practice a farce. It is unable of meeting the needs of a situation which is fast becoming urgent."

These two paragraphs appeared in the Council's own weekly newspaper of Emory University, and were backed by the following editorial:

"The Decline and Fall"

The Student Council has been dead all quarter.

It needed someone to close the job in grand style, and Emory Via, its president, did this Tuesday. A proposal that the president of the University he he dissolve the Council. He asked the administration to transact the business and of the Council has neglected and to clean house for a new student government in January.

The state of the Council was chaotic. It was a dead organization almost a month. It has passed no budgets. It had not planned a dance for Freshman Day and had done nothing about December elections.

These circumstances justified Mr Via's action. Their explanation lay partly in the turnover on the Council, partly in the irresponsibility and indifference of its members.

Their record was bad, and the whole student body is to blame. For three years the Council has been ignored. The student body has held its representatives responsible for nothing. It has criticized faculty domination, but has permitted student government to become no more than a fiction among the trite subjects of campus politicians at election time.

Student government offers definite advantages. It provides an opportunity for men of the University to develop responsibility and to gain experience that will be valuable after they leave college. It is better, too, that the students, who know what activities they want, conduct them. Faculty control will not lead to a vital program and probably will result in misunderstandings between the student body and the administration.

The Wheel favors Mr Via's proposals because they are expedient and are in the right direction to building a foundation for the next Council. It would be unfortunate, however, if the student body did not understand their significance and failed to back students government on a firm basis in January.

The Emory Wheel

The Students Speak...

By JERRY CRUME

It has been suggested that because of the many activities at end of Thanksgiving that Homecoming be changed to another date, perhaps some time in second quarter when fewer events are scheduled. The question this week in view of these suggestions is, "What do you think of moving the date of Homecoming to some time later in the year, observing Thanksgiving as only with the exhibitions and Odd-Even games? Homecoming during the marking of the Odd-Even Demonstrations and games in the sport of that season."

Pat Wrenden, Junior—I think they've gone so many years with the tradition as it is, having all activities at once. Since they would be a mistake to split the events as suggested.

Leola Boland, Freshman—I think we should have Homecoming during another quarter because it gives us more time to get acquainted with the campus activities.

Emily Sheffall, Junior—It would certainly make it more complicated to change the date of Homecoming. But I think Homecoming Alumnae can enjoy all the events and excitement of Thanksgiving week. However, maybe we could have Homecoming instead of one if it were changed.

Martha Jane Sophomore—All the alumnae will want to come back at a time when there 's a lot of activity going on such as the Odd-Even games, Odd-Even demonstrations, and Tarpon performances. I like it like it is now.

Mary Frances Simmons, Freshman—I think Homecoming would give us something to look forward to next quarter. Most of the freshmen don't go home for Thanksgiving celebration and don't even know it is Homecoming.

Dorothy Cannon, Junior—I think Homecoming definitely should be in the fall whether it is a part of Thanksgiving or not. Whether or not the activities are divided into two seasons, there is plenty time and them, and things of that sort. We also offer a prize to anyone who can prove that he was involved — yes, we say involved — in any kind of activity that will in no way help prepare her for "the world in which she must live after college."

The very best handshake to the exchange that describes the perfect news story as one in which the bull shocks the professor. How true, how true!

And speaking of shooting reminds us to give thanks that there wasn't any of it during the dormitory color-rushing Thursday. Pushing and shoving we can condone, but the prevalence of black eyes and sprained ankles about campus this morning is

In This Our Time

Atomic Control

In one of the most momentous decisions in history the three powers that possess the "industrial know how" of the atomic bomb announced from Washington what they intend to do about the atomic bomb.

This tri-formula implied an invitation to Russia to co-operate. However, the nature of Russia's response might determine the success or failure of the plan drawn at the five-day conference between President Truman, British Prime Minister Atlee and Canadian Prime Minister King for solution of the problem. These were the highlights of the plan.

The secret "know how" of atomic bomb manufacture to be kept for the present by the United States, Great Britain and Canada but to be shared after adequate international controls over atomic energy are effected.

A special commission to be set up under the United Nations' Organization to establish controls, outlaw the bomb as a weapon, insure the use of atomic energy for "peaceful purposes only" and having the right of inspection in all countries ensure "elevations and evasions" of the agreement.

Approval by the United States, Great Britain and Canada of a free exchange of scientific knowledge and the building of an atmosphere of "reciprocal confidence" among the other nations of the world.

The three proposals reflected a number of compromises among the three leaders. The result, although perhaps only a beginning to the solution of the problem, brought hope because of its use of peaceful international machinery for world peace.

Pearl Harbor Probe

The controversial committee investigation in charge of the Pearl Harbor probe at last got under way, but how without its handicap of what some observers termed strong political dealing. This handicap "greatest mystery" has been put in the hand of a commission composed of three Democrats and two Republicans from each chamber for solution. Republicans said only equal representation could make the inquiry full and non-partisan. Democrats insisted on the traditional majority-minority make-up. After the committee was formed, Senate Majority Leader Barkley of Chairman, Republicans fought for the right to do their own individual investigating. They lost, however, on straight party lines. Democrats are accusing the Republicans of "political snooping."

Since the two top commanders were made what some persons believe to be the scapegoats for inefficiency in Washington even as high up as the White House, Fleet-Admiral New York lawyer, W D Mitchell, commission leader, has been given the power to subpoena witnesses and records, including the papers of

Continued on page seven

Tally Tales....

The visiting alumnae are probably sighing for their lost school days, while the memory of the dinner they've just devoured, of color rush, on that freezing Thursday morning of the demonstrations and the Tarpon exhibition are still fresh in their minds. But, alumnae, we ask you, do you remember—

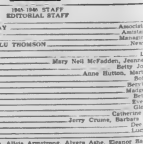
1. Saturday lunch?
2. Bull sessions?
3. Waiting (usually in vain) for the mail?
4. Parallel reading?
5. Convocation?
6. Examinations?

A great American novelist-to-be describes a group of students as "gazing open-mouthed as their curricular yoke."

That doesn't happen here: after years of practicing we've learned to yawn with our mouths shut.

It'll be rather nice to settle down Monday and have time to go to classes for a change. We suggest that two months out of the year be put aside for "extra curricular activities" and the rest of the time be devoted to going to classes, studying, and sleep. And then, and things of that sort. We also offer a prize to anyone who can prove that he was involved — yes, we say involved — in any kind of activity that will in no way help prepare her for "the world in which she must live after college."

The very best handshake to the exchange that describes the perfect news story as one in which the bull shocks the professor. How true, how true!



And speaking of shooting reminds us to give thanks that there wasn't any of it during the dormitory color-rushing Thursday. Pushing and shoving we can condone, but the prevalence of black eyes and sprained ankles about campus this morning is ample evidence of what happens when Odds and Evens live in the same room as this festive season of the year, known as "color rush."

To the uninitiated this campus must seem just one big paradox or enigma or something, considering the events on our business. At one little table in Vanstock building a student selling taxes to help the Chinese (WSSF) and farther down the hall we see Japanese Rice Bowls being sold by the bakers' dozen. Well, that's us, Mr. Anderson, disentangling alliances. Remember the words of Washington, and things!

These people who insist upon asking the same ole questions year after year deserve just what they get—the line of demarcation in it's hats off this time to the co-ed at the midwestern college who answered the chestnut, "Why did you come to college?" with "I came to be went with, but ain't been yet." We wonder if any of our own feminine perfection were offended by such a such bopes. Even if they did, there's probably worn down by now.

After all these years of being taught that a preposition is a bad word with which to end a sentence, somebody comes through with a triple threat, "What did you have that book I was reading out for?"

Suppose by now hair is rolled up neatly under huge bir kerchiefs and bobby pins, in the case of course! in anticipation of the glamorous look tonight at the dance. It's nice that some girls are young enough to have dates, there are eligible girls plus a certain few upperclassmen who have spent a man we offer our best wishes for a big time tonight. I can just see the date book now: 7:30 to 11:30 and out. Ah ha!

1944-1945 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS ..... Editor
ALICE MATTHEWS, PEGGY KAY ..... Associate Editors
LOIS BYRD ..... Assistant
SHIRLEY ROGERS ..... News Editor
MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON ..... Columnists
Jopy Estler ..... Assistant Managing Editor
Society Editor ..... Margie Pryor
Sports Editor ..... Betty Bell
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Evelyn Smith
Exchange Editor ..... Catherine Wise
Literary Editor ..... Jerry Crume, Barbara Bryan
Picture Editor ..... Lucy Pelot
Art Editor .....
REPORTERS: Eugenia Albers, Alleta Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Eleanor Barrett, Barbara Bryan, Jerry Crume, Betty Dunn, Mary Jane Ellis, Jane Gilbert, Betty Jo Harris, Marjorie Hart, Jean Douglas, Martha Jo Dotsegan, Barbara Fenton, Mary Ann Gilbert, Winifred Lane, Barbara Lanning, Betty Lilyerop, Jo Mingus, Jacqueline Owens, Margie Pryor, Jane Perry, Perre Quinn, Mary Jane Shumaker, Boyder, Mary Tarr, Tami Thomas, Frances Traxler, Kay Van Deen.

BUSINESS STAFF

Helen Tarapani ..... Business Manager
Eileen Davis ..... Advertising

Entered as second class mail matter January 30, 1915, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879

Member
Intercollegiate Press

It is the policy of the Flambeau to grant equal space and precedence to articles submitted on both sides of controversial questions. Unsigned editorials or controversial questions are voiced in the columns.

Spikes Talks To FSC Girls

British Attache Stresses Need for Trainers

Mrs Marjorie D Spikes, attache for Women's Affairs at the British embassy in Washington, D C, told Florida State College students in a series of addresses here yesterday, that government social work provides the greatest service opportunities for women in Britain She stressed the need for persons who could help at municipal centers Labor in Commerce people for future leadership and those who could assist in improving living standards through a nation-wide housing program

Mrs Spikes is the first attache for Women's Affairs ever to be appointed by the British government She was formerly employed in the Ministry of Labor in Canada where she supervised the women's Labor Supply and aided in the re-location of war-displaced personnel

In her final speech the attache said "Both teachers and nurses are so urgently needed in Britain now that their recruitment and training programs are now being initiated in order to facilitate the speedy return to civilian life Other opportunities for women in the fields mentioned include positions as assistants civil service workers, consumer relief for employers and domestic workers.

In connection with the youth movement, which was mentioned by Mrs Spikes' first address, she outlined the educational program of the Ministry of Education that at the present time they are required to attend school part time from age of 14 but that an attempt is now being made to raise the age to 16 or 17 The ultimate aim of the movement youth movement is to give the young people more conversation and training for intelligent leadership in the future Also this movement and the newly instituted housing program are designed to serve, to reestablish normal home life, Mrs Spikes added.

The most urgent housing problem in Britain at the present time is that of repairing damaged homes Mrs Spikes stated in her address on "Housing Problems." The immediate need for living quarters before winter is being solved by the use of temporary houses which can be constructed within 30 hours, she added.

Mrs Spikes stated that during the war millions of the men between 16 and 17 were mobilized for active This, of course, disrupted their life all over the country she said and the government now realizes that an economic problem is involved in correcting this situation

The housing program, which is being supervised by the government, primarily has been an effort to move this disrupted home life, Mrs Spikes said. "For this reason," she continued, "the government has instituted the compulsory evacuation of families into the more constructed houses."

During the discussion period which followed her addresses, Mrs Spikes stated that utilities and many steel industries are now being socialized in Britain. Factories continue to produce certain necessary articles are also being subsidized by the government, which has the power to seize any plant in order to curb monopolies, she added

Concerning the British position on peacetime conscription Mrs Spikes said, "Although men are still being drafted in England, no peacetime national service act has as yet been discussed in the British parliament."

In reply to a query concerning Britain's she stated that because of the germination of seed lesser blooms in Britain will become even more strimmed this winter than during the war years.

(Continued from page one

e that the light of knowledge must never be extinguished.

The speaking table for the banquet are Rosco Marcous, Alice Miller Iris Parsons, Virginia Brown Evelyn Artes; Marilyn Dyer Moores; and Candy Jones Chatlton

The sophomore council members who are serving as heads of the committees for the production are Martha Peacock, publicity; Martha Lee Vernon, costumes; and Peggy Shanahand, properties.

Airborne radio loudspeaker equipment, operating at a power less than 1,000 ions, that of an ordinary loudspeaker, was rushed to the Pacific to Commander to hand-to-fore aiding out in Burma, 500 remote islands of Yunnan province, empire.

Inconspicuous Red Brick Building Furnishes Heat Necessary for FSC's Everyday Comforts

ALICIA ARMSTRONG

Against the western border of the stationary form of a familiar red brick, black looms built into the air, and counts its billowy clouds of gray smoke skyward. For 15 years, the red brick has been dutiful, as the guardian of life's comforts at Florida State College.

comfortably heated rooms, warm showers, hot meals, and the ceiling hall, freshly laundered clothes—there are the everyday comforts of college life that stem from an inconspicuous small brick building set back among the trees behind the college. For this is the heating plant, which in the words of the keeper of the hearth", Mr W E Norwood, gives life to all campus activities involving the use of heat—from the washing of clothes in dorms to the pouring of hot cups for Wednesday afternoon socials.

Perusing a complicated dials, crawling down a long 2360 foot tunnel, scampering up an ironrung ladder to the coal bunkers are the gymnastics performed by this regular fireman in the theatrics of FSC's flaming inferno which furnishes the heat of life on our campus.

The long tunnel houses four main pipe lines and two condensate lines. The six-inch circular low pressure line feeds the radiators in class rooms and dormitories, and the high pressure pipe line of six inches feeds the laundry, dietary, and kitchen with heat. Besides these two lie the hot water and return pipes. The latter pipe line contains 100 pounds of pressure, and the low 25 to 30 pounds of pressure. This hi-h pressure, which sends the hot water through the line, is gradually reduced to a mere 3 pounds of pressure by reducing valves on all the buildings. Every few months numerous traps catch the surplus condensate water. These traps discharge the load into the return line which hurries the water on its way to the heater. From there the water is sent through pipe to the three boilers which stand along this way once again through the heating cycle.

The long tunnel becomes smaller and smaller as it nears its point of termination between Gilchrist and Landis dining hall. Along the way, branch lines, which are the pipes that supply the insulation, branch out in the directions of the various buildings, such the post office, and Landis hall. The tunnel winds its way under the gymnasium to the Union Hall, turns to the left and heads for Landis dining hall. Here it takes a sharp right turn and travels along under the dining hall to its end. Then it makes a sharp right turn into this long underground passage-way and heads straight down the way tempted this reporter to take the easy way out.

Following in the guide, Mr Norwood, superintendent of the plant, was difficult, indeed, for this reporter to keep up with the minute as we made our way half-bent alongside the four huge pipe lines. Whenever my spirits would sink low, down there in the neighborhood of Hades, he would jovially take out his pack of cigarettes and tell me to "Have one with a "Camel." We were making our slow, and to me torturesome, way back through the tunnel to the plant, when suddenly, in mind's eye, appeared the terrifying ruler of the underground who in a solemn voice said "Mr Norwood, what is that a smoking area?" Shakily I voiced my doubts to Mr Norwood, but the capable superintendent couldn't answer that one.

After my ascension from the lower regions, I gazed into the cavernous mouth of the three huge furnaces which devour on the average 20 tons of coal per day the year around. Streaks of red shot through the bright yellow fire of the burning coals. The roaring inferno maintains a high temperature of 550 degrees Fahrenheit measured by a thermometer directly under the hot bed of blazing coal.

On the main floor of the plant, there are two boilers which generate an average of 15,500 pounds of steam per hour. Two feed pumps for the boilers and two draft pumps are furnished by the large metallic heater in the plant is revitalized by valves which keep the temperature from rushing above 180 degrees Fahrenheit. A large dial charting the performance of the forced draft, fan, windbox, furnace, second and first pass, and uptake—just a few of the complicated mechanisms of our heating plant.

Great bags of salt are used to soften all except the drinking water. The softening process is accomplished in two 90,000 gallon tanks, and two smaller 45,000 gallon tanks. About 100 gallons of water is softened per minute.

Climbing the straight and narrow ladder toward a heavenly roof-top view, we stopped at the first iron grating floor where the mixing tank stands. This tank receives the return water and sends it out to be re-used after carefully removing all impurities. Continuing the upward climb, we soon reached the second iron-grate floor where the steam lines from each boiler are located. Here, after strugeling atop a huge tank, we crawled through a narrow trap-door onto the roof. I sighed with relief, looked up at the sky, and took a deep breath of clean air. But my moment of calm was suddenly swept away by a roaring rush of steam shot hiss into the air by the exhaust pipe Mr Norwood smiled sympathetically when I weakly muttered that that pipe and I had something in common.

Two flood lights, 10 ventilators six tin-topped relief valves, and a steam operated whistle are the agenda for this paradise roof-top which is strewn with small pebbles.

"Well, now, are you ready to go down?" ask Mr Norwood. I shook my head, and asked if there wasn't an easier route back. "No, unless you'd care to jump" said Mr Norwood with a twinkle in his eye. I consented to follow him on the long difficult downward climb. Half way between earth and nirvana Mr Norwood, looked worriedly at his watch and asked "Are you nervey?" "No, sir," said I, "by no means." I haven't any nerve left to lose!"

High places for Mr Norwood are a natural habitat, for before coming to work at the plant in 1932, he was a steel construction welder. For four years now, he has been superintendent in charge of six colored workers who have a 56 hour work week and make $15 cents an hour. Mr Norwood makes a straight salary of $225 a month. He can be called to work any time of night or day, and often is. On the night of October 17, when, despite adverse weather reports, a cold wave came, Mr Norwood went to the plant at 10:30 p m and worked for 27 hours repairing a clogged up pipe line and turning on heat for the first time this school year.

"I like my job," explained Mr Norwood. "But there are times when the going is pretty tough, particularly when I am called in suddenly turn the heat on in the middle of the night around 2 p m. You can't adjust press a button. Instead, it takes several hours to start the furnaces and carefully build up pressure before the radiators can receive the heat. I see to it that everything is in working order, and if one of my help is missing, I step into his job temporarily." This is the service which Mr Norwood, so efficiently and consistently performs for the comfort of all FSC.

With Burning Toast and Scrambled Eggs Breakfast Is Served in FSC Dining Hall

The penetration odor of burnt toast fills the air, a cup crashes to the floor, someone asks timidly "Is there anything left?" "Where are those cold fried eggs marmalade?" and another breakfast is under way in the third dormitory dining hall.

There are three girls behind the counter. One is making toast, pouring coffee, slicing fresh orange juice, filling the fruit bowls, and dipping apple sauce. The other is serving eggs, serving toast and muffins, going to the locker room for toast, going to the cabinet for plates, and replacing the silver. The third is filling orders for cereal bowls, refilling tea pots, setting up more tea cups, replacing butter, replacing jelly, and slicing a lemon. They're not very busy.

The girl serving toast and muffins smiles sweetly at each customer and says "Toast or muffins?" The forthcoming answers are many and varied.

The first breakfaster grabs for a pajama leg that is slipping before her raincoat, and to the query "toast or muffins?" answers, "Two, please."

The next, though, is a little more specific. When asked whether she prefers toast or muffins, she replies, "Toast."

The line begins to get congested in the general vicinity of the cereal. The girls making toast, toss more toast into the toaster, and finds that everyone is waiting for more "Rice Krispies" to be put out. She puts some out, and the penetrating odor of burnt toast fills the air.

After running back to jump the toast and drop it in the waste can, the girl serving main dish returns to her post to find an angry line of would-be eaters clamoring for their fill-ers eggs She bends her back to the task before her and is pestered accordingly, she thinks, when she hears a small voice from in front of her. "Will you give me some eggs from the front of the pan, please?" it asks. The counter girl complies without audible question. Then another customer comes back looking very sad. She had been given eggs and she didn't want eggs. The counter girl puts the eggs back in the pan, wondering why some people won't figure out that you don't have to eat everything that is set before you even if your mother did make you eat every bite of your concentrated prune mush when you were a baby.

But she hasn't time to contate. The cereal runs out, the milk is all gone, there is no more jelly and the girl who is serving is stirred. The three pitch in with a will. Once more the counter is all set up. Everything is ready except the toast, and it is cooking. But where's the time?

Faintly in the distance someone is heard to say, "We're closed!" Dropped are the knife serving spoon, toast tongs, and fruit bowls! Off come the yellow coats! Breakfast is over, and once more the penetrating odor of burnt toast fills the air.

The Finest Food In Tallahassee
STEAKS
CHOPS
CHICKEN
M & N CAFE
E. JEFFERSON ST.

Discarded Rubbish Is Index to Habits On Campus of FSC

Probably the man who has the best index of the habits of Florida State College students is Thomas Norwood, janitor, who in all the thrown-away candy paper, used cigarette packages, letters, gum wrappers, and other rubbish on the campus with his sharp-pointed stick.

He doesn't need a calendar because he knows when the seasons and the weekends by the nature of refuse. He knows school and freshman week have begun when he finds freshman bulletins and sophomore counsel reports between Westcott and the freshman dormitories.

More than lik'y the bane of his existence is when stray bits of green and gold, red and white, and purple paper float over his territory. Closing the first quarter Mr Norwood draws a sigh of relief as he spears with his stick the last pine bough and silver tinsel.

Comes second quarter our little man always knows when the basketand campaign signs left over from freshman elections.

To end his year tribulations Graduation Day comes in and he ends the third quarter by picking up all programs from the affair.

When distinguished guests have appeared in the Artist Series he doesn't need the Flambeau to remind him, such telltale evidences as wrams waft to and fro before his eyes.

Not only can Mr Norwood tell the activities of the students and distinguished guests in the Artist Series but also the financial conditions of the student body as a whole. The fall quarter of the school year he says that the girls have more pin money than usual because of the greater quantity of luxury wrappers, than any other time of the year except after the Christmas holidays.

Pungus growth, feeding on cellulose insulation and certain moulded parts, rubber, cradle and seta employed by the armed forces in South Pacific bases areas until fumous-resistant varnish was perfected for the insulation.

They're a Great Dinner Time Team
Piping Hot Meals and Pyrex-ware !
Pie Dishes—Coffee Makers—Baking Pots
THE SOUTH'S MOST COMPLETE PYREX STOCK
Van Brunt & Yon Hardware
218 S. ADAMS PHONE 1F

Social Work Majors To Intern in Future

Moore Attends Conferences With Welfare Agencies

Students majoring in sociology and social work may be given the opportunity to intern in their major fields by 1946, stated Dr Coyle E Moore, professor of sociology at Florida State College.

Having just returned from conferences held in Jacksonville with members of the State Welfare Board and the children's Home Society of Florida, Dr Moore stated that "the various welfare agencies in the state have indicated a willingness to cooperate in making an internship program meaningful and effective."

The plan of internship in sociology and social work will be similar to that of the teaching internship now in practice at FSC, said Dr Moore. Students will be placed in agencies such as the State Welfare Board, juvenile courts, the Children's Home Society of Florida, family welfare agencies, and various denominational charities where they will be under the supervision of coordinators from FSC who will visit with them from time to time in the course of the case work. Placement of the student will be decided by personal conferences through which her particular interest in social work will be determined.

At the end of the internship which generally lasts for seven weeks of the quarter, students will return to the campus for four weeks of a seminar for the discussion and comparison of their case work. The internships will probably cost $15 for a hours per quarter.

Complete details of the internship plan have not yet been decided upon," said Dr Moore. A committee of FSC members, composed of Mrs Margaret C Bristol, Miss Caroline Blue, assistant professors of sociology, and representatives of the welfare organizations will take part in the internship program has been appointed to determine the administrative plan for the period of interning.

"It is the intention of all concerned," said Dr Moore, "to put this program into effect in the first quarter of 1946-47."

Collectors Happy as New Stamps Appear For Sale This Week

The estimated 15 avid stamp collectors and the piddlers on the campus when a made happy when two new stamps went on sale at the college post office for the first time. Mr Y Ferguson, Yeoman 2c, post office said that there are a number who keep coming in each quarter, and, of course, these two new stamps will be a welcome addition to lallahassee today will be added in the albums.

The 3c commemorative stamp was first placed on sale Oct 27 at Annapolis, Maryland. The center design depicts a smiling group of sailors. The blue three cent stamp was issued to commemorate the 170th anniversary of the United States Navy in World War I.

The other special three cent stamp commemorated the place of the United States Coast Guard played in the war. First placed on sale in New York City, on November 10, the green stamp bears a picture of landing craft troops.

According to Mr May, the government announced that another special stamp will be issued November 26 in honor of Alfred E Smith, former governor of New York. The central design will be a reproduction of a portrait of Governor Smith printed in purple. Mr May further said that the stamp will be at the college post office within two days after it is issued.

and Sunday
every day
at Landis

Religious Organizations Plan Activities for Week

A panel discussion and a trip to camp are among activities of the religious organizations planned for the coming week. A coffee given by the Presbyterian group in honor of the Richard Gillespie, foreign missions candidates secretary, is also on the calendar of religious group events.

Dr Gillespie will speak on "The Need for Young People in Our Foreign Mission Field in the Post-War World" at a coffee in his honor this afternoon at 5 :30 p m in the clubroom of the Lounge Sunday. The Presbyterian freshman council will serve at this occasion which will follow a meeting from 4 :30 to 5:30 p m during which Dr Gillespie will talk informally with the Presbyterian council.

A panel discussion of a book entitled "Bases of World Order" of which Rev Lawrence I Stell of Tallahassee is co-author will be held Sunday evening following a social hour at the Presbyterian church Those participating in this discussion, which will follow a month's study of the book Inside Job Watkins, Rev Lo Thompson Lois Miller and Percy Lon Thomas.

Other Presbyterian activities this week will include a meeting of the new organized Panhellenic council Sunday evening Stella Mcsherry will be in charge of group and acting officers, selected last Sunday include Jeanne Hall, vice-chairman; Esther Ramsaur, secretary, and Margery Mallard, devotional chairman.

Preparations for a trip to camp this week were made at a meeting held Sunday evening at the vespers service when plans for "camp" was announced. Miss Rose Marie Lee was also discussed. A constitution for the local chapter of the Canterbury club was adopted during this meeting.

Harriet McArthur, who is president of the westminster fellowship arrangements for the week-end at camp which is being planned especially for freshmen members. The campers will leave for Lake Ella Friday afternoon and return the Odd-Even games Saturday afternoon.

Rure Hall was host to Miss Dorothy West, an alumna and former president of the group 17th week Miss West, who is now director of religious education at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Jacksonville, met with the working committee yesterday and with the vestry while visiting here.

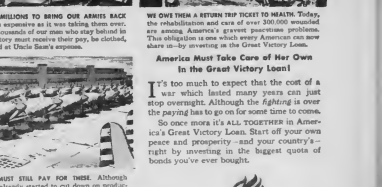
A special Christmas service in addition entitles "The Gifts" will be presented at 4 p m Sunday, December 2 at the First Methodist House This program, which will also include special Christmas music is being arranged by Leslie Illingworth, president of the Young Women's Association.

Scientists see a future for helium, the gas that kept navy balloons flying during the war, in medicine. Reason: some ailments are especially helpful. It is thought that by mixing non-explosive helium with them, this danger will be eliminated.

Overworked Crews In Scavenger Hunt For Dem Properties

"What are we anyhow, college women or carpenters?" demanded one unreported girl as she trudged along the last stretch of her weary trek carrying a newly constructed step 20 feet in length. All 11 of the groups set aside to do innocent-looking piece of paper" walked her grimy-faced partner at the other end of the planks,

No, some enterprising soul didn't suddenly institute a course in manual training as a sideline to the Home Economics department at FSC last week-end. These were stagehands, only one group of the hard-working but unseen clans of both Odds and Evens who perform all those little behind-the-scenes jobs that make tae demonstrations "click."



Even Dr Harold P Benner, of "Ice Box Odds" fame" contributed to the cause. With the assistance of Terry Lonergan, physics major, he constructed a weird-looking device whereby the state lights were gradually dimmed during Even demonstrations.

Nursing bruised thumbs, thoroughly besplattered with paint, the slaphappy carpenters and saws last week-end, loaded and unloaded trucks and brandished hammers on the campus, Odds are taxed their ingenuity and skill to the limit in a wild scavenger hunt for weird objects, a broken piece of pipe, an old mattress springs, a sufficiently resembled a telephone, or a canopy bed, as the case might be.

The speech department lent its stage scenery. Those familiar in the backstage lore the dimmers, the paint, metal, carpenter, electricians' shops, contributed labor and materials. All joined in the time-consuming task of "dressing Bradfor" building before the long awaited "Curtain up!" was called,

Need Your Shoes Fixed in a Jiffy?
ONE DAY SERVICE
Capital Shoe Fixry
118 E. JEFFERSON

Cold Waves—Hair Styling—Feather Cuts
RIGHT ACROSS FROM THE COLLEGE
THREE TORCHES BEAUTY SHOP
102 S. COPELAND ST. TEL. 858

Sure, we've won the WAR
BUT THE COST GOES ON!

IT WILL COST MILLIONS TO BRING OUR ARMIES BACK and it's Cost is expensive as it was taking them over. Meanwhile, thousands of our men will be stay behind in occupied territory must receive their pay, be clothed, housed and fed at Uncle Sam's expense.
WE OWE THEM A RETURN TRIP TICKET TO HEALTH. Today, the rehabilitation and care of over 300,000 wounded are among America's gravest post-crisis problems. This obligation is one which every American now must share in—by investing in the Great Victory Loan.
America Must Take Care of Her Own
Great Victory Loan!
IT'S too much to expect that the cost of a war which lasted many years can just stop overnight. Although the fighting is over the paying has to go on for some time to come.
So once more it's ALL TOGETHER in America's Great Victory Loan. Start off your own peace and prosperity—and your country's—right by investing in the biggest quota of bonds you've ever bought.
UNCLE SAM MUST STILL PAY FOR THESE. Although America had already started to cut down on production of various kinds of war materials, the swift ending of the war left many planes, tanks, battleships, guns, made at the last minute, still to be paid for
FOR PEACE AND PROSPERITY
AMERICA'S GREAT VICTORY LOAN VICTORY

Sideline Squints

By EVELYN SHEA

Now that color rush is over for another year, and runners on both sides have tucked away their bows until next Thanksgiving, plans to make color rush even better for the years to come should be in order. It is the firm belief of this writer, that to avoid any disputes which might occur over the results of future races, a tape should be used at the finish line. With the breaking of a tape by the runner, there are fewer chances to make mistakes in judging the results. Officials who have been judges in races of the past would naturally officiate at these too. The bows could be held approximately seven feet behind the tape and after breaking the tape, the runners would continue on and take the bows. With the verdict of the judges, the winner would then hang up her bow on that particular building.

Experiments have proved that it is almost impossible to tell EXACTLY who grabbed the ribbons first in a race which is practically neck and neck. To illustrate how the runners are at a disadvantage, in a race, one runner is barely six inches or less ahead of the other, and they both reach for bows with the runner who is behind, taking her bow at precisely the same or sooner than the girl who is actually ahead. The result of this race then must be a tie or perhaps a victory for the girl who was actually a step behind. In cases like these, in each, either that the running ability takes precedence—in the end. After running 30 yards, it seems to me a person's reach shouldn't determine the winner.

All this adds up to a suggestion that improved color rush in general. Cases of close races and difficult decisions did not occur this year but they have arisen in the past and may again in the future. The failure of a tape to determine the winner of a race should not be undergrestimated, for all official racing contests everywhere in America and abroad employ this method in determining the winner, for an inch or so will become apparent when the tape is used.

Let's see WAA and F club take up this problem and do something about it, before another Thanksgiving rolls around.

DO YOU KNOW . . .

What is meant by Lady Paramount? If you've been out on the archery range watching the Odd-Even tourney which ended yesterday, that term probably has been spoken of quite often. Lady Paramount is the head official in the archery tournament, which is in the Odd-Even matches this year is Miss Grace Fox . . .

Miss Papatsos and Miss Greenberg will be the officials in the hockey game and Miss Fox and Miss Ver Hoeven will referee the soccer game.

IT SPREADS THE VINE . . .

That with the bleachers furnished by WAA which will easily seat 2,000 persons, every Odd and Even should attend today's games and cheer their respective teams on to victory. Students who complained in the past about not having enough seats to see Thanksgiving games would be interested in knowing that the reason for the change in the games played this year was for the specific purpose of giving everyone an opportunity to see the games . . .

Which brings up to the matter of the teams which will play today. As evidenced in the class games, both the hockey players showed surprising strength in dumping the Evens 1-0 in the first game and gaining tie in the second. This game will find both teams evenly matched and it is my guess that either team can win this contest but only by a one goal margin.

The soccer class games, as was expected came out very close. The seniors and sophomores won 2-0 in the first engagement and the juniors nd freshmen tied the upper classmen in the second 4-4. From this pre-Thanksgiving showing this event like the hockey game will be very close.

This is all for now, see you at the games this afternoon. Let's all cheer hard for her respective side and may the best teams win.

Snow Plans for Peruvian Map, Special Lighting for Incan Relics' Display

Even a layman will be able to understand and enjoy the art of ancient Peru when Sidney Snow has carried out his plans for the displaying of the Incan relics, now located on the fourth floor of the Longmire Building.

Mr Snow plans to paint a map of Peru on the wall outside the display room. This map will show the various cultural regions of Peru, their sites, and typical examples of their art. This will enable visitors to more easily distinguish the culture to which each relic belongs.

The carrying out of ideas for displaying the relics individually and having special lighting effects will probably have to be put off until the new building is constructed Mr Snow said that plans for the building are not even on paper yet, but that it will be "somewhere on the campus."

Even with limited facilities Mr Snow has already tried to make the display enjoyable and understandable to those who have had no previous exposure with ancient art. He has photographs that show a mummy in various stages of being unwrapped. To explained that the ancient Peruvians buried with their dead jewelry pottery and various things that it was thought in spirits might need in future life. The bodies were placed in a sitting position with their possessions in their laps, under their arms, and beneath their legs. They were then wrapped in material. Mr Snow said that as much as 100 yards of material had been taken from around one mummy.

all of which was woven by hand, are on display. Other items of special interest include delicately carved silver spoons for removing ear wax from the ears; quipus, which are government records kept by knots on string; the shrunken head of a young girl, a Colombian item of relatively recent date, and "Pe-ro," a little silver man about two inches high.

Mr Snow's ingenuity and sense of humor is well portrayed by the manner in which he has displayed two of the pieces of pottery. One is a dog who has a very sad look on his face. The other is a ferocious looking cat. The two are sitting directly across from each other and the effect is laughprovoking.

Just as soon as all the relics have been catelogued and the map is completed Mr. Snow expects to have the museum open at regular hours, Hc student assistant, Lee Watkins, will show the visitors around.

The Tennis Player's Delight !

Tennis Racquets Master Made by BENTLEY—WILSON. Real Sheep Gut

9.00–15.50

JOHNSON'S HARDWARE CO.

121 E. JEFFERSON PHONE 109

Catherine Gallagher, leader of the Even soccer team and Virginia Palmer, head of the Odd soccer team, are ready for the game this afternoon at 2:30 p m on the Athletic Field. Also pictured above are Nita Nord, Odd hockey leader, and Evelyn Stuckey, Even hockey leader, who expect great action from their respective teams at 3:30 this afternoon following the band concert and drill.

Tarpon Club Presents Dem

'Garnet and Gold' Is Swim Version of FSC Life

"Garnet and Gold," a swimming version of life at Florida State College was presented by Tarpon Club Thursday and Friday nights. The program was dedicated to their sponsor, Miss Margaret Clements, who is leaving at the end of this quarter.

Figures of Odd and Even cheerleaders, an F Club member, a Tarpon member, the senior cap and diploma, Coulilon top hat and green vest, Even feathers, and Odd caps decorated the walls of the pool Garnet and gold streamers were a part of the background. An American flag and a school flag were placed between the diving boards. Moira Long had charge of decorations.

Since Tarpon demonstration did not begin until after Even demonstration Thursday night, the program ran past second light flash. Miss Clements went to Dr Doak Campbell for late permission for those girls who wanted to star for the ending, and he gave his consent.

"They Lead to Cheer" was an exhibition given in diving. The girls wore red bathing suits with a white "O" on the front and green ones with a white "E." Music was furnished by records.

Odd and Even swimming formations, "Here's to the Red and White, and "Hail to the Green and Gold," brought out the traditional rivalry between these groups.

The Minnows, who are to become Tarpon members soon, swam in a formation, "Secrets of Coulilon, to the tune of "Stardust," Coulilon theme song.

While Kathleen Johnson played a medly of F Club songs on the accordion. 11 member.; of Tarpon swam. In conclusion, the lights were turned out so that the white caps of the girls could be seen in an F formation.

A record of Champagne Waltz furnished the musical background for "Tarpon Tactics."

"Hail to the Caps and Gowns" paid tribute to the seniors of FSC. "Pomp and Circumstance" was the record for this exhibition.

An accordion and star formation highlighted the finale. "To Our Alma Mater." Kathleen Johnson played a variety of college songs on her accordion during this number.

Betty Jean Singleton, president of Tarpon, wants to express appreciation to Miss Clements for her help and guidance throughout the past four years, and to the girls who have worked on this year's demonstration.

Margery Holm, Barbara Lindsey, Anna Horne, Nancy MacEdwards, B J Singleton, and Carol Claus made up the formation committee Pat Millican was chairman of the program committee and Nancy MacEdwards had charge of designing the cover.

Alaska Air lines, organized in 1930 to provide air mail connections between that U S outpost and the mother country, carried more than 2,000 pounds of cargo for each passenger that year.

Attention! Band

Members of the band who are planning to go to Camp Gordon Johnston for the Sunday program are to pick up their racks on the Westcott stores and meet, in uniform, in front of Westcott at 12:45.

Evens Take 4 In Color Rush

Odds Win 3 in Close Races For Campus Buildings

Red, white and purple streamers floated over three of the campus buildings, the new dining hall, Westcott, and the Longmire Building, as a result of Odd victories in color rush, Thursday morning The Physical Education Building the library, Bryan Hall, and the History Building were won by the Evens

The first race for the gymnasium began at seven o'clock with Ida Lee Rentz running for the Evens and Virginia Goodell for the Odds. The relay teams then lost the new dining hall to Mickey Chambers who raced for the Odds against Evelyn Shea.

Three races which were held behind Westcott, and in two victumphs for the Evens against one for the Odds Willa Jean Towell won the Longmire Building for the Odds, defeating Patsy Calahan of the Evens. Barbara Tait and Gracie Whidden placed Even colors on Bryan and the History Building while opposing them were B J Singleton and Bayne Culbreth Carol Johnston of the green and gold colors, raced Jean Barker and made the library and Even building

The last and most exciting race was for Westcott, which it greatly desired by both sides The credit for this year's Odd victory goes :: Marion Looby who raced against Rosalie Davis.

The Even color rush leader was Sopie Whitaker, while B J Singleton directed the Odds Officials for the races were Miss Grace Fox, instructor in physical education, and Dr Katherine Montgomery head of the physical education department, who acted as finish judges Dr Raymond Bellamy, head of the geology department, was the starter for Westcott building.

Babe Evans, president of F Club was the starter for all buildings except Westcott. Color bearers were the following members of F Club: J. Guthrie, dining hall: Shirley Dorsey Longmire Building: Sarah Bennett, Bryan. Eloise Boyles, History Building: Dot Tucker, Library, and Babe Evans, Westcott.

The Odd team consisted of: Virginia Goodell, Mickey Chambers, Willa Jean Towell, B J Singleton, Bayne Culbreth, Jean Barker, Marion Looby, and Audrey Hunt.

Color bearers of the Even team are: Ross Lee Davis, Evelyn Shea, Ida Lee Rentz Babara Tait, Patsy Calahan Gracie Whidden, Carol Johnston Catherine Barrs, Nancy and Betty Wynn.

Place Your Orders
For Personalized Xmas Gifts Now MATCHES
STATIONERY
NAPKINS
COASTERS
THE BOOK CORNER
121 S. MONROE ST.

Welcome Alumnae!

Diamonds, Gifts, Silver, Watches

W. W. PUTNAM
Registered Jeweler
AMERICAN GEM SOCIETY
308 S. Monroe St.

Evens Win In Modern Dance

Winners Take 107 Points In Thanksgiving Theme

Evens won the day at Playnight last Saturday night when they competed against the Odds for the best interpretation of Thanksgiving in modern dance. The Evens raked in a total of 107 points out of a possible 120 against the Odds score of 93 points.

The Odds presented a dance of the suppressed people in fear and want after which freedom came in and showed the suppressed how to gain their freedom. This ended in a dance of prayer and thanksgiving to God for letting them be free

The costumes of the "freedom" dancers were red, white, and blue, while the "suppressed" wore gray and blue.

In carrying out the idea of Thanksgiving, the Even dance group used the idea of work and toil followed by rejoicing and happiness when the work is over. The worship and giving thanks concluded the dance.

The costumes of the girls were leotards with gathered skirts, all of varying colors; the boys wore blue leotards and blue capes, and the priests wore black outfits.

The dance was judged on the basis of floor pattern, space pattern, costumes, skill of the dancers, ann interpretation of the general theme The judges were Miss Margaret Stanton, Miss Calliope Papatsos Mrs Fred Lewis, Mrs Robert Miller, and Mr Karl G Kuerstelner.

Even team members were Anne Widergquist, leader, Jo Dunagan, Enid Krouse, Audrey Evans, Joyce Cayce Bones Hewitt, Marilyn Deren and Doris DuBois.

Selected for the Odd team were Alice Taff, leader: Harriet Kirk, Margie Holm, Ann Parker, Lorraine Smith Barbara Lindsey, Mary White Pat Smith, Bertie Jaftus. Dorothy Martin, Violet Walters and Jane Levy.

Badmiton Begins

Badminton doubles will begin Monday at 5:15. For the first time in the intramural program there will be a double elimination program which gives every team at least two chances.

The schedule for Monday is: Village vs Lodge, court 1, Phi Mu vs Chi Omega, court 2. Alpha Chi Omega vs Delta Delta Delta, court 3, Pi Phi vs Delta Zeta, court 4, Bryan vs Gilchrist, court 5, Delta Phi Epsilon vs Zeta Tau Alpha court 6. Kappa Alpha Theta vs Reynolds, court 7, Kappa Delta, a bye.

Theresa Munroe, intramural manager, asks that any girls who have their own badminton rackets to please bring them.

Faculty Will Have Creative Arts Show

Members of the faculty whose hobbies or interests include creative arts will have an opportunity to show their work in a creative arts exhibit to be held sometime after the Christmas holidays All members of the faculty who are interested are urged to participate, said Ralph L. Donaldson, associated profe-sor of industrial arts.

The exhibit will include examples of faculty work in drawing, painting, design, photography, sculpture, the graphic arts and crafts. It is hoped that the exhibit will be a preliminary to the organization of a club for those who are interested in creative arts whether professionally or as an avocation. Entry blanks will be sent to all faculty members by December 10.

Members of the committee in charge of the exhibit are Mr Donaldson, chailman: Miss Cynthia M Reeves, instructor in industrial arts; and Miss Ann Kirn, instructor in art.

Chemistry Honorary Is Working on File

Members of Gamma Sigma Epsilon, national chemistry honorary, are now working on a file which will include all students taking chemistry, except those taking general chemistry, according to Mary Jane Kirst, treasurer. Permanent records will be made to be used as reference files by the faculty and Gamma Sigma.

Membership in Gamma Sigma is in recognition of outstanding work in the field of chemistry. In order to be invited to join a student must have had at least 24 quarter hours of chemistry, with a B average in chemistry, and a general average of B.

Members of the organization on this campus are: Theo Brown, Mary Jane Kirst, Tria Thompson, Jean Ann White, Treesy Langston, Carmen Gomez, Joyce Punke, and Ruth L'Engle.

Weekend Keeps Ban Continually Active

The Florida State College band has had and is still having a busy weekend. Their activities are highlighted by participation in color rush and the Thanksgiving games and a trip to Camp Gordon Johnston.

At the games the band will display their new drills and play the "Washington Post March." "His Honor March," and the "United States Field Artillery March."

Following their Thanksgiving activities, the band will go to Camp Gordon Johnston Sunday afternoon to entertain the men with a concert. The concert will consist of marches, semi-classical pieces, and popular works, according to Ann Richardson, band president.

FORM A WARM FRIENDSHIP with

Ken Whitmore Classics

FLORIDA
PHONE 195
TODAY
"DUFFY'S TAVERN"
Sunday and Monday
"STATE FAIR"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"HOUSE ON 92ND STREET"
Thursday, Friday, Saturday
THOUSAND AND ONE NIGHT

STATE
PHONE 580
TODAY
"MAN FROM OKLAHOMA"
and
"TOWN WENT WILD"
Sunday and Monday
"EVE KNEW HER APPLES"
and
"BLONDE RANSOM"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"LADY COME THE RAIN"
Thursday Only
"STORY OF G.I. JOE"
and
"GENTLE ANNIE"
Friday and Saturday
"PHANTOM OF PLAINS"
and
"PENTHOUSE RHYTHM"

RITZ
PHONE 1197
TODAY
"NOTHING BUT TROUBLE"
and
"HEART OF THE WEST"
Sunday and Monday
"MURDER MY SWEET"
and
"DANCING IN MANHATTAN"
Tuesday, Wednesday Thursday
"TOGETHER AGAIN"
and
"UNWRITTEN CODE"
Friday and Saturday
"ORPHAN OF THE PECOS"
and
"KEEP YOUR POWDER DRY"

Dependable ally . . . this handsome, make-tailored, all-wool Classic. Count on its service from 8 A.M. till P.M., four seasons a year! You'll really be impressed with its fine detailing . . . Luxurious Skinner Rayon lining with neat piped edges, convenient sleeve pockets! Handy tass-on strap. In vibrant colors of ciffied black. Sizes 7-17.

Steyerman's

For That Man
Who Is So Hard to Please

We Have All Kinds of Gifts
Orloff Men's Sets
Lotions—Shaving Cream—Talcs
Seaforth Shaving Sets, too in Man-Wise Sizes

AND FOR YOURSELF—HAVE YOU TRIED THE NEW SHOULD I? DUSTING POWDER?
"IT'S OUT OF THIS WORLD"

"The World's Happiest Drug Store"
MARTIN & DALTON
216-212 S. ADAMS PHONE 133

Sorority Chit-Chat . . . .

The annual sorority Thanksgiving teas and after-dinner coffees were held Thursday afternoon for sorority sisters, guests, patrons, and patronesses. Skits presented and the pledges were for the most part the entertainment highlights tests also heard original songs composed by the pledges.

• • •

The traditional open-house was the keynote of the Alpha Chi dages Thanksgiving celebration Thursday afternoon. Guests and patronesses as guests of the chapter. The social committee in charge of arrangements consisted of Betty Hancock, Jonnie Lou Maigard Johnson, and Nella Rouse.

• • •

Thursday evening found the sisters of Alpha Delta Pi entertaining their alumnae, faculty, patrons, and other guests at the annual Thanksgiving coffee. Mary Hedgepeth was chairman in charge of arrangements.

• • •

Alpha Gamma Delta actives and their Thanksgiving breakfast for Alpha Gam pledges, in addition to the Thursday afternoon coffee.

• • •

The Alpha Xi Deltas served tea to actives and pledges Thursday afternoon in the pledges presented their traditional pledge skit and sang their songs.

• • •

Members and their guests enjoyed an informal coffee at the Delta Omega house Thursday afternoon at four o'clock, with Laura Lee Hall in charge of all arrangements.

• • •

Delta Delta Delta observed their traditional custom of holding open house all day Thanksgiving.

• • •

Kiesh Nurison was in charge of the informal coffee and open house held at the Kappa Phi Epsilon house on Thursday afternoon. The open house was held especially for the alumnae who were at this time of the year.

• • •

Pledges of Delta Zeta were in charge of the informal Thanksgiving coffee held at five o'clock on Thursday afternoon, and Ann Daly directed the other arrangements.

• • •

Kappa Alpha Theta pledges entertained guests at the informal coffee Thursday with Sarah Brown making the arrangements.

• • •

The Kappa Deltas gave an informal coffee Thursday afternoon in honor of their out-of-town guests, members, and alumnae. The house was decorated according to the Thanksgiving theme, and the hostesses had charge of arrangements.

• • •

An after-dinner coffee was held Thursday afternoon by the Phi Mus for out-of-town guests, members, and alumnae. Many of the pledges sang their goat songs for entertainment.

• • •

Sponsors, patrons, and alumnae of Pi Beta Phi were honored at a coffee which was also held Thursday afternoon at the chapter house. Guests during the evening and Olive Fleming was in charge of other arrangements.

• • •

The Sigma Kappa Thanksgiving coffee featured the pledges who entertained guests and members with their goat songs.

• • •

Marydel Smith headed the arrangements committee for the Zeta Tau Alpha coffee Thursday afternoon.

• • •

MISCELLANEOUS CHATTER

In addition to the gala Thanksgiving activities, the sororities have a few more items of interest. At the Alpha Chi House this week are Jean Austin (post president of the Beta Eta chapter) and Rita Bradbury, two alumnae who are the festivities. . . Billie Zacinski and Rose Ellen Sherman took charge of the informal dinner roast served in the Alpha Xi delta enjoyed in back of their home last Thursday week. . . Delta celebrated their Founder's Day Wednesday with a breakfast at the Three Torches Tea Room. Saturday night they are planning an intermission party at the house, in conjunction with the annual Thanksgiving Dance at the gymnasium. . . Friday afternoon was highlighted by the Delta Phi Epsilon pledge party, at which Nina Moscovitch took charge. . . After the Delta Zeta formal last Saturday night, members and guests gathered the following afternoon for a coffee at the house, with Alice Walton in charge of the arrangements, and Mildred Turner in charge of the skits presented by the pledges for entertainment of the guests. . . Kappa Delta's have an interesting party planned for members to put their dates attending the Thanksgiving Dance Saturday night. The party will be held at the house, with Katherine Noble in charge of the arrangements. . . Phi Beta Phi's will enjoy a breakfast Sunday morning at the house, with Jackie Fonfield in charge of arrangements.

In This Our Time

Continued from page four
of the Board of Staff and President Roosevelt.

After its first hearings, the committee will set to work in order to discover just why the fleet was caught unaware at its largest base Washington, and why the chance for cracking the Japanese code as Washington so frequently. What the papers will yield is not yet been commented upon.

In northern China Nationalists under the leadership of General Chiang Kai-shek are fighting the Japanese Red counterattacks, but the Communists threatened to withdraw their support of that area recently surrendered by Japan.

The Communists claimed they would enter Chanshiu, the state capital, should Japan leave, but they expect the Russians to evacuate it.

A Communist spokesman announced that Nationalists were continuing conversation on the churia with Japan and "some other power" which he did not name. The Soviet Union denied as having learned that "important diplomatic negotiations" on Manchuria would start soon, probably in Chungking.

Java

Meanwhile, on this last week was still the scene of a rebellion between the Japanese armed forces in the control of the Dutch and British forces attempting to carry out the allied end of the Japanese surrender.

An Indonesian broadcast declared:

"This is the last night of peace. Tomorrow we shall start and either kill the British or drive them from Java."

France

France's constituent assembly in an stamped a charge of treason and guns, asked General de Gaulle to continue as interim premier, but the Government crisis is no nearer a solution. The assembly rejected the Cabinet's resignation by a vote of 400 to 163 and asked him to continue his efforts to form a coalition cabinet. De Gaulle accepted the new mandate, and it was announced that the general would confer with representatives of the three major parties, Communist, Socialist and Popular Republican Movement.

The Communists, whose demands for specific cabinet posts brought on the crisis voted solidly against the renewal of de Gaulle's mandate.

Strikes

Reconversion strikes continued when the country's biggest union, the CIO United Automobile Workers, walked off their jobs after the General Motors Corporation refused the 30-hr. week increase demand. Three company counteroffers were received.

In Washington, D C the White House announced that the Office of Defense Transportation had been instructed to take over the properties of the Capital Transit Company which operates the Washington street. The order came after workers had shouted down a proposal that their wage dispute be submitted to the wage dispute.

Montgomery Ward and Company was in the labor picture again after Samuel Wolchok, president of the CIO United Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employees of America, announced in New York that a nation-wide strike of Ward employees had been called for one week beginning this comina Monday.

RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES:
TRAIN FOR A CAREER WITH THE
Johnston O'Conner Research Foundation
11 E. 62nd St., New York, 21
N Y. Fellowship Basis. $65.00 a Month

Dance Tonight

Toppins all Thanksgiving celebrations will be the Thanksgiving Day dance to be held at 8:30 tonight in the gymnasium. The dance which will be a formal affair, is to be the "biggest ever sponsored by C C A," according to Committee Chairman Virginia Collins.

The Collese Swing band will provide music for the evening's entertainment, and refreshments will be served, consisting mainly of fruit punch and cakes.

Both the Village Vamps and Coillion Club will have dances with decorations with "Rap" Hazard, decoration chairman, Ike Sheffield and Ysobel DuPree, for Village Vamps. During the dance, these two organizations will tap new members for this coming year.

Committee chairmen in charge of the dance other than Miss Collins are Ysobel Du Pree, floor chairman; Ike Sheffield, refreshments; Marx McEwen, tickets; and Chris Morrison, ticket checkers.

Nell McNeil, Sarah Jane Gallagher Catherine Wilson, Jane "Rap" Hazard, and Mary Lou Norwood have all assisted with the miscellaneous preparations for the dance.

Vespers and Coffees Are Held This Week

Religious Groups Observe Thanksgiving Holiday

As students joined in observing a peacetime Thanksgiving holiday activities of the campus religious organizations centered about vespers and informal coffees. Students, faculty members and alumnae attended the Sunday Baptist, Episcopal and Methodist student houses Thursday for the traditional Thanksgiving coffees. Open houses.

White chrysanthemums, ferns, and yellow tapers in pairs provided the setting for an open house held at the Episcopal student house Thanksgiving afternoon. A medley of semi-classical pieces was played by Miss Edith Smith at the piano.

In charge of arrangements was Miss Ruth Williams for the occasion included: June Armstrong, Virginia Wood, Mary Wood and Jean Bollinger.

"Thanks Be to God" was the topic of an address by Dr Alfred Dickinson, supply pastor of the First Methodist church at the Thanksgiving vesper service which followed. The musical portion of the service included "Prayer Perfect," sung by Jimmie Rogers; a violin solo by Jean Bollinger, a trio octet and a violin prelude and postlude.

The litany and Thanksgiving prayers were lead by Barbara Jean Hall and Sarah Norman were also rendered with musical accompaniment.

Mrs Margaret Blair and Dr Anna Lisle served for the traditional Baptist coffee held in the Rurse Hall Thanksgiving afternoon. Carolyn Smith, social chairman, was in charge of announcements for this event.

Mrs Ernest Dodd Haynes and visiting alumnae were guests of honor at a coffee given at the Presbyterian student house following the campus worship service Thursday morning. Fall flowers and berries and bowls of fruits and nuts decorated the student house for this occasion.

Gates and Fountain Assume Festive Air

The Even gates and Odd fountain once more achieved a festive air as the separate groups decorated their respective contributions to the campus for the annual Thanksgiving activities. "Even spirits lowly lie," the theme of the fountain decorations, found the crave of three Even spirits in the plot of ground around the fountain with an Odd player ready to stamp down on one of the graves.

A huge Odd cap sits atop the fountain.

Even gates doffed their usual nine-clad dimity dress and drooped to represent Even spirits supporting green-clad cutouts of prominent Evens, complete with feathers, and signs welcoming the alumnae were put up.

Mae Manning and Lena Hardin for the Odds, and the Coffee Pots for the Evens, were in charge of the decorations. Helping to carry out the idea for the Odds which was submitted by Clarice Turnbloud and Nancy MacEdwards were Mary Jackson, Dorothy Patrick, and Lucy Harding. Audrey Perry, Babe Evans, Jean Emery, and Ida Lee Kennt decorated the gates with the help of Marion Floyd, Ginger Hutton, Tot Carter, and Jacki McGee.

Backstage Crews Struggle in Confusion On Eve of Odd Demonstration Production

Backstage of Even demonstration, which was given last Tuesday and Thursday nights was a variety of laughs and mayhem as unforseen difficulties presented themselves at the last moment.

Doc Tucker, who portrayed the lead in the social dance had to appear at one of the scenes, disappear and re-enter at the opposite side rather in the midst of music As she ran backstage trying to make the opposite side by the scheduled time, she inadvertend two girls, jumped over one, and landed squarely on the lap of the other Exclaiming furiously, she scrambled to her feet, started on, then rushed back to the hastily murmured apologies: and through all of this managed to appear on time. "I had horrible visions of my partner strangon on the stage and trying unsuccessfully to think of something to do," she said.

Another difficulty arose when the dancers had trouble in finding openings in the curtain through which to enter the stage. "At times," stated one girl, "we felt like trapped it and making for our own opening."

The delay between the first and second acts was due to the difficulty in getting the curtain over the numerous pipes at the back of stage All of the stage crew and the cast assisted in this ordeal and success was finally obtained.

During the last act, in the duel between Brutod and Mark Antony, the sword came loose. Knocked from Brutod's hand with a little too much enthusiasm. Instead of landing on the stage as it was supposed to, it landed on the first row of the audience, much to the surprise of those claiming front row seats.

During Faye Gillam's dance, the snap on her skirt came off, causin, the whole cast to "breathe a little faster." Like a true trouper, Patsy merely raised her hands above her head, let the skirt fall to the floor, ans, continued her dance in tights as though nothing had happened.

Trouble was had in finding a suitable skirt for Anne Shull as she took the woman's lead in the social dance. At the Tuesday night performance she wore a long black skirt which ripped, causing a hasty change. She found a back flip into a split. Short black tights were made to suffice for Thursday night's performance.

Although all members of the cast and the backstage crew admit they had fun working on the show, they also admit that they breathed a deep sigh of relief when it was over.

Survey Shows Great Variety in Themes Used for Production of Odd-Even Dems

Varied themes from the Naughty Nineties to Futuristic Fantasy 1950 have been featured in the Odd and Even demonstrations for the past 12 years.

This year's Odd dem presents "Pinnocchio," a satire on the classic, "Pinnocchio." The Even dem has as its title "Rose Was Never Like This—Or Much Word, Mark." This take-off on the Gertrude Stein theme, naturally, in Rome.

The Odds went way back to 1620 to get the theme for this year's dem, "Pilgrodd's Progress, 1620—or Roosevelt's First Term." Humorous flashes at the Even's evens" they proceeded to demonstrate the advantages of an Amerika settled by Odds. The Evens retaliated with "Oddsnic and Odd Lice, or You Can't Keep a Good Man Down," which was lifted, or shall we say borrowed, from a current Cary Grant picture.

The Evens found their way to Hell and Gluck Norman gave a revised Shakespearean play. A blessed event in the Even family formed the plot for "Eventually—Why Not Now."

The Odds had a flash in the setting for "Madame Luckoma's" thrilling rescue from a camp of Evens in the Odd Spectacular, "Even Steven" tells the love story of the Even hero and heroine.

From "Hellzappopin" to "Oddspoppin" was no jump at all for the Odds of 1939, and the theme was transformed "Dr Jekyll and Mr Even" is the version of "Dr Jeven and Mr Hood."

Courageous "King Kay" of the House of Even, is responsible for the rescue of the fair lady Evonne from the miserable clutches of "Oddzilla." Odd Entertainment of was the theme of "Oddkiller Wins the Day," the Even dem of 1938. A Land of Os influenced the Evens in the adventures of "Little Oddery," the Scare Crow, the Tin Woodman, and the Cowardly Lion in the Odds' presentation of "The Wizard of Odds." Even centered about the quest of the wonderful city of Odds.

1938's stirring Odd drama was "Strike On the Midway" or "Vip, or Use Is the Queen's Blood." In Oddward Victory Noble, a heroic streetsweeper saved Hellbilly, an ambitious-to-be-tightrope - walker heroine. A fine upstanding mountain fellow, Pa Hawkin, his family and his friends engaged in a mountain feud with LasrODD in the Even drama "Feud Between."

The tea trip of Mr Two, a parrot and a crew made the theme of "Eventta" of 1937. World-minded Odds made the world safe for democracy in "DemODDcracy."

Time marched and so did the 1936 Evens. Their theme centered around a march of time beginning

RECORDS—ALBUMS — SHEET MUSIC
Jenkins Music Co.
Formerly Tallahassee Music Co.
HAVE YOU HEARD BEULAH'S BOOGIE By Hampton—"Solid!"
WHERE MUSIC IS A BUSINESS—NOT A SIDELINE

Fashion Flashes

BY FRANCES TRAXLER

Someone misunderstood the title of this column—she thought instead of "fashion," it was "passion flashes." Maybe in a third of it one is s'posed to be a result of the other. Your columnists will attempt to describe some of the more exquisite means to the result from a stick of record Vogues.

There are a couple of short dresses which must be dealt with before we turn to the exciting business of new evening dresses. Our favorite is a Schiaparelli-sleeved classic of gray woolen. With it are worn velvet gloves and beret of a color which is a cross between gray and golden, and three golden ropes at the high neck.

Then there is a black jersey suit, scarlet-stitched, worn with leopard fur gloves and the tawny hues of a hat, and for the same purpose as The Little Black Dress there is a Little Jersey Suit. It has an extremely low round neck, and is worn with gilt buttons, gold kid gloves and ballet slippers, wrist length red gloves, and a gold chain with a dazzling coin pendant.

And here's a black velvet evening party dress with a low square cut in the throat and white fur mittens.

Now for the evening dresses. One of the most striking we have seen is all black: a clinging wool jersey sheath with a demure train and a stiff rayon faille skirt. It is worn with a leopard fur belt, white kid gloves and ballet slippers.

The evening dress we're looking for is a running dress: a full white net skirt with two deep ruffles at the bottom, a ruffle-shouldered white satin pique pink satin tatting, and a huge pink satin bow at the front which falls almost to the skirt bottom. This is to be worn with pearls, and a natural look about the appearance infinitely.

Another evening dress is one with an air de ballet. It is black, has a velvet bodice (almost backless) with a fine lace yoke and rhinestones, and a full-gathered tulle skirt. It is worn with long black gloves and pearls.

The last evening dress—purple taffeta. It is—sure by the years! It's all curves, has a deep V decolletage; a padded, sloped, side-draped skirt, and a huge bow. About the throat one would wear a short string of pearls, but what would be slicked back into an Apollo rondure arrangement at the back. It fairly shouts "Fairies are back!" and we are gratified.

Magazine Jottings

Continued from page four
urania" must not in small enough quantity to operate a car for a long time. There is no say that for the present it is a menace. . . It may intimidate the human race by transmitting atomic weight to international affairs." In that way it might begin its services to mankind.

After-Dinner Coffees Thursday Fete Students, Guests of Residence Halls

As a part of Thanksgiving celebrations students entertained their faculty sponsors and other guests at coffees in the residence halls. The holiday theme was carried out in decorations of autumn leaves and flowers and Thanksgiving music given by the students.

Bryan Hall gave a coffee drop-in from 11 to one o'clock Thursday morning. During the morning a group of students played classical music and sang Thanksgiving songs. Mary Monace and Harriet Kirk poured at tables decorated with red and gold autumn leaves and colorful fall fruit. Miss Olivia N Dorman, dean of students, was the honored guest of the students at Bryan Hall

The annual Thanksgiving entertainment of Landis Hall was a coffee held Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock. The tables were decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, fall yellow leaves, and bright cutouts of pilgrims, turkeys, and Thanksgiving scenes. During the reception, Madge Pichet, Peggy Pearson, and Joyce Punke sang Friendship, Come Ye Thanks, Tell All People, Come and We Gather Together to Ask the Lord's Blessing. Miss Ruth Williams, assistant director of homes, and Miss Dorman assisted. Miss Williams was in charge of arrangements.

Students of Reynolds Hall received their parents and guests at an after dinner coffee from 7:30 to 9 o'clock Thanksgiving day. Among the guests were Mrs Bevier Cox, former resident hall counselor in Reynolds and Miss Helen Kate, assistant professor of home economics. The parlors of Reynolds Hall were decorated with asters, bells of the colonies of evergreens and Spanish moss. During the afternoon, musical recordings were played, and Miss Marie Donahue, residence counselor, poured coffee.

Among the guests at the Jennie Murphree after-dinner coffee were Mrs Jessamon Mills Marjorie Hall, instructor in modern languages, and Miss Vela Greenwood, instructor in psychology, and Miss Mamie Andrews, Mrs Melanie Turner, Miss Eva M Bellinger and Mrs Zona Trick. Virginia Goodall played the piano, and Jeanne Wilson gave a Thanksgiving reading. The tables were centered with white and purple asters, and hawthorne was arranged in vases about the walls.

At Magnolia Hall coffee was served to students and their guests from 3:30 to 4:30 A program of piano music was played by Irene Coleman throughout the reception, and Bernice Sloan and Jane Whitfield poured.

Broward Hall served coffee to students and guests before dinner, from 12 to one o'clock Thanksgiving. Among the guests were Dr and Mrs Doak S Campbell, Miss Dorman, Miss Warren, Miss Edith McCollum, Miss Anna M Tracy, Miss Elizabeth F Brumberry, and the faculty sponsors, Miss Calliope Papatzos, Miss Daisy Parker and Dr P Richards. The room was decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and hawthorne, and during the afternoon June Williams played semi-classical and classical piano pieces.

Students living in The Village served dinner coffee before an open fire in the parlor of Cockrell House the afternoon of Thanksgiving. Three tables of bridge were arranged for guests, and the room was decorated with clusters of pink roses and chrysanthemums.

Perkins Is Awarded Library Fellowship

Miss Isabelle Perkins, an alumnus of Florida State College, has been awarded a fellowship created by New Jersey State College, Rutgers University. According to a recent article in the Library Journal, the fellowship consists of a half-time library position for two years while completing the professional library course.

Miss Perkins received her masters degree from FSC in 1935 majoring in English. She has taught in Southern high schools and elementary schools until the beginning of her work in New Jersey at the opening of the fall term. Her previous library experience includes work in the Orlando High School Library, the college library at Milligan College in Tennessee, and at the headquarters of the Arlington County Library, Arlington, Virginia.

THE WORLD'S MOST HONORED WATCH
Longines
WINNER OF 10 WORLD'S FAIR AND GRAND PRIZES...32 GOLD MEDALS AND OTHER HIGH HONORS FOR ACCURACY THAN ANY OTHER TIMEPIECE
THE MOST HONORED WATCH OF ALL

TICKET AGENT
Phone your Trailways Agent first . . .
Jacksonville
A. M. P. M.
12:15 1:30
3:30 5:00
5:45 8:00
8:00 9:45
8:45 8:45
8:30 11:00
Tampa
A. M. P. M.
1:00 1:30
4:00 5:45
8:50 8:45
11:00 9:00
ALL BUSES LEAVE UNION BUS STATION COR. ADAMS & TENN. PHONE 701
NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Beautiful New Bedroom Slippers
One-Day Shoe Repair Service
STEWART'S SHOE STORE
108 E. Jefferson St.

COAT STARS
. . . smartest styles for now and later in expertly tailored shades, reefers, tunic toppers. Designer details, brilliant colors . . . expert tailoring spotlights this distinguished group.
P. W. WILSON

Dining Hall Girls Face Different Personalities, Mutual Cooperation Lessens Difficulties of Task

Even if she did drop that tray and take a leaf off the artificial flower you had in your hair, even if she did pour water on your darling Frank and give you the smallest dessert of them all, it was an accident. She didn't really mean it

Yes, you know the dining hall girl who has coffee on your table every morning when you finally drag in She', the same girl, perhaps, who sets more of that hard bread for you at lunch, or who brings out an extra dessert once in awhile.

There is usually a feeling of mutual cooperation between the dining hall girls and the other students If this give-and-take policy ceases to operate, conditions can become quite strained and irritating.

At difficult times when friction is present, the dining hall girl has various types o people to contend with.

Miss Grumpy is one of them. She constantly complains about the watery gravy, the scarce amount of milk, or the dried-up grapes which happen to be at her table.

The dining hall girl's favorite customer is ref Miss Thoughtless. She always takes her books to dinner and leaves them right where the dining hall girl had planned to put the savory yellow squash. If Miss T does not put them on the table, she puts them on the floor so the dining hall girl can trip over them.

For some strange reason she doesn't like the grl. Miss Speedy, who races through her meal like a lone-sighted greyhound. Miss S also considers it her duty to rush the whole table through. She wonders how any mortal could be so-o-o slow except maybe they chew their food.

Although Miss Baby seldom sits at the same table with Miss S, she is a fitting contrast. Miss B enjoys swaying in her food. If she isn't doing that, she's busy putting strange words in someone else's mouth or mixing pickles and jelly together. The sweet young thing routine she has the sole privilege of complaining about the food but since she rarely gets around to actually eating she has no grounds on which to base her dislikes

Well, who does the dining room girl like? Of course, she likes the eater who is neat, who comes to dinner presentably dressed, and who is not unduly loud and noisy. She likes a pleasant, efficient, business-like manner—but then who doesn't?

Oh ho, so you don't think the dining hall girls are exactly perfect either.

Take Miss Forsetful for instance. Any girl who can't ramble off the menu for the following 24 hours is useless, and why in the world a girl can't at least remember what desert is is just beyond me.

Ah, and you don't like Miss Green Jacket. She's the morning usher who won't let you save, or does one say 'reserve,' four extra places at breakfast, "My goodness," you think, "I'm sure they'll be right along. They always come to breakfast, and besides I just hate to eat by myself."

And Miss Lazy, or do you call her Miss Turtle, ought to have a wheel chair. She's always the last one to bring and serve the main dish. Of all the girls in the whole organization she's the last one to finish eating and she's the last one to do a push and shove a little," you think to yourself.

And you don't relish the Charge of the Milk Brigade either, do you? The girls rush from the dining hall with their milk pitchers as if shot by jet force. And the way they run up and down the aisles sometimes—that's dangerous, so you say. There you have a point!

What has been proposed is a chance where both parties instead of being so critical would trade positions for a period of time. A short period of time, please.

Or maybe, the dining hall should be renovated. Suppose tracks were and the food was sent in little carts from the dining hall. All the hostess would have to do is pull the 'stop' switch when the most desirable food glided by, unload, and send the little cart back for dessert. Result—no dining hall girls.

Maybe, however, the students would rather be able to supervise the planning, preparing and serving of the meals. Things would run so much more smoothly, or at least that's what you think. Then prune whip would be done away with, mailed milk shakers would be installed at each table, and my-goodness-it's-good, that new steak from the Gr-r-r Grill up town, would be served. Anyway —Result—no dietitians.

Perhaps, Sunday night supper might be changed wherein the buffet style be continued, but attendance would be formal and officials from town would be present.

The most probable change which can be suggested is that both groups accentuate a little more of the positive. That "Carefree" attitude could be changed for the "Don't You Know I Care" feeling.

When that's done, there'll be a "Ho, Time in the Old Town Tonight."

Irish Chosen For National Committee

Dr Marian Irish, professor of political science, has been appointed a member of the National Committee on Social Studies of the American Association of University Women.

This committee promotes and encourages study of and action on major economic and social problems within the United States. It sponsors arrangements to provide speakers and consultants in the field of social studies for branches and state divisions developing programs and projects and it keeps in touch with the various local committees undertaking research in social and economic problems. The committee also arranges for advisory and technical assistance in connection with the publication of materials in this field.

Dr Mabel Newcomer, professor of economics at Vassar, is chairman of the committee. Other members are Dean Blanding of the College of Home Economics at Cornell University; Dr Stevenson, professor of social administration at the University of Illinois; Dr Burns, writer and lecturer in social economy; Miss Martha Enochs, Jackson, Mississippi; Mrs D M Draper, Salt Lake City, Utah; and Miss Anne Mumford, Los Angeles, California.

The written constitution of Canada is the British North America act, an act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom adopted in 1867.

Wall Street in New York marks the path of the wall built by Peter Stuyvesant to protect the then northern limits of the Dutch settlement.

Haughton Will Give Illustrated Lecture

Guild to Hold Year's First Open Meeting Sunday

Miss Helen Haughton will give an illustrated lecture on French cathedrals at a meeting of the Tallahassee branch of the American Guild of Organists to be held tomorrow at 8 p m in the clubroom of the Lonsmire building.

Miss Haughton, who received her degrees from the University of Chicago in art history, is a lecturer on art in the humanities division of Florida State College.

Everyone interested in her lecture is invited to attend said Mrs Ramona Crukhank Beard, associate professor of organ and to attend the reception to be held after the meeting.

This first open meeting of the year marks the 50th anniversary of the founding of the American Guild of Organists, a professional organization for organists and choirmasters which aims to improve and encourage the highest achievement in organ and choral music. According to Mrs Beard, the guild plans to present a Christmas organ program and an ancient mystery play to be performed at Rure Hall in January.

Officers of the Tallahassee Branch of the American Guild of Organists for this year are: Mrs Beard regent; Fawn Trawick, vice regent; Margaret McCain, secretary; Jane Gaertner, treasurer; Rebecca Pfoendenrg, registrar, and Mrs Ben Meginnis, auditor.

Unforseen Difficulties Arising Backstage Are Cause of Even Breathless Moments

Backstage of Odd Demonstration Wednesday and Friday nights was a scene of disorder and chaos as last minute complications arose to confront the already overworked stage crew.

At the last minute, the discovery that no make-up had been provided for Pinocchiold, the main character, sent the make-up committee into furious consultation. After a great deal of "tearing of the hair," some coeus a can of lard and some lipstick were obtained and made to suffice.

Nell Clark, chairman of the demonstration, found difficulty in trying to restrain the cast from too much ad-libing. It seems that the freshmen especially were too "eager" to add their own anecdotes toward the success of the "Dem." Key Van Deurs as Pinocchiold, despite much pleading from Nell, left off the stage in the middle of the second act to the amusement of both the cast and the audience.

A new touch was added, when someone decided it would be clever for Pinocchiold to present his favorite teacher, which turned out to be Mr Vance, with an apple. This idea was unheard of until the middle of the first act when excess stage hands were sent scurrying forth in search of a big red apple which would serve the purpose. Bebe Daniel, who protraged the boy in the silhouette dance, found herself without a tuxedo at the last minute. Almost to the point of desperation, she discovered a friend in need who presented her with a suit no less than fifty years old. Thankful for anything, Bebe did some fancy last minute sewing and tucking and managed to obtain the desired effect in time for her dance. "A mosh hole in my sleeve was so big," she said, "I was afraid I'd get my foot caught in it and fall flat on my face." She added that she half expected to see something resembling a bat fly forth every time her coat flapped open.

A delay was caused between the second and third acts when the backdrop of Westcott refused to go up. Disaster seemed certain, but after much scrambling about and many well-intended suggestions from interested bystanders, the untimely situation was conquered and the play proceeded without difficulty.

Despite these few mishaps which after all merely added zest to the performance, the demonstration proved a success, and the fun derived from it by both the cast and the members of the backstage crew was worth the few headaches that intervened.

For years Mark Twain has been credited with authorship of the statement "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it." The actual author was Charles Dudley Warner, author of "My Summer in the Garden" and collaborator with Twain on the novel "The Gilded Age."

Stagecraft Classes to Construct Sets For Production of "Time and Conways"

Sounds of hammering and strong aromas of stage paint have begun to issue from the speech department's workshop in the newly constructed part of the History building. The first performance of J B Priestly's "Time and the Conways" will be given November 29. Miss Mary Elizabeth Mooty's stagecraft classes have prepared the play's set in the workshop.

The new workshop is a vast improvement over last year's, say all who have seen it. Those Florida State College students who walked down the sidewalks beside the Little Theatre but before plays were given last year, may remember seeing girls dragging flats out of the theatre's east door, painting them on the grass, and hoisting them in again. Below the stage were the "catacombs" (dressing rooms), where paint was mixed and cooked, and tools were kept in a three foot wide closet.

The actual construction of the new wing has considerably some hardship to stagecraft class members, however. The cast and stage crew of "The Yellow Jacket" were obliged to climb down a ladder into a ten foot pit if they wished to leave through the east door of the theatre during the week of nightly performances last March. This door now opens onto a big concrete-floored room with a ceiling which is two stories high. Downstairs there are new dressing rooms, and cabinets for stage materials have been installed.

According to the stagecraft classes there is nothing quite like a play night. The stage manager is constantly harassed, while the girls operating lights, the curtain, and the fly rail are busy and idle by turns. The fly rail is said to be the most desirable post, being ladder-reached, rope - littered balcony, far from the steaming, cigarette-smoking back-stage crowd below. Last year the girls who were up there expressed extreme gratification for their leisure, except when they were shaking a lamp during the air raids in "Cry Havoc," and hauling a palm tree up and down in "Little Black Bambo," and a tableau curtain in "A Chinese Fantasy."

Several girls have said that performance nights of "Time and the Conways" promise to outdo last year's, because Mr O P Sellers, associate professor of orchestra instruments at F S C; Mr Ralph Donaldson, associate professor of industrial arts at F S C; Mr Warren Green, civics teacher at Leon High school; and Mr Paul Johnson of the treasury department, are in the east. For the first time since "The Elves and the Shoemaker" was selected in 1943, the speech department has chosen a play with male parts.

FSC Students Meet National Pin-up Boy In Atlanta Office

Two feminine hearts of Florida State College campus received, if not the thrill of a lifetime, at least the thrill of November 2 when they met in person the one and only Van "The Orin" Johnson.

Gracie Whidden and Lea Goodman while spending the weekend in Atlanta with Lea's aunt, bee this singular honor bestowed upon them in the Atlanta Journal office

They strolled innocently in the office prepared to meet only uninteresting newspapers and newspapermen and encountered, instead, the dazzling slow grin belonging to Van Johnson—the number 1 pin-up boy

Lea relates that as they both gasped out, veiled VA-A-A-N, the other JOHNSON, and fell screaming to the floor She also said more seriously that he seemed to be a very friendly and unassuming young man. Imagine having a private interview with Van Johnson, and his bodyguards.

"Yes, girls," they declared, "he's all the tall, broad-shouldered, freckled be-scarred, rugged gentleman that you've swooned over from the Tallahassee theatre balconies. AND MORE!"

As a more tangible proof of this interview Gracie and Lea proudly share a picture autographed in these words, "My love, Van."

He was enroute to a bond tour and had stopped in at the Journal office to make arrangements. How Gracie and Lea, and Van happened to be in, the Atlanta Journal publicity office on Westview Drive" remains to outdo last year's, because Mr O P Sellers, associate professor of orchestra instruments at F S C; Mr Ralph Donaldson, associate professor of

In the Ice Age, the musk ox ranged south to Tennessee.

Girl Scout Advisor To Address Series

Mrs Dorothy Ann Hisler, advisor on professional work of the Girl Scout National Staff, will be on the Florida State College campus next Thursday and Friday as one of the talks on the vocational guidance series, she will speak on girl scouting to all interested students on Thursday at 8 p m in the Longmire auditorium. On Friday she will interview all seniors interested in professional Girl Scouting.

Mrs Hisler is a graduate of Simmons College Boston, with a major in social work. Before her work on the National Staff she was district secretary of Girl Scouts in Rochester She has also served as a day camp director and as an assistant camp director in an established camp. Her experience in fields other than Girl Scouting includes work as a playground supervisor and as a hospital social worker.

While in Tallahassee Mrs Hisler will visit the local Girl Scout Association as well as the college.

Any senior interested in an interview with Mrs Hisley should make arrangements in the Personnel Office.

Flight Course Is Given by Munroe

Prior to the war a flying course was given at the Tallahassee airport by the Civil Aeronautics association under the supervision of Elizabeth O Andrew, director of personnel. The flight training was given by Mr Ivan Munroe of the Tallahassee airport and the ground comrse was given by the Royal Maltzer of the Department of Economics. During the entire training of the two groups of students there was not a single accident.

Mr Munroe has now formed a company with three other Tallahasseans, Mr Jeff Lewis, Mr Carl Hoffman and Mr Frank Lewis, to flight training.

Some of the former flight students were very active during the war. Irene Fremed and Lois Prine were in the Women's Auxiliary Service Patrol. Irene took course in Portugese at Miami and is now teaching at the Brazilian Army Cadet Ground School in Brazil. Another of the group Frances Rogers, is also teaching in the ground school. Sara Woodruff of the group holds the position of chief transportation agent of Eastern Air Lines at the Guardia Field in New York.

THE FLAMBEAU TAKES THIS OPPORTUNITY TO CONGRATULATE WINNERS OF THE ODD-EVEN GAMES

* * * *

And Both the Red, White and Purple
And the Green and Gold for Fine Demonstrations

The Florida Flambeau

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

VOL. XXXIII, No. 8 — Tallahassee, Florida — NOVEMBER 30, 1945

Will the Lights Go On Again?

In This Our Time

By GLORIA REED
Atomic Control

In an address before the House of Commons, British Prime Minister Attlee warned that the atomic bomb has succeeded only other engines of mass destruction and stated that if Great Britain shares the secret of atomic energy she must have the information that she will be given information on any other new weapons. Along with his plan for "security" Attlee agreed with former Foreign Secretary Eden, now acting leader of the Conservative opposition, that the United Nations Organization will be of little avail unless nations resolve to lay aside any threat of war as an instrument of policy. Mr. Eden, also on this theme, appealed to Russia to permit foreign correspondents to area under her control as a means of strengthening international relations. Senator Taft (Rep., Ohio) proposed that the United States call the United States representative to the United Nations security council to give immediate action on limiting the use of such weapons as the atomic bomb, rockets and gas.

Uprisings

Post war uprisings still rage throughout the Near East. Sharp fighting between the British and the Indonesians continues on Java. The National Council of the Indonesian Independence government in Batavia and heard Premier Sutan Sjahrir council patience among the people. He declared that they could not be forced to follow a road they do not wish to travel. Even with the Japanese tenth army, until they were recently prepared to be sent to Java to help fight side by side with the British and one British general is reported to have made the statement that the Japanese made good soldiers. During the week the British dropped 400 tons of bombs and fire to wipe out rebel radio stations and the number of Indonesian headquarters after finding the mutilated bodies of several British.

Fighting

In Calcutta, a rioting Indian mob ran out of ammunition and an American General hospital and injured and killed several American in the area.

In Italy, Premier Parri resigned after being confronted with a rash vote of confidence in his party coalition cabinet. Orlando, once observers believe, may succeed Parri. Alcide De Gasperi of the Vat I premier may find a strong Allied opposition.

The Communist controlled Turkish party of the National Committee of Democratic Association Province of Iran demanded autonomy from the Iranian Government with its regional parliament but without the change of ties with Russia. The United States State Department has questioned Russia concerning the delivery of favoring independence in the oil area since the Big Three Powers signed a declaration against this full independence.

In Australia, British troops are combatting Jewish forces in an attempt to relieve the Jews of their weapons. Their have been used in several recent riots with the Arabs.

In China the Reds claimed that the Russians are holding certain Manchurian cities at the request of the Nationalists can enter them, but the Nationalist Government Officials are making great demands for this concession.

Pearl Harbor Probe

The Congressional committee's Democratic majority (controlled by Democrats) has been underway with proof that Official Washington knew Japanese intentions as early as July, 1941 through knowledge of the Japanese code. Former Under Secretary of State Wells said that the Japanese proposals of December, 1941, amounted to an "ultimatum" even when they were suing for peace.

Labor

The nation remains in the midst of reconversion strikes. To many observers, the recent resistance by the United Automobile Workers strike in Detroit in which the union is in, in fact, in all the country, is demanding a 30 per cent wage increase, is merely a letter to the union. Mr Ford stated that wage increase cannot be determined until reconversion is completed and volume production is reached.

In Chicago, Montgomery Ward and labor are still battling over former wage increases, but no immediate outcome is in sight.

Philippines

The Administration, viewing what it believes to be the deplorable conditions of the Philippines, made up its mind to grant the islands free trade with the United States for eight years and tariffs, which would rise gently for 25 years. It was also decided to change down on black markets and straighten out the currency. President Truman sent Paul McNutt, one time American ruler of

Continued on Page Three

English Play Is Presented On Campus

"Time and the Conways" Has Three-day Run in Little Theater

The speech department's first production of the year, "Time and the Conways," was played to a capacity audience on Augusta Conradi Little Theater last night at 8:30, and will be presented tonight at the same hour.

J. B. Priestley's English play, directed by Miss Mary Wood, professor of speech, assisted by Joy Fleming, has a cast of four men and six women whose personalities vary widely. The three-act drama is the story of the development of the ten characters over the 20 years from 1919 to 1939. Priestly raised a universal issue in this play when he said that time is all part of a single fabric which the wisest sometimes have brief opportunities to sense as a whole. This issue, within the play's pattern of realism, is responsible for holding the audience.

A party is in progress in the living room of the Conway home in Newlingham, England when the play begins. Gradually the scene is set, the people, and the Conway family is complete when Carol, pilot, Robin Conway comes home at the act ends Kay Conway sits dreaming of the future with Alan Frankland who suddenly sees into the future as he will look on his life at fifteen. The sitting room of Mrs Conway's home is again the scene in the second act in 1929. The modernization is an indication of the passing of time. Kay is a member of Jnoonsen headquarters after finding the mutilated bodies of several Kaffirs.

In Calcutta, a rioting Indian mob ran out of ammunition and an American General hospital and injured and killed several American in the area.

Dance Organization Function on Campus For Past 35 Years

Back in the days when fox trotting and long skirts were the vogue, and disparaging and addible shoes were things in the far distant future, the Coulilon Club and the Village Vamps were founded on this campus. It was the year 1910. The smooth waltzers and nimble-footed fox trotters of FSC decided to form a dancing club. The Coulilons represented the "boys" and the Village Vamps were their coy partners.

The Coulilons' slow dances soon gave way to the fast and peppy ones that became popular during and after the first World War. Irene and Vernon Castle did much to revolutionize the waltz, and college girls were quick to adopt the new and more novel method of dancing.

Dr W G Dodd, dean emeritus of the College of Arts and Sciences, who came to FSC in 1910 said, "When I first arrived on this campus the girls danced in a very slow music, but since then it seems to me that they are dancing faster and faster. I do not know if it has been chaperons at many school dances who have been encouraging and interesting to see the changes in the way that the girls dance."

Today the Village Vamps is an organization composed of girls

Continued on page two

AGO to Hear Pieces In Sunday Meeting

Lecture on Gothic Cathedrals Was Heard Last Week

Members of the American Guild Organists will hold their November meeting of the year in the Tower Room of the Union on Sunday, December 2, at 4:30 p. m. This meeting is a follow up of last week's meeting when Miss Ann Miss Helen K Haughton gave an illustrated lecture on Gothic Cathedrals.

Sunday's program will be presented by the members of the college chapter of AGO assisted by the Junior Choir of Trinity Methodist Church. Organ numbers to be offered will be "A Choral Prelude" Bach, "Andante" from "O Beautious Light," played by Pawn Twark, "Intermezzo in Settino Vittone" by Yon, a folk song and popular melody played by Ruth Pedaire Lewis, and "Grand Choeur Dialogue" played by Geoffrey Shaw: "Hark Now O Shepherds" by Best, "Lo How A Rose E'er Blooming" by Praetorius, "Go Tell it on the Mountains" arranged by Shaw, "Hallelujah" from Symphony from "The Messiah" by Handel, played by Eleanor Caldwell, "Pastorale" by Franck, and by Dubois: "A Lovely Rose Has Unfolded" by Willan, "Christmas Nobis" by Gullmant, player by Ben Rodgers.

Continued on page two

Next Quarter Sees New Staff Additions

Two Former Faculty Members To Resume Positions

Coming from North Africa and the United States Navy, the former members of the faculty are returning next quarter to resume their teaching positions. The others will also be three new additions to the staff of Florida State College.

Miss Madeline Postaire, of modern language department, who is here in 1940 on leave of absence to visit relatives in her native France, has returned to the campus for a visit, and will resume her teaching position next quarter since she left five years ago.

Lt Commander Ernest Cason has just returned to FSC on terminal leave from the Navy and will be in the teaching field of higher education at the beginning of the second quarter.

Last stationed at Dallas, Texas, Cmdr Cason taught air navigation. which included deal of celestial and radio navigation. He left FSC three years ago to assume the duties with the Navy when "I'm very glad to be back here, and you can stress that," he became teaching position in 1939.

Miss Ernestine Troesiel, who will come to FSC as associate professor of physical education. last taught at Fairmont State College, West Virginia.

The new catalogue in the library will be Miss Ruth E Van Hoyt from Oreson State College.

Instructing in economics and commerce will be Mary Ellen Kinnon from Wesleyan Conservatory.

Distaff to Include Freshmen Entries

The 1945 fall issue of the Distaff, marking the twenty-second aniversary of the magazine, a critical literary quarterly published by the students of Florida State College, will include the prizewinning entries of the freshman writing contest and a symposium entitled "Peace Techniques", announces Mary Hamilton, editor.

Although printing of the Distaff has been delayed, publication probably will not be circulated before the Christmas holidays. Winifred has requested that students begin submitting material for the second issue of the Distaff, to be published during the winter, appealing especially for short stories and poetry contributions. The deadline for the winter issue has been set for December 15.

Sweet Shop Grows From Small Beginning To Present Thriving Campus Institution

Probably there is not a college or a university in America that does not claim some sort of sweet-and-hamburger manufacturing institution where students get between classes, after exams, and when they should be studying. Some of them are quite famous and modern—the "Chuck Wagon", walls are embellished with the brands of all the ranchers the brands of all the ranchers that made Texas the Wild and Wooly West—and some are just little Inns-in-a-wall, like the Gamecock Grill, at the University of South Carolina, which serves grits and ham of a cold morning and beer-and-chops in the basement.

The Sweet Shop, a small, white wooden building which has evolved from a grocery store with one table to the present four-and-a-half 2400 girls, represents the Florida State College variety.

The Sweet Shop was born in 1933, when one table was placed in the unused right hand side of a small grocery store on West Jefferson street behind the Liberty. There was no soda fountain, no pennants on the walls, no juke, and the porch was not available for the romantic atmosphere presented by Wistaria and Clematis that gradually metamorphosed from the one table to the present two-room, 53 table tearoom where sometimes as many as 2,300 FSC students go in one day.

Tired campers, bookworms who have passed the saturation point, lucky lassies with the phenomenal date and procrastinators manage to consume an estimated 27 gallons of Coca-cola, and 25 to 30 gallons of ice-cream per day. In a two-week-end rush, the consumption of 900 hamburgers.

"Hurry hurrying," said Mr L. O Blount, co-owner of the Sweet, "is the thing that keeps the proprietors was the number of people

Continued on page two

Haley Speaks On Scouting

Advisor Here to Recruit Applicants for Work

Mrs Dorothy Ann Haley, advisor on professional work for the National Girl Scout office, spoke last night to Girl Scouts and Befrienders, who came to FSC in 1910 said, "When I first arrived on this campus the girls danced in a very slow music, but since then it seems to me that they are dancing faster and faster. I do not know if it has been chaperons at many school dances who have been encouraging and interesting to see the changes in the way that the girls dance."

Today the Village Vamps is an organization composed of girls

Continued on page two

Carothers Announce Registration Plans

One Day Set Aside to Enroll For Second Quarter

The second quarter registration of Florida State College will last only one day, Dr Carothers announced.

This is the first time in some years that registration has been confined to one day, according to Dr M W Carothers, registrar, under the quarter system this is all the time that can be allowed for registration.

Plans for registering after the afternoon of January 2, 1946, and the regular students the enrollday of Monday, January 7, with no alphabetical order; upperclassmen in the morning and freshmen in the afternoon.

Since such a short time is being allowed for registration, it is most important that students register at the time assigned according to Dr Carothers. Students who have changed their hour of classes in which they were enrolled in first quarter will have a shorter classification by reregistering at the stated time, he further instructed.

Garnet and Gold' Features Vocalists

Sarah Ann Bramlester and Betty Hyre Green were the two vocalists on the regular college radio program "Garnet and Gold" Sunday night at 7:30 over WTAL.

If I Could Tell You by Pirestone and My Johann by Grier were the selections sung by Sarah Ann, and Betty Hyre Green took place, Caro Mio Ben by Giordani.

The general announcing was done by Bertha Bloodworth, coordinator of the broadcast. It also gave the weekly news report.

Parker Speaks To Students On Education

Convo Program Planned by Alpha Lambda Delta Discouraged

Council Advises Against Conscription Debate

Miss Daisy Parker, instructor in political science, in addressing the student convocation for Alpha Lambda Delta convocation last Tuesday night, declared that the objective of all education, whether you label it progressive, liberal, or vocational, must be the same, the promotion of human welfare and the development of the values and satisfactions of life."

A scheduled debate on compulsory military conscription," which was to have been given by members of Alpha Lambda Delta following Miss Parker's address, was withdrawn on the advice of Executive Council.

In advising against the debate, Council pointed out that

Continued on page two

Forums Are Planned By FSC Press Club

Discussions to Concern Two Surveys of Education

The recently reorganized Press Club of Florida State College formulated tentative plans at its first meeting to present a series of open forums for discussion of the meanin and functions of education, to center around the ideas presented in The Purposes of Experimental College and The Harvard Report on Edsaction in America.

The Experimental College, edited by Alexander Meiklejohn, former president of Amherst College, is a record of the plan formulated and developed by the University of Wisconsin to foster a new experiment in liberal education. The Harvard Report, a nationwide recognition, in educational circles since its publication a year. Both books represent analyses of actual and theoretical forms of education in America and they will serve as the basis for the forum discussions.

The forums, which will be held resularly during the next quarter, will be composed of students and faculty members of FSC and some representatives from Florida's other universities. The Press Club also plans to sponsor speakers under the jurisdiction of state and allied fields in talks open to all who are interested.

Officers elected for the coming term were selected at the first meeting last Monday. Betty Dowd, president; Alicia Armstrong, secretary, and Jane Hardware, publicity director. The organization of forums will be under the direction of a committee composed of Jeanne Dupree, Jo Deurs, chairman; Peggy Lu Thomas, Frances Traxler and Janet Rogers.

The Press Club, not an association of Florida newspaper students, is open to all students interested in its activities and discussions. Meetings are held in the Flambeau Office, in the basement of the Administration building, every Monday at 5 o'clock.

Recommendation Advocating Unlimited Light Privileges Passes in Senate Wednesday

Kay Elected Chairman of Legislative Committee; Judiciary Representatives Nominated; Ashton Gives Resignation

A recommendation to the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs that all students be allowed to use their lights at their own discretion was passed by a vote of thirty-five to three in Student Senate Wednesday. Senate also accepted the resignation of Dink Ashton, elected Peggy Kay chairman of the legislative committee, and nominated for senior representative to Judiciary, Margaret Winton, Virginia Collins, Jessie McCalla, and Betty Ann Shiver.

The recommendation will be submitted to the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs because that committee reserves for itself jurisdiction ever extension of lights privileges for students on the grounds that this is a matter pertaining to the public health of the students.

Senate changed the original proposal for the recommendation that upperclassmen should be allowed to use their own discretion by striking out the last a recommendation extending the privilege to all students, including freshmen. The topic for discussion was presented to Senate by Ruth Hall from the executive Council of CGA.

Limited Measure

Limited Measure gave two reasons for passing the recommendation: first, she stated that "Student Senate should be the servant of the student and not its leader, and therefore should act only overwhelmingly for exercising individual discretion in the matter of lights usage. The second reason is purely one of relative values. I think it is more important for us to have the stimulation of making our own decisions than to have would be destroyed anyway."

Winifred said she thought that the recommendation was important because in a way, the campus is a training ground. Jessie McCalla agreed with Thomas Jefferson that the "least government is the best government. The light flash privilege should be extended to freshmen because we are in the development without the opportunity for development. It seems

Continued on page two

Ceremony Held For Freshmen

Allison Gives Address at Torch Night Service

The sophomore class symbolically passed the torch of knowledge to the freshman class last night in the annual Torch Night ceremony, which took place under the pines in back of Westcott. Dressed in white, the freshmen met in the sunken garden in front of Jennie Murphree, where they were told the meaning of Torch Night by Ann Carolyn Allison, president of College Government Association.

Individual torches were distributed by the sophomores to the girls, and the freshmen were led in lines to the back balcony of Westcott to the tune of "Marseillaise" of the return of Alma Mater and the Daughters, Vires, Arise and Mores.

Originating at FSC in 1927, the ceremony is the symbolic passing of the Greek celebration of the gift of fire to man to the freshmen who were passed from one runner to another. In receiving the torch, the freshmen believed

Continued on Page Two

Recital to Feature Talk About Sibelius

Katherine Gremill, student body president of the School of Music, will honor the composer Jan Sibelius in a talk entitled "Sibelius" at the recital which will be the featured finale at the Student Recital to be held next Thursday evening, according to Dean Karl O Kuerstteiner, acting dean of the School of Music.

The recital, which will be the last of a series presented at the first of each month, will be held in Westcott Auditorium at five o'clock. It will be featured by eight paris, consisting mainly of alternating piano, organ, and violin numbers.

Fawn twarick will play Franck's "Piece Heroique" on the organ, followed by a "Folk Song" featuring Rachel Crowell, violinist, and Ruth Pedaire Lewis, accompanist. Grieg's "Nocturne" will be played by Ruth Pedaire Lewis pianist. Jane Gaertner will play "Bell Through the Trees" by Edmonds, and Ann Wiggins will give a piano solo of Chopin's "Waltz in E Minor," and "Sonata Impromptu" also by Chopin will be played by Marilyn Morgan.

Marne Smith, accompanied by Helen Edmiston, will play Ethel Barnes' "Crepescule" and "Finale from Sonata in D Minor" by Ghilment will be played by Margaret McCain, organist.

The Public School Chorus will close the program with a choral singing of "Finlandia," with Rachel Crowell accompanist, Ann organ and Zodie Phipps directing.

WSSF Fund Lagging, Only $450 Collected

Only $450 has come in for the World Student Service Fund up to this time, which is about one fourth of the total amount pledged, according to Ann Allison, president of the WSSF at Florida State College.

"Since only two days of the drive remain and many students are not back from their vacations to the tables in lower Westcott, we may have to call on the faculty individually in the dormitories," said Jessie.

This funds furnishes relief, rehabilitation, and reconstruction for student around the world. Since the needs have multiplied with the ending of war, students are asked to donate more money. The goal set up here was a dollar from each student, budgeted over the entire month of November.

"It will be muc'i less work if all girls will pay their pledges in Westcott by Saturday noon," advises Jessie.

Ticks Given Out Next Week for Play

Arrangements for distribution of tickets for the "Romeo and Juliet" performance which will be held in the college auditorium on December 3 through 5 were announced by Dean Lead K O Kuerstener, dean of School of Music.

Season red ticket holders are asked to get their tickets on December 3 through 5 from 2 to 5 p. m. in the basement floor of the Longmire building. In order to reduce the number of left-over reserved seats that can be sold publicly the night of the play, no seats will be distributed.

Shakespeare's famous, "Romeo and Juliet" will be presented here by the National Classic Theater of Washington, D. C. under the direction of Clare Tree Major.

The drama will be enacted in Marte, each act having three to five scenes.

Alumnae Flock Here For Homecoming Fun

Many more than the expected 200 alumnae flocked in to Florida State College for the annual Homecoming season last week. According to Mrs Ruth Bryan Owen, alumnae secretary, it was impossible to estimate just how many came because many did not bother register in her office as alumnae, but just registered for Thanksgiving day only; therefore, they were not present at the tea given in their honor on the afternoon of the home of the Longmire building.

Mrs Owen said, a few members who were graduates of FSC, up for the week-end," said Miss Ruhan "but many of them did not register."

There is just no possible way to really estimate how many did get here for the festivities," she said.

IRC Makes Plans

The International Relations Club made plans for speakers and forums to be presented next quarter at their business meeting Thursday night, according to Jessie McCall, president of the club.

The club win continue studying the United Nations' Charter and will try to secure a speaker to off the campus to present views on the subject, said Jessie.

Fossils, Pottery, Mineral Specimens, Contemporary Wild Life Arouse Interest of Visitors to Geological Survey on Campus

La Verne Quinn

Signs around the campus pointing to the Florida Geological Survey have aroused much curiosity this year among the freshmen as they have in years past. Upon finding the Survey closed, however, curiosity turns into interest. For inside the Florida Geological Survey there are many things to provoke careful scrutiny.

Housed in the basement of the old dining hall since 1940, with its headquarters in Tallahassee, the survey contains the offices of the state geologists who are constantly investigating Florida's mineral, water and petroleum resources. As the survey progresses in its research, a museum has been built up of prehistoric fossils. Indian and modern pottery, and specimens and contemporary wild life of the state. Special investigations of the state's peat deposits and water supply are being conducted at present.

The discovery of oil in Florida two years ago was no real surprise to Dr Herman Gunter, state geologist, who says that Florida has a good chance of becoming a great oil producing state. During 38 years, he has actively prospected carefully preserved the cuttings and cores from Florida's deep water wells for future reference, since experimental methods often can tell the exact formation of the earth's strata by the fossils found in these cores. Because of his foresight, Tallahassee has been made headquarters for research and has more than fifty oil companies drilling in Florida, saving an estimating millions of dollars searching for underground lakes of oil in underground hills of rock. Most of these cuttings are stored on campus.

During the war the Survey was active in aiding war industries and in assisting in the exploration for oil and its development, besides active task forces assisting in geology and allied phases of science, the keeping of records and materials that have meaning for publications. Some of the improvements and developments in mineral industries which were advised by the Survey will give Florida new peacetime industries.

The museum is very convenient for a number of departments in the college, as it is used often for demonstration purposes. Although the specimens in the engrossing collection have come from a wide variety of sources, the phosphate mining industry has opened particularly valuable fissilines to the scientists with its exposures of a rich Miocene deposit.

One of the most impressive and interesting exhibits is the reconstructed mastodon, which was found about 11 years ago in Walton County, Florida, by a farmer from Tallahassee. According to Dr Gunter, some fragments of tusks were found near the original find and brought to the conservation office many years later. In 1941 when the Geological Survey was organized, the complete skeleton was transferred. While cleaning out Wakulla Springs to transform it into a showplace and resort years later, a jaw and another tusk were found. The Geological Survey was called to investigate and subsequently found a fine specimen lying on the floor under the water, which was brought to the surface with great difficulty.

All told a set of large tons which opened and closed by means of a cord was used, but that method of dredging proved destructive in that it damaged the bones. Because the skeleton was covered with underwater plant growth, it couldn't be seen clearly enough to drop the tongs with the least injury to the skeleton. The mud was pumped away and with the aid of a water glass the skeleton could be seen clearly. The museum now has a diving helmet which can be used in such operations if another opportunity arises.

A few of the ribs and a part of a tusk remain in the museum. Dr Gunter's request, the American Museum of Natural History in Washington, D C sent a replica of the missing members. Dr Gunter has sent several specimens to this institution and to the Smithsonian, which in turn has given him duplicate material and type specimens when room is found to exhibit them.

Of still more scientific interest is the fossil tusk of the only species of mastodon found in Florida a few years ago. This rare species is tetralophodon floridanus, the early four-tusked mastodon and the only one found in America, which is the one commonly known. In addition, there are several specimens of the lower jaw of the four-tusked mastodon with tusks in place. These are the first specimens that have ever been found with the tusks in place.

Species of prehistoric horses with several toes are exhibited. Some of these are about the size of a dog. Also in the museum are

Continued on Page Two

Campus Sings Favorite Parodies In Jam Session or on Busses

Darn it, I'm cold, and may I never warner be,
'a in cars of old, when I was courting company."

Whoever a bunch of Tally classes get together on a bus, these words are almost certain to sound out from Alma Mater. Be sure, the back of the handbook is filled with songs which uphold the ivy-clad traditions of the college, but the songs that live the long and travel the farthest are the parodies and the livelier tunes.

Familiar melodies sway throughout the bus, but the words are often unrecognizable except by the initiates. During these jam sessions, the Notre Dame Victory Song is sung as "Beer, beer, for dear FSC."

"Give a cheer, give a cheer,
For the gals who drew the beer,
In the cellars of old FSC."

replaces the customary words to the "Caisson Song." One of the favorites of these gatherings starts piously, "I'm a nun, nun, nun, from FSC." We won't print how it ends, though.

Sometime during the trip, one of the girls is sure to start, "We Are the Girls From Old Florida." Lately, the words of "Old FSC" substitute for "Where the boys are the squarest." — "where the boys are the hairiest" and "the state down our way."

The subject of food is one that pops up on every trip. This usually calls for a barber-shop rendition of "Mr. Sun." No dogs dare we have hot dogs; cats die, we have catsup. We have also one of the more suspicious girls. It takes sometime for the unsuspecting to realize that "Darling, I am growing older."

There are some old songs that creep in — hangovers from high school days. "Oh, Susanna" and "I'll take a jeg from some old table." "Pound a peanut," "Show me the way to go home," and the companion, "Indicate the road to my abode."

The fact that they are on their way home is expressed musically, too, in such songs as "I've been train bells and whistles on my mind" and "I'm coming back to where I come from."

Creative efforts have taken several old timers and dressed them up by adding words and combining two songs, as in "I've Been Working on the Railroad." This one seems to go on and on without end, then stop when you least expect it.

Oral sound effects have been added to the time-worn "She'll be coming 'round the mountain," and the words have been slightly rearranged to facilitate these reinforcements.

On the trip home or to Gainesville, as the case may be, the girls, after dozing for a few minutes, "I wish I was a fascinatin' lady." However, if they sing "We may be Tally lassies, boys, but what do we care," on the return trip, it's a sure sign of an interesting and successful visit.

"Blues in the night" never get dirty.

The longer you wear them, the stronger they get."

gives the cynic's view of the laundry problem with the key solution to the problem. To this same melody, donnas that are often chesty, "Straight hair, it never gets curly."

Occasionally, songs are sung a little too much in need of laundering themselves to be quoted, slip in. "Frankie and a Poor Missionary" and a "Persian Kitty" are two of the more oft-sung along this line.

Gainesville fraternity songs are fast replacing the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps songs that used to be a main part of every bus ride. One that is still lingering on is a favorite is "Old King Cole." "Make-believe" as a comment on the lack of men, remains popular.

"Anna Mae"—"Mad" and "When It's Dark and Everything Is Still" almost always come into the mix, as do "Over an Old Beer Bottle" and "How Dry I am."

Two other songs involving girls' names are "Catelena, Magdalena," etc. and "Down By the Old Mill Stream" and "In the Ebenin' By the Moonlight" are ever-popular because of their adaptability to both the slow and fast tempos.

If the trip is long, and all these songs have been sung, the girls sometimes begin an Hit Parade favorites of the past few years.

Just before the end of the journey, the girls think about the set-up they left behind, and as this point burst forth with one dances.

BLACK MAGIC IN A SLING PUMP . . .
Styles with a holiday flare in patent, suede, calf, pabardine and Fabrics.
Butler's, Inc.
224 E Monroe Phone 1318

Scholarship Cup Is Awarded to Herring

Mary Anne Herring was awarded the Omicron Nu scholarship cup at the meeting of the Home Economics Club Wednesday evening in the Longmire auditorium. This cup is awarded annually to the sophomore home economics major enrolled in the school of home economics who maintained the highest average during her freshman year. Doris Dubose and Josephine Parker received honorable mention for maintaining honor averages during their freshman year.

The guest speaker, Mary E Krown, state home demonstration agent, spoke on "Achievement in Home Economics." She contrasted recent advances in the field of home economics with earlier ideas found in papers written about 1900. In pointing out the progress made in the home economics students, she told of the achievements of many graduates of Florida State College.

Following presentation of the cup, an informal reception was held in the club room in honor of Mary Anne, Miss Krown, and the new members of the club. Miss Marjorie Firestien, president of Omicron Nu, Miss Dorothy Sandels, dean of the School of Home Economics; Ruth Ferguson, faculty advisor of Omicron Nu; Miss Krown and Mary Anne were in the receiving line.

Parker Speaks

Continued from page one

Ann Carolyn Parker, president of CCA said, "We feel that the decade on military conscription does not fit into a program for scholarship and the latter is your major purpose for having the program." She said also that the effects might be that if you have to do too many things at once."

Connie Baker, program chairman of the freshman scholastic honorary, said, "If scholarship consists of working for letter grades on a slide rule paper, then we agree that a discussion of military conscription would not be pertinent to a program for scholarship. We feel, however, that the true concept of scholarship is to learn how to live intelligently. We therefore feel we have lived that a true scholar would certainly study national problems, and that the effects of military conscription was chosen for the program on scholarship since it was one of the most vital problems of the day."

In her address, Miss Parker declared that if she were in charge of the college curriculum, she would have students read the Iliad and the Odyssey in the original. This would, she said, give students a "maximum enjoyment of the heritage of the past."

However, in regard to the present day Miss Parker stated that we must learn to live with our fellowman peacefully." She said that if the people of the United States should acquaint themselves with at least the bare essentials of American history, the United States geography in order to "understand properly the problems of today."

Miss Parker's closing quotation was one of Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune's. "The people of every country are the only safe guardians of their own minds and are the only instruments which can be used for their development, and to form the mass of people, enlighten the people generally, and tyranny and oppression of body and mind will vanish like evil spirits at the approach of day."

The devotional which opened the program was conducted by Miss Betty Ann Bell of Alpha Lambda Delta member. Eleanor Bryan also a member, presided and played a piano solo, "Dance of the Imps."

Faculty sponsors Dr Venila L Shivers professor of history, and Dr Olivia N Dorman, dean of students, were on stage during the program.

The originally planned debate on military conscription was held immediately following the last convocation in 303 Westcott.

Dance Organization

Continued from page one

who are pledged to are members of Alpha Phi Alpha, Kappa, Sigma, Delta and Alpha Delta Pi sororities. They are chosen for their ability to dance and for qualities that they possess which makes them all-around college girls.

The Dance Club is a product of Village Vamps for this year, said Lamar Veazey, club president. Sponsored by them several years ago was that of owning a car. Yes, a car. Not just any car, but one bovine animal supplied several years ago with a Tally fraternity banner with milk which they otherwise would have had to do with. The car was the subject of which this service has been discontinued. However, Yodel said, "With the present car, we tapped last Saturday night we are going to work together on some new charity undertaking."

The Colillon girls, dressed in black velvet skirts and green shirts and who are a familiar sight to all students who go dancing in the basement of the Westcott building, have set a precedent of being the best dancers in the school. The members are not confined to any particular sorority and are chosen only on their ability to dance. The Colillons and Village Vamps are partners to all CCA dances, and the Thanksgiving dance is their largest annual affair. One side of the gym is decorated for the Colillons and the other by the Village Vamps.

Hap Hazard, president of Colillon, announced that at the beginning of the second quarter they are going to sponsor dancing classes once a week in one of the recreation rooms in the dormitories. Every person who wishes to learn how to dance or improve her dancing is invited to attend. "I just hope that lots of girls will take advantage of this," he said.

Together the Village Vamps and the Colillons comprise a large number of girls who are capable and gracious hostesses at all our school functions.

Freshman Venturing to Seek Recreation Finds Evening Filled With Excitement

By SALLY WATSON

Armed with her passport, citizenship papers, and a fine air of Tallahassee the heroine of this epic-saga ventures into town to spend a few quiet hours in wholesome pursuit of recreation. Ooops! she forgot to put on some of the ventures back and after an hour she is ready to be on her merry way.

Finding FSC's Ille Stork Club for juvenile delinquents filled to the brim, and of course we mean the Sweet Shop, she joins her pals one dead ahead and sinks for the Spick. This is patronized by a more sophisticated clientele, namely upperclassmen, and since our gal is only a widdle freshman she feels she should seek more congenial company.

The Rathskeller company is found sitting in the balcony of a local theatre enjoying Chapter 6 of "Blackie of the Badlands," and does not know what a mas. Two-fisted, fearin' man of the West is, where when men are men and,—well, where men are men. Isn't that enough? Ah! Then on to pastures new.

Leaving the Theatah we see our heroine making a beeline path indirect to the Tallahassee version of Duffy's Tavern, Bennett's—where Duffy's Tavern is to fictie. But on little, it's all the same—just jampacked with the resemblance Van Johnson. (I must stop chewing this betel nut.)

Lingering a mild quarter of elven four heroine likes to live dangerously) we find he feeling like a real renown of cinderella leapint to catch the last pumpkin for FSC. The resemblance does not end there. Her festete looks like these roommates with little shoes anyhow.

Like the Persian kittens her face wears a smile of content. Virtue is its own reward — she did not frequent a single local juice or dance hall. In fact she didn't do a darn thing she wasn't supposed to do. (Probably lack of imagination due to retarded development.)

What an evening. What a college! "What's a home council?" asks our girl as she traipses in (ooch, horrible though) five minutes late.

And so she writes in her diary on the long trip after returning (and made for study (?), also campusment.

"I haven't missed dating at all. Much. I'm having a marvelous time. Can't remember when I've had there was no life-guard, so I didn't go. I went dancing last night. My roommate leads so well. Am doing well in literature. Now in Chapter 5 of Blackie of the Badlands. Getting lots of mail lately — my infirmary bill comes every day. Don't own men anymore. Much. But what, oh what, oh I've got to be happy to finish Chapter 6 of the Badlands?"

She's sprung next week so we leave our until further news when this vicious circle shall begin again.

Freshman Ceremony

Continued from Pag: One

they would acquire the opportunity of gaining knowledge, and that opportunity, symbolized by fire, should never be extinguished. In response to these solemn obligations, her three daughters told what they gained by the gifts of the three torches, which symbolize health, knowledge, and the arts.

After telling of their gifts, the three daughters were told to pass their torches on to the freshmen, and in this way the ceremony of initiation recited a poem.

In charge was Pat Pattishall, and responsible parts were taken by Rosemary Marcoux, Alma Mater; Iris Parsons, Vires; Jimmy Rogers, Aries; Martha Dewey, Minerva; and Candy Jones, Tradition.

Committee heads were sophomore council members, Martha Peacock, publicity; Marshall Lee Vernon, costumes; and Pep Shanland, properties.

Students to Go On Observation Tour

Next Thursday, psychology and sociology majors will journey by bus to Chattahoochee and Marianna for a first-hand observation of problems of conflicts in Florida's state insane asylum and reform school.

Faculty members in charge of the trip are Dr H L Waskom, director of psychology, and Prof W Shankweiler. Miss Caroline Hue, and Mrs Margaret C Bristol, associate professors of sociology.

Junior and senior psychology or sociology majors who plan to go on the trip are requested to bring the required $2.53 to Margaret Hanson, office assistant of the department of sociology by tomorrow morning.

Columnists Appear On January Series

Dorothy Thompson and Jerome Davis, two widely known columnists and news commentators, are expected to come to Florida State College in January, announced Dean Earl G Kuersteiner, acting dean of School of Music and Artist Series director.

The two columnists will lecture here at the college as part of next quarter's Artist Series program.

Dorothy Thompson, who will lecture on "Peace, What Now," has gained much popularity during this decade by her writings and lectures on current news of the day.

Jerome Davis, a leading war correspondent, will speak on "Japan During the War and After."

Sweet Shop

Continued from page one

we fed. But getting the food was the problem. The hungry throngs piles from the five corners of the country, and often shipwrecked were too small when the meal was ready. Ever since the beginning was granted in the past, the infirmary was overcrowded.

Now all is changed. Co-eds and freshmen are so conscientious and have not fully developed their sense of humor to permit them the privileges might prove detrimental to their health.

Mary White, a junior counselor, asserted repeatedly that the Sweet Shop is not a privilege for the upper classmen of assuming the responsibility of deciding time to turn off their lights.

Ann Allison suggested that the student body assume the responsibility gradually by starting with the upperclassmen and later extending the privilege to the freshmen. If it should be deemed advisable. Others had reliable for a large group, she said.

Other arguments stated by Benson, the necessity of giving both freshmen and upperclassmen opportunity for using discretion would improve student faith in honor code; freshmen would be benefited by unlawful restraint for the purpose of getting the faculty committee to accept the responsibility for upperclassmen; there is no proof that freshmen are less reliable if the upper classmen alone were given a chance and failed, the privilege would never have an opportunity to prove their worth; the upperclassmen discriminated the longer his abilities are limited.

Against giving freshmen the privilege, some people stressed: that the freshmen need consideration in discretion to realize this; there is a difference in the appreciation of freshmen and upperclassmen.

The vacancy in Judiciary was caused by Jean Koss's leaving to intern.

Dr. Ashton's resignation from Senate for health reasons left a vacancy in Senate as well as in the legislative committee chairmanship. Another representative will be elected in the senior class meeting.

Haley Speaks

Continued from Page One

Boston, with a major in social work, Mrs Haley, before her work on the National Staff, was district secretary of the Girl Scouts of Rochester. Her camp experience includes work as an assistant director and a day camp director. Experience fields other than Girl Scouting has been as a playground instructor and a hospital social worker.

Mrs Haley's talk is the first of a series of talks in the vocational guidance program sponsored by the Personnel office.

Light Privileges

Continued from page one

faculties otherwise, Winifred reasoned.

Audrey Perry, freshman advisor, said that the 11:30 p m restriction is not strict for freshmen who have formal activities than upper classmen, that every one needs eight hours of sleep each night and that freshmen orientation in direction to realize this, and that when the privilege was granted in the past, the

Dr Moore to Attend Meeting in Chicago

FSC Has Largest Enrollment Of Social Work Girls

Dr Coyle E Moore, professor of sociology and director of social work, is flying to Chicago, Illinois, this morning to attend a joint committee meeting on education and training for social work.

Dr Moore, a member of the National Association of Schools of Social Administration, is one of eight sociology educators who will attend the meeting. Three men and women will attempt to formulate policies, principles, and programs of training for social work that will be sound from the point of view of education in theory and practice, and yet meet regional needs according to Dr Moore. This joint committee, composed of representatives from both the American Association of Schools of Social Work and the National Association of Schools of Social Administration, was formed in Cleveland last January. Dr Moore said that at its last meeting the committee decided a great deal about a discussion of training for social work on the graduate level, and added that F S C has the largest enrollment of undergraduate students majoring in work in the entire country.

Dr Ernest Brown of the Russells Sage Foundation of New York City is chairman. Charles Prindle, president of the Maine College, will represent the joint committee on accredited American universities and colleges.

Dr Moore will return to Tallahassee Monday morning.

Although this substitute for a poem is eight years old, it is still appropriate, if you think!

In leisure time of left repent
The many hours that I have spent
In leisure time—
Repenting

Records That Are Rare!
OFFERING BOOGIE-WOOGIE
Boogie Rack
T. Dorsey and L. Hampton
"Tally's Boogie Headquarters"
Jenkins Music Co.
122 S. Monroe Ph. 1769

FLORIDA
TODAY AND TOMORROW
"A Thousand and One Nights"
SUNDAY AND MONDAY
"Fallen Angel"
TUESDAY
"Tomorrow the World"
WEDNESDAY ONLY
BOND PREMIERE SHOWING
"Wake of the Waldorf"
THURSDAY THROUGH SATURDAY
"Anchors Aweigh"

STATE
TODAY AND TOMORROW
"Phantom of the Plains"
AND
"Penthouse Rhythm"
SUNDAY AND MONDAY
"Barbary Coast"
TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY
"Out of This World"
THURSDAY
"You Came Along"
"Escape in the Desert"
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
"Bandits of Badlands"
AND
"Steppin' in Society"

RITZ
TODAY AND TOMORROW
Keep Your Powder Dry'
'Orphen of the Pecos'
SUNDAY AND MONDAY
"Tall in the Saddle"
AND
"My Pal Wolf"
TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY
'Shine on Harvest Moon'
AND
"That's My Baby"
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
"This Man's Navy"
AND
"Rustler's Hideout"

Plan Ahead
Jacksonville
A. M. P. M.
1:50
3:30 5:00
3:45 5:00
5:15 6:45
6:45 8:15
8:30 10:00
11:00 11:30
Tampa
A. M. P. M.
1:00 1:35
2:45 5:00
8:30 6:45
11:00 11:30
ALL BUSES LEAVE UNION BUS STATION COR. ADAMS & TENN.
PHONE 701
NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

PLANT A TREE
Grow a Forest
Support the National Conservation and Reforestation Movement. Help Build Up America's Timber Supply.

Seek it First at VAN BRUNT & VON INS
YON'S HARDWARE
218 S. Adams Phone 18

Gala Assortment of Artists' Supplies
CHRISTMAS HEADQUARTERS for Devoe Oil Color Sets, Pastel Crayons, Water Colors, Paints, Enemels and Brushes
★ YOU ARE ALWAYS WELCOME ★
Courteous Salespeople
P. S. SEEOUR GLASS DEPT. FOR MIRRORS, DESK TOPS AND PICTURE FRAMES
Ward's Glass & Paint Co.
204 S. ADAMS ST. OLIN BUTTO, Mer.

Athlete's Feats

By EVELYN SHEA

Newly elected sports leaders for next year were chosen at WAA meeting Wednesday night. Thinking that you all might be interested in knowing something about these girls, we've spent it taking time to give you a thumb-nail sketch of these girls who will lead sports next Thanksgiving.

First is ELAINE GAVIGAN . . . Even soccer leader . . . "Gavy," as she is known, succeeds Catherine Gallagher . . . a sophomore now, she will be first quarter junior next September . . . Member of F club and Sophomore council . . . played inner on the Even soccer team for the past two years . . . scored lying goal in last week's games and scored the last goal which gave Evens comfortable lead . . . Three cord description of "Gavy" . . . Quiet . . . Short . . . Swell . . . She is a responsible girl and should make the Evens capable leader.

Next is VIRGINIA PALMER . . . Odd Soccer leader . . . She was soccer leader last year . . . did a good job with the freshmen this year . . . Member of F club, Spirogira, and she's a junior counselor . . . hails from Tampa . . . has played wing on soccer team for three years . . . steady . . . reliable . . . loyal Odd.

Third is PEGGY STANALAND . . . Even archery leader . . . known as "Peg" . . . hails from Boynton Bourland . . . Member of Spirogira team this year . . . high scorer for both the Odds and Evens in tournament just ended . . . is from Quincy . . . capable girl . . .

Next is PRISCILLA CLARK . . . Odd archery leader . . . known as "Pria" . . . re-elected leader . . . she's from St. Petersburg . . . has led Odds to victory two years in a row . . . Member of F club . . . winning personality . . .

Fifth is MARION FLOYD . . . Even hockey leader . . . succeeds Evelyn Stuckey . . . has played on Even team for two years . . . will be a junior next September . . . member of F club and Sophomore council . . . plays fullback . . . comes from Winter Park . . . quiet . . . good leader . . .

NINA WIDERQUIST . . . Odd hockey leader . . . plays wing . . . has re-elected leader . . . called "Squat-drop" . . . thanks to some F club gosts . . . Member of F club and is junior counselor . . . proved to be outstanding leader . . . led Odds to victory over Evens this year . . . hails from Miami . . . loved by her freshmen . . .

Seventh is ANNE SNELL . . . Even modern dance . . . succeeds Ann Widerquist . . . member of this year's modern team . . . agile . . . will be junior next September . . . Melbourne is her home . . . should be good leader . . . has many ideas about modern dance . . .

ALICE TAFF . . . Odd modern dance leader . . . re-elected leader this year . . . Tallahassee is her home . . . member of F club . . . short cute . . . will be second senior next year . . . excellent dancer . . . loves it too . . .

THERE'VE BEEN SOME CHANGES MADE . . .

Because Babe Evans will be interning second quarter, the WAA board elected Martha Wilson as the girl who will lead the Even basketball team this year. Mart was a member of the team last year, playing forward . . .

Carol Ann Sophomore, a member of last year's swimming team, was chosen to lead the Even swimming team this year because Skooks Lester will also be interning. This is the first time that a sophomore will be leading a team . . .

POOR PREDICTIONS . . .

In last week's column, I said that the games would be close and that the winner would not win by more than one goal. Well, the Even soccer team tripped the Odds 6-2, winning by a safe two-goal margin. The Odds successfully smothered the Evens in the hockey game, winning 4-0, which is a four-goal margin. Guess I can join the ranks of other prognosticators now . . .

English Play

Continued from Page One

"It gets worse and worse." Alan Dewey consoles Kay at the end of the second act by stating his theory of time. The third act begins just where the first left off. It is the middle of the party, and Jeff has only a memory of what has happened in the second act.

The cast includes: Catherine Reed as Mrs Conway, the proud matriarch; Elizabeth Lester as Kay Conway, the dreamy, writer brunette; Sarah Lewis as Hazel Hunter, the beauty of every girls' dream; Maureen Petty as Madge Conway, the wisecracking but radical sister; Holt as Carol, the younger and loveliest of the Conways; Claire St John as Joan, the neighbor, and later, relative of the Conways; Peggy Green as Alan, the philosopher, the only Conway who "takes the long view"; Ralph Donaldson as Robin Conway, the wayward of his mother; Owen Bellamy as Ernest Beevers, the self-made man who is distasteful to the Conways; and Paul Johnson as Gerald, the friend and lawyer of the Conways.

The two sets for "Time and the Conways" were designed by Frances Traxler and Mary Elinor Knight. Miss Mary Moody is the instructor at FSC, and Frances and Mary Elizabeth, directed the stagecraft classes in building and painting the sets.

The period gowns were adopted from real dresses of 1919. Miss Mood and Elaine Parramore, Kay Moore Cornelia Springs, Louise Wentworth, and Laura Canon have done all the dressmaking. Dottie Wells did research for the clothings.

The stage crew for "Time and the Conways" is as follows: Cora Lee Wells, Ina Jo Wrench, Betty Jo Hudson, Catherine Clark, Betty Hines Lillian Pagan, Harriet Dews, Sarah Daugherty, and Marian Cross.

After the performance tonight, members of the Eva Phi Eta Speech fraternity will entertain the cast and crew with an informal stage party.

New English Course Offered Freshmen

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 9 o'clock a group of 25 freshmen, met with Miss Mildred Henry for their elective course in literature 105. "An Approach to Literature," the new course being offered for the first time this quarter is the study of poetry, one-act plays, short stories, and informal essays. The purpose of the course is according to Miss Henry "to give students an appreciation of literature through the study of certain fundamentals common to all good literature."

The study is planned as a reading course, but students may write if they wish Miss Henry said that she would allow the girls to write short stories that rank the Bip-per mitch be accepted.

While we didn't converse right out with "Why did the chicken cross the road?" we did reach back into our Shanty Dog Era for gems like this:

He: "May I call you a tart?"
She: "Yes."
He: "You're a tart."

after that it must be admitted that anything will be an improvement.

Newsworthy occurrences of recent interest on the campus con-

12 Spirogira Goats Become Members

Odds Entertain Alumnae And Hockey, Soccer Teams

Recent Spirogira activities include initiation of goats tapped last term, entertainment of alumnae, and honoring of hockey and soccer teams.

Spirogira goats were initiated last weekend. The new members are Ann Colvin, Clarice Truesblood, Nancy Ward, Barbara Irving, Betty Jane Singleton, Kay Van Deurs, Robin Hill, Rosetta Carver, Peggy La Thomson, Dr Milton W Carothers, registrar, Miss College Patterson, instructor in physical education, and Miss Henrietta Greenberg, part-time instructor in physical education.

The new members were given breakfast in Unity house last Sunday morning at 8:30 in the Sweet Shop. Marj Lipthe White, Sarah Lewis and Jean Cole were in charge of the arrangements.

"The announcement of the arrival of a new daughter to M H Spirogira" was the theme of the breakfast. This theme was carried out by a huge stork as the centerpiece and with the tables were babies wearing stack diapers and lying in baby cribs decorated with white crepe paper. These favors were attached to black and white placards. Alumnae present at the breakfast were: Marjorie Pinlaw, Margie Loomis, Martha Hunter, Ann Smith, Mary Lou King, Virginia Greene, Jean Hitchcock Stevens, Edith J. Simkins, Cleo Sapp, Charlotte Cooper and Tedy Parker.

Spirogira gave a skit for the alumnae and the members in the Longmire building on Saturday, giving morning after color rush. The skit, a take-off on Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado," was called the "Mudkodd". The goats then had the members to the Sweet Shop for breakfast. The favors were small oriental figure- made of cardboard. The skit was broadcast the members were entertained by the goats who sang goat songs.

Friday night Esteren members were the guests of Spirogira at the Odd Demonstration, where Spirogira members gave the Evens candy in a big pot with S N on the outside.

Spirogira gave a party for the Odd hockey and soccer teams at the Sigic and Spash Friday night before the Odd Demonstration. The placecards were of white cardboard with a tiny tot airplane with red, white and purple streamers attached with the inscription "Let's fly high with the Odd team".

Odds Triumph In Hockey, 4-0

Evens Win Choice of Side In Saturday Game

Amid cheers and shouts of loyal Odds and Evens the red, white and purple hockey team was victorious over the green and gold last Saturday afternoon, winning 4-0.

A coin flipped by Miss Henrietta Greenberg, umpire, gave the Evens the initial choice of sides. The game was started by a scrimmage between Evelyn Stuckey and Nancy Ward, which resulted with the Odds getting the ball, and making a quick sweep down the field only to be prevented by the Even team. The ball continued being dribbled from one end of the field to the other and finally Virginia Goodell, Odd forward, dribbled to Winifred Anthony, Even forward, and she in turn passed Ward, who placed the ball between the Even goal posts, making the score 1-0 in favor of the Odds.

The game continued with the Odds winning the majority of time and, though having to put up a hard fight, raised the score to 2-0 when Nita Nord, Odd halfback, dribbled to Goodell who in turn made goal.

The Odds continued to gain ground in third center bully and the 20 minute half ended with Ward making another goal for the Odds, increasing the score 3-0.

Between the halves the Odd team lined up in front of the goal across their shoulders and marched diagonally across the field to the Even team with a large box of green and yellow suckers.

The game was resumed in the second half with the Evens winning the starting bully and making the Odd, Winifred Anthony, made the only goal in the game.

An exciting moment was experienced by the Evens when Anna Geise, forward, dribbled the ball all the way from the Odds goal to the Evens' although no goal was made.

The whistle blew ending the game with the Even team in possession of the ball, only a step to the Odd goal. The official score is the end of the game was 4-0 in favor of the Odds.

The Even team's starting lineup was: Evelyn Stuckey, goalie; Anna Geise, Rosa Lee Davis, Sarah Bennett, Kit Land, Amarene Thompson, Mary Ann Shafer, Audrey Ferry, Jane Lyles, Marian Byrnes and Irma Lee Shepherd. Substitutes were: Anne McInnis, Kathryn Beazell, Charlotte Boutwell, Jean Bennett and Pamela Hall.

Starting line-up for the Odd team was: Nita Nord, captain, Lucille Ossenkop, Nancy Ward, Winifred Anthony, Virginia Goodell, Clarice Trueblood, Mary Nell Goldman, Dottie Patrick, Virginia Anthony and Jeanne Cashman. Substitutes were: Mary Jackson, Nancy Hendricks, Jo Janis Bowles, Marli Richardson, Lucy Harding and Nancy Gleaton.

The official scorer at the hockey game were Miss Henrietta Greenberg and Miss Calliope Patterson. The score-keepers were Marian Welch and Georgia Jacckel, and the timekeepers, Jo Guthrie and Grace Bradley.

ered principally around the late lamented Hatch Act, restricting which saw so many lovely arguments for co-education gracing our campus. The Rights of the organized madness was the Interfraternity Council's party last Saturday night at the New Gym to called since the childhood of Lydia Pinkham's. The goalie and divine swaying of the bodies was accompanied by the usual terpsichorean orchestra (George Auld), rather than the usual melodious strains of a neurotic violin backed by three bootleggers treading grapes in a dining room as portrayed during the war years.

And to make the weekend complete, Harvard was cut to a 41 to 0 over a Yard fighting Presbyterian Princeton eleven. Cocktail midgets and a box of wheaties.

A confirmation as intermediate proportions swept through hall of Gainesville's business district Sunday afternoon during the lull block and severely singeing the other.

Due to the unbounded generosity of President John J Tigert, familiarly known to the four corrupondents as "J J," the student body received a three day Thanksgiving holiday. Most of the boys, except those unable to tear themselves away from the intellectual delights of Dave's Beer and Billiard Hall, fled the campus.

Badminton Begins

Intramural badminton began yesterday afternoon when the Phi Mu's won over Bryan Hall; the Chi Omega's beat Gilchrist Hall; and the Delta Delta Delta's beat the Pi Beta Phi's.

This afternoon the games will be resumed when the Phi Mu's will play the Chi Omega's, the Kappa Delta's will play Reynolds Hall, and the Delta Delta Delta's will play the Alpha Chi Omega's. The three winners of this afternoon's games will draw to determine which one of the three will not play. That team will then play the winner of the teams that do play.

If the finals can not be finished this afternoon, they will be played tomorrow morning to avoid playing them on the dead week.

PEA Camp Session To Be This Weekend

A big weekend at camp including canoe races, campfires, and a varied program of sports and entertainment will be held by the Physical Education Association this week.

An outdoor supper will start the activities followed by a campfire program. The aims, ideals and standards of the National Association of Physical Education as applicable to students at this campus will be discussed. A committee composed of a member from each class and one faculty member will assist Rhoda Lester, chairman of this event. The committee includes Evelyn Stuckey, Nancy MacKwards, Elaine Gavigan, Percy Becknell, and Miss Henrietta Greenberg, instructor in physical education.

On Sunday morning canoe races between freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors are scheduled with Mae Manning and Anne Snell in charge.

Beside these scheduled events, other entertainment which is traditional with camp will be held and sessions will be held, according to Evelyn Stuckey, president of P E A.

In This Our Time
Continued From Page One

the islands, off the coast of Indochina and China. Meanwhile, in the interior of Luzon there is a people's army, the Hukbalahap, fighting against the Japanese during the occupation and who, now organized, are heading toward what time calls Communism.

Hurley Resigns

President Truman has appointed General George C Marshall as his special envoy to China after Ambassador Patrick J Hurley resigned with a strong charge that professional diplomats in the State Department are sabotaging the Roosevelt-Truman principles of "world democracy."

Marshall's surprise appointment came in Washington a week after his resignation as Army Chief of Staff, the post which he had held during two of the nation's wars. General Marshall's appointment as ambassador to China will be only temporary and he will retain the rank as General of the Army.

Hurley, in his sudden public statement, endorsed the principles of United States foreign policy as enunciated "at high levels." But the reason the United States foreign policy in the Far East is a failure, he said, is because diplomats in the service refuse to carry out those principles. He also warned that this policy could lead to a third world war.

The State Department immediately issued a formal statement asserting that Byrnes was "surprised" by Hurley's resignation. It said that Hurley said some six weeks ago that he wished to resign because of health but that Byrnes had persuaded him not to. As recently as Monday afternoon, the statement said, Hurley agreed to returned to China and was planning to do so the latter part of this week.

THE GIFT THAT ONLY YOU CAN GIVE—YOUR PHOTOGRAPH
CAMPUS STUDIO
701 W. Pensacola St. Phone 1728

Gator Talk

By JOHNNY WALKER and TOM HEDERSON

EDITOR'S NOTE. After an absence of two years, 'tis with pleasure that the Flambeau again offers its readers the gleanings from the pens of "the other half" some 150 miles away. Weekly we trust), "Gator Talk" will make its appearance.

We don't mean to imply extensive equities, but after a lengthy consultation and 10 beers, we decided to bred the frantic pleadings from Tallahassee to set the Flambeau from the fate of Freddy McGilicuddy and dispatch a column to said publication.

In writing this column we must comply with two rules, viz and to wit, namely:

(1) submission of all copy to the upper staff for approval:

(2) to make copy "exquisitely clever" (We used to write literature 105.

For the benefit of new readers, approximately a year and a half ago (in order to extricate ourselves from this morass of verbosity that we have gotten tangled in we'll come right out and say flatly) we started. We started a brief but glorious career as columnists in the Alligator. At that time we had here our souls Hic two characters from "Our Confessions" and subsequently employed the same social mentors as Talladega that rack the Bip-per mitch be accoded.

While we didn't converse right out with "Why did the chicken cross the road?" we did reach back into our Shanty Dog Era for gems like this:

He: "May I call you a tart?"
She: "Yes."
He: "You're a tart."

after that it must be admitted that anything will be an improvement.

Newsworthy occurrences of recent interest on the campus con-

Evens Defeat Soccer Rivals

Cheering Crowds See Odds Lose by Four Points

Shout s of "Yea, Evens," and Evens madly tossing green feathers marked the close of the Odd-Even soccer game which ended in a 6-2 Even victory last Saturday afternoon.

A crowd that filled the bleachers decorated in Odd and Even colors watched the Odd team take to the offensive as they won the first kickoff. Even supporters were their cool threatened by the first few minutes of play as Odds Mickey Chambers and Judy Sandler carried the ball far down into Even territory. The action shifted back and forth across the center line both ; teams almost scoring, but the quarter ended with a 0-0 tie.

The Evens began the second quarter with a kickoff by center forward Peggy Staneland, and met stiff resistance from the Odds, now on the defensive. During this quarter good blocking and defensive kicks were displayed on both sides. Outstanding in this were Catherine Evans, Even halfback; Babe Evans, Even wing; Mickey Chambers and Judy Sandler, forward; M J Satterfield, Odd halfback and Betty Gardiner, Odd halfback.

An Odd attack provided Mickey Chambers with the opportunity to tally the Odds' first goal and make the score 2-0 in the beginning of the third quarter. The Evens were still unable to overcome the Odd defense, though nearing the go:l and the quarter ended with the score still ahead 2-0.

Fourth quarter proved to be the most exciting part of the entire game. When a high kick by an Even player soared over the heads of the Odd defense, Elaine Gavigan, Even inner, recovered the ball and eluded the Odd halfbacks to score the Even's first goal of the game. Babe Evans, Even captain, then dribbled the ball down the field, passing to Peggy Staneland who scored from a corner kick.

Fourth quarter proved to be the most exciting part of the entire game. When a high kick by an Even player soared over the heads of the Odd defense, Elaine Gavigan, Even inner, recovered the ball and eluded the Odd halfbacks to score the Even's first goal of the game. Babe Evans, Even captain, then dribbled the ball down the field, passing to Peggy Staneland who scored from a corner kick.

Substitutes were Sara Lou Wells, Helen Looby, Bayne Culbreth, Betty Gardiner, Mary Calley and Mary Jackson.

Officials for the game were Miss Grace Frye and Miss Lois Ver Hoeven, instructors in physical education. Scorers were Martha Wilson, Evens, and Sherry Ogle, Timekeepers were Percy Becknell, Odd, and Aileen Sorrels, Even.

Members of the U S Marine Corps received more than 1,000 decorations for bravery during World War I.

"You Mess 'Em Up—We'll Press 'Em Up!"
SEE US FOR SUPERIOR SERVICE
When Calling Please Mention This Ad.
TALLAHASSEE
DRY CLEANERS
414 E. Gaines Ph. 1715

The Spirit of the Old South Prevails Reported in the Haunting Fragrances of COTTON BLOSSOM
and
WOODLAND SPICE
Old South Cotton Blossom Sun Dial Gift Box—Cologne, Sachet and Dusting Powder $3.50 plus tax
Woodland Spice "Quilt Box", $1.75 plus tax
MARTIN & DALTON DRUGGISTS
210 S. Adams Phone 123

Odd Archers Defeat Evens by 22 Points

Columbia Round Regulations Used in Tournament

By a margin of 22 points, the Odd archery team defeated the Even archers in a to-o-part battle on Wednesday and Friday afternoons. The 176-186 score was averaged on the percentage basis, since the Evens had only seven of a regulation 8 - member team against the Odd octette. Half of each team competed on Wednesday, the other half on Friday.

The four Odds who shot on Wednesday afternoon were: Coral Charles, Art Skowskis, Pat Hourihan and Ann Seward; on Friday: Faith Adams, Kit Johnson, Martha McCormack and Carolyn Bragg. The Evens who shot on Wednesday were: Babs McCarthy, Lou Ann Baimon, Doris Hill and Emily Chancey; on Friday: Betty Burch, Amelia Pavese, and Peggy Staneland. Peggy, incidentally, held the high score for both Evens and Odds for this tournament.

The tournament was conducted according to the Columbia Round, with 24 arrows shot at 60 feet, 24 at 40 feet, and 24 at 30 feet. Miss Grace Fox, physical education instructor, officiated as Safety Paramount.

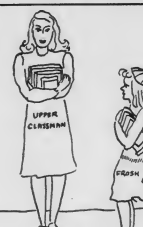
Even archery leader this year was Carolyn Bourland, and captain of the Odds was Priscilla Clark, who was reelected for next year. Next year's Even leader will be Peggy Staniland. Sponsors for Odds and Evens are respectively, Miss Henrietta Greenburg, physical education instructor, and Miss Mary Jane Medlin, FSC graduate and physical education instructor.

Miss Medlin entertained the Even and Odd archery teams together at her apartment on Saturday afternoon at 5:00. Hot chocolate, marshmallows, cookies and candy were served.

Clinic Is Held

Florida State College will be represented at the Northwestern Florida Music Clinic by Mr Owen F Bellers, associate proffesor of 'cello and orchestra and director of the FSC band.

The music clinic, to be held Monday and Tuesday in Bonifay, will include a music festival and a convention of glee clubs, orchestras and bands composed of students from the various high schools of the state.



IT'S NEVER TOO LATE TO START A Sterling Service FOR YOUR FAMILY!
SEVEN FAMOUS GORHAM PATTERNS PICTURED ARE ☆ All-Time Favorites ☆
YET A SIX-PIECE PLACE-SETTING COSTS ONLY ABOUT $23.00
(20% Federal Tax Included)
REGISTERED JEWELER AMERICAN GEM SOCIETY
Moon's

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

YOU MEAN WE HAVE TO TAKE EXAMS, TOO!

● OUR LAST APPEAL

In order to aquire working relationships and world wide understanding it is necessary that we do not limit the furthering of education to the United States. The World Student Service Fund is created for the purpose of helping students of other countries to get an education; and in turn enabling them to be equipped for meeting and solving major problems, with us and other countries, which are already coming to a boil.

As everyone knows the WSSF drive has been in operation throughout the month of November. We are now in the 30th of the month still many pledges not fulfilled. A table is in lower Westcott hall for last minute contribuitons and will remain there through Saturday noon.

It isn't necessary to explain why we should contribute, for that has been explained in convocation, news stories, house meetings, and editorials, but for those who still do not realize the serious significance of such contributions, students may get information from persons at the WSSF table these last two days.

An appeal is thrown out especially for those girls who have pledged to contribute a certain amount, to live up to your obligation—give to the WSSF drive today and tomorrow so that deserving students may have a chance for an education and Florida State College can proudly say we reached our quota or better still that we topped it.

● IS TRUMAN'S PLAN THE WAY?

As one of the editorial writers of the New York Times said recently, President Truman has submitted an ambitious program for preventative and curative medical aid for the entire nation. Perhaps it is too ambitious.

In a five-point plan Truman argues for better distribution of medical care and reduction of its cost. He made it a special point to emphasize that his proposal should not be called "socialized medicine." His program includes a compulsory health insurance system, payment of benefits to replace at least part of the earnings lost because of illness, broadening of the present program of federal grants to aid the states in construction of hospitals and related facilities, expansion of public health, maternal and child health services, and a plan for strengthening professional education and medical research.

All this sounds very good and it must be admitted that the United States today stands far behind other progressive nations with respect to national health insurance, but is Truman's plan the solution?

Louis S Reed of the University of Texas has said, "It is a great mistake to regard compulsory health insurance and socialized or state medicine as two distinct and different things. They are essentially identical. Compulsory health insurance as it exists in England, Germany and other European nations is state medicine with the funds derived by a particular and unique method of taxation."

Is there any other way that health insurance can be extended to the public other than through a government-controlled organization? There are in existence quite a few privately owned firms which provide low cost insurance against hospital, medical and surgical expense. Everyone pays the same no matter what his income and receives in turn hospitalization and medical aid in case of illness, the amount depending on the illness. He can choose his doctor and hospital and if he wants to pay more, it is his prerogative.

John Temple Graves, discussing the subject in his column "This Morning," says that the great thing about a private plan such as the Blue Cross plan, which is being extended into his state and is already known in many others, is that for a sum which anyone can pay—seventy-five cents a month for medical and surgical care, and ninety cents for hospital—you are guaranteed decent, competent attention.

Under President Truman's plan, the amount to be paid would vary with the amount of income and would be deducted each pay day in the same manner as social security. Under the private plan everyone pays the same price and is provided with a minimum of attention in case of illness, while those who can afford to pay more do so.

Too, with the president's proposal, the government will have to supplement the funds gathered from payments. With the private plan, the operation pays for itself.

The main argument against Truman's proposal comes in that the government would be so heavily and intimately involved in the medical profession that politics could not help but play an important part and politicians attempt to dictate and interfere. There would be no such decree in the private plan.

My suggestion would be the formation of another alpha bet agency, but with no political appointees. Instead, have each private hospital insurance firm select a representative for its organization and these representatives comprise the government agency. Perhaps they could call it the National Health Program Administration, or some such title.

In this way, there would be no political pressure exerted upon the president for appointments to the agency and each section of the country would not be filibustering for its region. The government could cooperate with the agency in building new and better hospitals and setting up extensive research departments in collaboration with the agency.

This would be more conducive to the good will of the people—for who would like to have more money deducted from his check each week—and to the health of the nation.

● OUT OF DARKNESS

Last Wednesday Student Senate passed a resolution to recommend to the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs that all students be granted the right to use their lights at their own discretion.

All members of the body of student representatives voting except three were in favor of the resolution. They believed that the student body was capable of deciding how much rest was needed. They were also of the opinion that the students had enough common sense to realize when they should sleep and would not therefore regard the abolition of a set bed basis. However, they did think that there must serve at a period which will least upset his civilian working schedule. It has been suggested that the year of training be divided into three month periods after which the college student may serve during his summer vacation.

The program must be carefully planned to teach men specialized skills. The first three months could be used in each of the specialized branches serving in an army to give a balance, so that in the eventuality of war they may be fitted into the army where he is specified parts of a complex machine.

Keeping Informed

It becomes obvious at this point that the whole keynote of success lies in careful planning. We cannot have a haphazard program, such as Congress has given us.

Assuming that an efficient workable program may be formulated, let us discuss the benefits of such a plan.

(1) We can deny the possibility of a third World War. Confronted with that possibility we have the problem:

(1) How can we stay out of World War III?

(2) If forced into World War III, how can we win it quickly and efficiently with the least possible loss of life?

If we establish military conscription for the first by way of prevention and for the second by way of preparedness.

As for preventing war with aggressive powers, it is quite obvious that such nations will be very anxious to avoid conflict with us if we have a military force more powerful than they. It is also apparent that hesitancy on the part of the aggressor to make war on us can be very beneficial in the interests of the United States. In the secret duty of the United States to be strong enough to assume the responsibility in enforcing world order and only by supplementing our air power with a powerful army and navy with trained civilian reserves can we maintain maximum military strength without disrupting greatly our peacetime pursuits.

A small professional army and navy might be able to squelch minor aggressions, but we must be prepared for the worst possibility, a war between major powers. The future is too hazy, too liable to change to predict who will fight or why or how. We must have an ample power to back up our initial action against a threat to peace, should our first attempt fail. Let us not deny the possibility that our carefully trained professional army might be shattered in the first week of a conflict by developed weapons in the world are utterly useless when put to practical use.

Atomic War?

But, you say, why worry about mobilization of manpower, or armies, or of navies when the future war will be an atomic war? Perhaps in the next war all we'll have to do to destroy a nation is to push a button. Well, perhaps. On the other hand, perhaps the invention of atomic power and a recognition that atomic warfare means annihilation for nations will decide to settle their difference by more logical means than by war. But it is the third eventuality we are considering at the present, that mutual fear on the part of all nations in regard to the atomic bomb may impose a sort of standstill on its use, such as that imposed upon poison gas during this war. For these reasons we must not even consider atomic energy in this discussion.

Continued on page Five

Conscription: Pro and Con

Military conscription was the topic of the debate which two students, Winifred Lane and Elaine Segal, both of whom are members of Alpha Lambda Delta, had planned to present in that honorary's convocation tomorrow night. However, when Executive Council advised against presenting the debate during convocation, it was postponed until after convocation and given room 203 Westcott at 9:30.

Before, according to the 10 students who came to the debate, the statements made were among the most cogent and lucid concerning the subject that have been heard on this campus. It is thought desirable to run in the Flambeau the slightly condensed texts of the student talks on military conscription.

Pro

The problem that lies before the American people now—whether or not we shall have peacetime military conscription—perhaps holds in its solution the possibility of the United States remaining free. The decisions and findings of the war just past were in the hands of our parents, and it was our generation for the most part that fought. If there is a next war, it will be our children who will fight and die in it.

The peacetime military conscription program for which I argue consists of a program by which men are given military training for a specified period, probably one year, after which they are under the condition that they will be called upon again only in the eventuality of a national emergency. However, there is clearly a danger of oversimplification into such a plan, poorly executed, could do more harm than good. On the other hand, if it is established and completely workable, though necessarily complex plan may be made.

The selection for conscription must be done on a careful, planned basis. Selectees must serve at a period which will least upset his civilian working schedule. It has been suggested that the year of training be divided into three month periods after which the college student may serve during his summer vacation.

The program must be carefully planned to teach men specialized skills. The first three months could be used in each of the specialized branches serving in an army to give a balance, so that in the eventuality of war they may be fitted into the army where he is specified parts of a complex machine.

Keeping Informed

It becomes obvious at this point that the whole keynote of success lies in careful planning. We cannot have a haphazard program, such as Congress has given us.

Assuming that an efficient workable program may be formulated, let us discuss the benefits of such a plan.

(1) We can deny the possibility of a third World War. Confronted with that possibility we have the problem:

(1) How can we stay out of World War III?

(2) If forced into World War III, how can we win it quickly and efficiently with the least possible loss of life?

If we establish military conscription for the first by way of prevention and for the second by way of preparedness.

As for preventing war with aggressive powers, it is quite obvious that such nations will be very anxious to avoid conflict with us if we have a military force more powerful than they. It is also apparent that hesitancy on the part of the aggressor to make war on us can be very beneficial in the interests of the United States. In the secret duty of the United States to be strong enough to assume the responsibility in enforcing world order and only by supplementing our air power with a powerful army and navy with trained civilian reserves can we maintain maximum military strength without disrupting greatly our peacetime pursuits.

A small professional army and navy might be able to squelch minor aggressions, but we must be prepared for the worst possibility, a war between major powers. The future is too hazy, too liable change to predict who will fight or why or how. We must have an ample power to back up our initial action against a threat to peace, should our first attempt fail. Let us not deny the possibility that our carefully trained professional army might be shattered in the first week of a conflict by developed weapons in the world are utterly useless when put to practical use.

Atomic War?

But, you say, why worry about mobilization of manpower, or armies, or of navies when the future war will be an atomic war? Perhaps in the next war all we'll have to do to destroy a nation is to push a button. Well, perhaps. On the other hand, perhaps the invention of atomic power and a recognition that atomic warfare means annihilation for nations will decide to settle their difference by more logical means than by war. But it is the third eventuality we are considering at the present, that mutual fear on the part of all nations in regard to the atomic bomb may impose a sort of standstill on its use, such as that imposed upon poison gas during this war. For these reasons we must not even consider atomic energy in this discussion.

Continued on page Five

Con

It is hard for anyone who realizes the tragic significance of the atomic bomb to dismiss it in any consideration of military preparation. One of the most humane state dangers we face is that of loss of faith in the effectiveness of international cooperation. To count on nothing more than mutual fear to prevent the use of atomic bombs means only that a new sort of nationalism is being built. When our fascist American neighbor Argentina enacted laws conscripting boys beginning with the 12-year-olds, one of its highest diplomatic agents published a statement that this move should be no surprise to the citizens of the United States, which itself was already planning the drastic change of policy involved in peacetime youth conscription.

But even passing over the effect of that type of weapon, and discussing the issue in pre-atomic terms, military strength is not based on manpower. From the Encyclopedia Britannica comes the following statement:

"The theory of conscription has run its course, and is today growing out of date. In the first place, hence no conscript army will be able to face an aggressor attack by armed motor cars, let alone by tanks and kindred weapons. The fighting armies of the future will be voluntary, high professional and highly paid, consequently comparatively small; this is the whole tendency of present day military science."

Next War Will Be Defensive

As for the use of larger numbers of troops to hold conquered territory, any future war into which the United States is a major project will be mainly defensive, and great numbers of troops will be required. Areas likely be needed to conquer and occupy are distant territories, those which are separated by extensive military youth conscription on the ground that the size of our army must consist of the small professional army with citizen reserves, also fails to take into at least 10 years after peace is declared. Then automatically and by laws already existing has millions of reserves, many of whom will be battle-experienced soldiers and sailors. By making service life more attractive in such matters as housing, these enlistments should fill the requirements for the normal peacetime force, and professional army. There is something of an answer to the proponents of the universal military training in the fact that America's five major foreign wars in the past century have been without it and against, usually, nations prepared by years of the most exacting compulsory military training.

So this war industrial power proved once more to be the foundation of military strength. Germany's defeat is the reason for the strength of Germany when the war began. It is the reason that Russia were the two most powerful nations in the world when the war ended. It took America from 1940 to 1943 to build up its industrial strength to the point where it was able to begin winning the war, and our army was ready when the tools for fighting were ready. Most proposals for universal training are designed to eliminate the dangerous period of waiting for power after the war begins rather we are attacked. If attack should come again, they say, there would be time slightly to train a modern war to develop that latent strength into the necessary fighting force. It is forgotten that what took so long back in 1940 was not training. Britain and Guadalcanal was not so much the training of an army, but training of workers and the development of industry to turn out the modern tools of war.

Monopoly Control Dangerous

It should be recalled how monopoly control of strategic materials jeopardized American defense at the beginning of this war: that Germany was turning out more aluminum than powerful America was manufacturing, relying on a single company's monopoly, how our rubber supply was extremely short because we had let cartels rob us of the knowhow to make synthetic rubber; how critical materials were scarce because of our monopoly restrictions, and our industrial economy was based on high prices and low production. It should also be remembered that our final military might depended upon, industrial might, and that this industrial might was based on full pro-

Continued on page Five

From Me To Y'all

By SHARPIE

FSC makes us realize that "Life Can Be Beautiful." We are so well protected from the evils of the outside world and our lives are so well regulated for us that we have nothing to worry about, and for that reason no one on campus seems to have any troubles this week.

However, we have a letter here from an old, old graduate who is worried for fear that her children will never be scholars. She asked Jane, aged 6, and Joan, aged 8, what they liked best in school. It was their answer that startled her. Jane likes recess best and would like to have nothing else all day long while Joan says she prefers lunch. The astute mother is worried. If their interests don't change how can they go to college?

This is the most difficult problem Sharpie has had. However, we've decided that when Jane and Joan grow up, even if their tastes in studies remain the same, they will have no trouble in carrying out their childhood dreams if mother sends them to FSC.

We are ignoring the freshman who thought Torch Night was when you stay out late with the man you're "carrying the torch" for. Anyway we've been told that a flame around here? Oh, smoking area.

We'll hate to swipe anything from Carl Sandburg or an old Flambeau but this is good advice whether you want it or not. Do write to your parents:

"While exams sneak up on us
With feet like a cat's
We hasten to remind you
To disregard our mail.
We saw an alumna who had a

Tally Tales....

Oh sob. It was tiresome climbing up the hill behind Jones dorm for so long, fast slide of activities last week, but it is twice as difficult to settle down for a long session with library and text books. The poor freshmen were bit harder than we ever were, I believe—the super activities and heavy class work combined, but have you seen them draggin' around campus this week? Funny how, even though upperclassmen have witnessed this reverberation period before, it throws them in a slump too.

But never you mind, dear collegiettes, there will be many little activities for you to do to take your mind off of last weeks festivities—remember that term paper that is due only too soon, and that's about three months in parallel you've written down on your Things To Do" list? And just because Thanksgiving and Homecoming is over with doesn't mean that you don't have any functions to attend. No, friends, life still busses around here so buy some more toothpaste oil to have on hand dead week.

And there is another angle—to which we offer this bit of philosophy: "It's a crime if you don't week-end, and a heck of a Monday if you do."

I see or rather hear that there is an abundance of colds and sore throats clicking sounds and loss of vocal ability this week. My, my, these "colls" who insist on trying to pep up their respective teams single-voicedly (if there is such a word—if not Webster has nothing on me.)

It does not take long for lassies around here to jump to the next heartfelt anticipation, Thanksgiving festivities are again placed

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
ANNE CHATHERS, PEGGY KAY ..... Associate Editors
LOIS BYRD ..... News Editor
JANET RODGERS ..... Assistant News Editor
ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON ..... Society Editor

Copy Editor ..... Lois Byrd
Copy Staff ..... Mary Nell McFadden, Joanne Bird
Feature Editor ..... Jeanne Bird
Assistant ..... Anne Hudson, Jeanne Bird
Assistant Managing Editor ..... Bobbie Sue
Society Editor ..... Peggy Lu Thomson
Assistant Society Editor ..... Betty Lou Bryan
Sports Editor ..... Jean Bird
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Gloria Bee
Exchange Editor ..... Catherine Hall
Opinion Editors ..... Jerry Crume, Barbara Wiseman
Society Editor ..... Lois Byrd
Art Editor ..... Jeanne Bird

REPORTERS: Eugenia Albers, Alida Armstrong, Alvara Asha, Eleanor Barr, Barbara Beckman, Jean Bee, Paulette Blanch, Virginia Budd, Laurie Lee Bullock, Marjorie Clark, Jeanne Bird, Margaret Dunn, Betty Lou Bryan, Mary Ann Fouts, Winifred Lane, Barbara Lanford, Betty Lilvorge, Jo Shapiro, Jean Mathis, Mary Nell McFadden, Betty Lou Bryan, Frances Thrasher, Kay Van Deusen, Mary Seymor, Mary Tarr, Tana Thomas, Frances Trainor, Kay Van Deusen.

BUSINESS STAFF

Karen Tarapani ..... Business Manager
Elnora Davis ..... Advertising Manager

Entered as second class mail matter January 30, 1915, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla. under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

It is the policy of the Flambeau to grant equal space and prominence to anyone wishing to write letters to the editor whenever opinions on controversial questions are voiced in its columns.

...ilson Emphasizes ...nd Drive on Radio

...ge Swing Band Plays, ...lever Sings on Program

...e second in a series of vic... radio programs heard ...ys afternoon at 5:30 over ...ork network, Florida ... College, Ann Carolyn Alli... president of College Govern... Association, spoke on the ...ance of buying bonds now ...e the military phase of ... over. Also, the college band played two selections ... Carolyn's aid that it would ...h harder to put a bond ... over since the powerful ...es of war is not behind it, ...with the cessation of hos... the incentive did not ...r rather they have assumed ...portance and significance." ...e stressed the importance of ...s down inflation so that ...ase and women of the arm... ...ves may be returned to a ...n wherein each 75 dollars ...n a dollar, wherein the ...y they have bought will re... ...ssurance of faith in their ...

...e fact that the recent drive ...e surpassed was testified to ...sentioned in the last part ...speech and she concluded ...e that this is only a small ...t if we are limited in our ...ibutions by the mere lack ...ey students. But we can ap... to you—the housewives ...ll of you—the mothers ...s, and all the other workers ...e more important job than ...s feels good, and to realize ...ur task has just begun.

...ng Miss Sara Moorman, announcer presented the band ...played Song of India and ...Wrist Watch." Their ...Dallas Stever, sang the ...numbers.

...ld FSC Tradition Of Team Entrance ...Revived This Year

...ograms Frannie Myers and ...e Palmer bored over a ...edition of the Flambeau ...ently there appeared be... ...ween bunk! Tradition ...ready for resurrection. ...ember far away in the ...y camp, Even Jane Lyles ...ed a weird ideas for the ...hop paper drive and secured an ...mmand car for gathering ...; but her heart was not ...ny for she had an unfulfilled ...ition. It was then that the ...ed the barrier of her ...r a long six months before ...duction.

...nnie and Virginia went to ...ity to see the Chief. ...ained that he would send the ...ruitment if it weren't too ...r that he would lete... ...e the Odds 15 minutes ahead ...e. Not even the teams would ...

...e frantically watched the ...ly competitive Victory ...ndon Drive until the Events ...ught the most war stamps ...nds per person and as a ... Corinne Johnston was ...e Sponsor of "Thanks ... Now Jane called Mrs Yates, ...s Cross lady in charge of ...paper drives. Everything was ...

...n these long guarded secrets ...ded last Saturday when the ...ed fire engine in Talla... ...e dashed to the scene of the ...e field to bring siren, bells ...ld Glad members to the ... two command cars, taste... ...ommed with green and yel... ...paper, were hovered ...nd the field to deliver the ...reams, and finally Jane ...on her with.

...e drove a green and yellow ...round and around "on one ...e said until she brought ...hored passengers, Corinne ...to th feet of Ann Rich... Three Corinne was awar... green and gold chrysanthe... corsage.

...ee Club Presents Christmas Vespers

...e College Glee Club will pre... annual Christmas Ves... Sunday afternoon, Decem... at 5:30 in the college audi... The 103 voices to be heard ...e assisted by Mary Reeder, ...Rachel Cromwell, violin... Pawn Trawick, organist, ...Mrs. Rita Robertson, direc... the College Glee Club. Two ...numbers will be Eleanor ...of the piano and Pawn Tra... ...organist.

...ram for the Vespers will ... "Wings by My Sheen," ...ent hymns) "Good King ...slas," an old English carol ...Grieg's "Cross Bambino," by ...Yon, which will be sung ...Daniel, "The Shepherd's ...by Clarence Dickinson to ...s by Paula Teagarden and ...e Club.

...Cross Carols which will also be ...ed are, "The First Noel," ...ls a Rose O'er Blooming," ...e Holy and the Ivy," and ...Heavenly Lighting, "Angels ...g Fo Au. Around Us."

...Rector, harpist, will play

Pro

Continued from page four

Of course, however, a carefully administered program such as I have previously described need in no way interfere with our scientific development of atomic power.

I should now like to reject several oft - repeated arguments against peacetime military conscription. First we often hear that peacetime military conscription is not the way to military victory. History proves it. This argument goes on to cite that Germany and France have had conscription and have been defeated, that the United States has never had peacetime conscription and has never been defeated. Could we compare the US 1918 until 1941 with conscription to the US 1918 until 1941 without conscription, we might have a just comparison, but otherwise we cannot. Moreover, we might have ended the past war months sooner had we possessed the additional advantage of a quickly mobilized trained reserve.

Skill eDoesn't Become Obsolete

It has also been suggested that men trained during the early portion of the program would be of little use by the time far came, for the simple reason that the weapons they were trained to use would be obsolete. These men, reserves may, however, utilize their skill behind the lines, where they can be used over and over again to attack us is to remain unprepared. We should always remember that the fundamentals are unchanging. Learning the use of a simple machine is a logical step in learning to use a more complicated one, and such a step as attending high school before attempting a college career.

Perhaps the most dangerous theory advanced against peacetime military conscription is, and I quote from a current article "the surest way to avoid war is to remain completely unprepared." I say dangerous because this absurd philosophy represents the worst kind of hangover from the World War I days, and remember then we failed, but miserably we failed. We must be strong to halt an aggressor. We must be strong to fulfill our responsibility in enforcing world order.

Magnolia Hall Has Mystery of Odors

The villain stole into the room on wings of air. The two girls looked up from their studying and wrinkled their noses. It was the arch demon, Whiskey.

"Where can it be coming from?" the girls wondered. "Who is outside our window," whispered the other.

"I don't know but I'm scared" quivered the other. "Do you think we're smashing things?"

"Let's go ask the girl next door" the roommates cried next door and woke the occupants. Then, mysteriously again nothing, they drew the unsuspecting girls to the room where the villain waited.

"Where is that smell of whiskey coming from," demanded the newcomer in sepulchral tones.

"Then we didn t imagine it," the roommates exclaimed fearfully "but what shall we do about it?"

After a brief consultation, the girls decided to wake their counselor The good woman came down stairs and she, too, detected the foul fiend.

"The only thing to do," she decided, "is to call Hyran office and set the policemen."

This they did Three policemen marched determinedly out to Magnolia Hall early Thursday morning They looked all over the grounds, they looked in the basement, but the headquarters were not to be found. The villain absconded when the heroes appeared but about 20 minutes later he was back to hurl horror at the inhabitants of the unit floor, causing a true Mazmolia Hall Mystery.

"Nori Tournier," followed by a harp and violin combination by Mary Reeder and Rachel Crotwell, playing, "Pastorale," by Sibelius.

Handel's "He Shall Feed His Flock Like a Shepherd" will be sung by Phyllis DeKalb, contralto, and Doris O'Neill, soprano, will sing "Come Unto Him," also by Handel.

The Vespers will end with the Glee Club singing of the "Hallelujah Chorus" and Gruber's world famous Christmas carol, "Silent Night."

He had Tarzan eyes — they swung from limb to limb.
—The Creighotonian.

CAKES—PIES
Pastry—Bread—Rolls

Birthday and Party Cakes
FEDERAL BAKE SHOP
Phone 129
310 S. Monroe

Con

Continued From Page Four

duction rather than restricted production.

So then one of the best pleas for national defense is that calling for the maintenance of industrial might in readiness. In the next war, if there is to be one, the outcome of the story will very probably have even more an industrial power than in the past war. The perfectly or imperfectly trained soldiers just will not matter nearly so much as the planes, the robot and atomic bombs, and all the other complex and terrible weapons that the world is so rapidly developing. The nation that has these things or the power to turn them out "mostest and fastest" will win.

In reading te mesdage of President Truman to Congress on universal training, it is interesting to note how beautifully its words fit the need for maintaining industrial might. Further the need to maintain a citizen army that might we'l be without guns as did our army in the early days of the last war.

"Never again," he warns, "can we depend upon the kindness with which to arm ourselves. In the future days of the United States would be the enemy's first target. The surest way to attack us is to remain unprepared. The surest way to avoid war is to remain completely unprepared." I say dangerous because this absurd philosophy represents the worst kind of hangover from the World War I days, and remember then we failed, but miserably we failed. We must be strong to halt an aggressor. We must be strong to fulfill our responsibility in enforcing world order.

Esteren Initiates 13 On Thanksgiving

Alumnae Hare for Activities; Goats Entertain Members

Initiation of thirteen Esterens goats took place after the Thanksgiving religious services Thursday climaxing a weekend of activities in which a large group of Esteren alumnae participated.

Esteren activities began early Thanksgiving morning when the goats gave the members and alumnae breakfast at the Rainbow Inn. The goats entertained the members with a skit. Flavors for the breakfast were little Esteren girls made out of pipe cleaners. The alumnae included: Paulette Nolan '42, Peachie McKay '42, Dottie B McGshagin '44, Jeanne Eyman Smith '44, Margie Lambert '44, Martha Twitty '44, Mary Lagotis '44, Peggy Barfield '44, Sarah Beth Dees '44, Miss Florence Helen Wiggins '44, Miss Florence Tryon, Miss Mary Jane Medlin, Miss Grace Fox, Miss Louise Cetnan, Mrs Lowery, Miss Frances Lewis and Mattie Lou Love.

The new Esteren members are: Anne Widerquist, Jeanne Koesy, Louise Sikes, Madelyn King, Babe Quinby, Barbara Quinby, Sarah Jane Lyles, Ella Mae Quinby, Margaret Baugh Ida Lee Rentz, Jim Tryon, Miss Mary Jane Medlin, professor of sociology and director of social work. The new goats were given Esteren dolls as favors after the initiation.

At the Even Demonstration on Thursday night Esteren gave members of Spirgens, who were guests of Esteren, candy in paper bags. Esteren also presented Ella Mae Quinby with gift for her work as the chairman of the Even Demonstration. After the Demonstration Esteren entertained the teams and the alumnae at an informal party at the Alpha Delta Pi house. Hot chocolate and doughnuts were served. Awards were given to each team member.

At the Even night-out Dr Richards, professor of physics, and Miss Grace Fox, instructor in physical education, "Spirited the Even spirits on" with pep talks. Huge flaming letters spelling out "Even" cast a glow over the crowd.

Esteren had its first meeting with the new members Sunday night in the Longmire Building. The main business was the extending of thanks to everyone for helping to make it a very successful Thanksgiving.

Mural Paniting

The Art Education class is painting a mural on campus this here at Florida State College. The mural is divided into two sections. The first section deals with recreational activities and the second section deals with academic activities.

The mural is nearing completion and will soon be hung in the classroom in the education building. All students are invited to see the work upon its completion.

YOUR LIPS SING WITH COLOR
Clarion
LIPSTICK BY De Barry
At last . . . a true red . . . !
bold and bright and ringing with challenge! Packaged with a week's supply of Clarion Face Powder . . . tawny-pink to give your face a lift!
Clarion Lipstick 1.00
Sample Face Powder . . . 1.00 plus tax

BENNETT'S
COLLEGE INN PHARMACY
PHONE 800
MONROE ST. PHARMACY
PHONE 93

Esteren Initiates 13 On Thanksgiving

Alumnae Hare for Activities; Goats Entertain Members

Initiation of thirteen Esterens goats took place after the Thanksgiving religious services Thursday climaxing a weekend of activities in which a large group of Esteren alumnae participated.

Esteren activities began early Thanksgiving morning when the goats gave the members and alumnae breakfast at the Rainbow Inn. The goats entertained the members with a skit. Flavors for the breakfast were little Esteren girls made out of pipe cleaners. The alumnae included: Paulette Nolan '42, Peachie McKay '42, Dottie B McGshagin '44, Jeanne Eyman Smith '44, Margie Lambert '44, Martha Twitty '44, Mary Lagotis '44, Peggy Barfield '44, Sarah Beth Dees '44, Miss Florence Helen Wiggins '44, Miss Florence Tryon, Miss Mary Jane Medlin, Miss Grace Fox, Miss Louise Cetnan, Mrs Lowery, Miss Frances Lewis and Mattie Lou Love.

The new Esteren members are: Anne Widerquist, Jeanne Koesy, Louise Sikes, Madelyn King, Babe Quinby, Barbara Quinby, Sarah Jane Lyles, Ella Mae Quinby, Margaret Baugh Ida Lee Rentz, Jim Tryon, Miss Mary Jane Medlin, professor of sociology and director of social work. The new goats were given Esteren dolls as favors after the initiation.

At the Even Demonstration on Thursday night Esteren gave members of Spirgens, who were guests of Esteren, candy in paper bags. Esteren also presented Ella Mae Quinby with gift for her work as the chairman of the Even Demonstration. After the Demonstration Esteren entertained the teams and the alumnae at an informal party at the Alpha Delta Pi house. Hot chocolate and doughnuts were served. Awards were given to each team member.

At the Even night-out Dr Richards, professor of physics, and Miss Grace Fox, instructor in physical education, "Spirited the Even spirits on" with pep talks. Huge flaming letters spelling out "Even" cast a glow over the crowd.

Esteren had its first meeting with the new members Sunday night in the Longmire Building. The main business was the extending of thanks to everyone for helping to make it a very successful Thanksgiving.

Professor Professes

By BARBARA WICKHAM

This week different members of the faculty were asked their opinions on the question of having Thanksgiving and homecoming separately. All of the men we talked to were in favor of changing it bu for various reasons.

Dr Raymond Bowers did not have time to make a formal statement but she said that she thought that because the homecoming and Thanksgiving activities combined took so much time especially in the crowded first quarter that something should be done. She suggested that perhaps a week could be set aside between the last two quarters for all of the festivities that is done at Cornell and other schools. Or she suggested that perhaps the Alumnae Week that was held in the spring of the vear before the war could be revived. There were lectures and other such entertainment planned at this time. Dr Rogers also suggested that the homecoming might be held during the time of the year when the creative arts contest was on. The final decision should be left to the student association itself was her final point.

Mr Henry F Becker, professor of geography, said that he thought there should be two separate celebrations instead of a combined Thanksgiving and homecoming. He surgested that either the students should be allowed to go home for the holiday or there should be no day taken off at all. He does not like the idea of the break caused by the one day vacation in the week. Mr Becker thinks that perhaps we could come on a week-end instead of during a week.

Mrs Lou Miller, English teacher said, "I think it would be a good idea to change the date of homecoming to some week-end other than Thanksgiving. The present change would relieve the housing situation and make it possible for many alumnae to be accommodated with greater facility."

Dr Raymond Bellamy, of the Sociology department, said, "It is natural that anyone who has been a part of this campus life since the days of World War I would regret the passing of many of any changes in our traditional Thanksgiving program, however much we may feel that it is to the detligence in opposing changes which have become necessary or are demanded by the sentiments of the present time. And it is plain enough that our Thanksgiving program is not in harmony with the desires of many of our students, apparently most of them.

Since change is inevitable, I would suggest that we make a sweeping change. Students are demanding the privilege of going home on Thanksgiving and we might as well let them go. But we might arrange a program on the entire program-games, demonstrations, homecoming and all—

Teaching Heads Positions Held by Graduates of '45

Florida State College graduates of the class of '45 have taken positions all over the United States, according to a recently compiled report of the Personnel office.

Teaching again heads the list of placements as the Personnel Office achieved a record of 100% placement in the field of teaching, having placed a total of 111 girls. The record was 82% in all other fields. In 1945 there were 376 requests for teachers as compared with 638 requests in 1944. Three hundred and ninety seven requests were received this year for graduates in other fields. Out of the total of 384 graduates, the Personnel office placed 354.

The professions railing second in number and following teaching in popularity, are secretarial work and dietetics. Thirty-eight girls are completing courses in further study in their major field at universities. Two members of the class, Ruby Rhett and Evelyn M Berry are representing FSC in the armed services as WAVES.

A number of graduates have entered government service. Among these are Priscilla Gillette, Gertrude Noxtine, Janet Pancoast, and Diana Lee Washburn. Priscilla is employed by the Inter-American Statistical Institute, Census Bureau, Washington, D C while both Janet and Diana are at the National Institute of Public Affairs, also in Washington. Gertrude is employed by the Army Map service in Washington.

Journalism majors have taken positions mainly in their home state of Florida. A feature writer on the Tampa Tribune is Cordelia Barclay, former editor of the Flambeau. Also in Tampa is Rachael Ball, now a reporter on the Tampa Times. Lee Malakoff is doing research for the Young-Rubicon Advertising Agency, New York, and Elizabeth Ann Scott, last year's Distaff editor, is a poetry editor and editorial writer to some other date. It seems to me as if Valentine's Day would be a good time for this. The football season would be over, there would be relatively little in the way of other activities to interfere, and the date would give ample time to make preparations for our festivities."

Pfc. Marjorie Ann Morris, Florida State College graduate, is working as a home demonstration agent in Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico, and Rosemary is a student personnel assistant in the Panama Canal Zone.

Reports have been received concerning the 19 science majors who were placed by the Personnel office. Peggy Pemble has a fellowship as a laboratory assistant in St. Vincent's Hospital, Jacksonville, Florida. The Humble Oil Company of Baytown, Texas, has hired Allese Trieste as a junior laboratory assistant. Arlele Shinster carries the title of physicist of the ballistic laboratory of the Indiana Ordinance Works, Louisville, Kentucky. Betty Jane Fox is an instructor at Mercer University, Macon, Georgia.

The graduates who are continuing their study are located in universities from north to south. Mary Lacy Mendenhall is studying at Florida State College for Women, while Louisiana State University, along with Frances Jean Blackburn is studying music. Isabel Rogers has a political science fellowship at the University of Virginia and Jean Bishop has a fellowship at the New York School of Social Work.

Instructors in physical education are Jessie Durden, Ethel Mae Hall, Louise Pershall, Mickey Fountain and Marian Welch. Most are teaching in south Florida with the exception of Carolyn Fowler who is teaching at Chevy Chase Junior College in Washington. D C Ruth Bell is assistant in teaching music in Harbor Creek, Pennsylvania, and Mary E McCormack is doing glee club and choral work at Leon High School in Tallahassee.

Also in Tampa is for the Scholastic Magazine.

Three flight stewardesses employed by Pan American Airways of Miami are Frances McCarty, Marjorie M Morris, and Bernice V Scott.

Rosemary Hubbell and Joselina Irizarry are the only graduates who are outside of the United States proper. Joselina is working as a home demonstration agent for the Scholastic Magazine.

Three flight stewardesses employed by Pan American Airways of Miami are Frances McCarty, Marjorie M Morris, and Bernice V Scott.

Rosemary Hubbell and Joselina Irizarry are the only graduates who are outside of the United States proper. Joselina is working as a home demonstration agent in Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico, and Rosemary is a student personnel assistant in the Panama Canal Zone.

Reports have been received concerning the 19 science majors who were placed by the Personnel office. Peggy Pemble has a fellowship as a laboratory assistant in St. Vincent's Hospital, Jacksonville, Florida. The Humble Oil Company of Baytown, Texas, has hired Allese Trieste as a junior laboratory assistant. Arlele Shinster carries the title of physicist of the ballistic laboratory of the Indiana Ordinance Works, Louisville, Kentucky. Betty Jane Fox is an instructor at Mercer University, Macon, Georgia.

The graduates who are continuing their study are located in universities from north to south. Mary Lacy Mendenhall is studying at Florida State College for Women, while Louisiana State University, along with Frances Jean Blackburn is studying music. Isabel Rogers has a political science fellowship at the University of Virginia and Jean Bishop has a fellowship at the New York School of Social Work.

Instructors in physical education are Jessie Durden, Ethel Mae Hall, Louise Pershall, Mickey Fountain and Marian Welch. Most are teaching in south Florida with the exception of Carolyn Fowler who is teaching at Chevy Chase Junior College in Washington. D C Ruth Bell is assistant in teaching music in Harbor Creek, Pennsylvania, and Mary E McCormack is doing glee club and choral work at Leon High School in Tallahassee.

Gilchrist Girls Find Chivalry Returned

Girls returning from supper last night to Gilchrist third floor saw the unbelievable sight of a man's legs sticking out from the overhead transom in the door to Mrs Melanie S Turner, assistant residence counselor's room.

The Yale lock on Mrs Turner's door was locked, and she was without a key. A ladder was hauled up to the third floor and a girl was found to climb through the transom to remedy the unfortunate situation, when Mrs Turner, worried about the girl's catlike qualities that would necessarily be involved in dropping to the floor on the other side of the door went down to the parlor to enlist a man's help if one could be found Bryan Storey, who was visiting Renee Hedzeroth, was prevailed upon to come upstairs to attest to the safety of the manseuver. When he saw the situation Bryan volunteered to execute the deed himself. Therefore when the girls came back from their cabbage supper to put in a hard night of study, they were shocked out of that inclination till doomy's take much to discourage study by the sight of a man, a young, white man disappearing through a transom. When the door was opened, Mrs Turner was heard to say, "It certainly is nice to have a man around."

see, Two English majors, Marjorie Day Lay and Sabina Jane Taylor are teaching in Jacksonville high schools.

JUST RIGHT ON A COLD NIGHT
OUR SAVORY SPAGHETTI AND WITH HOT ROLLS SIMPLY DELISH !
M & N Cafe
E. Jefferson St. Ph. 1884

RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES:
TRAIN FOR A CAREER WITH THE
Johnston O'Conner Research Foundation
111 E. 42nd St., New York, 21
N. Y. Fellowship Basis, $85.00 a Month

SEARS
ROEBUCK AND CO.
EVERY LADY ON YOUR LIST WELCOMES GAY
Gift Scarfs
Shop at SEARS for your entire Christmas list
Phone 2400 Tallahassee, Fla.

Sorority Chit-Chat . . . .

Things have been quite calm on the sorority front during this week preceding "Dead Week," but here's some of this week's chatter:

Alpha Chi Omegas were visited by three alumnae during the Thanksgiving weekend. They were Miss Dorothy Wells, of West Palm Beach; Mrs Aileen Haines, of Tampa, and Mrs Bob Stevens, formerly resident counselor of Reynolds Hall, from Atlanta, Georgia.

* * *

The Alpha Delta Pi pledge party will be held this afternoon at five o'clock. Around the theme, "Having a date on campus," Sarah Corry and Bee Lynn wrote a skit which will be presented by Carrie Knox Simms and Sarah Rountree. A D Pi pledges plan to decorate their dining room as a soda fountain, from which they will serve cokes and potato chips.

* * *

Guests of Alpha Xi Delta during the past holidays were Mz and Mrs J O Younkman of Sarasota and Miss Avis Thomas, a Gainesville alumnae. Younkman, assisted by her daughter, Charlotte, entertained the chapter Friday evening with a buffet supper.

* * *

Guests at the Delta Delta Delta house for the Thanksgiving weekend included: Marjorie Pillyaw, Sarah Frances Lee, Dorothy Lee Ann Smith, Jean Hitchcok, Scrogin, Elizabeth Morrison, Edith Hawkins, Martha Hackl Babb, Ducky Young, and Elizabeth Wigham.

* * *

Delta Phi Epsilon actives honored their house mother, Mrs Mary W Murr, with an after-dinner coffee in honor of the anniversary of her sixth year at their house. Guests of honor were Dr and Mrs Doak S Campbell, the patronesses of several of the campus sororities, Mrs Nelle Wagner, assistant professor of piano, who is their sorority adviser, and Miss Bernice Moskowitz, instructor in Sociology.

Refreshments were novel, with colored bread being used as a basis for canapes, open sandwiches, and salted nuts and brownies also served.

Open house will be held during next week since some of the members are expecting visitors from Gainesville.

Tomorrow night Delta Phi Epsilon members are giving an informal dance at the house. Eileen Murinson, social chairman, is in charge of the affair.

* * *

Last night the Delta Zeta members who live at the house gave a surprise birthday party for three of their members, Sarah Griffin, Celia Llamas, and Betty Johnston, and their house mother Mrs T R Grovatt. Ann Brady was in charge of general arrangements. Pop-corn balls and coffee were served as refreshments.

Tomorrow night all Delta Zeta actives will move into rooms on campus and pledges will have the "run of the house." Sunday morning the actives will serve breakfast for the pledges at the house.

Alumnae of Delta Zeta who were here for Thanksgiving festivities were: Kathryn Wallace and Lorean Nickolson, Wildwood; Cecelia McGuire, St Augustine; Margaret Spearman, New Smyrna; and Gwen Martin, Jacksonville.

* * *

Wednesday Kappa Alpha Theta pledges gave their annual party for the pledges of the other sororities with an animal theme. The house was decorated like a Harlem night club, complete with tables covered in red and white checked gingham and bottles holding candles. The pledges giving the party were blacked up to represent bootblacks, bartender, cigarette girl, waitresses, musicians, and singers. A colored maid opened the door which had been devised of cardboard to imitate the top of speak-easies and each guest was required to identify herself before admittance. The main room was covered with licorice hung on strings across the ceiling. The cigarette girl passed around cigarettes, peanuts, and chocolate milk.

Mary Helen Booth, an alumna from Chicago, visited the house yesterday. Betty Ames from Leesburg, and Renee Brown, from West Palm Beach, two alumnae, are expected to be guests at the house this weekend.

* * *

Kappa Deltas have had several visiting alumnae this week, among whom were Mary Lilla Gwaltney Bradenton; Mary Shelley Carr, Monticello; Tedy Parker, Pensacola; and Anael Faun, Tallahassee alumna who has been away.

* * *

Pi Phis are planning a "coca party" for this Saturday night at 10:30. All of the pledges are invited as well as members and friends.

* * *

Mary Monahan, Phi Mu alumna from Jacksonville who graduated in 1943, visited the Phi Mu house this week.

* * *

Wilda Hayes, Sigma Kappa who is giving her certificate piano recital in Westcott auditorium at 8:15 tomorrow night, will be honored at the Sigma Kappa house after the recital. Faculty members, pledges, members, and friends are invited to attend.

Pi Beta Phi Holds Forum on Education

Pi Beta Phi members held a forum last Sunday afternoon to discuss general plans for proposed changes in the present educational system. Earl L. Vance, associate professor of English and Journalism; Dr C P Melnich, professor of experimental psychology; Dr Marian D Irish, professor of political science; Betty F Beckett, geography professor; and Miss Sadie G Young, associate professor of economics led the discussion.

The main arguments presented were taken from opinions of Robert Hutchins president of University of Chicago, John Rice, of Black Mountain college in North Carolina, and Stringfellow Barr, of St John's college in Annapolis; and Harvard professors who studied education during the war years.

The latter advocate "General Education in a Free Society."

The purpose of the forum was to consider revising educational systems were necessary for complete understanding of what constituted a basic general education.

All Pi Phi members and pledges, faculty members, and Mortar Board members were present.

* * *

The United States will ship to Europe 90,000,000 pounds of peach and beans before the end of 1945.

Tarpon Minnows Make First Appearance To Public in Thanksgiving Performance

"An" we'll break our fool necks getting there," the spectator to the Tarpon song goes, and so the girls trying out at the first of the year thought, as all 66 of them tried to master the strokes and learn the intricate figures, march routines and barrel rolls. Of this large number trying out, all were eliminated but 16, who were finally chosen members and were graded on their strokes in the final tryouts Nine minnows were given to the members and were graded on their strokes in the final tryouts. Nine minnows were given to the members and were graded on their strokes in the final tryouts. Nine Club when the members came to their rooms and included them in the song, "Where are the Tarpon girls."

Behind the demonstrations given last week, there were many practices and near cases of heartbreak and disaster. But part of these new minnows. Their first time swimming together came at their first meeting on the circumary Thursday afternoon minnow practice. At their second meeting they started working on the pattern for their part in the Tarpon demonstration. "Dancers of Cotillion," as was decided by the formation committee.

"Barrel rolls were difficult," said one minnow "We didn't have too much trouble learning the formations, but we always had the horror of forgetting them." Before the Thanksgiving performance, they walked through the formation on dry land in the lower gym, so they wouldn't forget what to do.

Being fourth on the program, the minnows were admittedly nervous, and were gratified to hear the clapping of the audience after they had finished their formation. Before their number, one of the minnows, who was diving on the first part of the program, slipped on the board an was bruised rather badly but she went on with the show.

Clad in the traditional minnow blue bathing suits, the minnows walked out to the pool four on a side and dived in together at the end between the diving boards to begin their first public performance. After coming up together at the end, they executed maneuvers which included frog crawls, back crawls, sculling, back rolls ending in coming to the surface in tight and perfect circles kicking a frothy fountain as they backed out of a circle, kips, coming up in two straight lines, surface dives and the barrel roll crawl.

As they went out of the pool after their number, the minnows eagerly listened for remarks made by the Tarpon members telling them how they liked or disliked their exhibition. The Rollins Col-

Gifts ★ Books ★ Cards and plenty of WELCOME
★ ★ ★
We'd love to have "you-all" come in and browse around.
PLEASE DO
WEE GIFT SHOP
113 E. College Ave.

Cotillion Taps 21 'Vamps' Choose 16 At Annual Dance

Twenty-one girls were tapped for membership in Cotillion and 16 were chosen for the Villare Vamps during the annual Thanksgiving dance given last Saturday night.

Cotillion taps were honored at an informal supper at the home of Mary Lou Norwood Saturday evening. The Cotillion color scheme of green and white was carried out in the decorations for the supper.

Villare Vamp members entertained with a breakfast honoring their new sister Chi Omegas Monday at the Kappa Delta house. As part of the entertainment, Dr Coyle Moore read a poem about each of the 16 taps. Yandel Dupree, club president, and Jo Ann Cramer, secretary, took charge of arrangements for the breakfast.

New Cotillion taps, who held their first meeting Thursday afternoon at the Chi Omega house, include Elsie Burdin, Jeanne Cummins, Rose Lee Davis, Sylvia Meisch, Bobbye Bradley, Joyce Storbera, Dallas Stover, Pat Harmon, Ann Arnold, Pat Harris, Polly Case, Jean Ann Daly, Jane Jane Handley, Lee Ann Streater, Margaret Flynn, Lois Meriwether, Nancy Lefkoi, Francine Dunning, Joyce Bynum, Ann Avery, and Betty Loy.

Women selected for membership in Village Vamps include Patty Bates, Jeanne Du Pree, Mary Nell Bynum, Rose Lee Davis, Sylvia Meisch, Louise Burrell, Teddy Hamlin, Jane Streater, Mary Kathryn Klutz, Gloria Lance, Ann McCarty, Estelle Parker Crosby, Patty Cochran, Patty Folsom and Carrie Boynton.

Thanksgiving Dance

Last Saturday night's big Thanksgiving Day dance, which was sponsored by College Government Association, brought to a successful end all "Turkey Week" celebrations for this year. Virginia Collins was committee chairman for the dance.

During the dance, which was formal, Cotillion and Villag Vamps tapped new members for the coming year, with 21 girls selected for Cotillion and 16 for VV's.

The hall was decorated by the Cotillion and Villare Vamps, and carrying the decoration motives were Cotillion's green and white high hat, on one end of the room and Village Vamps' black and white heart, directly facing the hat, on the other end.

Committee chairmen for the dance were Yandel DuPree, Jo Ann Cramer, Mary McEwen, Chris Morrison, Nell McNiel, Sarah Gallagher, Catherine Welch Shores, "Hap" Hazard, and Mary Lou Norwood.

Fashion Flashes

By MARJORIE CLARK

Fashions on campus last week seemed to be centered around red, white and purple caps, and the green feathers worn by the Odds and Evens.

The brightly colored green and gold jackets with matching green skirts of the Evens competed with the mow white sweaters and deep-hued purple skirts worn by the Odds.

For recreational purposes, dungarees and slacks with loud plaid or checked skirts and windbreaker jackets are still an important part of every girl's wardrobe. Brightly colored Indian jackets covered with intricate designs and stitched around the edges are suddenly becoming popular with Army and Navy sweaters and shirts appearing now that boys are being discharged. Also, much the fad, are the new reindeer and snowbird sweaters in two-color combinations.

For dressier wear, straight suits with box jackets and tight fitting narrow skirts are the order of the day.

Being black, as always the predominate color, it favored for night "dating". Sleek black strap sandals with plastic bags edged in black velvet and a mannish styled hat make up the perfect accessories.

Draped shirts, low rounded necklines and capped sleeves are becoming more noticeable on campus. These styles are especially popular in pastel-colored wool jerseys.

One Chesterfield coat is particularly a "must" in every miss's wardrobe. These coats in grey, black, or navy blue with dark velvet collars can be worn on nearly any occasion. Especially popular with the coats are the new fur or lamb suede loafers worn for semi-dress.

And so the students of FSC seem to be keeping abreast with the leading styles set by the American college women.

BSU to Hold Student Night, December 12

Students Will Take Charge Of Music and Talks

Student Night at Christmas, presented annually by the Baptist Student Union, will be held Sunday night, December 16 in the church auditorium, under the direction of Barbara Holt, president.

The program is presented each year by the students on the last Sunday night before they go home for the holidays. They carry on a similar program at the Baptist church in their home towns at Christmas.

Preceding the service, there will be a 15-minute medley of Christmas carols played on the organ. "All Hail the Power of Jesus" will be the opening hymn, followed by a scripture reading by Eugenia Avant. There will be a musical interlude preceding the congregational hymn. "Oh Master Let Me Walk With Thee." "For God So Loved the World" will be sung by the BSU choir.

Three talks under the heading, "Student Opportunities for Christian Living" will be given by Betty Speer, Mary Jane Hasbnet, and Louise Illingworth. These will be followed by the BSU quartet singing, "Spirit of the Issue."

The program will close with the benediction, the choral response, and the organ postlude.

The church auditorium on this night will be decorated with white candelabra tapers. The pulpit will be banked with ferns, cones, and fall flowers.

The committee heads in charge of the program are as follows: publicity, Margaret Furnas, decorations, Doris Hill and Amarene Thompson, ushering, Christine Zeigler, programs, Mary Jane Dashner and music, Pat Milligan.

Articles Lost?

Mrs Edith Gulick, in charge of lost and found, urges all students to pick up their lost articles at the office of the Lambda Chi house line.

Several pairs of glasses and cases are in the office at well as a great number of fountain pens and about 20 umbrellas. As usual, Mrs Gulick said there were three or four raincoats and some sweaters. Two full-length winter coats are also in the files.

Thanksgiving Games Traditional Pay-Off Made by Odd Losers

Tarpon has reached a new low —or Odds have reached a new high—as evidenced by the variety of swimming strokes displayed in the Odd fountain on Saturday of Thanksgiving week. As the result of bets laid on the Odd-Even games, several Odds slid grimly into the icy fountain immediately after the games, and soon turned a chilly purple hue to help carry out the color scheme of the fountain.

The hilarious winners escorted the unenthusiastic losers to the brink of the pool in front of Westcott, and a large crowd soon collected to witness this traditional pay-off. Draped with towels, raincoats, and warm galoshes, Odd losers quiveringly dipped a toe into the near-freezing water, and Even winners tested cameras to commemorate the occasion. The confining proportions of the fountain offered little freedom to the swimmers to do much actual swimming, but all did their best to look graceful.

The first to "break the ice" (almost literally) was Bob Cunningham, social Committee in Landis Elizabeth Ardd chairman, Marianne Bettes, Betsy Usher, Rodney Hiller, Alice Neef, Mildred Turner, Carolyn Hamilton, Harriett Mercer, Margaret Wooten, Sara Corry, Jane Norten. and all members of House Council. Each bosses in prepared speels, place cards to those dining at her table.

After-Dinner Coffee

There will be an after-dinner coffee in the music room of Landis Hall for the special dinner guests. Coffee will be served by Audrey Perry Peggy Lou Tompkins, Catherine Barr, and members of Landis House Council. Following the coffee there will be a reception for students. There are approximately 168 faculty members on the reception guest list who was prepared by the students in Landis.

In the receiving line will be Elizabeth Ardd Miss Williams Mrs Landis, Dr and Mrs Campbell, Miss Dorman, Dr Flory Miss Elizabeth Lynn, Miss Finlayson and Miss Anne Pearce. Pouring coffee during the first hour will be Irene Mendoza and Louise Sikes. This will be relieved by Miss Warren and Miss McCollum for the second hour.

Background music will be provided by Mary Ann Cone and Estelle Wooten, and Rachel Crum as well.

The Social Committee and members of the House Council assisted by Miss Arnold, will preside in the dining room as hostesses throughout the evening.

Landis Plans Gala Night—Formal Dinner Plus a Special Coffee and Reception

A formal dinner will be given at 6:15 tonight in the Landis dining hall to be followed by a reception from 8:30 to 10 in the parlor of Landis Hall. This reception will be in honor of Mrs Cary B Landis, for whose husband former justice of the state Supreme Court, Landis Hall was named. Those present will include members of the faculty and students living in Landis.

There will be ten special guests at the formal dinner, including Mrs Landis; Dr Doak S Campbell, pres. Seal of Florida State College; Mrs Campbell; Dr Olivia N Dorman dean of students; Miss Katherine Warren, assistant dean of students; Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence; Dr Claude R Flory professor of English; Miss Mildred Plonegan, assistant professor of French; Miss Anne B Arnold, dietitian. Miss Ruth A Peyche Landis counselor and Miss Sallie Williams, assistant professor of English.

Irene Mendoza, house president of Landis, and Louise Sikes, social chairman, will serve as hostesses for two tables. Other hostesses will be members of the Social Committee in Landis Elizabeth Ardd chairman, Marianne Bettes, Betsy Usher, Rodney Hiller, Alice Neef, Mildred Turner, Carolyn Hamilton, Harriett Mercer, Margaret Wooten, Sara Corry,

THE MOST HONORED WATCH ON THE CAMPUS
Longines
THE WORLD'S MOST HONORED WATCH
WINNER OF 10 WORLD'S FAIR GRAND PRIZES, 28 GOLD MEDALS AND MORE HONORS FOR ACCURACY THAN ANY OTHER TIMEPIECE

Photography Class To Stage Exhibit

There will be an exhibition of mounted enlargements done in the photography class taught by Miss Elizabeth Lynn, associate professor of physics, during the two weeks following the Christmas holidays, from January 3 to January 15. In the club room of the Longmire Building.

These pieces of photography have been produced by students in spite of the handicap of a shortage of materials, according to Miss Lynn. This condition has existed since the beginning of the course in photography in the autumn, and when it is relieved the system of "trial and error" photography can again be introduced with a better chance for more artistic pictures.

There has been considerable difficulty getting film for this quarter as in past years, but Miss Lynn was successful in obtaining the necessary quantity.

Hand Sewn Moccasin
You've never known barefoot freedom and ease of action unless you've worn true hand-sewn moccasins. And when they're Sportsers, they're tops
In Mink Brown Saddle Leather
5.95
Exclusive With MILLER'S Cootery
College Ave.

December Style Drama Starring ROBES
Glorious Chenille
in a galaxy of colors
Flamboyant Hues and Soft Pastels
End those early morning shivers . . . pop into a warm robe
$5.95 up
Sizes 12-20
Santa Says:
"Take a tip from me and give a luxurious quilted robe."
Quilted Robe

WE HAVE THEM IN SMART TAILORED STYLES AND IN THE FRILLED FEMININE MOTIF
$9.95 up
P. S. A word to the wise—Hurry while they last !
The Surprise Store
101-05 E. Jefferson
Phone 299

Z 106

The Florida Flambeau

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Tallahassee, Florida

VOL. XXXIII, No. 9

DECEMBER 7, 1945

8 Days
'Til Vacation!

Back to Civilization!

Glee Club to Sing Yuletide Vesper Music

103 Voices to Blend in Christmas Program In Westcott

Dr. Robertson Will Direct Sunday's Service

One hundred and three voices will join the Christmas music at the annual College Glee Club Christmas Vespers Miss Etta Robertson, glee club director, announced. Mary Jane harpist; Rachel Crotwell, violinist; and Patsy Dewberry, organist will assist the glee club on Sunday, at 8:30 p. m., in Westcott auditorium.

The program will include: "Ave Maria" by Bach, a seventeenth century hymn, arranged by Wagner a capella; "Good King Wenceslas," traditional English carol arranged by Lafebvre, a capella; "Gesu Bambino", by Pietro A. Yon, an aria solo by Anne Scott. "The Shepherd's Story", by Clarence Dickinson, sung by Nita Teagarden, soprano, and by the club "O Holy Night", by Adam a soprano solo by Alice Chester.

Penn Trawick will play these selections on the "Pan Pipes": Canadian traditional; "Lo, Low a Fly Her Bloomings Fragrances; the Holly and the Ivy", English, traditional; Angels Chanting All Around Us" Pfrimmer.

"The Tournier for Harp" will be played by Mary Reeder before and Rachel Crotwell will play Bedie "Pastorale", a violin and harp selection.

Recitative an- Aria will be "He Will Feed His Flock", Messiah, by Handel; Dorris O'Neill, soprano; Choir: "Come Unto Him" Messiah, by Handel, Doris O'Neill, soprano;

Continued on Page Two

Graduates of FSCW Write From Aboard

From France and India come letters from two Florida State College students, one an officer of the Women's Army Corps, the other a member of the Red Cross unit.

Former FSC student Caroline Orth, now Captain Janet C Varn of the WAC, is stationed in Versailles as assistant staff officer for the executive officer of the WAC. She was awarded the Order of the Star for her work before VE Day.

Captain Varn's duties include supervision of the enlisted women in France, and, in addition to her activities as education officer, she has also found time to make numerous trips into Germany and England.

In Versailles, Capt Varn lives in four other WACs in a French house with servants. She has a room which boasts of private bath, four poster bed and pink spread. She also has a private mess house for them, and they eat at the Army mess.

According to her letter, Captain Varn plans to return to FSC for her graduating from the College.

Miss Mabel L. Bowman, FSC graduate and former editor of the Flambeau, recently wrote several Women's clubs from Ahmednagar, India in a letter to a faculty member here.

From her firsthand observation of recent disturbances in that vicinity she says, "Britons out here felt it were different now of them were in imperialism anymore. They're really work out, proud of the will of ordinary folks more than politicians."

Miss Bowman was graduated from FSC several years ago, and followed did graduate work at the University of Florida, where she had the distinction of being the only girl student in the school. She is now serving with the Red Cross in India.

Garnet and Gold' Features Pianists

The weekly broadcast of "Garnet and Gold," Florida State College radio newspaper, featured solo pieces played by Annabelle Bellmar and Margaret Ivey Thursday night.

Annabelle played Sibelius' Romance, and Margaret played Song In A Flat by Bach. The show was edited by Pat Pattishall. This week's announcer was Sarah Norman.

A program is presented from the radio in the Longmire building each Thursday night at 7:30 over Radio WTAL. Programs are announced by Miss Bertha Bloodworth, publicity director of FSC and are edited by students.

Drive Falls Short of Goal

Girls to Solicit Unpaid Pledges in January

Approximately $1650 short of the goal set, the recent World Student Service Fund drive ended with total contributions amounting to about $750.

A high goal of $2400 was the figure urged at the outset of the drive, and $1300 has been promised by students who filled out pledge cards at the beginning of the month of November. Jessie McCalla, chairman of the WSSF at Florida State College, announced that during the first full week of the drive students realized little those students who have not paid their pledge money.

Miss McCalla said, "Although the college as a whole has not fulfilled its goal, the girls who have succeeded in raising about $250 above the amount contributed in last year's drive.

Each day last week a different student religious group had charge

Continued on Page Two

Christmas Program Held in Tower Room

Christmas organ and choral music was presented Sunday afternoon in the tower room of Westcott by the newly organized Florida State chapter of the Delta Oreanists and Trinity Methodist Junior Choir.

Pictures of Mrs Ramona Cruikshank Beard played selections which carried out the Yuletide theme of the guest choir which was directed by Mrs H Caleb Cushing and accompanied by Miss Margaret McCain.

Gifts were presented to the Junior Choir. Guests inspected the interior of the Tower Room Organ and the pipes which followed the musical program, and refreshments were served by Nell Dunn, Ruth Irwin, and Nancy Wheeler. Fawn Trawick was in charge of the entire program.

Inquiry Proves No Similarity Between Federal Jail and FSC

By JO DUAGAN

I was astonished a few days ago when I opened my mailbox and found a letter there. Not only was it an unusual occurrence for me to get two letters a week, but these letters were unusual in themselves. "Federal Jail, Starke, Florida," was stamped in purple letters across the front of each envelope.

From years of experience with missent mail, I realized that a postal clerk had accidentally sent my letters to the jail and that the mailman there had stamped them with the name. But how on earth, I thought, could anyone have confused Florida State College, which was plainly written on the front of each envelope, with the Federal Jail?

After hearing several other people tell how they had received letters stamped the same way, I decided to find out what similarities there were between the two institutions that could cause the mix-up to take place. A friend of mine, who is employed by the jail, consented to help me with the problem.

"I don't believe that the appearance of the two places is a point of confusion," said my friend. He said that at the present time the physical aspect of FSC does not closely correspond to that of the Jail, but he added that perhaps when the job now under construction at FSC's front gate is completed the resemblance will be greater.

My friends also told me that the residents of the jail are not in any way similar to those at FSC. They never serve prune whip or savory spread for dessert. They never said that although sometimes they are served roast beef, he was sure that it could be compared to that served at FSC.

Another point on which I questioned my friend was the way the jail residents spend their leisure time. He answered in great detail and told me all about the books they read, the shows they see, the games they play—and then I stopped him. That was leading me nowhere after all. They have nothing that even resembles leisure time, as far as I can determine with which to fill it.

But just for my own information, I asked my friend how they were able to have all that time to themselves. He said, "Oh, you see, we have the year and a day system here. I understand that it is not half so trying as the quarter system under which the FSC residents are laboring."

Then it occurred to me to ask if the jail were cool. He answered no. I was confident that I had found a point of similarity between FSC and the Federal Jail, but he added that perhaps when the job now

Continued on Page Two

TCMA to Open Monday Night With Concert

Richard Dyer Bennet Will Entertain Members At Leon High

Membership Cards Available At the Bookstore

The Tallahassee Civic Music Association will open its 1945-46 season Monday night at 8:15 with the presentation of Richard Dyer-Bennet, troubadour, at the Leon High school.

Members of the faculty and student body who were not here last spring can obtain membership cards at the college bookstore. Before Monday night from Miss Pat Thompson, or at Leon High just before the concert Monday night. At that time, membership is closed until the spring, and tickets for individual concerts cannot be obtained. Membership cards, including tax, are $3 for students and $6 for adults, according to Miss Isabel McKinnell.

"Richard Dyer-Bennet" it was written in Newsweek in March 1944, "is a minstrel without a court to sing for." Like the true

Continued on Page Two

Student's Religions Are Filed in Office

Methodists Lead With 667; Baptists Follow Close

The Registrar's office has just completed a survey of the various religious preferences and home towns of all the students registered this quarter, announced Miss Eva May Atwood, assistant registrar.

Methodists head the list with 667 girls claiming that denomination. Baptists rank 2nd with 577 second, having 607 students. Next in rank in the order listed are Episcopal churches, having 248 and 238 students registered, respectively.

There are 179 Catholic girls at Florida State College, according to the list. Presbyterians of the students are 2nd.

Fifty-four girls expressed a preference for the Christian church, with the same number claiming no preference. There are six Christian Scientists here. The Lutheran church and the Congregational come next in numbers with 18 and 14 students respectively.

The Greek Orthodox church claims nine students.

Six girls are members of the Church of Christ, Scientist, and the Brethern. The Assembly of God, the Mormons, the Non-Sectarians, and the Unitarians claim two students each preferring their denominations.

The six girls each belong to the First Church of God, the Nazarenes and the Unitarians.

The Christadelphians, the Church of Christ, the Holy Saints, the Community church, the Evangelical church, the Holiness church, the Unity church, and the Seventh Day Adventists each have one member on campus.

Animated Newspaper Style Carried Out In Garnet and Gold Broadcasts on WTAL

By WINNIE LANE

An acclimated edition of a newspaper is presented each Thursday night on the Garnet and Gold program broadcast over WTAL from the Florida State College campus studios, Miss Bertha Bloodworth, publicity chairman and coordinator of radio, includes in the 15-minute program a flash, a bulletin, feature and music section, or parts equivalent thereto, with the purpose of disseminating news of the college that would be interesting to the general public.

The history of radio broadcasts at FSC traces a pattern of rapid progress. The first broadcast the first programs used as their studio the publicity office reception room in the Administration building. On September 27, 1940, the first of these programs was sent directly from the campus. The editor of the Flambeau gave a 15-minute summary of campus news and comment. During 1940 there were also two other FSC features, one called the "FSCW Forum" conducted by Dr. Gill Robb Wilson, and a bi-monthly program of book reviews.

The next spring on March 8, 1941, for the first time in the college history radio management was placed entirely in the hand over by the students for a day. Writing script, selling ads, selecting music and working controls made up the day of radio management. At the end of the day's broadcast hours 20 exhausted and weakvoiced students admitted it had been a hectic but interesting day.

Then last year, on October 26, 1944, the Garnet and Gold Gazette was christened. Miss Woodworth, in her new office in the Administration building, had quite a novel experience in presenting the first bulletin. "The broadcast went on with the expected tension and anxiety," she said. (Continued in Number two)

Continued on Page Two

Faculty Members Go To Annual Meeting

Six Delegates From College Speak in St Augustine

The tenth annual meeting of the Florida Academy of Sciences, in conjunction with the Florida Historical Society and the Florida Conference of Social Work, will be held today and tomorrow at St Augustine, Fla.

Dr Raymond Bellamy of the department of sociology is in charge of arrangements for the six delegates from Florida State College. Dr Bellamy will give a round-table discussion on "Art and Literature as Forms of Social Control."

Other members of the college faculty and administration will speak are Dr Paul Pitner, whose subject is "Social Factors in Personality"; Dr Dale Parker, "The Insanguration of the First Governor of the Territory"; Miss Devinor and Franseita Vinson, "Preliminary Report on the Snails of Leon and Wakulla Counties and Their Trematode Parasites"; Dr May Hood, "Trypanosoma equiperdum in Experimental Mice"; and Trypanosoma hippicum, infectious anemia in horses"; Miss Annie Chick Embryos and Chickens."

Dr John Henry Davis, jr. of the Florida Geological Survey will speak on "Some Geological Significances of Florida Peat Deposits."

Other faculty members who will attend are Dr Ernest Hamlin, instructor in zoology; Miss Sadie Mae Lacefield, assistant professor of economics; Miss Betty Linthicum, instructor in botany; Dr Herman Horn, instructor in botany, and Dr R L Goulding superintendent of the demonstration school and assistant professor of education.

Dem School Pupils To Present Pageant

"The Light Shineth In Darkness," a Christmas pageant, will be presented by the pupils of the Demonstration school at 8:00 p.m. Dec 13, in the Augusta Conradi theater. Admission is free to the public.

Approximately 200 children from all but the first grade, which is under the direction of Miss Ruth Sheppard, will participate. Miss Smith said that the pageant would be an adaptation of the traditional Christmas story with Christmas carols sung by the junior high school girls as well as the other pupils. The program will present the story of Christmas in the form of a choral form with selections from the Scriptures to be read by Miss Gurney. Mary Ia played by Mamellia Crespo and Douglas Oriber has the part of Joseph.

Student teachers who have worked on the various grades are Harriet McCarter, Helen Tarapani, Bettie Beville, Edna Craig.

Schedule Announced For Freshman Exams

The freshman English examination will be held in Westcott auditorium on Tuesday afternoon, December 11, 1945, at 2:30, announced Dr Sarah Herndon, assistant professor of English.

The 005 Eng. exam will be held in room 3f "westcott at the same time.

Freshmen are asked to bring only pencils to the Freshman English exams.

The time and place schedule for the Humanities exam

Continued on Page Two

Grades!

Grades will be sent to the homes of the students during the Christmas holidays, according to Miss May Atwood, assistant registrar. Students should notify the registrar's office in case of a change in address since the beginning of school.

Grades will be withhold until all fees are paid, as is the rule of the school.

Seniors Plan Annual Party

Girls to Don Caps, Gowns With Formal Collars

All seniors who plan to go to the senior Christmas dinner dance party next Thursday night are asked to sign on the senior class bulletin board in lower Westcott before Monday.

Marcia Jane Brown, class president, announces that the party will begin according to custom with the senior assembly at 7:00 in Landis dining hall at 6:30. She said that they will wear caps and gowns with formal collars, meet at the dining hall, and march in together. Following the dinner and singing Christmas carols. Special seating will be provided for those are Dr and Mrs Doak S Campbell, Dr and Mrs Coyle E Moore, Miss Ruth Cromartie, Miss May Warren, Miss Edith McCollum, Miss Elizabeth Lynn, Miss Daisy Parker, Miss Marie Williams and Miss Ruth Pyche

After supper the seniors will divide into groups and sing carols around the faculty homes until 9:30, at which time they will return to Landis parlor for the Christmas party which will be given by the residence halls committee with Miss Edith McCollum in charge.

Martha Jane said, "It will be

Continued on Page Three

Chain of Missions Director Visits FSC

Woodford Here to Make Plans For Youth Conference

Miss Louise Woodford, state director of the Florida Chain of Missions, visited Florida State College last Saturday to meet with representatives from the college and with the Florida Youth Council. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss plans for the Youth Conference which will be held here on February 22, 23, and 24. Emphasis this year will be placed on the part that the individual can play in the Christian world mission which may lead someday to international peace.

"Christian Citizenship in Today's World" was chosen as the theme for this year. The conference is at Rue hall for the preliminary. At the first and last meetings were held at which each chairman planned her individual part in the conference.

Co-chairmen for the conference through January are Jane Eller and Peggy Lu Thomas. Their committee heads are Dorothy Ann Cobb, and the winning nominated publicity: Dalia Santos, music; Har-

Continued on Page Three

AAUW Creative Arts Contests Encourage Student Competition

By ELEANOR BAYER

For the past three years the American Association of University Women has offered its creative arts contest on campus with the purpose of discovering and encouraging talented in the arts. The contest was originally limited to Florida students, but was expanded to include all the major creative arts. Competition attracted all types of writing, in the dance, in instrumental and vocal music, and in the fine arts and the field of handcrafts. This last division covered such varied areas as painting, photography, pottery, ceramics, wood carving, costume and furniture design.

The enthusiastic student response to the program has proved to be a boon to the local recreational outlet but as a real aid in encouraging talented in the field of pentthi skill in the arts. One instance of this is last year's graduate, Elizabeth McFarland, three times winner of the poetry award, who is now poetry editor of the Scholastic Magazine in New York City. Robert P Tristram Coffin, Pulitzer Prize winner recently for men of the year's plays she said that she is in charge of

Continued on Page Two

Twenty-One to Be Graduated At Quarterly Commencement In Augusta Conradi Theater

Exercises Will Be Held on Saturday, December 14; Olga Eitner to Provide Special Music; Beard Will Play Marches

Quarterly commencement exercises for 21 graduates will be held Saturday afternoon, December 15, at 3 o'clock in the Augusta Conradi theater. The speaker for this occasion has not as yet been selected.

Schubert - Wilhelm's "By the Sea," a violin solo, will be played at the ceremony by Miss Olga Eitner, associate professor of violin and theory, accompanied by Miss Mary Esther Winslow, assistant professor of piano. The processional, "Pomp and Circumstance," will be played by Mrs Ramona Beard, associate professor of organ, who will also play the traditional "War March of the Priests" as the recessional.

Among social events facing the graduates will be a luncheon in their honor given by Mrs Doak S Campbell at 12:30 p m Saturday, December 15.

In the School of Arts and Science Virginia Updyke Herndon, Laura Maxins Sparkman and Dorothy Roberts will receive degrees in the Bachelor of Science in Commerce. Receiving degrees as Bachelor of Arts will be Eugenia Louise Chasal, Shirley Anne Deointher, Carolyn Ruth Clark Dixon, Dorothy Elizabeth Mayhew, Helen Virginia Miller and Mabel Elizabeth Rich.

In the School of Education Anne Powell Arrington, Doris Wilkes Bell, Mary Frances Bush Mathis, Carolyn Fay Smith, Gloria Cay Smith, Lecile Mae Tippins, Annette Eddy and Frances Green Lunsford will receive degrees as Bachelor of Arts in Education.

In the School of Home Economics degree of the Bachelor of Science in Home Economics will be conferred upon Marianna Peyton Bradley, Mary Ann Fleming Levy and Sarah Merrill Cross Long. Elsie Levy will graduate with honors.

Graduating in the School of Music will be Wilda Hays, who will receive her degree as Bachelor of Music and also her certificate in piano.

Dr. Carothers Gives Plan for Registering

A new registration plan will be instituted for the second quarter registration of all students, according to Dr Millon Carothers, registrar.

Since it is imperative that registration be completed in one day, Dr Carothers has asked that students enter the auditorium in Westcott from the outside doors and seat themselves from the back. Monitors will call the students name by row and the registering of those in charge are able to take care of their work. Mechanical arrangement will be made, and students will be registered according to their alphabetical.

New students will register on Wednesday morning, January 2. Former students will begin registering at 8 o'clock Thursday morning, January 3, and continue throughout the day. At this time upperclassmen will be given preference in the morning since Dr Carothers has found that early classes are as a rule of more concern than are those of freshmen.

Dr Carothers also believes that all students can be registered in one day if this plan receives student cooperation.

Honorary Taps

Five girls were tapped for Gamma Sigma Epsilon, chemistry honorary, last Saturday night.

Betty Jean Linthicum, Martha, Martha Powers, Mercedes Hernandez, Juanita Nord and Anne McDonald.

These girls will remain "neophytes" as they are referred to, until the initiation which will take place sometime during the second quarter.

During initiation period, pledges are required to wear lost blues supended around their neck by blue and white ribbons, the honorary colors.

Officers of Gamma Sigma Epsilon are: Betty Jean Linthicum; Trigg Thompson, secretary, and Mary Jane Kirst, treasurer.

Distaff at Press

The issue of the Distaff which has now gone to press will be distributed to students on the day that they return from Christmas Holidays, announced Winnifred Meldrim, editor of the Distaff.

The deadline for any material to be submitted to the following issue of the Distaff Dorm has been advanced to January 4, 1946

Schedule Announced for Freshman Exams

The freshman English examination will be held in Westcott auditorium on Tuesday afternoon, December 11, 1945, at 2:30, announced Dr Sarah Herndon, assistant professor of English.

The 005 Eng. exam will be held in room 3f "westcott at the same time.

Freshmen are asked to bring only pencils to the Freshman English exams.

The time and place schedule for the Humanities exam

Continued on Page Two

Student Recalls Life in Orient Tells of Ten Years in Korea

"It's a shame that America can't be of more help to Korea—a country so desirous of becoming democratic," Virginia Swicord, a freshman at Florida State College who has lived in Korea for ten years, said.

"Korea, since the Japanese occupation, has looked for freedom and will accept a form of either democracy or communism." But since their leanings are toward democracy and the American way of life, this nation should take advantage of an opportunity to set another nation on her feet politically," Virginia said.

Virginia's father is a missionary, and she has had the advantage of living in Korea while he worked there.

Mr Swicord worked in Chun Ju, a province in Southern Korea. Missionaries are sent to foreign stations where they work for a period of seven years. At the end of this time a year's vacation is granted each worker.

Virginia began her travels at the age of eight months. When she was seven years old she returned with her family to this country for a year. They returned in 1938 and stayed until 1940, when they were forced to return.

The American State department first advised Americans on foreign soil to return to the United States consul took up the request, and when the mission board in Nashville, Tennessee, sent word, the Swicords boarded the USS Monterey at Yokohama, and began the 40 trip back to this country. The ship was assigned to pick all Americans then living in foreign lands. Thus, Virginia got to see more of the Orient—Shanghai, Australia, New Zealand, Manilla and the Fiji and Samoan Islands.

"People in this country can't realize the great power Christianity has in people who have never seen the Bible nor heard of Jesus," Virginia said.

Christianity gives the people such a peace of mind that they have never known before. It gives them hope for they have been taught of evil spirits which are supposed to constantly haunt them. The fear of life after death is another basis of their unrest, said Virginia.

"The call is exceptionally urgent for all workers," she said. The Koreans are receptive, and a missionary can't work hard enough to take in all the Koreans in his strip of land he was assigned to minister. Mr Swicord was able to establish 18 churches in the period of service. When he left there were 46 churches.

"The region is densely populated by an impoverished people accordingly to Virginia. Meat is a luxuary, although there are a higher class of scholars and wealthy land owners, and a class of merchants and village headsmen.

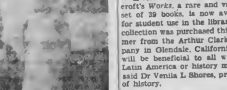
"The peasant class live in homes of mud with straw roofs and they manage the barest sort of existence." Virginia went on to say. Their homes usually consist of two small rooms with a shed for a kitchen. Often in the patriarchial family, of six to eight members on the average, they live, eat and day out to keep body and soul together. The women are practically slaves in that the husbands ward is law, and children are under as strict surveillance.

"The climate is comparable to that in the state of Virginia, with extremes of heat and cold. Virginia also said. Their main source of food is rice, which they grow in the small rice fields adjoining them. They usually try to grow cabbage so they can make one of their main dishes—kim chu. It is a hot dish with pickled cabbage, garlic and red peppers.

The Japanese on arrival in 1910 tried to completely de-nationalize Korea, Virginia said. They tried to take away their church, language and customs. Japan started closing up the Christian churches when they feared the power which Christianity would establish in Korea. The natives who professed to be Christians suffered much cruel torture.

Despite their evil intents, the Japanese have helped Korea immensally, she observed. Virginia said that they set up telegraph and electric connections, railroads, joined principle cities, and postal service was available to most parts of the country.

"The Japanese made education, compulsory. Korean attended public school, but attended a public school. English and Japanese were required languages. The high schools were segregated with boys and girls both attending separate schools," Virginia further stated.



She, however, received her schooling while there from private sources. In 1940 on her return to the United States, she attended high schools in South Carolina and Virginia.

One of the customs Virginia mentioned was the funeral service for the father at his death. Red coffins were used, and the bigger the coffin, the richer the occupant. Every one that entered for funeral service had to be fed—and one could usually tell the occasion by the crowds of beggars at the door. Many times a family spent the rest of their lives paying the huge debt resulting from this funeral.

The mission was just outside the city, and had there a hospital, schools and residence homes. "Everything there is intact; nothing has been damaged by the war," Virginia said that she had just heard.

Mr Swicord hopes to return to Korea as soon as possible. A survey group is there now determining what is to be done there in future years.

Virginia, however, intends to continue her college work at FSC.

Mrs Jean De Long and her helpers somewhere in the Pacific.

Glee Club

Continued from Page One

"Hallelujah Chorus", Messiah, by Handel; "Silent Night", by Bruber.

Participation in the annual Christmas Vespers are the glee club members: Dorothy Taylor, Hazel Gardner, Margie Pinholster, Virginia Gallemore, Anna Wiggins, Anne Stringfellow, Dorothy McClelland Marna Smith, Emmalee Worn, Myra Russell, Virginia Thomas, Calliope Hatcher, Jacquie Belcher, Phyllis DeKalb, Marion Welch, Nan Dunnam, Shirley O'Neill, Margaret Wooten, Johnnie Mires, Constance Bradley, Hazel Gardner, Laura Simpson, Anne Mussaine, Mildred Crawford, Jacqueline Poddick, Dorothy Hewitt, Wilda Hines, Cynthia Merrin Sarah Brown, Hilda Dodson, Sarah Shriver, Clarice Hedgecoth, Peggy Pearson, Peggy Glover Jeannelle Brown, Nancy Lee Wheeler, Betty Jo Hendrickson, Ann Townsend, Evelyn Johnson, Betty Houlihan, Jean McMillin, Virginia DerGarry, Doris Lamb, Mary Nichols, Dixie Ruth Kennedy, Anne Dadlez, Elaine Chrisa, Billie Bosley.

Billie Armistead, Sylvia Snell, Mary Jane Kirst, Ethel Smith, Grace Elder Grace Bryan, Sarah Brumeister, Anne Linder, Jean Kent Christine Stasinos, Earline Bain, Joyce Carrigan, Lois Hyde, Marjorie Headley, Mary Pat Warner, Lois Meriweather, Mildred Rouse, Kimberlie Gremli, Madge Pilcher Dolores Clausen, Virginia Seed, Martha Weatherly, Marian Lois Conn, Alice Phillips, Priscilla Clark Lois King, Ruth King, Alice Wheeler, Paula Teasdale, Artie Flanders, Daphine Rowe, Fawn Trawick, Ruth Erwin, Jeannette Chapman, Helen McCann, Mary Davis, Emily Bridges.

Mary Louise Morris, Doris Musselman, Sara Lee Williams, Barbara Pennell Muri Price, Patricia Thomas, Betty Owen, Eleanor Brasg, Melba Smithes, Shirley Glover Anne Bailey, Helen Robinson, Joyce Pugh, Mildred Mann Lucy Joyce Arlin, Barbara Vaughn, Madge Pumphrey, Mary Hart.

Organ and piano accompanists are Fawn Trawick and Eleanor Brasg.

AAUW Contest

Continued from Page One

She continued, "It has been stated that she resigned as chairman last spring because she felt that she pleased everyone, and the program should be shared with other faculty members. But because of heavy teaching schedules from the influx of so many new students, no one has been found to assume the chairmanship.

Dr Rogers said, "I am distressed at the delay in getting the program started. It would be unfortunate to have it lapse. I hope during the present delay who spoke at convocations here that students will lose interest and will keep working on their various compositions in readiness for the contest whenever it does set underway. Perhaps this can be very soon."

Valuable Collection Of Bancroft's Work Now in FSC Library

"A volume of Hubert Howe Bancroft's Works, a rare and valuable set of 39 books, is now available for student use in the library. The collection was purchased this summer from the Arthur Clark Company in Glendale, California, and will be beneficial to all who are in Latin American history classes," said Dr Venila L Shores, professor of history.

Among the 39 volumes, several are devoted separately to Central America, Mexico, California, Oregon and Alaska. According to a story in the American Historical Review, they are one of the most complete histories of that section of the world.

In the Bancroft library owned by the University of California there are 60 volumes. Besides this set which Florida State College now possesses is considered one of the best found in the original collection.

In the Spring issue of the American Historical Review there is an article about H B Bancroft, which states:

In the historiography of western America no name is written larger than Hubert Howe Bancroft. He was the first determined collector of the materials on this half continent and the first to undertake to chronicle its history comprehensively and exhaustively. The library that he established is the chief depository of such materials and for a generation has been the area's fountain head of historical research. Similarly the 39 massive volumes of his Works stand today, a full half century after their publication, as the fundamental reference on this vast subject matter and the best reference on a large fraction of the topics which comprise it.

Charles E Chapman, well-known historian, says "Bancroft's Works constitute the greatest single achievement in the history of American historiography."

Mrs W B Williamson of Los Angeles, California, formerly owned the set which was purchased by the library. Mrs Williamson says: "This volume is a curious mixture of little value to history. If I might judge from this book, the writer is an odd compound of child-like simplicity and shrewd business sagacity with more than ordinary self esteem. The Works would have been better without this one, at least more dignified."

"Don't let this note disillusion you, though," said Miss Luise Richardson, librarian and professor of library science. "Because the 38 remaining books are well-written and highly informative. I believe they will be a great addition to our already fine library."

Drive Falls

Continued from Page One

of the ladies in the Tallahassee at which students paid their contributions. About 50 girls volunteered their time to solicit funds for the WSSF.

Speaking of a letter received by the Southeastern Regional WSSF headquarters in Richmond, Virginia, requesting that funds be raised as soon as possible, Jessie McCalla said "I will be very disappointed not to be able to send in the full amount of the money at this time. I hope those girls who have not paid, will be ready to make their contributions at the Christmas holidays."

Jessie McCalla also received a letter from Dr J Huntley Dupree, executive secretary of the WSSF, are now out over the campus before the beginning of the drive, in which he expressed his gratitude for the kind reception paid him, and thanked students of FSC for contributions to the organization.

Education Honorary Admits 4 Initiates

Four new members of Kappa Delta Pi, the education honorary, were initiated at the last meeting which was held in the Board of Control room last Wednesday evening. The initiates were Hilda Dodson Vero Beach; Geraldine Hansen, Jacksonville; Erin Poythress, Macclenny, and Mildred Finley of Lake Wales.

Following the meeting, Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College, spoke to the group on "The Value of Records." Dr Campbell said that records can be of great value, but this is left entirely to the discretion of the individual. Dr Campbell concluded by saying that he hoped that in the future we would have records which are less cumbersome and longer lasting.

TCMA

Continued from Pose One

troubadour, he is poet, composer, singer and instrumentalist in one, and of noble birth (Burk's Peerage lists him as cousin of Sir John Ludovick Swinnerton Dyer, thirteenth baronet). Unlike the medieval bards, Dyer-Bennet has no royal patron. But, if Carnegie Hall debut in New York last week is any indication, he has found a substitute in the enthusiastic public."

Other TCMA concerts of the season will be: the LeRoy-Foster-Scholz Trio, composed of Rene LeRoy, flutist, Sidney Foster, pianist-conductor, on April 26.

Miss McKinnell asks that students who cannot attend Sunday night give their cards to someone else to use; cards are transferable and transferring is encouraged when the owner cannot attend.

Field Trip Is Made To Mental Hospital

More than 85 students in sociology and clinical psychology classes journeyed to Chattahoochee and aMrianna yesterday for first-hand observation at Florida's state mental hospital and reform school for boys. This field trip, which was the first of its kind undertaken since before the war, paralleled study now being done by students in these classes.

Dr Coyle E Moore, professor of sociology, and Dr H L Watkon, professor of psychology, were in charge of arrangements for the trip. Other faculty members who also participated include Dr Paul W Shankweiler, associate professor of sociology, Miss Caroline Bell and Mrs Margaret Bristol, assistant professors of sociology.

Inquiry Proves

Continued from Page One

and the jail. But, alas, even that was denied me. My friend went on to say that although the jail was not cool, it was inhabited solely by men.

Holding my breath, I asked my last question. If this one didn't get by, I'd never find the answer I was seeking. "What time do the jail residents have to turn out their lights?" I asked. When he answered "ten-thirty" I was disappointed. I hadn't found a single reason for the mail clerk's having confused FSC with the jail. It wasn't strange, though, that I had asked that last question. At FSC lights are turned out by WAC alumna, and a student who owned a prize bull.

Students Experience Long Waiting Period While Using Overworked Landis Facility

Plaintive wails, such as "Come to me, ple-e-e-ase!", have been heard often of late going up the hollow shaft of the 'self-operative' elevator in east Landis.

One girl stood at the fun of the little knot of students gathered on Landis first floor, and concentrated superhumanly on the 'in use' light. There was a brief, but brief reaction time for any ambitious experimental psychologist. Supposedly after a preparedness period of more than the desirable four seconds, a person's reaction time will be even greater than it would have been if completely spontaneous with no time at all to 'get-ready' for action. Now who ever heard of having to wait less than four seconds for the elevator in Landis Hall? But then, the 'in use' light is finger on the little button, in anxious anticipation of what flickering and 'in-use'.

Ah, the light was off! In the time required to push the button like mad, the evil light again shown forth. Someone had taken her to the draw, and the ear rumbled on its old beaten path to Landis Hall. That car was plainly a monopoly of the minority.

Besides the various facial and verbal expressions demonstrated in that little crowd, those awaiting the lazy car were waiting in a London bomb shelter or a Philippine foxhole. Such was the strain and tension created by a cycle of hope and disappointment. Nerves could not and could be heard to come so close to them. them seemed insecurely in the belfry, (sometimes apparently as far as the Pearly Gates!) at the command of its all-powerful occupants.

Between classes, during classes, before classes, after classes the story is the same. From one floor to the other the car goes, with others to be generous with the were informed that the air had been dear!" It is something out of the ordinary even in the realm of radio to have an audience both unseen and non-existent. The difficulty had been caused by storm damage in the near vicinity.

Animated Paper

Continued from Page One

Mr Hall also said that there has been no break in the broadcasting of the weekly Garnet and Gold program since the fall of 1944 except for three weeks immediate after the hurricane, and one instance last year when the time was given to the San Francisco Conference.

The Radio Committee is headed by Dr Herman Kurz, professor of botany and has representatives from other divisions of the college. Miss Norman, student assistant is doing the greater part of the announcing this year. Various student organizations are to be responsible for special programs throughout the year, which are presented in addition to Garnet and Gold. Last year those sponsored programs were supervised by Ann Widerquist, students' chairman.

The Spanish lessons broadcast in a series last year are examples of the kind of special programs presented heretofore Some of the "stunties" featured on Garnet and Gold have been interviews with famous personalities such as Dr Frank of the various schools, a WAC alumna, and a student who

Phone for travel information

Jacksonville

A. M.	P. M.
3:3E	1:3E
3:55	2:00
5:15	5:00
6:45	8:45
8:45	8:45
8:30
11:00	11:59

Tampa

A. M.	P. M.
1:00	1:35
8:45	5:06
8:30	8:45
11:00	8:30

ALL BUSES LEAVE UNION BUS STATION COR. ADAMS & TENN. PHONE 701

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Sure, we've won the War

BUT THE COST GOES ON!

IT WILL COST MILLIONS TO BRING OUR ARMIES BACK and it's just as expensive as it was back there over-seas. Meanwhile, thousands of our men who stay behind in occupied territory must receive their pay, be clothed, housed and fed at Uncle Sam's expense.

WE OWE THEM A RETURN TRIP TICKET TO HEALTH. Today, the rehabilitation and care of over 300,000 wounded are among America's greatest peacetime problems. This obligation is one which every American can now share in—by investing in the Great Victory Loan.

UNCLE SAM MUST STILL PAY FOR THESE. Although America had already started to cut down on production of various kinds of war materials, the swift winding of the war left many planes, tanks, battleships, guns, made at the last minute, still to be paid for.

America Must Take Care of Her Own In the Great Victory Loan!

IT'S too much to expect that the cost of a war which lasted many years can just stop overnight. Although the fighting is over the paying has to go on for some time to come.

So once more it's ALL TOGETHER in America's Great Victory Loan. Start off your own peace and prosperity—and your country's—right by investing in the biggest quota of bonds you've ever bought.

FOR PEACE AND PROSPERITY

AMERICA'S GREAT VICTORY LOAN

This is an official U. S. Treasury advertisement—prepared under auspices of Treasury Department and War Advertising Council ★

THE SEASON'S GREETINGS

Give Gifts This Year That Are Distinctive—Give Fine Jewelry

W. W. PUTNAM Registered Jeweler AMERICAN GEM SOCIETY

308 S. Monroe St.

FLORIDA

Today & Tomorrow "ANCHORS AWEIGH"

Sunday & Monday "OUR VINES HAVE TENDER GRAPES"

Tuesday & Wednesday "AND TOMORROW THE WORLD"

Thursday, Friday & Saturday "WEEKEND AT THE WALDORF"

Sunday & Monday "MILDRED PIERCE"

STATE

Today & Tomorrow "BANDITS OF THE BAD LANDS"

"STEPPIN' IN SOCIETY"

Sunday & Monday "MOLLY AND ME" "ARROWSMITH"

Tuesday & Wednesday "THRILL OF A ROMANCE"

Thursday "CORN IS GREEN" "COWBOY AND THE LADY"

Friday & Saturday "UNDER FIESTA STARS" "COME OUT FIGHTIN'

Sunday & Monday "ANGELS OVER BROADWAY" "LOVE, HONOR & GOODBYE"

RITZ

Today & Tomorrow "BLONDE GUN'S WAY" "RUSTLER'S HIDEOUT"

Sunday & Monday "EXPERIMENT PERILOUS" "CALL OF THE SOUTH SEAS"

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday "FREE GROWS IN BROOKLYN"

Friday & Saturday "KNIGHT OF THE PLANES" "AMERICAN ROMANCE"

Sunday & Monday "CONFESSION OF LISBON" "THUNDERHEAD"

TAC

Suggests A Xmas Gift Special

A Few Hours of Flight Instruction

It's Reasonable and Easy to Arrange

Cut Out This Ad and Send It to "Santa"

Gift Certificates for Time Bought Are Available

FLIGHT INSTRUCTION per hour $10.00

10-HOUR COURSE $80.00

OUR STAFF REPRESENTS OVER 35 YEARS TOTAL FLYING EXPERIENCE—BOTH MILITARY AND CIVILIAN

YOU'LL LEARN TO "DRIVE" THE NEW STARCRAFT —A 2-PLACE SIDE BY SIDE TRAINER

TALLAHASSEE AIRCRAFT CORPORATION

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT PHONE 2565

War Experience of Former FSC Student Told in Letters to Alumnae Director

By JOYCE PETTY

Among the Florida State College alumnae who have been with the various war auxiliary forces during the recent world conflict is Mrs Jean Stoy De Long of the class of 1939

Jean joined the American Red Cross for overseas service soon after her husband was captured with the forces of Bataan. Her main objective in joining was to get to the Philippines and find news of her husband.

In her letter last June to Miss Louise Gehan, alumnae director of Florida State College, Jean told of securing the desired news and mentioned other incidents that happened to her during her service in the Pacific.

"I was operating a canteen on an airstrip when I first got news of my husband," she wrote. "One day a bunch of soldiers walked up to me and said, 'Are you Jean De Long?' I answered, 'Yes' and they said, 'Your husband was in the same prisoner of war camp as we were and the Japs took all our letters and pictures away from us but the captain smuggled your pictures in. Your pictures, all of us have looked at for three years Yours were the only ones in camp' " Although at the time Jean's letter was written the censorship prevented her from telling her exact location, she tells of her observations and experiences "somewhere in the Philippines"

She says of the first days, "We have lost everything—papers, jewelry, furnishings, so we have nothing but what we have on our backs Fortunately the children were not at the home when a shell fell in it. Then the ——— started to burn houses and machine gun people; so the people had to take the risk of either being burned or killed by bullets. For four days they were running from house to house carrying with them a bundle of documents—taking shelter wherever they could or trying to cross no man's land with no water or food."

After all the Japanese were finally eliminated the Red Cross set up their permanent headquarters in ———. Jean said that the city had really been "razed" and the Japs had committed "all the atrocities in the book."

"Conditions are from one extreme to the other," the letter continued. As we drive to chow from our barren house with one electric plug intact, we go by burned out places, bombed places, shelled places . . . then drive into a beautiful yard and go in a house beautifully furnished even to crystal and gold plate [illegible]

"I am at present on te[illegible] duty to Civilian War Ai[illegible] ... deal with all Allied and ... [illegible] internees, also all other Allied civilians. We refer them to the correct agency or branch of army that they need to see for their needs . . .

"Our post office is our biggest business In October and November people at home were advised to write messages to people in the Philippines and send them in care of the American Red Cross. They did These messages were brought here within 36 hours of liberation and distributed This mail was fresh so to speak, first news from home that many people had received in over three years It was really heart rending The line for mail had 3,000 people in it. They would get to the desk, ask if there was any mail for them, and then audibly hold their breath while you looked. Hand them their mail and men and women alike would stand there with tears streaming down their faces. The most heartbreaking part was looking up and with a lump in your throat, having to say, 'Sorry, there is no mail for you. Our locator files are terrific. We have lists of all recovered persons on it. Then as people wander in they tell us of the location of others. Our files are worn thin from people coming in and leafing through them to find friends and families. The reunions here in camp have given us such a glow inside, particularly if we have helped in the uniting. . . . One navy lieutenant turned white as a sheet while waiting for his family to come out of the camp to meet him . . . the suspense while waiting was torture, not knowing how he would find them. They were okay, thank goodness.

"The place we have our information desk is in the lobby of the main building. It's worse than Grand Central Station ever thought of being. . . You hear, in the general hubbub, every language in the world.

"We had one lady check in who had been an Army nurse up to six months before the war. She then got married. At the outbreak of the war, she escaped to the hills and has been working with the guerillas ever since. Her sixteen months old child had never spent a night under a roof until here. . . The mother said it must have been too much of a shock as the baby caught cold the first night.

"The first ship to dock in ——— Harbor took some 400 odd civilians back to the state. At the ship we made small grants, distributed boxes of candies, cookies. . . A band played The Star Spangled Banner. Everyone popped to attention and it wasn't hard to find faces with tears trickling down. Against the ruins of the razed city of ——— stood the liberty ship with 'Old Glory' and our song being sung as the ship put out to sea in the setting sun."

Miss Gehan added that since she received this letter, Jean's husband had been reported "officially dead." He was on one of the Japanese prisoner of war ships which evacuated the American prisoners when the Allies recaptured the Philippines. Because the Japanese failed to identify his vessel as carrying prisoners, an American submarine fired at and sunk it. Captain De Long was one of the crew members who was not rescued from the wreckage.

Seniors Plan

Continued from Page One

a ceremonial party at which eight seniors, the names of whom will be kept in secret until the party, will tell of the intangible gifts they have received from the college. The class will then present their Christmas present to Dr Campbell.

Edna Yearty and Lois Miller will serve as chairman of the Christmas dinner committee while Anne Widerquist and Betty Bell will head the carolling committee.

College Directors Hold Joint Meeting

A joint meeting of the administrations of Florida State College and the University of Florida was held in Gainesville yesterday.

Dr Doak S Campbell, president; Dr Milton W Carothers, registrar; Dr Elizabeth G Andrews, director of personnel and placement bureau. Dr R L Eyman, Dean of the Education Department; Dr G L Diffenbaugh, Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences. Mr Karl O Kuersteiner, Dean of the School of Music; and Dr Margaret R Sandels, Dean of the School of Home Economics represented FSC at the meeting.

At the periodical conference the representatives of both colleges discussed problems concerning the University and FSC.

Similar meetings of this kind are held twice a year in Gainesville and Tallahassee alternately.

The frigate Constitution got her nickname during her victorious battle with the British frigate Guerriere in the War of 1812. American sailors seeing shot bounding off her solid oak sides dubbed her "old Ironsides."

Library Displays

On Tuesday and Wednesday of this week there was displayed in the lobby of the library a group of orchid paintings done by Mrs Olivia Embry Lay, a graduate of Florida State College in the class of 1935 Mrs Lay was formerly a scientific illustrator at the University of Michigan.

The paintings on display were loaned by Dr Ruth O Schornherst, professor of botany.

Freshmen Learning College Traditions, Find Them Baffling

By LAVRA LEE BUTLER

"Why it's traditional," explained a weary junior counselor for the nth time to an inquisitive freshman on the first day of school. And, of course, she meant Torch night.

But she might have referred to any one of a number of time honored, otherwise honored college events. Perhaps she also boasted with justifiable pride that, "Maybe FSC doesn't have coeducation—and perhaps a few other things—but at least we surpass other schools in having the long, complete, list of symbolic, impressive college traditions."

Besides Torch night our freshman heroine discovered another well-known college tradition during her first exciting day at college. As she stepped proudly through the ivied gates of FSC, an all-knowing sophomore hailed her, and she was swiftly informed of the time-honored custom which decrees that all who walk beneath the college gates are destined to "flunk out" of school.

As she inspected the gates, a faint glimmer of recollection shone in our heroine's big, innocent eyes. "What is that quotation?" she mused. "Something, something, all ye who enter here.' " It was no use; she simply couldn't recall those first two words.

Her next encounter with these sacred things called traditions was at academic procession. (That is, unless you count Freshman week—) At any rate, she was duly impressed with the college faculty or the academic robes, or, anyway, she was duly impressed.

I'm carrying a torch for Jim," bummed our heroine as she eagerly awaited FSC's version of a Greek fire ceremony. (She has been "going steady with that boy friend overseas" ever since she came to Tally.)

At last the long-heralded night arrived, and she received the torch of knowledge, which gave her a great thirst for learning. Of course, it also gave her a few minor burns, but she didn't mind that.

Then having industriously laundered and starched her white eyelet dress after Torch night, our heroine began to take stock. Of course, however, she didn't really object to those kerosene spots down the front of her only white frock.

A few weeks after this she began to hear rumors of college Honor's day, which, she understood, is a "new traditiou." But, new or old, our heroine once more donned her worn white dress and proudly escorted the honored ones into the auditorium, pondering meanwhile the rewards that accompany those nebulous things called good grades.

And then, having surveyed FSC's list of ivied customs—perhaps she missed a few—our heroine pondered the rewards that accompany all these symbolic, impressive traditions.

Chain of Missions

Continued from Page One

riet McCarter and Ava Janes, entertainment; Sarah Lewis, drama; Joyce Petty, publicity; Charlotte McGeachy, housing; Joyce Carlton, registration. Miss Alphareeta Leeper, Methodist student secretary, is the general co-ordinator for the conference. Dale Plumber, Bob Wheeler, Pat Cleveland and Glenn Jones were present from the University of Florida.

After the meeting, the group adjourned to the Methodist student house for a luncheon.

Richard-Dyer-Bennet, troubadour, will appear in Tallahassee Monday night. He is sponsored by the local Civic Music Association and will perform at the Leon High School.

St Nicholas Discovers FSC Students Have Strange Requests This Christmas

By JACKIE NEVERS

With the mercury falling and my temperature rising, I set out with a sprig of holly in hand to discover just what is in store for St Nick this year.

Clopping along the noiseless halls of Jennie Murphree I came upon an absolutely blank door. No Odd colors, no jingle bells, not even a sign saying "15, 16, 17 days 'til Christmas" all checked off. This, I thought, is unique, and knocked briskly. "What do you want for Christmas?" I asked the pale girl within. Pushing back her straggly locks, she blinked sleepily at me over a pair of bifocals as she considered the question seriously. "To climb a tree, I would like that," she said destroying the long silence. "Out in the country where I live there are loads of trees to climb. You can't climb trees here," she added wistfully.

Ignoring a study sign, I barged blithely into another room. "What do you want for Christmas?"

"Anything [illegible] the mumps!" said a pee[illegible] [illegible]ce as the door slammed d[illegible]

My faith [illegible]anity had suffered many s[illegible]ocks, but remembering my doty, I forged ahead with now uncertain steps.

Aha, is this a junior counselor's door that I see before me? Timidly I entered. "What do you want—"

"A yellow convertible, a fur coat, a victoria with a radio combined, at least ten record albums, and —" she paused for breath.

"Just make mine a personal secretary to address Christmas cards and do little things like my book reports," added her roommata.

By this time my beard must have been growing longer and I was unfortunately wearing a red sweater. Promising to do my best about the secretary, I retreated. Applicants may apply to room 227 Jennie Murphree.

Senior hall next fell before my advancing loafers. To those industriously delving into Spanish and phychology, I addressed my query. No one would answer. Evidently seniors have everything. Only one honest soul said, "Home is the place where there are no term papers, and life starts at noon." She did hint that "a private elevator would be sorta nice."

"Black earrings and a set of golf clubs," said a low voice. Then it explained, "Remember me, I'm your roommate." Oh, wrong room.

Stray sophomores began to stray by my line of vision so I followed them to the Sweet Shop. They were full of imaginative wants like, "I'm getting a grey car but I'd love a black horse," and "If my brother could just come back from overseas, I'd be perfectly happy." Sadly I turned again toward Freshmania. How could I tell the breathlessly waiting world of our innermost desires here at FSC? Freshmen, the white hopes!

Peering around a partially opened door, I leered at a cute little redhead. "What do you want for Christmas?" I said in a sugary voice. "I want to get married and I'm going to," she gurgled back.

No one could give her anything more for Christmas anyway. I figured as I trudged back to my lonely radiator.

Press Club Plans Education Forums

Further discussion on the forums to be sponsored by the Press Club took place in the club's meeting Monday afternoon in the Flambeau office. Kay Van Deurs, committee chairman, and Peggy Lu Thompson said the forums would take the form of informal discussions by students and faculty members on such topics as the analysis of actual and theoretical forms of American education.

According to Kay, the discussions being planned for coming months will include many and varied topics, and are to allow individual deviations from the stated topic by both students and faculty member participating. The central ideas are intended to pressed in The Harvard Report on Education in a Free Society, which has received nationwide recognition in circles since its publication this year.

IRC Appoints New Chairmen to Serve

Delores Gardiner was appointed program chairman and Dorothea McCree, publicity chairman of the International Relations Club at a meeting held on November 29 in the club room of the Longmire building.

It was announced that Doris Hill will preside during the next quarter to replace Jessie McCalla who will be interning.

Three new books for World Peace, gifts of the Carnegie Endowment Fund, have been placed in the library of the International Relations club on the fourth floor of the Longmire building. They are The Future of Japan by William C Johnstone, Food for the World by Theodore W Schultz, and European Manifesto by Pierre de Lanux.

The club has also received an official Department of State publication The Report to the President on Results of San Francisco Conference by the chairman of the U S delegation, the secretary of state Edward R Stettinius, Jr.

At the next meeting of the club, on January 10, there will be a discussion concerning Dorothy Thompson's visit to FSC on January 17

In the British steel industry there are anupusually large number of rolling mills, but adoption of the high-speed continuous strip mill has been slower than in the USA.

FSC Students Will Attend Conference in Illinois

At least seven Methodist students from Florida State College will cut their Christmas vacation short this year to attend the third national Methodist student conference at the University of Illinois Urbana, Illinois.

From December 28 to January 1, these students, along with the other 800 persons representing colleges and universities all over the United States, will participate in seminars and informal discussions led by some of the better-known thinkers in the Methodist church as well as international notaries

Joyce Carlton, Wilna Humphrey, Margaret Clayton, Betty Ruth Goode "Pug" McLean, Joanne Newman and Ann Carolyn Allison are the tentative representatives for the FSC Methodist group. Miss Alphareeta Leeper, student secretary, and Miss Cleveland, faculty member, also plan to attend the conference.

Dr W A Smart, professor of theology at Emory University, who visited the FSC campus last spring, will be one of the major speakers at the meeting and will deliver the final address summarizing the value and points of the assembly.

According to publicity material, those in charge of the conference this year are quite convinced that there will be quite a bit of valuable informative material to be gotten from the speakers this year who will elaborate on the theme "Christianity Meeting the Crisis of Our Time". The last such conference was held in 1941 just after the Pearl Harbor incident, and it is felt that this one, coming only a short time after the end of the insuing conflict, will be just as meaningful for those attending.

Among the speakers at Urbana this year is B Bromley Oxnam, president of the Federal Council of Churches He will analyze the theme in the opening speech of the conference. Other speakers are: Walter Muelder and Harvey Branscomb, deans of theological schools. Georgia Harkness, professor, and Benjamin Mays, president of Morehouse College, who will speak as a member of a minority group adjusting to the world and religion of today.

One of the authorities on community psychology, Dr Roy Burkhart, will lead all discussions on the church in community service and Bishop Ralph S Cushman will take the aspect of the church in personal living.

Activities and influences of churches in foreign countries will be the emphasis on Monday evening when Richard T Baker, assistant editor of World Outlook recently returned from China, and Don Holter, professor in a Manila college, who has been in a Japanese prison camp for the last three years.

No speeches are scheduled in the afternoon hours because the time is allotted for the students to see privately any of the visiting speakers and ask any questions about which they particularly wish to learn.

Also during this time, recreation will be provided in the form of ice skating, swimming, folk dancing, and music. One night an American artist will present a program in his particular field, but the name of the artist has not been received.

The potential energy in a pound of matter, if it could be completely released, would do about one billion kilowatt hours of work, equivalent to the total electric power output of the nation for on month.

TAC
For the Ideal Christmas Gift
See Our Other Add in This Edition

SEASON'S GREETINGS From the
CAMPUS STUDIO
701 W. Pensacola St. Phone 1728

THE PERFECT GIFT
An Album From
Jenkins Music Co.
"Music Headquarters"
123 S. Monroe

Food For Christmas Thought!
Holiday Menus
That Are Simply Delicious
M & N CAFE
E. Jefferson St. Phone 1054

Season's Greetings
Just Follow the Crowd and You Will Wind Up At BENSON'S JEWELERS
WHY?
Because we have been serving the people of Tallahassee and neighboring towns with the finest in good jewelry for over 20 years.
ARTISTIC ENGRAVING
MAKES ANY GIFT A MORE PERSONAL GIFT AND WE SPECIALIZE IN PRETTY ENGRAVING.
BUY IT AT BENSON'S
AND YOU BUY THE FINEST

Wishing for All
at Florida State College
A Very Merry Christmas
and
A Happy New Year!
The Lewis State Bank
Florida's Oldest Bank

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

All We Wish for You - - -

GOOD GRADES

To Make A

MERRY CHRISTMAS

And Start Off A

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

● PEARL HARBOR, SOUTHERN STYLE

Four years ago to the day Americans heard with horror that Japan, in what was perhaps the most treacherous surprise attack in the history of warfare. had struck with all her military strategy and might at Pearl Harbor. On that Sunday, December 7, golf clubs stood neglected in hall closets and comic sheets lay forgotten on the floor as the men and women, boys and girls of America scanned "extras" and sat by radios from which poured a constant stream of news broadcasts in the staccato, excited voices of commentators caught with their scripts down.

Throughout the day and into the night, news of damaged and sunk ships, of blasted and destroyed buildings, of wounded and dead American men kept coming in from Pearl Harbor. Even now after four years the people of the United States remember the day with motion, and they are determined that never again shall a like catastrophe occur. Whether they are for compulsory military conscription or against it, and whether they believe the United Nations Charter to be a failure or the chief hope of the world, Americans are united in their common determination that there shall never again be another "Pearl Harbor."

So the disaster, bloody as it was, served at least to alert America against future acts of warfare by belligerent nations. But what unspeakable crime will it take to shock Americans into observing and arming against the perils that are ever present here within the country itself, dangers which are always seeking opportunity to strike at America where it will hurt most—in her freedom?

When Hitler closed the universities of Germany and burned the books which he considered dangerous to his cause, Americans were shocked. Here was something tangibly catastrophic; here was a treacherous blow to freedom of expression. Yet during the past few years three state universities were victims of interference, political or otherwise, with their teaching and administration, interference which the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States thought so undesirable that it summarily put two of the universities, Mississippi and Georgia, on its non-approved list and the third, Texas, on probation. And all of this seems to ruffle the complacency of the American mind little if at all.

Nor are these isolated instances of interference with freedom within the country. Like cases appear with alarming regularity.

It took but one "Pearl Harbor" to convince the American people that war with the aggressor nation, Japan, was upon them. How much longer will it be before the American right to freedom, blasted again and again by forces from within America itself, begins to telegraph the news of attack to the unperturbed American mind.

● TO SANTA CLAUS

Dear Santa Claus:

We know that reconversion isn't fully underway yet, and that you're still having difficulty getting materials to make all your toys. We know, too, that your mail box is filled with lots of letters asking you for big things like world peace, unity, good will toward all men, higher wages, and advice on what to do with the atomic bomb but, in addition, we would like to ask you for some other things, too. Maybe you won't be able to bring us all of them but if you could it surely would be very nice.

First of all, Santa, we'd like a new constitution for our school government. The one we have is rather frayed and worn out. It started out as an experiment, you know, to see how it would work, but now it's become an antique and we realize antiques are to be prized highly. Good, goodness, Santa, antiques can't serve every purpose, else what would happen to the progress that everyone praises and works for?

Then, Santa dear, if you could possibly see your way clear, we'd like to have our old semester system back . . . the one we changed for the new quarter system. If you don't happen to have any semester systems in stock, we'd be happy to have an improved quarter system. One that's worked out a little better, and isn't so hard to understand and live under. It's been kinda hard this year, Santa. We think we know now how a cuckoo feels when a little boy keeps setting the clock back to the chiming hour and he has to keep popping out.

And, Santa, do you think you could maybe wrap up a package containing student representation on the curriculum committee and put it in the toe of our stocking? It doesn't seem like this would be too much trouble, and it would serve a very worthwhile purpose in this day when practical gifts are the best gifts.

Now, Santa, some of us got this gift we're about to ask for a little while ago and we prize it very highly. We like it so much that we use it almost every day, but we want all our little friends to have it, too. It's just a little questioning mind. Some people have a product they call scientific thinking. Either one will do, but please don't get it out of the wrong box, because we want one that that be used every day in every way. Oh, Santa . . . in case you're wondering, it won't be a dangerous toy for us to have. Everybody tells us that good things can stand scrutiny. That's a big word for little girls like us, isn't it?

Then, Santa, when you're passing out other nice things would you mind leaving us some new ideas? We're sure you must have quite a few stored in your little house 'way up there, so please, if you can sprinkle them generously in all the classrooms. We want them everywhere.

We know your job is to give things to people at Christmas time, but we want to share in the Yuletide spirit, too. We've got just lots of maternalism that has been given to us here on campus. It's not that we don't appreciate the spirit in which it was given, but we feel that we've outgrown it just a wee bit, so maybe it would be just right for our little high school friends. It's been used a lot, but if you think you know of some one who would like it, just let us know.

This is getting to be a pretty long list of things to ask for, but there's one more thing we really want. You've had requests for this before, but I guess you couldn't find room to pack it in your sleigh when you came down this way. You would make an awful lot of people happy, though, if you could bring it soon. It's co-education, Santa. You already know all the reasons why we want and need it, and you wouldn't have to carry it very far—just down to Florida, Please.

We've all been very good little girls this year, Santa dear. We've been considerate, we've been sweet, kind, and gentle, and we haven't caused anybody any trouble by being thoughtless, rude and radical. So please, Santa, don't bring us a bundle of switches.

Lotsa love,
The Girls at FSC.

P. S. Santa, if you are hungry when you get here, Miss Tracy will leave you a snack. It may not be what you're used to, but of course you understand the "food problem" these days.

● ARE RESOLUTIONS FULFILLED?

At this time last year our country was at war, fighting to remain a democratic government. All the letters to Santa Claus were full of requests to bring our boys home from the battlefields. All the lists of New Year's resolutions included promises that we would be better citizens if the war would end, leaving us free American democrats.

Now that the war is over, our letters to Santa Claus should be full of requests to send our discharged boys to school. Our New Year's resolutions should include promises to fulfill our last year's resolutions by being better citizens.

But, with no war to worry over, the average American becomes less conscientious in his duties as a citizen. Just so, with no immediate danger, the average person becomes less conscientious in his duties as a Christian. When frightened, one is apt to think more of God and make rash promises that are forgotten when the fear passes.

We, as students, the potential America, can play a big part in preserving the peace that has come to our country. To do this, we need educated leaders. Our boys must go back to school and it is left to us to uphold the ideals of a democracy so that these boys will know they did not fight in vain.

What we need first of all is to learn that democracy is not just a form of government but is a way of life. John Dewey has said that "What a democracy is most in need of being intelligent about is its own meaning."

"A democratic citizen," said James Mursell of Columbia University, "is the kind of person who recognizes his responsibility for the affairs of society, and is fitted by disposition, knowledge, skill, and insight to discharge it judiciously and actively; whose concern for the well-being of his fellows, and whose respect for them as persons, is not limited by class distinctions; who is willing to hear all sides, but who maintains his own opinions; who knows how to work and how to play, and who applies the principles of democracy in his family life and his personal relationships."

Since we are democratic citizens, it is our duty to act accordingly and to be aroused to exercise the tiny but essential particle of sovereignty possessed by each of us. By using this sovereignty wisely and well here on campus, college will prove a useful prerequisite for our future citizenship in more ways than just preparing us to make a livelihood.

If we will go further than merely requesting Santa to do something about sending our boys to school and if we will fulfill our New Year's resolutions to be better citizens, we will be taking a long step toward preserving the peace that has come about within the last year.

● WHERE ARE THE CREATIVE ARTS?

One of the finest additions in many years to the institutions of this campus originated here last year. Upperclassmen will remember the Creative Arts Contests sponsored by the Association of American University Women which culminated in an extended spring arts program of great interest and value.

Many students have already begun to make queries as to whether and when the contest will be held this year. These many students hope that definite information will soon be available.

In the meantime, the Christmas holidays might be a good time for students to begin to think about prospective profects. Last year, the divisions of the contests were in the fields of writing, dancing, music, and the fine arts and crafts.

Or Forever Hold Your Peace . . .

Dear Editor,

One of the most remarkable instances of a return to the dark ages is apparently exemplified by a student at FSCW. Today, in a nation supposedly democratic and free, a student indubitably is being forced to attend a college she obviously dislikes because of parental monarchy or some equally medieval social practice.

I am speaking, of course, of the Flambeau reporter known simply as "Sharpie". Congratulations to the Flambeau for its generosity in letting this character air her grievances of FSCW in a column, but I wonder when she will begin casting her disparging remarks toward her fellow reporters—since she has already included "Big Women on Campus", College Government association, officers and students with school spirit in her spite campaign.

Occasionally I am prone to question why "Sharpie" doesn't organize a cluo of her own since she oojects so strenuously to the "certain select groups" now on campus She seems to persist in hammering out her antipathy toward one group in particular whose main contribution to campus life according to her column, is that it acts as a reminder to eat fish on Friday. Not being athletically inclined myself, or a member of said club, I can look at its functions objectively, and in an unprejudiced light, and I see nothing there that might be the cause of it continually having to bear the brunt of ridicule in a supposedly impartial publication. If "Sharpie" is envious of the members I suggest that she climb down from her ivory tower and try out for a couple of teams. Or perhaps she is fearful of the consequences of the period of goating necessary in order to prove sportsmanship.

"Sharpie" should heed the words of Abraham Lincoln, "With malice toward none", and write corrective criticism rather than contemptuous banter, for her column could be one appreciated by all.

(Signed)
MAMIE HEDGEPATH.

To the Flambeau:

The criticism offered in the Flambeau concerning the notice "Boys without dates not allowed" was greatly appreciated. So many students have expressed their appreciation since it has been changed to read "Men without dates not allowed". We are endeavoring to please as many persons as possible who use the building. If you are happy, then we are too.

The Board of Management of the building meant to offend no one by the wording of the notice. Constructive criticism will be welcomed and whenever possible, the cause will be corrected.

(Signed)
Edith Gulick.
Acting director of the Longmire building.

Dear Flambeau Editor:

We the undersigned members of Alpha Lambda Delta feel that your news story in last week's Flambea concerning the convocation program which our group sponsored on November 27 is so presented that it sheds a misleading light on the whole situation, and would indicate to disinterested or uninformed students that Alpha Lambda Delta as a group is indignant over the change in our program plans. This assumption is not true and we should like to clarify our positioo.

We understood at the time we discussed our program and the debate on military conscription that our plans were subject to revision according to their acceptability for a scholarship program. It was unfortunate that the change was made at the last moment, but since the only ones inconvenienced were the two girls who had spent so much time and research in preparing their debate, we feel that they and they alone have cause for complaint. Alpha Lambda Delta considers itself perfectly justified in making such changes as it desired in its program upon the advice of Executive Council, who is responsible for all convocation programs, and we can see no reason for the publicity which resulted.

We should like to thank the Flambeau for publishing the texts of the debates, for we believe that they merit consideration by the students for their timely attention to a vital national problem and for their testimony to the fact that students on this campus are intelligently endcavoring to analyze and discuss this particular problem.

Sincerely yours,
Mary Ann Herring
Juanita Krentzman
Mary Louise Van Natta
Connie Savage
Babs McCarthy
Irma Lee Shepherd
Audrey Carr Evans
Mary Maud Trowbridge
Adeline Ynes
Anne Fielding
Catherine Sullivan
Josephine Story
Betty Sue Gray
Margaret Stringfellow

Dear Editor:

The other day as I was sitting very much alone in a very lonely room pouring over various and ancient books of forgotten lore (if I may steal a phrase), I came, quite by accident across a parody. Reading it once, twice, and even thrice, I said to myself "this has possibilities." I read it again and decided I liked it. I read it once more and decided that perhaps other people might like it. It is for this reason that I most humbly submit it to you for either publication or the wastepaper basket. It goes like this:

Warried? Of course they were Worried? Of coure they were scared stiff. Guilty? Yes, they were guilty and they knew they were guilty. But what was worse, the others knew they were guilty also. Such was the plight of these unfortunate girls as they received the horrible summons to "Louse" Council.

7:30, 7:30 tonight kept ringing in their ears as they attended their classes that day. They tried to forget, but it was always there in the back of their minds to remind them of what they had done.

That night just before the "zero" hour was upon them, they held a conference. To withhold the truth, or not to withhold the truth, that was the question. First it was yes, than it was no. Then it was no, then it was yes. Finally they compromised. Half the truth would be better than none at all and half the truth would also be better than all of the truth. Hence a major decision was reached.

The case was a very serious one. Stealing was the charge. It seems that one of the girls had lost the cap of her toothpaste under her bed. Fearing for spiders, cockroaches and rats, she declined to crawl under the bed to retrieve it. Her three friends, always there in an hour of need, sympathized duly with her and promised to get her another cap for her toothpaste.

True to their word, they all marched down to the washroom that night, toothbrushes and toothpaste in tow. Greeting their hallmates, they smiled pleasantly enough, for who could have guessed their plan?

Suddenly, as the girl at the next wash basin turned her back, the four of them moved swiftly as one and snatched the cap off of her toothpaste. Thus the evil deed was done.

But crime does not pay as they soon found out, and here they were to pay their debt to society.

The secretary of "Louse" Council came solemly to the door. "We are ready for you," she said in a quiet and deadly voice, which snapped them rudely back to reality.

One by one they rose and filed silently into a room filled with seven people seated in a semicircle at the far end. "Be seated," said the "Mighty One" who seemed to be presiding over "Louse" Council. Awkwardly they sat, fully expecting to hear, "eyes right, feet together, head up, 'tenshun!", shouted at them any minute.

The "Mighty One" then proceeded to make introductions — introductions being one of the social niceties observed by "Louse" Council. They feel that even sinners should be granted the privilege of meeting "Louse" Council members.

Despit their plight, the four made an attempt at lightness, as throwing their heads back in a debonaire manner, they gazed defiantly at the members. This was where they made their big mistake. "Louse" Council just will not tolerate the wrong attitude, and so they were "condemned women" before they started.

"Tell us the whole story," said the "Mighty One," with entirely too much emphasis on the "whole."

The bravest of the four, took a deep breath, swallowed hard, and took the plunge. In a somewhat hurried monotone, and with her eyes cast downward, she related the story. Finishing, she glanced up and almost on the verge of tears said in a small voice, "that's all" One minute of dead silence, broken only by the inhaling and exhaling of air, reigned.

Clearing her throat, the "Mighty One" gestured dramatically and asked, "are there any questions?" Another minute of silence. Then, "Tell me," said one of the members, "did you read page 30, section 3, article 1, line 6, entitled "stealing" in the latest edition of your "Soul" book? "I did," said she of the tremulous voice. "And," continued the member in a voice that was terrible to hear, "did you know that what you were doing was wrong?" "Roger!" cried the girl unmoved. "You admit it." cried the incredulous member. "Good Heavens! what makes you so smart?" said the girl admiringly. "Ah-haa!", cried the triumphant member. "Ah-haaa," echoed all of "Louse" council. "Silence!", shouted the "Mighty One," and then there was silence.

"The four of you please leave

Continued on page seven

In This Our Time

By GLORIA REED

Chinese Nationalist forces advancing to Manchuria were reported within 30 miles of the important city of Mukden and their commander is quoted as having said, "We expect to be in Harbin in a month or so."

According to present plans the Russian forces have agreed to remain in Manchuria until January 3, so that the Nationalists can consolidate in that valuable territory General Tu, who fought with the Americans against the Japanese in Burma and who is now in command of the Nationalist forces, said that his present operations would eventually boil down to a matter of guarding against guerrilla hit and run raids and protection of communication lines.

Meanwhile, Vice Admiral D E Barbey 7th Fleet Commander, announced that United States Naval personnel on December 10 would begin training Chinese crews to operate amphibious vessels. The school will be for the purpose of providing Chinese crews for ships employed in effecting the surrender terms of Japan. They will no doubt eventually replace United States sailors and permit their demobilization.

Chiang Chung-kuo, elder son of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, left for the Manchurian capital and accompanying him was Chang Kian-gau, chairman of the board of directors of the Chinese Changchun Railway, which under the recent Russian Chinese treaty will be jointly owned and operated.

In Chungking it was reported that the peace talks between Communists and the Nationalists would be resumed on December 10. It was also rumored in Washington that when the new United States ambassador to China, Gen George C Marshall, arrives in China, he will be given a full report on fratricidal troubles by the Nationalists in Chungking. Meantime he will confer with Mao Tse-tung, Communist leader and his commander in chief, General Chu Teh.

In Japan General MacArthur ordered the arrest of 59 prominent Japanese reaching for the first time into the Imperial household and the ranks of Japan's industrial-finacial hieracy, the Zaibatsu. MacArthur's abolition of the National Financial Control Association and completion of a detailed inventory of Japanese industry to form the basis of whatever reparations Japan may be required to pay, were other steps in the direction of demilitarizing Japan.

Fighting still rages in Java as Indonesian extremists insist on complete independence from both Dutch and British control. In a speech to her native subjects, Queen Wilhelmina said that she was greatly concerned about the loss of life among the men, women and children of Java For the second time she promised the Indonesians partnership in a Netherlands Commonwealth. British troops accusing the Indonesians of atrocities are continuing the use of Japanese troops as a "defensive" measure. Meanwhile, moderate socialistic Prime Minister Sjahrir had to face a plenary session of his government's 240-man 'National Committee" over his contention that it was still worth while to dicker with the Dutch for self-government under a United Nations trusteeship, with guaranteed independence to follow later. Even if Sjahrir could swing his committee, some observers believe that the Dutch would not be likely to agree to such a plan.

The resignation of Premier Mahmed Hakimi in favor of a pro-Russian leader was rumored in government circles after the Rus-

Continued on page five

From Me To Y'all

By SHARPIE

Letters, letters, everybody is either writing one to this helpful department or wearing one. So many of the letters we get ask who Sharpie is that we've decided to tell the story of her fascinating life.

Sharpie was born on the island of Bingo Bango long ago. Even when she was a little baby, the natives used to ask her how many rings to wear in their noses and she would tell them. She was always a clever child and when only three years old had already chosen the college she wanted to attend. Yes, it was that long ago. She still remembers when she lisped adorably, "Harvard" and her daddy handed her a boat ticket that said "Tallahassee." And so she came to FSC and soon forgot her native customs because she learned so many quaint ones here. If this had happened to anyone but herself, Sharpie might never have decided to devote her life to helping others, as y'all know she did.

If there breathes a man with soul so dead who thinks that people don't take our advice, just notice the new sign in the Longmire building. As Winchell, another well-known columnist would say, "So there!"

People keep writing in and asking what to do about the two girls who strolled into the music room last Friday night and hearing Debussey's opera, asked when that would be over so they could hear some music. We have no advice to give, for the only way to silence such people is frowned upon by law. Sharpie advises them for publicity reasons not to make themselves so obviously obnoxious.

Here's a problem that puzzled a girl who signs her letters, "Em Post." It is a tough one. She wants to know, "When one gets out of a car accompanied by one good looking father and is accosted in front of the dorm by a policeman, what is the proper way to address him?" This one has troubled freshmen, sophomores and juniors through the ages but this girl happens to be a senior. Questions such as this one are never answered in orientation. As it is no use to try to explain the situation to the white haired monster, we offer the following standard remarks which have never done no one no good

Freshman: "Oh dear, what will Miss Partey say?"

Sophomore: "One more man to bother me."

Junior: "Go way so I can kiss Daddy good night."

Senior: (giving him her name and address) "I adore blue uniforms."

As we go to press we find that someone has taken us wrong Here we are trying to amuse people and spending many hours in drudgery over a typewriter when we could be floundering in the Odd fountain. And what happens? Some one doesn't appreciate our reforms but there are those who do. Letters come pouring every day from people who are grateful for what we've done for them. Among many this week is one from a girl named Becal who could never locate anything. We told her to start looking where she is now. Look! Get it? Ha. ha, ha, ha, ha.

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS	Editor
ANNE GAITHER, PEGGY KAY	Associate Editors
LOIS BYRD	Assistant Editor
SHIRLEY RODGERS	Managing Editor
MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON	News Editors
Copy Editor	Lois Rose
Copy Staff	Mary Nell McFadden, Jeanne Tillman
Feature Editor	Betty Jo McLeod
Columnists	Anne Sutton, Marie Waters
Assistant Managing Editor	Bobbie Bell
Society Editor	Beryl Kitchen
Assistant Society Editor	Madge Pilcher
Sports Editor	Betty Dowd
Assistant Sports Editor	Evelyn Shea
Outside News Editor	Gloria Reed
Literary Editor	Catherine Nollman
Opinion Editors	Jerry Crume, Barbara Wickham
Picture Editor	Dee Gardner
Art Editor	Lucy Falden

REPORTERS: Eugenia Alhers, Alicia Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Eleanor Bayer, Barbara Beckman, Jean Bess, Paulette Blank, Virginia Budd, Laura Lee Butler, Marjorie Clark, Jean Douglas, Martha Jo Dunagan, Barbara Farrar, Dorothy Fouts, Winifred Lane, Barbara Lanford, Betty Lillycrop, Jo Mingola, Jacqueline Nevers, Eileen Perry, Joyce Petty, Ferne Quinn, Mary Jane Sherman, Marianne Snyder, Mary Tarr, Tami Thomas, Frances Traxler, Kay Van Deurs.

BUSINESS STAFF

Helen Tarapani	Business Manager
Eileen Davis	Advertising Manager

Entered as second class mail matter January 30, 1915, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

It is the policy of the Flambeau to grant equal space and prominence to anyone wishing to present a contrary opinion whenever opinions on controversial questions are voiced in its columns.

PEA Takes Weekend At Camp Flastacowo

Sweet, Canoe Races, Dancing, Talks Are Fun Features

Games, square dancing, talks around a campfire circle, and canoe races highlighted the Psychology Association's weekend at Camp Flastacowo last week-end, according to Rose Marie Ivey, publicity chairman.

The canoe races, which were held Sunday morning, were won by sophomores Rosalie Davis and Jean Sweet, who represented them the war canoe races. In which se freshmen competed against ne upperclassmen.

Saturday night around a campfire representatives from each club introduced by Gladys Lester, gave talks on the ideals and standards of the National Association of Physical Education. Helen Stuckey, senior, talked on "Intramural Membership." "Practical Standards" was the subject of Junior Mary Nell Goodson. Mary Elizabeth Hall's topic was "Becoming a Leader as Well as a Follower." Peggy Ann Smith, freshman, spoke on "Sportsmanship." All of the speeches were summed up by Miss Hesterleigh Greenlee, instructor in physical education.

Some of the games played were human writing, tug-of-war, and passing the shoe, said Rose Marie. The shoe game divided the groups according to their class and combined skits around the title of a word.

Other girls taking part in the canoe races were freshmen, Ida Eller and Lucille Osenkopp; junior, Alice Taft and Virginia Turner, and seniors, Evelyn Hunter and Skoots Lester.

Faculty members in the physical education department attending for the week-end were Miss Henrietta Greenberg, Dr Katherine Montgomery and Miss Matilda Hillstead.

Pre-Medical Test

A medical aptitude test for pre-medical students will be given next Friday at 3 p m in J15 Westcott under sponsorship of the personnel office.

All students planning to enter medical school in 1946 should take the examination at this time. A fee of $2 will be charged for this test.

Alpha Chi Wins in Badminton Finals

Alpha Chi Omega won the final victory in intramural badminton games Saturday afternoon by defeating the Phi Mu girls 15 to 10 and 15 to 8. This match followed hard-fought contests Friday afternoon when the Phi Mu players triumphed over Reynolds hall and the Alpha Chi's challenged and defeated the Tri-Delts.

The victorious Alpha Chi players, Jean and Joan Carpenter, competed against Ann Seward and Jane Le Seuer of Phi Mu sorority. Sports leaders for badminton included Butch Breedlove and Georgene Pihos.

Intramural bridge will open the next quarter's play the second quarter, according to Theresa Munro, intramurals manager.

Seven to Intern In Physical Education

Seven students majoring in physical education will intern throughout the state during the next quarter.

According to Dr Robert C Moon, associate professor of education, they are Dorothy Tucker, who is to intern in Pahokee; Jean Boyles, at Robert E Lee High School in Jacksonville; Lura Elizabeth Evans, Gainesville; Carolyn Avery, Pinellas county; Anne Widenspan, Fort Myers; Betty Jo Guthrie, St Petersburg, and Mary Frances Hall, Maitland High School in Daytona Beach.

In This Our Time

Continued From Page Four

sians had begun a surprise evacuation of Teheran. These reports Mr Hakimi would resign within a week and probably would be replaced by Ahmed Soheli. Channa Saltaneh, former Iranian premier.

In London the Iranian ambassador said he had not heard of the resignation report, but he did not appear surprised. Of Saltaneh he said, "The Russians always wanted him in office."

Meanwhile the Iranian governor of Marashten in revolt-torn Azerbaijan Province was assassinated by rebels and the United States Embassy disclosed that 2,- 000 American troops had arrived from the United States to bring the American garrison in Iran to required strength. The rebels were members of the Democratic Party formed by the Communist controller Tudeh Party, which favors the independence of the province so that Russia might take advantage of the oil concessions there. The Iranian Government charged the Kurdish tribes, led by the Barzani brothers, with arms and forming groups to stage a rebellion in the Kurdistan area near Sarbellah. However, informed United States sources say that organization of all American troops which were sent to Iran in 1942 to speed the flow of war supplies, temporarily through Iran to Russia was planned for training and equipping of Iran's internal situation. Recently Iranian Ambassador to the United States, Ala, pleaded with Secretary of State Byrnes for immediate withdrawal of Russian troops to protect Iran's sovereignty.

President Truman asked that the Congress this week for legislation to stem the tide of labor strife with fact-finding boards and "cooling-off" periods in which disputants would be barred for 30 days. Without waiting for the Capitol Hill reaction, however, Mr Truman announced creation of a fact-finding boards for the 20-state General Motors strike for a vast supervising threat and has appealed to 225,000 striking CIO auto workers to return to work at General Motors and asked some 700,000 restive CIO steel workers to remain on the job while fact-finding commissions explore each of the wage disputes and make recommendations for settlement.

At Detroit leaders of the auto strikers announced that they would call a conference of G M workers next Saturday to decide what is to be done about the government's proposal.

The UAW strike has been called red-baited Walter Reuther, vice-president of the nation's largest union. This reconversion strike is what Fine calls a new kind of strike in that it based its opposition on the damaging effect an increase in pay in the vast motor industry would have on the economy of the country; Reuther said that better pay in the auto industry would step up wages everywhere, take the nation to higher production and abundance. "The initial Reuther strategy was to pick off each of the three big motor-makers, one at a time, and play them off against each other. As of this week, that strategy appears to have failed. A few weeks ago the UAW had high hopes that it could sign young Henry Ford to a contract with a substantial wage increase (about 29½) and use it as a club to beat G M and Chrysler. But that hope faded with Henry Ford's blast at UAW.

From the country's standpoint the strike may have disastrous results in that a long shutdown at G M might shut down the entire auto industry, because G M supplies parts to everybody. Reuther laughed at this idea and meanwhile he has asked UAW workers at Ford and Chrysler to produce as many cars as possible, "despite all company abuse."

Pay for the first time since Pearl Harbor, the United States Government has taken no decisive part in a major strike. Just how long the big tie-up between management and labor can stay away from government intervention is not known. However, it is thought by some observers that if Reuther wins any sort of victory in the GM strike he is certain to press union President Thomas, who wanted the strike postponed, for the presidency at UAW's convention next March.

The first public postage stamp in the United States was put on sale in New York in 1845. It was not a U S stamp, but one printed as a local experiment by the city postmaster.

Avoid Yule Mental Anguish Through Systematic Planning

With Christmas approaching space, much mental anguish can be eliminated by systematic preparation.

Most important basis of a sound Christmas system is a fairly early start, according to an article in the December issue of Good Housekeeping magazine, which states in part;

"Make your gift list and complete your shopping as early as possible. Boxes of fruit that have to be shipped across the country need earliest attention. So do monogrammed gifts.

"Buy Christmas cards. Personalized cards usually require weeks. Even if you choose ready-made cards, you'll get a better choice if you buy early. Bring your address list up to date so there'll be no days of cards and gifts. Mail everything early and save hours of standing in line."

Early preparation is also advisable for the observation of Christmas in your home, according to the article, which suggests that you decide early whether you have turkey, goose or duck for Christmas dinner.

"Set out tablecloth or mats and napkins for laundering or pressing. Sort out the silver you expect to use and, if you need to borrow, arrange for that now. Clean and polish the silver, including bonbon dishes, candlesticks, etc. Wrap all in silver-wrapping cloth or anti-tarnish paper. Lacking these you can get by until Christmas with ordinary waxed paper; but keep paper from tearing and wrap tightly.

"Plan your table decorations—arrangements, flavors an; place cards if you want to use them. Don't forget candles, and if the table will be for decorating mantel or buffet."

After you've attended to these and myriad other details, plan your Christmas day lunch. Have your plants and flowers for delivery in time for Christmas eve and then check your entire list to make certain nothing has been omitted.

College Comments . . .

By ALICIA ARMSTRONG

To the cluster of silver and the tinkle of glasses, slightly hoarse voices join in singing the familiar Christmas songs at every meal in every dining hall. After the usual dearth of Yuletide times last Wednesday night, as the dessert was being brought into Gilchrist dining hall, an unexpected "Merry Christmas Green Hornet" was borne in on a procession voiced for the benefit of blushing dining hall ushers.

Influenza th plague of FSC, stalks the dorm corridors and clutching his victims with icy fingers leads them reluctantly to the doors of the infirmary. Last week, we heard the rustling whistling rumored around 100 within the "place where they oughter be."

An editorial writer at Mary Baldwin College in Staunton, Virginia, loudly laments the fact that pictures "appearing in every weekly magazine and paper" show OI Joe with his arm around some siren across the seas. To help solve the situation, she advises letting wives of occupation troops join their husbands overseas, but warns "it won't be a second honeymoon." No, indeed!

We wonder how many of FSC's foreign language teachers could perform the feat accomplished by Dr Aloys A Klammer, director of the department of foreign languages at the Creighton University School of Journalism in Omaha, Nebraska. He says that to speak in four languages he must think in these languages also. He uses English for everyday thoughts; thinks in French, German, and Spanish while teaching these languages, and things about his home and church in Polish, his mother tongue. We hope that this departmental minded professor will be able to continue to keep his thought and speech divisions safely divided.

Again from the columns of the Creightonian we have a story about a man (behind the times) who walked up to the first counter in a bookstore.

"Do you have a book entitled 'Man, the Master of Women?' he asked the girl at the counter.

"The fiction department is right down the aisle," was her reply.

Students at dear old FSC are telling tales of animals from "A" to "Z". Yes, indeed, this is the brain-racking task of girls who "can't draw" but nevertheless "have" when enrolling in the lettering class. For you who on God's green earth, can think of an animal who would rhythm come a-running when you called a name beginning with "Q" or "X"? Yet the creature must be found (dead or alive) for each girl in the class is required to take a different letter in the alphabet, find an animal whose name begins with that letter, sketch it, and write its life history. Child-book illustrations and stories will be the result. In the meantime, we sincerely hope the two unlucky girls assigned Mr "Q" and Mr "X" can find their missing mammals.

A rhyme of the sad situation of soldiers overseas appeared in the Kentucky Kernel, University of Kentucky. It goes like this:

I'll be overseas always Wearing these OD's always
When the things I've planned
Need a helping hand
I'll be in Japan—always, always,
When they count my score—always.
I'll still need two more, always
Not for the duration
Three demobilizers always
But for occupation—always.

From the Golden State of California comes the news via the Los Angeles Collegian that a newly developed fabric which is impervious to damage by moths, sheds water and is non-combustible, will be manufactured into dresses for the female population of America soon. What with giant sized insects floods and frequent forest fires, we are hoping it proves successful for Florida femmes.

The weather was cold, so cold, and cloudy, low hanging clouds.

3 Girls Make College Board

Students Try for Places On Mademoiselle

Three students, Kitty Chaires, Betsy Ireland, and Peggy Lu Thomson have recently been selected to represent campus ideas and activities on the College Board of Mademoiselle. These girls will compete for positions as guest editors for the August college issue of the magazine, according to Dr Rhoades K Stevens, director of personnel, who announced the contest on campus.

Although only upperclassmen are usually recommended by college officials for this board, Kitty Chaires freshman, was also allowed to compete this year. Dr Andrews stated that this exception was made because Kitty has had previous experience in newspaper work, writing and advertising work.

Those College Board members who requires to submit themselves to ultimately four assignments, which will consist of articles and snapshots for publication. Late in the spring Mademoiselle will choose the 14 guest editors on the basis of this work submitted by the students.

The girls selected for the College Board were required to maintain good scholastic averages and participate in extracurricular activities. They were also recommended by college or academic representative of their school.

Those recommended were then required to submit a trial assignment consisting of a report on anything new, worthy or interesting on campus, and also personal data on their college activities. Those students throughout the country who submit the best reports will be accepted as College Board members.

Twenty-Four Hour Life Saving Course

Twenty-four girls completed a course given by the Life Saving Corps last month and were given examinations last Wednesday, Saturday, and Monday.

Charles Jennings, president of the Life Saving Corps, said that a party for those who passed their examinations will be given in the Sweet Shop as soon as the results are known. The girls who passed the examination successfully will become members of the corps.

Next quarter, Anne Horne will act as president of the Life Saving Corps, replacing Gladys Lester who plans to intern.

Annual Pictures

"All students who have not made appointments to have their 1945-46 Flastacowo pictures made, and those who want re-appointments, will have an opportunity to do so from January 3 to 8" announces Margaret Baugh, editor of the annual.

A desk will be provided in lower Westcott and a student there will take names and give appointments any hour during these days.

Tarpon Has Banquet To Honor Clements

Tarpon Club held a banquet at the Three Trophies on Friday at 6 p m in honor of Miss Marie LaRue Clements, instructor in physical education. Miss Clements has been the sponsor of the Tarpon Club for the past four years.

Dr Katherine Montgomery, director of physical education, spoke about the history of Tarpon Club.

Marjory Holm, vice-president of the Tarpon Club, was toastmistress in the absence of Betty Jane Singleton, president of the Tarpon Club.

Miss Clements was presented with a gift by the club, and the club sang Tarpon Club songs.

The tables were decorated in blue and white with place-cards in the shape of Tarpons.

For the Ideal Christmas Gift

See Our Other Add in This Edition

No Appointment Necessary

Lady Myron Studios

120 E. COLLEGE AVE.

WANTED

College Girls for Dining Room Work

At

THE DUTCH KITCHEN

PLEASE APPLY IN PERSON

ATTENTION GIRLS—ORDER YOUR GIFTS FROM OUR CATALOGUE ORDER DESK BEFORE DEC. 15 — HAVE YOUR PACKAGES SENT TO YOUR HOME ADDRESS!

GALS JUST ADORE

RUBBER BOOTS

AND WE HAVE THEM !

Limited Supply—So Hurry !

SAM ROBBINS DEPT. STORE

115 E. Jefferson Ph. 1067

Tally Tales . . . .

By PEAK

The Chamber of Commerce is going a terrible time trying to convince Northerners that Florida is the place to go during the fall long dreary winter months. We don't own igloos and teeth go chattering at break-neck speed. On campus there have been numerous comments about the weather being soooo cold, and we is down right. Little do these people know that it is entirely too early in Tallahassee for a nice snow storm. Before someone writes to this "excuse for ice" column for a correction slip, we'll be known that we did hear that snow actually fell the other day, but because we are journalists and have to have facts before our noses, we do not consider a precipitation of our heavy dew, 15 feet in the air 'snow', according to Webster's definition of the word.

These are the days when one might be leary of the fond roommate's lure to come to do a bit of window shopping. If she invites you down town to cast your big peepers on the cutest pair of mules you ever did see, friendly advice is to relax by the sad light of your sore feet or that sore headache just won't permit it so go to town this afternoon. Then make a mad dash for your shade bed, hold tight to your night bear and dare her to pull you out of bed!

It is sad that not every one is lucky enough to see noble senators like those whose abode is Senior Hall section before the much dreaded 8am hours—this a night, believe me, to raze upon a haggard bit of humanity in every possible mode. Sandis parlor during the wee hours of this morning — racing humanity against time and the deadline of term papers which were assigned months before. After the first couple of hours hair begins to look like it was pushed in the end of a tornado, shoes are kicked off, pencils drip from behind ears and between anemically pale lips. Conversation turns from the war to the insane; sporadic hilarious laughter is heard; typewriters get more and more in between periods, especially when the tired bodies feel necessitated to puff a cigarette.

These characters exist for hours on end until the compositions pertain to typed, and retyped, on a 20th pace of bond paper; then after picking up all those used sheets of paper off the floor, replacing tables and chairs of every description, and calling the unlucky ones a "good morning" they drag their tired bodies back up to the second and third floors of Landis where they can get to sleep when (40 is plain to them) the screaming 8am hilarity made by the bed-ridden habitants have got started. But, you might ask, is it worth it? Why, but naturally—here are the graduating angels in mind, that of graduating, anything is endured for that ultimate goal. Fresh, best had be building up your red and white corpuscles so you can take this ruff life when the time comes.

heaps of fun though.

By the way, my stomach which is craving for something sweet, reminds me of warn you to go by and get your ration book at Mr Shaw in the Business Office —that is, of course, if you want Mom to make a cake or some cookies for you during the Christmas holidays. And possibly you had get it by now, for the sake—if they are having the same trouble as have my sweet-toothed friends.

Someone got poetry in her soul a week or so before Christmas a few years ago and submitted the following bit of poetry:

Lift up your chin
And take your cheer
One week from now
We won't be here.
We'll dance and smoke.
And we'll drink beer
We'll smile when someone
Calls us dear
And when it's over
We'll shed a tear
'Cause Christmas comes
But once a year.

It seems that Miss Papatzos has a new brainstorm . . . the weather spurred her on to bigger and better physical education activities for our campus. The suggestion is out for discussion to install Odd-Even skiing games to be started over on the 500 road and ending up (in an inverted position most likely) on the hockey field. Then, too, dramatic plans are suggested to flood the tennis courts and turn them into neat ice skating rinks. To ton all of these plans we catch wind that the Artist Series committee is trying to get Sonja Henie to attend our newest installed sports season.

Before this column gets beyond repair and apologies, we'll chalk up a hale—30—which is our and the Gator Talk's way of saying Revoir . . . But before this terminates let it be known that this column was "writ" at 2 45 in the morning and it doesn't pretend to live up to the slogan of the Chicago Sun, "We Print the Truth" (or something similar).

Dem School Practice Teaching Gives FSC Students Experience

During the past few weeks many of the students at Florida State College have experienced the perennial dread of the first performance in practice teaching at the Demonstration School.

Don't let them bite!" earnestly prayed one college junior as she stood on the threshold of the schoolroom filled with her first eager pupils-to-be. Her knees turned to synthetic rubber, her heart was beating wildly, and the fog in her brain resembled the aftermath of an atomic explosion. It took Herculean strength to summon the courage for entrance. Though that first teaching period was preceded by ten days of observation, there was still an adjustment to be made. "During the preliminary period a student teacher is given opportunity to observe and constructively criticize," said Miss Florine Marlatt, instructor in public school music at the Demonstration School, who supervises college students practice teaching in her department. The "good" and "bad" elements usually are apparent at this time.

Before actually facing the stand before the class for the first time, the teacher-to-be is introduced to the children who is to receive the respect accorded a teacher with full responsibility. This supposedly makes for better discipline and eliminates somewhat the tendency on the part of pupils to take advantage of youth and inexperience. "Still," said Miss Marlatt, "the little children's doubtless are aware of the uncertainty and vulnerability of that transparent mask on their new teacher's face." With the ever-coming on that first lark of poise and a rain in self-confidence on the part of the newcomer the problem of discipline is greatly simplified.

A little hand was raised, and the youthful teacher shouted, "Ah, now I can exhibit my great fund of knowledge!" Reflections and diatums crowded her brain. Instead of the wonted intercession on how to spell 'cat,' there came a piercing little query, "Please, may I be excused?" The student teacher knew that only with a great fear of being too bold she let him go, and then proceeded to 'confiure up' horrible visions of what would happen if the children got out of hand just once. She saw them sitting down on the floor, perhaps, some of them molding darkabouts out of mud and wiping their hands on their hair, some carving figures of a goat out of paste-board, some singing, some sleeping, a few dancing, and one had pulled another lady's hair. On the 56 of the book on progressive education it had said that the child whose hair was being pulled would be learning patience, and the child pulling the hair would be learning the futility of human endeavor. The practical application of principles might have to be made.

Although the task of making discipline play a small part in classroom life, it does play a large part in the lives of pedagogues, and there are still more important techniques they must acquire. They are required to make out lesson plans, write examinations in some subjects, grade papers, and use judgment in the averaging of grades. Eventually they must take complete charge of a classroom for a certain number of hours before they are considered experienced enough to hold a first year teaching job.

"One of the most difficult of the hurdles the teacher-to-be must make," said Miss Marlatt, "is adjustment to the vast difference between those teaching methods used in college and those to which a child will respond." The youngest generation would not be very receptive to a lecture on, for instance, how to skip and run. They must be shown. There is a recurring language barrier in the latitudes when a class of youthful musicians refused to learn a certain lovely little number because they simply could not comprehend the words 'Thy mother shakes the Dreamland tree.' Their reaction was probably comparable to that of a college freshman humanities student on first hearing 'O, Lodoes, sing the wrath of Peleus' son.

Many things must be considered by the person taking on the job of student instruction. The predominating factor is now thought to be the previous educational background and home environment of the child, taking precedence over any conception of native intelligence." The treatment which the pupil encounters in kindergarten and the lower grades, can be a drastic influence in molding his future psychological stature.

Students Invited

The entire college is invited to attend an open class hour devoted to the Christmas theme by the story telling class, December 13, from 4 to 5 p m. in room 404 History building, announced Miss Margaret Wylly, instructor in speech.

McCollum to Issue Changes in Rooms

Notices of room changes should be out before Christmas holidays begin it was learned from Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence. All notices will be sent from the residence halls office by December 19 or shortly thereafter.

The first moving days has been set for Saturday, December 15. Other dates have been listed as follows: Wednesday, January 2; Saturday, January 5; Sunday, January 6; Wednesday, January 9; Saturday, January 12; and Sunday, January 13.

Girls living in their present rooms have first priority on the room. Seniors will be given next preference, and after all chang-s of present students have been made incoming girls will be placed in the vacancies.

Or Forever Hold Your Peace . . .

Continued From Page Four

for fifteen minutes," continued Miss Mallory in a voice striving for dignity. "After that time you will report back to re-ceive your sentence."

With that, the four rose obediently and left the room. Were they worried? Yes, even more than before. Scared? Why they were petrified. Almost afraid they could hardly light their cigarettes. But they proceed to make plans. They could not let "Louse" Counsell see them break down. "Courage, girls! we've got to!" "We must have courage." They needed something to calm their nerves. Chewing gum! Did anyone have any chewing gum? Yes! yes, they found one stick between them and dividing it into four equal pieces they proceed to chew and chew until gradually their nerves grew calmer.

Eventually their fifteen minutes were up. The secretary of "Louse" Counsell appeared once more and bade them enter the room. As the condemned would rise, they rose, and followed her into the room. The atmosphere of the room was electric with tension. The silence was almost deafening.

Clearing her throat, the "Mighty One" spoke. She decided upon a just penalty to impress upon you the fact that crime does not pay! Since you knew that what you were doing was wrong and you did it anyway, and since your attitude has not been at all, well, cooperative, we are placing you upon full restrictions for three weeks. Might I remind you," she added, "that you are on your honor not to break these restrictions."

"Are there any questions as to why you have received this punishment, or any complaints against it," she continued rubbing her hands together. But they had learned their lesson. They would not make that mistake again. Next time, they would make sure there were no witnesses!

Sincerely,
Marjorie Clark.

The Students Speak...

There has been enough of serious things asked in this column for this quarter. This week the question was one that was easy for study-weary students. As many of you no doubt noticed there has been an addition to the Flambeau in the way of "Cleon Talk," a column from Gainesville written by Johnny Walker who is editor of the Alligator (U of Fla paper) and Tom Henderson who has just returned to the university from the service. We wanted to know the student reaction to this.

There were the usual various and sundry answers to our query but the general concensus of opinion was that it is very clever and should by all means be continued.

Polly Counsell, senior

"The column is cute but the jokes are pretty corny. There are some good cracks."

Jean Ann Graham, junior —

"I thought the column was very amusing and chatty and I liked it very much."

Connie Baker, sophomore

"I like the idea of a column from Gainesville. It gives us the boys' point of view which we need in a girls' school."

Virginia Cropan, sophomore

"Cleon Talk" was right clever There was good wit in it. They can get away with it since they are from Gainesville."

Espie Demetrelis, sophomore

"They ought to keep it up. More than should continue. I had never heard of it before but I like it."

Ruth Curras, senior

"It's not literary but it is fun. I enjoyed it very much."

Robin Whitfield, sophomore

"I like Cleon Talk' a lot. It certainly do hope they get it up here every week."

Marie Dozier, sophomore

"I think it's grand. Glad they are re-ning it up here again. I like the idea of an exchange column."

Ed note: there is a column written for the Florida Alligator from Tallahassee called TallyGrams).

Amanta Summers, freshman

"I liked the first column very much as an introduction. But I think the next ones will be even better."

Jean Marcal, senior

"I thought it was cute and witty. The Flambeau needed a column from Gainesville."

Mrs. Holden, senior

"Frankly it left me cold."

So Others Say

Summing Up

The main of life is composed of small incidents and petty occurances; of wishes for objects not worth the trouble of acquisition, of remote, and brief for disappointments of fatal inadvertence; of insect vexations which sting the spirit of weak imperfections which burs a while about us and are disenpaled: of compliments which grate on the nerves like music, and are forgotten by him that gave and him that received them.

Samuel Johnson.

Be Consoled

There is more wisdom in public opinion than is to be found in Napoleon, Voltaire, or all the wisdom and thrift no privileges.

Winston Churchill.

Amazing Reality

It seems incredible—$5,000,000 laws and no improvement on the Ten Commandments!

Banking (London).

Think Twice

We make beware of trying to build a society in which nobody counts for anything except the politician or the official—a society where enterprise palms no reward and thrift no privileges.

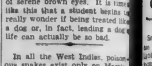
Winston Churchill.

Members of Canine Race Stroll Campus 'Lanes and Increase Their Dog-Sense

By Paulette Blair

The potter of little paws and voracious yelps of members of the canine races verify the fact that dogs are plentiful on the Florida State College campus this year. These four legged creatures with their tails out straight and have evidently sensed the new trend toward education and, therefore, intend to increase their dog sense. Although most of these little fellows which are now strolling the campus lanes have a fairly twisted and snarled family tree, they seem to have high ambitions and a craving for the better things of life. Since these dogs have become an integral part of the campus scenery, a short review of the more fallsiful few is forthcoming.

At the beginning of the year, when the lines of registration in bookstores were long and interminable, a very determined little mongrel suddenly held his place about a quarter of the way from the end. He seemed quite overcome by fatigue and was having the "dongondest" time trying to get awake. From this time on he would nod and nearly fall over, but soon a kindly hearted student with a sympathetic understanding of a dog's life, always sat him on his fist mate. No doubt the little dog with all his fortitude, finally accomplished the objective, whatever it might have been.



Almost any morning a long lanky terrier of indefinite variety can be seen heading for Westcott from Gilchrist hall. He leisurely pads along while his even more listless tail follows close behind. The only time his tail moves at all is when it vibrates from his loitering gait. He is never seen starting out or arriving at his destination but obviously he must do both at his convienence.

Another rare variegated animal with black predominating, has chosen the Longmire building for his residing place. He has evidently set himself up as keeper of the door, for he is usually found stretched out on the walk leading to the steps. How really conscientious he is cannot be known for he remains in the unconscious state of sleep the majority of the time. Perhaps if he had "welcome" written across his sloping back, he would make a better impression.

Landis Green, too, has his patron in the figure of a black cur with one brown ear and amiable brown eyes. This particular pup delights in stretching out his back less and pulling himself across the field with his two front paws while grunting with huge satisfaction. On one occasion when the notion hit him to indulge in this favorite sport, he ran into competition with the advancing band. The question immediately arose who was to move, the dog or the band; however, the decision was never made as they missed each other by a few scant inches.

Hounds of various kinds and descriptions come and go on the campus as the fancy hits them, but those which have been mentioned seem to stay as permanent landmarks. More than once in the course of a day, a busy student will stop long enough from his mad dash to cast a benevolent reminiscing glance on one of these little pets. He might see in a particular one, by a slight stretch of the imagination, a Scotty, Scandel, terrier, or Collie of which he is very fond. Occasionally some student might even stop and pat a shaggy head and look into a pair of serene brown eyes. It is time like this that a student begins to really wonder if being treated like a dog or, in fact, leading a dog's life can actually be so bad.

In all the West Indies, poisonous snakes exist only on Martinique and St Lucia.

For the Ideal Christmas Gift

See Our Other Add in This Edition

Get Your Christmas Bonnet Now

Striking New Style

MARIAN'S HAT SHOP

Whod Fall for a FRAZZLE PUSS!

Invisible film quickly erases that seedy look. Contains no castor oil or other irritant. Let this handy, pocket-size tube start preserving your lip-appeal!

Only 25¢ INCLUDES TAX

AVOID SORE CHAPPED LIPS WITH . . .

LipAde

For over 25 years THE ORIGINAL LIP PROTECTOR

ROGER & GALLET

Campus Studio Takes Annual Pictures; Specializes in College Photographs

By EILEEN PERRY

"Oh, I just hate to have my picture taken." With this statement, another Florida State College student has her annual picture taken. The reason for this feeling is the fact that they are self-conscious says the photographer at the Campus Studios.

The Campus Studios has been at its present location since 1943. It was formerly the Adams Studios in town, but they moved the studios out to their home on 701 West Pensacola street. The new Campus Studios was christened in 1943 by Mary Jane Dews, the 1942-43 editor of the Flastavon, and her staff. This is the student's own studio Although the studio does some outside work, their main business is the Flastavon, the FSC annual, and student photographs.

The Campus Studios is a family affair. For 16 years the Adams family has been carrying to the photographing needs of FSC students. The father, D C Adams, does the posed pictures for the feature section of the annual; the mother, Mrs D C Adams, takes charge of the business end of the work, and the son, known as "Sam" to all of the girls, does the group pictures. They do all of their own work and work under all sorts of conditions.

Sam says that it is interesting to work with the staff of the Flastavon because they have a totally new idea on how the annual should look each year. The girls themselves do not have any particular idea in mind until work on the book has been going on for several months. Each year the book is based on a brand new idea the studio never knows what to expect, and it is always very interesting to find out what the students have finally decided they are going to do.

It takes a great deal of time, work and ingenuity to work out the various ideas and to plan some of the annuals it was discovered. In the 1940 edition of the annual they took actual snapshots of footprints that had been made in the sand and used them for the cover of the annual. These photographs carried out the "sands of time" theme. Sometimes mistakes are made, as in the 1942 issue. On the page of the Memorium to Virginia S Jones, there was a picture of blossoms and pine tree branches. The picture as placed in the annual was upside down, but apparently no one noticed it. The dedication page of the 1943 annual was a difficult and protracted job. The sand and helmets had to be borrowed from the army and then carried out to the desired location and placed all over the field.

The taking of the individual student's annual picture is a

HOLIDAY HAIRDOS

. . . the round of parties, dinners, dances that make Christmas vacation glorious, call for a new permanent with that holiday glamour . . . see about yours now

Cold Waves ● Machineless

Basic Curls

$10 TO $15

MARTIN & DALTON BEAUTY SHOP

210-212 S. Adams Phone 1848

We're Wishing You

"A Merry Christmas and A Joyous New Year"

The Perfect Yuletide Gift

Lingerie ! Luxurious Slips in beautiful rayon satin

At a Price You'll Like

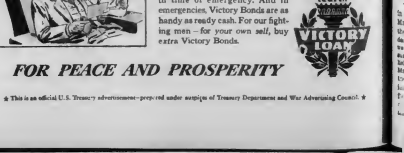
Nighties? Yes Ma'am

Softly Feminine in the 1946 Manner

The SURPRISE STORE

"Your Christmas Headquarters"

101-105 E. Jefferson Phone 299



Let's take care of Our Own in America's Great Victory Loan . . .

THEY DESERVE THE BEST. Our fighting men are coming home. Let's not forget that they were willing to give the best for us. Let's go all out for them in America's Great Victory Loan.

OVER 300,000 WOUNDED need our help today. The cost is high for hospital ships, hospital planes, the loan of medical care. See that they get it by backing America's Great Victory Loan.

REMEMBER, YOU TAKE GOOD CARE OF YOURSELF, TOO!

IT'S MORE THAN PATRIOTISM . . . this chance you have to help our fighting men. It's a chance to build future security for yourself — to have that valuable backlog everybody wants. Remember, for every $3 invested, at maturity you get back $4 on every E Bond. By lending your dollars now, in the most important bonds you've ever bought, you'll be building a nest egg that can mean so much in time of emergency. And in emergencies, Victory Bonds are as handy as ready cash. For our fighting men — for your own self, buy extra Victory Bonds.

VICTORY LOAN

FOR PEACE AND PROSPERITY

★ This is an official U. S. Treasury advertisement—prepared under auspices of Treasury Department and War Advertising Council ★

Sorority Chit-Chat . . .

Sorority "chit-chat" material has taken a bow out of the spotlight this week. As Christmas time into sight, but here's the gist:

Members of Delta Phi Epsilon will honor their housemother, Mrs. J. Marr, at after-dinner coffee hour this afternoon at their house.

• • • •

Pi Delta had a chapter sing supper night after supper.

• • • •

Virginia Nelson was pledged to Pi Beta Phi Friday night at 5 o'clock.

• • • •

The Chi Omegas honored Carol Bradford, one of their members, with a pre-nuptial coffee last Sunday night at the sorority house. During the coffee the bride-elect was presented with a gift from the chapter. Carol will be married to Capt. John Stephens tomorrow night at 7:30 in the Tallahassee Episcopal Church.

Two Parties Honor Cast of Speech Play

Last Friday and Saturday night the cast and crew of Time and a Clock-Case, the play given by the speech department, entertained at the speech office for parties in their honor. They were dressed in their various costumes ranging from the formal attire of the queen to the gingerness of the lover and make-up crew.

After the performance Friday night, Zeta Phi Eta, speech fraternity, entertained in the speech office which was decorated with Christmas greenery. At one table Mrs. Elizabeth Thonson, sponsor of the group, served punch and cookies. She was assisted by Jo Zeta members who served as hostesses. Nancy McLaurin was in charge of the arrangements.

On Saturday night at the same time Miss Mary Wood, director of the play, entertained the group at a buffet supper. Toasts were made to both the director and the technical director, Miss Mary Joseph Hall. Appropriate gifts were given to the cast and crew members. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served to the guests by Miss Wood and other faculty members.

In addition to the regular guests present, visiting families, friends, and special faculty guests were invited.

Dinner, Reception Honor Mrs Landis

A formal dinner, followed by a reception, was given last Friday night in Landis Hall, honoring Mrs. Cary B. Landis, for whose husband, former Justice of the State Supreme Court, Landis Hall was named. Those attending were members of the faculty, administrative staff, students living in Landis, and ten special guests at the dinner.

Mrs. Landis was presented with an orchid corsage, which she wore throughout the evening.

"The evening was quite successful," said Miss Marie Williams, counselor in Landis. "and its events proceeded smoothly." After the reception had ended, according to Miss Williams, there was an informal gathering of all participating members in the room of the small parlors. Harriette McCarter and Peggy Loy Thomas were responsible for procuring the refreshments. "cokes and ham-burgers-all-the-way," Miss Williams and Miss Ruth A. Pyche, Landis counselor, were present with copies of the book Best Loved Poems of the American People.

Dormitory Christmas Party

Red candles and birch logs will accent the holiday decorations in Landis parlor for the annual Christmas party, according to plans which will be held on Wednesday, December 12, from five to six. Miss Margaret Dunn will present several piano selections and then will accompany the girls in singing Christmas carols. Special hostesses for the occasion are the following girls who have been interning this past quarter: Melba Smith, Martha Jane Brown, Betty De-Vane, Dora McIntosh, Carolyn Faye Smith, Ruth Clark, Inez Smith, Kathleen Craig, Betty Jo Barry, and Annette Eddy. Harriett McCarter is in charge of arrangements.

The Gilchrist Christmas tea will center around a special Christmas program, according to Ann Fielding, social chairman. Several girls will take the parts of Christmas spirits and fitures in the traditional Christmas story. The singing of Christmas carols will close the program. The following girls will take part in the program: Juanita Krentzman, Doris Snow, Anne Shull, and Virginia Hutchinson. The tea will be held Wednesday from five to six.

Featured in Magnolia's Christmas coffee are Anne Lindsay and Mary Lou Hall, who will sing a solo and Mary Lou will play her original songs as they appeared in Odd Assortment, the Magnolia parlor will be decorated with greenery and a holiday atmosphere for the singing of Christmas carols. The coffee hour will be held from four until four on Sunday afternoon. Carolyn Caldwell, the parlor's social chairman, who is in charge of arrangements.

Reynolds, Jennie Murphree, and The Village will have their Christmas parties at the time of their regular Wednesday afternoon tea. Katherine Moore and her social committee have planned a coffee for the Village and they will present a special Christmas program. Reynolds social chairman, Louise Murphree, has also planned a coffee with a Christmas theme. The Christmas coffee for Jennie Murphree is under the direction of Margery Holms, social chairman.

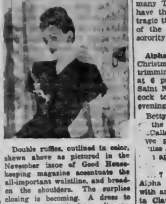
Tri Delts Present Annual Style Show

Last Saturday afternoon the pledges of Tri Delt presented their annual fashion show at the house. There were six models who were Marilyn Bassett, Faith Adams, Barbara Mitchell, Jeanie Robson, Sylvia Meiah and Virginia Allen.

The narrative for the style show was written and presented by Marjorie Norris. The Vogue furnished the clothes which were modelled by the pledges.

Coffee and Christmas cookies were served to the guests, with members assisting in the serving.

Zeta Phi Eta Enjoys A Pre-Holiday Party



The Christmas meeting of Zeta Phi Eta, speech honorary, was held Monday night in the speech department office.

According to Barbara Holt, president, the meeting was primarily for the purpose of having a Christmas party, but plans were also discussed for the club project for the second quarter.

The room was decorated with red and green holly sprigs, red candles, and a small Christmas tree. Miss Elizabeth Thonson, sponsor, presented each of the members with tiny calendars for the new year and gifts were presented to both Miss Thomson and Miss Margaret Wyly, who is a member of the speech faculty and an honorary member of the Zeta Phi Eta.

Refreshments were served by Maureen Petty and Bobbie Usher, hostesses, and everyone joined in singing Christmas carols.

★ Fashions ★

Double ruffles, outlined in color, shown above as pictured is the November issue of Good Housekeeping magazine accentuate the all-important wishbone, and breadth on the shoulders. The surplice closing is becoming and a dose to wear for special dates, dinners, parties and luncheons.

Fashion Flashes

This smart age (featured in the above picture) knows that only 16 days are left 'till Santa Claus' big day. She knows, too, that along with Santa Claus will come a round of Christmas parties, teas, and gala dinners . . . and she intends to be ready for the holiday fashion limelight.

Yuletide social functions demand smart, well-chosen clothes for all the family. For formal dinal dates, luncheons, and dinners a dress similar to the one displayed above is guaranteed to carry off top honors. Dressy crepes and occasional velvets are in black, emerald green, fuschia (or any of the winter shades) will make your holiday season a gay one, because you'll always be sure of something smart to wear for every social function.

For "Open Houses" on Xmas and New Year's Day (and there will be many) an ankle length dressier clothes are recommended. A short dinner dress of black crepe would be a knock-out . . . and adorned with scores of glittering sequins, would be simply "out of this world". Black still seems to be the number one color for smartness and sophistication, but there are some pretty close runners-up. Not the "loud colorses" will you need these extra-special clothes, but also for the many holiday weddings and receptions.

If you like formal dances, you'll see floating on a dance floor in a two-piece creation from this institution of higher learnin'. From all reports, there'll be a whirl of fraternity and sorority formal, plus a gala Pan-Hellenic formal . . . and many others besides. As to what to wear, our advice is this: the more formal your dress the better. If you're dreaming of a "white Christmas", carry out the theme and be a vision of loveliness in a snowy-white net formal. Or perhaps you would prefer a sheer, smooth taffetta, trimmed sometimes with a contrasting color a la that of plaid taffeta. You'll love the way a dress like this will accent your appearance and help see you though the formal holiday functions.

In addition to your supply of formals, a dressy wool or rayon holiday fun is a good-looking dinner dress. Don't forget the many occasions (formal teas and receptions) that will demand something slightly dressy. Here's where the current-styled "formals". A dinner dress with smart simplicity would be your best bet, and black a splendid color.

To top your holiday ensembles off, a fur coat is perfect. If you "no can do" on that score, try a wool dress coat with a fur collar. Over your formal evening clothes, any one of this winter's smart capes and evening wraps would be

Yule Activities

With exams dangerously near, many Tally lassies are going to have their final fling before the tragic time arrives. Here are some of the latest plans for Yuletide sorority festivities.

• • •

Alpha Chi Omega has planned Christmas supper with "all the trimmings" for Saturday night at 6 pm. The arrival of Old Saint Nick himself (Marian Prescott to you) will highlight the evening.

Betty Hancock will be in charge of the tree decorations; Jessie Calla and Barbara Wickham are prepared the menus, and Miss Sims will bedeck the house with appropriate boughs and berries.

• • •

T o'clock Sunday evening the Alpha Xi Delts will entertain with an after-dinner coffee. Santa Claus will visit them in the person of Miss Beryn Thomas, father of one of the members.

Ann Fielding, Pat Harrison, and Janet Boyd are in charge of arrangements.

• • •

Santa Claus and his helper, in the form of two graduating seniors, Ann Fielding and Helen Miller, will visit the Alpha Gamma Delta girls Beryn Thomas' row night. Helen Miller, social chairman in charge of the party, revelled that a play, a pre-gram will be the reading of "Twas the Night Before Christmas" by Bonnie Hunt. Dr C P Heinlein, one of the patrons of Alpha Gamma Delta, will provide background music for Bonnie's reading. In addition to playing several selections. Gifts will be exchanged at the party as members and guests gather around the Christmas tree.

• • •

Alpha Xi Delta will hold their Christmas get-together Sunday night at 6:30 pm, at which time there will be an exchange of gifts and the singing of carols.

• • •

Santa Claus in the person of Dr Harold Richards will visit the Chi Omega house Sunday night at 7 o'clock to distribute the gifts to all the members of the sorority. The sorority will then send these presents to the orphans' home. Katherine Steed, Sara Norman, and Marjorie Cook are in charge of the party and the program, which will include the singing of the pledge songs to the active members.

• • •

The mother - daughter atmosphere was predominant when the Phi Delts assembled last night at the house for a Xmas party. The active members were dressed as mothers, while the pledges were the "youthful offsprings" who entertained the group with various musical offerings. Members trimmed the tree yesterday afternoon before the party. Gifts were exchanged.

• • •

Anyone looking in on the Delta Zetas Saturday night may see Santa Claus and six or seven perhaps a few stripes, too. By 8 o'clock their Christmas party-party will be in full swing. Gifts will be exchanged and carols sung. There will be no full charge of the party.

• • •

Faculty members, students and ideal.

And with that, you're all set for a very, very day holiday season. May your clothes express your holiday mood and may you have a very merry Christmas, followed by a happy 1946!!!

A Gift From Turners is sure to please
SHOP EARLY FOR BETTER SELECTIONS
Turner's
Doorway to Fashions

Tech Elects Pi Phi Homecoming Queen

Homecoming Queen at Georgia Tech last week-end was Sarah Ann Davis, junior at Florida State College.

Sarah Ann, a member of Pi Beta Phi, was a sponsor at the Georgia Tech-University of Georgia football game Saturday. At the dance that night she was crowned queen of the week-end festivities.

Collegiate Comebacks

Proving that we have caught up on our history lesson for the week, we recall that historians say women were using cosmetics in the Middle Ages. Well, women in their middle ages are still using them.

—The Cricketones.

• • •

A group of women decided that their club would invite a White Elephant Party, bringing things that were of no value to them but that were too good to throw away. The party was a success except for the fact that eleven of the nineteen women brought their husbands.

—The Spectator.

• • •

A man entered a book store and walked up to the first counter. "Do you have a book entitled 'Man, The Master of Women'?" he asked the girl at the counter.

"The fiction department is right down the aisle," was her reply.

—The Creightonian.

• • •

IF

(With apologies to Kipling)

If you can fool your prof without his catching on,
If you can study when you're not in the mood,
That you are shooting him a line of bull,
And, while the bull from you is freely flowing,
By degrees you get with him a pull;
If you can force yourself by mighty effort
To laugh when he dispenses his stale jokes,
And, when all your fellow students pledge with him,
You still can keep your notes;
If you can fill the unforiver-ful hour
With sixty minutes worth of spoutful done,
Yours is the course, and three hours credit with it,
And, what is more, you'll make an 'A,' my son.

—The Cue.

Dr. Turner Clyde Paton Speaks To Rotarians

Dr. Turner Clyde Paton, president of Florida State College for Women, was the guest speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon held Tuesday at the Leon Hotel.

Dr. Paton spoke on the subject of "Education for Democracy."

MAGAZINE JOTTINGS

Our Pacific Bases: Think Twice

In the November issue of Harper's, President Palmer's book recently returned from a visit to the Pacific bases, reminds the layman as to what the United States should do about keeping decisive bases in the Pacific.

Our Navy has announced 18 Pacific and Atlantic bases which it regards as vital to the future security of this country. A subcommittee of the House Naval Affairs committee has compiled a similar but more extensive list of Pacific bases. Both include places whose retention under the American flag if under Americans' hands is questionable, including especially Okinawa. Before deciding to retain bases beyond the line of the Marshall and Caroline Islands and Guam, Mr Palmer says that the American people, their Congress, and President should consider:

1. The defensibility of such bases against atomic bomb attacks.

2. The relation of such commitments in the Pacific to the whole complex problem of our military, naval, and air defense . . . (e) the relation of these and other commitments to our foreign policy (d) our responsibilities as a member of the United Nations and a trustee of the future peace of the world."

Mr Palmer says that in making a recent tour of the Central Pacific he talked with men of all ranks. Top-ranking officers and theatre officers who had become eminently professional in the school of battle agreed unanimously that our future national safety depended on our ability to strike instantly from fortified outposts safely from our continental shores. They did not agree, however, as to which bases should be key outposts. Admiral Spruance does not recommend that Okinawa be included, but the subcommittee of the House Naval Affairs committee not only considers "dominant bases" at Okinawa but "full title to some islands which are held or occupied by our allies."

Mr Palmer feels that the members of the Naval Affairs committee unquestionably are attempting to do their patriotic duty and support the United Nations charter, but he fears that they do not understand the problem in its proper light. Moreover, having been confused around the Pacific under Navy auspices, he feels that they were also unduly influenced by Naval Intelligence, by base officers who want the rule of the Army and the Navy." Force.

He said Against

The subcommittee cited four considerations in favor of the bases. Mr Palmer attempts to answer each of these arguments.

1. The loss of American lives in taking these bases . . . to which Mr Palmer says that in keeping the bases we must consider the "danger of another humanly costly war." 2. The expenditure of vast sums of American money in establishing and equipping these bases." Mr Palmer says that they overlook the "cost of preparing them for permanent use. "A parliament of man means more than an army of troops." Then there would come the . . . security of Army and Navy

Air Force maintenance plus the maintenance of bases in the Panama Canal, Newfoundland, and the Atlantic side. "When our fighting men return they will be conscious as taxpayers, that they prefer not to pay for permanent bases on such an ambitious scale." "3. The great dependence of the world upon the United States for maintaining peace in the Pacific and the world." Here Mr Palmer asks, "Against what potential enemy are we to maintain such a formidable array of bases, ranging from Okinawa to the Southwest Pacific?"

As for Japan, he says that we have now completed the job at hand if we leave Japan to itself. Manifestly we have no intention of dictating to China or to any European force; that (with Okinawa pointed directly at China) we would appear to be such an intention." Such a policy would effect"our international relations with Russia against Russia would lead to an armament race between the two countries which, according to Mr Palmer, both countries wish to avoid. There is already an unfriendly frontier between the American-held Alaska and the Russian-held Siberia. But the holding of Okinawa, from which "supersonic, pilotless, jet-propelled planes bearing atomic bombs" could easily reach Port Arthur and Vladivostok, Russia, may well get suspicious and start building her line of defense.

The subcommittee's fourth point is "The apparent preference of the natives of these islands for the United States Government." Mr Palmer says, . . . reassuring but of doubtful importance if there are compelling reasons for withdrawal."

It seems to the author far wiser for us to content ourselves with Adak in the Aleutians, Kodiak on the Alaskan coast, Guam, Iwo Jima, our secondary bases of protected anchorage and airfields, and the internationalization of Truk. In the Southwest Pacific we should hold no bases without the willful consent of our Allies. As for Okinawa we should remain only "as one of the trustees which hold it as a base for an international police force of the United Nations."

He concludes by saying that at present we have leisure in which to consider the problem and should take the whole issue of military strength and study it in the light of a far-seeing foreign policy before making any judgement which might be interpreted as a change from isolationism to a truculent imperialism.

Church, Veterans, Labor Criticize Training Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for church, veterans and labor organizations filed a verbal broadside today at proposals for universal military training.

Testifying before the house military committee, they urged that before the United States resorts to peacetime conscription it seek to outlaw universal training through out the world and bring about full weights behind efforts for international peace.

WELDON
'California Hair Stylists'
ONE WEEK ONLY
A Styled Permanent Wave
"By WELDON"
Gives You the Glamour of Beautiful Hair
No Cutting Necessary
WAVY LOX BEAUTY SHOP
107 W. COLLEGE AVE. PHONE 787

New Clothes for that holiday fling
Why pack my bag and call me Santa, if Christmas isn't right around the corner. That means something new for you College Girls. Something exciting to make you the prettiest girl under the mistletoe!
THE COLLEGE SHOP

Cau's Influence Over Women Is Puzzling Social Problem

Why women fall in love with heels is a question that has baffled us all at times as we see the insouciant philanderer casually winding the object of his momentary affections around his well-manicured little finger.

And all of us know what the outcome will be, whether the victim is mouse-like little Amy or the glamorous and ultra-sophisticated Yvonne—because they are the Colonel's Lady and Judy O'Grady all over again where the heel is concerned.

Big edge in favor of the heel over the more prosaic type of male is his utter lack of ethics or responsibility, which permits him to concentrate on charm, according to an article in the November issue of Good Housekeeping magazine.

"A heel's work consists mainly of making life pleasant for himself," the writer states. "He wants to be happy. A heel's heaven, here on earth, is a kind of a hollow space in which he operates with charm, unhindered by responsibilities or money care, and if any unpleasantness invades his domain, he doesn't fight it—he simply vanishes. One minute he's there. Come trouble, he's gone.

"This is one reason for the eternal youthfulness of heels: no frown of worry ever mars their sellned brows, no tense tummy distorts the set of their concave waistcoats."

Unfettered by responsibilities and concomitant mundane worries, the heel has infinitely more time to concentrate on his prey. Where the ardent swain of the non-heel type rushes into a florist and orders flowers for his beloved in much the same fashion as he'd order a crate of merchandise, the heel makes a production of the gift.

Not for him the commonplace box of American beauties or the good old square stalea plant, but a single carnation, lacquer-red and frusted with dew, or a single spray of tiny green orchids.

And so far as the ladies themselves are concerned, there is this to be said for the heel: when the witchery of his charm has been dispelled by concrete evidence of his caddishness, there will still remain vagrant tender memories of how he hung on your every word, of the spray of tiny green orchids he used to send you, of the melting look that suffused his face when you entered the room—for of such things as these is the genus heel fashioned.

College News-Bits

It's school days again for persons, both young and old. The general trend of enrollment seems to be increasing steadily now that our boys are once again returning to normal American life.

The University of Oklahoma has more than 500 veterans attending classes with intimations that several hundred more will enroll for the second semester, according to a study of the registration figures. The former service men range in age from 19 to 50, some of the older ones having served in both World Wars. Approximately one-third of the veterans are married, the survey showed.

University of Kentucky is also witnessing record enrollment with a total of 2,608 students, the largest number since 1942. This figure includes the largest group of women students in the school's history, with 1,824 registrations. Nearly 300 veterans have returned to classes to bring the enrollment of men to 977, the greatest in recent years.

Coming closer home, we learn that 50 per cent more students have enrolled for the fall term at Georgia Tech than were registered for the summer term. The roll of more than 1,900 students includes young men from practically every county in Georgia, approximately 800 veterans from theaters of operation in all parts of the world, and 724 naval trainees.

Brown is keeping up with the best of universities too with its undergraduate enrollment for the fall semester reaching an all-time high in the institutions' 181 years history, with 1,977 students registered. This figure tops that of 1941-42 when 1,923 students applied for and were granted permission to Brown and Pembroke. At present, the Naval V-12 unit at Brown consists of 683 men, while civilians total 583. Of these, 294 are discharged veterans. Pembroke College students number 711, which is a record enrollment for that college.

During our orientation program for the freshmen we schedule a tour of the library for their benefit; at Delta Teacher's College in Mississippi, they go a step further in getting the purpose of the library "across" to their newest arrivals. The average freshman's difficulty in finding his way around in a college library is alleviated by a device of the College's English department. Each year a treasure hunt, or series of stimulating questions, is compiled by which students are sent for definite information and by which they learn the use of reference books. The queries are varied enough to be challenging to their curiosity. Some are human interest questions on literary figures, such as: How old was Elizabeth Barrett when she eloped? How tall was Gibson? What is Shelley's epitaph?

The Administration of Marshall College, in Huntington, West Virginia, is taking a progressive foot forward, it seems to us. They are sponsoring a new program of forum discussions with the belief that an understanding of other peoples and societies is vital to world citizenship. Speakers will include persons prominent in international politics, outstanding radio commentators and editors of weekly and monthly magazines.

War traces have left an influence on Russell Sage College. Because of interest aroused as a result of the war, this college is offering a series of lectures entitled "Our Pacific Island Neighbors." The series, part of the college's adult education, is designed to acquaint families of returning service men and women with the physical and cultural background of places mentioned in letters and military dispatches. The Aleuts, Polynesians, Micronesians, Melanesians, Malays, Moros, Filipinos and Ifenezis are among the peoples to be studied.

Students at Williams College have voted to reinstate their honor system, which was dropped during the war period. Ratification by the faculty must be secured before it can become operative. Next March will round out the first half century of its institution at Williams. The class of 1898 persuaded the college body to accept the principle of the honor system and it was officially adopted at a meeting of the faculty on March 18 of that year.

New York Times

Campbell Addresses Jacksonville Clubs

Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College, left for Jacksonville Sunday night to fulfill several engagements and attend meetings being held there this week.

Dr Campbell's major address will be delivered to the Jacksonville Woman's Club at their luncheon meeting Wednesday. He will speak on "Education in the International Scene" in connection with the program planned by the international relations group of that organization.

In addition to several committee meetings Dr Campbell will address the employees of the Baptist State Convention who are meeting in Jacksonville this week, attend the meeting of the Florida Chamber of Commerce and that of the local Rotary Club.

Conference Is Cancelled

Meeting Scheduled Next Quarter in G'ville

The Southeast Province Conference of Newman Clubs has been cancelled, and the last meeting of the year has been by the Newman club of the Florida State College.

The Southeast Province Conference of Newman Clubs, which was to be held this week-end, December 7, 8, and 9, with the University of Florida as host, has been cancelled.

Reverend Jeremiah P O'Mahoney, diocesan director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, said that the conference had been cancelled because only a few of the Florida State College students would be able to attend since the conference was to be held the week-end before their final examinations. Reverend O'Mahoney hopes to cancelling the conference until next quarter that a large representation of FSC girls will be present for the conference in Gainesville.

The exact date of the conference has not yet been set, but it will be held next quarter.

The Newman Club held its last meeting of the year Sunday night in the Lonzmire building. Announcements were made in regard to the cancellation of the Conference and the purchase of club pins. The program was then turned over to Catherine Sullivan, recording secretary. Amelia Payeur, parlimentarian, and Ann Parker, corresponding secretary, who led the group in Christmas games. Prizes were awarded to the winners. After the games a coffee was served with doughnuts and Christmas candy. Mary Cooney, chairman of the social committee, was in charge of the coffee. Christmas carols were sung by the entire group.

Club Makes Hike

Members of the Home Economics club attended an annual club breakfast last Sunday at the "old ravine."

The club was divided into two groups for the hike. According to Elizabeth Harper, publicity chairman, the club "certainly had a scare" when the second group lost its way, causing the breakfast to be delayed for almost an hour.

Elizabeth also reports that the club enjoyed a breakfast of hot dogs, cinnamon rolls, fruit juice, and coffee.

Pledges Initiated

The initiation of three new pledges and an address by Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College, highlighted the monthly meeting of Kappa Delta Pi initiation honorary, Wednesday a week ago.

Pledges who were initiated were Mildred Turner, Etta Poythress, and Hilda Dodson.

Dr Campbell spoke on "The Value of Records." He stated that the value of any teacher's record was with the teacher's individual discretion. He expressed a hope that less conformism and more enduring records will be characteristic of future records.

Dr Thelin Dies

Word concerning the death, early in November, of Dr Ernest Thelin, former associate professor of psychology at Florida State College, has recently been received by Dr Paul F Finner, professor of psychology.

After leaving FSC, Dr Thelin became head of the psychology department and director of the laboratory at Syracuse University in New York.

Is It Not So?

He that wrestles with us strengthens our nerves and sharpens our skills.

Edmund Burke.

Snoring in Backyard of Off-Campus House Brings Searching Campus Police

By LA FERNE QUINN

Late one night an urgent call came to Bryan Hall office. A feminine voice frantically asked to have a policeman sent out, because there was someone snoring in the back yard of one of the off-campus houses. In less than five minutes a policeman was on his way to investigate and to take away forcibly a sleepy tramp or a collapsed drunk.

Cautiously the policeman searched the dark back yard to find who was snoring. Over in a corner by a big bush was a little dog, fast asleep, all unaware of the disturbance he had caused.

The college has its own police force for just such emergencies. This force is composed of three men who are deputized by the county sheriff. The three officers are here on the campus to protect and to guard the college property. They can enforce any laws, but according to Miss Mae Colum, director of residence halls, they are not here to arrest, but to prevent. She remembers no real arrests, but several times MP's have been called to control some unruly soldiers.

The policemen come on duty late in the afternoon at staggered hours and leave early in the morning by the same method. Each hall is equipped with a buzzer system and several call stations for the policemen, which enables them to be at any point on the campus within five minutes. In all there are about a dozen call stations distributed over the campus. Several new call systems have been tested recently, in attempts to find a simpler method of contact, and a new system is hoped to be put into effect this year, according to the residence halls director.

Years ago the front gates of the college were closed at night and a policeman was on guard. Every incoming car was stopped and the occupants were asked to identify themselves and to state their reason for coming to the college after dark. In those days, the officers were called night watchmen, but now they are more than that.

One of their duties is to escort students to any of the unattached residences and off-campus houses when they return to the college after Bull Bash.

It has been rumored that the policemen check lights in the rooms, but because the students are on their honor to turn off their lights, there is no check of this kind. If lights are on far into the night, however, one of the night directors is likely to investigate to see if anything is wrong.

Calls for policemen are put through to Bryan Hall office, where there are two night directors, one of which is on duty all night. Many false alarms are sent in, but the policemen themselves state, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

'Y' Girls Carol

Seventy members of the Young Women's Christian Association went Christmas caroling last night, said Doris Hill, in charge of planning the outing. "We had no set places to go, but caroled wherever the spirit moved us," said Doris. The outing was concluded with an informal gathering in Broward kitchen, where hot chocolate was served.

Holiday Activities Feature Christmas Pageants, Parties

As the holiday season approaches, activities of the campus religious organizations this week center about the traditional pageants and Christmas parties.

A play entitled The Coming of Light and Peace will feature Christmas services at the Methodist student house Sunday evening at 7 p m. A Christmas party will follow during which the girls will present gifts to the student house.

Those taking part in the play include Joyce Carlton, Frances McLamore, Jackie Fredick and Grace DeWolf. Ruth Young is in charge of planning the party and other members of the committee include Betty LaBron, Joyce Cayce, Betty Jo McBride, Mary Jane Kirst, Annette McClellan and Ollinia Leiton.

Observance of Christmastime at Sage Hall will center about a pageant to be presented at 7:30 Sunday evening. A Christmas tree will decorate the chapel for that occasion at which time the girls will also present gifts for the student house.

Jo Dawkins has charge of planning the pageant. Supper at Ruse Hall Sunday evening will be held at 6:30 rather than at the regular hour in order that students may attend Glee Club vespers.

Other activities at the Episcopalian student house this week will include exam teas, which will be held following the musical program.

"Christmas Bells are Ringing" will open the cantata followed by "How Beautiful Upon the Waters" with Martha McCormack, soloist. Margery Mallard will sing the solo parts of "But Thou Bethlehem" and "Jesus Our Lord."

The choir will also sing "This Star in the Eastern Sky" and "At the Watches of the Night" with Pat Harrison, soloist; "Earth's Weary Waiting Done", Sarah Daugherty and Lois Watkins, duet, and "Good Tidings" and "Let Us Go Unto Bethlehem", Lois Watkins, soloist. "The Lord Is Born Today" will conclude the musical service.

White candelabra tapers, ferns, cones and fall flowers will provide the setting for the "Student Night at Christmas" program, which will be held Sunday evening at 7:30 in the Baptist church auditorium. Three talks on the topic "Student Opportunities for Christian Living" presented by Betty Speer, Mary Jane Inabnit and Louise Hilnworth, will be featured on this program.

This service will follow a medley of Christmas carols played on the organ. The two-fold purpose of this Student Night program, according to Barbara Holt, president of the Baptist Student Union, is to demonstrate to the local church what FSC has been doing on campus and to show students how to present similar programs in their home churches.

Roberts to Address Next AAUW Meeting

Mr Warren Roberts, editor of the Orlando Sentinel, will speak in the auditorium of the Longmire building at the December meeting of the Tallahassee branch of the American Association of University Women, Tuesday evening at 8:15. This meeting is open to students.

"Florida's Situation and Needs in Regard to Her Water Supply" is the subject of Mr Roberts' address. The speaker was on former Governor Holland's committee on water control and conservation.

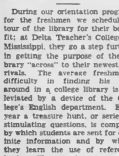
This talk follows the theme for the year, "The Development of Human and Natural Resources in Florida," according to Miss Marjorie S Judy, program chairman.

RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES:
TRAIN FOR A CAREER WITH THE
Johnston O'Conner Research Foundation
11 E. 62nd St., New York, 21
N. Y. Fellowship Basis. $85.00 a Month

She's dreaming of something

GLEAMING

She's hoping there'll be an exciting little package under the tree—a package that opens to disclose a piece of jewelry. It could be a gay gold circlet for her throat or hair . . . a pair of earrings or a costume jewel for her dress. Choose it from our gleaming jewelry collection, and it will be a shining success.



P. W. WILSON COMPANY
Tallahassee's Oldest Department Store

MERRY CHRISTMAS GALS!

Have a Grand Vacation

And in the NEW YEAR Be Sure to Come to Your Hangout Again—
THE SWEET SHOP
"The World's Best Coffee"

SHEER LOVELINESS!
Hosiery by Famous Stylists
All Sizes
BUTLER'S, INC.
224 S. MONROE

In These Crucial Days 2 108

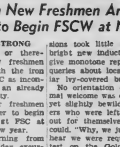
The Florida Flambeau

International Relations

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

VOL. XXXIII, No. 10 | Tallahassee, Florida | DECEMBER 11, 1946

Woman Leader Of Journalism To Talk Here



"These Crucial Days" Is Dorothy Thompson's Speech To Be Broadcast Over Station WTAL

Dorothy Thompson, deemed by the world's leading woman journalist, will speak in the auditorium next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock on "These Crucial Days."

Tickets to the lecture will still be available until 6 p. m. today in the basement floor of the Administration Building. Both red and blue tickets for students will be honored and faculty members may obtain tickets which will be signed for half price. Tickets for the general public will go on sale in the book store tomorrow morning at $1 plus tax.

Miss Thompson, the only woman author of Many Books Miss Thompson, the only woman given the address the National Association of Manufacturers, the United States Chamber of Commerce, the United States League and the Harvard Club of New York, is the author of books including "I Saw Hitler," "The Nazi Primer," "Dorothy Thompson's Political Guide" and "Refugees: Anarchy or Organization." "Let the

Continued on Page Three

Dorothy Thompson, author and lecturer, will speak on "These Crucial Days" in Westcott auditorium Wednesday, January 16, at 8:15 pm.

AAUW Members Hear Discussion

Library Service in Florida Was Theme of Meeting

"Library Service in Florida" was the theme of the program at the AAUW Tuesday night meeting of the Tallahassee branch of the American Association of University Women. Miss Jessie Mae Monroe, program chairman, acted as presiding officer.

Miss Sara Krentzman, consultant in school libraries for the State Department of Education, and librarian of the Demonstration School at Florida State College was chairman of the panel discussion. She also spoke about school libraries in Florida, stating that the aim was to extend and improve them.

County and regional libraries was the subject of Miss Anne Emery, instructor in library science at FSC. She told of the work-shops plan of circulating books in rural sections, as it is set up in Virginia. Miss Gregory was formerly librarian of the Southside Regional Library in Blue City, Virginia.

Miss Ruth Mae Snider, president of the Florida Library Association and secretary-treasurer of Library Science at FSC, called on public libraries in Florida. She said that the needs of the state are fairly adequate, but that there are too few.

The secretary of the Florida State Library, Dr. Dorothy Dodd, discussed the state library.

Miss Louise Richardson, FSC librarian and professor of library science, told of the importance of college libraries.

Following the panel discussion was an open forum. This meeting was devoted to all who were interested in the libraries in Florida and their needs, as well as to members of the AAUW.

Pianist Featured On Garnet and Gold

Miss Mary Winslow, assistant professor of piano, acted as music editor and Pat Pattishall as editor on the weekly Thursday night program of "Garnet and Gold," FSC radio news broadcast.

Miss Winslow played Alberni's "Rhecto Waltz," Griffes' "Poem" and Arensky's "Nocturne," and DeBussy's "The Minstrel."

The program was presented directly from station WTAL instead of the regular college studio because of the work necessary for the remote transmission line between the Union studio and the radio station.

"Garnet and Gold" was continually presented each week during Christmas holidays. On December 20, a Christmas program of Christmas carols by the college choir will be presented. The school of Music under charge of Dr broadcast on the following Thursday night. Pawn Trawick and Paula Jeanne Treasurder acted as music editors. Mary Boone has been editor for the program. On January 3, Miss Olga Kitner, violinist, was presented in concert, accompanied by Miss Winslow at the piano. Miss Bertha Woodcock, college faculty director, gave the news summary.

Registration Figure Drops

Decrease of 193 Shown as 2254 Students Enroll

A slight decrease in enrollment, compared with last quarter, is shown as 2254 students completed registration for the winter quarter, announced Dr M W Carothers, registrar.

The total registration last quarter was 2447, Dr Carothers said, however, that students were still registering and the figures would not be complete for several days.

Dr Dook S Campbell, president of the college, said that this drop in enrollment was not normal and was expected. "Students drop out after Christmas for various reasons," he said, "marriage, discouragement, illness in the family, just unhappiness or a change in family plans."

Dr Campbell said that the winter quarter was no different from previous years and that the college had not felt the effect of the girls marrying returning servicemen.

The drop in enrollment has made adequate housing available for all students, according to Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence. She said that all students in the recreation rooms or smokers would have rooms of their own by the end of the week.

All first quarter freshmen will live at Campside, reported Miss McCollum. There were 94 new students enrolled at registration.

"The new registration process was found to be very effective, according to Dr Carothers. We registered 1000 students in one day," he said, "and it has always before taken three days to register that many."

National Forensic League Meets Here

The National Forensic League, high school speech honorary, held its semester of congress in Tallahassee on Monday, December 17, and Tuesday, December 18. The sessions were held in the state chambers of the Senate and House of Representatives with all business affair with delegates from at least five southern states visiting. Miss Bertha Bloodworth, publicity director of Florida State College for Women, presided at the gymnasium for the 20 high school girls and their three sponsors who were housed in the homes of the residents of Tallahassee. The relief center also provided meals for the representatives.

A resolution expressing appreciation to FSC was sent to the school from the Florida chapter of the NFL, Orlando, Florida.

Appreciation should also be extended to Miss Anna M Trawick, head dietitian and professor of institution economics, who, as one short notice had been planned, prepared for the delegates on Monday and Tuesday. A special banquet was also prepared for the group on Monday night, said Pat Pattishall who was instrumental in securing accommodations on campus for the delegates.

Meeting Planned

There will be a meeting of the committee chairman of the Youth Conference at the Methodist student house Sunday afternoon at 2:30, according to an announcement made by Martha Jane Brown co-chairman of the organization.

She asked that all the committee chairmen meet with their committees before the meeting Sunday so that they could bring a report of their progress to the chairmen of the conference.

Twenty-seven New Freshmen Are First Students to Begin FSCW at New Year

By ALICIA ARMSTRONG

It was January 2, or thereabouts, when 27 new freshmen slipped quietly through the sing-wrought portals of FSC as inconspicuous additions to an already ever-flowing freshman class.

These first quarter freshmen are the first class ever to begin their college careers at FSC at the beginning of a new year.

FSC veterans returning from their fun-packed holiday excursions took little notice of the bright new inductees except to give monotone replies to the few queries about locations of familiar ivy-covered buildings.

No orientation course, no formal welcome was offered these as yet slightly bewildered new-comers who were left to find things out for themselves as best they could. "Why, we just happened to hear we were required to take a test on the Gold Book, and I haven't even seen one yet," exclaimed one dismayed looking little freshman who sat with her chin cupped in her hands looking most unhappy. "And we didn't know a thing about placement exams nor about having to have our pictures made for quite some sufficient time," she added.

Those first few hectic days, many of them were scattered all over the campus, in recreation rooms and smokers. It now, under the jovial eyes of their helpful house mother, Mrs. Joseph Levy, these girls live in home at their own in the two-story white building on Jefferson street known as Campside. Lounging around on chairs and couches in the spacious living room, more than a dozen girls, some in bobby sox and bandanas (for it was only an hour before that they had appeared eager to speak their

Continued on page three

Dr Eyman Addresses PTA of Quincy High

Community Duty Toward Today's Youth Discussed

"In order for a community to develop a successful program of recreation for its youth, cooperation must be the basic factor," said Dr. Ralph Eyman, head of the School of Education, in his address last Tuesday afternoon to the Parent Teachers' Association of Quincy High school.

Speaking on the subject," Facing Today With Our Children and Youth—A Community Responsibility to Them," Dr Eyman accentuated four valuable solutions to the problem of utilizing the leisure time found among today's young people.

Youth must first state its desires, he said, in order to awaken adults to the existing need for well-organized recreational program.

Cooperation from the school was also stressed by the speaker. Here, through student democracy in rules and the development of more crafts to attract interests, the students will not be forced but invited, but will have less leisure time.

For the older groups, vocational guidance was suggested, so that youth would it serve as a form of recreation, but it would provide the necessary training for the acceptance of future jobs.

Again through his policy of cooperation, Dr. Eyman stressed that it is the obligation of both parents and community to see that all its members receive an adequate religious philosophy of life and living.

"None of these solutions will be successful," he concluded, "without the assistance of the social service clubs, women's club, and legal bodies, cooperating hand in hand with the youths to make a well-rounded program."

Juniors May See Results of Exams

Dr Hazel Stevenson, professor of English at Florida State College, announced today that all juniors who wish to see the results of their work in the October examinations in the composition may do so the week of January 14, in room 202 of the Westcott building.

Conference hours have been set at 9, 10, and 11 a. m. and 3 and 4 p. m. said Dr Stevenson. Students are asked to come at the beginning of an hour. To prevent possible bottlenecks, the committee on student health is asking those students whose names begin with the letters A through P to come on Wednesday or Thursday, and those whose names begin with the letters Q through Z to come on Friday or Saturday.

Classic Play Enacted Here

FSC Students See Tragedy On 1946 Artist Series

"Romeo and Juliet," the first Artist Series presentation of this year, was performed by members of the National Classic Theatre last Saturday evening in Westcott auditorium.

The troup is made up of young professional actresses from various parts of the country. Originally cast and directed in New York by Mrs Clare Tree Major, their director, the group has been producing their Shakespeare repertory in a tour since October.

After the Tallahassee performance the troup left to continue their tour through Valdosta, Georgia; DuPuisk Springs, Florida; Augusta, Georgia; Lynchburg, Virginia; and Greenville, South Carolina.

The Romeo of the production, Herbert Lindo, was recently discharged from the army and is a new member of the group. He is a native of Texas and entered the army in 1943 he had done considerable work in radio in Texas and was a student at St Vincent's College in Pennsylvania. Although he prefers professional work, Lindo said that he would like to play

Continued on page three

Contest Sponsored For Renaming Spic

Blount Buys Establishment; Remodeling Underway

A campus-wide contest for renaming the "Spic-and-Span" will be held from January 10 to January 20 by Mr L D Blount, half-owner of the Sweet Shop, who bought the Spic during Christmas vacation.

There will be a prize of ten dollars in merchandise for the name chosen, according to the new owner of the Spic. All contestants are to mail their entries to Mr Blount, 701 West Capital street, Tallahassee.

Another change apparent to students when they returned to the campus after vacation was the remodeling which has been done in the interior of the Sweet Shop, the new ceiling and partitions of white Celotex tile have been added. Also the new indirect fluorescent lights have replaced the former eight. Mr Blount says that more of these are to be added later. Parts of the interior of the shop have been newly painted green, and the floor has been oiled. Booths have been enclosed by a counter in order to make service as rapid as possible and danger created by crowding, according to Mr Blount.

The new arrangement of the Spic is to take place in the near future. No definite date for remodeling has been set by Mr Blount, but some new equipment is to be added soon, according to the manager.

Recital Postponed

Miss Olga Kitner's violin recital, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed because of illness during the holidays. A further announcement will be made as to the date it will be held.

1946 Officers To Be Elected By Freshmen

Perry Announced Petitions Of Candidates Due Tuesday Night

Regulations for Location of Posters Is Undecided

Freshman elections officially began at house meetings last Tuesday night when the freshman elections committee, directed by Lois Merriwether, explained the calendar of events, the two weeks of petitions, posters, introductions of nominees, and actual primary and final elections, according to Audrey Perry, the freshman advisor.

The officers to be elected are: class president, vice president, five senators, secretary, treasurer, parliamentarian, and athletic manager.

Procedures and Calendar Planned

Freshmen are already signing petitions to nominate prospective candidates before the first light bash, Tuesday, January 14. At that time every freshman interested in the office and all the eleven offices must have turned in to her house president's room in the Student Union Building signed by 25 members of her class, according to Audrey and by the last list of qualifications for candidacy which appeared on pages 22-26 of the Blue and White. No one person is supposed to sign two petitions for the same office.

Tradition Ignored

Nominees will be introduced at a class meeting Thursday, January 16, at 7:15 pm. Miss Merriwether said that she would like to have all campaign signs in and out of sight on the campus. Posters will appear not earlier than immedi-

Continued on Page Three

Articles Published By Professor Vance

Subjects Concern Education And Press Criticism

Two articles by Professor Earl Vance of the journalism department have recently appeared in national publications, one a critical article on the press and the other on education.

The latter, which appeared in the December issue of the Association of Higher Education Bulletin under the title of "Education and Postwar Planning," is a discussion of the role of education in a democratic society and the changes needed in education to fulfill this role.

Quoting from the report of the Commission on Liberal Education of the Association of American Colleges this is stated: "We are appalled by the multiplicities of unrelated and isolated courses, by the fragmentation of subject matter, by a type of specialization that is destructive of cultural integration." Mr Vance adds: "If any really fundamental reforms are in progress, I do not know where they are . . . The reports of chances I have seen are largely concerned with exclusive incidentals—here is add-

Continued on Page Three

Senator Claude Pepper will give an address tonight on the subject of "Our International Relations," at 8 o'clock in Westcott auditorium.

FSC Concert To Be Monday

Dance Ensemble, Soprano Will Participate

On Monday evening, January 14, at 8:15 in the Westcott auditorium the college orchestra, assisted by Mrs Patricia Millett, soprano, and a modern dance ensemble, will present a concert. The orchestra will be under the direction of Walter Rest Cowles.

Mrs Millett, instructor in voice at Florida State College, is to sing in the place of Miss Katherine Stickney who was originally scheduled to sing but is unable to be present.

The evening's program will be divided into two sections. The first section will include the overture from The Marriage of Figaro by Mozart, "Prelude in C Major," "Prelude in B Flat Minor," and "Prelude in E Flat Minor" from The Well Tempered Clavachord by Bach.

The second section of the program will include Haydn's Symphony in D Major which includes "Adagio Allegro," "Andante," "Minuetto," and Allegro Spiritoso." Mrs Millett will sing "Aries un Reve" by Faure and "O Don Fatale" from Don Carlos by Verdi. The modern dance group will present "Slavonic Dance in C Major" by Dvorak.

The modern dance ensemble will be under the direction of Miss Colleen Papaioun with choreography by Miss Margaret Clements. Those in the group will

Continued on Page Three

YWCA Announces Essay Contest

An essay contest sponsored by the Women's Press Magazine has been announced by the YWCA. The subject of the essay is "Our Responsibility as United States Citizens for the United Nations Organization." The deadline for the manuscripts is January 31.

The contest is limited to undergraduate women students in the colleges inside the continental United States. The length should be between 1800 and 2000 words; the essay should be typed, double-spaced on white bond paper, and 8 1-2 by 11 inches, with the author's full name typed in the upper left hand corner of the first page.

First prize will be $100 second prize $50, and ten honorable mentions will receive a year's subscription to the Women's Press Magazine, the national magazine of YWCA.

All manuscripts from Florida State College students should be handed in to Dot Lee, box 2128, and sent through the campus mail.

Any further information may be found on the YWCA bulletin board in lower Westcott.

Flastacowo to Have Snapshot Contest

A snapshot contest sponsored by the 1946 Flastacowo has been announced by the staff throughout January.

Students are urged to get their cameras out and take some pictures to enter in the contest stated Jane Lore, editor of the year. Also she wants the girls to look over their photographs taken previously this year and to turn in the good ones. Thanksgiving homecoming activity snaps are especially wanted said Jane. Other pictures should include campus scenes and activities.

Prizes will be given when all the entries have been turned in at the end of January. The snapshots will be used for the activities section of the Flastacowo.

All entries should be sent to Box 2128, Campus Mail.

Claude Pepper Will Lecture 8:00 Tonight

International Relations Is Senator's Topic Of Address

All Artist's Series Tickets Honored at Gate

Senator Claude Pepper, member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, will speak on "Our International Relations," tonight at 8 pm. in Westcott auditorium. Senator Pepper, who has recently returned from an extended tour of the governments of Europe, will be a guest of the college, not of the Artist Series or any committee or organization.

The address will be broadcast by remote control over radio station WTAL, and a section of 500 seats will be reserved for townspeople, according to Bertha Bloodworth, publicity director.

Some of the more recent and important bills and resolutions Mr Pepper has introduced in the Senate were: a resolution to provide Federal aid for readjustment of World War II veterans of civil life; a bill on reconversion unemployment benefits; a bill to promote the progress of science and the useful arts, to secure the national defense and advance the national health and welfare and establish a national policy and resolution on the formation of

Continued on Page Four

Cossacks to Make Return Engagement

Chorus Slated to Appear in Westcott January 26

The original Don Cossack chorus will be presented in a return engagement on January 26 in Westcott auditorium, Miss Ruth Bryan holding "A" Artist series tickets.

The group will feature the same basses and tenors as they were seen by Florida State College audiences last year with Serge Jaroff, their leader, again directing the chorus. The program for the coming performance has not yet been announced, according to Karl O Kuerstener, dean of the School of Music.

Founded in 1920 near Constantinople by a troup of Russian soldiers fleeing the Red armies, the project of Mr Jaroff, the only choir member of the six-foot soldiers. He was able to lead his comrades because of his experience as a bandmaster and has produced the present trained ensemble.

As the choir of the Orthodox Cathedral of St Sophia, the singers were heard by one of the worshipers, a concert manager, who started them on their first concert tour. Now they have traveled having sung in Australia, New Zealand, India, Africa, and Europe.

IRC Membership Offered Students

The International Relations Club is holding its quarterly membership drive today and tomorrow, and all students are cordially invited to join and also the upperclassmen who did not have the opportunity to join in November. This quarter, announced Doris Hill, IRC vice-president.

Doris, who is assuming full responsibilities of IRC president, previously performed by Sarah McCalla, now interning, also announces a new policy to be instituted to IRC. This policy is to extend a special invitation to all foreign students at the college and those foreign students who join will not be required to pay the regular membership fee of 50 cents. All foreign students who are interested are urged to come to leave their names at the table in lower Westcott today and tomorrow.

Initiation Held

Three new members who were initiated into the Phi Kappa Phi honorary December 13 were Elsie Lucille Jerry and Elizabeth Fay Smith of the School of Education and Mary-Esther Parker of the School of Home Economics.

Following the initiation which was held in the library at 5:30 p. m. a ernoon in the club room of the Longmire building, members of the honorary were served refreshments.

Phi Kappi Phi is a general honorary which recognizes high scholastic standards from other colleges. The president of the honorary is Miss Daisy Parker, instructor in political science.

Legman Dispels Popular Conception of Reportorial Research, Laments Sad Fate o Flambeau N ewshound in Getting the News

By JEAN DOUGLAS

It's a fact! Fit, that's what it is! By that I mean the recent round of reportorial research that I've been on. A Flambeau reporter, bound." Little does the average Westcott, still a "head of knit" goes into the proficient pewvipers, lamentable conception of the city's trunsbasket fodder which is the fate of a Flambeau after what it's been through.

Contrary to popular belief, the average reporter does not automatically come into being with a nose for news, rather like a bird dog, radar set, and the herring' of an alarm clock at some ungodly hour. Most reporters have been bring her leaping from bed to the teletype (if such there may be in a dormitory room.) No, she's no more eager than any other campus bearer...If the truth may be told she's probably much less so than most "normal" eager campus bearers.

The average reporter may have got bewrit into the inner sanctum by jolly wonderinw what fi ll in that 1 inch of space that is to be it's printed, and following up the thought by joining a class in that particular field. Others more interested may have considered themselves sure-running by dire forewarnings, but leaped in anyway. At any rate, they all wound up bearing the title "reporter" and wearing the inquisitive but wary look of those "no ask stupid questions strictly from hunger.

If the fundamentals of news writing are not known to the beginning reporter, she speedily learns them. Such concentrating 5-w's-and-the-h, editorial comprehension, headline schedules, styles, headlines, deadlines, deadlines and deadlines are rapidly mixed at her, and before she knows it are shoved into her hands, and she is sent out into the world to ask her own dumb questions.

F Club Hellweek is child's play compared to the 36-odd Friday-to-Friday weeks of the Flambeau staff. The week begins, or rather it resumes on Friday morning when assignments are posted by the various editors. Assignments fall into four fields: news, sports, features and society. It is the duty of each branch of the editorial staff to anticipate the news events of the week, to list them, and to assign each beat to a reporter. Features may be assigned by the editor, or left to the imagination and discretion of the reporter.

Then the slidy circle begins. Reporters are told to research often term termed "legmen," and our hero is no exception, to prove the truth of the epithet. 'Round and 'round and 'round she goes, where she stops nobody knows. Such concentrating sources of her sought-for-information, persistence, a dash of Sherlock Suspicion, mistrust, and lack of cooperation on the parts of the people she interviews, ought have to be the main bases of the reporter's existence. Inaccuracy and lack of interest in the handling out of facts can also play hob with a reporter's sanity, and can make old, bent, wild-eyed hags out of youthful, happy-go-lucky girls. Because said homework are arranged to occupy a good part of a student's time, and those who undertake the extra load of Flambeau reporting have to be assured feel that this is a vital and much-needed job if they are handled busily. The task of both reporters and editors may be made infinitely lighter or much more difficult by the cooperation—or lack of it—by the girls from those who are sources of news. Consider the situation. The editors are sunk if they don't get the news; the reporters get bitten if they don't get the news; and the reporter may get bitten also by the person from whom she must get the news. She is caught often right between the devil and the deep blue sea, for she whom she'd prefer to be bitten by. You can't win.

This mag merely begins a week. When the material is gathered, the first draft is to write it up in newspaper form. The blithe spirits who pass by the Longmire building Flambeau office in search of cokes, cones, or recreation, may well pause in a moment of silent prayer for the twisted forms bent in agony over burning typewriters within the room.

When this labor of love(?) is

Continued on page three

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

● THANKSGIVING IN JANUARY

There once was a little girl named Susie who went to Florida State College. She "just loved" the school 'cause it seemed that there were just holidays, holidays, and holidays! Three was Thanksgiving, then hone for Christmas and the New Year, and as soon as she got back to school there was a celebration similar to that held on Thanksgiving.

No one had been able to tell her the name of this "holiday in January" but judging from the actions of the other students she figured it must be a time of great merriment—sorta like the demonstrations held during Thanksgiving week.

There was a program in the auditorium—like at Thanksgiving. There were characters on the stage with colorful costumes—like in the demonstrations. The lines the characters spoke did not mean as much to her as those in the dems, but after all, the guest entertainers who didn't go to school here could not be expected to know what the students liked!

The holiday spirit was rampant, though, and this little girls and her classmates were delighted to be going home for the program.

But even Susie was somewhat puzzled when the performance was over. She seemed to remember that when the demonstrations were over the main characters received numerous curtain calls and there was a great deal of appreciation shown by loud applause. At this January performance the curtains were hardly together before Susie's classmates started running for the door.

But then, these entertainers were strangers. Susie guessed her classmates could be expected to show more enthusiasm over their own friends who appeared in the dems than over these people whom they didn't even know.

But wait—what was that her mother had told her about being especially kind and considerate of visitors? Were these actors her visitors? "Why, of course not, silly," thought Susie to herself. "I just go to school here!"

● "OUTSTANDING STUDENTS"

With the hustling activities of convocation, class meetings, Odd-Even sports, and sorority gatherings; it doesn't take long for a student on this campus to almost completely lose sight of the main purpose of a college.

The state, the parents, and the government all contribute either through taxes or appropriations to make FSCW a seat of learning and higher knowledge. Thousands of dollars each year are spent for teachers of outstanding ability and a shelf stuffed of new books and periodicals. Special research and planning have gone into each selection of Artist Series and for special guest speakers that appear on this campus each year.

Yet a new freshman entering this school might very soon get the impression that to make good and to get the most out of her college experience she must attend all meetings possible, join numerous clubs, and literally spend hours of her time in extra-curricular activities.

Isn't it quite evident, she reasons, that all the so called "outstanding" students do just that with their time. Don't they usually exhibit various and sorts of pins, letters, and ribbons—all symbols of outside interests on this campus?

Therefore the ambitious new freshman squeezes her schedule with extra-curricular duties—practice periods, limitations, teas, executive meetings, and weeks of goating. Her afternoons are filled up to supper time and her evenings are full of requirements to attend meetings, write minutes, and print special invitations.

The thought of study becomes remote and she soon learns the art of cramming two hours of study into one hour, taking so called "snap" courses, and signing up for "easy teachers." Her grades fall gradually but her offices and extra-curricular points mount higher and higher. She wins an election by a long margin and passes off a C in her major as satisfactory.

By the time she becomes a senior she is well known on the campus and may even be voted one of the 10 outstanding students by her admiring classmates. Her picture is on almost every page of the annual and she inwardly boasts of the long string of activities listed beside her name.

But what did she learn in college—how to get along with people and the special qualities of leadership? That is all well and good, but what about some honest to goodness schooling? Did she learn to appreciate good art, recognize classical music, acquire special knowledge in history, and enjoy reading the higher types of literature?

After all, the main purpose of this college and all colleges is to teach her these things. The state and her parents spent money to allow her the opportunity to be around higher learning and to absorb some of its volumes of knowledge that man through centuries of hard labor has compiled "back on the beam?" It isn't impossible to have dorm sessions and bibles that can be instructive as well as entertaining. When housesessions are necessary, why not have them short, to the point, non-repetitious, interesting, and important?

From an editorial in the Lone Star Texas Standard, College for Women.

Looking through a copy of the Soo-wester of Southwestern in Memphis, we found there a write-up of a dance that listed all who attended the functions and their dates. The only trouble being, they also listed the girls who didn't take dates!

The sick period is all right, you feel satisfied to just lie there and count the wooden slats in the venetian blinds. But the recuperation period thus causes all the trouble. Twice they caught me

College Comments . . .

By BARBARA BECKMAN

House meetings no longer seem to serve the purpose for which they were put into use, many students say. At the present time the weekly gatherings within each dorm have slipped back until there remains only a few relatively unimportant announcements to be made at the meeting of the class song. . .

Although there have been a few suggestions, there is no real need to eliminate housemeetings. . . So why not get the house-mother back "back on the beam?" It isn't impossible to have dorm sessions and bibles that can be instructive as well as entertaining. When housesessions are necessary, why not have them short, to the point, non-repetitious, interesting, and important?

From an editorial in the Lone Star Texas Standard, College for Women.

Looking through a copy of the Soo-wester of Southwestern in Memphis, we found there a write-up of a dance that listed all who attended the functions and their dates. The only trouble being, they also listed the girls who didn't take dates!

The sick period is all right, you feel satisfied to just lie there and count the wooden slats in the venetian blinds. But the recuperation period thus causes all the trouble. Twice they caught me somnia." She thinks that Home Ec majors live above her but is not certain. She really evidenced that at twelve every night they retire and arrange their furniture. Our advice is to employ what we call ('and seldom use) the diplomatic method. Using this technique, "Insomnia" should stop by the room above immediately and comment on the beauty and perfect arrangement of it.

We have a letter from "Indignant" who says that she is frequently accused of being Sharpie. We would advise her to ask her a roommate to pull the knives out of her back and the next time she's accused of being Sharpie, express her thanks. This can be done in a dignified way that will kiss the besiever of the compliment on both cheeks, or in the good old down-home way—save your old copies of the Flambeau for her.

Next week we start our series of "Sharpie's Famous Quotations." Contributions should be carefully clipped and placed in your second bureau drawer. If you can't find any, be sure they'll be read next time there's a judiciary search. See you around, brat?

○ COMES THE RESOLUTION

The New Year and the new quarter made their appearance almost simultaneously. Students of Florida State College who saw the year born in the midst of revelry and confusion were on their way back to college a day or two later and were greeted somewhat less hilarious confusion of registration for the new quarter.

It is highly probable that most students have, as individuals, made many and varied resolutions for the year ahead. It is even possible that some of these resolutions remain unbroken. But as students, having finished the first week of school, though commendably to do so, may yet be following their study schedules with meritorious devotion to duty, passing up coffee at the Sweet Shop for an extra half hour of study in the library, refraining from bumming cigarettes from friends, or sweeping out their rooms more often than once a quarter.

All of this is well and good. Such resolutions, if kept, are conducive to a spirit of self-respect and to the good will of one's friends. Yet would it not be desirable perhaps to add to the list a few other resolutions conducive to development of the thoughtfulness and maturity of judgment of the student?

It might be salutary, for instance, if they should realize that they are, after all, a rather large proportion of the persons at FSC, and should determine to take upon themselves the responsibility of learning more about the two worlds in which they live—the world without the campus and the world within. The student who might resolve to read a number of authoritative books on various social, economic, and political problems of the day, would almost certainly glean from her reading certain interesting facts which might even undo some of the prejudices she presented. She might, in order to further her knowledge of the campus, resolve to attend the various student forums where campus problems are frequently discussed, and to go to Student Senate where these problems are thrashed out and either made into laws and roommendations or dismissed.

These resolutions are not new or revolutionary in any way. They have no doubt been made and hroken before. Yet they might, at least, serve in the capacity of reminding students that they are presumably in college to gain an education and the understanding which is an integral part of that education.

From Me To Y'all

SHARPIE

Everybody's wanting advice these days so if we haven't gotten around to your particular problem, don't worry, we will. That's our arrange their furniture. Our adonly new year's resolution—not to vice is to employ what we call overlook any bits of advice which we can dole out.

The first of all we have a letter from "Normal" who wants to know if it is possible to get a hearing device to be used exclusively at Artist Series concerts. She also didn't state her income or even enclose the address of an available male, how she expect a prompt reply? It might be a good idea, however, since the performances actors on the stage make so much noise that I almost missed the quips, laughter and applause from the audience. I said "almost," not quite, unfortunately.

A letter from "Uncomfortable" relates a tale of a roommate who has shifty eyes. We think that this problem is under jurisdiction of the college if you'll remember last year's safety rule. "Repors any suspicious-looking characters you draw."

This next letter is from a girl who covly signs her name, "In-

MAGAZINE JOTTINGS

By CATHARINE NOLLMAN

First In War—Last In Peace

In the current issue of the Atlantic Monthly Mr David L Cohn discusses the question: "Can we prevent another war?" Mr Cohn answers the world's

"We are losing the peace. We are losing the peace as we lost the last. These are the author's opening statements. We entered the war with the best intentions but into it and at no time have we developed any definite conception concerning the peace. After "creating such miracles of military engineering" and bringing the end to other peoples reared us with awe, we have behaved in the field of "political vacuum." We blame the British and Russians and Mr Truman for the world's

Aware of what atomic energy may do we none-the-less court a false peace. Mr Cohn quotes Bernheimer testified before a Senate sub-committee that "the atomic bomb has actually weakened the military position of the United States."

During the war, says Mr Cohn, we vowed to remain the world's "arsenal of democracy" and to keep mobilizing our armed forces in a "state of readiness." We were hysterical." Our failures as a people are illustrated by our failures in Japan and Germany. Mr Cohn makes his statement emphatically . . . "Japan is a country where Coca-Cola out ox yokei naivete, our puppy friendliness, our good-time-Johnny optimism, our Main Street desire to be popular, our easy-going small-town ways, to deal with a people whose ruthlessness, tenacity, power, and cunning are so great that twice within a generation and at incalculable cost we have nearly the whole world to defeat them."

Why We Fail

We failed first by being neglisent in teaching our soldiers the political background of the war and the character of the people whose country they were to occupy. There were occupation courses, but from the top down they were too often considered inconsequential and therefore not taken seriously. Reports coming according to reports from our Military Government in Germany many of the German women, far more than the men, are unreconstructed Nazis, who yearn for a strong nev Fuehrer." These same reports have found the ends of our forces that a dispatch in Time (October 15, 1945) stated that "by Germans and by many a discerning U.S. officer, the myth of ruin of Germany and Austria was being called 'the government of interpreters and mistresses.'"

Mr Cohn concludes his article by saying that "fate by making us a mighty people has decreed that we shall either lead the earth or be cast face down in the pool of destruction." We are capable of leading the world to peace if we throw off our political laziness, and quit trying to be isolationist. We have been called upon for vast resources and overpowering physical might. In the world we have been summoned to power, but will because we have no articulate continental ambitions. The requirement we must develop and exercise is the willness to accept our testing as a leader and begin by making concrete decisions.

We have been called . . . says Mr Cohn, "to the hill of the Lord to lead the weary nations to peace, but if we do not heed the call we shall perish in the sands of the desert before reaching the promised land."

In This Our Time

The Nation

President Truman in his first public address of the year' told the American people that this year "We must lay the foundation of our economic structure which will have to serve for generations." The President's message, delivered as a radio talk in advance of his annual "State of the Union" message to Congress, was a review of the nation's domestic affairs since the surrender of Japan on August 14. The President found much promise for the future in those months, but in taking his troubles to the people right over the heads of Congress, his disappointment of Congressional inaction on the whole program of Government planning-for-prosperity and labor's criticism of the Fact-finding machinery against which he had hoped would end the reconversion strike wave was evident.

During the time since V-J Day most of the government controls, which in the war regulated almost every phase of American life, have been relaxed to the point where they apply only in certain fields of rationing and pricing. Strides have been made toward return of the economy to a peacetime basis. "About 5,000,000 fulltime jobs have been mustered out of the service and returned to work without friction and several million others have lost wartime jobs, yet unemployment is not yet back to the 3,000,000 estimated for the end of the year."

The bright side of the reconversion picture is only a partial glimpse of the "State of the Union" that President Truman delivered to Congress.

Whether Congress was to blame or not, fact-finding machinery of weeks' investigation and suggestion by President Truman's fact-finding committee, it would appear that intervention in the General Motors-United Automobile Workers strike was of little avail.

General Motor's legal mind, W C Merritt, sent a statement to the fact-finding panel arguing that "no fact-finding board could do more than guess at the Company's ability to pay wages in the future" and that "ability to pay does not a legal concept mean, anyway, since it could only result in forcing some industries or some companies to become 'superwage' lither than its competitors were paying."

Lower Merritt holds that the issue is not primarily one of wage or between GM and its workers rather it is an issue of "ideology and national policy which really belongs to Congress."

Merritt contends, "One big monopoly unions dealing with substantially all production in the industry, seems to the future policy that it aims to settle the problems of wages, prices and profits for the entire industry around one collective bargaining table. . . . If this happens our anti-trust law, which begins our economic competition and forbid collusive combinations between labor and management, must fall. . . ."

Having thus stated manage-

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANEY ROGERS ..... Editor
ANNE DAUTHEL, PEGGY KAY GOIN, BYRD RODGERS ..... Managing Editor
MARY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LO THOMSON ..... News Editors

Jerry Editor ..... Lois Rose
Columnist ..... Betty Jo Mallard
Feature Editor ..... Barbara Bell
Assistant Managing Editor ..... Marjie Fisher
Sports Editor ..... Betty Gober
Assistant Managing Editor ..... Jeanne Shea
Society Editor ..... Betty Gober
Literary Editor ..... Catherine Nollman
Typist ..... Jerry Crume, Barbara Wheeler
Picture Editor ..... Dee Gardner
Art Editor ..... Jean Gardner
Assistant Art Editor ..... Jean Gardner

REPORTERS: Alida Armstrong, Alvara Ashe, Joselyn Ayers, Eleanor Bayer, Barbara Beckman, Jean Bess, Paulette Bloch, Virginia Budd, Laura Lee Bridges, Jean Douglas, Martha Jo Dunagan, Barbara Ferrell, Jane Fleming, Jean Gaff, Winifred Lane, Barbara Lanford, Jo Mingela, Jacqueline Revere, Frances Perry, Jean Rhodes, Mary Jane Sherman, Elaine Shuler, Betty Strader, Kay Van Doorn.

BUSINESS STAFF

Hazen Tarpley ..... Business Manager
Jane Ellis ..... Assistant Business Manager
Kitty Charles ..... Advertising Manager

Entered as second class mail matter January 20, 1925, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla. under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

It is the policy of the Flambeau to grant equal space and consideration to anyone wishing to present a contrary opinion whenever opinions on controversial questions are voiced in its columns.

Army Changes Plans

In light of recent protest against the Army's demobilization policy, General Dwight D Eisenhower chief of staff, cabled orders to all theater commanders directing them to send home any men not needed, no matter what their point score.

Athletes Feats . . .

By Evelyn Shea

Kid fellows, here we are in a new year and along with comes a brand new sports season. This quarter all volleyball basketball, and swimming enthusiasts will have an opportunity to demonstrate their skills in Odd-Even competition.

As the pool is not in use at present because of being in use the swimming teams will not be able to practice for two days yet. Carol Claus is the Even swimming leader and B J Singleton and Sis Myers are co-leaders for the Odds.

In the Odd cap we find Clarice Trueblood, leader of the basketball team. Clarice reports 44 cagers out for their practice of the season. The Odds have six remaining players from last year's team. "These freshmen have really come out for everything so far this year," Trueblood declared "and from the looks of the freshmen out this quarter basketball we should have a strong team come March 2."

Over in the Even camp Mart Wilson, Even basketball leader declared that over 30 sophomores and seniors turned in a response to the first call. The Evens also have six players back from last year's team. From the looks of things now, the basketball games this year should prove quite interesting.

Also in the Odd camp we find Marli Richardson, Odd volleyball leader. Marli is building a new team this year, having only a few of last year's members returning. However, with the 40 or more girls who turned out for Marli should have no difficulty in producing a crackerjack team.

In the Even camp Sarah Bennett, Even volleyball leader is hard at work with her 37 turnouts. Sarah declared that she has lots of good material but that the girls are in need of plenty of polishing. She stated that with six returning members the situation is in better state than last year at this time.

Apply for Bridge Fiends . . .

Theresa Nunroe, intramurals manager, has asked that sports captains in the dormitories and sorority houses see her at once at 671 as soon as possible for the purpose of arranging in the names of the two girls from each hall who are participating in the bridge tournament. More information about this tournament which is to be held January 28, on the first floor of the Longmire building, will be announced shortly.

You Know . . .

That Babe Evans and Jo Guthrie are both interning this quarter, Babe in Gainesville and Jo in Punta Gorda. Barbara Ann Long taking Babe's place this quarter as F club president and Clarice Trueblood is presiding as WAA leader in Jo's place . . .

That Louise Fernandez former intramurals manager and member of F club is back on campus for a visit . . .

That Jimmy McCann recently discharged from the ARS is visiting here now and will return next September as a student, to take up where she left off in her athletic duties.

Athlete of the Week . . .

Miss Calispe Papatzos, Odd basketball coach and instructor in physical education, pulled the best pun this week. As we asked her about the Odds playing she quipped, "We played all over the floor," referring to the newly waxed floor, but practically impossible to play on.

That's all for now, but there's still plenty of time for any new gals who are interested in playing these sports to get started so come on out so that we may have a share of fun.

Woman Leader

Continued from page one

of Soas" and "Portrait of Tristan" which is the biography of her minister father.

Thompson Visits Europe Recently

Also by Miss Thompson appearing intermittently in the London Times and monthly in Ladies Home Journal. Miss Thompson visited the continent in the fall of 1935 where she visited Reconstruction camps and wrote of conditions article, "The Lesson of Britain" which appeared in last winter's issue of the Journal. Miss Thompson also served as correspondent in Vienna, and a few years she was chief of the Central European Bureau of the New York Evening Post in which position she was the only woman. Her column, "On the Rec- of that organization.

Informal Teas Fete New Students Here

An informal tea honoring all freshmen and second quarter transfer students will be held Tuesday afternoon, January 15, from 5 to 6 in the main lounge of the Longmire Building.

ord" is now appearing in over 50 newspapers, according to Who's Who In America, seven and a half million people are readers of Dorothy Thompson.

An informa. reception will be given by Dr. Doak Campbell in the Longmire building immediately after the lecture for all those who wish to meet her.

The Alpha Chi Omega sorority is planning a tea in Miss Thompson's honor as she is an alumna of the college.

No appointment necessary

Tooley Myron Studios

Master Photography

Complete Your 1946 Wardrobe

With Chic New Shoes From

BUTLERS, INC.

224 S. MONROE

Life Saving Corps Plans Initiation

17 to Be Admitted at Outing At Wakulla Springs

Plans for the initiation of 17 new members and for an outing to Wakulla springs were made at a meeting of the Life Saving corps yesterday evening, according to Anna Horne, acting president of the group this quarter.

Plans are also underway for the classes for senior lifters and instructors, which will begin in the near future. Students wishing to participate in these courses are asked to see Margery Holm, who will have charge of the senior life saving class. Miss Margaret Stanion, instructor in physical education, will teach the instructors' course.

Anna also stated that all senior life saving and instructors are being requested to sign up on a bulletin board in lower Westcott for swimming classes or plunge periods.

Those who recently passed their senior life saving examination and will become new members of the Life Saving corps include: Betty Donally, Robin Lawson, Clarice Trueblood, Betty Jo Brown, Peggy Rumph, Jean Nellenbogen, Betty Jean Gilberson, Mona Perguson, Betty Jean Hall, Sarah Skeets Leyda, Barbara Chaffee, Elaine Brown, Jane Schwartz, Zathis Owen, Virginia Goodell and Bunni Pandolfino.

1946 Officers

Continued from page one

ately after the Thursday meeting, according to announcements made in the house meetings. Announcements of the slates of officers on posters may be posted on the outside, not the inside, of bulletin boards, and may be placed in the ladies rooms, on doors and bulletin boards in the Longmire, Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence, had not decided on the time for elections but stated at the time this paper went to press, according to Miss Horne.

Primary elections will be held from 9 a m to 6 p m in the house presidents' meeting will be held Wednesday, January 23, from 5 p m to 6 p m in the counselor's rooms. The winning candidate must receive a majority of all the votes cast, the regulations further state.

In the case of the elections a the freshman elections committee composed of Lois Meriweather, Frances Cooper, Lois Flannery, and Catherine Barrs, according to Mabrey.

Sigman

Continued from page one

finished and the story completed it is time to set the hook with a deep sish of relief. The editors then remove the manuscripts papers from the hooks and checking the stories for punctuation, grammar and copy. Headlines are written for each story, and the copywriting and typewriting of the story is indicated, after which all stories are rolled in a bundle and placed on the office of the Tallahassee Democrat.

The paper is printed on Thursday night by the editorial staff of the paper and any babies reporters may have had a number in it as an inopportune moment, who deserve to be printed in the main issue of the Longmire Building.

FSC Faculty

Continued from page one

America; Coral Gables, Florida, Athens, Georgia; Charleston, South Carolina; Quanstico, Rhode Island; and Dallas, Texas. A Dallas, he trained officers in advanced navigation. Before entering the Navy, Mr. Cason taught in this school from 1939 to 1941. He is a graduate of the University of Florida, where received his M A degree at the University of North Carolina.

One of the three instructors who joined the faculty for the first time this quarter is Miss Mary McKinnon, instructor in economics and commerce, who taught at Wesleyan College in Macon, Georgia before coming to FSC. Miss McKinnon received her A B degree at the University of Illinois and her M A at Northwestern University.

Miss Edna E Van Syoc, cataloger in the college library, came here from Oregon State College in Corvallis, Oregon. Miss Van Syoc graduated from Simpson College in Indianola, Iowa. She received her Library and Science degree at the University of Illinois.

Mrs Maxine Putnam, a former graduate of FSC and also obtaining her M A degree here has accepted the position of instructor in English. Mrs Putnam was a teacher for several years in Florida High School.

LUGGAGE - JEWELRY WATCHES

Nationally Famous Brands

HOLLEY JEWELERS

COLLEGE AND ADAMS

Tarpon Club Elects Singleton President

Betty Jane Singleton was elected president of Tarpon club at their meeting Monday afternoon. Other officers chosen were Carol Claus, vice-president, and Anna Lou Rivers, secretary. Betty Jane has been active participant in Tarpon club this year, filling out the unexpired term of Mary Louise Perry, who did not return.

Further plans for new suits and emblems for the senior lifters were discussed and it was announced by Betty Jane that leaders of the Tarpon club pin will be submitted next week.

Initiation of Tarpon minnows will take place on January 20, at Wakulla springs.

Chairman Named

The Women's Athletic Association has appointed Betty Hall chairman to the office of chairman of the playnight committee. She is to fill the place left vacant by Anne Widergrust, who, is interning this quarter.

The first playnight committee meeting of this quarter is being held for the purpose of re-dunning and formulating detailed plans for playnights at the Florida Union, according to the new chairman.

Twenty-Seven

Continued from page one

minds about their state's educational institution.

"Entering a college which has a new system of courses which are entirely different than that of your high school is pretty difficult," complained one girl. "And mid-term high school graduates time because they cannot enter until the third quarter which begins in April, since our whole college has the quarter system, Florida's high schools should inaugurate a similar schedule!" announced a ready student who has been told by the registrar when asking to go into certain subjects, "Beginning classes in the subjects you desire are not offered this quarter."

Switching the conversation from questions about studies to that of comacho, this typewriter-shocked dropped all her writing paraphalia when she heard the question, "How do you like the food here?" these brand new freshmen chorused with one voice in opinion, "We think it is wonderful!" The single exception said that she was of the idea that too many starches are served and that freshmen should be allowed to receive only enough food for slight, but more attacking the RULES governing meals, the use of life insurance and when after which all stories are rolled in a bundle and placed on the office of the Tallahassee Democrat.

The paper is printed on Thursday night by the editorial staff of the paper and any babies reporters may have had a number in it as an inopportune moment, who deserve to be printed in the main lounge of the Longmire Building.

Art Exhibit Begins Today

Artist Series to Sponsor Still Life Display

An exhibition of Modern Still Life paintings, circulated by the Museum of Modern Art, New York will be held January 11 through January, 21 in the auditorium of the Longmire building. This exhibit is being held under the auspices of the Artist Series.

Discussion talks on the exhibition will be given during the week as follows: January 14, Miss Hinson Haughton, assistant professor of art; January 15, Miss Beatrice Williams, professor of art; January 16, Miss Haughton; January 17, Miss Williams; January 18, Miss Mary E Mooty, instructor in art; and January 21, Miss Mooty.

The 17 pictures include work by Braque, Demuth, Dickinson, Gris, Hartley, Klee, Knaths, Macler, Matisse, Maurer, Miro, Picasso, Rivera, Roy, Sheeler, and Weber, as well as early nineteenth century folk art.

Although centuries ago possessions which Vermeer and others painted were highly prized, museums today have lost some of their treasured value, explained the bulletin from the Museum of Modern Art. Still life is now regarded as intimate material which the painter either analyzes and manipulates or paints with individual character through the medium of particular arrangement. For example, in Pierre Roy's The Conch Pair, exasperated the tangibility of his still life by sharp-focus presentation of the accumulation of the subject into the foreground, giving the observer a perceptional view of these objects. Klee continued the effect of his painting, however with a subjective approach calling upon feelings, associations, emotions in the spectator in response to his composition. Pierre Bonnard tried to play up light falling upon homely everyday objects.

Still life, explained the bulletin, held a special interest and use to the Cubists and their followers. They emphasized arrangements of natural objects, analyzing them in terms of cones, cylinders, spheres and color areas of significance. They then selected physical objects and created a composition of shapes and colors which have a reality of their own. This is seen in the paintings by Picasso, Gris, Knaths and others.

The bulletin from Bulletin stated that the Americans, Maurer, Knaths, and Weber are interested in color and the painted surface for its own sake. Demuth maintains a natural interest in factual reporting; MacIver and Suba combine realism and a kind of individual fantasy. Hartley chooses a direct approach to subject matter, emotional response through impasse and violent color. Peter Blume is a master of painting still life of shrimps on a table than a linear design and a decorative arrangement of form.

Thus the exhibition presents a rich variety of contemporary styles in still life painting, from the direct observation of appreciation of a similar subject, said the Modern Art bulletin.

Bellamy to Speak To Science Academy

Mr R E Bellamy, Jr, son of Dr R E Bellamy, professor of sociology, will tell members of the Tallahassee Academy of Science of his work in the Caribbean at a meeting to be held on January 21 in the chemistry lecture room at Florida State College.

Mr Bellamy is an ex-service man who has been stationed in the Philippine, Sardinia, and Naples with the Sanitary Corps. He entered the Army shortly after the war was declared and, as a member of the Army Sanitary Corps, fought against the disease enemies, malaria and typhus. He also worked with the insecticide DDT.

The meeting of the Academy of Science has been postponed from January 11 to January 12.

Sweet Tooth?

Yum-Yum!

Try Our

ATOMIC BANANA SPLITS

DELICIOUS — YOU'LL LOVE 'EM

THE SWEET SHOP

"The World's Best Coffee"

Esteren Celebrates Fifteenth Birthday

Esteren, the honorary society recognizing leadership in the seven campuses, tapped nine new goats, an odd number, December 19. The fifth epidemic forced Esteren to postpone the celebration of her fifteenth birthday until last Wednesday night, according to Sarah Bennett, president of the organization.

The new goats are Frankie Hall, Peggy Lu Thomas, Connie Savage, Babs McCarthy, Betty Kennedy, Dalia Santos, Doral Claus, goal secretary; Catherine Sullivan, goat president; and Amarine Thomson, goal scrap-book chairman. It was the first time that Esteren has tapped this year.

The goats were Frankie Hall, Peggy Lu Thomas, Connie Savage, Babs McCarthy, Betty Kennedy, Dalia Santos, Doral Claus, goal secretary; Catherine Sullivan, goat president; and Amarine Thomson, goal scrap-book chairman. It was the first time that Esteren has tapped this year.

Following the secret rites discussed though no final selection was made by Esteren members in the Longmire building last Sunday night, Sarah reported.

Articles Published

Continued from page one

ed a year ago in a newly initiated course: there a new department directs its 'artificial barrier'; and now a new agency has been set up still another 'type of specialization hostile to a cultural integration.

"All of us, teachers and public, sense that something is wrong; that education is either hopelessly impotent or hopelessly remiss as regards the study vital concerns of men," the article continues. "Into the midst of this crisis of the laymen, who through thick and thin have supported education and his naive faith, if not in education, at least in schooling, is also beginning to be shaken."

After asserting that "if we are to build a future on the faith we have it must include the young for participation in democracy" Mr Vance says that "we have served minimum essentials of the social art . . . the minimum characteristics of the liberal performance of the democratic function in American society, and I think it is the primary responsibility of the schools to develop."

Mr Vance says (1) an understanding of the economic base of society, (2) awareness of the social issues we are at any given time, (3) awareness of the relationship science to the basic problems of life and welfare, (4) sufficient knowledge of science to cause the citizen to inform himself about them, (5) the habit of good current reading and the ability critically to evaluate such reading, (6) an adequate acquaintance with the best literature, (7) an adequate knowledge of the mass media and their modus operandi, and (8) the development in the growing citizen of habits conducive to democracy."

Mr Vance's feature article appeared in the December 10 issue of In Fact, a publication devoted to article articles about the American press, and was in the production of a pamphlet from an article earlier published in the Virginia Quarterly Review.

FSC Concert

Continued from page one

Alice Taff, Margery Holm, Evelyn Stuckey, Palmer Gilliam, Nancy Meadowcraft, and Marion Edwards.

Orchestra members taking part will be: Gladys Ford, Gladys Ann Bennett, Helen Bellen, Violin-cellos: Marilyn Dewey, Mary Du-Priest, flutes; Rachel Crowell, bass; Jane Hinke, Joy Little, Isabelle Redwine, Marna Smith, first violins; Virginia Alstock, Sara Bess Brown, Jo Ann Hinson, Shirley Faires, Rosalind Riesle, Gladys White, second violins; Dean Kari O Kuersteiner, Miss Olga Kilner, violas; Frances Duckworth, Anne McDonald, clarinets; Geraldine Farnsworth, bassoon; Annette Vitaly, French horn; Sidney Conner, E flat saxophone; Betty Jean Alder, Mercedes Futch, trumpet; Christine Morris-son, timpani; Mary Reeder, harp.

Alarm Clock Tolls Time of Departure

Those who heard the alarm ringing merrily out in the confusion of the Sweet Shop several nights ago will believe that this story was received from authoritative sources.

The owner of the alarm clock was among the unfortunates that turned in late Monday night but than the traditional 11 pm one night. Being duly ashamed of her dishonorable action, she determined not to repeat the performance. Thus, on her next date she went fully prepared with an alarm clock set for ringing in time for her to get back "in" on time.

So, if in the future you hear a fe-rring sometime near 10:46 pm, "Do no' ask for whom the bell tolls; it tolls for thee!"

Girls Begin Work In State Capitol

Two new interns have been assigned to the capitol combining practical experience with academic supervision in public administration, announced Dr Marion D Thornton, director of political science.

Peggy Kay Tampa, is working in the office of C H Overman, Director of the Florida Improvement Commission, and Carol Stevens, of Tallahassee, is assigned to the Personnel Office of the Industrial Commission under Robert J Jenkins.

Two interns assigned last quarter who are "continuing their work at the capitol are Virginia Collins, of Pinellas, in the office of Secretary of State, under the supervision of R A Gray; and Agnes Lee Wheeler, Jacksonville, in the office of Leon Weaver, Commission Director in the Industrial Commission.

All four students are seniors majoring in political science.

Classic Play

Continued from page one

parts of Ralph Richard III and Dorian Gray.

Juliet was played by Olga Ballah who is 27 and comes from Connecticut. A product of Mrs Major's school, she has been in "Blithe Spirit" and "Doughgirls." Preferring Shakespearean plays, Olga said that she would like to play Lady MacBeth and Portia. Her ambition to do the entire theatre work when "Romeo and Juliet" closes.

Mercutio, portrayed by Charles Gilbers, was the most experienced actor of the troup. He has had three years of radio experience and has done stock work in Marianna, Jacksonville. In addition to his radio and stock work, he has also four years of college and high room dancing and has appeared in "Naughty Marietta" and "Julius Caesar." Mrs Major declared Charles also said that he preferred Shakespeare and voiced a desire to play Hamlet.

Frederick Ritter, the Prior in the production is also born in Germany and has only been in the United States one year. He came from the Viennese theatre.

Another of Mrs Major's pupils, George Alan Robertson is also a part of Benvolio. Mr Smith was last discharged from the Navy and plans to attend Yale Drama school in the near future. He has been in the Shakespeare where he did summer stock work.

Lord Capulet was portrayed by Russell Wernekem, who attended the Fine Arts Society in Detroit and has had experience in radio. Recently discharged from the army, Mr Wernekem expressed his interest in television and stage direction are attraction to horror roles which he would like to play.

The newest player in the cast is Robert Field who played Tybalt. Mr Field attended the University of Texas for a year and a half and was graduated from Houston Junior College.

Repairs Made On Building

Tile Flooring Erupted in Longmire Building

Regular activities were resumed Monday morning in the Longmire building upon the completion of repairs being made on the tile floor in the main hall which had blown up during the holidays.

The tile floor rose and cracked the day after Christmas. The only person present at the time was the janitor who was cleaning in the building. The building floor suddenly gave way and sections of tile were strewn from one end of the hall to the other.

The main damage occurred in front of the information desk on the main hall. "The floor just seemed to have blown up," said Mr J K Shaw, business manager.

Mr Shaw said that he felt the cracking of the floor was due to the heavy work which was done when the building was constructed for the WPA. He said that the material between the tile and the floor must have been faulty, causing the tile to become loose and start buckling.

Mrs Edith Gullick, acting director of the building, explained that the expansion and the contraction of the tile might have been a cause of the accident.

The tile floor had to be taken up, and a new material for the tiles had to be laid. The tiles had to be relaid in the new base. The school employed the janitorials to do the repair work, and the regular employees of the college did the actual replacing of the tiles. Lime is still being taken off of the walls and the floors of the main hall.

The tile floor has cracked four times before in various parts of the building. In March, 1944, when the floor was laid for the fourth time in the center of the playroom, Colonel H D Mendenhall, college architect, predicted that "it will not be the last time floors in the state will be replaced with new cement." He said that the bulging crack which occurred at that time was caused by inferior cement with which the tile was put together. When the tile was bested and hardened the cement wasn't able to hold the tile blocks down as it should be, he said. At that time the tile of the type needed was not available so the old tile had to be used again after being taken up and scraped of its cement. A firm cement foundation was put under the floor at that time.

The building was built as a WPA project at a cost of approximately $150,000. It is included in a group of four buildings to go up at the college in a government-sponsored program totalling almost a million dollars. No appropriations had been made for the furniture so it was brought in funds raised by the college, alumnae members and former classes. The building was completed in September, 1940.

Economists Give Students Lecture

Yesterday afternoon Georne Stocking, consultant from the Council of State Governments, and Roy Brown, representing the Rockefeller Foundation, University of Denver, gave a lecture for political science and economics students. These consultants were called by Governor Caldwell to assist the recently organized Tax Committee.

Dr Marian D Irish, professor of political science at Florida State College and Mr Roland Eastlet, professor of economics at the University of Florida, are also serve on this newly organized committee.

Don't Feel like a Fringed Petunia

Invisible film rids you of that frayed look fast. Contains no castor oil or other irritant. Better make this handy, pocket-size tube your constant cold-weather companion.

Only 25¢ (INCLUDED UP POWDER & TAX FREE)

AVOID SORE CHAPPED LIPS WITH...

LipAde

For over 80 years THE ORIGINAL LIP POMADE

ROGER & GALLET

Sorority Chit-Chat....

Never let it be said it takes Tally-lassee long to get back into the swing of things. Back from the holidays little more than a week, the gals have already begun 1946 festivities with a bang.

* * *

N THE SOCIAL CALENDAR:

Alpha Delts of members had a Sunday night coffee planned, honoring rushees. . . A Rush party at the Alpha Xi Delta house tonight at 8 o'clock will give them a chance to show off their new redecoration job upstairs. . . Chi Omega's will also be rushing tonight, with a coffee planned for 8 o'clock. Laura Platt is in charge of the preparations. . . January 26 doesn't seem too far off to the Kappa Alpha Thetas who have already built up plans for their formal, sixty-odd days to date. To accomodate themselves until then, they have a supper planned at the house for Sunday night. P. Phi will be in charge of the affair, to which rushees and friends have been invited. . . Tomorrow afternoon the Kappa Delt's may be found out at Mrs. Woods Ferry, fish, Lois and Jean Wilson and K. Dee Mc Lean have taken in charge of the arrangements. . . Judy Pepper is making the plans for a Phi Mu buffet supper to be held Sunday afternoon.

An "open house" has been scheduled by the Phi Mus for Saturday, with Barbara Lanford and Nan Zeddie Lanier working out the details. A week-end of festivities for the Tau Kappa Alpha's and dates is here, and will be climaxed Saturday night with a garden party in the Longmire Building.

* * *

P'ST HISTORY:

Alpha Gamma Deltas entertained last night with an informal "jook" party at the home, with Mary Cooney and Joy Knipp taking charge of the arrangements. Hot chocolate and cookies were served. At this time they welcomed back Dornie Walker, here in 1943, who has returned to school this quarter. . . Mrs. Robert Mikell, province president for the Alpha Xi Delta's left now after visiting the local chapter from last Thursday through Monday. . . Chi Omega officers held a round table discussion Thursday night with Mrs. George Lewis, alumnae advisor. An informal coffee was held afterwards. . . An informal coke party was held last Monday night at the Delta Phi Epsilon house for members and guests. Plans are also in the process of being made for the visit next week of Miss Dorothy Madway, the D phi E national president. . . Theta girls entertained this week with two lush parties. The first, a "blue jean" party, was held Wednesday night. On the program were several humorous readings by Jean O'Steen and piano renditions by Jeau G Slay. Betsy Zurcher also played the accordion. Salad, weiners, and cokes were served the jean-bedecked guests. Then on Thursday evening, another party was held. . . Lou Taylor and Cackie Nolan shared honors at a birthday party held Wednesday night in their honor at the KD home. . . Seven girls attended the Sigma Kappa open house at Tuesday afternoon. Russian tea, hors d'oevres, and ice box cookies were served. A large bowl of candies and cokes on the tea table, at which Joyce Peters presided. Guests enjoyed the songs and piano renditions of Dalsa Stever. Edna Earl Baker was general chairman. Hostesses were Dru Dinan and Betty Bowers.

* * *

New Y Members Recognized Monday

Discussion of Coming Events Includes Rollins Trip

A recognition service for the new members of the Young Women's Christian Association who joined this week will be given in a ceremony at the Longmire building on Monday at 7:45 PM. The program will open with a prayer Bernice Prevatt. Mrs. Bernice Prevatt. Mrs K W Howard motion of students Joanne and Betty Schwartz. The new members will then be given a motion of all the classes ending with the class of '43.

The rest of the bulletin includes the news of current interest on campus and information of interest to the alumnae including an excerpt from an alumnae's letter; a message to the alumnae from President Doak S Campbell, information "From the Secretary's Desk." news on the alumnae board meeting, minutes to the alumnae office, notes, a memorium and a book corner of publications of the alumnae.

This winter issue is the fourth edition of the 38th volume.

Phi Mus Elect Cox For Chapter Proxy

Burma Cox was elected president of the Phi Mu at their chapter meeting last Monday night.

Other officers, elected at the same time, include: Betty Anne Sinclair, vice-president; Helen Steward, secretary; Tess Daniels, treasurer; Mary Jane Lassiter, social chairman; Zeane Lanier, assistant social chairman; Yvonne Bostwright, rush chairman; Joan Kimberly, pledge trainer; Barbara Lanford, assistant pledge trainer; and Frances Myers, Panhellenic representative.

* * *

Student talent was the source of entertainment at the Thursday afternoon tea in Bryan. Gladys Hughes was program chairman with Geneva Bettie assisting. Those assisting were Sue Read, Anne Turbeville, and Margaret Blocker.

* * *

In Broward and in Gilchrist, music was furnished by the Longorgals. Anita Bisbee had charge in Broward, while Marie Dozier, Dorothy Proctor, and Caroline Patterson were responsible in Gilchrist.

* * *

The purpose of the tea in Lanier was to introduce the new girls in that dormitory. Entertainment was furnished by Helen Mosely and Mary Beth Lee who played the piano alternately. Jane Norton was chairman for the afternoon with 16 girls assisting her as hostesses, helpers in the kitchen, and servers.

* * *

A musical program was the high-light of the Thursday afternoon tea in Reynolds Hall, which united the new Freshmen. The program included two accordion solos by Marian Bowden, Bach, and solos by Bartha McCormack. Mary Ann Tyre, and Mary Phelps. Louise Illingsworth was in charge of the tea, while Katherine Klein was in charge of the entertainment.

Alumnae News Is Published

FSC Quarterly Bulletin Is Prepared by Gehan

The winter issue of the alumnae edition of the quarterly bulletin of the Florida State College for Women is being mailed to all alumnae this week.

This bulletin is prepared by Miss Louise Gehan, class of 43, and executive secretary of the editor of the bulletin.

The publication is chiefly made up of the "news of the classes," giving information about the graduates and former students, their present address, what they are now doing, other alumnae with whom they have come in contact, and bits of news concerning things that have happened on the campus. The information comes from letters and notes included with alumnae dues payments.

The first class mentioned is the 1918 class, with their present address in regard to only one graduate. Bernice Prevatt (Mrs K W Howard) motion of students Joanne and Betty Schwartz. The new members will then be given a motion of all the classes ending with the class of '43.

The rest of the bulletin includes the news of current interest on campus and information of interest to the alumnae including an excerpt from an alumnae's letter; a message to the alumnae from President Doak S Campbell, information "From the Secretary's Desk." news on the alumnae board meeting, minutes to the alumnae office, notes, a memorium and a book corner of publications of the alumnae.

This winter issue is the fourth edition of the 38th volume.

Committees Named For Sophomore Hop

Georgie Jarchet, chairman of Sophomore Hop announces that all sophomores who are interested in working on the hop, which will be held February 9, are asked to sign up in lower Westcott on Monday.

At the last sophomore class meeting the following committees were appointed: Martha Peacock, business manager; Jacke Magee, construction; Joyce Petty, decoration: Irma Lee Shepherd, tickets; Peggy Lee, door checkers; Jean Shaver, programs; Judy Rhodes and Jean Shaver, refreshments; Pep Stanaland and Elaine Gavagan, clean-up; Iris Parsons and Connie Savage, invitations; Evelyn Shea, arrangements; Marian McPhee, hostess; Dianne Hall, orchestra. Marian Floyd, lights; Rose Marcouz, publicity; Betty Le Bree, posters; Lucy Peiden, press, and Anne Fielding and Catherine Sullivan, "We'll Never Tell."

Sophomore Council Aids New Freshmen

Bewildered freshmen arriving on campus for the first time January 2, were received by members of the sophomore council who helped them through the confusion of registration.

After helping them settle in their respective dormitories Council members took the newcomers on a tour of the various buildings on campus and also aided them in registering.

Since there were so few freshmen this quarter in comparison to fall registration, Sophomore Council was able to give the girls more individual instruction.

Jo Long, president of the organization, said Council members plan to repeat this service each quarter.

Students Display Works in Pottery

The industrial arts department has a new exhibit in the Rovenia Longmire building. Examples of pottery work done by the ceramics classes during the fall quarter is on display in the exhibit cases on the first and second floors in the Longmire building.

Representative of the most artistic work of the class in glazed pottery are the seal and the camel, modeled by Katharine Campbell, states Miss Cynthia Reeves, instructor in industrial arts.

The works of the ceramics class will be displayed in the exhibit cases throughout this quarter. As the class progresses the cases will be changed and the most outstanding pieces will be on exhibit.

Students Present "Benedictbeuren"

A large group of American Guild of Organists members and guests assembled at 8:15 PM on January 6 for the presentation of a medieval Epiphany play, the "Benedictbeuren." This play was presented by the Episcopalian students of Florida State College. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Lewis, lent to the spirit of the pageant with its old church chants. Organ accompaniest was Betty Ann Linderman.

In a short informative talk, Mrs Fran Luce, student director at Rose Hall, explained the history of the "d medieval church play.

A program was concluded with a supper and "The Feast of Three Kings."

Dormitory Teas

To allow a larger number of freshmen to attend, the dormitory teas have been changed to Thursday afternoons, starting this week.

Gluber's Unfinished Symphony was played during the Jennie Murphree tea. Polly Chanal was in charge as chairman for this week. With Margie Holm helping as secretary social chairman.

* * *

Student talent was the source of entertainment at the Thursday afternoon tea in Bryan. Gladys Hughes was program chairman with Geneva Bettie assisting. Those assisting were Sue Read, Anne Turbeville, and Margaret Blocker.

* * *

In Broward and in Gilchrist, music was furnished by the Longorgals. Anita Bisbee had charge in Broward, while Marie Dozier, Dorothy Proctor, and Caroline Patterson were responsible in Gilchrist.

* * *

The purpose of the tea in Lanier was to introduce the new girls in that dormitory. Entertainment was furnished by Helen Mosely and Mary Beth Lee who played the piano alternately. Jane Norton was chairman for the afternoon with 16 girls assisting her as hostesses, helpers in the kitchen, and servers.

* * *

A musical program was the high-light of the Thursday afternoon tea in Reynolds Hall, which united the new Freshmen. The program included two accordion solos by Marian Bowden, Bach, and a reading by Esther Rasmussen, and solos by Bartha McCormack. Mary Ann Tyre, and Mary Phelps. Louise Illingsworth was in charge of the tea, while Katherine Klein was in charge of the entertainment.

Students Learn of Changes at Meeting

Rule and Tea Hour Revised; Bad Conduct Reported

Relaxation of the restrictions concerning trips to Wakulla, change in the weekly tea hour, and the manners of Florida State College girls were among the topics discussed at the last bimonthly house meetings since the holidays which were held last Tuesday night in the several dormitory parlors.

As the rules governing Wakulla trips now stand, four students or more are required on a day trip, one of whom must be approved as a chaperon by the residence counselor. In the evening an adult chaperon approved by the counselor must accompany the group. All students may go today to a date during the day, but juniors and sophomores must be accompanied by another couple or upperclassmen in the evening. The rule forbidding students to ride in cars at night prohibits them from going to Wakulla with a date after 7 p m.

The weekly tea hour has been changed from 5 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon to 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

The clipping from the Daily Democrat concerning the conduct of ill manners at the recent Artist Series was read and students were asked to show more courtesy, if not for themselves, for the sake of the college.

An announcement was made that Senator Pepper would speak at the auditorium on conditions in Europe as seen in his recent tour. About 1000 seats will be saved for students. The rest of the auditorium will be opened to faculty and town people for this lecture.

It was also announced that regular convocation would be held next Tuesday at 7:30 and 8:30 p m and Dr. Campbell presenting a program of music.

Zeta Formal to Be Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night the annual Zeta Tau Alpha formal will be held in the auditorium of the Longmire building. Dancing to the music of a six-piece band will continue from 8:30 to 11:30.

According to Callista Hatcher, who is in charge of all the arrangements for the formal, special guests for the dance will be Mr. and Mrs. Buford Bell, Zeta honor-mother; Dr and Mrs R S Cotterill, and Miss Vela Cleveland.

Chaperons for tomorrow's dance include: Mary Smith, decorations; Peggy Moss, refreshments; and Betty Lou Brown, invitations. The floor committee consists of Shearr Rines, Sue Walters, Mary Nicholas, and Virginia Bummer.

Holiday Activities Prove Interesting

Traveling, hunting, fishing, and becoming enraged were just a few of the things that took place during the Christmas holidays, according to Florida State College students.

Barbara Lindsey spent part of the holidays in Miami where she rode on one of the floats in the Orange Bowl parade on New Year's eve.

Santa Claus was generous with presents for Mary Ann Richardson —through the help of his younger assistants, Rosemary "Rosee" Mathews and Ken Allen. Both acted as engaged Christmas eve. Gracie Wilson had her engagement announced by Jimmy Dorsey while she, Rudy Myer, her fiance, and Bobbie Doulas were "picnicking" in New York. The engagement was announced at the 400 club, after which the band played "I Surrender Dear" in honor of Rudy and Gracie. Mildred and Ann Carolyn Allison also accepted rings during the holidays.

Mary Ann Long spent four days of their vacation in New Orleans where they visited high school friends and took in the Sugar Bowl game.

Bessie Gaines was three at the mouth of the Swannee river where she spent the Christmas time during the holidays in hunting turtles and squirrels and fishing in the river.

Eleanor Bayer took a trip to Miami where she and her mother saw the Orange Bowl game and parade. She stayed with Captain Michael, former FSC student.

Fall Distaff Is Out, Next One in Making

Fall issues of the Distaff have been distributed to all students except sorority house residents, Winifred Meldrim, editor of the Distaff, announced Tuesday. Because of the difficulty of reaching the sorority girls, they are being asked to call the Distaff office in the Longmire building to receive their copies on Monday or Tuesday of next week.

Material for the second Distaff has gone to the printer, but there is still time for contributions if they are turned in soon, Winifred said. The deadline for submitting material for the spring issue of the Distaff has been tentatively set for the first week of February.

Any contributions are needed, said the editor.

Recreational Hall Girls to Have Rooms

All students living in recreational halls and in the non-smokers' club room in Landis are asked to have dormitory rooms by the end of this week according to Miss Edith McCollum, director of dormitories.

There is no waiting list of girls coming to Florida State College, "All have been bedded," Miss McCollum said.

The two off-campus houses, the "Lodge", and the new floor to Reynolds, which were added at the beginning of the fall quarter, plus a drop in enrollment so far in this quarter are believed to have made this possible.

The Students Speak...

By JERRY CRUME

The Tallahassee Daily Democrat of January 7 has made the following comments on the behavior of the students of Florida State College during the recent performance of "Romeo and Juliet":

Lucile Luce, Junior.

"The conduct of the audience at the performance Saturday night was not at all fitting for college students. If we cannot conduct ourselves in a better manner may be it would be best that the Artist Series be discontinued."

Jane Allen, Freshman.

"My motto is 'Leave quietly if you are bored'."

Sheila Smith, Senior.

"Disgustine is the only word to describe such conduct of supposedly intellicted college women."

Marjorie Davis, Sophomore.

"For such a fine play by a distinguished author the audience that the students of this college really showed themselves by the rudeness exemplified that night."

Doris Sherman, Junior.

"I think that FSC girls not waiting for the curtain calls was inexpressively disgusting."

Helene Duostein, Freshman.

"I was completely disgusted. The least response expected of a college audience would be one of courtesy to the performers, as well as to other members of the audience. Obviously the booboos could make a little profit on a shipment of Emily Post's Book of Etiqtette."

Joann Gentry, Senior.

"I think the students showed lack of consideration to the cast."

Barbara Horne, Freshman.

"Although the performance was not what I expected of an Artist Series, I did think the audience should have been more appreciative."

Ann Lindsey, Sophomore.

"The conduct of the students at 'Romeo and Juliet' was comparable to an audience at a melodrama. The students' conduct indicated a lack of appreciation for some of literature's most beautiful lines, a lack of consideration for the players and other members in the audience, and a lack of maturity."

Lucile Luce, Junior.

"The conduct of the audience at the performance Saturday night was not at all fitting for college students. If we cannot conduct ourselves in a better manner may- be it would be best that the Artist Series be discontinued."

Jane Allen, Freshman.

"My motto is 'Leave quietly if you are bored'."

Sheila Smith, Senior.

"Disgustine is the only word to describe such conduct of supposedly intellicted college women."

Marjorie Davis, Sophomore.

"For such a fine play by a distinguished author the audience that the students of this college really showed themselves by the rudeness exemplified that night."

Doris Sherman, Junior.

"I think that FSC girls not waiting for the curtain calls was inexpressively disgusting."

Helene Duostein, Freshman.

"I was completely disgusted. The least response expected of a college audience would be one of courtesy to the performers, as well as to other members of the audience. Obviously the booboos could make a little profit on a shipment of Emily Post's Book of Etiqtette."

Joann Gentry, Senior.

"I think the students showed lack of consideration to the cast."

Barbara Horne, Freshman.

"Although the performance was not what I expected of an Artist Series, I did think the audience should have been more appreciative."

Ann Lindsey, Sophomore.

Baptist Officers To Meet Tomorrow

Every student who holds an office in any phase of the Baptist Student Union is urged to be at the Mid-year Planning Conference for Greater Council Members. The meeting will be held in the student house tomorrow afternoon from 2:30 through supper, which will be served at 5. Tickets for the supper will be 25 cents per person. The afternoon will be devoted to planning the work to be done this quarter in the unit organizations of BSU.

Next week, January 13-20, will be Vocational Emphasis week for Baptist students. In observance of that week, the Morning Watch programs, held Wednesday through Saturday, will deal with the topic of vocations.

Next week is also "pill week" which is the time when each "pill" does something good for another "pill." All those students who signed up to be "pills" are supposed to stop by the table in the lower Westcott tomorrow morning and take a "pill." Any "pill" will be the name of a client for which he or she will be performed every day next week. The daily deeds are to be done anonymously, and the names are not to be revealed until 8 o'clock Sunday morning, January 20, when all the "pills" will meet with the students house for breakfast.

The Coast Guard, once known as the Revenue Cutter Service was founded in 1790, while the present Navy was established in 1799.

Since its founding in 1790 the Coast Guard has saved more than 2,000 lives and in 1944 alone in one prewar year, 1939, more than 2,000 rescues.

Claude Pepper

Continued from page one

an International Health organization.

Mr. Pepper introduced bills to provide equal pay for equal work for women, to authorize the broadcasting of the proceedings of Congress to establish the Office of War Mobilization and Adjustment, to provide for voluntary retirement to Postal service employees after 30 years service, to assist states in providing for Dental Health programs, to grant certain benefits with respect to accumulated leave to personnel in the Naval and naval forces, and to provide for Federal aid to states for maternal and child welfare.

Mr Pepper received the Bachelor of Laws degree from the Harvard Law School, in 1924, after being awarded the Bachelor of Arts dersee and Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Alabama. He was an Instructor in law at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, from 1924-1925. He engaged in active practice of the law, in Perry, Florida, for five years.

His extensive private practice in Tallahassee, 1930, received state wide recognition. He also served as a member of the State Board of Law Examiners, the Florida State Bar Association, the Lower House of the Florida Legislature and State Board of Public Welfare.

Senator Pepper played an important part in the founding and installation of the Alpha Chapter of Florida of Phi Beta Kappa at Florida State College for Women.

He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa, Kappa Alpha social fraternity, the Benevolent and Protective order of Elks, American Legion, "40" and "8", and Kiwanis. He was State Democratic Executive Committeemen, 1928-1928, and Lt. Governor of the Western Division Kiwanis Clubs, 1929.

A Beautiful Photo
Deserves a Beautiful Frame
SALE—ON ALL KINDS
PIKE'S STUDIO

WANTED
College Girls for Dining Room Work
At
THE DUTCH KITCHEN
PLEASE APPLY IN PERSON

Your Face
Deserves the Best—
DOROTHY PERKINS COSMETICS
We have a complete line of creams, rouge lipstick and toilet waters in the delightful fragrances of
MEMOIRS - LILAC - WOODSPICE
MARTIN and DALTON DRUGGIST
"The World's Happiest Drug Store"

THE WORLD'S MOST HONORED WATCH
WINNER OF 10 WORLD'S FAIR GRAND PRIZES AND 28 GOLD MEDALS AND MORE HONORS FOR ACCURACY THAN ANY OTHER TIMEPIECE
Longines
THE MOST HONORED WATCH IN THE WORLD
CAMPUS

THE FLORIDA FLAMBEAU

student newspaper

1945

Florida State University

Tallahassee, Florida

1971

This filming - THE FLORIDA FLAMBEAU - is directed by Mrs. Gertrude Mozley Roche, Head, Micro-Materials, Florida State University Library from the originals in the Library Archives. Through the efforts of Student Senator Jeffrey Jones and SOLTAS, student organization, funds were provided in Bill 76, 23rd Senate, Student Government, FSU, 1971.

Two Students Give Recital

Smith, Aughenbaugh Plan Program Thursday

Margaret Smith, organist, and Betty Ruth Augenbaugh, mezzo-soprano, will present the first certificate recital of the year Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the Westcott auditorium.

In this performance which is open to the public, Margaret and Betty will alternate as the different parts of the program are presented.

At the opening of the recital Margaret will play "Toccata and Fugue in D Minor" by Bach. Following this Betty will sing "Aria di Follisenza" Hadamisto" by Handel, "Le Fortune" by Scarlatti, "Bist du bei mir" by Bach, and "Aria—Prepare thyself, Zion" (Christmas Oratorio) by Bach as the second part of the program.

Of the five parts of the program Betty will give the fourth also which will include "In veder Tamata Sianza" Gavotte from Mignon by Thomas, "Ah! Lotus Flower" by Bowers, "Night Wish" by Nash "Life's Paradise" by Brown.

Margaret will play "Noel" by D'aquin-Watters and "The Bells of St. Anne de Beaupre" by Russell, in the third part.

"Second Symphony" (Allegro vivace) by Widor will be played by Margaret as the final part of the program.

Betty is a pupil of Mrs Mary M Mesimnius, instructor in voice, and margaret studied under Mrs Ramona Beard, associate professor of organ, piano, and theory.

Both girls belong to many musical and other organizations on campus. Thus year Margaret is the president of glee club, and Betty is business manager. In the Wesley Foundation on campus, Betty is president and Margaret is music chairman.

Both are members of the college orchestra music club, and swing band. Betty is business manager of the latter. Together with the above mentioned, Margaret is the organist at the Presbyterian Church of Tallahassee and vice regeant of the Talahassee branch of the American Guild or Organist.

Rogers Speaks To Alpha Lambda Delta

Dr W H Rogers, professor of English, was the guest speaker at the monthly program meeting of Alpha Lambda Delta ,which was held Thursday afternoon in the small club room of the Student Alumna building. Dr Rogers read a Christmas story Crop a New Dollar Bills for Mr Teagle

After the meeting was called to order and the minutes read and approved a letter from the president of the national chapter was read by Robin Hill president of the chapter on this campus. The program was then turned over to the program chairman, Martha Abbott. The members sang "Silent Night" and "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" after which Dr Rogers was introduced.

The meeting adjourned with the singing of the Alpha Lambda Delta song.

Miami High Girls Lead Official List

This years freshman class accounts for 1016 of Florida State College's record enrollment of 2268 Of this number 736 are new freshmen from Florida high schools according to Registrar's office figures.

Miami High School leads the list with a total of 49 graduates at FSC Robert E Lee of Jacksonville is second with a total of 41 Leon High School of Tallahassee is third, accounting for 28 new freshmen. Two Tampa high schools—H B Plant with 30 and Hillsborough with 25—are tie next in line. Landon High School of Jacksonville with 21 and Andrew Jackson of Jacksonville with 18 run close behind them. Ponce de Leon High School of Coral Gables is next with 17, while Orlando and Pensacola tied with 16 each.

There are 42 new freshmen from high schools in other states.

Chorus to Be Here

Following the theme this year, The New South, the monthly meeting of the American Association of University Women, to be held Tuesday night at 8 in Hodges Hall will consist of a musical program presented by the women's glee club of Florida A&M college. The program will be under the direction of Mr J H Lindsay head of the music department at that college.

Spirogira's And Esteren's Speak Well of Each Other

Flambeau reporters assigned to cover Spirogira and Esteren activities were, for some unknown reason, it seems, confused about their assignment.

For Marjorie Philyaw was asked about Esteren happenings in spite of the fact that she is president of Spirogira. And, on the other hand, Sarah Bennett, president of Esteren was asked about Spirogira's doings.

It is to the credit of both presidents that they did not give bad reports of the activities of the rival organization.

Annual Boys' Recital To Be Held Saturday

Students Are From Various Tallahassee Schools

Violin and piano solos will be played by 17 boys at the annual Boys' Recital in the recital hall of the Music Annex on Saturday evening at 8:15.

The boys are members of the various high schools in Tallahassee and are registered in the piano and violin normal departments of Florida State College.

The normal department was organized to provide majors in piano and violin with chances for observation and practice teaching with children, stated Miss Mary E Reeder instructor in piano and piano methods.

For the eight successive boys' recital this year, one of the boys Warren Dixon, who is in the fifth grade in the Florida high school, has made drawings illustrating some of different pieces on the program, which has been on exhibit in the entrance to the recital hall.

David Lee Pemberton, Sinir Boggs, Murray Wadsworth, and Dave Boggs piano beginners; Byron Hoodel and Charles Mayo, violin beginners; David Pichard, Edwin Jones, Richard West, Donald Brown, Gene Sellers, Warren Dixon, Murphy Hinson, Ben Phippe, and Bobby Leslie, more advanced in piano; Donald Shandwesler, and Earnest Jones, more advanced in violin, will be the participants in the recital.

Donald Brown, and Bobby Leslie will also act as accompanists.

The program will be directed by Miss Reeder, Miss Rebecca Rodenbure instructor in piano and Miss Olga Ettner, associate professor of violin and theory.

Former Student Has Professional Lead

Cherie Stevens, who graduated from FSC last year, has the lead in "Ladies in Retirement" which is being produced by a stock company in Portland, Maine this week. This is Cherie's first professional performance.

Cherie, a FSC speech major, has been in New York City only two months. Before going to Portland, she was a mannequin in a New York wholesale establishment. She modelled chinchilla furs priced at $30,000 wholesale which were purchased by the best shops.

The Portland stock company is one of Norman Bracs, a New York theatrical producer. They produce a play a week and rehearse all day for the coming week. The program is strenuous but is a way to get int Equity, the actor's union, as there are Equity professionals in the cast and company. Many actresses, including Betty Davis and Margaret Sullivan, got their start this same way.

The company has asked Cherie for all the vital statistics for the program and will have a picture of her out in front. Cherie has this same role, "Elva" in "Ladies in Retirement" when it was presented here last year.

Distaff to Appear After Christmas

Mildred Zindler, co-editor of the Distaff, announces that the college literary magazine will make its first appearance of the year after Christmas.

The writing clinics that will be held by Winifred Meldrim Mildred Zindler Marianne Snyder and Peggy Lu Thompson will take place Wednesday and Saturday nights at 8 o'clock and Saturday afternoons at 2 o'clock in the Distaff office.

Other members of the staff include Elizabeth McFarland, other co-editor; Ellen Whitman and Sarah Callison, copy editors; Jeanie Isaacs, People on These Pages; Louise Simpson, humorous material; Elizabeth Hunter and Lucille Lue, exchange editors; Dorothy Lancaster, Darley Lockner and Shirley Glover, "rewriters" of material, and Clare St. John, Edith Grider and Anne Fielding.

If Dead Week Is Here

Can Exams Be Far Away?

The Floridian

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

VOL. XXXII, No. 12 | Tallahassee, Florida | JANUARY 12, 1945

Correspondent Warns Against Over-Optimism

Norman Lodge Predicts Long Road Ahead In Pacific

Speaker Describes Japanese As Brutal Enemies

"The fate of the war will be settled, not on the battle front, but in our home front," warned Norman Lodge, Associated Press War Correspondent, recently returned from the Pacific area.

"Old Sarge" gave a stinging rebuke to the American people for over-confidence about the outcome and end of the war. He reasoned that arm-chair admirals know nothing about the war and yet they have told the American people that the war will be over within a year.

"No one told us that at Hender- Field," Mr. Lodge said. "So to neglect on the part of administration, the people do know the true facts and thus over-optimism has been built up. The reaction effects in Europe is helped to knock some of this over-confidence out of the people.

The opinion here is that as far as the Europe is concerned all the material and supplies will be transferred to the Pacific area." He predicted that it would take seven months to move the material and 41 to 44 months to defeat if we could get the 440 ships not now available. Well trained men and the proper ammunition and all the fuel necessary for the victory.

"There is no getting rid of the Jap in big time as believed," he stated. "He will never face the campaigns like those in the Pacific area. He will die before he will be killed."

Mr. Lodge went on to explain that many of the fighting men will come home 17 or 18 years who have been brought up to believe in a certain standard of living. They have been thrown into a jungle against the Japs and have had to forget all their ideas of sportsmanship and square deal and have not had the training or information for such fighting.

"We lost 22 per cent or 3777 of our fellows on New Georgia through insanity," he explained. He went for 21 days without a hot meal, coffee, or change of clothes. They had to face another terrific screaming and fire on the fifth day they had to listen to a radio carried over our again, "American, you are an American, you die." This remark is heard by anyone in the old Sarge said.

The boys slugged it out and were 20 or 21 days a day and to people on the home front would be one more do not to enough ass or go on strikes. Lodge explained that all the he was a nice fellow he did hear one soldier complain. He did say that their lack of supplies to fight the foe. Becomes the fact that he to often scarcity of atrocity stories. He stated enough proof of a Japanese soldier degree of the treatment of American prisoners. He said that the were true, and that there

Continued on Page Four

Social Standards To Hold Musicals

A musical program by students of the school of music, the first of a series of Sunday afternoon performances, sponsored by the social standards committee, will be held at 4:30 p. m. this coming Sunday, in the Student Alumnae Building auditorium. On the program are Bess Martin, piano, playing by Schumann and Grieg; Martha Sue Chicapuso, Betty Ruth Hamilton, and Ann Lee Hooper in Bowers, Night Wish by Bond, and Lot's Paradise by Bowers; Betty Lou Hamilton, Betty Parnwell, bassoon, and Mary Ann Bower, piano, playing Weber and Kinzler and Nina by Pergolesi.

This series, which will continue for the rest of this year, will present a varied kind of program each week to week. Members of the social standards committee would appreciate all suggestions concerning the type of programs you would enjoy, and these should be given or sent to Diana Hasbrouk, 219 Landis.

Earl Halifax To Be Guest

British Ambassador Talks In Westcott Building

Earl Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, will be the guest of Tallahassee and the state of Florida January 24, when he will speak to members of the chamber of commerce and their wives in the Westcott building here on campus.

The earl and his wife Countess Halifax will also be entertained at an afternoon coffee as guests of President Doak S. Campbell and Mrs. Campbell of Florida State College. During the day the two honored guests will visit Wakulla springs, the governor and his wife, and the commanding officer, Col. C. Bedell Mrs. Scott, of Dale Mabry Field.

Earl Halifax, 6 feet, 3 inches tall, came to this country aboard the brand-new battleship King George V, which also he escorted to Annapolis, Md., to bring the body of President Roosevelt, who was waiting for him to present his credentials at the White House.

They journeyed by train, entering at once concerning United States to Britain. The United States was not yet at war and the British ambassador had to feel his way, urging material aid to the beleaguered empire and yet avoiding pitfalls open to a foreign statesman in a nation with far less than unanimity of opinion on the war question.

Band Participates In Inauguration

Students Shorten Vacation To Give Band Program

Sixty-four band students returned to Florida State College two days before the end of Christmas vacation to take part in the inaugural ceremony of Florida's new governor, the Hon Millard F Caldwell, on January 2.

The band, under the direction of Mr Frank Sykora, associate professor of music, played martial music from a spot in front of the capitol steps. They also accompanied the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" and "God Bless America" before the ceremony.

After the inauguration ceremony, the band marched from the Florida State Guard in the parade down Monroe street past the reviewing stand on the lawn of the where Governors Holland and Caldwell and other inauguration executives sat.

The parade was the first time that the garnet and gold of Florida State College has appeared. The flag was carried by Josephine Pennington, Frances Smith carried the national flag and Lucile Mathews bore the Florida state flag. Other members of the color guard which marched at the head of the band were Bess Bird, Dorothea McRae Eugene Booth, and Aileen Boyett.

The band showed their ability to the school and to the state when 64 of the 74 band members returned early for the ceremonies," Mr Sykora stated.

Bill Richardson, drum major led the band assisted by Lois Byrd, captain of the majorettes. Other majorettes were Twyla Bair, Frances Crabtree, Beverly Frank, Betty LaRue Lee, Lois Nevals, and Leonora Acree.

Campbell Speaks

Dr Doak S Campbell chose "Contributions of Women to Our Present World Situation" his topic when he spoke before the Kiwanis Club at Live Oak January 3.

Dr and Mrs Campbell were the guest of the club at their annual installation of officers.

Floridian Wins Liar's Fame In World Champion Contest

Ex-Florida Staters have distinguished themselves by doing some outstanding and amazing things in this world, but Hope Harrin probably selected the most unique way to make the spotlight.

Hope, a WAC captain serving overseas, has been crowned by the "Burlington, Wisconsin, Liars' Club" as the 1944 World Champion Liar. Her recipe for dehydrating blondes and shipping them to soldiers overseas was adjudged the biggest whopper of 1944 and Captain Harrin became the first female world's champion liar in the past eight years.

The joke, as well as the lie, was on the Liars' Club, though, when the judges discovered that "Capt Hope Harrin" was a curly haired brunette WAC instead of the old lady whom they had identified as the winner.

The biggest part of the fun, according to Hope, was that her winning lie was "just an anecdote my father told me." She explained that her father, Frank S Harrin, a teacher at Arkansas college, Batesville, Arkansas, had written to her telling of a GI overseas who "mixed his girl so much that he had her dehydrated and shipped to England." Hope thought it was such a good joke that she decided to enter it in the Liars' contest in her own name.

Captain Harrin's colossal whopper was submitted in this manner: "I wrote my girl to be blonde, to go to a plant that processes fresh vegetables for overseas shipment, and get herself dehydrated. She did. Immediately her mother put her in an envelope and sent her to me air mail. When the letter arrived, I took her out, poured water over her and half an hour later she was as good as ever—and here with me."

Formerly Hope taught in the Demonstration school here in Tallahassee and also in a Conway, Arkansas, school.

Now with the quartermasters corps in Paris, Capt Harrin said that she had been overseas since April. She arrived in England last November, when she was transferred to the Paris office.

Although Hope Harrin, 1944 champion liar, will wear the goldplated diamond symbolic of the world championship, she claims "I'm naturally truthful. I couldn't be more amused!!"

Ida Lee Rentz Frosh Leader

Kennedy, Rogers, Sharer, M'Carthy, Thompson Win

Ida Lee Rentz, new president of the freshman class, defeated Jo Anne Whitaker in the election held before the Christmas holidays. Other winners in the class elections were: Phoebe Kennedy over Winnie LePard for vice president; Jimmie Rogers over Betty Sharer, secretary; Mary M'Carthy winner over Alva Ray for treasurer; and Sara Thompson over Rosa Lee Davis for athletic manager: Jean Sharer over Roberta Perlman for Athena Pentarian.

Those who will represent their class in Senate are Jo Ann Long, Martha Peacock, Jean Ann Ramsdale, Betty Sharer, and Sara Lee Shepard. Their opponents were Adrianne Blumberg, Lucy Bryan LaPere Capital, Jane Lindsey and Franklin Smith for Senate.

During the week of freshman campaign and election, the freshman dormitories were full of "vote for me" signs. Also posters of every size, shape and color, some even as tall as the replicas of the candidates themselves.

Other Candidates
Candidates who have entered

Continued on Page Three

Olga Eitner Gives Concert on Violin

Miss Olga Eitner, new associate professor of violin and theory of music, will appear in the Westcott Auditorium on Monday night. She was accompanied by Mrs Lucila Wagner, assistant professor of piano.

Among the compositions which she chose to play for the audience were "The Lament" of the week by Szymanoski. The theme of his piece is taken from Greek mythology. Miss Eitner played the andante rubato movement of Rimsky Korsakoff's "Scheherazade" in duet.

After-presenting "Estrellita" by Ponce-Heifetz and "Perpetual Motion" by Ries Miss Eitner granted an encore: "Polka" by Shastokovitch and "Fairyland" by Cecil Bulelgh.

Miss Eitner has had many years of violin study and counts Sevcik and Dethier among her famous teachers.

Civil War Issue of Vicksburg Daily Citizen Is on Display

By LOLA ROBERTS

Printed on the paper by Union men with the writing and type of Confederate sympathizers, the last issue of the newspaper, The Daily Citizen, of Vicksburg, Mississippi, July 2, 1863, was on display in the journalism department at the end of the week in Florida State College and is now in the "Freedom of the Press" exhibit in the Strozier public library.

The yellowed newspaper, a little less than one foot wide and about one and one-half feet long, is printed on a sheet of paper the wall paper which is discolored by the ink coming through from the other side.

The paper which had been set into type on July 3 by Union printers before the capture of Vicksburg by General Grant was printed on the day of the capture of the city by Union men who added in the lower right hand corner the following note describing the change in the war status of the town and the purpose of the printing of the paper by the opposing forces:

"Two days bring about great changes. The banner of the Union floats over Vicksburg. General Grant has 'caught the rabbit;' he has dined in Vicksburg, and he did bring his dinner with him. Vicksburg is 'used to see it. For the last time it appears on 'Wall Paper.' No more will it violate the luxury of mule meat and fricassed kitten—urge Southern warriors to such diet nevermore. This is the last paper publisher edition, and is excepting this note, from the type as we found it. Good-bye. It will be valuable hereafter."

The note quoted above is in response to a short section of the paper called "On Dit" which reads, "On dit that Jeff Davis—Yankee Generalissimo, surnamed Grant—has expressed his intention of dining with Pemberton on Saturday next, and celebrating the 4th of July by a splendid dinner and so forth. When asked if he would invite Gen Joe Johnston to join he said, 'No! for fear there will be a row at the table.' Ulysses must get into the city before he dines in it. The way to cook a rabbit is 'First to catch the rabbit.'"

With no advertisements, the paper was a source of entertainment to the people of Vicksburg, which had been besieged by General Grant from May 18, 1863 until July 4, 1863. The one page includes news of the people of the town, elaborating on many deaths and telling of many who were giving away their excess goods. There is also a plea to the townsmen to place a social brand upon the persons who were charging exhorbitant prices such as the price of flour, five dollars per pound, molasses, ten dollars per gallon, and corn, ten dollars per bushel.

The proprietor of the paper, J M Swords, is the only one mentioned by name who considered the writer. The writing is such as to epic, the victory Confederate men and the people of the besieged city. In this are mentioned attempts to aid in rare building.

The language is colorful, as evidenced by a writer who speaks of "a pink nosed, snab-sided, toad eating Yankee, who is a lineal descendant of Judas Iscariot." The historical and Biblical background of the writer is evident by the many references used in describing the people and the battles. The speedy advances of General Robert E Lee are compared to the advances of men such as Ab Del Kader and the Scottish Chiefs. Contrary to present day newspaper style the local page was written in the first person with the editorial use of we.

Even though the paper is strictly a Southern paper it has one and a half of its four columns filled with "Yankee News from all Points," which included "all the news of interest in the Washington Star of Philadelphia as of June 21, June 21, or 22 nearly on the news from other points such as Washington, Harrisburg and "Of Course" Vicksburg.

The Yankee news as a rather detailed account of the battle line ups of the latter part of June including the advancements and retreats, accounts of capture, and in many instances the number of men involved. Much of the foreign news must have been copies from the other papers for it is given no editorial opinion than the remainder of the paper.

The copy of this Civil War paper is now the property of Mr and Mrs O W Waller of Tallahassee.

Helen Traubel, American Opera Singer, to Perform At FSC on Saturday Night

Students Holding "B" Series Tickets Will Hear Metropolitan Opera Star in One of First Performances of New Year

Helen Traubel will appear on the Artist Series program Saturday night.

Helen Traubel, well known Metropolitan Opera soprano, will sing at Florida State College tomorrow night at 8:15 in Westcott auditorium.

Her concert here, which is the opening number of the B series season tickets, comes in the midst of a full winter of appearances in concert, opera, and radio.

After taking her first vacation in three years, she began her 1944-45 season on October 1 with a concert in Madison Square Garden, New York, at which time she appeared with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra. Since then Miss Traubel has appeared with the Chicago Opera Company, the Cleveland Orchestra, and the Washington National Symphony. She rejoined the Metropolitan Opera at the end of December.

Now on her way to Havana, that the Miss Bert Hirsch Traubel will be in Tallahassee as a guest of FSC from this afternoon until Sunday afternoon.

In her concert Saturday night, Miss Traubel will offer a varied program consisting of: "God Is My Song" (Gottes Macht und Barmherzigkeit), "Ave Maria" (Wonne der Wehmuth), and "L' Amero Saro Costante" by Mozart; Beethoven.

Next will be sung "Well You Know" (Voi lo sapete), an aria from "Cavalleria Rusticana" by Mascagni. In the third division of the program come "My Abode" (Aufenthalt), "Cradle Song" (Wiegenlied), and "Ecstasy" (Verzückt) by Schubert; "Rest Thee Now, Sweet Child" (Schlafe Nun) "Caecilie" by Strauss.

During intermission Command V Bos, Miss Traubel's accompanist, will play "Eleria" by Rachmaninoff and "Song Without Words" (Duet in A flat) by Mendelssohn, after which Miss Traubel will return for six another aria, Eias's Dream from "Lohengrin" by Wagner. Following this will include rituals "Deep River" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

Concluding numbers will be "Sea Shell" by Carl Engel, "A Memory" by Blair Fairchild, and "Blow, Blow, Thou Winter Wind" by McNair Ilgenfritz.

Because Miss Traubel's appearance here is considered by the music department as the most important of the Artist Series concerts, students with the blue series season tickegs who did not obtain reserved seats may obtain these reserved seats by presenting their season tickets at the box office Saturday night from until 8:15. Students holding tickets of the A series may buy tickets at half price in the college bookstore.

Paper Backs Coeducation

Alligator Features News, Editorial Comment

"Students at the University of Florida are not merely taking a passive attitude in the coeducation question, but are showing an active interest in, promoting the idea," according to the Florida Alligator, student newspaper, of December 8.

Some 400 students showed in a poll taken by the Florida Alligator in November that they favor University coeducation.

Bill Rion, president of the student body there, has suggested that the campus organizations go on record as favoring coeducation there.

"Only if the general public is aroused to action on this question and knows the stand we are taking, will the bill have any chance of success," Rion said in a statement in the Alligator.

Suggestions for arousing the public action included talking to parents and getting civic clubs to pass resolutions favoring coeducation and to forward those resolutions to Tallahassee.

Editor Lewis Holmes Melton, now a University student, plans to be one of the sponsors of the bill and knows the stand of Florida State College women. Mr Melton, international, he suggested that next year when the legislature is in session, a delegation of students headed by a student body officer should go to Tallahassee to present their case. This, Melton commented, would have more effect

Continued on Page Two

Pre-Med Club Makes Plans

Sponsors Outside Speakers On Medical Subjects

Proposing to better inform its members about the field of medicine, the Pre-Medical club of FSCW, an association of students on campus studying premedical, laboratory technology, or physiotherapy, met last week and approved the second week in December. Organized early in October with Dr Lois Graham, head of the physiology department, and Dr Edna Peabody, head of the zoology department, as faculty advisors, the club, composed of 30 members, has adopted a constitution and is planning a seal.

Dr Graham announced that they have local doctors and authorities in related fields speak and will discuss topics at the regular meetings, which have been tentatively set for the second Monday of every month, according to Marianne Snyder, club president. Dr Graham will be the week's Searse, vice-president, Peggy

Continued on Page Three

101 Girls Coming

Swelling the already greatly increased enrollment of the college for the winter term, 101 women and 45 upperclassmen for the second semester. The 45 upperclassmen are former students returning to the college according to Mrs Ruth Bryan, secretary to the residence halls. About five of the incoming upperclassmen are transfers.

Floyd Wothington Applauded Friday

Program Included Passages From Shakespeare

Appearing in the second of the Artist Series of Florida State College was Floyd Worthington, American baritone, in a concert which was enjoyed by an attentive audience ending, last Friday, January 5, in Westcott auditorium.

His program of selections, somewhat like those in many such concerts, was a combination of dramatic readings and songs, including his own experimental presentation of a passage from Shakespeare's Twelfth Night, throughout which Worthington demonstrated his dramatic as well as his singing ability. Mr Worthington's selections included the following:

"The Lord Will Work Wonders" from Judas Maccabeus by Handel, "In Ho, Who All Alone" from God Go'th Up by Bach, Elegy by Duparc, Colombine by Bizonet, Chanson Triste by Duparc, Fluer Jetie by Faure, An Evens Tap-Heist-Hriting by Maschner. It Music Be the Food of Love, Play On, by Clifton, She N'ver Told Her Love by Haydn, When That I Was a Little Tiny Boy by Vernon, readings and songs by Shakespeare, "The Inn by Toys, Le'r Away by Guion, Hush's Song by Rook Bower Williams and Schadrock by MacGimsey.

Conference Plans Made

Theme and Speakers For Youth Meeting Chosen

"Christ or Chaos in Tomorrow's World" was selected by Sal Salvo day as the theme for this year's Youth Conference, to be held March 2 through March 4 on the campus of Florida State college. Miss B Louise Woodford, state chairman of the Florida Child Council of Missions, with Dorothy Caswell and Margaret Smith, local chairmen of the Youth Conference, and their committees at the Baptist student house to make preliminary plans for the conference.

Miss Woodford announced that this year's conference leaders would include Mrs Raymond L. Archer, missionary to Malaya, Sumatra and Java; the Rev Raymond B Drukker, director of mountain work in Kentucky for the Reformer Church of America; the Rev Charles W Hinson, former pastor of the church for English and American Episcopalians in Mexico City; Charles D Hurry, former International

Continued on Page Three

Classes to Begin

The training classes for prospective candidates will be held January 8-10. The officers of the various campus organizations will conduct discussion groups in which they will explain the duties of their respective offices of the information of the prospective candidates. The schedule of these classes will be posted on the College Government Association bulletin board.

The student must be a bona fide member of her class for the year in which she will hold office. Pregrade qualifications are found in the 1944-45 Gold Book. The petitions for candidacy are due January 13-18.

The CGA elections are to be held March 6-13.

Jeanette Zetrover Wins 4-H Contest

Freshman Receives War Bond Instead of Chicago Trip

Jeanette Zetrouer, a freshman at Florida State college, has been awarded first place in Florida for the National 4-H Girls' Record contest. The winner of this contest is usually given a trip to Chicago to the national 4-H Club Congress, but because of transportation difficulties a $25.00 war bond prize has been substituted.

Jeanette, who is from Shiloh, joined the 4-H Club in 1940 and during that time she has completed 12 projects with a gross value of $1,172.66. She has been given $223.25 in prize money. The monetary value of her work adds up to almost $2,500.

Her projects have varied from canning, calculine, clothing, and food preparation to cattle raising. Jeanette owns a small herd of Jersey cattle. Her greatest love her one of his steers to fatten. She is which she will hold office. The steer with which she bought two calves. The next year she bought four calves. Several of her animals have won prizes in various fairs and exhibits.

Jeanette was president of her local chapter of 4-H for one year. For several years she has been president's member of her club. She has won many scholarships to several camps and short courses in state, to Camp McQuarrie, and other 4-H activities.

Swing Band to Be Busy Next Semester

The swing band of Florida State College is going to be very busy next semester according to Mr Frank Sykora, associate professor of music. "They have already played for two dances this year and are signed up for several others in the communities," Mr Sykora stated.

Last Sunday afternoon the band played for the soldiers in the hospital at Turkey Creek. The band line ups of the latter part of June including the advancements and retreats, accounts of capture, and in many instances the number of men involved. Much of the foreign news must have been copies from the other papers for it is given no editorial opinion than the remainder of the paper.

The copy of this Civil War paper is now the property of Mr and Mrs O W Waller of Tallahassee.

Hinson Is Speaker On Radio Program

Dr M R Hinson, director of the graduate division, was a guest speaker on the Florida Gold Coast program held last evening at 7:30. He gave a three minute summary of the graduate work, telling of its history and its purpose. This completed a series broadcast by the Gold Radio programs begun before Christmas featuring the work of each college division.

Mr Frank Sykora, assistant professor of music and band director, had the music which he played two chello solos which were: "Nocturne" by Von Moret, who was Mr Sykora's teacher at the Imperial Conservatory at Kiev, Russia, and "Minuet," composed by his brother, Bogumil Sykora. Miss Mary Frances Hamilton professor of piano, accompanied him on the piano.

Other features on the program were the weekly news announcement by Miss Bertha E Bloodworth, publicity secretary.

Books to Be Bought

During the week of semester examinations, January 22 through 27, the college store will buy all text books that will be used next semester or next quarter or during this year's summer school. A price of one-half of the original cost will be paid for any book in good condition. Damaged books will be paid for according to their amounts of defacement. A second-hand book agent, who will be in the book store for three days of this period, will buy all books that the book store will not be able to buy.

Spirit of the Week

CHECKING SYSTEM

Perhaps the most widely accepted reason on this campus against a democratic student government has been based on the supposition that college students are immature and incapable of governing themselves without some form of faculty advice to aid them in their problems.

And with this factor in mind the college council has been set np in order to represent the union of both students and faculty in one governing body. As a body it has the power "to perform such legislative and executive duties as may be assigned to it." This law-making group is composed then of the faculty committee on student affairs and the student executive council.

These student representatives, however, not only function with the faculty group in the college council, but act in the student senate as well, assisting in the formulation of all policies that are later submitted to the College Government Association. Therefore, it is plain to see that these ten students, hy virtue of their offices, have invested in them a great deal of power—the power to help plan and vote on all problems that may arise in student senate as well as the power to represent the entire student body in college council when voting on these same plans.

It is upon this overlapping of responsibilities of these few student officers that attention should be focused at this time. For it seems unreasonable that one group, even though it may represent the executive body of the student organizatinn, should have the power to plan, submit, and finally to vote on student issues. Like any fool-proof legislative system this executive council of the student senate and college council needs some definite check other than its own.

It might be wise to compare this student executive council with the president and his cabinet in the United States Government. The latter acts in an advisory capacity, planning and submitting, but the right to vote is not granted it. This has been done so that the representative senate and house may always have a check on the executive body, thus carrying out the principle of the democratic check and balance system.

If the right to vote in student senate would be taken away from the ten executive student officers, this would leave place for two senators from each class and thus continue the recent trend of enlarging class representatives in the legislative body.

In conclusion on may see how this new plan would improve upon the system of government here on the campus in three ways: it would halt some of the overlapping of responsibilities, it would be a definite checking system on the student executive body of the school, and it would help to increase senate membership.

NO LOVE AT LSU

Another Southern university is in the limelight again for a violation of educational freedom. The January 1, 1945 issue of Time gives a resume of the current problem at Louisiana State University.

"A Louisiana State University student comic miscellany (the Whangdoodle) printed a story of a fictitious visit by a Baton rouge telegrapher to a professor's wife while the professor was away. Its undergraduate author was promptly expelled. The governor asked the university's president to reinstate him. The president refused. Soon the university had a new president. Such was freedom of the college press in Louisiana under the late Huey Pierce Long. (The new president he installed, Dr James Monroe Smith, is now in the sixth year of an 8 to 24-year sentence to the state penitentiary for embezzlement,) said Time.

"Last week another LSU controversy raged over the issue of campus kissing. Tall, leonine President William Bass (William the Conqueror) Hatcher had frowned on good-night kisses. Pretty sopnomore Gloria Jeanne Heller, 18, issued a rebellious manifesto. "We are meant and taught to be robots," she declared.

"She was promptly expelled. Fellow students vainly clamored protest. Remarked an alumnus, mindful also of LSU's slipping cultural standards. "It looks like the old school is headed for the cow-college status," declared Time.

Several outstanding examples of restricting the freedom of both students and faculty members have attracted natioowide publicity to Southern colleges and universities in the past few years.

Governor Eugene Talmadge's tampering with the policies of the University of Georgia put that school in national disrepute and according to many authorities has seriously retarded the development of the university.

The University of Texas has recently lost its president, Dr Homer P Rainey, who was dismissed by the Board of Regents of the University. This action evoked storms of protest from students at Texas, as well as fsom educational associations throughout the country.

Now it is Louisiana State University that has violated the principles of educational freedom. It is certainly to be regretted that Southern universities have furnished these examples to the nation.

ALLIGATOR TAKES STAND

The University of Florida students, according to the December 8 issue of the Alligator, student publication, are showing an active interest in promoting the idea of coeducation in the University.

A front page editorial declared, "If there was ever a chance for the University of Florida to become coeducational, it was this fall. Florida State College for Women was overcrowded ,and the University accommodated only about 20% of its normal enrollment. Many supporters of University coeducation gave up their objective when all attempts at that time failed.

"But the Florida Alligator does not believe the cause is lost. Today this paper goes on record as being solidly behind a normal way of life for Florida students. The University's monastic system, paralleled by only one other state, Virginia, should be abandoned.

"Some six hundred students showed in an Alligator poll two weeks ago they favor University coeducation. That means six hundred minds to think and six hundred individuals to act on a plan to bring coeds to this campus."

Columnists on the front page discussed the issue also. One stated, "While social issues are usually cited in defense of the present system, the problem is basically an economic one. The forces who oppose coeducation do not take their stand because they are afraid that you as a student will be distracted by the presence of women, but because they fear the economic and political consequences to themselves."

The propriety of coeducation ceased to be a question many years ago. Coeducational colleges are the rule, not the exception, in higher education today.

An editorial in the Clearwater Sun September 3, 1944, declared that it should not be assumed that the people of Florida were opposed to coeducation when the two state institutions were founded 39 years ago. The writer said, "The separation of the college for women from the University was due not to opposition to co-education but to the inability of the founders to agree on a location for the proposed seat of higher learning.

"Both East Florida and West Florida wanted the coeducational university. They deadlocked and it began to look as if Florida were to have no university at all. The deadlock was broken hy a compromise which split the proposed university in two—women to Tallahassee, men to Gainesville."

The deadlock was continued until today. It will be interesting to see if the students of the University can bear any weight to swing the program they plan. Of coeducation at this college, they have made no mention. It seems that if coeducation is to be had at all, the change should not be on only an emergency war-time basis, but on a long-term program planned for both state colleges.

WOMEN'S PLACE

The president's announcement of the need of more nurses in the armed services, and his suggestion of drafting women in his radio speech this week, is just one more in the long list of reminders of the role women must and are expected to play in the world today. Obviously, all of us are not nursea nor can we serve in other war capacities such as WACs, WAVES, SPARS, or Women Marines. Neither can more than a few of us help as Red Cross workers or voluntary aids in other fields, but there is one position which every young woman in the United States can fill—and that is one of preparing for peace.

Upon college women especially does this burden lie, for it is we who will be expected to lead in our communities when we graduate. A few years ago college men alone were the potential leaders to whom the older generation looked. But the war has of necessity modified that perspective. In the first place, there are relatively few college men of our age who have been able to complete their educations before going into service. And of those who have obtained their degrees, or who will soon ,under the GI Bill of Rights, there is still the problem of how actual combat—bestiality, hate, cruelty, and passionate rage—has affected the outlook and philosophy of these men returned from battle.

Naturally, it would be foolish to assume that it will be woman's job to take over the reins from men and control business, politics, and economics. That this will happen even to a slight degree is mere speculation. But the fact remains that someone—women—will have to do a great deal to assist in the readjustment of men of this country and other nations as well, and to do so properly, women must make themselves alert, vitally interested in world events, and tolerant of ideas which do not coincide with their own.

In years not too far distant, women will be called npon to do and understand things which will require previous preparation and knowledge. It is the right of those who are defending us to expect women at home to keep in touch with what is going on in places other than their own backyards; to be cognizant of the problems which will arise, and probably, to have some opinions as to possible solutions of these questions. It is the duty of girls who remain safely at home to prepare themselves for just such situations.

Political issues are, and have been rising in importance recently, and no one has the right—particularly a college student—to remain aloof from developments in this field. Florida State College students have an opportunity on this campus to practice the machinery of politics, to run for office, to vote in elections, and to campaign for reforms. Now that one semester is almost over, plans are being made for second semester elections. Each student can learn for the future as well as the present by taking advantage of this oncoming event. She can learn to judge candidates on the basis of merit, rather than on the basis of popularity alone; she can investigate backgrounds, and she can exercise the joint privileges of free choice and voting. To neglect such a vital action is to fail to defend our future life.

We do not have to wait for an election on campus to stir us into action. We can be au conrant if we read newspapers, listen to the radio, talk with other students and professors about interesting and important topics, take courses which will give a broad perspective and which can be used as a sound basis for judgment by comparison, and, above all, keep alive and encourage a healthful questioning spirit to see good and bad and to offer reforms.

The Students Speak . . .

By MURIEL COPINUS

The New Year is with us at last—bringing with it many hopes and dreams, exams (who said that?), and the usual crop of resolutions of people all over the world and at FSC. Our students, not to be outdone, have come across with several. This week's column will be devoted to some of them.

I made my two yearly ones — to quit running around so much and to study harder. Also, to get to bed before the wee small hours

Lois Dossey, junior.

Mine were to refrain from going to the movies as often as I have been and, to taka more part in school activities.

Virginia Sapp, sophomore.

My main resolution is to let cats be catty. I won't.

Charlotte Burbaker, senior.

I just didn't make any 'cause I always break them.

Josephine Maniaci, senior.

To go to church very Sunday

Gay Sanders, freshman.

I shall try to be on time to all classes so I won't get teased. But the most important one is to turn over a new leaf in an attempt to achieve more fully my ideals.

Margaret Owen, senior.

To write more letters home and to buy my roommate a powder-puff.

Marie Wood, sophomore.

I made lots; to keep track of my money better, to write more and longer letters, and to refrain from talking too much.

Ondino Lombardero, sophomore

Mine—to stop all my nervous habits and to learn to be calm and steady.

Jean Wilson, senior.

I resolved to eat as much as I want to and the devil with my figure.

Lucy Peiden, freshman.

College Comments

By LOIS BYRD

FLASH— College comments is back into swing, giving you the latest dope on other universities and colleges of the United States.

Campus in the Crisis

Who said crusades were dead or students were out of the fight? There are 5000 students at the University of Texas who are not content just to feel something—they do something! In November these young future citizens of the nation refused to accept the threat to their academic freedom by scheming politicians in the government. They marched to the state capitol en masse, shouting "We Want Rainey" (dismissed college president). They presented a request for specific action to Governor Coke R Stevenson.

These students accused the Board of Regents of action according to Fascist principles because of their strong-arm methods in threatening, then firing, President Rainey because of his defense of academic democracy.

—Utah Cronicel

FSCW

And then there is the girl at West Virginia University.

She: I wonder if you remember me? Years ago you asked me to marry you.

Absent minded professor: Ah, yes; and did you?

—West Virginia University

Tradition Broken

The Navy has brought some griefs as well as joys to the University of Wisconsin. The fact that the Navy Radio school graduation dance was held in the traditional Great Hall on the night set for the annual Pre-Prom at that particular place caused great alarm. But the Pre-Prom was staged nevertheless, in the Crystal ballroom of the Loraine hotel and fun went on per usual.

—Daily Cardinal

Light on the Subject

The students of TSCW who raved and ranted about the rule requiring their lights to be out at 11:15 have compromised with turning them out at 11:30 p m. They feel that they now understand why they were first forbidden to keep lights on after 11:15. Two considerations made this rule advisable. The first was the request of the government officials that natural gas be conserved in order to insure the new war plants' and camps' in Texas having enough. The second consideration was the poor condition of the macinery in the power plant on which they depend for developing this current.

—Lass-o

These professors

"Our English professor got disgusted this morning at our behavior, and, in trying to get us quiet, made a remark with which we all agreed."

"This talking must stop," he said. "Every time I open my mouth, an idiot starts talking."

—Collegian

Women Are Awake

Classes in business administration have a 100 percent increase in enrollment among women this year. Dr O J Curry of the TSC faculty explains this increase with "women have a wide-open field in the business world now, and will have after the war, and they are preparing themselves for it." He believes that many women are discovering that they may compete successfully with men not only in the white collar jobs of business and industry, but in the industrial prodnction jobs also.

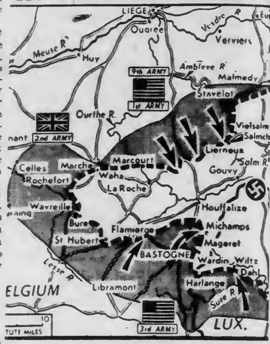
—Campus Chat

Date Complaints

These complaints were listed against girls as collected from male students.

1. Every time you go to pick up a girl at her dorm, she is never ready.
2. After you wait from 5 to 45 minntes she comes running down the stairs and with a sweet smirk says, "Am I late?" Then she pulls out her lipstick and starts to primp.
3. After you finally reach the car, she practically pushes the door off on her side.
4. When you get to dancing, she does one of two things, she either drags on your neck, or she stands so far away that you begin to wonder "why dance?".
5. At intermission she smokes —your cigarettes.
6. After the dance she wants to go straight home.
7. She acts willing and actually invites a good-night kiss, only to slap your face when you accept her invitation.
8. She tells you good-night and ducks inside the door.

P S. Don't worry, girls, men are impossible to please.



—Orange ond White

Project Plans

Sophomore Council met Thursday night to divide up into committees as needed in order to complete plans for this year's project, according to Jean Cole, chairman.

The project of the council for this year is to increase convocation attendance. The campaign, which will start soon, will be climaxed by a special chapel program on February 13.

IN THIS OUR TIME

Allied Armies Fight Big Nazi Offensive

By BETTY WEAVER

Concentrated efforts against the forty-mile wide German bulge highlights the Allied attack against the shocking German offensive which was inaugurated on December 16. The Germans have created a salient which extendes westward for fifty-one miles at its deepest spearhead position and about forty miles at its widest point.

The course of the Nazi offensive stretched westward from the Reich into Luxembourg and Belgium thus cutting off the Allied drive toward the Cologne Plain and swung south to halt the Allies on their way to the Rhine and the Ruhr and Saar Basins.

The main objective of the Allied armies is to split the German bulge before the main German forces can be withdrawn; this would cauze the Germans to lose some of its best armored strength and thereby weaken it for future battles. Field Marshal von Rundstedt seeks to keep his perimeter of defense intact and gradually retreat after having damaged Allied positions.

Since the Nazi break-through the battle thus far has been in three phases. First was the same "Schwerpunkt und Anfrollen" style which was successfully used in 1940 — to breakthrough and fan-out. This beginning of the offensive made rapid progress in the north, south and west. The second phase saw the suprised Allied forces trying to stop the advancing Nazis in any manner and with anything they could They succeeded in stopping the drive in strategic positions at the Meuse River, Liege and Luxembourg.

In the third phase, the Allies were finally able to lannch an organized counter-attack against the oncoming Wehrmacht. The complex problem of realignment faced the Allied commanders and new supply arrangements for food, shells and fuel had to be set up

The region which the Allies must cross to get at the Germans is definately not tank country. It is made up of valleys and steep hills and because of the trees the tanks can travel only by roads which have naturally been plotted by the Germans.

On the eve of the Allied attack, as if ordered by the Nazi command, the weather took a turn for the worse. Heavy clouds grounded all airplanes, sleet froze uniforms and weapons, and vehicles traveling along the roads skidded and slid into ditches, at times hreaking communication lines as they fell. The weather became a battle second only to the Battle of the Bulge.

Glancing far into the future some observers believe that the German expenditure in their counter-attack might be a definite weakening factor. Germany is in a position to make her siege a long one, but at the end the Allies will be able to make a definite break-through into the Reich; a movement that was advancing with little progress prior to the German attack on December 16th.

However, the keen-minded Nazi leaders may have more in mind than military victories. They have begun their attack at a time when the Allied Nations are not in full political agreement. Forming governments for newly liberated countries will bring political stress on the Allied governments. Recent controversy has developed among England, Russia and the United States. Even the South American countries are meeting to reach an agreement on the United States world affairs policy. Germany knows of the United Nations political troubles and differences, and she knows the world is growing weary of the war; that war weariness can tend to weaken unconditional surrender policies. Germany can well afford to lose a military battle if she can finally win by default.

Paper Backs Coeducation

• Continued From Page One

in furthering the cause of coeducation.

The Alligator featured a front page editorial on the question, two regular columns discussing the problem, a reprint of an editorial giving coeducation history which appeared in the Clearwater Sun in September, and a featured news story headed "Campus Leaders Say Students Can Put Coeducation Over."

No mention was made of the question of coeducation at Florida State college for women.

The Florida Flambeau

EDITORIAL STAFF

CORDELIA BARCLAY — Editor
RACHAEL SAIL, JANET PANCOAST — Associate Editors
SHIRLEY RUBIN — Managing Editor
BARBARA BESS, DOROTHY LANCASTER, JO ANN CARROLL — Assistant Editors
ANNE GAITHER, PEGGY KAY — News Editors

Copy Editor — Janet Rogers
Associate Copy Editor — Martha Abbott
Feature Editor — Judy Pepper
Opinion Editor — Muriel Copinus
Society Editor — Lillian Ergle
Asst. Society Editor — Jane Morrison
Outside News Editor — Betty Weaver
Sports Editor — Charlotte Curry
Columnist — Betty Ann Bishop
Exchange Editor — Lois Byrd
Art Editor — Frances Miner
Assistant Art Editor — Betty Morgan

REPORTERS: Virginia Allstock, May Alexander, Miriam Angell, Bobbie Bell, Eleanor Bia, Betty Ann Bradley, Burma Cox, Alice Crume, Eileen Davis, Betty Dowd, Lucy Feiden, Georgia Fields, Phyllis Freeman, Delores Gardner, Anne Hutton, Ruth Keller, Beryl Kitchen, Darley Lechner, Mary Nell McFadden, Betty Jo McLeod, Catherine Mellman, Delores Papy, Doris Pepper, Gloria Reed, Shirley Rodgers, Mrs Mabel Rogers, Lola Rose, Nicky Sartoris, Louise Sims, Peggy Lu Thomson, Jeanne Tillman, Marie Waters, Mary L White, Barbara Wickham.

BUSINESS STAFF

Marianne M Smith — Business Manager
Helen Tarapani — Assistant Business Manager
Shirley Rodgers — Advertising Manager
Betty Strickland, Bobbie Rees, Dot Miller, Georgia Fields, Lettie Sullivan, Aileen Severe — Advertising Staff
Jean Ann Graham — Circulation Manager
Margie Austin, Kathleen Johnson, Helen Tarapani — Circulation Staff
Eleanor Sayer — Collection Manager
Helen Conkling, Jerry Sconiers, Lucille Sconiers, Louise Sims, Jean Sponable — Collection Staff
Marianne Jones, Jean Ann Graham, Florence Ginn, Lucille Harp — Post Office Staff

Entered as second class mail matter January 30, 1918, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Wedding and Holiday Bells Ring Together at FSCW

By DARLEY LOCHNER

New Year and Christmas bells served as wedding bells for two Florida State teachers and 14 students.

Both of the teachers were in the modern language department. Miss Mary Roney, an instructor in Spanish, was a Christmas bride in San Diego, California. She will not return to Florida State, but will stay with her husband, Lieut John Winton.

Mrs Ralph Bush, the former Miss Clara Jardim, instructor in Portuguese, will teach the rest of the year since her husband is stationed at Dale Mabry. Mrs Bush originally came from Brazil to this country to attend her sister's wedding. She was marreid, herself on December 31 in the First Baptist Church of Tallahassee.

Susan Frye became Mrs Fred Barksdale in Jacksonville on January 5. She returned to FSC last Sunday. Susan's home is in Tampa.

In Washington, D C, Priscilla Foster of New Smyrna Beach became the bride of Ensign L A Vabnas on December 6. Priscilla is now in Washington and plans to stay with her husband until he is sent overseas. She then will return to Florida State.

Also a Navy wife is Gloria Dunn, president of Sigma Kappa who married Lieut Preston Woods McDaniel in Pensacola on December 27. Gloria will graduate in January.

Virginia Updike of Lake Wales chose the Army, becoming the wife of Lieut Horace Herndon of Lake Wales on the Tuesday before Christmas. Jinny has returned to FSC.

The ceremony was performed by the bride's brother when Jean Corry, president of Alpha Delta Pi married Lieut Lamar Munroe on December 21. Her maid of honor was Doris Corry, FSC sophomore, and her matron of honor was Virginia Palmer Corry, last year's president of Panhellenic. The marriage took place in the Episcopal Church of Quincy.

Mrs Arthur Owens, the former Persis Miles, is able to see her husband almost every weekend since he is a technical sergeant in Waycross, Georgia. They were married in the Methodist parsonage in Waycross on January 3. Persis plans to stay at FSC until she graduates in June.

The chapel at Fort Benning, Georgia, was the scene of Geneva Dean's marriage to Lieut Earl D Walden on December 22. Geneva, who is from Daytona Beach, plans to join her husband at the end of January.

Her future father-in-law tied the knot for Lovina Truby and Lieut John S Metcalf in a high noon ceremony in the First Congregational Church of Tampa, on December 24. Although she is leaving at semesters, Lovina plans to come back to summer school.

Janice Sanborne became Mrs Donald DeLong in Jacksonville the Friday before Christmas. She plans to be with her husband who is stationed at the Naval Air Base in Jacksonville as soon as she finishes her examinations.

Lois Palmer, a freshman, is now the wife of T Sgt Bonnie Wahadford. They said their vows on December 22 in Clearwater. Lois plans to finish this year at Florida State.

A romance which began last year when she met him here in Tallahassee was culminated on December 26 at the wedding of Medora Van Fleet and Clifton N Brown in the Presbyterian Church of Auburndale. Medora plans to finish this year at Florida State.

Pauline Janes did not return to Tallahassee after her wedding to Earnest L Currie, pharmacist's mate in the Navy, in Everglades City on December 29. Mr and Mrs Currie are living in Miami, where he is stationed.

Sue Williams also did not return to FSC after her marriage on December 23 in Arcadia to Lieut Bobby Bevis. Her roommate, Patty Landis, sang before the ceremony was performed.

The former Betty Marshall is able to be with her husband and go to school also Since her marriage to Major Peter Childers in the base chapel at Dale Mabry on December 17 she has been living with her husband in Tallahassee.

Gilchrist Holds Pin-up Boy Contest

Private Ray C Martz, Jr, Roselle Martz's husband, won the pin-up boy contest held at the Gilchrist tea Wednesday afternoon

It started when Mrs Melanie Turner, assistant counselor of Gilchrist, and several students found two pictures that some one had left in the parlor. On the spur of the moment they decided to have a pin-up boy contest for the girls in Gilchrist.

Small signs were put up Wednesday at noon and each girl was allowed three votes.

Private Ray C Martz, Jr, stationed at Camp Beale, California, was voted as the best looking man among 27 pictures entered in the contest. The picture, a 8"x10", and tinted, shows Ray smoking a pipe and looking very much at ease.

Board Meets

The annual monthly meeting of the Board of Control of the college was held last night in their offices in the Education Building. They will meet today with the state Budget Commission to study budgets of various institutions under their control. Later these budgets will be presented to the state Legislature.

Travel in Mid-Week

When you plan your necessary trips in mid-week, you save week-end seats for service men and women and war and farm workers. These men and women can't choose their schedules to avoid rush days. So, ask about and if possible ride the mid-week schedules . . . and accept the thanks of GI Joe and Trailways.

All Buses Leave
UNION BUS STATION
Adams and Tenn. Ph. 701

Committee Chairmen Far Soph Hop Named

Organizing plans for the annual Sophomora Hop which will be held on February 10, Neil Clark, general chairman, this week appointed her committees for the dance.

Committee chairmen met informally at the first organization meeting which was held Wednesday night. As appointed by Neil, the chairmen are. Barbara Mann, tickets; Bobbie Whidden, refreshments; Vicki Mott, ehaperones; Mary Groover Holland, hostesses; Eugenia Avant, finance; Beryl Kitchen, news publicity; Frances Traxler, poster publicity; and Rosetta Carver, Neil Clark, and Bo Peep Shell, decorations.

Tickets for Sophomore Hop, one of tho biggest social functions of the rchool year, will go on sale in lower Westcott building the week preceding the dance.

Baptist Students Stress Life Work

"Life Commitment Week," or a week dedicated to life vocations, began Monday at the Baptist Student House and will run through tomorrow. "I Have Chosen You" has been the main these for the whole week.

Speakers for each day were chosen from various occupations and professions, each talking on the relation of Christianity with his own work. Subjects of the program so far included: Maximum Christianity in My Profession, Maximum Christianity in My Business, Maximum Christianity in Definite Christian Cervice, Maximum Christian Homebuilding, and Christian Citizenship. Activities for the week will be concluded tomorrow morning with a discussion on Study and Divine Guidance.

Scholastic Honors Go to A D Pi's

Alpha Delta Pi rates highest in the scholarship report for sororities with an average of 1.73, according to an announcement issued by the Panhellenic association for the semester ending May 29, 1944.

Other averages were: Chi Omega, 1.67; Alpha Gamma Delta, 1.62; Delta Delta Delta, 1.62; Pi Beta Phi, 1.60; Phi Mu, 1.58; Sigma Kappa, 1.56; Kappa Delta, 1.53; Zeta Tau Alpha, 1.52; Kappa Alpha Theta, 1.48; Alpha Chi Omega, 1.45; Alpha Xi Delta, 1.44; Delta Zeta, 1.32; Delta Phi Epsilon, 1.28.

Conference Plans Made

Continued From Page One

secretary of the YMCA: Arthur T Mosher, expert on Indian agriculture ;the Rev Blake Smith, pastor of the University Baptist Church in Austin, Texas: the Rev Winburn T Thomas: resident of Japan for several years: and Miss Eleanor Wilson, recently the only American woman in the Marshali and Caroline Islands.

Plans by which each of these resuorceful persons could be used to the fullest were sketched. Some of the leaders will make addresses, others will lead seminars, and all of the panel members will be available for personal conferences.

Seminars upon the subject of Christian vocations, understanding the Japanese philosophy, Indian problems, Mexican life, problems in Christian citizenship, and religious propblems on the college campus will be led by adult speakers, but will allow students a chnace to express their own opinions about the problems and their solution. Tentative plans for study courses to prepare students for the seminars were discussed.

Since the boys at the University of Florida who sponsor the conference with Florida State were unable to be at the planning conference, a full report of the decisions reached were sent to them. Gainesville chairmen of the conference are Bill Rion and Fred White.

Mann to Visit

A R Mann, vice-president and director of the General Education Board of New York, will arrive on campus tomorrow afternoon He will visit here for several days studying the various additions to Florida State College and Florida Agriculture and Mechanics College.

Village Vamps and Cotillion Club Tap New Members at College Formal

Tapping of new members by Cotillion and Village Vamps highlighted tha formal dance held in the gyymnasium last Saturday night. Candles made an effective background and proved very useful when part of the city electric system failed and gave the campus a 15-minute blackout.

Those tapped by Cotillion were Ina Jo Wrench, Jane Wooten, Claire Cashen, Dottie Young Martha Wright, Evelyn Howell, Franklin Smith, Doris Snow, Mary Alice Ray, Marian McEwen Jean Oldfather, Ann Michel, Sally Whitehead, Sis Myers, Carol Claus, Nancy Gleaton, Cleona Asher, Betty Keen, Janice Boohner, Betty Wisenbaker, Marilyn Ward, Margaret Morgan, Lillian Brown, Carolyn Butler, and Pat Sellers.

Village Vamps tapped Barbara Covington, Nancy Clark, Margaret Sparrow, Betty Jo Wilson, Carolyn Keen, Norma Schaeffner, Montine Ingram, Ann Holtin, Sara Jane Gallagher, Barbara Brough, Jo Ann Hanney, Jean Harris, Barbara Ames, and Ann Rice.

During intermission Cotillion had a party for their taps, members and dates in Landis Recreation hall. Chris Morrison was in charge. Cake and punch were served.

Village Vamps held a breakfast in honor of their taps Sunday morning at the Alpha Delta Pi house. Dr and Mrs Coyle E Moore were guests. Dr Moore read the traditional poems for the taps.

Members of Cotillion and Village Vamps worked with the Saturday night dance committee in making the dance a success. The gym was decorated in the respectiva colors of the clubs, green and white and black and white. A silver bandstand was trimmed with top hats and hearts. The dance committee of which Carol Sherman is chairman secured the College Swing Band to furnish the music.

Chaperones were Dr and Mrs Karl O Kuersteiner, Mr and Mrs Frank Sykora, Cpl and Mrs Lawrence, Miss Sarah Herndon, Miss Elizabeth D Hodges, Mrs Mildred H Davis, and Miss Cella Segerman. Special guests were Dr and Mrs Doak S Campbell and Mr and Mrs John G Keilum.

Last Minute Celebrations Are Held By Sororities Before Dead Week

Parties, dances, breakfasts and a weiner roast have been taking place since the girls came back from vacation. The usual lull during exams will be preceded by parties this weekend and revived by sorority formals.

A surprise party by pledges of Alpha Delta Pi was given last night in honor of Jean Corry Monroe, who was married during the Christmas vacation. Tomorrow night members are giving a coffee, to which actives, pledges and guests are invited.

The Alpha Gams are giving an informal party tomorrow night for actives, pledges, and friends. Gloria Shuman and Betty Jane Fox are in charge. Sunday morning pledges will fix breakfast for members, with Jayma Betz in charge.

Informality will be the keynote of the party Alpha Xi's are giving tomorrow night for actives, pledges and their friends. Former Alpha Xi Delta member, Janet Wimpleburg, was inducted to the Woman's Army Corps January 4, as a medical technician. Her father, a major at Dale Mabry Army Air field, swore her in.

Last Saturday night Chi Omega had an informal weiner roast. A pledge party in the form of a Mother Goose nursery tale was held on Tuesday. Each pledge took part by characterizing one rhyme for each of the 13 other sororities, whose pledges were their guests. Jane Wooten was in charge. Punch and cookies were served.

The Tri Delta's had all pledges spend the night at the house last Saturday. Sunday morning pledges prepared breakfast for all members, with actives and pledges eating together.

Delta Phi Epsilons are busy these days planning their formal dance, which will take place February 3 in Landis Rec .Theme of the dance is still a secret. Many out-of-town guests are expected along with special guests and faculty members. Among returning alumnae will be Charlotte Rose and Dorothy Dubbin. Sylvia Moschovitch is head of the committee, and her assistant is Naomie Shulman. Martha Magazis is chairman of the food committee.

A "Last Blast" party was given at the Kappa Delta house for pledges of other sororities Thursday afternoon. Theme of the party was "Eat, drink and be merry for tomorrow—is dead week."

Invitations were in the form of horns which were also used as favors. A skit about the effects of dead week was given and champagne (ginger alo with cherries) was served.

Muri Price, president of pledges, was general chairman. Committees were Peggy Grimsley, invitations; Edith Olsson, decoration; Betty Jo Craig, entertainment; Nancy Clark, refreshment.

Alumna Virginia "Tootsit" Webb, who has just been married to Lt Joseph J Julavich of Hartford, Connecticut, visited the Sigma Kappa house recently.

Ida Lee Rentz Frosh Leader

Continued From Page One

in the primaries were: President, Jean Fliess, Juanita Krentsman, Pat Pattishall, Madge Pilcher, Ida Lee Rentz, Connie Savage, Norma Schaffner, Mary Jane Sherman, Jo Anne Whitaker, Teena Wright; vice president, Jean Bennett, Betty Bolles, Anne Fielding, Elaine Gavigan, Jane Gunn, Theodora Grace, Teddy Hamlin, Pat Hornot, Margaret Hunter, Betty Kennedy, Anne Lindsey, Joyce Pepper, Winnie LePard.

Secretary, Cleona Asher, Mary Copeland, Joyce Evans, Enid Krouse, Rosemary Marcoux, Phyllis Rundell, Betty Shirley, Eddie Fay Stokes, Jimmie Rogers, Dot Vincent. Treasurer, Mary E Boswell, Virginia Budd, Marilyn Dewey, Marie Dozier, Helen Edmiston, Barbara Lanford, Anne Mickell, Babs McCarthy, Jo Ann Newman, Marty Perkins, Alva Ray, Arnett Walling. Athletic Manager, Rosa Lee Davis, Jean O'Steen, Marian Floyd, Jean Harris, Amarene Thompson. Parliamentarian, Twyla Bair, Audrey Evans Elizabeth Henderson, Zeanne Lanier, Roberta Perkins, Virginia Sewell, Jean Sharer, Sally Whitehead. Senate, Adrianne Blumberg, Lucy Feiden, Beth Fuhrer, Jo Ann Long, Martha Peacock, LaFern Quinn, Jean Ann Ramsdale, Janice Richey, Irma Lee Shepard, Franklin Smith.

Students Can Obtain Inauguration Paper

Special inauguration editions of the Tallahassee Daily Democart are still available for those who wish to have them sent to friends or families.

According to F B Gwynn, circulation manager of the Democrat, the special edition will be sent to any address upon request, for the newstand cost of the paper, five cents. The special edition, celebrating the historical inauguration of Florida's centennial governor, carries full details of teh inauguration and a full news record of Florida's hundred years of statehood. Among the feature articles in the paper is one on the history of Florida State College for Women.

Students who are ineresed in obaining a copy or in having copies sen o friends and relalves need only give ahe addresses, with a nickel for each address, to Mr Gwynn, at the Democrat office. Mr Gwynn announced, also, that if any student wishes to compile a list of addresses from her campus friends, a substantial commission will be paid to her.

Examination Schedule

Dead week will officially begin at 9 o'clock Monday morning, Jan 15, and will end Monday morn ng, Jan 22, the beginning of examination week, the Registrar's office announced.

Examination Schedula

M W F 9	Monday 8:50-10:50
Hygiene 101	Monday 11-12
Chemistry 204 and 205	Monday 11-1
Five Hr. Integrated Courses	Monday 2-5
English 001 and 101	Tuesday 8:50-10.50
Economics 201	Tuasday 8.50-10:50
Journalism 110	Tuesday 8:50-10:50
Education 407	Tuesday 8:50-10:50
Social Studies 103	Tuesday 11-1
T Th S 9	Tuesday 2-4
Physical Education	Tuesday 4:10-5:10
M W F 10	Wednesday 8·50-10:50
T Th S 10	Wednesday 11-1
M W F 11	Wednesday 2-4
T Th 3	Wednesday 4:10-5:40
T Th S 11	Thursday 8:50-10:50
M W F 12	Thursday 11-1
T Th S 12	Thursday 2-4
T Th 4	Thursday 4:10-5·40
M W F 2	Friday 8·50-10:50
M W F 3	Friday 11-1
M W F 4	Friday 2-4
One-hour courses & conflicts	Friday 4:10-5:10
	Saturday 8·50-1

Where two examinations are scheduled for tha same hour, the first named takes precedence.

Irish and Young Talk On Status of Women

Economic and Legal Status Discussed By AAUW

"The Economic and Legal Status of Women" was discussed Tuesday night at the monthly meeting of the Tallahassee branch of the American Assocaition of University Women by Dr Marion Irish, professor of political science, and Miss Sadie Young, associate professor of economics.

Following an important business meeting concerned with a legislative program for 1945-47, Dr Irish pointed out the development of women's legal rights in Florida. She stated that until 1943 women's rights in Florida were based on old English common law and that it was not till this time that Florida women were accorded many rights that had been previously granted in other states. In her talk entitled, "The Legal Status of Women in Florida" the speaker told of the little protective legislation limiting hours of women's work and that there is no minimum wage law for them. Criminal and civil laws in Florida, said Dr Irish, make no distinction between men and women.

Miss Young, directing her talk on the economic status of women ni the United States, presented three questions to tho group: "Do women have the right to work?", "Can women earn a living wage?" and "What responsibility do women take in regard to their income and the spending of it?" In view o fthe increased employment of women since tho war, Miss Young pointed out that unless women recognize their economic responsibilities as well as their rights, they may lose gains they have made into the economic world.

Civic Music Sponsors Quartet

The national operatic quartet will be presented in the second of the series of concerts sponsored by the Tallahassee Civic Music Association Monday night, January 15, at the Leon County High school auditorium.

Members of the association, including several hundred Florida State College students, will hear the celebrated artists of the National Operatic Quartet. Members of this quartet, formerly individual artists, have joined together to give a program of quartets and duets. Accompanied by Leo Taubman, the group is: Polyna Stoska, soprano, who has given a program at FSC previously; Winifred Heidt, contralto; Gilbert Russell, tenor; and Jess Walter, baritone.

Pre-Med Club Makes Plans

Continued From Page One

Limroth, secretary, and Ella Mae Baer, corresponding secretary.

Stressing that freshman as well as upperclassmen are eligible, Marianne has said, "All students enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences who are pursuing pre-medical, physiotherapy, or laboratory technology studies are urged to join."

Aims of the Pre-Medical club, as stated in its constitution, include: "To foster a stronger association of pre-medical students on this campus so that they may reech their goals by collective striving: and to provide opportunities of contact with members of the medical profession and related scientific fields (also to provide opportunities for the members) to broaden the scope of their scientific knowledga by sponsoring programs, discussions and lectures designed for this purpose."

Although France is smaller than Texas, its pre-war population (41,907,056) was more than six times as great.

Dr Popper Attends Historical Meeting

Courses In Area Study Are Subject of Discussion

Dr Annie M Popper, associate professor of history, attended the American Historical association meeting in Chicago which was held in the Stevens Hotel, December 28-30.

Of the many meeting there, she said one of the most interesting speeches she heard was on area studies of tho Far East. In this it was stated that soma larga universities such as Yale, Chicago, and Cornell have introduced sources in area study. The courses have been open to members of the armed forces as well as to civilian undergraduates. Tha students study a given area from different angles, economic, social, political, cultural, and if possible, striva for a mastering of the language.

The idea for these courses has mainly grown out of the service men's experiences in foreign countries.

Dr Popper said that one of the most illuminating speeches she heard was given by Professor Oscai Jaszi of Overland Collega who spoke on Central Europe and Russia He expressed his doubt that Stalin had changed his original Bolshevisis' aims but he thought that Stalin was making the necessary concessions to circumstances just as Lenin did in his days: this however, the speaker trusted, would not necessarily prevent co-operation of the Allied Nations with Russia in the next few decades.

Parker Is Elected

Nancy Parker was elected as the new president of Spirogira at their meeting last Tuesday night in tha Student Alumnae building. After a short business meeting, Spirogiras adjurned to the Spick and Span where the new president was introduced. Nancy is filling the vacancy left by Marjorie Philyaw who is graduating.

Come see us for your Radio and Electrical needs . . . You may also send your personal message on a record made on our professional recording machine 50c

—at—

RADIO & SOUND SERVICE
TALLAHASSEE
102 S. Monroe St. Ph. 98-W

Hey, Gals!

Write Your Letters on Chatter Notes and Wits End Stationery from

MARTIN AND DALTON
210-212 S. Adams

FEDERAL BAKE SHOP
310 S. Monroe Phone 129

"Makers and Bakers of Good Things to Eat"

BIRTHDAY CAKES - PARTY ORDERS
Given Our Special Attention

Your Favorite Food At The

- Sandwiches
- Dinners
- Sea Food
- Chili
- Steaks

M & N CAFE

YOU ARE ALWAYS WELCOME
at
Your Corner Drug Store!

FAIN DRUG COMPANY
MONROE AND COLLEGE PHONE 56

Do You Need Any
WAX or POLISH?
Here's Your Solution!

Seek it First at
VAN BRUNT & YON INC.
YON'S HARDWARE

Prepare For Spring!

with New Spring

PRINT - SOLID AND PASTEL

DRESSES

—from—

P. W. Wilson Co.
—Since 1837—

Students Go To GJ Hospital

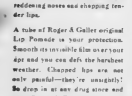
Even Dem and Swing Band Entertain Soldiers

The College Swing Band and part of the entertainment from Even Demonstration entertained at Gordon Lummus hospital last Sunday afternoon under the sponsorship of Methar Board.

The group left the campus early in the afternoon in a special GI bus. With only one flat tire during the trip they arrived at the field in mid-afternoon. They were conducted directly to the hospital where the patients had prepared for them by moving furniture and beds around to make a larger space.

The chorus of 34 girls sang "Stormy Weather," Emma Mae Murray played "Lrenestraum and "Deep Purple." Mary Louise Perry and Bebe Daniels danced. Calista Hatcher sang "Nobody" and "There Goes That Song Again" and the College Swing Band played several numbers.

The girls were served dinner in the hospital and after the meal the dance band played again, while the girls chatted with the boys.



Those scheduled to make the trip were: Ceo Sapp, Alese Trisette, Jean Gerry Monroe, Caroline Bailey, Sidney Conner, Jean Lew-

Beware of "Nippy Air"
he's on the prowl!

Watch out for "Nippy Air" who walks abroad these chilly days, reddening noses and chapping tender lips.

A tube of Roger & Gallet original Lip Pomade is your protection. Smooth its invisible film over your dpt and you can defy the harshest weather. Chapped lips are not only painful—they're unsightly! Be free in at see drug store and say "Roger & Gallet original Lip Pomade in the handy pocket tube."

25¢

ROGER & GALLET
509 FIFTH AVE., NEW YORK 18, N.Y.

Florida Theatre

Today and Tomorrow
"FRENCHMAN'S CREEK"

Sunday and Monday
"LOST IN A HAREM"

Tuesday and Wednesday
"CANTERVILLE GHOST"

Thursday thru Saturday
"ABROAD WITH TWO YANKS"

State Theatre

Today and Tomorrow
"THAT'S MY BABY"
and
"RIDERS OF SANTE FE"

Sunday and Monday
"NOTHING SACRED"
and
"MY BUDDY"

Tuesday and Wednesday
"THE BATHING BEAUTY"

Thursday, Oct.
"HEAVENLY DAYS"
and
"CRY HAVOC"

Friday and Saturday
"BLOCK BUSTERS"
and
"OLD SUSANNA"

Ritz Theatre

Saturday
"SILVER CITY KID"
Western Picture

Sunday and Monday
"Addy Hardy's Blonde Trouble"

Tuesday and Wednesday
"LADY AND THE MONSTER"
and
"HI GOOD LOOKING"

Thursday and Friday
"Sherlock Holmes Faces Death"
and
"LDUISIANA HAYEIDE"

Registrar Notice

Due to the increased enrollment and interest in PSC, the supply of 1944 catalogues has been exhausted. The new 1945 catalogue will not go to press for approximately two months, and it is not within the college budget to reprint the old catalogue.

To meet this demand for catalogues, the Registrar's office is requesting that all students who have finished using their 1944 catalogues and do not need them any more to bring them to its front office on the second floor of Westcott.

Five Linguists Attenr Meeting

Language Professors Of Florida Convene

Five members of the modern language department will attend a meeting in Gainesville of the Spanish, Portuguese, and French teachers of Florida, today and tomorrow.

Dr Arthur R Seymour, professor of modern languages; Dr Dorothy L Hoffman, associate professor of Spanish and French; Miss Margaret V Campbell, in structor in modern languages Mrs Clara Jardim Buth, assistant instructor in Portuguese, and Dr Myra L Yancey, associate professor of education, will be the attending members of Florida State College.

The main speakers of the conference will be Henry Grattan Doyle, professor of romance language at George Washington University, who is also editor of Hispanus, and Gustavo Rene Hernandez, a Cuban who is instructor of Spanish at the University of North Carolina and who has been in charge of the army and navy program of Spanish at the university.

The conference sponsored by the National Education Association will include such topics as concentrated language courses for army and navy; the teaching of Spanish in the lower grades with Dr Yancey as speaker; the teaching of Portuguese in college with Mrs Buth as speaker college placement tests as a collaboration of high school and college with Dr Seymour as speaker. Other topics will be the teaching of Spanish in the army, the teaching of Spanish in the junior college and adult education in Spanish. The members of FSC faculty who are not members speakers will take part in panel discussions.

Dr Yancey will be in charge of an exhibit of The Spanish Language in the Countries to the South of Us sent from the United States office of Education in Washington, D C.

In connection with the conference there will be a meeting of the Florida Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and a meeting of the Florida chapter of the American Association of Teachers of French.

Press Exhibit Is Displayed

Sophomore Journalism Is In Charge of Display

Freedom of the press is the subject of the current display at the Information Center in the library. The exhibit was arranged by the sophomore journalism class under the direction of Beryl Kitchen.

The purpose of the display on one of the bulletin boards is to show that the fight for freedom of the press is not a new thing, but has been going on for centuries. There are copies of several court cases which reveal this datina as far back as 1798. Article I of the Constitution of the United States, which declares that there shall be freedom of the press, shows that ability to have freedom of expression is one of the principles on which the government of this country is established. There are two articles by Kent Cooper, head of the Associated Press bureau discussing the need for the world news to be unhampered by censorship.

The prize-winning essay "Portraits of Freedom" by Ruth Williams Ricci is presented in pamphlet form. Three articles on freedom of the press which were written in response to the contest run in the Atlantic Monthly last year are on display as are excerpts from books on the press in Russia and Germany . Other books exhibited are on every phase of journalism—the method of writing, the operation of a newspaper, the interpreing of news autobiographies of newspapermen, and behind-the-scene events.

On the other bulletin board are famous quotations of Dale, Milton Voltaire and Homer on free speech. Examples of the wide variety of newspapers such as The Christian Science Monitor, PM, Chicago Daily Tribune, and Emporia Gazette are hung below cards bearing data about the name, place of publication, circulation, and date of founding.

The circulation of a newspaper is depicted in a street scene of paper cleaner figures. The newsboy selling papers to the man on the street shows the simple method of one of the distribution of newspapers.

Beryl Kitchen, general chairman of the project, four committee chairmen, and members of four committees selected the material and set up the display. Committee chairmen as announced by Miss Pearl Shepard, instructor in journalism, were Calvin Collins, Mary L White, Frances Keller and Anne Hall.

Correspondent Warns Against Optimism

Continued From Page One

were many more that had not been told.

General MacArthur is one of the greatest military strategists of the war, according to Lodge, who explained that the so-called island-hopping in the south Pacific was a carefully executed plan to secure advance airfields. These islands were won only after bloody battles for Yank soldiers. Lodge also stated that MacArthur had to return to the Philippines to save face, which is the most important factor in the Orient.

Lodge has seen action on every Pacific front in Finland, Norway, the London blitz of 1940 Africa, the English Channel the North Sea and the Atlantic in Mexico and in World War I. He has been machine-gunned, bombed torpedoed and shot down in a B-17.

Queen Crowned

Virginia Sewell was crowned queen of the American Guild of Organists in their traditional crowning ceremony at 6:45 p m. Sunday night, in Ruge Hall. Refreshments, which consisted of cake and coffee, were served after the ceremony. Approximately 18 members of the guild were present.

Following refreshments, the new queen and members of the Guild attended the Festival of Light which was presented by the Ruge Hall girls.

Tarpon Club

The election of officers for the forthcoming year of Tarpon Club was held at a meeting on January 5, 1945. Those elected were Mary Perry, president; B J Singleton, vice president; and Anna Horn, secretary and treasurer.

B J has announced that practice periods for all tryouts are scheduled to begin on Tuesday, January 21, at 5 o'clock.

Hillel Broadcasts

The Hillel Foundation has presented a radio program twice this week during the daily devotional hour over station WTAL. Gerry Halpern and Janie Kraus both

Honorary Initiates

Pi Delta Phi, national French honorary, initiated three pledges Wednesday night. The new members are Miss Roberta Acker man, instructor in modern languages; Eleanor Law and Virginia Nelson.

President of Pi Delta Phi is Louise Simpson; Priscilla Gillette is secretary; Mary Lucy Mendenhall, treasurer. Faculty advisor is Dr Arthur Seymour, professor of modern languages.

deal with the topic of the week Faith Today for Tomorrow. These two broadcasts were under the direction the Rabbi Alex Goldman.

War Council Meets

The War Council composed of representatives from the twenty-seven organizations on campus met to plan an overall war activities program for the second semester, the highlight of which wil, be an oratorical contest. The subject of this contest, which will be one dealing with post war problems of peace, will be chosen tomorrow. The contest is open to every student on campus and is sponsored in by the Hillel Foundation in cooperation with the War Council. Finals are to be held the week of April 25, the semifinals the week before.

Juniors Superior In Culture Tests

Students who took the junior culture exams before Christmas have received cards on which test grades, their ratings in relationship to the class and the national percentage rating has been included.

"On the whole the junior class this year is simificantly superior to the national group in all respects of the tests," Dr Mark DeGraff, professor in the department of education, announced today.

Students who took the exam at the designated time may come to

Displays Missing

There will soon be an acute bulletin display shortage in this school, if students don't cease removing posters, letters of information, and announcements from the various bulletin boards in school buildings.

Students are asked to refrain from taking such notices and displays from the eboards and to inquire at the personnel office to duplicates or other information that tehy might be interested in.

see their papers any time the next week in Dr DeGraff's office in the Education building.

To Get Bigger Values For Less

try

Ben Gilberg's

'The Big Man With the Big Values'

108 E. Jefferson St.

New Semester

The Florida Flambeau

New Leaf

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

VOL. XXXII, No. 13 Tallahassee, Florida FEBRUARY 2, 1945

Marjorie Moffett to Give Monologue Sketches at FSC Tonight at 8:15 in Westcott

Disease to Act Here on First Coast to Coast Tour; Presentation Will Be Second Event Of B Series Season Tickets

Marjorie Moffett, disease who's now making her first coast to coast tour of this country, will appear in Westcott auditorium tonight at 8:15. Her performance will be the second event on the B series season tickets. Students who have a B series ticket and who are not yet claimed their reservation seats may do so at 7:15 at the box office.

Guests have acclaimed this monologist as one of the finest one actresses of recent years. Also she has no copyright on this form of drama, she has done much for its development, it is said.

Miss Moffett acts on a bare stage without accomplices or scenery. By her pregnece, voice, and action, she is able to bring before the audience various imaginary characters.

Since the beginning of World War II Miss Moffett has written and added to her repertoire about war numbers which represent each of the 13 warring nations. Some of these sketches have been broadcast to the respective countries. The sketch on Germany was transmitted by short wave to the German people by the Russian broadcast, and the opportunity of hearing the sketch on Russia was heard by the people of United China relied and the one on America was heard by citizens of that country.

Twelve of the sketches have been published in a book entitled You Play I in One Person Monologues. In the forward this actress-author-playwright said: "Marjorie Moffett is a young artist, but I esteem it a privilege to write the monologue to the field of art. She is popularly known as a diverse but is not correct. A disease is a person who says since and Marjorie Moffett does not play alone. She plays with many people whom she tries to music, for they are all military. I regard her as one of our eminent exponents of a simple and difficult art."

Dr. Ora Pescay Smith announced the book by Miss Moffett, is collection of 15 monodramas suffer from the same form of the drama.

Miss Moffett's present tour will be nearly three and a half months and take her to over 80 cities. Her appearance here is in only non-musical dramatic event on this year's Artist Series schedule.

The series season tickets will be available to guests as well as to old students who have not made called for them this afternoon from 4 to 5 p m on the ground floor of the Student-Alumnae building. Seats tickets will not be given out later than 5 o'clock today.

Orientation Begins For New FSC Girls

Conferences, Meetings Are Directed by Trieste

The orientation of about 60 new freshmen and 40 transfers to other colleges began Monday at Florida State College for Women.

The new registrants for the fall quarter began their orientation program with a tour to the large fresh class at the beginning of the fall term. The organized tour was held last through Thursday and will include conferences and meetings to explain campus rules and regulations of the college girls.

Alice Trieste, of Tampa and Dorothy Freshman adviser of the College Government association, has appointed counselors for the orientation period and directory to conduct the orientation program for the new arrivals to the campus.

The counselors are. Helen Atkinson, Margaret Cockrell, Elsie Dyer, Betty Sue Jennings, Madeline King, Eleanor Law, Jean Lee, Joy Little, Betty Jo McCall, Margaret McCann, Mrs Doris Mitchell, Betty Pearson, Audrey Perry, Joan Shanor, Bustis Sikes, Lana Washburn, and Margaret Winton.

Spanish Is Radio Feature

FSC Sponsors WTAL Skit, "Let's Learn Spanish"

Let's Learn Spanish, a radio program that carries the endorsement of eight ambassadors and the testimonials of fourteen who have learned by listening, will go on the air at 7:30 Monday night, February 12, over WTAL, under the sponsorship of Florida State Colleges.

Then every Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday night at 7:30 for 13 weeks the programs will continue. The transcribed series was prepared and produced by Time and Life magazines and made available to the college through the efforts of Dr. A B Seymour, head of the department of modern languages. It is radio's first major attempt to teach a foreign language, and its success in this respect over other stations has been phenomenal.

So far, at least 41 stations in 31 states have presented the programs. In an easy-going style devoid of the ivory-tower approach, "Joe Bishop," a man who wants to learn Spanish, talks to Pedro Ohlen, a Spanish-speaking American, and the radio audience can listen and learn with him.

A special room will be set aside by Dr. Seymour for convenience of students listening to the programs at 7:30 on Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Word lists to accompany the programs are on sale at a moderate price at the college bookstore.

The addition of the "Let's Learn Spanish" series to the collect broadcasting schedule marks the first expansion of the schedule which began on October 26 and has included one weekly program —the Garnet and Gold quiz-hour — each Thursday night at 7:30. Garnet and Gold will continue on Thursday nights; the "Let's Learn Spanish" program will be broadcast from Monday to Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and Thursday that is further expansion on the schedule will soon take place.

Comparison Shows FSCW Rated Second

According to the latest comparison of figures Florida State College is the second largest state institution for women in the United States, and has been since 1942.

North Carolina State College for Women, which was formerly larger, has now dropped behind and Texas State College for Women is the only state - supported woman's college in the country which exceeds FSC enrollment. The figures show also that Florida State College for Women's educational gain on TSCW during the past three years.

The total enrollment for this year at FSC will have exceeded 2,000 when the registration for second semester is completed.

Students Hear Informal Talk By Halifax

Ambassador Wishes FSC Student Body Luck On Exams

British Policy Is Subject Of His Second Talk

Earl Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, who has represented the United Kingdom since the pre-Pearl Harbor days of 1941 was guest of Tallahassee and Florida State College January 24. He addressed the student body at 5 o'clock and members of the city Chamber of Commerce that night at 8 o'clock in Westcott auditorium. Halifax was accompanied by his wife, Lady Halifax and his son, Captain Richard Wood.

Earl Halifax gave what he termed "an informal chat" to an auditorium filled to capacity with FSC students, saying, "It is a privilege to meet the student body and to wish you luck."

In stating two reasons for being glad to appear here, he told of having been the guest of Chancellor of Oxford University, and said that it was an inspiration to see a state institution of learning. He emphasized that girls need to be future citizens and need investment in order to exercise the responsibility of citizenship and be able to judge the questions that will confront them in later years.

Says Americans Friendly

His second reason was that, as British Ambassador to this country, he wanted to let people realize how important it is that the two countries of Britain and the United States, respect each other, learn and work together for the good of the world, for that he believes, will depend the future of the world in the next 30 or 40 years.

Stressing that the young people should grow to be good citizens, Earl Halifax said that it was not only a duty for girls of FSC to school to their country, but a debt to the college itself, and that they should endeavor to pay it, to discharge that debt.

Accompanying Earl Halifax and his wife and son, were Rear Admiral Conrad J D B Royer and British Vice Consul Edward J Wilson.

Speaks to Townspeople

Speaking to the Chamber of Commerce members, Earl Halifax said that his nation's sole policy in international affairs is to help them establish the form of government they want. Referring to misunderstandings existing in this country over Britain's foreign policy, he declared that it is "just nonsense" to suppose "that merely because the population of Greece

Continued on Page Three

Tests Given

According to Dr Elizabeth G Andrews, director of personnel the psychological tests for new students who entered at the beginning of the second semester will be given next Wednesday in the Augusta Conrad Little Theater at 5 o'clock.

The personality test for new students will be given next Thursday at 5 o'clock in the Augusta Conrad Little Theater.

Students are asked arrive promptly.

Governor Talks on Coeducation In Interview With Reporters

Coeducation in Florida schools should be planned to fit the needs of education, and not by the desire of any business group to profit by it, Florida's new Governor, Millard F Caldwell, has stated in a recent interview by Flambeau reporters. The governor's friendly manner was apparent during the whole of the informal conversation, which featured discussion of the issues ranging from state plans to hobbies.

On the subject of co-education, Governor Caldwell continued that 'the ends of education, instead of expediency," should be the deciding factor.

Expenditure of public school funds has come to the attention of the state budget committee recently, and Caldwell has spent much time planning the use of the $6,000,000 to be added to school funds. The Governor has added a statement that he will accept federal aid for education only so far as it is given "without strings."

Governor Millard F Caldwell

A definite "Yes!" was Governor Caldwell's answer to the question whether or not federal loans sometimes stall bureaucratic control. He holds a strong belief in local self-government, and bases it on the theory that "people have the right and the duty to control their own affairs." Close association between state governments is urged as a way of obtaining funds without accompanying restrictions. Under the new administration state control of county affairs will not be increased, he added.

"Women have loaned to politics ideals that they have lacked," the governor stated when questioned. "But in many cases they have not proven themselves to be as practical as men."

Although the number of women active in state politics is not changing rapidly, he states there is much room for them in certain fields, such as public education, public health, and probation work. As for the desirability of women in politics, the governor says he does not differentiate between men and women.

Hunting is the favorite sport of the governor, with fishing a close second. He enjoys hunting turkey in Bay, Franklin, and Leon Counties, and quail and dove in North Florida. He casts his line in Bass Pond, Lake Jackson, Florida's inland rivers and streams.

"But," he added with a smile, "I'm sadly behind in both sport."

Creative Arts Contest Opens

Deadline Is March Third; Rules Are Announced

Specifications for the creative writing and music composition divisions of the creative arts contest, which is sponsored by the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, were announced by Dr Carmen Rogers, creative arts chairman of the FAUW. Each college or university in competing in any field should begin work immediately in order to produce the quality of work that is expected. Prospective contestants may obtain a copy of the rules from Miss Margaret Longmire, chancellor of Lasell, who is in charge of distributing the information, or from any of the district chairmen.

The types of writing which will be accepted in the contest this year are: the essay, short story, one-act play and poetry. Those who wish to participate in any of the drama are asked to notify Miss Henry of Lasell as she wishes to shat arrangements for production may be made.

The general regulations concerned with the creative writing division are:

1. The contest is open to all registered students of Florida State College for Women.
2. Original material never

Continued on Page Three

Foreign Student Compares Life In Tallahassee and China Area

Lula On Smith, whose real Chinese name is Chow Suey-Lond, is the Chinese-American girl who has become a familiar student figure to many on the campus of Florida State College. That Lula is just as much American as she is Chinese born her many interesting and varied experiences in both the United States, where she lived for the first 12 years, and China where she was born.

In December, 1918, Lula was born in Canton City, which is located in Kwang-Tung province in southern China. For two years, like any other little well-to-do Chinese girl, she played about her father's large home, attended little iron grill work and in the garden surrounded by a high compound. On feast days she dressed in her bright jacket and trousers and joined the village lasers in their local ceremonies. The next year her parents sailed on the President Wilson from China to the United States. Here began the intermingling of Oriental and Occidental customs and habits of which Lula is now given Lula an international outlook. When asked whether she preferred the Eastern or Western culture, she answered that she sees great value in them both; and rather than live entirely by one or the other, she finds it more satisfying to pick out the highest ideals of both and to live toward them.

After arriving in the United States, Lula stayed in San Francisco, California, where she visited her father's parents. Then she moved to Los Angeles where her father had already established a business.

As a child, Lula was popular among the townspeople of Tallahassee. Her father's home was often found too difficult for western tongues to pronounce her name, Mrs Miller Smith, a resident of Tallahassee, remembers. Little Chinese girls sat with her own name, Lula Smith. Her middle name, On, was her father's family name. When he came to the United States, it was often thought to be his given name. Lula knew only that her new English name was the same as her good mother's, Mrs Smith's. Wherever asked who she was, Lula answered, "I'm Lula Smith."

When Lula was ten years old her father had to return to his native land because of his health. She went with him on the boat crossing the Pacific on the Empress of Asia. To continue her education already begun in the United States, Lula entered a Chinese - American missionary school, called the True Light School. Here she studied Chinese, thus adding this language to the Japanese which she learned while living in Japan, and learned her own Hoi - Pung local dialect.

Continued on Page Three

33 Students Get Diplomas

Midyear Graduates Given Degrees Informally

No solemn strains of organ music and no formal dignity of academic procession heralded the graduation of 33 students at Florida State College last Saturday morning when they received their college degrees, but a spontaneous gathering of fellow students at the entrance to President Doak S Campbell's office made the grand-ing of degrees a gala occasion.

The graduates, who called for their degrees at Dr Campbell's office Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, were handed their diplomas with the personal congratulations of the president. Then, as each left the office, she walked through a triumphal arcade formed by the crossed fountain pens of students whose chanting of "congratulations" stance swelled anew for each graduate.

The small midyear class experienced no casualties during graduation week, and every candidate successfully completed the requirements for graduation. Although deprived of traditional commencement exercises, the class of graduates is a number of ways impossible to the large end-of-the- year graduating class. Because graduation, they had been entertained at an informal supper party in honor of Dr and Mrs Campbell, and the Garnet and Gold radio program from the campus. Conrad Hester, the first to be sponsored this week by the college 4-H club.

The graduates are:

Bachelor of Arts: Nell Lisbeth Bryant, Jean Constance Curry, Gloria Ouida Dubus, Patricia Halloran, Sarah Anne Hirleman, Elizabeth Jane Lotitch, Elizabeth Carlisle Page.

Bahelor of Science: Katherine McKay Boney, Linnie Lou Draughan, Francine Fisher, Virginia Hugh Gunnee, Mrs Virginia Evans Morgan, Lillian M Musgrove, Betty Jean Neel, Marjorie Philyaw, Adele Slaughter.

B S in Commerce: Charlotte Jane Bennett, Christine Bishop, Mrs Alice Snyder Chambers, Cecelia McColpin, Gloria Ann Sessions.

A B in Education: Alma Chalker, Elizabeth Moore Ellis, Frances Catherine Farrior, Lenore Frances Malakoff, Mildred Ann Wilson, Lula Joyce Young.

B S in Nursing: Olive Galloway, Mary Frances Morse.

B S in Home Economics: Dorothy Bolick, Doris Chamberlain, Nancy Orleman, Mabel Wells.

Graduate Now Active in Social Juvenile Work of Tallahassee

Among the many Florida State College graduates who are active in the social work of their communities is Mrs Jeff Akin, graduate of 1938. At present the wife of Jeff Akin, Mrs Akin is social director of Tallyoco, local youth center in Tallahassee.

Mrs Akin received from her undergraduate days at FSCW a foundation for her present work in friendship with the daughter of Dr Ralph Bellamy, professor of psychology, and wife of the Bellamy's home often, and increased her interest in social work. Her A B degree is in social work, with a minor in psychology.

Employed with a diploma, Mrs May was accepted as a teacher in the Girls Industrial School in Ocala. She was in charge of recreation, physical education, and taught the first, second, third and eighth grades. After two years Mrs May left Ocala and with only grades in one of the Leon county schools.

Her experience at Ocala, which had helped her understand children and their problems, prepared her which they became delinquent, led to her appointment as the juvenile delinquent worker in the county. She held this job until her marriage to Jack Akin, when she resigned from her work. More personal is the problem of being a mother to a child, Jeffrey Allen.

Before she had left delinquency work Mrs May had tried to persuade the city and county officials that a recreation center for young people was necessary. After a few years, however, the best she could get was a recreation director who spent his time in social work, with a minor in psychology.

Employed with a diploma, Mrs May was accepted as a teacher in the Girls Industrial School in Ocala. She was in charge of recreation, physical education, and taught the first, second, third and eighth grades. After two years Mrs May left Ocala and with only grades in one of the Leon county schools.

Continued on Page Three

Stettinius's Name Takes a Beating In Recent Quizzes

Secretary of State Edward Stettinius probably has suffered from chronic misspelling of his name all his life, but students taking a recent social studies examination thought up some new variations.

"Who is our Secretary of State? was the question asked by professor Raymond Bellamy had written in the test. The better informed among his students evidently knew the sound of the name, but on paper it came out Stattinius, Stetinus, Stetinious, Stettinus, Stephinious, Stinnius, and Stevinius. Somewhat wilder guesses included the names of Cordell Hull, Herbert Hoover, and Stimson (spelled Stempson and Stimpson). Wider of the mark were answers of Thortens, Wattins, Happins, and Henry Hull.

Dr Bellamy drew another amusing answer to a question asking definition of the difference between insanity and feeblemindedness. According to one student, the insane are "crazy", and the feebleminded are "dumb and ignorant."

4-H Club Sponsors Series of Movies

"Survival of the Fittest," Ecuador Movies Shown

Beginning Saturday, February 3, a series of movies sponsored by the War Activities Committee of the FSC will be shown in the Augusta Conrad Hester, the first to be sponsored this week by the college 4-H club.

The movies, entitled "Survival of the Fittest" and "This Is Ecuador" will be shown February 3 at 6 p m and February 4 at 5 p m. The purpose of the first film is to give an overall picture of the physical training and physical fitness program of the United Air Forces. The story deals with two American fighter pilots who are forced to parachute from disabled planes, are wounded, and go through a hard hardship in reaching safety. Due to their excellent physical conditions, both men finally reach safety. The second film emphasizes the strategic importance of Ecuador in the discussions and explains its principal exports, imports and the products of the industries therein.

The committee for arranging the showings includes Mary Elizabeth Cockrell, Chairman, Marjorie Beck, Clarice Langford, Marguerite Nix and Jeannette Setzuer. The Sunday afternoon committee consists of Lois Ingram,

Continued on Page Two

Student Senate Will Discuss Action on Midnight Ruling At Session on Wednesday

Senate's Recommendation to Discontinue Ruling Is Passed to Executive Council Without Comment of College Council

Discussion of official college action on the rule concerning midnight returns from overnight absences before resuming classes is scheduled for the coming Student Senate meeting Wednesday.

In its last pre-Christmas meeting Senate appointed a special committee vested with full authority to compose a recommendation eliminating the present rule. Marjorie Philyaw was named chairman.

Committee Suggests

The committee formulated a statement of the disadvantages of the present rule, and instead suggested that it be discontinued, implying that no time limit or extra time of weekend returns. The proposal was submitted as a challenge whose success would be determined by the cooperation of the student body.

The recommendation was given to College Council, which passed it on without comment to the college Executive Council, composed of the president, academic deans, and administrative officers. The Executive Council did not approve the recommendation in its present form. Its decision will be sent to the Senate committee on Student Affairs. If drastic changes are not suggested, it will be forwarded to Student Senate this week.

Disadvantages Listed

Disadvantages of the present rule listed by the committee are:

1. Facility with which students circumvent the rule creates undesirable attitudes and actions.
2. Many students cut classes the day of their return to avoid court action.
3. Lack of consideration for local students who would remain home overnight without harm to health or academic work.
4. Difficulties of securing transportation which will enable the student to return by midnight.

In opinion of the committee, the recommendations has the advantage of giving the student an increased sense of responsibility and of taking part in community living. It would eliminate much time spent in enforcing present rule. It would also give the student the opportunity to attain a maturity by allowing her to use her own judgment to decide what might be best for her own welfare and that of others.

The Senate Committee included Carolyn Cox, Marjorie Brown, Mary Lucy Mendenhall, Madelyn King, and Cordelia Barclay.

Language Teachers Attend Conference

State Language Meeting Is Held in Gainesville

The importance of more years of language study and better language classes, and an earlier beginning in language study was stressed at the conference of teachers of Spanish and Portuguese attended by Dr Amado Alonso, Florida State College language professors at Gainesville last week.

The conference, called by the National Education association, was attended by teachers from Florida colleges and high schools, as well as important persons in the field of education from the state. Among the out-of-state visitors were Dr Henry Grattan Doyle, of George Washington University, who is chairman of the National Research committee of the Army and Navy Spanish Course; and Senorita Rene Hernandez, in charge of the Spanish instruction in the Navy V-12 program at the University of North Carolina.

Three FSC faculty members— Dr Myra Yancey, Dr A R Seymour, and Mrs Clara Jardim Bush

Continued on Page Two

Vance to Attend Rollins Conference

Mr Earl L Vance, associate professor of English and journalism, has been invited to speak at the tenth annual session of the Rollins Economic Conference in Winter Park on March 1 and 2. He will address the conference on the subject of the role of education in post war planning.

The conference this year to be held February 1-3 will have as its theme Post War Planning.

Dr William Gardner, professor of business administration and director of the conference, has asked Vance to read and review a paper. Others at Rollins Col-

Continued on Page Three

Spirit of the Week

© ESQUIRE, INC., 1945
Reprinted from the February issue of Esquire

"Someone called her for a date"

● NEEDED: A DEFINITION

For several years, students observant of changing campus regulations have noted that student representatives seem to enact only a rather small portion of new rules. Investigation of the college constitution in the Gold Book points out that student power is definitely limited, mainly by several constitutional provisions. Not only are students unable to legislate in many fields, but also decisions of Student Senate and all serious sentences given by student Judiciary must be approved by the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs.

In the past year, as well as two years ago, outstanding examples of our lack of real student power in government have occurred. Seniors will remember that during their freshman year improper signing out for absences from campus did not automatically carry threat of expulsion. But changes were made during the summer of '42—not by the student representatives, nor by Student Senate—and the Gold Book carried a paragraph informing the unwary that improper arrangements for leaving campus laid them liable for suspension.

Another example of the limitation of student powers was evident this past year. Last March nearly 400 students came to Senate to protest the recommendation that FSC girls be required to return to campus by midnight the day before resuming classes. Senate members energetically turned down the proposed law by a vote of 25 to 8, to the cheers of the gallery.

However, during the whole Senate meeting it was emphasized that the ruling was not within the jurisdiction of the students. It had been recommended for the approval of the college Executive Council. Recommending the ruling was the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs.

Although Student Senate turned down the ruling, it was passed and put into effect during the summer. Senate discussion this fall resulted in a revision of the rule, which has been sent to college council, composed of the major CGA officers and the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, which must review all legislative proposals.

College Council has referred the suggestion to Executive Council, which met yesterday. Executive Council did not approve it in its present form. Presentation of the substitute action of Executive Council will occur in Student Senate Wednesday.

Both the signing out rule and the weekend return regulation were not designed nor approved by the student legislative body. Rather, they were originated by extra-student groups. The legal authority for their actions is found in the broad, inclusive second part of our constitution, found on page 13 of the Gold Book. It states, "The authorities of the college reserve for themselves the regulation of the following:

"All matters pertaining to the public health and public safety of the students . . . ."

Analysis, then, reveals that much of the blame for the actions, which evidently run contrary to reasonable student desires, lies in the too-liberal interpretation of this rather vague clause.

The analysis points out a problem student legislators might do well to heed. Until the exact limits and implications of "health and safety of the students" is defined, disagreements are likely to continue. The elastic clause can be made to cover all phases of student social life, and when interpreted in some lights renders student legislators and jurors powerless.

One solution to the question might include the appointment of a Senate committee to meet with the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs to clear up the confusion, and define what field the vague clause must cover.

● WOMEN IN A DEMOCRACY

Both the Democratic and Republican platforms last November included proposals for an Equal Rights amendment as a means for obtaining equality for women.

But such a measure is opposed by many organized women's groups such as the American Association of University Women as not the proper method by which to obtain the desired opportunity to participate fully in the intellectual, social, economic and political life of the nation according to ability as persons without restriction because of sex or marital status.

The AAUW, in legislative principles voted by the 1941 Biennial Convention urged continuation of work to achieve equality without impairing social efforts to safeguard the health, safety, and economic welfare of women workers; continued support of the principle of equality for women; and continued opposition to the proposed Equal Rights amendment.

Opposition to equal rights for women is not merely an opposition in theory, but an opposition in actual practice. Wage and salary differentiation as well as legal discrimination in many states are evidences of this practice. Opposition to equality of women has long been based on the idea of "women's place is in the home" and current opposition has pointed to the problem of juvenile delinquency, arbitrarily attributing it to women's leaving the home and neglecting their domestic responsibilities.

Exploding this idea was Dr Leslie B Hoffman, associate in psychiatry, John Hopkins University, in the January, 1944, Ladies Home Journal.

He wrote: "I am aware that cases of neglect of children by working mothers have been reported in war-boom areas. In all such cases that I have been able to learn about directly, the fault was in the crowded living conditions and the social and economic upheavals of war rather than the mere fact that the mothers were working."

Through a program of adult education and childhood education the AAUW lays great stress upon the responsibility for family life and the care of children. This program and the status of women program do not conflict, they believe, because it is assumed that women will remember their primary duty to their children and will not accept outside employment unless proper arrangements can be made for their home and family, except in cases of actual emergency.

The unfortunate examples of some women who do go to work to the actual neglect and delinquency of their children should be taken for what they are—individual cases needing to be corrected by education—not universal conditions warranting the imposition of a country-wide, compulsory "return of women to the home."

● COUNT US IN

Two efforts have been made during the past four years to create a student curriculum committee which would give students an official channel through which to voice opinion and submit suggestions concerning the curriculum at FSC.

Although a majority of students, as compared with faculty members, have not the broad educational or technical background necessary to plan a curriculum in its entirety, we believe student opinion in the matter would prove of considerable value to the faculty, since it would enable them to see what students consider their curriculum needs to be.

A student committee would discuss various curriculum projects and problems and would weigh suggestions concerning required subjects and necessary new courses. From time to time the students would present their suggestions with reference to these matters to the faculty senate, and, more specifically, to the committee on curriculum.

Such a plan was presented in detail to the Student Senate in May, 1943, by a committee which had been appointed to study the possibilities. Senate unanimously adopted the report and presented it as a recommendation to College Council. The recommendation was made just before the school year ended, and the matter is not referred to again in senate minutes. However, a note, attached to the recommendation states, "Recommended to College Council, College Council placed on President's desk—no jurisdiction in curriculum."

According to the senate plan, membership of the committee would be composed of 24 students, one from each of the departments offering majors. Department heads would suggest students to serve, and names would have to be approved by the student senate. The chairman, a member of the junior class, would be elected by senate at the first meeting after the spring CGA elections. She would be one of the students suggested by the department heads, and upon election, according to the plan, she would automatically become a member of Senate.

Student curriculum committees exist in a number of leading schools, the women's colleges of Smith, Vassar, and Randolph-Macon being listed among them. President McCracken of Vassar once remarked that his school could not do without its student curriculum committee. These projects have for years been a topic of discussion at conventions of the National Student Federation of America.

In 1941 at FSC the president of the student body and the freshman advisor conducted a brief survey to determine campus opinions about a student committee on curriculum in hopes of establishing one here; however, no direct steps were taken.

It would seem that past efforts on the part of students have not been followed through as carefully as they would merit. The present is an ideal time for student action on the idea because numerous changes in curriculum are being worked out. Other than being informed that the school shall henceforth operate on a quarter rather than a semester systems, students have received little information about current changes which vitally concern them. An informed student group could make worthwhile contributions to the committee on curriculum.

The Students Speak . . .

By MURIEL COPINUS

With the breadth of the war uppermost in the minds of everyone at this time, the week's sample of student opinion was to find out how successfully people on the campus keep up with current problems. The questions asked were: "Do you feel well enough informed about the war? Do you listen regularly to radio broadcasts and hours to a daily newspaper? Also, would you suggest a more extensive program in the part of the college to keep the students aware of current happenings?

Anne Rice, freshman.

I don't feel that I am well enough informed on the war. Having no radio, I do not listen to any regular news broadcast but I listen as often as it is possible and I usually read at least one newspaper a day in the library. Each person has access to the papers in the library and I believe that it is up to the individual to determine her awareness of current events. However, I think that if the important events could be posted regularly and often, it would help even the less interested person to know a little of current affairs.

Betty Hargrove, sophomore.

As a whole, students are not well enough informed about the war. Most girls, myself, do not have enough time to listen to the radio and read the newspaper daily. I think everyone is interested in knowing what is going on about her but there just isn't enough means on campus for getting the news to us.

Marguerite Ross, junior.

A knowledge of the war affects practically every college student both now and in the future. Whether our relatives serving either in the States or overseas, we have little time to sit down and listen to radio broadcasts; neither have I access to a daily paper. I have no definite suggestions for a more than adequate one.

Norma Chalker, sophomore

Most girls are less informed about world events here than they would be if they could have access to newspapers and probably enter into family discussions; here, at school, they have less time and may go for a week or more without knowing about the news. The radio is the best means of keeping up with the war if you don't get your home town paper.

Anne Rice, freshman.

Personally, I feel that I and the rest of the girls are not well enough informed about the war. FSCW seems to me to be an isolated spot where no outside influence can be felt. I believe that it is up to the individual to determine her awareness of current events. However, I think that if the important events could be posted regularly and often, it would help even the less interested person to know a little of current affairs.

Betty Hargrove, sophomore.

As a whole, students are not well enough informed about the war. Most girls, myself, do not have enough time to listen to the radio and read the newspaper daily. I think everyone is interested in knowing what is going on about her but there just isn't enough means on campus for getting the news to us.

Marguerite Ross, junior.

A knowledge of the war affects practically every college student both now and in the future. Whether our relatives serving either in the States or overseas, we have little time to sit down and listen to radio broadcasts; neither have I access to a daily paper. I have no definite suggestions for a more than adequate one.

Norma Chalker, sophomore

Most girls are less informed about world events here than they would be if they could have access to newspapers and probably enter into family discussions; here, at school, they have less time and may go for a week or more without knowing about the news. The radio is the best means of keeping up with the war if you don't get your home town paper.

Anne Rice, freshman.

Personally, I feel that I and the rest of the girls are not well enough informed about the war. FSCW seems to ma to be an isolated spot where no outside influence can be felt. I believe that it is up to the individual to determine her awareness of current events. However, I think that if the important events could be posted regularly and often, it would help even the less interested person to know a little of current affairs.

Betty Jo Kaciuski, senior.

Being a first semester freshman, I can't say too much about it as I've only been here a week. However, I do have a radio and I listen to the news broadcasts regularly. I couldn't get along without it. I also feel that a more extensive program would be helpful because not only college girls, but the American public as a whole, is far from well informed.

Margaret Johnson, freshman.

No indeed. I am not up on the war as much as I should be or would like to be. Seems as though we students just don't bother to get around to the periodical room where we would have access to the papers. Why doesn't each dorm subscribe to a paper and let it be the perfect 'A' job to be arranged, daily bulletins could be posted in the dorms. It is a lot of work for someone but we would be more apt to read a bulletin than attend war meetings.

Ruth Rice, senior

I feel we should have a more extensive program because we have a tendency to become complacent about the war. I enjoy Cronkite's 2 p m newscast every day.

Carolyn Keen, sophomore.

College Comments

By DEE GARDNER

A girl who had just broken her glasses took them to the optometrist.

Sweet young thing: "Will I have to be examined?"

Doctor: "No, just your eyes."

—The Red and Black.

Such Is Life

"May I have your Vita-Oliver?"

"Not on your Life-Buoy."

"Then I'm out of Lux."

"Yes, Pepsodent."

—The Red and Black.

Frankie's Gone

College girls' eyebrows are still frozen in the position after announcement that Lawrence Tibbett, movie star, has read Frank Sinatra on the Lucky Strike Hit Parade.

—The Lass-O.

Then there was a chorus girl who put the motion before the house.

—The Plainsman.

Verbs—A Headache

The teacher asked Tom to give the principal parts of the verb to talk.

Tom: "Pust, Joe, what is it?"

Joe: (Whispering), "Darned-if-I-know-I"

Tom: "Darnifino

Darnifimare

Darnifinari

Darnifinum."

—Kentucky Kernal.

How True!

A kiss that speaks volumes is seldom a first edition.

—Reader's Digest.

A Warning Indeed

One of those hard-working Journalism "riddles" wrote this compact, but complete, six-line bit, and handed it to us—It "packs a wallop."

School! Rule!! Break! Fake! Flunk! Sunk!

—The Red and Black.

A blood bank will be held on the campus of the University of Wisconsin in Madison this week. About 370 student's contributions will be needed to fill the quota.

—The Plainsmen.

TSCW

Berne Jarzoff, in traditional Russian costume, led the original Don Cossacks Chorus when it appeared at the Auditorium on Monday. Women last week. TSCW is the largest women's college with FSC running a close second.

The Lass-O.

Honor System

Many students at Auburn University relied for their grades solely in quizzes. At most schools using this system, the grades are honor and the students have the systems.

—The Hatchet.

Sold Out

In Cincinnati, a sign on a licked clear store read: "Out of films, Out of Gum. Out of cigarets, Out of gum. Out of stamps, Out of patience. Out of Town."

—TSCW.

A Japanese flag picked up in Guadalcanal by a Marine was offered as a prize to the student who sold the most stamps or bonds in the recent bond drive at the University of Wisconsin. Good prize, now more Japanese flags will fall.

—FSCW.

Vance to Attend Rollins Conference

Continued From Page One

lege who will sponsor the conference with the Florida Theatre will include as speakers Mr Charles Carroll, Mr Ira C Evans, Mr Louis Heaton Pink, Mr R J Blank, Dr William Trufant Foster, professor Vance, and Mr Lewis M Smith.

There will be panel discussions and debates.

All the sessions are to be open to the public.

Language Teachers Attend Conference

Continued from Page One

—were on the program for the conference, which was also attended by Miss Margaret Campbell and Dr Dorothy Hoffman.

The impetus and inspiration given to the language teaching world by the Army and Navy programs were evident as Hernandez explained the method by which the Navy students at the University of North Carolina were taught to speak Spanish "better than they speak English." Small classes were of primary importance there, where the method was almost exhaustingly intensive because of the emergency nature of the course—but small classes are preferable at any time in teaching a language successfully, he pointed out.

The last panel discussion in which Dr Myra Vances, associate professor of education here, was involved, was on the subject of teaching Spanish in the elementary schools. In this discussion it was emphasized that at an early, more flexible age students learn a language more successfully and easily than they do if they begin to learn when they are almost adults. Representatives from schools which are teaching Spanish in the lower grades were on the panel, to explain their methods and their results.

The Florida State College demonstration school is one of the schools outside in Florida which have introduced the language into the lower grades. Here under the direction of Dr Vancey, the study of Spanish is begun in the fifth grade, at the time the social studies unit on Mexico and Latin America is begun. The language study is then correlated with the study of the background of the people who speak it.

In connection with this discussion, Mr Thomas Morgan of the Radio Department of the FSC construction distributed copies of a bulletin on the subject written by Dr Vancey, and published by the State Department.

Frantic Schedule Days Prove Trying to Pupils

Continued from Page One

one more semester til cap-'n-gown time, knotting the few little loose ends hanging over from the past three and a half years of college . . . the relief in running up the total number of hours for the ump-teenth time to find that at last they add up just right. . . the end of the journey, with the long sheet of scheduled cards to think out . . . the sheer joy experienced upon receipt of the blue slip telling you officially that "this student has successfully completed her residence."

The struggle over until next time, most of the students found themselves with "time on their hands", and set about having fun any way they could (within the rules, of course) by Charleston-ing at "spare-time activities" on Monday and Tuesday nights; the dancers, ping-pongers, and on-lookers who thronged the basement floor of the Alum and Alumna Club busy playing "Accentuate the Positive" . . . the "bull" sessions at the downtown theaters . . . the Community Sing . . . at the movies . . . and the never-ending bridge games.

By Tuesday night, everyone seemed quite well convinced that school could be fun — without classes and homework.

4-H Club Sponsors Series of Movies

Continued from Page One

der, Emily Chancey, Jane Powell and Bonnie Holt.

Posters have been displayed in lower Westcott and surroundng administration buildings for the past several days advertising these films. Similar films will be shown every month continuing throughout the year with a different campus organization in charge.

Emma Stevenson, president of the 4-H club urges all the students and faculty to attend these movies as they are educational as well as entertaining.

Women officers in the Army Medical Corps are receiving stars and war allowances for their dependents.

In This Our Time

By BETTY WEAVER

RUSSIANS NEAR BERLIN

In their mighty sweep across the Polish plains, the Russians have now advanced to the Oder valley city of Kustrin with only 39 miles remaining on the road to Berlin. In all they have overmore than two hundred miles across Germany's eastern flank into the very homeland of Germany.

While the roar of the fast moving Red Army is heard in Berlin, on the Western front parts of the First division pushed to within sight of the Siegfried line and received no challenge from the quiet Germans, indicating that they have withdrawn their troops from the Rhine bridgehead north of Strasbourg. The Allies have been waiting for the Germans to withdraw troops from either the Aremberg or Saar-Moselle fronts, and at each of these points they have moved to exploit any sign of weakening.

The advance of the Russians has been a steady and unrelenting one; not a giant and single spearhead as was the German offensive against the Allies as the Western front which had started the world a short month before.

The offensive of the Red Army covers a front of about 900 miles stretching from the Baltic to the Carpathians, and is backed by six armies totaling approximately 3,000,000 men.

As the Russians began their offensive they moved forward in the South along the foothills of the Carpathians thus protecting their left flank against possible German counterattacks. In the South they are now approaching Hitler's Reich's economically important industrial region of Silesia.

In the North the Second and Third White Russian Armies have overrun the entire province of Prussia and are fanning out toward the port of Danzig at the head of the Polish Corridor.

The crucial drive through the center of the line which is now drawing so close to Berlin was made possible by the gains at the northern and southern ends of the line.

Briefly, the Russian strategy has been to isolate East Prussia and then advance to the Baltic go into Silesia breaking the Corridor and then advance on the German line. In accomplishing these two ends, they have cut off the coal and iron mines, the foundries and factories, the synthetic oil plants which have been of importance to the German defenses since Allied have steadily bombed the Ruhr.

AMERICANS ESCAPE

The new landing on the Zambales coast of Luzon and the subsequent advance of General MacArthur's troops from Lingayen Gulf to the background position today when the long awaited news of the escape of American prisoners of One-hundred and twenty-one Americans and more than 250 Filipino guerillas combined their operations in engineering a mass prison break which released from Japanese brutality 513 early war heroes of Bataan and Corregidor, their attack came at night and struck with such ferocious and accurate fire that the Japanese guards were demobilized and all the prisoners were safely rescued. Two of them died on the return trip.

In the medieval theatre actors were expected to suffer for their parts and actually were beaten so violently on stage that they occasionally fainted.

The Florida Flambeau

EDITORIAL STAFF

CORDELIA SANCLAT ..... Editor
RACHAEL BAIL, JANET PANCOAST ..... Associate Editors
MURIEL COPINUS ..... News Editor
BARBARA BEND, DOROTHY LANCASTER, JO ANN CARROLL ..... Assistant Editors
ELIZABETH ANDREWS ..... Society Editor

Copy Editor ..... Janet Rogers
Assistant Copy Editor Martha Abbott
Feature Editor ..... Judy Pepper
Assistant Feature Editor ..... Betty Mercer
Society Editor ..... Doris Pepper

REPORTERS: Virginia Adams, Mary Alexander, Mirlene Angell, Bobbie Bell, Ellen Bee, Betty Ann Bradley, Norma Coe, Aline Crane, Eileen Davis, Betty Dees, Betty Dunn, Betty Ann Fuller, Betty Gilbert, Mary Ann Gilbert, Betty Hall, Betty Hawkins, Dailey Herbert, Mary Nell Hill, Virginia Hodges, Dorothy Holmes Page, Gloria Reed, Shirley Rodgers, Lola Rowe, Nicky Sarrazin, Louise Stone, Peggy Sue Thomson, Jacquelyn Thornton, Barbara Wickham.

BUSINESS STAFF

Marjorie Smith ..... Business Manager
Helen Tarpley ..... Assistant Business Manager
Betty Bowden ..... Advertising Manager
Betty Strickland Bobbie Bass Dot Miller Corrella Poole Lelia Lee Wynn Sullivan Alice Sapora ..... Advertising Staff
Jane Ann Graham ..... Circulation Manager
Marie Smith Kathleen Johnson Helen Turnbull ..... Circulation Staff
Sandra Sapp ..... Collection Manager
Betsy Cushing Jerry Sanders Loretta Sanders Louise Ross Page ..... Collection Staff
Marjorie Page Jean Ann Graham Frances Gray Lucile Barr ..... Post Office Staff

Entered as second class mail matter January 28, 1915, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla. under the act of Congress of March 3 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Alumna Back From Pacific

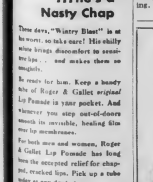
Red Cross Work For Over Two Years There

Miss Belina, a 1941 graduate of FSC, who appeared on the Garland and Gold radio broadcast recently, has been in the South Pacific for 14 months as a Red Cross recreation worker, and is now in Tallahassee on leave for three months before going into active overseas service.

Miss started out in the early part of 1942—landing in Brisbane, Australia and was stationed for short periods of time in Melbourne, Sydney, Brisbane, Manila, and Hollandia.

After leaving Australia, she went to the Dutch and Australian islands of New Guinea, the New Hebrides, the Admiralties, the Solomons, and the Netherlands East Indies.

After the American troops had entered New Guinea, it was over 3 months before she was sent to that island. She said, at first, "There were still Jap pockets there then."



Giving a sample of a day's activities, Miss said, "An American Red Cross worker may be assigned from a field director to a club director, directing a wide variety of activities. The day usually starts with a clean up detail in the morning prior to serving the first group of drinks around 10 o'clock. After this the hours along on variously with writing letters, odd jobs, issuing equipment and making arrangements for the evening's entertainment—with the Clubs remaining open, of course from 8 a m to 11 p m, with only three workers to run it. The activities the average GI participates in during the day are song fests, darts, ping pong table games, reading and writing, playing the victrola, piano, and carrying on conversations. To most people this may seem like a rather dull way to spend any time off, but in New Guinea where there is little civilization and no other drug store newspaper stand) the Red Cross Club is the only place to get non-military nature where they can go to relax and enjoy a semblance of home life with other females.

The first time we had iced drinks in the Club, the fellows were in to get a drink and looks after announcement of the event—one features at the idea of getting cold drink—for some hadn't so much as seen a bottle of beer in over two years. Ice cream was a great satisfaction, too, for we had gone through weeks of "dreaming" to secure the item from a local hospital unit," the Red Cross worker said.

Miss is one of 21 former FSC alumna who are serving in the Red Cross in the South Pacific Australia, and the South Pa-

Attends Meeting

Dr R L. Eyman, dean of the School of Education at Florida State College, left yesterday to attend a meeting of the Conference on Secondary School Principals in Gainesville. This council, one of the most important educational groups in the state, is made up of professional laypeople. It acts as an advisory board for the Florida education association for formulation of the educational policies of the state.

...he's a Nasty Chap

These days, "Wintry Blast" is in the news—so who cares? His shifty blow brings discomfort to seasoned tips . . . and makes them so chapped!

Be ready for him. Keep a handy tube of Roger & Gallet original Lip Pomade in your pocket. And whenever you step out-of-doors smooth in evenly, healing film over lip membranes.

For both men and women, Roger & Gallet Lip Pomade has long been the accepted relief for chapped, cracked lips. Pick up a tube today at any drug store.

25¢

ROGER & GALLET
710 FIFTH AVE. NEW YORK 19, N.Y.

Tickets on Sale

Tickets for Sophomore Hop will go on sale Monday afternoon in lower Westcott building. Nell Clarke, general chairman, announced today.

Appointed by members of the sophomore class, Nell urged that they sign up immediately on the lower Westcott bulletin board for committee work for the dance which is scheduled for Saturday night February 10.

Moore Attends Social Work Meet

Undergraduate Training At FSC Causes Discussion

Dr Coyle E Moore, professor of sociology and director of social work, attended a joint meeting of the American Association of Social Workers and the National Association of Schools of Social Administration in Cleveland, Ohio, January 25-27, where he was on a panel discussion of the future training of social workers. Undergraduate training for social work.

Dr Moore reports a great interest upon the part of member schools in the program of undergraduate training in social work as worked out at Florida State College, stated that there was a member of the executive committee of the National Association of Schools of Social Administration.

It is noteworthy that the University of Wisconsin and Florida State College have gone much farther than other institutions in this country in working out their programs of undergraduate training, he pointed out.

The experience of the two institutions provoked a great deal of questioning and discussion by those in attendance at the meeting.

Among the guest speakers was Dr Karl De Schweinitz of the University of Pennsylvania who spoke on the Roll of the American college and university training for the public services.

Odd-Even Practice Starts Next Week

Odd-Even golf tournament will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock at the Tallahassee country club course.

Odd-Even soccer, hockey, and modern dance practice will begin Monday, February 5, at 5 o'clock, it was announced by Jo Guthrie, general chairman of the athletic association. By March 10 those eligible for the teams must have been in practice for ten periods.

The games will be held between March 12 and 16 and the competitive modern dance demonstration will be presented at play night on March 17.

Odd leaders are: Margaret Fernandez, soccer; Aliene Threet, hockey; Mary Ellen Smith, modern dance. Leaders of the Even teams are: Betty Burns, soccer; Evelyn Stuckey, hockey; Ann Widergust, modern dance.

Recreation, Health Discussed by PEA

Next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock, members of the Physical Education Association will hold a short business session and this to be followed by a program made up of talks to be given by members of the association, faculty and students in their club room in the gymnasium.

The talks will include Physical Education Recreation and Health, Margaret Welch, program chairman, will be in charge of the program presented.

At the meeting, new transfers and girls on campus who have changed their major to physical education will be introduced, with Marsye Platt, president, officiating.

New FSC Broadcast Features Pianist

Midterm Graduates Honored; Freshmen Welcomed

The Garnet and Gold radio program from the Florida State College studio presented its fifteenth edition last night, with Miss Ruby Dunstan, instructor in piano, as its music editor.

Since October 28, without a pause even during the Christmas holidays, the weekly program has been broadcast by the college. Many of the college which will be of general public interest is interspersed with music presented by college musicians.

During "dead week" Miss Virginia Holmes, instructor in piano, was Garnet and Gold's music editor; and last week Mrs Ramona Beard, college organist, was the music editor's chair. The Garnet and Gold program introduced two weeks ago for the first time a poetry section, featuring war poetry, edited by Mildred Nelson. Last week its feature section honored the 33 midterm graduates, and the freshmen, who entered in March. Miss Nelson, interviewed as Garnet and Gold's guest, read the

Last night the feature section welcomed the new freshmen to the campus, and included poetry reading.

Practice Periods Will Begin Today

Practice periods at the pool for students wishing to try out for Canton Club will begin this afternoon at 5 o'clock and continue through next Wednesday including Saturday and Sunday, it announced Thursday. Members of the club will be at the pool during these periods, and becoming a member. The purpose of these practice periods is to help the student what will be required of her when actual tryouts begin. Elizabeth Bingham, vice-president of Skinnow Trainer remarked that after Minnows have been selected Thursday, the club will start preparations for their bi-annual program.

Tarpon Club, an honor organization open to those who show super skill in swimming hold these tryouts twice a year at the beginning of each semester.

Life Savings Corps To Initiate Monday

The formal initiation of 22 students into the Life Savings Corps will take place Monday night at 8 o'clock, Babe Evans, acting president during the absence of Bea Berry, will officiate.

Those girls who have each worked without pay in the pool on an average of three hours a week will be admitted to membership in the freshmen orientation classes also are the girls who have been assistant teach in the classes.

It is a requirer that the student be regard to gain membership Corps, and by initiation only this can campus membership but also that of the National Life Saving Corps.

This is the first initiation of the year, with another to follow in the late Spring.

Those to be admitted include: Joyce Cooper, Charlotte Bouland, Carol Claus, Vera Cone, Margaret Hunter, Katherine Johnson, Anne Lou Rivers, Bea Searcy, Grace Sims, Mart Wilson, Helen Tarasuk, Frances Bowden, Barbara Randolph, Dot Tucker, Margaret Shackleford Betty Burns, Rose Ann Davis, Betty Schwartz, Dot Wynn and Margie Platt.

Intramurals

Basketball intramurals will be played Thursday at 5 p m. Louise Fernandez, intramural manager, has announced. Practices began yesterday and will continue until the finals are played.

Students wishing to play in the intramurals must have a health and two practice points.

Clinic to Open

The reading clinic will be open for discussion of individual reading problems throughout the semester, and will be held Saturday at 9 o'clock. The clinic is located in room 306, Education building.

Alumna Is Working In War Department

Mrs Hans Johansen, the former Mildred Williams of the class of '35 at Florida State, is now working in Washington as an information specialist with the War Department. In a recent letter to Miss Louise Gehan, alumnae secretary, Mrs Johansen described her job in wartime Washington.

Since having her job with station WTAL in Tallahassee last January she has been doing both historical and current writing involving Army activities. Her husband, who is a writer was a newspaperman in Japan, has recently returned from the Pacific theatre where he served as a combat correspondent.

Enclosed in the letter was a clipping from the War Times, a newspaper published for War Department employees, written by Ann Johnson, who graduated from FSC last June, which described in a composite interview concerning the postwar ambitions of War Department employees.

Vance Speaks On Educational Plans

Earl L Vance, associate professor of English and education, has been asked to deliver an address on Educational Post-War Plans at the Re-Union Conference to be held at Rollins College in Winter Park, Florida, February 9.

Mr Vance, who recently published an article on this subject, entitled "Education for Peace-Plans here," in The Journal of the American Association of University Professors, has been asked to speak on the subject at a number of educational gatherings. He already has excited comment from educational conferences men throughout the country.

Creative Arts Contest Opens

Continued from Page One

ously unpublished is acceptable.

2. Offerings should be typed, double-spaced, on regular typing paper. One original copy and three carbons should be provided to enable prompt reading by the Judges.
4. Names of authors are not to appear on the manuscript, but should be written on cover sheet attached.
5. Manuscripts a should be placed flat in envelopes addressed to, Creative Arts Contest, Box 1, and left in the college post office not later than March 31, 1945.
6. Awards of "Certificates of Distinction" will be made by the AAUW.
7. Arrangements will be made for publication in the Distaff or for public presentation of the work of those contestants judged worthy.
8. No limit as to length or restrictions as to subject or manner of treatment are stipulated, other than those commonly applied to adequate development, good taste, and effectiveness. Offerings will be judged according to literary criteria governing the various types.

In the field of music a genuinely original composition (not an arrangement) of a minimum length of 40 measures to be written solo for voice with piano, organ, string or woodwind instrument will be considered in each case of the song form the words may or may not be original. No melody will be accepted which is not an accompaniment unless in four part harmony. The type may be modern, classic, romantic period, or eclectic style. Music dedicated to the FSC might be arranged later for performance by the college band, orchestra or Glee club, if satisfactory. Compositions will be judged by the intrinsic value of the music content, the manner of development of the musical idea, and the suitability of the musical material to the form chosen.

Members of the music committee assisting Miss Koch are Mr Walter Rice, Dr Carl Kroch, Frank Sykora, Mrs Ramona Beard, and Miss Mary Esther Winslow, all faculty members of the school of music.

Helping Miss Henry on the writing committee are, Mrs Olive Cross and Mrs Mary B Alfriend of the English department. There will also be consultants chosen from the English department for each type of writing.

Personnel Office Aids New Students

The Personnel Office is ready at all times to help freshmen and transfer students, according to Miss Elizabeth Andrews, director of personnel.

Senior interviewers will interview all new students. The interview will take a half hour and the interviewers will help new students arrange a study schedule. The purpose of the interviews is to help students with difficulties and to obtain a history of the student body for counseling. The interviewers are also used for the permanent graduation files record of college activities and achievements.

Faculty advisor for transfers is Miss Marguerite R Dressler, assistant director of personnel.

Transfers with problems may make appointments for interviews concerning any problem they may have.

Social Work Study Urged by Professors

Miss Sarah Benedict of the University of Louisville, Ky, and Professor R Clyde White of Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, are on campus now to confer with the sociology and social work staff concerning graduate work.

Miss Benedict is conferring with the sociology department and sociology majors who are planning them pursuing their work on the graduate level at the University of Louisville next year.

Today and Saturday Professor White will be on campus to confer with the social work staff relative to social work in general.

In addition he will talk with students who are interested in continuing their training on a graduate level. It is quite likely that Miss White will offer some scholarships or fellowships at Western Reserve University, stated Dr Coyle E Moore, professor of sociology and director of social work.

Dr Moore said that the visits of these people indicate the high regard with which the social work majors are held by graduate schools of social work.

Work Shop Begins

The Rugg Hall work shop, a plan whereby Episcopal students prepare themselves during the scholastic year for the life of service for six weeks in the summer, will begin tomorrow. This is the fourth year of the work shop. According to Robin Hill, chairman of the work shop, the comparatively new organization has contributed much toward the work of the church's work. Every student is not only invited but urged to attend the work shop meetings on Saturday.

Outing Scheduled

The date of the next outing will be February 11, it was announced yesterday by Maxine Wagner, chairman of the Outing committee.

Those who wish to participate in this outing are asked to be a hike to the Ravine, should sign up at the table in lower Westcott as soon as possible. Since only a limited number can be allowed to go, the first to sign up will be the ones to attend.

Those going are to meet in front of the gymnasium at 2 o'clock next Saturday. The cost will be 35 cents per person for food.

Coeducation Is JCC Topic

Continued from Page One

rather have things as they are now, Sandy, I suppose, answered.

The plan suggested by the Tallahassee Junior Chamber of Commerce is to provide for arts and sciences and law colleges here with engineering, Rollins and allied courses in Gainesville.

Mr Al Block, townsman, brought up the possibility in view of recent legislative action authorizing a University of South Florida that the University of Miami might offer its buildings and facilities to provide for "all the interest of educational advancement" to provide for the establishment of a preparatory recreational university in that area. Such an institution was seen as a threat to both existing schools if it remain as they are. A solution, Block mentioned, was to make the southern institution a medical school.

Poster pointed out that estimates by the Board of Trustees, president of the U of F, and Dr Doak S Campbell, of FSC, set the cost of making both institutions coeducational at between $5,000,000 and $7,000,000.

But the expense would be justified, said one member, if somethings definitely resulted — not just a war measure.

Casual Acquaintanc Gains Prominence

Many years ago, two small children, a girl and a boy, picked apples together in an Indiana apple orchard. They had not met before, and their talk was casual. They exchanged names, picked the fruit, and went on their separate ways, never to meet again.

The girl is now professor of Spanish in Florida State College's Romance department. In the years since her childhood she has never again met her casual mate; but she has seen his name and picture many times. Newspapers of recent years have carried in bold headlines the stormy career of John Dillinger, notorious gangster.

Penicillin to Be Subject of Display

Penicillin, the wonder drug used in treating war wounds, and other infections, will be the subject of a display in the bacteriology laboratory, January 191 Wescott, next Friday, according to Miss Mabel Thacker, instructor in bacteriology.

Penicillin, Miss Thacker said, can do "almost everything the sulfa drugs can do, and more" in addition to actual cultures of the mold, Penicillium notatum, she added, there will also be on display laboratory methods of penicillin production and standardization as well as literature on penicillin.

The laboratory will be open to the public all day Friday.

Ruge Hall Elects

At the last vestry meeting of the members of the Ruge Hall girls, new vestry members were elected. Sunday, January 191 Wescott, Workshop Chairman, Shirley Dorr takes Robin Hill's place as altar Guild chairman. Mary Frances Taylor takes Betty Jans Lotspeaks place as Freshmen rep. Freshmen vestry members elected were Barbara Randolph, Luella Roane, and Carolyn Smith.

Plans have already been made for Lent. There will be two forums, one Friday night, a Bible and Teachings of Saint Paul, and one Sunday night, on the Christian Doctrine. There will be a clergymen from the Diocese of Florida will be guest speakers at the Friday night forum.

Students Hear Informal Talk by Halifax

Continued from Page One

has been liberated "you can have a fair election two weeks from tuesday, I believe," Halifax promised to do it. Our policy is to try and establish a democratic government in these countries that can take over much of the responsibility for civil affairs.

"The instinct of our people is to resist the menace of an overwhelming power, but never under, make itself so strong that it could control the world," he said, in answer of two sorts of politics . One is power politics; the other is power politics," the ambassador declared.

Great Britain and the United States cannot avoid the influence of their power, he added. "Do not let us confuse the exercise of power for ends that earn condemnation."

Earl Is Presented

Organ music by Mrs Ramona Beard preceded presentation of Earl Halifax, by Dr Doak Campbell, president of the chamber of commerce. The program was concluded by the singing of "God Save the King" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Platform guests included Earl Halifax and his party, Federal Judge C L Waller, Governor Millard Caldwell and members of his cabinet, justices of the state supreme court, the state senate and legislative representatives, military and naval officers, Mayor Charles Ansley, city commissioners and commissioners- elect, Dr Raymond Allen, president, officers of the Chamber of Commerce, the presidents of the civic clubs and Dwight F Davis and Mrs John H Pyles. Guests were accompanied by their wives.

Earl Halifax left the following day for Wakulla Springs for a brief stay, planning to leave from there for Washington, D C.

FEDERAL BAKE SHOP
310 S. Monroe Phone 129

"Makers and Bakers of Good Things to Eat"

BIRTHDAY CAKES - PARTY ORDERS
Given Our Special Attention

Foreign Student Makes Comparison of China And Tallahassee Life

Continued from Page One

After her return in 1938 to the United States, she studied French, Spanish and learned most of the English that she now speaks.

During her long stay in China, Lola learned the ancient and social restrictions, ideas of relationship, and religion of the Chinese people. For instance, a young Chinese girl of a respectable family must never go into a store and purchase anything. Instead, she must send her amah, a servant who go to the store herself, she would forfeit her good reputation. Used to the more liberal customs in the United States, Lola found it difficult to realize that Chinese burying something she wanted rather than sending her maid after it.

Another difference from the Western culture is the Chinese idea of relationship. Lola learned that according to Chinese belief, a son or daughter is considered to be more closely related to his or her father's side of the family than to his or her mother's. This idea evolves from the idea that when a girl marries she automatically becomes a member of her husband's household and severs all relations with her father's household. Hence, all the Chinese child heritage have little or no connection with the mother's family. Lola, speaking of a relative, a Chinese must designate to which side of the family he belongs. For example, the grandmother on the mother's side is called a "pan"; while her husband is called a "goang." "The father's father's title is "yeah," while his wife is called "yea". The same is also true for aunts and uncles according to their lineage.

Lola and h r family are Methodist, but the people of her native land still worship their ancestors on their birthday. On the birthday of some ancestor, the relatives gather at the red altar where they burn incense, burn incense, and bow. After bowing at the altar, the entire household feasts upon delicate rice cakes and sweet meats.

As the new student Hotel-Ping province early in 1938, the people of the section knew that they couldn't hold off the invader very long. Members of the Tsu Li's household moved their equipment into the mountains and continued their work. But Lola couldn't leave her family Shortly after, she reclaimed from the Japanese "no man" border, followed her father to the United States.

Lola's father is now in the grocery business in Jacksonville and Lola is staying with her father's brother, Mr and Mrs Smith.

Since her return to Tallahassee, Lola has received both cablegrams and letters telling of the partial destruction of her own home, also the $3000 worth of clothing and furnishings from her aunt's house stolen and burned. After Lola has been informed of the forced work and final starvation death of her 66 year-old grandmother by the Japanese soldiers.

It is Lola's hope that after her education in the United States, she may return to China as an instructor to a university and help to build the modern post - war China.

Holds Position

Amelia Stone, a graduate of 1941, now holds the position of economist for the President's committee on fair employment in Washington, D C, as one of a secretarial of four members attached to the committee. Miss Stone works in connection with the Secretary of State.

Having been in Washington only two years, her rise to this position is one of the fascinating stories coming out of Washington these days.

Before coming to Florida State College, Amelia studied at the Sorbonne in Paris and at the University of Florida.

China Establishes Scholarships in U S

Purpose Is to Strengthen Cultural Relationships

Scholarships have been established by the Chinese government to six American universities for the advancement of Chinese culture to those who are eligible.

The funds will be open to all students, except those of Chinese nationality, who have also spent in at least one year's study in Chinese history, language, literature, art, geography, or social sciences, or who have contributed meritious writing on any of these subjects.

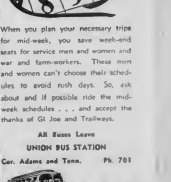
The five scholarships carrying a $15000 annual stipend will be given to each of six American universities, Chicago, Harvard, Columbia, Michigan, Yale, California. The scholarships will be given for one year, renewable upon expiration, but no one will be permitted to hold the scholarships continuously for more than three years.

The scholarships were proposed by the Chinese Ministry of Education for the purpose of promoting and strengthening the cultural relations between China and the United States.

Dr Annie M Popper, associate professor of history at Florida State College stated that FSC has realized the present importance of the Far East and therefore has made it possible for more students to take the courses in the Far East (448 b) by allowing them for the first time to enter it at the second semester.

Graduate Now Active In Social Juvenile Work

Continued from Page One



Tallcoo. The city area the boys are the men and women of the community helped finance its establishment, and the boys built and cleaned, painted, and redecorated their play-house. Then Mrs May was asked to be the social director of Tallycoo.

Amiable, well liked and energetic, Mrs May is a real "pal" to her teen age charges. She may be seen anytime at the club in open teaching someone how to dance, telling fortunes, directing ping pong results or just talking good-naturedly to the boys and girls. Because of these things she has taught over 30 youngsters how to dance.

"Tallycoo is not a cure for delinquents," she said, "but rather a place where they can spend their future delinquency." The boys who were interviewed were recorded glad that they had a place they could have fun, and it is the one place where they can't go". The girls are glad that they no longer have to sit home or go to the movies for entertainment but can meet their school acquaintances in such a spot. Even the children who appeared before Mrs May in the juvenile court have begun to join the activities and take pride in their citizenship of that community.

There are yet many problems confronting Mrs May. For example, the juvenile-children relations are being stressed through the medium of active parent participation. One fact is also being stressed that since Tallycoo belongs to the girls and boys from 14 to 20, they must assume responsibility for it. Transportation must be provided for other county children to be able to attend festivities at Tallycoo.

Travel in Mid-Week

When you plan your necessary trips for mid-week, you have week-end seats for service men and women and war and farm-workers. These men and women can't choose their schedules to avoid rush days. So, ask Travel and if possible ride the mid-week schedules . . . and accept the thanks of GI Joe and Trailways.

All Buses Leave
UNION BUS STATION
Cor. Adams and Tenn. Ph. 701

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Have Your Own Garden in a Dormitory Window Box!

Flower & Vegetable Seeds at

Seek it First at
VAN BRUNT & VON ING
VON'S HARDWARE

Sororities Begin Second Semester Social Season With Parties

Welcoming of two province presidents and informal parties constitute the main activities of campus sororities this week as Phi's begin the second semester social season at FSC.

Mrs. John L. Tyler province president of Pi Beta Phi is expected to visit here on February 6 7 and 8 and the local chapter is planning a coffee in her honor. Details are still indefinite Pledges of that organization will honor the other sorority pledges tonight at the chapter house with a tea in purple from 8 until 9. Cleona Asher in charge of the affair states she will have a circus theme. Clowns, stuffed animals, fortune tellers and card tricksters will embellish the general theme.

Alpha Delta Pi's will honor Mrs. Charles Maxwell province president from Miami at a coffee at 8 o'clock Sunday night at the chapter house. Dave Ward and Scraps Acheson are in charge. Betty Brown will be a Wesleyan tea at the Methodist Student House Wednesday evening. Mrs. Lucy Taylor will also entertain.

Kappa Alpha Theta will celebrate Founders' Day at an informal supper at the house at 8 o'clock Sunday night, with Marion Merrem, Jean Oldfather and Mary McCann in charge. Next week-end's members will go to camp for social season at FSC.

Members of Zeta Tau Alpha will have an informal party from 8 'till 9 at the house. Coffee will be served to guests, and will be poured by Mrs. Maurice L. Williams, patron and teacher at the Demonstration school. Chairman of the soiree is Mary Patchell.

Delta Delta Deltas will gather at the house at 8 o'clock tomorrow night for an informal get-together, and then all members and pledges will spend the night at the chapter house.

Soldier Dance Is For Freshmen

Freshman class will provide dancing partners for servicemen at this week's informal Soldier dance at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the Student Alumnae building, which supercleansmen may not attend.

Carol Sherman, dance committee chairman, has announced that about 175 enlisted men have been invited to the affair from Dorcon Johnston, Dale Mabry, Pinney General Hospital, and Perry Air Field. Members who wish to attend must report in their dungaree clothes. The relaxe swing band will provide music and a short freshmen talent program is planned. Rosalyn McGee is in charge.

Alumna in WAC Is Married While on Overseas Duty

From Allied Force Headquarters in Italy comes word that Sgt. Nan S Clark, alumna of Florida State College, was married to Staff Sgt Julian S Poster of San Bernardino, California, on December 23.

The wedding took place in the Allied Force Chapel in Caserta, Italy and was attended by officers and enlisted friends of the bridal couple.

The bride's gown of white net and lace was made from a formal she had worn in Rome. She was given in marriage by her father, Capt. R. W. Clark, who is also stationed in Italy.

A reception followed the ceremony, and the newly weds spent their honeymoon on the Isle of Capri.

The bride is the daughter of Lt. Col and Mrs R W Clark of Sarasota. She graduated from the FSC she attended Florida and Ringling Art School, taught for a while, at the time of her enlistment in the Women's Army Corps was employed as Assistant General Publications for the Eighth Service Command at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

She went overseas in January, 1944 with a group of other WACs to be shipped for foreign duty. This group crossed the Atlantic on the Queen Mary in a perilous journey. After arriving in England they were quartered in underwent deprivations. But Nan and her buddies have the satisfaction of knowing that the sacrifices and discomforts they endured were of value to all.

Alumnae Entertain Delta Phi Epsilon To Have Formal

Delta Phi Epsilon members, their dates, and out-of-town guests will dance at a formal affair from 8 until 11:30 tomorrow night in Landis Recreation room. Theme of the celebration is a secret, and surprise contests with prizes will highlight the evening's entertainment. Red and white color scheme will be used in decorations.

General chairman is Sylvia Moscovitch. Floor committee members are Ann Halpern, Helen Marazia, and Naomi Shulman. decorations: Bessie Setzer, Eileen Murrison, Esther Barish and Shirley Barash. refreshments: Marita Marazia Janie Krause and Ester Arrenzal.

Special guests for the dance will include Mrs. Sam Ginsburg of Kokomo, Dr and Mrs R F Richards Rabbi and Mrs Alex Goldman, and Mrs. Hyman Lautenberg, all of Dade. Mrs A Gross, Mr and Mrs L Tuttle, Mr and Mrs Sam Robbins and Mr and Mrs Louis Gibbs. Alumnae expected to return for the dance are Mrs. Jack Levin, Mrs Wee Palm Beach, Charlotte Rose of Daytona Beach, and Evelyn Heller of St Petersburg.

Planning to make a weekend celebration of the occasion are also their guests will attend Marjorie Moffet's concert concert in Woman's Club auditorium and on Sunday morning will be honored at a breakfast at the home of Janie Krause in charge of arrangements, while Mrs. Ginsburg and Mrs. Gibbs will be cooking. Pledges are scheduled to provide entertainment as well as to clean up after the affair.

Laboratory Method Is Being Tried In Freshman Composition This Semester

A new experiment in freshman composition is being conducted at FSC this semester.

Three freshman English classes will participate in the test which They are: Miss Mildred Henry's 101-b, Miss Sarah Herndon's 001 and Miss Ruth Pennington's 001 become section 101-a, and Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen's section of additional. By such distribution it will be able to experiment with every type of English work both sections work.

According to the plan drawn up by the English department, the content of the new English course is to be somewhat virtualized because of the present composition-literature course additional emphasis upon oral composition. One purpose of the experiment is to ascertain whether oral composition is a necessary part of freshman English. The sections will be scheduled for two one-hour periods and one two-hour laboratory period similar to the regular three hours. The credit value of the course will be unchanged. the additional class hour takes the place of student preparation outside of class. Carrying out these laboratory classes the instructor will be on hand to help individual students with problems which arise in the course of writing. All written work will be kept in the files of instructor for reference at any time.

The classes will be conducted in the specially equipped for writing purposes, with tables to accommodate the typewriters, dictionaries, and other reference aids to provide a favorable atmosphere to composition.

Students will be encouraged to use the laboratory at any time they wish to do so. If this experiment proves successful, the plan will be extended to other oral training is a necessary part of freshman English. The sections will be scheduled for two one-hour periods and one two-hour laboratory period similar to the regular three hours. The credit value of the course will be unchanged.

Portuguese Instructor Recalls Her First Impression of America

By BETTY DOWD

When Mrs Ralph Bush, the former Miss Clara Jardim, assistant instructor of Portuguese in the department of modern languages at Florida State College, came to the United States in 1941, she came on a unique mission. Mrs Bush is from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and is the first girl that a girl should not travel alone. Since her sister was coming to the United States to attend school, she was delegated by her family to accompany her sister on the trip. She has been in this country ever since.

Recalling her impression of New York the day the ship docked, Mrs Bush told of the hurry-scurry way the people seemed to have about. In addition to the helpless feeling she experienced from pure fright, she couldn't speak a word of English.

"And when you just smile as an answer to someone for three whole months, you begin looking for a new method to speak that country's language." Mrs Bush explained.

After her sister's marriage, Mrs Bush entered Elmira College. N Y. She continued to study English while she arrived here in the United States. It was in New York that she met the man she first love. She was so excited from the excitement of being in a new country and let the snow fall on her coat in order to see that it was actually real.

While attending school at Elmira, Mrs Bush took a trip to Niagara Falls and a flood occurred in missing connections had to stay in the hospitable Pennsylvania town. Her ability at speaking English was slightly better than when she arrived in New York Texed and bunnery, in broken English. she finally managed after an hour or so to explain her predicament to one of the townspeople. It was she came on a unique mission. Mrs Bush is from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and is the first girl that a girl should not travel alone. Since her sister was coming to the United States to attend school, she was delegated by her family to accompany her sister on the trip. She has been in this country ever since.

Recalling her impression of New York the day the ship docked, Mrs Bush told of the hurry-scurry way the people seemed to have about. In addition to the helpless feeling she experienced from pure fright, she couldn't speak a word of English.

"And when you just smile as an answer to someone for three whole months, you begin looking for a new method to speak that country's language." Mrs Bush explained.

After her sister's marriage, Mrs Bush entered Elmira College. N Y. She continued to study English while she arrived here in the United States. It was in New York that she met the man she first love. She was so excited from the excitement of being in a new country and let the snow fall on her coat in order to see that it was actually real.

While attending school at Elmira, Mrs Bush took a trip to Niagara Falls and a flood occurred in missing connections had to stay in the hospitable Pennsylvania town. Her ability at speaking English was slightly better than when she arrived in New York Texed and bunnery, in broken English. she finally managed after an hour or so to explain her predicament to one of the townspeople. It was she came on a unique mission. Mrs Bush is from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and is the first girl that a girl should not travel alone. Since her sister was coming to the United States to attend school, she was delegated by her family to accompany her sister on the trip. She has been in this country ever since.

Recalling her impression of New York the day the ship docked, Mrs Bush told of the hurry-scurry way the people seemed to have about. In addition to the helpless feeling she experienced from pure fright, she couldn't speak

Jams too set for your Radio and Electrical needs . . . You may wish to send your personal message on a record made on our professional recording machine . . . 50c

—o—

RADIO & SOUND SERVICE
TALLAHASSEE
102 S. Monroe St. Ph. 98-W

To Give Recital

Ruby Dunstan, pianist, will give the next faculty recital on February 9 at 8 15 p m in the college auditorium.

The organ recital by Ramona Beard, scheduled for last Wednesday evening was postponed because repairs were necessary for the colorie organ.

Earl Discusses Some War Mistakes

Halifax Sees Trade, Labor Openings After War

At a press conference on the day of his arrival, Earl Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, discussed the mistakes of the United States and Great Britain in the 1918-1939 period. He emphasized that these countries will not repeat their "many very bad mistakes" in the future.

Commenting on economic and political problems after the war, he said that the United States, "no about the world telling people they ought to have our particular way of government." He recommended that a good neighbor era should be entered in which the various countries working out their government for themselves

Speaking on foreign opportunities Earl Halifax said that it is necessary for the United States, Great Britain and Russia to trade together, and that the 17 S dollars of British trade "is a perfect standing and cooperation between the English and Russian people will prove a helping factor in the post-war future relations of these two countries," he further commented.

The mistakes made in the last war, he said were primarily caused by pursuing a peaceful policy while "certain other nations also considered war "a legitimate means to an end" and the Japanese mind didn't think that way."

Warning against expectation of an early ending of the war, Earl Halifax said that there would be "immense task of reconstruction."

He stated that many opportunities would develop for trade with Russia, and feared that great markets for consumers goods labor and material should open up after the war.

Pi Phi Pledges To Circus Tonight

Barker's "come hither" calls, free popcorn and pink lemonade will highlight Pi Phi and other side shows, will highlight Pi Phi pledges annual circus party tonight at 8 o'clock.

All other sorority pledges are invited to attend, and dates will be featured, said Cleona Asher, pledge chairman of the party. Refreshments will be served in an animal show, fortune teller, bearded lady, Ringling Brothers, and fat lady. . Refreshments will be served to all at separate circus tents. Prizes for the best dancer will be a part of the main show.

Those participating will be dancer Sis Cummings, fortune teller Mary Ann Wallis, wild woman from Borneo Dorothy Cramer Marilyn Ward and Jennie Harper. Lindy Lane Boyd and Curtis Beardley lady Ann Tucker, torch singer Betty Kennedy, Mary Esther Bell and Betty Wiseins, clowns; Mary Kennedy and Ann Bell.

In the House of Horror will be Anne Allen, Olive Fleming, Ann Bell, Ann Bryce, Jeanne Lee and Daniel. Anna Bryce will officiate at the refreshment stand and Cleona Asher will take charge of the main show.

Moon Will Address FSC Faculty Group

Dr Robert C Moon, director of curriculum laboratory, department of Education, will speak on general education at the meeting of the curriculum study group on curriculum modification and development tomorrow at 4 o'clock next Tuesday in the club room of Student Alumnae building.

Dr Moon gained knowledge of this subject by attending a speech clinic at Northwestern University as the University of Chicago during the summer of 1942 and 1943. In his talk he plans to discuss the following problem: What is general education? Why the trend toward general education? What are some of the major sections of general education? What are some of the major problems in planning a college curriculum?

A number of the college faculty and staff are invited to attend and participate in the discussion. Dr. Moon is also meeting with Dr. Clarence Rowes chairman of the curriculum committee that time he will confer with the committee and discuss their opinions of the present program of general education at Florida State College.

Class Exhibits

The photographic exhibition which has been on display in the club room of the Student Alumnae Building since January 22, will continue through February 8.

This collection of about 30 pictures is the result of a semester's work by the students of the photography class under Miss Elizabeth Lynn. It includes self-portraits, portraits, action shots and still life.

Miniature Organ Grinder Amuses College Students

Free of charge, a modern, miniature organ grinder peddled his tunes to the amusement of the students in front of Bryan hall last week.

Kneeling by a marble bench a solemn brown eyed, black haired little boy, who looked about six, played his juke for the girls as they came from their 12 o'clock class.

The all red juke was a megaphone built into the top of the tom. The megaphone was attached to a wooden base on which stood the record. Over the record was placed a little round box with a handle to turn the records.

The young proprietor, Frankie Hirom, busily turned the handle which revolved the records while the girls listened to "Is You Is or Is You Ain't," "Hot Time in the Town of Berlin," "When My Sugar Walks Down the Street," and "Cow Cow Boogie."

Very pleased with his speech Frankie would only say that he had more records at home, that his player organ was his own idea and that he did not get it for Christmas.

Red Cross Praises FSC Dance Band

Musical Program Given At Gordon Johnston

The Florida State College dance band, under the direction of Lt. (jg) Frank Evans, received letters of thanks and commendation from the American Red Cross for the fine musical program rendered recently at the Camp Gordon Johnston recreation center.

"The patients enjoyed it very much and are still talking about your visit, one letter said expressing 'thank you and please come again soon'," the letter said in part.

The recent program presented by the FSC dance band in hospital by the band was one on a full schedule of entertainment for the band during the 1944-45 school year. Organized last year by Sylvan Evans, it has become an important campus organization.

Members of the band are Betty Ruth Auchenbaugh, Carolyn Bailey Sydner Conner, Peggy Elliott, Jean Lewis, Jeanne Lee, Jane Allison, Betty Jean Poe, Betts Sanford and Margaret Smith.

Fraternity Honors Two Graduates

Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary fraternity, has invited to membership two of the 33 midterm graduates.

Mary Frances Morse, and Betty Jean Long have been selected to join the fraternity, in recognition of their outstanding scholarship record. Miss Morse has maintained outstanding college scholarship in every branch of knowledge.

Mary Frances received her B S degree in Home Economics Training, January 27, at the office of Dr Fabian Bachrach, dean. After following the program, the members will discuss plans for a student organization for religious activities on campus.

Double Coincidence Surprises Students

A freshman and a junior, sitting opposite each other at the breakfast table, found to their mild one morning, noticed that they were both wearing the same insignia—paratrooper wings.

They did not know each other well on remaining after the discussions, and finally compares. The girls discovered to their surprise that the boys who won the wings were together overseas.

The strangest thing of all is that the boys are buddies and have been together since they were stationed in the States.

Heat tablets, hitch look like peppermint candy, are impregnated with a bitter substance to prevent soldiers from eating them by mistake.

Dr Yancey Writes Bulletin on Spanish

Dem. School Offers Spanish Tu 5th and 6th Graders

A bulletin on the teaching of Spanish in Florida elementary schools, written by Dr Myra L Yancey, associate professor of education, has just been published by the State Department of Public Instruction and will be distributed to the schools of Florida.

The bulletin, written by Dr Yancey as the result of work done in the Polk County educational workshop last summer, was compiled in collaboration with Ed Thomas Morgan, of the State Department of Public Instruction. It sets forth the purposes and objectives of teaching Spanish to elementary school children, and gives in some detail suggested methods of teaching the language.

Dr Yancey, as critic teacher for Spanish conducted the FSC demonstration school, is supervising a program of Spanish teaching in fifth and sixth grades of that school. She is assisted by Dora Jane Hall in the instruction school is one of several schools in Florida pioneering in the field of teaching Spanish in the E Yonge laboratory school of the University of Florida, the Polk county schools and in a few other elementary school.

Purpose of the program are to develop in children, at the flexible age, an understanding and appreciation of the Spanish speaking Americans. to teach them to speak correctly the language of the Spanish people, and to furnish them with a functional Spanish vocabulary and an ability to understand spoken Spanish. The study of the language is correlated with other social studies, geography and history, so that it has meaning for them beyond the mere learning of words and sounds.

YWCA Elects Three To Hold Office

Second Membership Drive Begins Today in Westcott

Margaret Cockwell, junior, was recently elected president of the YWCA on this campus. Prior to her election she served with the creative activities committee. It was also announced that Betty McClure is the new vice president the social relations committee, taking the place of Ruth Cameron who has left college to intern for a quarter. Ruth Mary Bishop is the new YWCA office manager.

Following the election YWCA is holding its membership drive this year, today and tomorrow. Any girls who have not yet joined and who wish to do so, there is a membership booth in the lower Westcott.

After the drive, there will be a membership meeting Monday at 5:00, in the Student Alumnae auditorium. At this time the program dealing with world brotherhood, the point of concentration for February will be presented. After following the program, the members will discuss plans for a student organization for religious activities on campus.

Library Gets New Volumes

Biographies, Music, And Caricatures Starred

A number of new books have come into the library. In order to stimulate interest in these books a new display has been put up. On the bulleted board are the many-colored Jackets from these books, and in the show cases are caricatures of some of the best known writers.

Among the new books are several biographies: "Against Oblivion," the life of Joseph Servoy by Sheila Birkenhead, "John C Calhoun, Nationalist, 1782-1828 by Charles M Wiltse, and "The World of Washington Irving" a "Man Vwork Brooks. There is "Let There Be Sculpture," the autobiography of Jacob Epstein, "Immortal Wife" a biographical novel by Irving Stone, and a novel by Caroline Miller, "Lebanon."

Also among these new books is "A Treasury of American Folk-lore," the life of Joseph Servoy by Sheila Birkenhead, "John C Calhoun, Nationalist, 1782-1828 by Charles M Wiltse, and "The World of Washington Irving" a "Man Vwork Brooks. There is "Let There Be Sculpture," the autobiography of Jacob Epstein, "Immortal Wife" a biographical novel by Irving Stone, and a novel by Caroline Miller, "Lebanon."

Another book dealing with music is "The Challenge of Listening" by Paul Bekker, Bernard and W R Anderson. There is "Music Through Sight and Sound" and Grant Creighton, while in "Journey Through Chaos" Agnes E Meyer discusses the war front.

"My Love in Russia" is a story of the unique personal experiences of a Russian woman, Markoosha Seroff, wife of Leigh Douglas, famous American journalist. The experience in Russia under both Germans and Soviet Occupation culminates in her decision to take up life in the United States.

The caricatures on display are of writers as seen by artists. There is one of Lee Bryson shaking the dust of England from his shoes and another of Mark Twain benefiting the bird of freedom to soar. There is a clever one of Whistler McGhee is the new and the other the social relations committee, taking the place of Ruth Cameron who has left college to intern for a quarter. Ruth Mary Bishop is the new YWCA office manager.

Following the election YWCA is holding its membership drive this year, today and tomorrow. Any girls who have not yet joined and who wish to do so, there is a membership booth in the lower Westcott.

After the drive, there will be a membership meeting Monday at 5:00, in the Student Alumnae auditorium. At this time the program dealing with world brotherhood, the point of concentration for February will be presented. After following the program, the members will discuss plans for a student organization for religious activities on campus.

McEwen Is Elected Cotillion Leader

Cotillion club, dance organization at FSC, elected officers for the year last night at a meeting held sometime during this semester. Bill McEwen was elected leader. Betty Ames, the officers are Milton McEwen, president, Mollie Griffin, vice president, Betty Keene, secretary, and Lillian Brown, treasurer.

The new officers are in charge of the hootenanny. In the Student Alumnae auditorium every night except Sunday and will participate in the instructing of the dance classes to be held at a later date.

First meeting of the active members will be held February 13 at the Chi Omega chapter house at which time plans for the dancing classes will be discussed.

Meeting Postponed

In accordance with recent orders from the navy department, meetings, the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools scheduled for March 12 and 13 in Memphis, Tenn., has been postponed.

Instead of a meeting of all the members, the officers and members of executive committees will meet for the year's business at the scheduled time and place. Dr. Dean E Campbell, president of the college, will attend in his capacity as chairman of the commission on Curricular Problems and Research.

BUY YOUR Valentine Candy
AT
Martin and Dalton
210-212 South Adams

To Get Bigger Values For Less

try

Ben Gilberg's

'The Big Man With the Big Values'

108 E. Jefferson St.

The Florida Flambeau

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Tallahassee, Florida

FEBRUARY 9, 1945

Constitutionality of Rule On Weekend Returns Debated In Senate Session Monday

Council Rejection of No-Rule Proposal Discussed; Lack of Jurisdiction Charged on Basis That Health Not Involved

The constitutionality of the ruling of the college Executive Council that students may not return to the campus between 11 p m and 7 a m from overnight absences was the focus of heated debate in Student Senate Monday afternoon.

Final action came when Senate, generally seeming to agree that the matter was within its own jurisdiction, voted to appoint a committee to investigate the idea of a special period without a ruling on student's return. Senate meets Wednesday for final discussion.

Committee Recommends

A committee, vested with authority by Senate, sent on Feb. 7 to college Council a recommendation that the former "9 o'clock" rule passed by Executive Council this past summer be discontinued. It pointed out disadvantages of the rule, and recommended instead that no rule be written concerning it. The proposal was submitted as a challenge whose success would be determined by the cooperation of student body.

The proposal was sent as a recommendation only, since authority was held that the ruling concerning health of students and as that was not within the jurisdiction of student senate. The COA constitution specifies that "all matters pertaining to the public health and safety of the students" are regulated by the authorities of the college.

In the statement which Executive Council to Student Senate committee its decision to meet Senate recommendation (read to Senate Monday by Ann Allison, Senate president) Executive Council said:

"After considerable discussion Executive Council recommended to the Executive Council that the senior privilege to be modified to eliminate the present disadvantages. The College Council has not in favor of the recommendation of senate, however, to have the regulation altogether. The suggestions for modification were made: (1) that the regulation be changed to a period of time during which an experienced adult should be conducted to insure the safety of students' returns to the campus after 12 (two) and (3) that students be permitted to return at any time from between the hour of seven-eight flash and 7 a. m."

Council Votes

The Executive Council then met unanimously to modify the resolution by disregarding the last two suggestions. Specifically, namely the consideration of the first of night travel on health grounds, students, and adopting the following policies: Seniors, a experience to return only over-night absences between the hours of 7 a. m and second flash. Also, seniors entering the place of residence between the hours of second flash and 7 a m will be subject to the action of the Lower Court. This action will permit students to travel all night at their own risk and discretion, but will not allow time during the day or evening hours up to second light flash. The restriction of second flash to third light flash to 7 a m for seniors is subject to brief residence halls was adopted to provide the outlet and rest during the hours.

Continued on page three

President, Dean To Address Meeting

Dr Dodd B Campbell, president of Florida State College, and Mr Earl O Kiersteiner, dean of the School of Music, will be the guest speakers at a dinner for the members of the Tallahassee branch Music of the Americas Guild of Panama in the private dining room of the Cherokee hotel, Saturday evening at 8:45.

The topic of the evening will be "Inter-American Relations."

The ministers and their wives of the churches where the colleges of the Guild's members have been invited, Dr Ella Scobie Opperman, dean emerita of the School of Music, will act as toastmistress.

A joint project of a choral vespers is being planned by the Guild with the cooperation of the choristers of the various churches to take place March 25 at 4:30 in the afternoon in the Westcott auditorium.

Political Science Exam Answers Shock Teachers

"The Dardanelles are located in Paris." "Kirkow is a seaport in China, recently captured by the Japanese." "Sidney Hillman is the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee."

Those are but a few of the freak answers which confronted Dr Marion Irish and Lucretia Lisley, instructors in the political science department, when they read the examination papers handed in by students taking the course "Introduction to the American Politics."

Of the approximately 100 students who attended the course, according to Dr Irish, a relatively small percentage failed or nearly failed.

Continued on page three

Fellowship Awarded Delia Perez by CIA

FSC Senior of Spanish Origin Wins Year of Study

A fellowship for study at the New York School of Social Work has been awarded to FSC senior Delia Perez. The Fellowship, offered to students of Spanish-speaking origin by the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs and awarded through the Institute of International Education, is for one academic year of study and carries with it a fund of $1300 for expenses incidental to the course of study.

In informing here of the award, the Institute explained, "The purpose of the fellowships is to provide advanced training in certain fields for promising young men and women of the United States, of Spanish-speaking origin, who plan to apply their training for the benefit of the Spanish-speaking areas."

Though Della's parents are Spanish, she herself is a native American. On campus, she has been active in the International Relations Club and is a member of Sigma Delta Pi national Spanish honorary. She expects to receive her bachelor's degree in sociology in May.

Improvement Plans To Be Considered

Plans are being considered by the administration to beautify the grounds around the new dormitory and other buildings on the park in front of Landis. Mr J G Kellum, business manager and treasurer of college life."

He explains it imperative that the University of Florida should catch up with the rest of the country and provide adequate educational facilities for the service women and the wives of service men who want to go to school with their husbands," organizational Commander Earl Farrell concluded.

A walk is going to be built across the park from Landis to connective the dining hall and the road beside the new dormitory.

"As it is now, there will be paths all over the park," Mr Kellum said.

Plans are being considered to turn the park from before Landis to where the new walk will be, into formal gardens. The plans are not yet completed and the project cannot be started until next year, Mr Kellum said.

Election Comes Next Month For CGA Heads

Training Classes End; Prospective Officers Submit Petitions

Faculty Committee Will Review All Candidate Data

College Government elections loom large on the calendar for the coming weeks at FSC.

Training classes for the prospective candidates began with the various campus organizations completing nomination petitions during the week of February 5 through 10 where they discussed the duties of their respective offices.

Procedure for nominations will begin next week. Petitions for candidacy for major offices must be signed by at least twenty-five students, for minor officers by at least ten students. Each student may endorse more than one petition for the same office. All petitions for candidacy must be submitted during the week of February 12-16, the deadline will be 11 p m Sunday, February 20. These petitions must be given to the president of the organization, Isabel Rogers, 229 Landis. All petitions must be filed in the office of the Dean of Students within two days after they have been submitted for the nominations committee. Any student may submit a petition for a major and minor office, automatically becoming a candidate for the later if she is not elected for the former.

In regard to statement of qualifications all students who submit petitions or who are nominated by other students must submit a statement of qualifications. All data concerning all candidates for office must then shall be submitted to the Faculty Committee on Stu-

Continued on page three

Picturesque Mexico Is Part Of Art Teacher's Background

By BOBBIE BELL

In the shadow of the cone of Tlasco, Mexico, not far from the shadow of the mighty Popocatepetl, Miss Ann Kirn of the art department of Florida State College set on her balcony in the summer of 43, and sketched the life and shapes of the Mexican highlands.

The balcony projected from the studio wing that a party of which Miss Kirn was a member, had leased for the summer. They had converted it into a picturesque outdoor studio from which they strolled through the scenic village to the village to visit the ancient silversmith's shops. Miss Kirn spent many enjoyable hours sketching some of the skilled artisans of this ancient craft. Painting and sketching occupied the remainder of her time.

"I fell in love with it in Mexico," she said, and emphasized that that trip, although her first, was not to be her last.

"I'm working on another one now," she commented, "but it will have to be printed after the war, too."

Miss Kirn is what can be termed a versatile artist. Her talents are varied, ranging from industrial designing, stage settings, illustration, to fashion designing, which she did for St Louis newspapers.

Alumnae of FSC Write Letters From All Parts of the World

By BETTY DOWD

The wandering travelers always return, but this time it is by letters rather than in person. Girls who have attended Florida State College are, especially at the present time, keeping in contact with their alma mater by way of the Student Alumnae office. They are anxious to know of the activities being carried on and express the desire to return to see "stately Westcott and the warmth of Bryan hall".

Two graduates of FSC write that they are now stationed in Italy. First Lt Mary L Gill of Tallahassee who received her BS from here in 1936, is now serving as hospital dietitian with a station hospital of the Peninsular Base headquarters. Lt Gill's unit was shipped overseas in January, 1943, and was stationed in Algeria before being moved in December of that year to Italy. She says operations were set up in bastion barracks which were British first aided by Italian troops, then German and finally, by British troops.

The account of her marriage to

Continued on page three

Organ Breakdown Complicates Music Recitals, Program

An "out-of-order" pedal board confronted Mrs Ramona Beard, instructor of piano, organ, and theory, after she had made last minute preparations for her formal faculty recital.

The recital which was to have been given in the Westcott auditorium February 1 will be presented May 8. Since the programs have already been printed, she said that they would be used until that date.

There have been some difficulties with the organ for some time, but the music department had hoped to get along with it until a professional repairman, or at least music hall, at which time the organ would be completely checked before installation. "A total breakdown of the organ this time and the procurement of the new building far away because of the war, the relay unit of the organ

Continued on page three

U of F Vets Favor Coeducation Plan

World War II Men Endorse Coeducational Plans

A move to make the University of Florida co-educational was endorsed unanimously by the local World War II veterans registered there, it has been announced recently.

Speaking through their own organization, "Gator Veterans," discharged servicemen said they want other servicemen and women to return to "a normal way of college life."

Freshman Spanish Major Relates Summer's Experiences in Cuba

By BURMA COX

Beautiful meadows and plains, royal palms, rolling hillsides, flourishing vegetation, and cool ocean sunsets are only part of the wonderful things Jane Adcock told of a trip to Cuba she made last summer.

Frances, a freshman at FSC, spent July and August of last summer in Cuba, living with and attended the University of Havana where she took courses in Spanish conversation and grammar.

Spanish has been a chief interest with Frances since she was in the ninth grade in Miami. Immediately after her high school years, she made plans to further her knowledge of this Florida State College and in summer of 1942 she made a trip to Cuba with her father. The success of this trip she developed a desire to return some day to study at the University.

The University of Havana, a large modern building with buildings. Interesting feature of the campus are the "Co-Eds" dormitories to the main building.

Classes are "cosmopolitan," said Frances. "My conversation classmates included eight or nine Catholic nuns, many college graduates, two or three Panamanians, an Army captain, a Negro woman, regular college students, and a few high school students."

While at the university Frances witnessed a strike by the law students on the campus during which several were fired from the university. Frances had morning classes only, so she was able to observe the strikers. Frances said, "The strikers were very peaceful."

While there she saw the Havana Air Base at Mendoza. This dance was sponsored by the university for the entertainment of university officials. For the occasion a U S Army plane flew in from the West.

While at the Cuban sense of humor is much like ours, said Frances, there was one time she had difficulty in seeing the humor of things to a Cuban boy. Wanting to try the old trick of pointing upward at the sky as if there were something alarming there, Frances tried to explain to her escort the humor of the situation, but to no avail. The boy could see nothing funny; so Frances led him to a busy street, started pointing

Continued on page three

Moffett Has Varied Acts

Sketches Include Comedy, Tragedies of Youth

A portrayal of many and varied characters caught the imagination of many who saw Miss Marjorie Moffett's appearance as a solo actress last Friday night.

Through her monologues Miss Moffett peopled the stage with many imaginary characters. These characterizations were sketches about by her expression and actions . It was because of this ability that the audience found themselves hailing her a genius in her art.

She opened her program with an interpretation of a Chinese guerrilla fighter who was writing a letter to her husband after the Japanese had killed her children. In it she told of the death of her child and the condition of the ravaged village following their with her feelings that "they could kill and burn. They could not conquer."

In contrast to the first sketch, Miss Moffett read "A Word of Star's Life Is Very Triste, or Is It This Parisian Business?"

The characterization of an old busybody and a new mother on the subject of baby's diet was the pose of raising the mother's spirits were included in the next presentation.

Portrayal of a salesgirl introducing a new breakfast food was a humorous number. In "Fantasia," she dramatically depicted the human mother's emotions as viewing from heaven her son, a wounded youth, on the battle field. This work, because of its great emotional power, has been

Continued on page three

Dr William G Carleton of the University of Florida will be guest speaker of the AAUW in the Westcott Alumnae building Tuesday night.

Wilgus to Be Speaker Here

Pan-American Expert Will Lecture This Month

Dr A Curtis Wilgus, professor of history of Inter-American history at George Washington University, and a consultant for the division of education of the office of coordinator of Inter-American affairs, will visit Florida State College February 22 and 23. He will give a lecture on "The New Pan-Americanism" in Westcott auditorium at 8 o'clock on February 23. On February 22 he will meet with classes and other groups interested in Inter-American problems, including Latin American history classes, advanced classes in Spanish, International Relations Club, and some Demonstration school groups.

The Coordinator's office is sponsoring the visit of Dr Wilgus. He will visit the other colleges of Florida during the time that he is in the state. The appearances in this campus will be arranged by members of the college committees of Inter-American affairs. Miss Sadie Young, associate professor of economics, is chairman of the committee.

The topics of his lectures are: Democracy and Dictatorship in Latin America; The Whys and Wherefores of Latin American Revolutions; The Good Neighbor Policy in Transition; Understanding Latin America; The Strange Adventures of the Monroe Doctrine; The New Pan-American-ism; Cultural Interpretation with Latin America; The Origin and Development of Pan-Americanism and The Historical Background of Latin American Civilization.

Dr Wilgus received his PhD in 1925 from the University of Wis-

Continued on page three

Schedule Changes

The office of the Registrar announced that the time for changing classes ended last Monday, and no student will be allowed to change classes except with the consent of the Registrar.

Dr William G Carleton Will Address AAUW Meet Here Tuesday Night at 8 O'Clock

University of Florida Professor to Take as Topic "In Re That Conservative South" As Part of Year's AAUW Theme

Dr William G Carleton, from the University of Florida, Gainesville, will be the guest speaker at the February meeting of the American Association of University Women, to be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in the auditorium of the Student-Alumnae building.

In keeping with the theme of the programs given this year by the AAUW on the New South, Dr Carleton's topic will be, "In Re That Conservative South."

The coming speaker, who is professor of political science, chairman of social science in the General College, and chairman of all war training courses in history at the University, speaks frequently in Florida before civic, professional, business, and educational organizations. In the last 18 months, six of his addresses have been published in Vital Speeches of the Day, a magazine which publishes monthly the most significant speeches made in the world. The last of these, on the convergence of the American and Russian Systems, was listed first in a group of speeches, given by Winston Churchill, Anthony Eden and Adolf Berle.

Evidence that Mr Carleton has created a broad interest is found in the fact that Southern Frontiers which he has published two of his recent addresses: Sig-Zag, published in Gainesville, has maintained a page of quotations from some of the speeches in the past issues and that Baird's Representative Speeches for 1934-1944 will include one of his speeches.

Mr Carleton holds A B, M A, and Juris Doctor in Law degrees and an honorary degree as member of the middle period of American History. He is a member of several honorary fraternities, including Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Delta Phi, and Phi Gamma Mu.

Conference Plans Begun

Groups Prepare Programs; Committees Named

Preparations for Youth Conference to be held the weekend of March 2, are going forward.

Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Student-Alumnae building, the first discussion group in preparation for the Youth Conference will take Japan as its subject. Gerry Lee Thomas and Margaret Smith are student leaders of the program, but the discussion leader will be Miss Margaret Rogers, director of Landis hall and teacher in Japan for many years.

At the Youth Conferences meeting the first weekend in March, it was decided that it would be possible to get much more from the conference if there were advance preparation. Therefore, on February 18, there will be a discussion group on India. Plans for resource experts have not yet been completed. Doris Corey and Elaine Washbon are in charge of this meeting.

On February 25 South America will be the main topic. Robin Hill and Virginia Culver are making the arrangements for this program.

Youth Conference will begin the weekend of March 2. Among the leaders who will come to the conference will be the Rev Winburn T Thomas, secretary of the student volunteer movement of America. He will serve as dean of the conference.

Those who will lead the seminars for which the youth conference is making advance preparation are Mr Arthur T Mosher who has lived in India as an agricultural expert for many years. Miss Eleanor Wilson, the last white woman to leave the Caroline and Marianne Islands, will lead the group studying Japan. Miss Wilson is an old friend of Miss Margaret Rogers. The Rev Charles T Hurrey, former international secretary of the YMCA and the Rev

Continued on page three

Seniors Notice

March 16 is the final date for seniors to order their commencement invitations, the Book Store announced.

Home Economics Teacher Travels 1800 Miles in Florida

By LOLA ROSE

A new member of the Florida State College faculty, Dr Dorothy Leahy, instructor in home economics education and home headquarters in Tallahassee, has traveled close to 1800 miles in Florida since her arrival here in September, it was revealed in an interview this week.

Dr Leahy, who is a native of Connecticut in Storrs, Conn., where she was associate professor of home economics education and in charge of teacher education for home economics students.

Traveling is of great interest to Dr Leahy, for she has covered the United States and Canada extensively from coast to coast to north to south. Since she is very fond of the out-of-doors, on some of her trips she did some camping. Camp cookery, she remarked, has helped her in teaching boys.

Together with her interest in the out-of-doors, Dr Leahy likes swimming and ice skating, but she also enjoys reading and in her home here in Tallahassee.

Because teaching is working with human material and because it presents a challenge. It is of great interest to her. When her esteem college days of interest was in medicine. In preparation for that she took home economics because it had so much science in it. While studying she found teaching of home economics that she realized that as much can be done for humanity through it as can be done through medicine. Since then she has continued in the field of education.

A native of Minnesota, Dr Leahy is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, Pi Lambda Theta, and Delta Kappa Gamma. She attended college at the University of Minnesota and did her graduate work at Columbia university. After-wards she taught home economics in Central High in Minneapolis

Continued on page three

'World Citizenship' Is Contest Theme

Hillel, Council Sponsor Oratorial Competition

"World Citizenship: Challenge to Complacency" will be the theme of a local wide oratorical contest officially opened here this week. The contest, finals of which will be held April 25, is sponsored jointly by the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation and the newly formed World Student Affairs Committee, composed of the heads of the 27 main campus organizations.

All students are urged to prepare speeches for the contest, according to Miss Chairman Cordelia Barclay. The talks may be on any subject related to the general theme and are to be approximately 500 words or 8 minutes long. Cash and prizes are to be awarded publicly in an evening program on April 25. Judges will be prominent state and out-of-state officials. Grand prizes will be awarded to the victor, to be engraved with the names of the winners.

All campus organizations will be contacted, and their members are asked to participate, both as organization entries and as individuals.

Preliminaries will be held April 17 and 18, with faculty members as judges. Semi-finals for entries will be April 10. Applications and information may be obtained from Cordelia Barclay or Virginia Holmes.

Juniors Meet

Discussion of the Junior-Senior Prom to be held in March was the main business of the junior class meeting yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of the Student-Alumnae building.

Betty Jo McAteer, chairman of the prom, stressed the need for juniors to sign up for committee work on the bulletin board in lower Westcott.

The need of three members of the junior class for the prom committee was announced for choosing, according to Betty Jo, was the amount of work the girls will have to do on each and as well as for the school in general.

Grade Slips

Students who have not yet received their grades should inquire at the office of the Registrar to see if they are not lines such a library or convocation fines. N grades will be given to any student owing such sums.

Spirit of the Week

● ARE WE EDUCATED?

WE have often heard it said that college students were to be trained in their schools to become leaders in their nation, whether at the local, state, or national level. But whether students are educated to serve as leaders or only for their own personal advantage, it remains the duty of educators and students themselves to turn out well-informed, well-rounded personalities.

Certainly in these days of global warfare no person ignorant of current events and the more basic causative factors of the world can be called educated. Certainly he cannot make much of a contribution to any community, and less still on a state or national level.

Yet even surface inspection will reveal that a strange paradox exists at FSC. We claim to be "educated" when we graduate, and expect to assume leading positions. In the same breath we admit we haven't read newspapers for days or weeks, that our reading matter is too often academically specialistic, that we could not carry on an intelligent discussion of current basic problems.

SOMETHING definitely seems wrong. Undoubtedly, it is true that fundamentally students may not be to blame. Seeking and interpreting information is a habit which must be formed. Habits are not formed without practice and encouragement.

Therefore it may seem pertinent to survey what is done at FSC to further knowledge of current events, not to mention the understanding of what occurs.

The library has an assortment of newspapers and periodicals, but few are the people who voluntarily use them regularly. The courses in current events seem well populated—but about 100 out of 2,400 is a small proportion. The Defense Forum on current issues has been discontinued. There is no news bulletin board. Discussion groups hear lectures and have talks on specialized subjects. A campus news commentator briefly reviews happenings in fairly infrequent convocations. The Flambeau has a weekly world news column, which we fear is far from the most popular item of the paper.

WHAT most of us learn in our classrooms does not seem to make us eager to know what the world is doing, even in this most critical of world periods. Professors seem to fall somewhere along the line, if their instructing does not sent us out interested in events beyond our daily lives. Professors may or may not have failed in their purpose to encourage appeal for world security, economic problems, post-war reconversion has a vital meaning for each of us.

Our lack of information reflects itself in our lack of concern for war activities on campus. Appeals for funds fail, scrap paper drives call in vain for workers, cooperation with local army authorities in solving their problems is lacking.

A somewhat hopeful sign in a gloomy picture is the recent creation of the Student World Affairs Council, composed of heads of 27 campus organizations. Their purpose is to unify all campus war effort plans, to encourage appeals of world information, to increase participation in war activities by filtering down information about needs from organization heads to members.

AS yet the Council is young. It has attempted to urge all organization chairmen to cut down time wasted in unessential meetings, to substitute informational discussions, to ask for informed speakers. It will suggest that all club projects be closely related to the war effort. It will sponsor dissemination of war information through current events debates and quizzes, the first in a series of which was given in all house meetings Tuesday night. It will cooperate with plans for sale of war bonds and stamps, and will help in contribution campaigns. It will contact local War Council authorities to find out what the campus can do to help the broader community war effort.

As an organization, the Council has been long overdue. There was a need for it in 1941, at the outbreak of war. There was a need for it even long before that, for any college with strong "ivy tower" inclinations needs a group to stimulate it to wider interests.

BUT one organization cannot fill the gap between what is expected of college students, and what so far we have given. Until we are conscious that this is "One World," we cannot lay claim to the title of "educated." Roots of the problem lie with the teachers, with parents, with local schools; we can attempt to solve it here, though—and it is long past time that we started.

● BREAKING THE FENCE AROUND TEXAS

Students of the University of Texas are still fighting against the violation of academic freedom involved in the dismissal of the University's president, Dr Homer P Rainey, by action of the Board of Regents.

Many educational associations throughout the country, including the American Association of University Professors, have expressed concern about the action of the Texas Regents.

The Committee for Academic Freedom of the University of Texas Students Association is conducting a survey to disprove the claim that the English Department of the University was guilty of a grave offense in using John Dos Passos' novel, The Big Money on a class reading list.

Stating that "this effort to punish the president and faculty members smacks of regimentation," they feel that the attack can best be met by showing that many institutions have found this novel a legitimate text for the study of contemporary American literature.

Students of the University have supported Dr Rainey since the first news of his dismissal. After the decision was made by the School of Regents, students and student body officers marched to the state capitol in Austin to protest to Governor Coke Stevenson. The Daily Texan, the college newspaper, has demanded a statement of explanation from the Board. Students have also held mass meetings and attended Senate Investigation Committee meetings.

● SENATE DEBATES CONSTITUTIONALITY

Into the regular Senate meeting Monday loomed the question of constitutionality. The Executive Council report of its action on the regulation governing the return of students to the campus following over-night absences included the statement that "they voted unanimously to modify the regulation by disregarding the basis of the original regulation, namely, the consideration of the effect of all night travel on health and academic achievement."

Nevertheless, Executive Council adopted a new regulation, making it now a lower court offense to return to the college between the hours of 11 and 7 at night.

Senator Somerndike first questioned if succeeding legislation on the over-night question would be in their hands. Members of Executive Council of CGA expressed the opinion that it would.

Then the action of the Executive Council of the college was discussed, and a senator questioned the authority of such body to regulate on a matter from which they had abdicated responsibility by disregarding the only basis upon which they might claim jurisdiction.

Astute legislators consulted constitutions, both that of the college and that of the College Government Association. The powers of the college president, stated in Article I, Section II, paragraph I, were quoted from the college constitution: "He shall be finally responsible for the maintenance of discipline in the college, and in this responsibility shall have the active assistance of the deans, Executive Council, Committee on Student Affairs and such other officers and organizations as he may require."

Gold books were brought forth to quote the agreement between the faculty and students of Florida State College concerning the College Government Association, in which the "management of all matters concerning the conduct of students in their relations to that institution or its academic in nature, except such matters as are herein reserved from the jurisdiction of the association" is entrusted to the association.

The reservation of powers includes all matters pertaining to the public health and public safety of the students, to the boundaries of management, and to the use of college property and equipment.

The majority of the Senate members seemed to accept the idea that legislation concerning the overnight rule is in their hands henceforth, and motions were made to modify further the recent Executive Council regulation in this field.

The motion that was finally approved provides for a committee to investigate the possibilities of a trial period during which the absence of any regulation on this matter could be adequately tested by determining the cause of late returns.

YWCA to Hear Talk By Dr Liddell Today

The membership meeting of the YWCA was opened Monday evening with a worship program by Doris Hill entitled World Brotherhood.

Members discussed the value of a campus religious association and the possibility of coordinating campus religious activities in such an organization.

Friday, February 9, the group will meet in the Student Alumnae Building at 5 o'clock at which time Dr Anna F Liddell will give a talk to help members think through the possible value and function of the total program of YWCA in an effort to serve on the campus.

Dancing to Start

Dancing will start in Reynolds' recreation hall Thursday under the direction of the Cotillion club, Betty Lou Christian, president of Cotillion, said. The dancing will begin immediately after dinner and will last until 6:15 every Thursday night.

There will also be a Cotillion "tap," wearing a green jacket, every night in the Student Alumnae building game room to help students.

Jap Cigarettes Taste Like Ours

"And I don't even smoke!" exclaimed a Florida State student after she found a package in her Christmas present containing six packages of Japanese cigarettes sent to her by her brother stationed in the south Pacific.

The six packages, containing ten cigarettes each, are made of a light cardboard. The front of each package is decorated with the picture of a bird printed in green ink. Above the bird are Japanese characters which translated mean "Golden Bird."

On the back of the package are characters which say "Always buy Golden Bird cigarettes. Approved by the emperor."

Those who have smoked the cigarettes themselves have commented upon the bitter strong taste, but say that they taste remarkably like American brands.

"Stardusters" Play

The college dance band, which henceforth will be called the "Stardusters," will provide the music for the Jennie Murphree formal dance this Saturday.

The Stardusters have been working on a design for their new music stands. Thus far the plans are secret, but they say it will be something special.

The Students Speak . . .

This week's column deals with students' reactions to the new rule regarding the time of return to campus on week-end absences. The question asked was, "Do you think the present regulation—students must come in before seven and light flash and after 7 a m—is helping the problem of student convenience and administrative responsibility?"

It is my belief that we should be allowed to come back any time during the night. Since we have to attend classes, most of us must travel by night, at least a few times, and the 12 o'clock rule gave us an extra hour. Now, we have lost that. So it is necessary for those far away to leave home much earlier or to travel all night, leaving Saturday and arriving just in time to attend classes.

Jean Arnat Helms,
Sophomore

I believe that the way the ruling stands now is much better than the 12 o'clock. However, not being on the train from Monticello will affect a great many girls, making them leave a much greater hour than they would have previously.

Lorna Doris Oatley,
Sophomore

Being a second semester freshman, I haven't taken any week-ends yet. However, I feel that the new rule is absurd. Girls know whether or not they have classes the day of the week-end and they should plan accordingly.

Helen McDonald,
Freshman

Frankly I think the new rule is definitely acceptable to the old one because the latter had so many inconsistencies. The new one is also good for those students who live close to the college—they can get up a little later in the morning and the little loss of sleep won't hurt them once or twice a semester.

Elsabeth Hunter,
Junior

It's a good idea and I like it better than the old regulation because now we are not compelled to cut classes.

Carolyn Sangster,
Senior

It seems to me it would be far more sensible to return during the early hours of the morning hours—say 12 a m or 1 a m—and get some sleep. But now, practically everyone will travel all night, get in at 7 a m, and attend classes when she is all worn out. I don't approve of any set time for students to arrive because we are up here to make our own decisions—supposedly.

Virginia Drake,
Sophomore

The new rule is easier on us, even though we do lose an hour, because we may now attend classes the following day. However, concerning the rule about the bus station: it seems to me that if we arrive in the morning hours, fairly near 7 o'clock, it would be much wiser to remain in the bus station than to return alone in a cab.

Naomi Vought,
Junior

Although I think the fact that the parties will be over an hour, because we may now attend classes the following day is an advantage, it doesn't seem to help the health of the students any—which is what we've been hearing so much about.

Eleanor Bayer,
Sophomore

I like the 11 o'clock one better. I think it especially helps those girls who live far away since they can now ride all night, get some sleep on the bus, and attend classes the next day instead of losing cuts.

Pinkey Stewart,
Sophomore

The new one is much better than the other; especially for those girls who live so far. Not nearly everyone can travel at night now, while, under the old ruling, they had to travel by day.

Onalee Nourie,
Junior

In my opinion, the present rule is much fairer. Having on the fourth floor of Gilchrist, I realize that it allowed the campus to have a thrashing through late at night. I therefore feel that the hours from second light flash until 7 a m should be reserved for sleep.

Betty Cannon,
Sophomore

I'm in favor of no rule at all, except after special holidays. We girls have been accustomed to those of us who live long distances from Tally. I believe we should be allowed the same time we want to since all of us do not go home, or even travel, at the same time: and, since the bus and train schedules are so irregular.

Mary Lee Brown,
Sophomore

College Comments

By LOIS BYRD

College comment this week brings you the latest round-up of collegiate news.

FSCW

"The one who thinks our news is print
Would straightway change his mind
Could he compare the news we print
With what we could not use."

—Exchange.

The Daily Texan, publication of the University of Texas, is still going strong at the helm of Dr H P Rainey, who was recently ousted from the University head. Though the dispute is allegedly settled by higher-ups at least, every issue of the paper includes articles, pictures, and students' views on the affair. Apparently, they're not giving up.

The Lass-O.

Latin Americanos Promote Good Neighborliness

Southern California boasts that it has 30 points more to her credit than their native countries to study on the SC campus. Many of the Latin Americans are reportedly happy to be relieved of chaperoned dates and to see so many more co-eds. Those students claim to like the American system of education and are amazed at the ignorance of the United States concerning other countries.

—Daily Cardinal.

Sorority News

The University of Vermont has pledged 131 freshmen and transfer women during the fall rushing season. Of the eight sororities on the campus, Chi Omega leads the list with 31 pledges. Delta Delta Delta and Pi Beta Phi each pledged 19; Sigma Gamma, 15; Tau Lambda Mu and Kappa Alpha Theta, pledged 14; Delta Phi Epsilon pledged 10 and Alpha Xi Delta pledged 9.

—Vermont Cynic.

Ski Frolic

The Trojan Ski Club is sponsoring shindigs every Sunday for the ski lovers. Transportation is furnished for all and instructors are available for the students just learning to ski. The shindigs begin early in the morning and end up at Mt Waterman. The special night parties provide dancing, music and refreshments for the tired skiers. Oh, for snow at FSC!

—Daily Trojan.

Connect Chorus

Not only Florida State, but Texas State as well, has been honored recently by the Don Cossack Chorus. Last week the students of TSCW were transported to the Valley of the Don, to peasant villages, fields of battle, fields in short to Russia, through the voices of the Cossack Chorus and the director, Serge Jaroff.

—The Lass-O.

Poms

You kissed and told,
But that's all right;
The boy you told Called up last night.

—The University Hatchet.

Another Poem

They call her Miss at 17;
They call her Miss at 20;
They call her Miss at 52;
She must've been an actress.

—The University Hatchet.

Seeing Specs

The girls of TSCW are flaunting styled specs. Even the co-ed campus is "owlish" glasses with decorative jewels set in the nosepiece speckled around the lens or all the way up the ear pieces.

—The Lass-O.

Frederic March, University Theatre Star

The University of Wisconsin is proud of Fredric March, who made March got his start in dramatics at Wisconsin, graduated in 1920 and was popularly known as Freddie Bickel, the senior president.

—The Daily Cardinal.

No Dates

It's an old tradition at Grinnell College, Iowa, not to have dates for the Friday night basketball games. Basketball games are not for dates; they are for crowds."

—Exchange.

In the Beginning

First classes at North State Teachers College, Denton, were held in churches, stores, and hardware store.

—Kentucky Kernel.

Tyrone Boosts Bonds

The Agnes Scott girls were quite distracted in the middle of their quarter exams by a visit from Li Tyrone Power himself. The tall, dark, and handsome Marine boosted the 8th War Loan Drive last Friday at Emory and the surrounding Druid Hills area.

—The Emory Wheel.

Russian Army Advances On the Road to Berlin

By BETTY WEAVER

The rear of the Russian Army in the Battle for Berlin this week sounded more loudly than ever before in the ears of the German troops rushing eastward toward the front and the refugees ruining westward.

While the world waits to find out whether the Oder River can successfully be used by the Germans as a barrier guarding the capital of the North German plains, people of Berlin are preparing to protect their city against the Russian attack which may come either as a direct attack or siege.

The Oder River is not wide enough to make a strategic barrier as is the Rhine, but it could be altered to prevent crossing from having complete freedom of movement across the great German plains.

Before the war Berlin was the fifth largest city in the world with a population of 4,380,000. Her administration center is surrounded on the east, southeast, shuns and industrial areas which the Russians can easily circle or attack from almost any position.

The Russians astonished not only the German but the entire world with their fantastic advance of both armies and supplies. They apparently used the technique of letting one unit attack for an allocted time while another unit followed them and, by, but not fighting, then the same would engage planes while keeping fresh troops on the front lines. Supplies were probably advanced in the same way which allowed truck convoys to be loaded and ready to advance as far as the offensive. Using this method the Russian advance did not have to halt while they waited for fresh troops and supplies to catch up with them.

It is the choosing of the Russians that will decide the fate of Berlin. Should the Battle for Berlin is put out of the war and the Nazis communications and administration system cut off it will not necessarily mean the immediate defeat of Germany.

It is already reported that tremendous new stocks of supplies are being transferred into the mountain strongholds in the Munich area which may become the German inner fortress where Hitler will make his last defense

The Florida Flambeau

EDITORIAL STAFF

CORDELIA BARCLAY ..... Associate Editor
RACHAEL HALL, JANEY PANCOAST ..... Associate Editors
BARBARA BENN, DOROTHY LANCASTER, JO ANN CARROLL ..... Assistant Editors
ANNE GAITHER, PEGGY RAY ..... Columnists

Copy Editor ..... Janet Rogers
Proofreader Editor ..... Betty Wier
Feature Editor ..... Judy Proper
Art Editor ..... Frances Howell
Assistant Art Editor ..... Betty Merritt
Society Editor ..... Doris Proper

REPORTERS: Virginia Cannon, Alexander, Miriam Angell, Bobbie Bell, Ellen Ein, Betty Ann Bradley, Burma Cox, Alice Crume, Eileen Davis, Kathryn Dowd, Lucy Fleming, Betty Gilbert, Mary Lou Hall, Mary Ann Hamilton, Beryl Kitchen, Carley Lockney, Mary Lou Lowe, Mary Ann Mahon, Betty Jane Mathis, Lois Mae Mitchell, Lois Sue Nicholson, Betty Sue Nolan, Betty Roberts, Lois Sue Thomson, Jeanne Wallace, Betty Waters, Ruth Watson.

BUSINESS STAFF

Manager ..... Business Manager
Advertising Manager ..... Assistant Manager
Circulation Manager ..... Assistant Manager
Secretary ..... Accountant
Typists: Virginia Cannon, Alexander, Miriam Angell, Bobbie Bell, Ellen Ein, Betty Ann Bradley, Burma Cox, Alice Crume, Eileen Davis, Kathryn Dowd, Lucy Fleming, Betty Gilbert, Mary Lou Hall, Mary Ann Hamilton, Beryl Kitchen, Carley Lockney, Mary Lou Lowe, Mary Ann Mahon, Betty Jane Mathis, Lois Mae Mitchell, Lois Sue Nicholson, Betty Sue Nolan, Betty Roberts, Lois Sue Thomson, Jeanne Wallace, Betty Waters, Ruth Watson.

Entered as second class mail matter January 20 1913 at the post office at Tallahassee Fla. under the act of Congress of March 3 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Press Club Meets

Annual election of officers for the Press club will be held tomorrow afternoon when the club will meet at 4 o'clock in the Flambeau office, according to Rachael Ball, past president of the club.

Plans for the meetings to be held during the rest of this school year will also be completed.

Two Socialagists Visit FSC Campus

Miss Sarah Benedict, who graduated from Florida State College in 1926, and Dr R Clyde White of Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio, were here on campus this past weekend to confer with staff members and majors in the department of sociology and social work. Miss Benedict, who is doing family welfare work in Louisville, Kentucky, is teaching part time in the school of social work at the University of Louisville was on vacation here in Florida but held conferences here at FSC at the request of the university.

Dr White, who is the author of several sociology text books used here on campus was here on his tour he is making for the purpose of studying welfare administration in the Southeast and counseling those students desiring to do graduate work in a school of social work. Before joining the faculty of Western Reserve University, he was in the school of social sciences at the University of Chicago at the same time Miss Margaret Bristol, assistant professor of sociology at FSC, was a member of that faculty. Dr White has also made two trips to Europe for the purpose of studying social conditions.

Former FSC Student Publishes New Book

Miami Muse' Features Poems By Vianne Bloodworth

"The Miami Muse," a weekly column in the Miami Daily News, edited by Florida's poets, set forth its initial publication by Mrs. Lorraine Shelton Ainsworth, former Florida State College student. Miss Bloodworth recently published a book of verse entitled "Pull With Them," a memory of a friend killed in an auto accident. The "Muse" has quote from the book and quoted about its stark simplicity.

Two years ago at the age of 20, Miss Bloodworth won first in a punctuation contest sponsored by the Happy Pace editor of the News and she wrote the punctuation jingle for the 1943 junior high school in Miami. She was a member of the National Honor Society while at the senior high and was one of the editors of the Distaff during the nine years at FSC.

She also served as vice president of Delta Delta Delta sorority and secretary of the Coalition club.

The "Muse" says, "Although the author of verse is Florida born, the surge of life is full of the sea-born, and the rhythm tide will sound more than memories."

Political Science Class Elects Officers

Continued From Page One

ing the first meeting of these newly elected officers.

Aim of the students were mainly centered on geographical matters. One stated that Chungking, capital of China, should explain a report in China, recently received by the Office of Strategic and capital city of Szechwan province, was identified as a "strategic port on the Yangtze" and again, as an import city of Hunan. The latter province is famous over the "Hump" in Burma, is according to one student, "the province that brought to Manila." Price goods, rapidly rising, was studied by a student who said that Pelelin of the islands in the Pacific ocean was a place Americans, a Russian general."

Personalities in the news of today were discussed by Miss Mary John L. Lewis, former head of the C I O, was cited as the celebrate most likely to succeed Franklin D. Roosevelt as President. Clare Booth Luce, Republican member of the House of Representatives from the 4th Connecticut glamour girl," "President of the United Commonwealth" was the titled ascribed to Mackenzie King, who is Canada's prime minister.

Sabin's air raid alert periods were discussed by the group, approximately 48 days, and streets held 400 times.

FLORIDA
Today and Tomorrow
"CAN'T HELP SINGING"
Deanna Durbin
Wednesday Through Saturday
"WINGED VICTORY"
Wednesday Through Saturday
"DUTY ACCORDING TO DUTY"
Sunday, Monday, Tuesday
"HEY THOUGHT OF YOU"

STATE
Today and Tomorrow
"DARK MOUNTAIN"
Ralph Bellamy
Wednesday and Thursday
"VIGILANTES OF DODGE CITY"
Robert Lowery
Friday and Saturday
"KNIGHT OF ADVENTURE"
Sonny Tufts
and
"STRANGE AFFAIR"
Sunday and Wednesday
"CASANOVA BROWN"
Thursday Only
"BRIDE BY MISTAKE"
Robert Cummings
and
"STRANGE AFFAIR"
Friday and Saturday
"GILDERSLEEVE'S GHOST"
Jordan
and
"RIDE RANGER RIDE"
Sunday and Monday
"MOONLIGHT AND CACTUS"
and
"RETURN OF APE MAN"

RITZ
Today and Tomorrow
"HEAVENLY BODY"
and
"NONE SHALL ESCAPE"
Tuesday Only
"RANGE LAW"
Wednesday and Monday
"ARSENIC AND OLD LACE"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"LOST ANGEL"
and
"HITLER GANG"
Thursday and Friday
"COWBOY CANTEEN"
and
"MEET THE PEOPLE"
Saturday Only
"SENDRA STAGE COACH"
Sunday and Monday
"GREENWICH VILLAGE"

Distaff Co-Editor Tells of Life In New York, Miami, Washington

By P. L. THOMSON

Summing up her activities of the past few years, Mildred Zindler, co-editor of the Distaff, said, "I have come to FSC in February of 1940, left in February of 1942, and now I've been filling around ever since."

In qualifying her statement, Mildred, now back at FSC as a senior, explained that among the places where she had "flitted" were Tampa, Miami, New York, and Washington, D. C. During this time she had many experiences, the most interesting of which, she said, were connected with her life as an artist in Greenwich Village and with her stay in Washington as a photographer third - class in the WAVES, into which she went as the first recruit from Tampa.

Interesting to Mildred, there is nothing, worse than being in New York alone. She said that she lived in a room in the south of town, and "had morning" to the superintendent and the lie man, and also she used to buy a newspaper so the boy would say "good afternoon." In her room, a studio where the girl said "good evening" to "Then," she added, she'd "used to go back to my room."

The last job she had while in New York was in a defense plant in New Jersey where she worked grinding lenses at night. For the next job, in Miami, for a time, and, as a result of overwork, became ill and was ordered by the doctor to go South.

Back to Tampa she came, but not for long. Before the year 42 became 20, the Navy began recruiting WAVES, and Mildred was the first girl to be inducted in Tampa. She went to boot school in Iowa where she met Ensign Hall from Iowa she went to Washington, D C. where she was stationed for the duration.

In Washington, Mildred attended the Corcoran School of Art, and there studied with Heinz Warneke, noted German-American sculptor. Mildred explained that she and the other students used to have long, "very" informal discussions. These were always begun when a student either criticized or praised the work of another sculptor.

Mildred found Washington a beautiful city, and enjoyed the concerts, the National Art Gallery, and cherry blossom time particularly. She would like to live there somedays if she can get a job there, but Washington is full of artistrhis, and what have you."

It was these ailments that were responsible for her medical discharge from the WAVES. After leaving the service, Mildred returned to New York a second time. There she worked at different painting jobs, including one as a lithograph house; there, too, she studied sculpturing under Warneke.

Then back to New York. Mildred went to Miami where she landed a job at Pan Am as a teacher, but was unable to find either. This fall she returned to FSC as a senior. An English major, she plans upon graduation to teach for a year in Tampa, save her money, and ret a fellowship at New York University's Institute of Fine Arts in New York by day and study for her M A degree by night.

Moffett Hos Varied Acts

Continued From Page One

broadcast via short wave to Germany by the United States Army department.

In her next numbers, "An Ensign Lady Entertains Corps of America" and "A Debutante, or Glamour Girl No Longer," she showed her remarkable talent for throwing herself into varying personalities.

An English mother saying goodbye to her children as they were leaving for America was the theme of "Children's Pilgrimage," her last presentation. In it she read to her children a book, illustrated by themselves, containing the sayings of many great men, including Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. Enthusiastic applause brought her back for the reading of William Blake's "The Little Black Boy," which, as she described it, was "one of the loveliest poems ever written on racial freedom."

Organ Breakdown Complicates Music

Continued From Page One

has been sent to the factory for repair.

For such emergiues as convocation the manuals of the organ will be used but the music will lack volume and fullness because of the missing pedal board.

With hope of having the organ repaired by next month, plans are being continued for Sunday afternoon organ vespers for March 4 and 25. She will play pieces other than those that she has prepared for her recital. At the other vespers programs in March there will be guest organists.

Students to Assist Filing of Incomes

Summer Workers May Claim Refund from Salaries

Miss Luella Richey, associate professor of accounting, announces that the members of the class entitled Federal Income Tax course first semester are available to assist students who should make out income tax returns. In most cases the purpose will be to claim a refund.

Many students worked during the summer and their employers withheld a part of their salary as tax. But if a person earned less than $500 she is not required to pay a tax, and may therefore claim a refund from the government of all that was withheld. If a student worked a longer time, and earned more than $500 her employer probably withheld more than she is actually required to pay, and she has also a right to claim a refund.

These returns and claims must be in before March 15. Refer to Marian Lambeth, chairman, room 219 Landis, if she will assist students to a member of the class.

Odd-Even Hockey Practice Begins

Odd-Even hockey practice started last Monday with the opening of the 1945 sports season.

Both groups will take up individual techniques and team tactics, the Evens on Mondays and Wednesdays and the Odds on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 to 5 o'clock. / the same time on Fridays both groups will practice.

Aileen Trisler is the leader of the Odds, and Jo Ann Bell, their the leader of the Evens. Evelyn said that it is the desire for students who are interested to come out and participate, and she urges them to do so.

"We're going to get even with those Odds this year," she said, because the Odds won last year.

Tarpon Club Holds Minnow Tryouts

First tryouts for Minnows were held yesterday afternoon from five to six o'clock in the pool and the performances will be held on Monday, February 12, at the same time.

A practice period will be held this afternoon with Tarpon members helping those who are held on strokes and form.

Betty Jane Hall, vice-president and minnow trainer, announced that the May Day performance last night recently with the minnows who will be selected after these tryouts.

"Anyone can try out for Tarpon and the more the better," Betty Jane said, "for we can also fulfill the swimming standards of Tarpon will be selected."

Election Comes Next Month

Continued From Page One

dent affairs on Saturday, March 3 and 4, and a committee will be considered by it within a week thereafter.

The faculty Committee on Student Affairs may recommend to the nominations committee the presentation of other nominations whenever such action seems advisable. The nominations committee may ask for further nominations from those bodies not acquainted with persons eligible or may call for further petitions from the student body.

Elections begin in March. The candidates' booth will be open from March 7-13 (Wednesday through Tuesday). Each faculty candidate will spend two hours in the booth for the purpose of answering questions on opinions and platforms by interested individuals.

Primary election shall be held in the case of offices to which more than two candidates qualify. Any candidate receiving more than half of the votes cast in a primary shall be declared elected. At the election the candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected. There shall be a primary and an election for both major and minor offices. Any student qualified to deserve shall not be qualified to vote or to be a candidate in student elections.

The remaining training classes will be held in the Student Union room of the Student Alumnae Building, at 5 o'clock for their vice president of Coed, at 7:30 for secretary of CGA, and at 8:30 for judiciary secretary.

In order to clarify the schedule a calendar has been published. February 8-10: Training classes for prospective candidates. February 13-14: Petitions and statements of qualifications received by the Nominations Committee. March 7-13 Candidates' booth. March 13-14: Election of major officers. March 15-16: Election of minor officers.

IRC Acquires Books

The International Relation Club held its weekly meeting at 8 o'clock Thursday in the Student Alumnae clubroom. Separate committees were chosen to sponsor a defense movie and to work on the library display.

New books acquired by the club are: Beyond Victory, by Ruth Anshen; Ten Years in Japan, by Joseph Grew; United States Strategy in the Pacific and Southeast Asia, by Hanson Baldwin; Pioneers in World Order, by Harriet Davis; Peoples of Southeast Asia, by Bruno Lasker.

Organ Students Will Give Program

A program of selections chosen and prepared by some of the organ students has been revived and will be presented to all the organ students in Westcott Tower room Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs Ramona Beard, associate professor of organ, piano and theory, stated that this will be the third such meeting since the pandemia. Later in the year programs similar to this will be open to anyone who cares to attend, she also said.

Organ students taking part will be Ann Bower playing Andante by Lemmens; Edith Smith, Etude Number Eight, by Rheinberger; Olsen, Fughetta by Rembi; Betty Jean Lindeman, Melody by Clement; Frances Duckworth, Etude Number Seven by Truette; Margaret Mitchell, Joy of Man's Desiring by Bach; Jane Gaertner, Sonata Number Six by Mendelssohn; Vern Trawick, Cantilene by Guilleman; Margaret Smith, Nun Danket by Karg-Elert.

Alumnae of FSC Write Letters

Continued From Page One

Capt. James Cook of Knoxville is taught law at Columbia and the USNC, who graduated in 1936. News was the novelty of wearing a navy helmet and Marjorie Taylon.

Washington, D C, is the temporary home for two of the FSC girls in the service. Eileen Arnold is Ensign in the WAVES and is Washington to accept a position as overseas secretary with the American Red Cross. After completing a training period she will be assigned to a hospital in a foreign country. Eileen graduated from FSC in 1937.

A graduate of last year, Margie Lambert, now seaman second class in the WAVES and stationed at Washington, writes that she had dinner one night recently with Lois Wells, Jean Wood Crowe, Paulette Nolan and Jeanne Strahan. They all took a trip to Boston to see Vicki Lewis—"all fine Esteems," Margie terms it. After reading in the Washington paper about the FSC alumnae meeting to be held tomorrow in Washington, Margie says she certainly plans to attend.

Pvt. Jane Hall, England since August 1, 1944, and am so glad to be back in the front again. Everyone at home should put forth every effort to help all she can.

Somewhere in England also is Lt. Eleanor Seaman, 1941 graduate, dietitian at the fifty-third general hospital. Li Shuman, having completed her first year there, said that "the past year has certainly been filled with many pleasures. We had the experience of setting up our own hospital, which is much nicer than moving into a hospital some other unit has been using. Since D-day, we have been almost filled up all the time." She moved into a new lucky ,though, she says, as they have a nice Officer's Club and the nurses quarters are also lovely. "The other dietitian I work with took her disaster training at FSC —Virginia Ames."

From a member of the class of 1937 comes a letter from T-4 Pauline Kelly, who is stationed in Ft. W. J. Sibert, overed the hospital. WAC Kelly says, "While home on furlough I read the kid sisters alumnae bulletin. I enjoyed reading the 'With the Alumnae in the Armed Services.' I can't let the class of 1937 be left out as it appeared to be, at least in this issue." She finished her training at Fort Dix in the Army course for physical therapy aides and says about our corps, "I thought that anatomy at FSC was hard until I took a two-year course in six months at Walter Reed hospital."

30 Methodist Girls Lead City Programs

Deputation Work Is Planned For Rural Churches

Over 30 Methodist college girls are participating in a program of deputation work under the leadership of Miss Alpharetta Leeper, director of the Methodist student organization, and Miss Florence Jones, rural worker for the Tallahassee district of the church.

Each girl will go into a Methodist church near Tallahassee to lead a youth program on one or more weekends between now and the end of the semester.

As it is now planned, four girls will go out as a team under the supervision of Miss Jones, for a weekend. They will lead a recreation program and training class on Saturday night. On Sunday the team will be in charge of worship and will probably have another class session. The weekend deputation is planned as a spur to activities which will continue the work of Methodist youth in the churches visited.

There will be a training class tomorrow for all girls who wish to participate in the deputation this afternoon and evening, at the Methodist student house.

Soccer and Hockey Sport Season Open

Many members of last year's Eves and Odd soccer teams are out again this year as the third sports season of the year opens.

Babe Evans, leader of the Evens, will be aided by Miss Grace I Pox, instructor in physical education and faculty advisor for Even soccer, while Margaret Fernandez, leader of the Odds, will be aided by Mrs Lazelle W Dickens, instructor in physical education and faculty advisor of Odd soccer.

As in other sports seasons this year the Evens will practice on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and the Odds on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays.

Last year's Odds, the majority of the Evens out for soccer are freshmen but members of last year's team who are out are Hazel Sopke, Catherine Barrs, "Stooks" Lester, and herself.

Last year's Odd team who are out again are Virginia Palmer, Betty Bell Sweat, Mary Jo Summers, Enid Sandler, Barbara Irvine, Gertrude Kunzler, Margery Loomis and Margaret Fernandez.

McQuag Returns

Miss Juanita McQuaig, who has been working at Bowman county of the college post office for the duration, will return to work Monday following an attack of rheumatic fever, according to Mr Ralph Bellamy.

Miss McQuaig, who returned to her home at 815 N Adams st, last Friday after a week at Bowman Hospital, has been absent from work since January 26.

Frosh Spanish Major Relates Experiences

Continued From Page One

at an imaginary something in the sky, and even after a fairly large crowd had gathered, her friend still say "nothing human."

The most fascinating slang expression Frances encountered is "Zero" which is comparable to our "No soap."

When asked how she liked the Cuban born, she said all right, "but I prefer the bashful American boy."

Constitutionality of Rule On Weekend Returns

Continued From Page One

the night of students and staff in the residence halls."

Debate began with the reading of the authorities' decision.

It was immediately pointed out that if the decision was n:t based on consideration for students' health or academic pursuits, then the action was unconstitutional and was an infringement of student powers.

Mabel Rodgers offered an explanation of the council's action by reading from the College Constitution that the president of the college is empowered to take any action to regulate student discipline, and is given general powers.

Janet Pancoast objected that in the faculty-student agreement known as the Code of Conduct the president had delegated all powers to the students not including supervision over student health, safety, academic matters and household management.

Cordelia Barclay moved since the matter was a student subject jurisdiction now, that senate resend the original no-rule recommendation back to the conference as a law, to be approved by them without referral to Executive Council (as is necessary in case of a recommendation). The motion was seconded.

Discussion continued. Ona remarked that the rule for the reason why the midnight Monticello train had been ruled out, and was told that possibly health was involved there, and that students coming from Sunday balls later than eleven caused disturbance.

It was also suggested that Executive Council might have had had reasons for the rule and powers to make it that Student Senate had not thought of. Dr Pressident's powers to discipline were again mentioned.

Several senators asked the purpose of sending the original rule back to Colleee Council, since it had not supported the senate recommendation when first submitted.

In reply, a senior senator rose to say that students have few enough constitutional rights, and that they need to stand behind their rights when authorities infringe upon them. She added that the action should be taken by the Student Senate's will if the original proposal is defeated now and sent through legislative channels again.

Senate voted down the re-sending of the original recommendation.

A motion was made and seconded that the proposal be sent back through the legislative channels to have a trial period of perhaps a year during which statistics could be gathered. This motion was also defeated.

A new motion to vote on the principle of having a trial period, with a committee appointed to work out details later was made. It was stated that it would be desirable to have a trial period with the rulling abolished altogether, instead of having actually, a trial period of the present ruling. The motion was voted down, 35 to 7.

Senate passed the motion that the chairman appoint a committee to investigate the ides of the trial period without a ruling on students' return.

Distaff Is Slated To Appear Saturday

Issue Features New Make-up And Faculty Writers

The first Distaff of the school year, which is to be distributed to the student body tomorrow, will contain 40 pages of writing without pictures according to Elisabeth DuFratelle.

There will be several other distinctive features beside the absence of drawings and pictures and a plain cover. Faculty writers including Professor Earl Wynn of the journalism department, Dr R S Cotterill of the history department, and Dr Raymond Bellamy of the sociology department will be featured.

Miss Bertha Bloodworth, director of the publicity office, will have some of her work featured in the poetry section. There will be a poetry section rather than scattered poems throughout the magazine as in previous Distaffs.

The forthcoming issue of the Distaff will include stories by Marianne Snyder, Mary Alfriend, Peggy La Thomson, and Winifred Meldrim. Edith Grider has written an article entitled "We Do To England."

Faculty contributors are Peggy Bennett, Elisabeth McFarland, Winifred Meldrim, Sarah Callaway Talbot Whitman, Marianne Snyder, Peggy La Thomson, and Carolyn Tillis.

Shirley Glover has written two book reviews on The Sleep Accent and The Road Back.

Conference Plans Begun

Continued From Page One

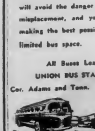
Charles Hinton, former pastor of an Episcopal church in Mexico City, will both speak about Latin America.

Other leaders of the conference will be the Rev Hamilton Pierce of the University Baptist church near the campus of the University of Texas, the Rev Raymond B Drukker director of mountain work in Jackson county Kentucky ;and Mrs Raymond L Archer, formerly a missionary to Mexico, Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Dorothy Caswell and Margaret Smith, co-chairmen of the Youth Conference, have announced the students who head committees working with the conference. Ann Ausenbaugh a.nd Catherine Walsh, assisted by Miss Vela Cleveland, will be responsible for recreation. Harriette McCarter will be aided by Mrs Allin Bates in advance publicity, Irene Johnson and Miss Marie Clayton will be in charge of the music.

Assisting Mary Lucy Mendenhall and her committee in housing arrangements will be Miss Eleanor Wilson. Miss Katherine that they need to stand behind their rights when authorities infringe upon them. She added that the action should be taken by the Student Senate's will if the original proposal is defeated now and sent through legislative channels again.

Senate voted down the re-sending of the original recommendation.



A motion was made and seconded that the proposal be sent back through the legislative channels to have a trial period of perhaps a year during which statistics could be gathered. This motion was also defeated.

A new motion to vote on the principle of having a trial period, with a committee appointed to work out details later was made. It was stated that it would

Use Dura-Gloss for charm and gaiety in your whole appearance. An exclusive ingredient called "Chrystallyna" helps protect the polish against chipping and peeling. That's why you hear so many women say, "Dura-Gloss stays on." 10¢ a bottle, plus tax, at cosmetic counters. Cuticle Remover Polish Remover Dura-Coat
LORR LABORATORIES, PATERSON, N. J. • FOUNDED BY E. T. REYNOLDS

Be a Valentine Vamp
and Dazzle Your Date with a Machineless Wave
from
MARTIN AND DALTON
BEAUTY SALON
210-212 South Adams

Travel Light

When you take your next necessary Trailways trip pack one small bag if possible, and be prepared to carry it yourself. Thus you will avoid the danger of loss or misplacement, and you will be making the best possible use of limited bus space.
All Buses Leave
UNION BUS STATION
Cor. Adams and Tenn. Ph. 701
NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Camp Parties, Informal Suppers Sorority Activities This Week

Week-end party at camp and informal suppers constitute the main activities of the campus sororities this week.

Alpha Chi Omega pledges and active are to be entertained Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock at a breakfast given by the pledges. Jessie McCalla is chairman of the committee in charge. The chapter has also elected two new activities chairmen, Helen Rose and Jean Ann Graham.

Last week-end the members and pledges of Alpha Gamma Delta spent Saturday and Sunday at camp. Betty Jo McAteer, Carolyn Haston, and Katherine Rogers were in charge of all arrangements.

Mrs Frank Busby, financial advisor of the chapter from Jacksonville is now visiting at the Delta Delta Delta house. Sunday morning the sisters will give a breakfast for the actives, and Sunday night there will be a supper.

Merrill Lona, chairman of the Delta Zeta pledges, is planning an evening of games and skits for the actives next Saturday night. Gwendolyn Jones, former president of Pan Hellenic and member of Delta Zeta, graduated from Pharmacy.

Sunday, the eighteenth, the sorrows and joys of Chi Omega are planning a supper to be cooked outside on the new grill.

Delta Pi Epsilon entertained last Saturday night at a formal dance, the theme of which was "A Night to Remember." The dance contest of Mitch Dy and Mrs R F Richards and Mr and Mrs A Orme were the judges. It was won by Leah Setzer and Roy Baker, who were crowned King and Queen of the dance. The room was decorated in blue and white with stars to give the effect of moon light. Bivvie Monocovitch was in charge of refreshments. Next Saturday the pledges are to be entertained by the actives at a pop corn party.

Kappa Alpha Theta members an pledges will spend the weekend at camp, going out Saturday and coming back Sunday afternoon. Perry Barker, Secretary to Dean Lee Hall Watson and alumna of the local chapter will accompany the group. Bessie Hammond, president of the chapter is interning in Fort Lauderdale this semester. Jeanne McCabe, new acting president during her absence.

Three alumnae of Phi Mu, Mary Anne Boarderman Harkins, president of the chapter in 1942, Eleanor King, and Tina Warnock, visited here last week-end.

Three of Sigma Kappa's new officers were installed Monday night. Virginia Ann Hall, new president, Charlotte Thorpe, first vice president, and Dorothy Dunaway, second vice president.

Sophomore Hop Is Accounted To Be Saturday

The Sophomore Hop will be held tomorrow night from 8 to 12 o'clock in the college gymnasium. The theme is to be a surprise and will not be revealed until the dance takes place. It is, according to Nell Clark, chairman of the hop, something very new and original.

Music will be furnished by the orchestra from Camp Gordon Johnston.

The chairman of the committees are: Publicity, Campbell, chairman; Bo Peep Stell, Rosetta Culver, and Sam Pavarone; decorations, Virginia Bellamy, chairman of decorations; Barbara Mann, Barbara Ann Avant, business manager; Bobbie Whidden, refreshments; Patsy Adams, invitations; Vic Mott, chaperones.

Miss Cella Segerman is advisor to the dance committee.

Chaperones and guests include Dr and Mrs Leland Lewis, Mr and Mrs Menaugh, Mr and Mrs W B Cowles, Dr and Mrs Robert Miller, Dean Olivia Durman, Miss Esther Hall, Dr. and Mrs. Dana S Campbell, Miss Edith McCollum, Dr and Mrs P W Sandeweiller, and Mrs Melanie Turner.

Mary Grower Holland has charge of the invitations. Those who include Julia Ann Banks, Barbara Brough, Barbara Carter Gloria Durrance, Flossie Givens Margery Holm, Anne Hunter, Barbara Jane Lanier, Martha Sue Lisenby, Sarah Lewis, Margaret Palmer, Nancy Koellner Marjorie Woodbury, and Betty Wienbaker.

TIME TO SAVE ON

Tussy Cleansing Creams

Reg. Bre and Cream Price 1.00

$1.00

Now Only 95 Plus Tax

$1.95

Emulsified Cleansing Cream — the ideal fluid-type, thin, sensitive skin. Cleanses ... softens, too! Helps make skin clear, soft.

Pink Cleansing Cream—cold-cream type cleanser, for normal and very dry skin. Lathers, refreshes, rinses. Leaves skin looking fresh and smooth.

Limited Time!

BENNETT'S Drug Stores

Queen Unveiled At J M Annual Dance

A queen of hearts will be unveiled at the Jennie Murphree annual dance tomorrow night in the Student Alumnae building. The theme of the dance will be Valentine and decorations will be carried out in the decorations.

The queen has been chosen by the vote of the students of the dormitory from girls nominated from each floor and will be kept secret until the dance. The girls nominated were: Enid Krome, alternate; Jane Ashley, main floor; Jane Whitfield and Betty LaBrie, first floor; Betty McCall and Betty Kennedy, second floor; and Elsolee Moore and Dorothy Carver, third floor. The girls not elected queen will act as attendents.

The dance will be held from 8:30 until 11:30 p m and the music will be furnished by the college swing band. There will be a program of singing and dancing specialties presented.

Guests of the hall at the dance will be Miss Lucile Hall and Miss K E Gulick. Mr and Mrs Frank Sykora, Miss Ruby Dunstan, Miss Mary Cody, Mrs Zona Irick, and Mrs Melanie Turner.

Students Present Music Recital

Twelve students presented a student recital last Wednesday afternoon in the Recital Hall of the Music school.

Miss Lucile Wagner, assistant professor of piano and in charge of the program gave a sketch of each composer before his compositions were played.

Jeanne Leslie of the piano normal department under Miss Mary E Breder, began the recital with piano methods. began the program by playing Jensen's Reigen.

Other students participating were Florida State College students who are also active in Zeta Phi Eta, professional sorority for women in music.

Geraldine Farnsworth played o bassoon solo, Concerto in F, by Weber, and a trio for instruments by Mozart with Wilda Lee Lanier on violin, Jeanne Leonard, piano, Lento by Cyril Scott; Marie Albensi, piano, Berceuse by Chopin; Frances Blackburn, voice, Lasciatemi morire by Monteverde; Jeanne Leonard, piano, Arabesque by Debussy; Geddis by Stradella, with Gladys Koch as accompanist.

The last two selections on the program were taken from Frederick Corder's Symphonette. Mary Connor played a saxophone, E flat alto, solo, Nocturne in E flat, accompanied by Mary Elizabeth Smith; Johanna Slotnnik, piano, Rondo Capriccioso by Saint-Saens, piano, Waltz in G flat major and Eleanor Bragg, piano, Ballade F major.

Rogers Nominated To Pi Phi Award

Isabel Rogers, president of the DOA unit, was nominated by that of Pi Beta Phi, is being recommended by the Tallahassee Beta chapter for the Amy Burnam Award. The award is given annually to the most outstanding member of the sorority in each province. Florida Beta is one of the chapters in Zeta Province.

The winner of the award will be announced at a later date.

Mrs J L Tyler, province president visited the local chapter on February 5, 6 and 7. Mrs Tyler is from Atlanta and attended the University of Florida. She also was a member of Pi Beta Phi and is province president.

Each class, sophomore, juniors and seniors will give the pledges entertained Mrs Tyler by taking her out to special parties. Members, pledges, alumnae, and patrons of the chapter entertained her Wednesday night with an after-dinner coffee. This is Mrs Tyler's annual visit to the chapter.

Sunday evening from 5:30 until 7:00 o'clock all the actives and pledges will have an afternoon coffee.

Landis, Gilchrist Have Special Teas

The various dormitories held their weekly tea Wednesday afternoon at 5 p m. Gilchrist honored the new students in the hall with a tea. Mrs Gilchrist, where the bride's family lives.

Landis hall was a senior at FSCP before leaving to be married, were the invited guests while Broward and carried a bouquet of white carnations with white orchid in the center of the bouquet.

A member of Alpha Delta Pi social sorority, Mrs Hall of Village Vamps. Betty Love had as her only attendant Dolly Sisk, a fellow sorority sister. Dolly Ann wore a pale blue dress and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The bride and groom, who first met in Florida when Betty Love was a sophomore, left immediately following the ceremony for Tampa, where Capt Emmons is stationed.

Freshmen Entertain Soldiers at Dance

Freshmen were the hostesses to enlisted men of Camp Gordon Johnston, Dale Mabry airfield, and Perry base Saturday night, February 3 at an informal dance held in the Student Alumnae building.

The Florida State College swing band furnished the music for the occasion, with an intermission of boogie-woogie played on the piano.

Chaperons for the evening were Dr and Mrs Hudson Rogers, Dr and Mrs Robert Miller, Mrs Forbes Liddell, Dr Marian Irish, Mr Frank Sykora and Miss Celia Segerman, sorority advisor for the dance committee

Marion's Hat Shop

NEW SPRING HATS

FSC Graduate Newspaperwoman Flies Here on Assignment

A old graduate flew back to town last Tuesday.

What's more she flew back on an official assignment for her newspaper.

Sarah Worth, journalism graduate of 1942, was sent up to Tallahassee by her paper, the Tampa Times, to cover a meeting of the State Board of Administration at the Capitol, and while here paid a few hours visit to the campus.

When she was a student here, Sarah was active in student activities, having been associate editor of the Flambeau and chairman of the local chapter of the National Student Federation of America, which, at that time, was active on campus.

As always in copies of the Flambeau editorials published during her term as editor, Miss Worth's column, Sarah was also a leader in numerous changes on the campus, takine a leading part particularly in efforts to change Senior Hall. When asked whether or not she had changed her mind about these things since leaving college, Sarah said she emphatically had not.

Following her graduation, Sarah was chosen as one of eight journalism students in the United States to be awarded a fellowship for journalistic research in New York, where she spent one year. She then joined the staff of the Tampa Times and has been with that paper ever since.

Also on the staff of the Tampa Times is another FSC journalism graduate, the former Frances Williams, and until recently still a third, Harriet Benson Grimes, who is a reporter on the Times. Harriet, at the present time, publishes a weekly school paper.

English Teacher Publishes Article

Mrs Lou W Miller, instructor in English here at Florida State College for Women, has published in a recent issue of the News Letter of the College English Association, an article on a successful study project one of her freshmen English classes had completed. In her article Mrs Miller told how the project had materialized from a dictionary study assignment.

"What Can Be Learned from a Dictionary" is the title given to the article by the writing project which began with the development of a list of words, a word a week, and a small line, each student of the small class of freshmen in her which to write a paragraph. In class the paragraphs were fitted together to make an interesting composition allowing each girl to read the paragraph immediately preceding hers and following hers, smooth transition was gained in this way. Copies of the project were made with carbon copies made for all members of the class.

Party Is Planned For Day Students

At a meeting of the Day Students yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, plans were discussed for a party to be given on March 15 which they hope will be a party to be presented to the outstanding freshman day student. This cup which is to be awarded annually is given to Daphne Rowe last year. Nine girls are eligible for consideration to the next student. Each student receiving the cup has her name placed on it.

Another Pin-Up Boy contest is to be held by this group which will be presented to the outstanding freshman day student. This cup which is to be awarded annually is given to Daphne Rowe last year. Nine girls are eligible for consideration to the next student. Each student receiving the cup has her name placed on it.

Another Pin-Up Boy contest is to be held by this group which will be presented to the outstanding freshman day student. This cup which is to be awarded annually is given to Daphne Rowe last year. Nine girls are eligible for consideration to the next student. Each student receiving the cup has her name placed on it.

Betty McCallum Wed's Captain R A Emmons

Betty Love McCallum became the bride of Capt Robert A Emmons of New Jersey at 5 o'clock on Tuesday of last week in the Methodist church, the church where the bride's family lives.

Landis hall, where Betty Love, a senior at FSCP before leaving to be married, were the invited guests while Broward and carried a bouquet of white carnations with white orchid in the center of the bouquet.

A member of Alpha Delta Pi social sorority, Mrs Hall of Village Vamps. Betty Love had as her only attendant Dolly Sisk, a fellow sorority sister. Dolly Ann wore a pale blue dress and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The bride and groom, who first met in Florida when Betty Love was a sophomore, left immediately following the ceremony for Tampa, where Capt Emmons is stationed.

Dunstan Recital

Miss Ruby Dunstan, pianist, will present a recital tonight at 8:15 in Westcott auditorium.

Her program will include Partita No 6 by Bach, Sonata, Opus 2 No 2 by Beethoven, Scherzo, Opus 20 by Chopin, and Prelude, Chorale and Fugue by Franck.

Miss Dunstan is a graduate of Florida State College and has attended the Juilliard School of Music in New York City.

She is now an instructor in the school of music here.

Herring to Teach

Mrs Helen Sharp Herring a former faculty member of the history department, acted as substitute teacher for the last week of the past semester and the whole of this semester in the place of the late Dr Wallace M True.

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Mrs Herring received her master of arts in history at Florida State College in 1940. She then taught in the public schools until her marriage to Mr Charles K Herring on January 3, 1942. Mr Herring is a lieutenant in the air corps in the South Pacific. When called to work here she was living in Atlanta, Georgia.

Photography Class Exhibits Pictures

Airplane, Still Life Objects, Children Are Featured

On recent display in the club room of the Student Alumnae building were photographs representing the work of 12 students, members of the photographer photography class of Miss Elizabeth Lynn, instructor in physics.

One picture, captioned "My Rival", was taken by Medora Brown's husband while he was in the service before Medora and he were married. It is a picture of a plane with the name Medora on it. Miss Brown made the enlargement during the photography course.

In the exhibition were a number of children's portraits. Representative of them was the picture "Mr Bear" showing a small boy holding a rabbit.

In addition to portraits there were nature studies and still life photographs on display.

Students contributing to the exhibition were Peggy Pearson, Jean Phillips, Mary Ann Hall, Anderson, Florence Ginn, Virginia Wentz, Janet Young, Lucille Barr, Barbara Schuman, Medora Van Fleet Brown, Lucile Barr, and Juanita Cooper.

Ornithologist Will Talk February 12

Bert Harwell, well known ornithologist, will give a college lecture February 12, at 8:15 in the Conradi Little theatre.

His subject will be "Out-of-Doors" is the title of his lecture. During his talk he will present brief motion demonstrations, and project some movies of birds on the screen.

The lecture is open to everyone and there is no admission charge.

Dr Towner to Talk

Dr Walter Towner, former director of national youth organization, will address the assembly and will speak to students from Florida State College and other Methodist youth people of the Tallahassee District Wednesday night at Trinity Methodist church.

Dr Towner has had a number of series in major Florida cities "Traveling at the Speed of the rallies will be Martha Jane Brown, Florida State student and president of the Florida conference of Methodist youth; Bob Mallick of Florida State College; the Rev Robert Boggs of Tallahassee, conference director and the Rev Warren Willias of Dunnellon who will serve as rally song leader. Also present at the Tallahassee meeting will be Ann Cavalier, Alliance, FSC student.

Recreation and informal fellowship will be a part of the rally meeting as well as Dr Towner's talk on the subject of "We Stand With Thee."

Be Dance Wise!

Use Dance Wax

Seek it First at VAN-BRUNT & VON-ING

YON'S HARDWARE

Come see us for your Radio and Electrical needs . . . You may also send your personal messages on a record made on our professional recording machine 50c

RADIO & SOUND SERVICE

TALLAHASSEE

102 S. Monroe St. Ph. 98-W

Spirit, Unity Is Topic of Meeting

Sophomore Class Discusses Breakfast and Dance

An open discussion on class spirit highlighted the meeting of the sophomore class Tuesday afternoon in the Augusta Conradi theater, under the direction of Bo Peep Stell, class president.

In addition to conducting the open discussion in which various class members suggested devices to promote more class unity, Bo Peep reminded the sophomores about the forthcoming Sophomore-Senior breakfast, of which Harriet Kirk is chairman, and the class and College Government Association elections.

The meeting was then turned over to Nell Clark, chairman of Sophomore Hop, who announced that the formal will be held from 8 to 12 o'clock tomorrow night, February 10. According to Nell, it will be "a 50 stag or drag."

Urging all the sophomores to sign up on the bulletin board in the lower Westcott building to serve on one of the many committees, she stressed the need of help on the decorations. "We will be counting up the decorations. She added. "We will be counting them immediately after lunch tomorrow afternoon, and that all help would be greatly appreciated."

Health, Recreation Topic of PEA Talks

The regular monthly meeting of the Physical Education Association was held Wednesday night in the gymnasium. The program was called to order by the president, Margie Platt, and a discussion of Health, Recreation and Physical Education activities during the war was held. Miss Papazon and Babe Evans spoke about physical activities for girls. Plans discussed health and Miss Greenleaf gave a talked on the manner in which her class joined in a panel discussion of this subject.

In addition to the physical education majors and guests were introduced to the members. Dr Montgomery spoke about plans for summer camping and the contributions of the association to the war effort.

Announcements were made followed by a program under the direction of Marion Welch.

Seniors Learn of Map-Making Division

The seniors held their class meeting yesterday afternoon in Westcott Wesley.

During the meeting Mrs Olive Cross made an announcement concerning the organization of a division of the war department. She explained the opportunities offered by the map-making division to the students. These advantages include paid training, training for map-making at a salary of $2100 a year. The map-making course was not offered in this year, she explained, but previous training is not necessary.

Betty Lewis conducted the nomination for a new class president. Those nominated were Rachael Hall, Fegy Pemble, Mary Lee Withers. Primaries for this senate position will be held Tuesday and Friday will be the election in lower Westcott.

The three senior members for Jr-Sr Prom were voted for during the meeting.

Parker to Teach

Beginning this new semester Miss Edna Parker of Quincy, Florida, will become the second grade teacher at the demonstration school.

Before taking this position Miss Parker was the supervisor of supervisor of Martin County, Florida.

She received her master's degree in elementary education at Duke University in North Carolina.

Practices Start

Basswesturiar modern dance practices have begun. Those students who have had modern dance previously and who are interested in dancing in the Spring Concert on April 6, are asked to contact Miss Margaret Clements, instructor in physical education.

Wednesday Begins '45 Lenten Season

The Canterbury Club will begin the 1945 Lenten season with the celebration on Holy Communion on Ash Wednesday, February 14, at 7:45. The Rev Allin Bullen will be the celebrant.

Special Lenten forums will be held at Ruge Hall, with members of the clergy in Florida taking part during this season which lasts for 40 days beginning Ash Wednesday.

The Right Rev Arthur Lea of St Paul's by the Sea, Jacksonville Beach, will be the first guest speaker on February 18 at 8 o'clock. His topic will be "St Paul, the Man."

The Young People's Service League is planning a Pancake Supper at Ruge Hall on Shrove Tuesday, February 13. Price of the supper is 50 cents. All students and faculty of Florida State College are invited to attend.

Modern Dance Will Be Competitive

Odd-Even modern dance will be a open this year in which the dance groups will be selected on a competitive basis.

Miss Margaret L Clements, instructor in physical education, will be the faculty advisor of both Odds and Evens, with Margie Platt, leader of the Odds and Ann Wiersdall, leader of the Evens.

Tentative plans are to present the dances at Florida State March 10. Part of the program will consist of a series of dance techniques in which all who have their practice points will participate. This will be equivalent to class passes in other sports and will require 11 practice points as the other sports of the season.

For the Odd-Even dances each team will decide on theme which will be developed as a group or a series of shorter dances.

To judge the dances there will be members of the faculty staff and possibly alumnae.

No previous experience in dance is required and the sport is open to everyone, Miss Clements said. The Evens will practice on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays and the Odds on Tuesday's Thursdays and Fridays.

History Group Sees Floridiana Library

Pi Alpha Theta history honorary society, met Thursday evening in the home of Dr Mary Bodi, head of the Rockefeller Foundation in this section, to see his library of Floridiana.

Dr Boyd has valuable maps, pamphlets, original water colors and sketches of early Florida history. His is the most extensive collection in Florida.

Miss Daisy Parker had charge of the meeting and those attending were Edna Jenson, Cleo Sapp, Frances Hines, Mary Nell Pinkston and Mary Florence Fox.

Moon Speaks On Education

Reasons for Trend To General Education

Dr Robert C Moon, director of curriculum, spoke before the Faculty Study Group on Curriculum Modification Tuesday evening in the lounge of the Student-Alumnae building. He presented some ideas and conclusions reached in a group of educators he recently met at the University of Chicago to discuss and analyze problems of modern education.

Dr Moon chose as the subject for discussion General Education, which he said, "like ancient Gaul" would be treated under three heads, namely: Reasons for the trends towards General Education; definition of General Education; and the valid objectives of General Education.

He gave as some reasons for the trend toward General Education such factors as changes in the student body, changes in social, economic conditions and changes in the aims of education.

Defining General Education, Dr Moon suggested that there might be two ways of examining it: first, as education made available to all the people regardless and, second, to a type of education universally valid for all people regardless of creed. The individual possessed of general education, declared Dr Moon, effectively equipped for living. Inherent in the idea of general education is that of specific discipline as in subject matter courses the individual acquires the qualities of presentappreciation, optimization the unity for meaningful coherent patterns of thought; and reflective thought and patterns built through optimization.

The objectives of general education as discussed by Dr Moon are the self-realization of the individual, the development of the individual in human relationship; the development of the individual as a responsible citizen; and development of the individual as a worker.

In the discussion which followed Dr Moon's talk, several interesting ideas were brought out. Dr Barry P White inquired if provision was made for students desiring for character building in the program. Dr Pitner suggested that before more was done in regard to curriculum revision it might be wise to examine the results of that already participated in by students of the college. Dr Mary Bodi stated her idea that the problems of college education would be faced in terms of student needs.

Dean Sanders presented the suggestion that each club should be allowed to choose the field or area of knowledge in which their duties and talents and within that field choose a term of study.

The general conclusions were that there are certain areas of knowledge necessary for enrichment of life and certain abilities common to all which are necessary for living. The function of the faculty is to organize courses which will provide the best instruction possible therein.

Party Plans Made

Playnight committee is making plans for a George Washington Birthday Party for February 17.

Tentative plans for the program include Jerry Halpern, singing Ida Lee Rentz, giving a reading and the tap dancing class giving a dance.

Just What You Want!

New Spring Cotton and Rayon DRESSES at P. W. Wilson Co.

Progressive Senate

The Florida Flambeau

Progressive South

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Z 106

VOL. XXXII, No. 15 | Tallahassee, Florida | FEBRUARY 16, 1945

Student Senate to Continue Discussion of Trial Period In Meeting This Afternoon

Legislative Representatives Accept Committee Report Abolishing 12 O'Clock Rule Putting Students on Honor

Student Senate will continue discussion of having a trial period without a rule governing students' return from overnight absences when it meets this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The principle of the trial period was approved by Senate members at the meeting Monday. The acceptance came after discussion of a three-point program submitted by the Senate-appointed committee headed by Mary L White. The committee suggested the following three points:

1. That there should be a trial period without a rule governing students' return from over-night absences for one college year, winter session.

2. That the Student Senate should elect a person in each housing unit to keep the record of the girls returning between the hours of 11 p m and 7 a m and the reason why they returned at this time.

3. That, at the end of the trial period, a report should be made to Student Senate which would include the records kept during that year. This informatoin would be compiled and presented to Student Senate in the first quarter of the following winter session. The report would then be sent to College Council for its decision. College Council would pass the report and their decision to the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs for approval.

A Senator, during the discussion of basing college government on principle rather than regulation, asked what principle the student body would be living up to under the trial period. It was stated that the trial period would permit the college to get away

Continued on Page Two

Campbell Expresses Opinion on System

Quarter Idea Divides Year, Desirable for Students

In a recent interview on the quarter system, Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College, stated that the system is desirable from the standpoint of the student because of the way in which it divides the school year. Examinations for the first quarter would come at the beginning of the Christmas holidays, spring examinations in time for spring holidays; and under the plan, the summer quarter would be just like the other three. The quarter system saves a great deal of confusion in regard to the transfer of credits.

From the standpoint of the College Administration, there are [illegible] advantages, but the main [illegible] is that if the college is to [illegible] school the year round, all [illegible] should be administered under the same plan. Many schools have developed a plan of [illegible] weeks to a quarter, but probably most of these will discard this action as undesirable.

Dr Campbell also feels that most of the objections raised to the system are based on objection to change rather than to the quarter system itself. He does [illegible] though, that the most important disadvantage of the system is in having to register more often.

Wilgus to Lecture Here February 22

Dr A Curtis Wilgus, professor of Hispanic American history at George Washington University and a consultant for the division of education of the office of coordinator of Inter-American affairs, will visit Florida State College February 22 and 23. He will give a lecture on "The New Pan-Americanism," or "The Good Neighbor Policy in Transition," at [illegible] on February 22.

The next day Dr Wilgus will speak to various classes and other groups on the following topics: Democracy and Dictatorships in Latin America; Cultural Cooperation with Latin America; What Should the Teacher of Spanish Know About Latin America in Order to Develop Proper Attitudes?; Historical Background of Latin America and Understanding Latin America.

2383 Students Enroll at FSCW

Large Registration Places College Second in U S

A total enrollment of 2383 students at Florida State College this semester exceeds that of last semester by 143, placing Florida State College second in enrollment among all other state colleges in the country, according to the latest statistics received from the Registrar's office. Texas State College for Women is rated first, but Florida State College has been gaining steadily on them for the past three years.

The College of Arts and Sciences has the largest number of students enrolled with 1454 as compared to 1394 of last semester. An increase of 56 more students are enrolled in the School of Education, making a total of 510 this semster, while the School of Home Economics has a slight decrease in student enrollmeot amounting to 8 students less than the 293 students enrolled last semester. Increasing their total this semester is the School of Music with 110 students having having entered.

According to the statistics stat-

Continued on Page Two

Brotherhood Week Will Be Observed

Rabbi Goldman Reveals Plans For February 18 to 25

Brotherhood week, February 18 through 25, will be observed by Florida State College as well as the city of Tallahassee, according to Rabbi Alex Goldman, partial director of the week's activities. In keeping with Tallahassee's program, the college will observe the week which is in its twelfth year of sponsorship by the Nahional Conference of Christians and Jews.

Plans for observing the week include a proclamation by Dr Doak S Campbell, president of the college, as to the purposes and aims of the week.

A special radio program to be presented from the college studio in celebration of National Brotherhood Week has been scheduled for next Tuesday evening at 8:15.

The program, arranged in cooperation with the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation, headed by Rabbi Alex J Goldman, who is a member of the Religious Workers' Council of the college, will present the Catholic, Jewish and Protestant views of brotherhood. Ann Parker, Geraldine Halpern, and Isabel Rogers are the speakers. Leah Setzer, pianist, will play the beginning and ending themes.

Space on the editorial pages of the Flambeau will be given to editorials by three staff members of varied faiths, and news space will include the proclamations.

Various denominational groups will hold discussions and have been asked to invite other groups to attend their religious services. Every college group meeting during Brotherhood observance is asked by Rabbi Goldman to discuss some particular phase of the spirit of the week. The topic "The Place of Religious Youth in a Lasting Peace" has been suggested.

Distaff Delayed

The Distaff which was scheduled to appear last Saturday will come out this week-end. According to Elizabeth McFarland, editor, the delay was due to printing difficulties.

Plans for the next issue will begin immediately, and the deadline will be announced later. Elizabeth stressed the need for more student contributions to the magazine in the future. She said that there has been some exchange of magazines with other colleges in the past, but that from now on this will be a regular custom.

Time Marches On—But FSCW Clocks Are Out of Step

Time marches on here at Florida State College, but the clocks on campus are not in step.

Assuming that the clock in Westcott is correct, the Science building clock is three minutes behind time. Trailing the Science building clock by four minutes is the clock in the recreation room of the Student Alumnae building which is followed three later by the Education building's timepiece.

Over in Landis Hall the clocks in the rooms differ even though there is a big electric clock in each floor. According to her clock, Isabel Rogers is about 20 minutes early to class and in keeping her appointments, while Margaret Pridy is probably ten minntes late

Continued on Page Four

College Paper Is Suspended

Editor Faces Expulsion For Race Editorial

An editorial dealing with the race question this week brought about temporary suspension of the Flat Hat, student newspaper of William and Mary college, and may bring expulsion of its co-ed writer.

According to Associated Press reports of Monday, possibility still loomed that Marilyn Kaemmerle, student editor, might be suspended for her authorship.

President John Pomfret, has said that a statement of administrative policy toward the formerly uncensored publication would be given soon, following a faculty meeting Tuesday. Asked about the suspension of the student writer, he added "That's part of the matter I am studying."

"There will be no Flat Hat this week," he continued, saying that it had been temporarily suspended. He said that the faculty would be more concerned with "setting up some editorial supervision of tha paper" than with anything else.

The college board of trustees, meeting Saturday in Richmond, expressed "thorough disapproval and condemnation" and directed the college administration and faculty to take corrective and disciplinary action.

At a mass meeting Monday, the

Continued on Page Four

Mortar Board Plans To Entertain Army

Mortar Board plans a trip to Camp Gordon Johnston next Sunday afternoon for the purpose of entertaining the army personnel stationed there.

Betty Lewis, Mortar Board member in charge, states that although the plans are not definite as yet, a general program has been outlined.

Corinne Johnston will serve as mistress of ceremonies, and a vocal trio, a piano solo, and an accordian selection will be featured. "It is hoped," Betty said, "that we will be able to have a community sing following the regular program."

Zeta Phi Eta, speech honorary, will accompany Mortar Board to the camp and present a series of original skits for the men.

Ten members of Senior hall will be guests of Mortar Board and take the trip with them.

Bicycling and "Hair-Do's" Concerned FSC Girl of 1930

By PATRICIA HILL

A survey of campus affairs in 1930 would result in a display of problems and occurrences similar to those we experience today. This can probably be blamed on the fact that, perhaps unfortunately, girls always have been and undoubtedly always will be girls.

One month there was a startling rumor that a sleepwalker was making the rounds every night, entering rooms, walking about a bit, and then silently leaving. Many of the freshmen frantically barricaded their doors with trunks and chairs, as locking them was against regulations. But the somnambulist finally turned out to be purely mythical.

The week before an important prom, the Flambeau in all seriousness offered several shall helpful hints to tha girls. "To be popular at a dance a girl must: Always begin some confidential story when she sees a boy coming to break so that she can keep them coming back: Compliment tha boy about anything—his choice of ties, the properous red of his nose, the gentle way he steps on her feet, anything.'"

The bicycle fad made its appearance late in 1930 when a group of seven girls made a "daring expedition" to the woods on these "two-wheeled apparatuses" and a glorious time was had by all. After this initial tryout "velocipede outings" were quite popular. Many of the girls earned money

Continued on Page Four

Tickets Will Be Available

Mia Slavenska and Partner Appear Here March 7

Reserved tickets on the blue series for the forthcoming Artist Series program may be obtained February 22 through 28, with the exception of Saturday and Sunday, from 4 to 8 o'clock in the Student-Alumnae building, according to Mr Karl O Kuersteiner, dean of the school of music.

Appearing on the program of March 7, which will be held at 8.15 in Westcott auditorium, are Mia Slavenska, Yugoslavian ballet dancer, and her partner, David Tihmar, a native of Oklahoma.

Born in Yugoslavia at the crossroads of Occidental and Oriental culture, Mia Slavenska is typically Slavic. Having won the Dance Olympia in 1938, competing with representatives of 14 other nations, Miss Slavenska became known throughout Europe as "the dancer of the era." She was introduced to the United States and Canada in 1938 in conjunction with her French film "Ballerina."

"My wish to become a dancer must have been planted in me by my mother, for she loved tha theater. Still, my father permitted me to take my dancing lessons only because I was so tiny and delicate that a form of exercise proved to be very necessary. I took my first lesson when I was four years old and I cried all night many times because my teacher was so fat. I couldn't believe it was possible fo much a fat person to be a dancer," Miss Slavenska declared. When asked about her favorite role, she will name "Giselle" as her choice.

Her partner, David Tihmar, has danced in numerous and varied American productions and in 1942-1943 joined the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo as they toured North and South America. Mr Tihmar's debut took place at the Hollywood Bowl in Adolph Bohm's "Ballet Mechanique," and in the summers of 1943 and 1944 he had the dancing lead in the Broadway run of the musical comedy "Oklahoma." He has starred in numerous American motion pictures, some of the more famous being "One Night of Love," with Grace Moore; "Firefly" and "Bittersweet" with Jeannette MacDonald; "The Great Waltz" with Miliza Korjus; "Pride and Prejudice" with Greer Garson; and "Broadway Melody," with Eleanor Powel. Mr Tihmar states that he is interested in all forms of dance, but he also excels in track and swimming.

Passion Play To Be Given

Life of Christ Portrayed By Play Coming Here

The original Black Hills Passion Play will be presented in Leon High school auditorium February 18 through February 21. Sponsored in Tallahassee by the Lions Club, the Passion Play is said to be the world's largest stage production, being supported by a cast of 100.

Josef Meier has achieved wide notice for his outstanding portrayal of the "Christus." Now a citizen of the United States Meier is a native of Germany and has been trained since childhood to enact the leading role of the Passion Play. He has appeared before more than 5,000 audiences in Europe, United States, and Canada, having brought the pro-

Continued on Page Four

Memorial Service To Be Held Tuesday

Classes Will Pay Respects To President-Emeritus

In commemoration of the late President-Emeritus Edward Conradi's birthday, a short devotional service will be held in convocation Tuesday, February 20. Afterwards, Frances Myers, secretary of the College Government Association Council, announced that each class, freshman, sophomore, junior, senior, will pay their respects to the President-Emeritus with a donation of flowers bought with money from the class treasuries. Flowers will be placed in the First Presbyterian church the following Sunday.

Dr Conradi, who died December 1 of this year, served as head of Florida State College for 32 years. Until 1941 he served as president of the school and later as president emeritus until his death. Among other honoraries, he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi.

Plans for the devotional were made by executive council this week and all members of the student body are asked to attend the special service in convocation next Tuesday.

Seniors Apply

Seniors must make applications for their degrees and return them by February 24 to the Registrar's office. No diplomas can be issued until this is done. Orders for invitations to graduation must be placed in the Book Store by March 10. These invitations are expected to arrive approximately two weeks before graduation.

Bert Harwell Gives Lecture

Music Out-of-Doors Is Surveyed by Speaker

Mr Bert Harwell, western representative of the Audubon Society, in his lecture and movies at the Augusta Conradi theatre last Tuesday night brought a survey of "Music Out-of-Doors" to the audience.

He began his program by whistling several numbers to his own piano accompaniment. These included MacDowel's "To a Wild Rose," "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," "Indian Love Call," and his own composition, "A Thrush Lullaby." His whistling was characterized by canary-like trills and other devices used by birds.

Mr Harwell also imitated several bird calls corresponding to the C of each piano octave. These included the chickadee, white-throated sparrow, waxwing, ruby-crown kinglet, golden-crown kinglet, for the highest C, the flicker and woodpecker for the next C, the burrowing owl and bob-white for the next C, the dove, bard owl and roadrunner for the octave about middle C which, according to Mr Harwell, is "where children laugh and talk."

For middle C which is "where woman talk," Mr Harwell imitated the call of the horned owl and for the octave below middle C "where men talk," the grouse. The next C was exemplified by the sound made by pigs. The lowest C on the piano was represented by the call of the blue heron.

Movies of birds and wild plant and animal life in Kings Canyon National Park concluded the program.

Mr Harwell was born in Sequoia National Park. He has been a representative for the Audubon Society for the past five years. Prior to that time he lived and worked in Yosemite National Park for 11 years.

Clark Gable Will Narrate Movie Here

Letter from Bataan, Dover Will Also Be Shown

Clark Gable will be the narrator of "Wings Up", one of the films on the program to be presented in the Augusta Conradi Little theater Saturday night at 8 o'clock and Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock by the War Activities Committee. "Letter From Bataan" is the other feature and "Dover," a short subject, will also be shown. The International Relations Club headed by Virginia Holmes, president, is sponsoring the program this week.

"Wings Up" is the story of an officer candidate at the Army Air Forces School in Miami Beach. The experiences and activities of the men who go to Officers' Candidate School are portrayed in film, narrated by Captain Clark Gable, a graduate of OCS, and

Continued on Page Four

Liberalism of the South Is Affirmed By Carleton In Address Tuesday Night

"In Re That Conservative South" Is Speaker's Topic; Audience Composed of AAUW Members, Guests, Students Hear Talk

Regardless of all the weapons which the conservatives are able to employ they have never been able to detach the South from the popular front which is slowly and surely bringing social democracy to the United States. So said Dr William G Carleton, from the University of Florida, Gainesville, at the February meeting of the American Association of University Women, held Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the Student-Alumnae building.

In speaking of his topic, which was termed "In Re That Conservative South", Dr Carleton said that he felt some trepidation because of the sensitiveness of native Southerners, but he had been in the South for over twenty years and had obtained first hand information from traveling over much of the South. Dr Carleton, who is professor of political science at the University as well as chairman of the social sciences of tha General College, recently toured the army camps lecturing under sponsorship of the War Department.

Limiting his speech to the political aspects of the conservative South, Dr Carleton related facts to show that during presidential campaigns, speculations of a revolt in the conservative South are made. These speculations have fallen through and the South has always gone Democratic except on one occasion, the election of 1928. The real cause for these false predictions, he declared, comes from a wide spread misconception of Southern politics. It was the South which fought longest and hardest against industrial capitalism and today is most conscious of monopolistic capitalism. Fundamental liberalism began in the South as an agrarian movement. It was the spirit of Bryanism which made possible the New Nationalism of Theodore Roosevelt and the New

Continued on Page Two

Petitions Are Due Sunday

Qualifications, Snapshot Also to Be Given

Petitions for candidacy to College Government offices must be handed in by 11 p m Sunday, February 18, according to Isabel Rogers, chairman of tha nominations committee. They should be turned in to Isabel at 229 Landis.

Together with these petitions, which must have the signatures of 25 students for a major office and ten for a minor office, prospective officers must submit a statement of their qualifications and a snapshot.

The blanks for these statements can be obtained from Isabel. Stressing that no student may endorse more than one petition for the same office, Isabel said, "A qualified student may submit a petition for a major and a minor office, both of which should be accompanied by a statement of qualifications and a snapshot. If defeated for the major office, she automatically becomes a candidate for the minor office."

Petitions will be filed in the office of the Dean of Students within two days after the nominations committe has received them. Data concerning the candidates will be submitted to the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs February 20 and considered by the following Sunday.

Upon recommendation of the Faculty Committee, the nominations committee will ask for further petitions from the students or will request that those bodies best acquainted with persons eligible present additional nominations. When approval has been accorded by the Faculty Committee, nominations for office will be announced.

Elections will begin March 15. Each prospective office will spend two hours during the period March 7-13 in a candidates' booth in order to answer questions concerning her platform and opinions.

Day Students Plan Pin-Up Boy Contest

The Day Students' organization is sponsoring a pin-up boy contest, February 20 and 21. The contest, which is open to college students, faculty and staff, is being given for the purpose of selling war bonds and stamps.

Pictures of male friends and relatives may be entered in the contest any time between two and six o'clock Tuesday, February 20 at the voting booth to be set up in lower Westcott. Any size photograph is acceptable and any number may be entered with the purchase of one ten cent war stamp per photograph.

Voting will begin nine o'clock Wednesday morning, February 21, at the same booth and will continue until six o'clock that evening. Voting will be done by the purchase of war stamps and bonds. The denomination of the stamp or bond purchased will determine the number of votes cast for the prospective pin-up boy.

Photographs will be on display for voting and the Day Students' organization, headed by Mary Burney Geiger, assumes full responsibility for the care of the photographs entered Photographs may be reclaimed at the booth from six to nine o'clock Wednesday or in the student lounge in the Student-Alumnae building on Thursday.

Pin-up boys winning first, second and third place will be announced in the Flambeau on February 23 and pictures displayed on the main floor of the SAB for one week with the consent of the owner.

Officials Are Asked To Judge Contest

World Citizenship Is Theme Of Oratorical Contest

Five prominent state and out-of-state officials have been asked to be judges in the finals of oratorical contest announced last week by the campus Student World Activities Council. The contest, sponsored jointly by tha SWAC and the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation, is open to all students and will hold finals April 25.

Judges asked are Senator Claude Pepper, Secretary of State R A Gray, Supreme Court Chief Justice R H Chapman, Judge Oscar S Caplan of Chicago, and President Doak S Campbell of FSC.

"World Citizenship: Challange to Complacency" is the general theme of the contest. Talks may be on any subject related to the general theme, and are to be approximately 800 words or 8 minutes long.

Grand prizes will be awarded publicly in an evening program on April 25. Prizes are to be three sterling silver cups, to be engraved with the names of the winners.

All campus organizations will be contacted, and their members asked to participate, both as organization candidates and individuals. Semi-finals will be held April 17 and 18, and deadline for entries is April 10. Information may be obtained through Cordelia Barclay, SWAC chairman, or Virginia Holmes, secretary.

French Commandante To Talk Wednesday

Lt Jacques Varr-Nason, commandante of the French Air Forces at Tyndall Field, Florida, is to visit Florida State College, Wednesday, February 21.

The commandante will speak in English at 8 p m in the Augusta Conradi theatere. He will speak in French to all French students at a time to be announced at a later date.

Lt Vaar-Nason will discuss the effects of the German invasion on France and the reactions of the French people to the [illegible] military and diplomatic [illegible]

"I think he will [illegible] sonal experiences in [illegible]" said Dr A R Sey[illegible] of modern languages, who [illegible] arranged for the [illegible] to speak. "It should be [illegible]teresting."

Miss Andrews Watches Beginnings of FSC Traditions Including College Government, Dance Steps, and Sports

By DOLORES PAPY

In her association with Florida State College and its students for 32 years, Miss Mamie Andrews, former director of Reynolds and East Hall before its burning in 1920, has many cherished memories of her experiences at the college. Living now in Reynolds annex, Miss Andrews enjoys visiting and sharing these memories of FSC with "her girls."

On first coming here in February of 1813, Miss Andrews was house mother at East Hall, one of the first dormitories to be built on campus, located on the site of the present Science building.

During her first year at FSC many campus organizations were beginning to form, among them the Student Government association with Miss Hallie Deaton, now Mrs John Choate of Tallahassee, as its first president.

A church service on a certain chilly Sunday morning stands out in the memory of Miss Andrews. The fire alarm was sounded as whispered cries spread throughout the church at the closing of the service that East Hall was afire.

Hurrying to the scene of disaster she was relieved to find that no one had been injured, but the situation was grave with the complete loss of personal belongings by 30 girls, and many of her own possessions were burned, too.

After the fire Miss Andrews, with 18 students, moved temporarily to a home on Jefferson street, now owned by Miss "Sallie" Williams, until further accommodations could be made.

After moving to Reynolds' Hall in 1921, Miss Andrews has noted many changes that heve taken place in the gradual laxity of house rules and restrictions, and the changes made in the daily routine and life of the students.

In giving a brief overall picture of the time of middy blouses and navy skirts, a vigorous college day would start at the sound of the 7 o'clock whistle with a mad scramble to breakfast. Chapel at 8 a m was attended by everyone and classes began at 8:10.

"Hines" was then the Spic and Span or the Sweet Shop of 1914. Here girls sipped drinks and chatted between classes," said Miss Andrews, as she compared them with the students of today.

A typical dinner composed of bean soup, creamed chipped-beef, rice, and greens was served promptly at 8 o'clock after which the girls adjourned to class meetings. Summoned to their books by the 7:15 study bell, all was supposedly deep concentration until the signal was given at 10 o'clock for "lights out."

Large groups of girls and a chaperone were necessary factors for a shopping tour or trip to the movies in the afternoons. Only under vowed promises to return to a designated place at a specific time would Miss Andrews or other chaperones allow the girls to seperate.

Miss Andrews has amusingly watched the change take place in the dancing steps from the time of the hesitation, Castle walk, fish walk, tango, rag, to the Charleston and now the even more modern lindy hop or jitterbugging.

"Among the other gradual changes that have been made concern the sports program," Miss Andrews added. "Before the days of Odd-Even rivalry, Field Day was the climax in the annual sports season when classes challenged each other in such events as tug-of-war, relays, jumping contests, and in basketball and baseball games. All would look forward to this eventful day and after the races would depart tired, hungry, and happy girls."

FSC Professor Receives Mail from Friend in Spain

When the American battleship, Oklahoma, weighed anchor at 4 o'clock on a morning in August, 1936, and steamed out of the harbor of the Bay of Rio de Janeiro, she carried in addition to her crew a number of passengers, including Dr Burks and Mrs. Burks, professor of Spanish, and a young Canadian named William Gibbons, whose departure from warring Spain she had helped to arrange.

Back at the University in Spain tander where Dr Burks had been studying remained her friend, Miss Carlina Rodriguez Castellano, from whom she received a letter this fall. Miss Castellano was formerly a teacher of Spanish at Barnard and incidentally the sister of one of the brothers of the first-year Spanish grammar studied last year at Florida State College.

During the early part of the civil war, Miss Castellano came to America, and even though a cripple she returned to Spain, by way of France, when the war was at its worst in the hope that she could be of some help to her people. Last spring she wrote a letter from Spain which reached Dr Burks after a delay of 2 years, stamped, and delayed a great deal. The following is an excerpt from the letter:

"I don't know where to begin to tell you about my life nor what to tell you, because it all lacks interest, and it is not prudent to write of that which is interesting, not about the chances which have taken place since the summer you were here. This is natural, given the circumstances and considering the effects of the bloody civil war that Spain has endured.

"I spent two very agreeable years in France and came to Spain when the worst effects of the war were beginning to be felt. The first year here was neither new nor memorable, sickness, scarcity of necessities, etc. It was like coming from skiing to frying pan into the fire, and almost I longed to be living in France, as I had become accustomed to it all and it is besides very easy to be able to visit their family in the north of Spain.

"For more than a year I have been working in the library of the Embassy of the United States, and I assure you that I could not ask for work that pleased me more. I am enchanted to be again among Americans, to speak with them, to read books and magazines from that beloved country. . . Besides I have my Spanish classes for I have not entirely lost my nationality. These also are very agreeable because I give them in the same building where the library is, in an annex of the Embassy, and the pupils are young Americans who work at the Office of War Information.

"At time I think that I have neither the right nor the deserve to enjoy so many blessings, such as my job and my classes in addition to my tiny apartment and my good aunt who lives with me and makes life easy and pleasant.

"It will please you, doubtless, to hear something of the literary and cultural life at this time. Of the former there is little or nothing to be said. It seems that we are in a period of decadence. As to the cultural side it can be said that we are very well off because culture is all controlled by the church (Catholic) in all phases of education. . . Religious education is obligatory from the kindergarten through the last year of the University. . ."

Dr Burks was in Spain twice during the life of the Spanish Republic. It was established April 14, 1931, and Dr Burks and her mother went to Spain in August of the same year. While they were in San Tiago de Campos Tela, which is in Galecia in the northwestern part of Spain, they began to notice social changes which had taken place since the overthrow of the monarchy.

It was customary for the "paseo" to be held at the time of day when the most people could put on their best clothes and stroll around chatting with friends unmindful of the band playing. When Dr Burks had been in Spain the last time, it had been the aristocrats and people of the middle class who patronized the "paseo." But in 1931 it seemed to her that the "paseo" was very motley with the people of the middle class and aristocracy absent. Later she discovered that they had merely been pushed up the hill further away from the band. The Spanish people themselves didn't seem to be very aware of the change, for Dr Burks' friends told her that there were "no difference."

In June, 1936, Dr Burks and Miss Lucy Lester, professor of French, returned to Spain to find the country in the pre-Revolution stages. That was 19 months ahead of the Non-Intervention Conference and resolved not to infer with the Spanish civil war. Italy and Germany, however, elected to send troops and ammunition to aid the forces of Franco, while the democracies, even the Republicans although they were severely handicapped in aiding them because everything they sent had to be flown over the mountains.

In Spain that year Dr Burks witnessed examples of the depression which was being felt in many parts of the world at that time. A friend of hers in Madrid invited her to one of the more aristocratic clubs. They sat down at the sidewalk cafe and ordered slightly refreshments. But instead of being served by beggars—a sight so depressing that they left without eating any thing.

The Spanish Revolution began on July 18, 1936 at which time Dr Burks was at the University in Santander. Shortly after the Revolution began, she made a long letter from the American Consulate in Bilbao, Spain, and on and about not sending money through the mail, but the last paragraph which told her that she could be of some help to her people. Last spring she wrote a letter from Spain which reached Dr Burks after a delay of 2 years, stamped, and delayed a great deal. The following is an excerpt from the letter:

"I don't know where to begin to tell you about my life nor what to tell you, because it all lacks interest, and it is not prudent to write of that which is interesting, not about the chances which have taken place since the summer you were here. This is natural, given the circumstances and considering the effects of the bloody civil war that Spain has endured.

"I spent two very agreeable years in France and came to Spain when the worst effects of the war were beginning to be felt. The first year here was neither new nor memorable, sickness, scarcity of necessities, etc. It was like coming from skiing frying pan into the fire, and almost I longed to be living in France, as I had become accustomed to it all and it is besides very easy to be able to visit the family in the north of Spain.

"For more than a year I have been working in the library of the Embassy of the United States, and I assure you that I could not ask for work that pleased me more. I am enchanted to be again among Americans, to speak with them, to read books and magazines from that beloved country. . . Besides I have my Spanish classes for I have not entirely lost my nationality. These also are very agreeable because I give them in the same building where the library is, in an annex of the Embassy, and the pupils are young Americans who work at the Office of War Information.

"At time I think that I have neither the right nor the deserve to enjoy so many blessings, such as my job and my classes in addition to my tiny apartment and my good aunt who lives with me and makes life easy and pleasant.

"It will please you, doubtless, to hear something of the literary and cultural life at this time. Of the former there is little or nothing to be said. It seems that we are in a period of decadence. As to the cultural side it can be said that we are very well off because culture is all controlled by the church (Catholic) in all phases of education. . . Religious education is obligatory from the kindergarten through the last year of the University. . ."

Dr Burks was in Spain twice during the life of the Spanish Republic. It was established April 14, 1931, and Dr Burks and her mother went to Spain in August of the same year. While they were in San Tiago de Campos Tela, which is in Galecia in the northwestern part of Spain, they began to notice social changes which had taken place since the overthrow of the monarchy.

It was customary for the "paseo" to be held at the time of day when the most people could put on their best clothes and stroll around chatting with friends unmindful of the band playing. When Dr Burks had been in Spain the last time, it had been the aristocrats and people of the middle class who patronized the "paseo." But in 1931 it seemed to her that the "paseo" was very motley with the people of the middle class and aristocracy absent. Later she discovered that they had merely been pushed up the hill further away from the band. The Spanish people themselves didn't seem to be very aware of the change, for Dr Burks' friends told her that there were "no difference."

In June, 1936, Dr Burks and Miss Lucy Lester, professor of French, returned to Spain to find the country in the pre-Revolution stages. That was 19 months ahead of the Non-Intervention Conference and resolved not to infer

Plays to Be Given On Southern Theme

Hunt, Norman to Cast And Direct Plays for AAUW

In conjunction with the Tallahassee branch of the American Association of University Women's program theme, "The South Today," The Florida State College speech department will present two one-act plays on March 7 for AAUW members and their guests, according to Miss Evelyn Hunt, assistant professor of speech.

Carrying out the theme these two plays, "Pink and Patches" and "No Count Boy," for which the casts will be announced next week, will be directed by students, Bonnie Hunt and Sarah Norman, respectively. The former's written by Marzaret Bland, portrays the life of the Tennessee mountain people; while the latter by Paul Green uses a colored cast and takes as his setting rural North Carolina.

In addition to these plans, Miss Norman announced that "The Purple Door-knob" by Walter Prichard Eaton, another one-act play, will be ready for presentation at a later date. Student director, Marianne Petty, will be in charge of this production, which will also be presented in the Augusta Conradi theater.

Liberalism of the South Is Affirmed

Continued From Page One

Land of Franklin Roosevelt. It was the "poor folk" of the South that he was pondering' election years of Woodrow Wilson, Andrew Jackson, and Thomas Jefferson and the ideas for which they stood. The speaker declared.

Thomas Jefferson was for his part a liberal who espoused Dr Carleton. He had faith in the common man, and hatred for any type of privileged and monopolistic classes. He built a philosophy for the thing he wanted to do which was to protect the common man. As Dr Carleton believed that this could be done by states rights and individualism.

"If Jefferson were here today, his fine Italian mind would discern the progress of the industrial and business revolutions of the past century had made necessary a degree of control greater than ever-changing end—the advancement of the common man. He would be among the first to recognize the need to bring the vast financial and industrial combinations of today under democratic control. Jefferson would fit his rationale to his fundamental purposes, and today he could be an advocate of more government, not less," he said.

Jefferson, he pointed out, would be amused if he could see conservative industrialists draining canals in his name. "Jefferson, the friend of the French Revolution of Tom Paine and of the oppressed and exploited and handicapped—!"

The idea of conservatism in the South meant the speaker said, after reconstruction. It was a time when the whole country was feeling inclined toward conservatism. The South spread rapidly. Since then there have been two distinct wings in the democratic party; the liberal wing with picturesque, emotional demi-gods like Ben Tillman of South Carolina in contrast to the picturesque but more conventional men like Charles Aycock of South Carolina; and the conservative wing which for the past 50 years has carried only a minority faction.

Why these conservatives remain in the Democratic party, according to Dr Carleton is "because they know that the moment they seceded they would diminish their political influence. They cannot carry a sizeable following with them." He added that "Many liberal Democrats in the South would actually like to see these conservatives go over to the Republican party. This would sharpen the issues. This would decrease conservative influence and make it easier for 'real Democrats' to win in the primaries."

Adventure! Thrills!

WAR ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

presents

CLARK GABLE

In

"WINGS UP"

—Double Feature—

"LETTER FROM BATAAN"

Added Short: "Dover"

Feb. 17-18 Sat.—8:00 PM Sun.—5:00 PM

FREE! 50-Minute Program

AUGUSTA CONRADI THEATER

Sponsored by

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

Professor's Son Owns Miniature Towns, Constructed in Five Years By Father

Eleven year old Donald Shankweiler already a land owner. He is the possessor of two miniature towns—a city and a country—which have been constructed over a period of almost five years by his father Dr F W Shankweiler, associate professor of sociology.

Lionel City, which rests on a platform approximately 5 1-2 feet by 1-2 feet, is built around a complicated electric train system. On the numerous tracks run the electric train which can be made to run forward or backward or changed by switches from one track to another. The powerful little engine with its revolving wheels has a tiny bright headlight, and a whistle. When it nears the crossing with the highway bells begin to tingle, a red light blinks, and the gate descends across the road of the road. Beside the tracks is the usual railroad crossing sign with its warning "Watch for the Cars." Further down the tracks at a junction of rails is the electric red and green signal lights which blinks as the train nears the junction.

Various cars such as passenger, operation, gravity cars, and a derrick can be attached to the train. There is a coal car which will dump its contents when a button is pushed and a gasoline tank car with "SHELL" printed on its side.

Near the tracks at one point are the gasoline tanks. Further along the run is a waiting station covered with advertisements. Here stands a little lady waiting for the train. On the ideas for which they stood. The depot with a USO stand in front of it. A little further down the station is the depot cafe while in the opposite direction, between the tracks, is a busy car. Also near the station are the leaning trees which tower above the track and the train water tower with its hanging spout.

City Has Terminal

The train, however, is not the only means of travel in Lionel City. Not far from the depot is a modernistic bus terminal—a copy of the terminal in Tallahassee. On the street beside the bus station is a Greyhound bus headed toward Miami. On other streets in the city there are various trucks and cars. Under the streets are very skilfully concealed hundreds of wires which in addition to the electrical apparatus of the railroad system every home and building in the city is lighted. Viewed in a darkened room Lionel City is a gay and well illuminated metropolis.

One of the first buildings that was made is the city hall and police station which is modeled after the one in Gainesville. However, the majority of the buildings and homes are replicas of buildings in Tallahassee, although the plan of the city itself is original. Lionel City has everything from the church with its tall steeple, designed after the Presbyterian church of Tallahassee, to a slender skyscraper. In the bank building are dozens of tiny, pencil-sized offices with the names neatly printed on the tiny windows. The doors of the fire station stand open with the little red trucks ready to dash out. Over at the Ritz Theatre are two billboards which display the latest movie. The grocery store, an A & P, looks like it is probably a super market. The gasoline station is also a copy of the postoffice in Tallahassee, has a clock on the tower. At present the hotel is a little close to the railroad tracks and

Former FSC Girl Experiences Plane Trip With Actor

When Cary Grant flew to Tallahassee from New Orleans last week, he was accompanied by Miss Gloria Patterson, a student at FSC college last year. Miss Patterson was on the way to Thomasville to visit the hospital.

In relating the trip later, Gloria said that she was surprised that she had remained so calm with such a celebrity aboard. She told how friendly Mr Grant had been and how he was not at all self-conscious of attention. On getting off the plane, before he was mobbed by the girls who had heard of his arrival, he told her he hoped they would fly together again, and if ever she was in the West Coast not to fail to look him up.

Gloria obtained a position as hostess for National Airlines the end of this year. Since that time she has met several other celebrities on the plane.

Student Senate To Continue Discussion

Continued From Page One

from the policemen attitude by requiring a more mature performance on the part of the students.

It was suggested that a provision be made for gathering statistics on how many people are taking advantage of this facility. A suggestion was made that the personnel office file a complaint to the person gathering the statistics. A question arose as to whether the noise was being made by girls returning from overnight absences or by others who had been "locked out" or those out of their rooms for various other reasons. It was thought that by filing complaints, the sources of the noise could be determined.

If approved by College Council, the trial period will begin at the beginning of the winter session of next year and will continue for a year or longer, pending the action the College Council and the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs.

2383 Students Enroll at FSCW

Continued From Page One

ing the number of students enrolling from the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes. The freshman class is almost as large as the three other classes combined with 1076 girls enrolled. The sophomore class is next with 569, and the junior and senior classes both have 316 students registered.

Out of the 2240 students enrolled last semester 223 withdrawals were recorded by the Registrar's office. Eleven of the 223 who withdrew reentered at the opening of the second semester.

Montgomery Visits Five FSC Internees

Physical Education Majors Teach Over State

Dr Katherine Montgomery, director of physical education, left last Saturday on a visit to five physical education majors who, for the first time in the history of the department, are doing intern teaching in Florida High schools . The purpose of the visit was the coordination of all physical education internees.

All of the internees are seniors. Dr Montgomery announced. Carolyn Forehand is at Plant High, Tampa; Hester Hammond, at Fort Lauderdale High; Jessie Durden at Sanford High; Evelyn Berry, at Robert McLee, Jacksonville; and Aline Fountain, at Andrew Jackson, Jacksonville. Also interning, but allowed to remain in Tallahassee because of her campus duties, is Tech Pegram, teaching at the demonstration high school.

Two of the girls, Carolyn Forehand and Aline Fountain, are in schools in which former FSC students are now teaching. Among them are Burnell Mobley, at Plant High; Bessie Mobley, at Rich Smith, and Bernice "Bernie" Watson, at Andrew Jackson. According to Dr Montgomery, Bernie Walton is the person directly responsible for the initiation of internship of physical education majors in actual schools.

The physical education majors' class this year takes another "first," in the fact that it is the largest class ever enrolled by the department, Dr Montgomery added. Of the 65 majors in the group, including approximately 60 freshmen, as compared with a class of 45 last year.

Students Try Out Flambeau Positions

Worried gals, tapping typewriters, and many more besides, are more than the general confusion this week when putting out the Flambeau are typical scenes. Freshmen, sophomore, and junior writers for the paper are trying out for special positions on the paper.

Wrinkled brows and worried looks constitute the general appearance of the industrious workers as add editors and managing editors scurry about with an understanding smile and other practical suggestions to the girls trying out.

As editor this week was Judy Pepper who had working under her Peggy Kay, managing editor; May Alexander and Peggy Lou Thompson, as associate editors Papy, feature editor; Betty Dowd, sports editor and Shirley Pickerel, copy editor. Rachael Bail and Janet Pancoast retained their old positions of associate editors.

WTAL Present Tim Spanish Progra

Last Monday night at 7:3 "Let's Learn Spanish" went o the air for the first time.

This is the new radio progra presented over WTAL on Mo day, Tuesday and Wednesd nights at 7:30 by Time, sponsore by the modern language depar ment of Florida State Colle The purpose of this program i to provide the radio public wi an opportunity to learn Spanis at home.

The instructor of this radio st dience class is Senor Pepe Olive Joe Bishop, who is surprised t know that its name in Spanish i also Pepe Opisbo, is the repu sentative pupil of the class.

To accompany the spok Spanish, booklets are published ea interning, but allowed to remain to Tallahassee because of her campus duties, is Tech Pegram, teaching at the demonstration high school.

Two of the girls, Carolyn Forehand and Aline Fountain, are in schools in which former FSC students are now teaching. Among them are Burnell Mobley, at Plant High; Bessie Mobley, at Rich Smith, and Bernice "Bernie" Watson, at Andrew Jackson. According to Dr Montgomery, Bernie Walton is the person directly responsible for the initiation of internship of physical education majors in actual schools.

The physical education majors' class this year takes another "first," in the fact that it is the largest class ever enrolled by the department, Dr Montgomery added. Of the 65 majors in the group, including approximately 60 freshmen, as compared with a class of 45 last year.

Phone your Trailways Agent first . . .

When you plan your next necessary trip, phone your Trailways Agent for information first. Inquire about the fares and schedules. Arrange your trip accordingly, so that you and our service men and women may have a more comfortable and pleasant journey.

All Buses Leave UNION BUS STATION

Cor. Adams and Tenn. Ph. 76

TRAILWAYS NATIONAL BUS SYSTEM

Your Favorite Food at the M & N CAFE

- Sandwiches
- Sea Food
- Dinners
- Steaks
- Chili

If wishes were horses...

"If beggars would ride" goes the old rhyme.

Which is just another way of pointing out that wishing, by itself, isn't a very reliable way to get what you want.

You're going to want a lot of things a few years from now. And when it comes to getting them, nobody so far has discovered anything more useful than a nice, big pocketful of good hard cash.

Put every single cent you can spare into War Bonds now. Hang on to those War Bonds. Let them bring you back $4 for every $3 you put in.

There's no way to equal that process for getting what you want a few years from now—and for getting what we all want most of all today: VICTORY!

Keep War Bonds for Keeps

Penicillin Display Made Told to Visitors

ocessing, Use of Drug

In order to familiarize students with the widely-used drug, penicillin, a display was arranged in the Westcott by the pathogenic bacteriology class, under the supervision of Miss Jean Thatcher, instructor of bacteriology.

Miss Thaher and her student ass explained the history, discovery and uses of penicillin. Students and teachers who attended the display last Friday and Saturday. The display was arranged on six tables, each one devoted to a different phase in the production of penicillin.

The first table dealt with the story of the drug. It was first discovered in 1929 by Dr Alexander Fleming, an Englishman, since the initial drugs were not used in the early thirties, penicillin was forgotten. It was not until 1941-42 that the drug was offered organ reinvestigating.

At the second table it was explained that the mold, penicillin notatum, produced a secretion or gue as a waste product and that this mold could be grown in two ways—First, a white vegetative growth on a medium of agar-agar, and a growth with the spores on a maltose peptone broth and third a submerged growth on penicillin in the media of an agar

Shaped at the third table are other members of the penicillium genus, the green mold on bread and the blue mold found on Camembert cheese. Microphotos were set up and the table of slides showing the brushlike arrangement of the spores of the mold. This arrangement of spores is responsible for the genus name penicillium.

The occupation used in extracting the drug from the mold was the subject of the fourth table. Here the older extraction method by surface growth was contrasted to the improved method of filtration. The guides stated that according to government figures only two ounces of the drug could be extracted from 10,000 gallons of fermented liquid containing the mold. These figures also showed that in April of 1943 only nine ounces of penicillin were being produced annually in America. Treatment has greatly increased since then, however.

The pathogenic bacteriology lab set-up was also exhibited with the mold cultures which they had themselves.

Also in the processes of standardizing the drug were shown at the fifth table. Here it was stated that penicillin was a sterile filtrate because it inhibited the growth of disfiguring germs, another quality.

At the last table the uses of penicillin were discussed. Miss Thaher stated that although 90% of its total is now put to the commercial stage and not ready for use, it is known that it has been effectively used on skin wounds and infections.

Memory of the class who grew the cultures and helped in the display are Helen Marie Carlisle Gomes, Mary Frances Pulliam Rush L'Engle, Peggy Lindsey Sfirri and Winifred Melton Jackie Partin, Francetta Dean Anne Tladale, and Mary Sumner.

Work Abandoned

Secretra has decided to abandon all thoughts of work and duties from 5 to 11 o'clock every Tuesday night, according to Savoy Parker, president.

The members, she said, will eat at the Spirk and Span at the hour mentioned and sing and discuss plans for the future vicissitudes of Secretra.

Secretra and members will be hostesses of Entertain at a "Bunko" party to be held in the Landis Reception hall from 7:30 to 9:30 tonight.

Minnows Chosen

Final tryouts for Minnows for the Tarpon Club were held Monday afternoon. From the twenty candidates, nine were selected. B J Singleton, vice-president and Minnow trainer announced. They were: Anna Lou Green, Mona Log, Jo Gotherie, Barbara Lindsey, and Jean Harris.

FEDERAL BAKE SHOP
310 S. Monroe Phone 129
"Makers and Bakers of Good Things to Eat"
BIRTHDAY CAKES - PARTY ORDERS
Given Our Special Attention

Johnny Stops Here To Give Cigarettes To College Girls

When the well-known "Call for Phillip Morris" resounded throughout lower Westcott in mid-afternoon Wednesday, excited students rushed down in front of Vardell Ely," of radio fame. Discovered by Miss Ruth Hall in the campus bookstore, "Johnny" was immediately besieged by requests for autographs, sample packages of cigarettes and repeat performances of his famous "call."

Standing on an elevated platform behind the main counter in the bookstore, the good-natured midget signed autographs until he had satisfied all demands and, in a 10-minute period, handed out more than one thousand sample cigarettes, packaged in miniature packages.

Then, jumping down from his raised platform, "Johnny" again said "good-bye, ladies," and after giving a final rendition of his famous "call" left the bookstore, started off down the hall.

Johnny, who married himself as Johnny Morris, Jr, visits Florida State College annually and says that he likes the girls here—and girls are grand."

Dressed in his conventional red and black bell-hop uniform, "Johnny" was accompanied by Mr Joe Camalier, manager of the Phillip Morris. While in Tallahassee, "Johnny" and his manager are staying at Governor Caldwell hotel. Their tour includes several important cities in the state.

Series of Forums To Be Held at Ruge

Beginning February 16 and continuing through March 23, Ruge Hall, Florida State College, will have planned a series of five weekly forums. The forums which are to be held every Friday night will have as their subject 'The Life and Teachings of Jesus Paul'.

The Rt Rev Arthur Lea of St Paul's by the Sea, Jacksonville will be the first speaker of the Lenten forums tonight at 7:30 o'clock and will speak. Description of St Paul's personality and the important factors in his life of a characteristic nature he was.

On February 23, the Rev Alan Chalmers from All Saints Church, Jacksonville will speak on what effect St Paul's background had on his conception of the individual. He also will speak under the title relation between men and women, under the title of "St Paul and the Individual". The county judge of Leon county, B A Metcalfe will talk on "St Paul and the State, in the light of a person's relationship to the state and country."

The Rev James Stirling, student pastor of the Methodist church of Florida, with his topic as "St Paul and the Church", will add to St Paul's contribution to the church is. The final forum will be led by the Rt Reverend Bishop minister of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Jacksonville and will speak on "War and War and Peace" with such questions as: "Should we fight in peace time?" what should our attitude be toward enemies?

By nomination of the Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church, The Most Rev Henry St George Tucker, "The Christian Doctrine of God", will be a subject of special study for the week of Alvin, chaplain at Ruge Hall, will devote the Bible study hours to this topic. in terms of ways in which Christians can apply the truth of this God of love.

The Rt Rev Frank A Juhan, Bishop of Florida will be in Tallahassee April 23 to confirm those who have been attending Confirmation classes. These classes will begin next Wednesday at 5 o'clock.

Canterbury club holds its regular monthly meeting next Tuesday at 5 o'clock, with Betty Lewis president of the Vestry Committee, in charge.

Tests to Be Given

Gold Book test will be given Saturday, February 17, at 3 p m in the Student Assistnae auditorium for all freshmen and transfers who entered college at the beginning of this semester.

The test will cover regulations and government of college. Penalty for failure will be campusment for one week, said "Tedy" Parker, chairman of Judiciary. Those who do not pass will be required to take the test again, she announced.

FSC Graduate Now Is Base Officer

Hearon Heads WAC Command At Dow Field, Maine

First Lt Mildred Hearon, daughter of Mrs W W Masters of DeSoto City, who took over her first command at the age of 22, is now commanding officer of the WACs stationed at Dow Field, Air Transport Base at Bangor, Maine. She is a resident of Florida and a graduate of Florida State College.

Mildred enlisted in the WAC on July 31, 1942 and attended OCS at Fort Des Moines. She stayed at Fort Des Moines for the next nine months and was then transferred to Camp Huntsville, Arkansas where the 9th WAC training center was located. After a couple of weeks in Basic training at the school at Fort Des Moines, she was assigned to the Troops Carrier Command, Sedalia, Missouri, as commanding officer of the WAC Detachment there. She was promoted to first lieutenant on April 1, 1944.

Lt Hearon graduated from Florida State College for Women in 1941 during an 88 degree, with a major in physical education instructor in charge all Recreation in Dade county Georgia, and later at the junior high school and high school at Jacksonville Beach, with a major in education and health instructor.

Dow Field, where Lt Hearon is stationed, is a major link in the North Atlantic Division of the Air Transport Command.

Alumna in WAVES Talks to Students

Ensign Betty Ann Taylor, former graduate of Florida State College, spoke yesterday to members of the public opinion class under Mr Earl L Vance, associate professor of journalism.

Miss Taylor told briefly about her Navy training at Smith College in North Hampton, describing the scenery, clothes of Smith girls and living conditions in that particular college. She compared the dormitories with those on this campus exclaiming that they are similar. She described the clothes the Smith girls wear, such as wool jr shirts in the winter and shorts and no shoes in the summer months. In the matter of living conditions she admitted that Negro students are segregated but that the same dormitories as white Smith students.

Miss Taylor has been in the Navy approximately a year and received her ensign's commission at Smith college. Betty Ann was a graduate in 1942 and while here served as editor of the Flambeau, was on Mortar Board, and was a member of Chi Delta Phi. Betty Ann, who is from Tallahassee, is a sister of Sara Jane Taylor, now a senior at FSC.

When asked the best policy in obtaining a position on a newspaper, Betty Ann suggested that all beginning reporters work on a small newspaper first. She explained her reason for this as giving the reporter a true conception of the idea of how a newspaper is really run. She went on to affirm that the reporter's experience is the idea of how a newspaper is really run. She went on to affirm that the reporter's experience is the struggle with routine work before actually getting a position that holds a great deal of interest and is well paying. She added, however, that the more experience of knowing the people one meets in a newspaper office is sufficient recompense for any amount of hard work.

Before joining the WAVES a year ago, Betty Ann spent two years in Miami working in his U S Censorship department. She hopes to continue newspaper work, however, after the war is over.

In these days of mechanism, army divisions require about 2000 vehicles, including guns, tanks, tractors and trucks.

To Get Bigger Values For Less

try

Ben Gilberg's
'The Big Man With the Big Values'
108 E. Jefferson St.

AAUW Correction

March 31, 1945 will be the deadline for submission of contributions to the Creative Arts contest being sponsored by the American Association of University Women. The deadline was erroneously published in the Flambeau as March 3.

Those who plan to enter the contest are requested to send their name and field of entry to: Dr Carmen Rogers, Box 1077.

Valentine's Day Comes to Campus Despite Shortages

Mr Cupid played his trumps again and this time they were hearts.

In spite of war shortages, boxes of candy were well represented. One proud freshman had three boxes to compare—which means she was "sizing 'em up."

Notes were numerous, and even though they weren't as fancy this year, they warmed many hearts that day. There is no doubt, Many were comic billets with a sarcastic approach, but valentines took the place of romantic verses.

Orchids were also seen on campus. A few were walked proudly for several days with shoulder straps, proclaiming a beautiful orchid her father sent.

"Lucky," who is overseas, sent to his fiancee a box of V-dust and his heart enclosed. It was quite a showy display of masculine ingenuity.

Special trips to the post office were not in the least needed, who received gifts such as the boy friend's baked poems, a compact, and a portable radio.

Another student was the proud possessor of her fourth V-dust doily and a dainty corsage of pink carnations all from the same certain one. Cupid must have played the ace that time.

Defense Forum Needs Chairman

The Defense Forum, which has functioned for the past three years, was discontinued at the first of this year because of the lack of a chairman, according to Miss Lucy Lester, former head of the Defense Council, which sponsored the Forum.

When the Defense Council itself was disbanded, three committees were retained: The Emergency Planning under the chairmanship of Mr Henry Becker; the Information Center, which has now become an internal part of the library, under the direction of Miss Agnes Raymond and the Defense Forum, formerly under the chairmanship of Dr Marian Irish. As soon as a chairman is found, the Forum will again begin to function.

Freshmen Trek To Game's Woods

Approximately 40 new freshmen discovered the beginning of FSC's favorite picnicking spots when they hiked to Game's woods for weiner roast last Friday afternoon.

The outing was planned by officers of the freshman class which include the following: Ida Lee Rents president; Bob Gautier, vice-president; Jean Sharer, parliamentarian; Betsy Kinsey, vice-president; and Jimmy Rogers, secretary.

The outing was planned in order that new freshmen might become better acquainted. Ida Lee Rents said that all present appeared to enjoy the outdoor recreation afforded them by the picnic.

Senate Election

Rachel Ball and Betsy Pemble are the two candidates in today's election for senior representative to Senate.

In yesterday's primary election, Rachel Ball received 45 votes, and 66 votes were cast for Pete Pemble. Mary Lee Withers, candidate in the primary race, was eliminated by a vote of 44.

The election is being held in lower Westcott building, and all seniors are urged to cast their votes for the girl who they wish to represent them in Senate.

FSC Teachers Help Plan State Program

At a recent meeting of the Florida High School Athletic Association, in Orlando, Dr Katherine Montgomery, physical education director, and Miss Grace Fox, physical education instructor, attended a plan was proposed concerning the athletic program for Florida high school girls. The meeting followed the appointment of a committee by the Executive Secretary of the Florida High School Athletic Associations.

The plan, a summary, would provide for a girl's division in the State girl's Association and would arrange sports days for high school girls in the various districts, counties, and cities of Florida. It would also set up standards for the promotion for inter-school games within the counties and cities. State competition is also approved of, the committee decided.

The plan, tentative as yet, would include soccer, speedball, gram in tennis and swimming. It is to be used in the Florida High School Athletic Association at its next annual meeting, announced Dr Montgomery.

Students 'Get Hep' As 1945 Language Invades the Campus

"What a breezer, she would be a honey-dripper on a jive." This and other strange talk one is liable to hear on campus these days. Never use a good English word if there is a good slang substitute. They, that is, the "hep" ones, have expressions as "jam session", "batting the breeze", "boogie woogie", "jive", "jive-jumpin'", "crush", "solid beat". "Let's put the show on the prome at Gaw's" "He's a jive joint", and hundreds others have been introduced into the English language of today until it is hardly recognizable.

Slang varies with gentlemen, or perhaps it would be better to say generations vary their slang. Not so very long ago one said he was "going to paint the town red", he was really "in the groove", he knew the latest slang and was looked up to by all his associates.

Today, such a phrase is obsolete, and the phrase "tear the town" has been substituted. One never "gets in the groove", one says "hep". Romeo-a-dates and the Lindy were the world's favorite dances not so many years ago; nothing is tame for today's modern youth, they must have "boogie woogie" complete with "hot beat jive".

Give with the gab, fellow floorshow, and the latest slang you will be able to have a language all your own.

Alert Girls Stop Dormitory Fire

Three alert Jennie Murphree girls helped to prevent what might have been a catastrophe recently when they heard Gaines-a-dates smelled smoke, and upon investigation found that a mop had been left on. When they lifted the cloth from the board, flames shot up, but there was no damage done other than to the ironing board and the iron.

Auditions Planned

Radio auditions for talented students and faculty will be given every Tuesday afternoon from 5 to 6 o'clock, announced Miss Ida Blodworth, radio co-ordinator.

The auditions will take place in Miss Blodworth's office in the Student Assistnae building. A record of these auditions will be kept on file for use by the various radio department. All interested persons should contact Miss Blodworth during the given hours.

Transformer Made By Student Workers

Langston and Cockrell Aid Electricity Classes

"It was a long hard fight, but we finished it," said Teeny Langston and Margaret Cockrell, speakers of the transformer that spent many days in the laboratory constructing for the advanced electricity class.

"Although it was no new discovery, the transformer represents excellent work on the part of the two students", said Dr Harold F Richards, professor of physics.

The transformer is now being used to break glass tubing an inch in diameter, but later, because of the work of Teeny and Margaret, it is to be used in spot welding and other experimental purposes.

Many interesting and humorous incidents occurred during their construction of the instrument. One night the lights went off in Jennie Murphree, where Teeny is a Junior Counselor, and naturally her fresheties panicked. Finally source of the blown fuse to the transformer that had been hearing so much about. Teeny claims she was nowhere near.

Before finishing the two girls went to say goodbye to "Mr Distinct Attorney," as the transformer is called because it has a program the expression "step over to conductor, please" and their instrument is a step-down transformer.

One day a number of freshmen were taken over to see the marvelous piece of work their counselors had been working on. Rumors about, but Teeny and Margaret decided never again to do that because the freshmen were not half as interested in the transformer as they were amused by the personality of Dr Richards. Nevertheless, it proved a good soldering agent for the physics department.

During their construction neither Mrs Cockrell nor Mrs Langston received very many letters from their counselors, but now since the job has been completed they expect a transformation in the girls will occur.

Proud Cook Paints Her Perfect Pastry

An Item for the "Stranger than Fiction" department is the new use one of the students here at Florida State College has found for left-over pastry.

When the experimental food chemistry and cookery class recently made pie crust, one of the girls, being artistic was the one whose perfect product she had turned out this year, took it home Thanksgiving to exhibit as evidence of piece for posterity, the ingenious student then added a coat of silver paint. The finished product will serve as an ash tray—if it holds out that long.

"Convorola" Given By Soph Council

Heralded long in advance by posters and a poetry sequence published in dormitory bulletin boards, by parades through the halls, and by the "grape vine" system, "Convorola" was presented by Sophomore Council, as promised at a dormitory meeting in Gale.

The skit was presented in order to promote increased convocation attendance, according to Jean Cole, chairman of Sophomore Council. Announced by Rosetta Lee Hall, "Convorola" was an accidental resemblance to the picture, "Casablanca," the scene was held in a "honky-tonk" where there were reserved tables for OSA officers and the Flambeau staff.

While Eleanor Bragg as "Sam" played "As Time Goes By," Nell Clark as "Comfy Cocart," a Sophomore Council boy, and Betsy Pelham as "Lucy Bergman," an FSC student, dramatized a "tragedy" concerning the consequences of over-cutting convocation.

Included in the skit were a trio and chorus of Sophomore Council girls who sang original songs concerning convocation attendance.

Carleton Expresses Favorable View On Co-ed Controversy

"Florida would do well to follow the example of North Carolina in having a coed university and a women's college," commented Dr William G Carleton, professor of political science at the University of Florida and a recent guest speaker at a meeting of the American Association of University Women, at the forum opening the last two years of college work at Gainesville to women students. In this way Dr Carleton feels girls taking postgraduate work will have the same opportunities as the men.

Dr Carleton believes that many people feel the presence of women at the college will help in the readjustment of some of our war veterans. The veterans now at Florida University are medical discharges, and their return to as completely a normal life as possible is very desirable. The veterans at the University present vividly one of the problems we will face after the war.

However, as they gradually become acclimated the need for a more normal atmosphere is great. The presence of women's organization at Gainesville is greatly in favor of co-education, not only for the boys who have left but for the perfectly normal boys who will come back to finish their "last year" as it was. Dr Carleton stated that he thought some of these boys would be better at some college in the company of their wives.

Press Club Plans Discussion Programs

Plans for programs for faculty-student discussions was the main topic at a meeting last Friday at 5 o'clock of the Press Club. This club which meets once a month is composed of a group of students interested in journalism and is open to all who wish to attend.

It was decided that these discussions be held monthly for the rest of the school year and that they would center any vital question that might be at hand. They will be of an informal nature and will last about two hours. The date of the next meeting will be announced in the near future.

Doris Pepper was elected president of the organization, Betsy Dowd as secretary. Miss Pepper will also serve as chairman in charge of selecting the topics of these forums.

Barbara Bell was appointed as representative from the Press Club to Defense Forum.

Games in Progress

Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Delta Pi, and Bryan Hall were victors in the sorority basketball round of basketball intramurals. Delta Delta Delta advanced to the next round on the ladder by defeating Alpha Chi Omega Wednesday afternoon.

Chi Omega vanquished by Alpha Gamma Delta with a 19-9 score. The score in the Phi Mu-Alpha Delta Pi games was 16 to 13. In A D Pi's favor. Bryan defeated Jennie Murphree with a 22 to 20 score.

According to Louise Fernandez, intramural manager, the games will continue until the team reaches the top of the ladder.

Swim Meet Will Be Held This Month

Annual Telegraphic Meet Is To Be February 23, 27

That the annual telegraphic swimming meet will be held here on February 23 and 27 was announced today by B J Singleton, student manager of the Florida State College swimming team. The best results of these two meets are to be sent to Duke University, where headquarters for this years' tourney in the south will be held with Mary Washington College, in Fredricksburg, Virginia, taking charge of the nationals. Last year FSC was the headquarters for the Southern meet.

According to the records, FSC has won first place on time in the nationals and last year placed second among the Southern colleges with Mary Washington winning first place.

B J Singleton, a member of last years' swimming team, who was a first and second place in the 75 yard and 40 yard individual races, respectively declares that although there are no members of last years team remaining, she thinks FSC will win first place in both the Southern and national this year.

Mary Ann Waits, freshman and champion swimmer, will probably be one of the participants in the meet. Mary Ann last year was chosen as one of the ten outstanding swimmers in America.

Events of the meet include the 40 yard dash, 100 yard dash, 75 ward medley relay, 100 yard freestyle, relay, and the 75 yard individual medley.

Try-outs for the team have not yet been.

Bertrand Russell, English philosopher, mathematician and sociologist, belongs to one of the oldest families of England.

Winter weather brings harsh treatment to sensitive lips. But with a tube of Roger & Gallet Aspirol Lip Pomade in your pocket, you can laugh at "Sloppy Sleet".
Just smooth on Lip Pomade's soothing, protecting film and defy the elements. There's no odor, never protection against painful chapping and cracking.
Stop at any drug store and ask for the handy pocket tube.
25¢
ROGER & GALLET
500 FIFTH AVE., NEW YORK 18, N.Y.

Now's the Time to PLANT YOUR GARDEN!
Buy Your Garden Seeds
—At—
Seek it First at VAN BRUNT & VON INC
VON'S
HARDWARE

$7.95

Spirit of the Week

"Love, John," it says. And I know six Johns!

FREEDOM OF PRESS FOR WHOM?

National repercussions and publicity have followed the actions of the administration of William and Mary college, who this week suspended its student newspaper and threatened expulsion of its editor for an editorial advocating future quality of the white and black races.

Much of the discussion has centered on whether such opinions are valid or unwisely radical. In general the tenor of the article seems definitely to clash with the majority of white Southern opinion on the race problem, and has provoked indignant opposition.

Reflecting this indignant opposition is the attitude of President John Pomfret, of the college, who has made press statements that the faculty was concerned with "setting up some editorial supervision of the newspaper," hertofore uncensored.

Also in indignant protest is the college Board of Trustees, who expressed "thorough disapproval and condemnation", and instructed the college faculty and administration to take corrective and disciplinary action.

It has remained for the student body of William and Mary to take action nearer to the heart of the matter. In a Monday mass meeting, about 1000 students went on record opposing faculty supervision of the newspaper, and said that they had rather not have any newspaper, than have one under censorship.

For the main issue at stake in the college controversy is not whether or not future race equality should be achieved. Far more important is the issue that the student body saw—that freedom of the press is not the privilege of commercial newspapers alone, but of student publications also. Simply because student writers are students does not deny them the right to express their opinions.

Numbers of the students did not agree with the ideas of race equality suggested by the editor. However, they did agree on her right to say them.

Exemplified in the whole controversy is the common misunderstanding in America of what freedom of speech really means. Many of us repeat the slogans of democracy glibly, but fail to comprehend its essentials.

Freedom of speech fundamentally means that citizens must guarantee the right of others to express unpopular opinions. Freedom to say only what others want to hear is no freedom at all. Freedom implies compulsory agreement with the majority is not the concept of the Bill of Rights.

Therefore we feel that the student body of William and Mary is to be congratulated for its courageous stand. Censorship, whether in commercial or college newspapers, is a rung of the ladder to Fascism. Free expression of controversial opinions is a necessity in a democracy.

OUR GREAT EXPERIMENT

Many experiments in education for living have been attempted in this country during the last 20 years. At Florida State College Senior Hall has been established to give certain senior students training for leadership. Three successful experiments in progressive education have been undertaken at St. John's College, Bennington College, and Black Mountain College.

St John's College at Annapolis, Maryland, began in 1937 to apply the educational ideas of Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, who is a trustee of St John's. The policy at St John's is to educate students from the books produced by the greatest minds of history.

Students learn mathematics from the great mathematicians, Euclid, Descartes, Newton, Russell; science from Galen, Ptolehm, Faraday, Pasteur andothers; literature from Homer, Aristophanes, Virgil, Dante, Shakespeare, Milton, Polstoi, and Ibsen. This idea is carried into every field of learning. It has created an interested, cooperating body of faculty members and students.

Another well-known experiment in progressive education is Bennington College, Vermont. Bennington was established in 1932. The president and faculty at Bennington believes that the test of education is preparation for continued learning through life. Each student has the opportunity to decide what courses she is to take; there are no required studies. All student regulations are made by the students, who have a part in student Educational Policies Committee, named by the students. This committee advises the faculty on curriculum and educational methods and makes regular periodical reports on the quality of instruction given by the individual teachers.

Black Mountain College, North Carolina, started in 1933 by John Rice is a working experiment in progressive education.

President Rice believes that "the job of the college is to bring young people to intellectual and emotional maturity; to intelligence, which is a subtle balance between the intellect and the emotions; not merely an arbitrarily selected amount of cramming."

Black Mountain is interested in the growth of the individual as a person, and believes that this can best be achieved by group influence. "There are no rules at Black Mountain; the individual is given the opportunity to determine his own behavior.

President Rice aims "to develop the idea and feeling that knowledge, truth, art, education, effort, action, experience, life are all of on piece, or at least that they can be synchronized."

Senior Hall is the effort made by Florida State College to educate students for living. Senior Hall is, according to the statement of the selections committee, "one of the highest honors bestowed by your Alma Mater and is based on past citizenship, sense of responsibility, good judgment, academic standing, and character." However, the college will fi to bestow this honor last year on only approximately two-thirds of the present senior class.

Although the neglected third will graduate with the rest of the class in May, they will not have had the experience of this self-styled experiment in cooperative and group living. They will, nevertheless, be aware of this state and the country without having had the uplifting experience of being free of a few of the restrictions that govern every phase of the daily lives of the girls at FSC. They will leave the ivy-clad halls of our Alma Mater without enjoying the privilege of staying out until 12 o'clock on week nights, or 12:30 on Friday and Saturday.

The basis for giving two-thirds of the seniors "one of the highest honors" is not the student's desire for an education, or the effort to prepare the student for life, as it is in the experiments in progressive education mentioned above. The basis for the selection of the members of Senior Hall is stated in words for which no actual referent can be found. Stuart Chase, in his "Tyranny of Words," insists that words without a referent, a specific object which the word represents, should be deleted and the sound "blab" be inserted.

If the reader should follow this principle in judging the basis of the selections for Senior Hall, most interesting results would be obtained. Phrases such as "comprehension and acceptance of group responsibility, alertness to see what is best for the general good and the courage to work for the benefit of the whole:" and "ability to contribute to good citizenship by taking the lead in moulding public opinion, fostering desirable movements, and wielding good influence through example and precept," are full of words which have no direct referents.

Most of the words in these phrases have as many interpretations as there are persons who use them. Substituting for "blab" for the words which have no direct referents, the statement would read "blab and blab of group blab, blab to see what is blab for the blab blab and the blab to work for the blab of the whole:" and "blab to blab to blab blab by taking the lead in moulding blab blab, fostering blab movements and wielding blab influence through blab blab.

Perhaps an organization based on the selection of some students by ambiguous phrases is the answer to education for living at Florida State College—we think it is not.

College Paper Is Suspended

Continued From Page One

student body of approximately 1000 young men and women went on record as saying that a majority of them disapproved of the editor's views, but were determined to defend her right to express them.

Editors of the Flat Hat and the Student Union meeting February 11 passed a resolution "voting the action of the faculty more than have a surveyed publication."

Miss Kaemmerle told reporters that her editorial had been misunderstood and misinterpreted. Lines were taken out of context, she said, to make her appear to suggest "that Negroes should attend William and Mary . . . go to our classes . . . join the same clubs . . . and marry among us."

"They missed the entire point," she explained in reporters. "The editorial stressed the fact that if we are to achieve complete democracy in this state and the world it had to be done through education. This can't be couldn't be done today or tomorrow. perhaps not for generations or centuries."

The editorial in which the views expressed were her own and not those of the student body or of the Flat Hat. She explained that the last fall when she was elected editor she stated on the editorial page that she would be the author of the editorials that might appear. She stated that she would believe that her contention is sound and that complete equality of Negroes and whites is possible some day.

Passion Play To Be Given

Continued From Page One

ductions, is expected to be the American continent in 1933.

Inspired by the American public and press reception, Mr Meier became a citizen and established a permanent home for the Passion Play in the Black Hills near Spearfish, South Dakota. During the summer months the Passion Play is historically and Biblically correct Dramatised into 22 scenes portraying the life of the man of Galilee. has previously been called "a modern miracle" by the Chicago Daily News, and labeled magnificent and to conceal spiritually moving in its presentation. vibrant in color and sound," by The Charlotte Observer.

Time Marches On But Clocks Are Out of Step

Continued From Page One

in setting dates. Perhaps Tedy Parker's clock is always ten minutes fast to make sure that plenty of time to overcome obstacles she might encounter on the way to ordinary meeting and still get there in time. Without a doubt. Jo Dunlap's clock is on the dot because she keeps "Even time."

At any rate the difference in the time of clocks in the campus has caused quite a few embarrassing incidents. One girl came to the Dining Hall at 7 o'clock one morning last week for breakfast. Two other girls reported to the Dining Hall for work only to find it was five minutes to six. When the other girls arrived at seven, they were the two "early birds" from their nap on the couch.

Hitler Verms: Satan
At last Hitler went to Hades.

The Students Speak . . .

With the advent of second semester many questions concerning interning have arisen in the minds of Florida State College students. For this reason this week's column, giving the opinions of girls who have already completed their internship, deals with the question: What do you consider to be the advantages and disadvantages of interning?

Since you are interning, you are in school all day long and are treated more like a teacher than you are when you practice teach. Interning was "real life" teaching, not model or perfection teaching. You are there at the beginning of school and are able to see how the school operates at the first of the year. If you should teach in the same school later, you will "know the ropes."

RUTH RICE.

When you are interning you can see the whole school program that you are to do everything from participating in school carnivals to meeting the children's parents. You see the students outside of school and in more natural situations than you do when you practice teach. The only disadvantage I can see is that you have to make up work in courses when you return. However, I think this disadvantage will be eliminated under the quarter system.

PAY LIMBAUGH

You are not distracted with other classes and college activities in which you would like to participate but have no time to do. You concentrate on one thing—your teaching.

I found that the ideals of democracy which we learned in theory classes are put into practice beautifully with the school program. While the children should be given these ideals, many times are fail to teach them, using old methods only as a means of making money.

ANOEL PAIN.

Interning is a wonderful course to have because it gives you a good picture of what a teacher will have to do and to put up with. You can see the good and bad sides of teaching. You are there when things go "right" and when they go "wrong." Throughout college you take courses on theory. When you intern, you get to apply that theory.

You teach from eight to ten weeks. I'm sorry it wasn't longer; for the more you do ,the more experience you have.

ELIONNE HOSFORD.

You get the whole set-up of the school. You are treated like a member of the faculty and learn what a teacher's responsibilities are. You learn how to mix with the children and discover how to get along with them. You also learn what they like and what they dislike, through your responsibility of being a chaperone and through meeting them in situations outside of school.

JOHNNIE THOMAS.

Just being in a real school itself is an advantage. It is the closest you can get to the real thing until you actually professionally. You see the functions of the whole school, not necessarily under the unmediate direction of the college. You don't teach until you feel confident that you are sufficiently prepared to "step into" your work. You teach as much or as little as you like during the day. This will be "the" experience before you actually teach.

ROBERTA JAMISON.

While you are interning, you have no other school work to divert your attention from your practice teaching. You are in the school system, seeing it as the teacher sees it, not as an outside observer. You do a bit of everything, including teaching, working in the office, and helping in the recreation program of the school.

MARY CARO.

College Comments

By LOIS BYRD

'Tis said that affirmation becomes static when conflict ceases. But from the conversation going on in many of our universities, one can guess that American youths are by no means resting on their some state.

While Texas is still wrangling over the Rainey case, the students of the University of Kentucky are showing their active activity program. It seems that the board of commissioners has placed a ban on dancing in Lexington restaurants. The argument being that drinks, food and dancing don't mix and that decompliance is the result. The students argue that if their dancing privileges are taken away and the school remains dry, drinking and delinquency is bound to increase

—Kentucky Kernel.

—Editorial Trouble

And then there's the little ole' editorial written by the editor of the William and Mary paper. Students all over the nation complain of not being treated as adults and that they thought of as capable of doing serious thinking. Yet, a single editorial in a college paper caused such a commotion that the paper is temporarily suspended. Mr Meier became a citizen and established a permanent home for the Passion Play in the Black Hills near Spearfish, South Dakota. During the summer months the Passion Play is historically and Biblically correct Dramatised into 22 scenes portraying the life of the man of Galilee. has previously been called "a modern miracle" by the Chicago Daily News, and labeled magnificent and to conceal spiritually moving in its presentation. vibrant in color and sound," by The Charlotte Observer.

—Exchange.

Big Heart

Beggar: Have you not enough money for a cup of coffee?

Tommy: Oh, I'll manage somehow, thank you.

—Gamilacad.

A Man, Please

An old maid was asked what she thought about the husband—brains, wealth, or appearance. She mused briefly, "Husband—and the sooner, the better."

—University Hotchet.

Language Dilemma

Bewildered Freshman Student: "Do you believe the English language was made to conceal thought?"

Second Student: "Sometimes when I hear Professor Snodgrass discuss Shelley I do."

—The Kentucky Kernel.

Absentee Troubles

"Absenteeism is one of the chief causes of academic failure." This statement was issued by the Committee on Attendance and Class Decrees at the Creighton University.

"It is rather nonsensical," say officials, "to pay tuition and then pay 50 cents—about 1/2 of the approximate cost of each class—out the window. Furthermore, being unaccounted for in class only makes it doubly hard on the student by keeping him alone twice as much work in an effort to catch up with the missed because of an absence."

—Creighton

Hitler Verms: Satan

At last Hitler went to Hades.

Our Forever Hold Your Peace

In a recent meeting of the sophomore class, the question was raised as to why class spirit and unity is lacking. Class officers, who wonder why so few of the so-called "little people" don't contribute more to the class activities, asked for suggestions.

Several trite suggestions were made, but they are not the Solution to the problem. We are rather inclined to agree with the opinion voiced by Betty Swartz at the meeting when she pointed out that the same few always undertake the responsibility by heading committees for all the sophomore activities.

Is it possible that the five or six "big people" in the class feel that they are the only ones capable? Surely there are many others who would work equally as efficiently if only given the chance.

Could it be that the reason there is such an apparent lack of spirit and unity that the majority of sophomores have no active voice in the plans and arrangements, and feel that it is being run by professionals?

How about some sincere concern for the "little people" and some action?

"FOUR SOPHOMORES"

All letters to the editor must be signed except when names are with-held upon request.

Clark Gable Will Narrate Movie Here

Continued From Page One

covered by the Army Air Forces Army Air Forces.

The second feature "letter from Bataan" is the story of Johnny and Pete, two boys on Bataan when the Japanese overran the Philippines, and what becomes of them.

The setting of "Dover," a selected short feature, is the coast of England where the preparations and practice landings for the invasion of Europe last summer took place.

No admission will be charged.

Bicycling and "Hair-Do's"

Continued From Page One

for these jaunts by setting hair and arranging coiffures on the week ends.

Speaking of hair—controversies have raged madly over the short bob, the "Oreta Garbo," or the just plain long bob. But it had to be smooth, whatever the style, with every hair in place, and the girl who covered her forehead "might as well have worn a pompadour" for all she was in style." The most popular method of keeping long hair was the plain knot in the back and the "pin curl or little buns" fastened in the back either high or low. The former style provided a little variety, in that the hair could be parted either on the side or in the center.

A store in town was advertising you said you were an old maid. Mandy: "Ah, ah ain't no sich of Lhose fussy kind."

—The Claw.

Florida Colleges

"It would seem at the time that Florida is no longer considered as the only state in the country that has a state university and does not admit qualified women freely to at least the junior and senior years and for graduate work; and about time that the University of Florida took its place with the great universities throughout the western world in providing training facilities for women."

—News-Democrat.

In This Our Time

By BETTY WEAVER

The Allies on the Western front have begun a full-fledged offensive against the German Reich after a lull which was begun 2 months ago when 30 German divisions were thrown against the American First Army and other sectors around it.

As the Russians continue the pincers movement on Germany in an effort to eliminate the Nazi menace, plans are adding to the confusion of the Germans by bombing cities and points strategic to both the Allied and the Russian Armies.

Great activity is taking place along the entire 450-mile Western front. In the Netherlands, the British and Canadian troops are driving to outflank the Siegfried line and move into the retrained defensiveness region of the Northern Rhine, which area is considered the best approach to Berlin. This move is a continuation of the one which was begun several days ago with hithe famous airborne landing and battle for Arnhem. The American Ninth Army is working in close connection with the British and the Canadians under the command of Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery.

American First and Third Armies together are attacking in the direction of the Rhine, moving toward the Cologne Plain and the cities of Bonn and Coblenz in the latter being an important communication center for the Germans in the Western Reich.

The American Seventh Army on the right flank of Patton's Third is joining in the general drive on the economically important Saar Basin.

The Allied Air Force is playing an important part in bringing together the operations of the Allies in the west and the Russians in the east. In summing up the Churchill-Roosevelt conference power during the past year, Lieutenant General Ira C Baker, commander of the Mediterranean Allied Air Force said it had: (1) Reduced the German Air Force. (2) Destroyed the German economy's supply of petroleum products far less the minimum requirements of German industry. (3) played a great part in breaking the U-boat campaign. "tremendously depressed" the Reich's home morale and (5) "ungeared" fla war economy by destroying railroads, factories, workers' morale and forced the Nazis to divert crucial manpower to manning anti-aircraft defenses.

hose, silk "from top to bottom" for one dollar a pair, Another "typical American" scene was the morning dinner hall: groans of "Oh, I'm so tired again . . ." interrupted by gasps at some women's pajama leg dress down from under her coat, or the appearance of less leg measurers away from the piercing glances of campus social committee members.

It seems there was a very attractive born water cooler in Reynolds which the artistically draped and decorated with a little sign which announced: "Fill me up, I'm always run." After months of struggle a little sign was put over the water cooler and the girls were so grateful that they had a regular little ceremony over it. A very impressive speech was made by one of the freshmen as she removed from the cooler the artistically draped handcloth of a senior gown. The actual director lifted a big bottle of stuper sic. said "To the spirit of Reynolds hall I christen the Oasis," and crashed down the bottle. They swept up the pieces and crabbed up the zimper ale and had a hilarious time even in cleaning up the mess.

The Florida Flambeau

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... Betty Weaver
CORDELIA BARCLAY ..... Associate Editor
RACHAEL BOYD, JANET PARRISH ..... Associate Editor
SHIRLEY BURNS ..... Advertising Manager
BETTY BOYD SCHAUB, DOROTHY LANCASTER, JO ANN CARROLL ..... News Editor
MARY GARTNER PEGGY KAY ..... Copy Editor

Copy Editor ..... Janet Rogers
Associate Copy Editor ..... Martha Abbott
Feature Editor ..... Ann Hall
Associate Feature Editor ..... Jean Hall
Society Editor ..... Doris Pepper

Outside News Editor ..... Betty Ward
Associate Editor ..... Lois Byrd
Art Editor ..... Barbara Wallace
Assistant Art Editor ..... Betty Moore

REPORTERS: Virginia Andrews, Mary Alexander, Miriam Angell, Bobbi Bell, Betty Bell, Betty Bowden, Betty Boyd, Ann Brown, Betty Brown, Lois Byrd, Lucy Fenton, Jacqueline Gilbert, Dolores Gardner, Annie Hines, Bess Hall, Beryl Kirkham, Dudley Lochner, Mary Nell McFadden, Catherine Mollman, Dorothy Mae Perry, Joanne Pierce, Shirley Rogers, Betty Rogers, Betty Sue Sikes, Peggy Le Thomson, Jeanne Tillman, Marie Barbara Wallace.

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager ..... Betsy Tarpley
Assistant Business Manager ..... Shirley Burns
Advertising Manager ..... Bobbie Rees, Dot Miller
Circulation Manager ..... Georgia Fields
Advertising Staff ..... Lois Graham
Circulation Manager ..... Jean Ann Graham
Circulation Staff ..... Kathleen Johnson, Helen Turnbull
Collection Manager ..... Betsy Boyd
Collection Staff ..... Helen Donaldson, Jerry Saunders, Lonnie Sims, Dorothy Gonzalez
Secretary ..... Marianne Brown
Collection Staff ..... Jean Ann Graham, Florence Sims, Loretta Hart, Pat Coffee Shop

Entered as second class mail matter December 20, 1921, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla. under the act of October 6, 1917.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Sorority Social Calendars Bulge As Members Plan Varied Activities

Spurs, parties, teas and after dinner coffees top the list in engagement for the sorority members and their weekend visitors this week.

Miss Ellen Barrett, the house mother at the Alpha Delta Pi house is giving a coffee Sunday afternoon for the chapter. Last weekend while their pledges were here, the girls had a weiner roast.

Carolyn Butler and Jean Gaines and Mary Hopson were guests in Alpha Xi Delta Tuesday afternoon.

Pi Omega pledges will present a skit at their mid-week supper when members are having Sunday night. Last weekend they were at their sweet Barbara Cole last, an alumnae.

Last Monday night the Delta Phi Delta pledges gave the members and their guests a rendezvous party which added up to around the fire singing songs famous for their formal dance which will be held February 24 are being completed.

A new idea was tried out this week by Delta Phi Epsilon members, at their Wednesday afternoon tea, each member invited two girls from other sororities. Sylvia Mooreland, who was in charge of the tea, announced that this was done in an attempt to further inter-sorority relations.

Saturday night the activities and pledges of Delta Zeta will get together at the "Night Club Delta Zeta". The main entertainment of the evening will be a Hula dance given by the pledges.

Marjorie Woodberry, social chairman, had charge of the informal supper last Sunday night given at the Kappa Delta house. Pledges name their "goat" songs after supper.

Sigma Kappa members, pledges, rushees, and their dates will be honored tomorrow night at a belated Valentine party.

Delta Delta Delta Plans Annual Dance

The annual formal dance of the Delta Delta Delta will be held February 24, in the Tri Delt house, will take on a theme of "Hearts and the Den of Iniquity," with appropriate decorations planned.

The all girl orchestra of Florida State College, under the direction of Mr. Fredrick Sykes, will provide the music, Punch will be served on the terrace all evening.

The invited guests for the dance are Miss Ellen Barrett, patrons and patronesses, Governor and Mrs. Millard Caldwell; Justice and Mrs. Stephen Chapman, Alto Adams and Harold Spring, and Mrs. Ernest C. Hiers, professor of sociology at Florida State College, and Mrs. Hiers and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brown Landis Hall was named.

The committees are: Decorations: Ruth L'Engle, Virginia Colvin and Betty Touchton, decorator; Ruth Hall and Rose Marie Carver, program: Betty Trigg Hall, Betty Thompson, and Mae Evans, refreshments; Elaine Prather, Betty Ann Shiver, and Mary Ann Gutierrez, and Betty Reed Shiell, music.

On Saturday afternoon, February 24, there will be an informal tea dance at the Delta Delta Delta house for the members, pledges, and their dates. Mrs. Ellen Barrett and bows in addition to dancing will help decorate the house.

Sunday morning an informal breakfast will be served to the active members, pledges and alumnae following this, a skit under the direction of Betty Touchton, will be put on for the entertainment of the guests.

Drift and Dream Revived by YWCA

"Drift and Dream," a twenty-five minute program of music and verse, has been revived by the YWCA. This program is presented by Mary Jane Young and Jane Turner, Christian association chairmen, and will be given next Friday night at 10:30 Last Friday night the program was in the hands of the publicity committee. Minor Morse acted as a host- ess, followed by Bobbie Perkins in- dulged "Blue Rain." "I Dream of Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair," "Serenade of Sigma Chi", and "Dreaming." Among the poems read were Edna Millay's "Recuse Me" by Elizabeth Berrett Ramona, "To Lucasta" and "To Althea" by Richard Lovelace, "My Life Is Like A Red, Red Rose" by Robert Burns and a prose selection, "Love's Definition."

The committee chairmen in charge of the programs to fit the interests of all the students and its executive members to use only- ful poetry, music and prose on the programs to give real meaning to the name of the group.

Spirogira Guests At Esteren Party

Esteren club will entertain members of Spiragira at a Bunko party tonight, announced Sarah Bennett, president of the Esteren group.

Plans for Skit-night to be held on the last of April, have already been in the Esteren group, Sarah Bennett confirmed. She also added that "Esteren is out to win."

Every Honorary alumnae who previously visited the campus were: Miss Paulette Nolan, '42, and Miss Rita and Martha Twitty, of the class of '44.

Pi Phi's Plan Busy Weekend

A busy weekend is being planned for all Pi Phi actives and pledges this week with pledging, Pi Phi night, and victory ga- dinner.

Frances Fease, freshman from Ft Lauderdale, will be pledged tonight in the Pi Phi traditional pledging ceremony. Edwina Wiggins, junior who has recently returned from Europe and is attending FSC this term, will act as her pledge mother until her initiation next fall.

Dr Ralph Cowles, professor of theory and director of the orchestra will be the honored guest at the monthly Pi Phi night this Saturday evening when he will give a special program of classical music. While playing records of his girls give a brief description of the composer and his works. Dr Cowles will also play some selections on the piano.

Alumnae of Pi Beta Phi and patrons of the campus fraternity will also be guests. Following the program coffee and cake will be served. Sara Ann Davis and June Anderson will take charge of refreshments.

A new project is being started in the Pi Phi house this week—the cultivation of a victory garden. Dorothy Young and Mary Brown will be chief "farmers" although each member is expected to contribute a certain amount of time and energy.

Carrots, squash, radishes, onions, and spinach are some of the plants that will be cultivated. The garden will be in the back yard of the sorority house. Work started very early and definitely gotten so energetic and planned to have fresh vegetables soon. They will give us' some good exercise and I hope some good snack food."

Pi Sigma Pi Holds Initiation Picnic

Natural Bridge, near Wakulla Springs, was the scene last Sunday of the annual picnic of the Pi Sigma Pi fraternity. It is the initiation of new members into Pi Sigma Pi, local botany honorary.

Members of the department and students spent the afternoon collecting specimen plants. After the initiation ceremonies, the group cooked a picnic supper of steaks, potatoes, and coffee over open fires.

New initiates in the honorary are Miss Mildred Henry, state park naturalist, and Herman Rich who was made an honorary member. Dr. Carl Riggs, Miss Mildred Fisher, and Ruth Mary Sturrock.

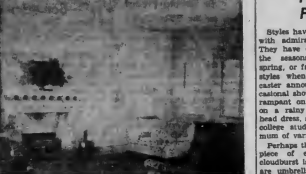
Faculty members attending were Dr Herman Kurz, Dr Ruth Patrick, and Mr. Fred Thompson. Miss Grace Madsen, Miss Mabel Thacher, and Miss Irene Bolick.

Library Features United Nation News

A United Nations exhibit containing bulletins printed by recognized governments, books, and magazines printed by individual organizations, reports of the activities of representative committees, is on display in the library the remainder of this week.

The purpose of the exhibit is to increase the student's knowledge and understanding of the United Nations, Miss Ruth Stated Miss Jean Yeakley, assistant reference librarian.

The exhibit helps to present a picture of the United Nations Conference February 14 at the Trinity Methodist church with Dr Walter Towner, former director of national youth organizations of the Methodist church, as main speaker. His subject will be "We Did Man Do After God Created Him?"



Dr Towner has been director of the national youth organization of the Methodist church for over 15 years. He was recently appointed director of the department of church school work. For over 15 years. He was recently appointed director of the department of church school work.

Also on the program were Rev Robert Boyce of Lakeland, conference director, and Rev. Ralph Florida conference. Bill Malloy, state vice-president; Ruth Jones, treasurer of Methodist youth fund; Anne Allison, chairman of worship commission; and the Reverend Warren Willis, Dunedin, Florida, soloist.

After the program a book display was held on the lower floor of the church and refreshments were served. Approximately 200 young people attended.

Advertising Work

Any student who would be interested in doing advertising work for the Florida please see Shirley Rodgers at the Alpha Gamma Delta house or write a note to box 881.

This section of the interior of Lang Hall shows a portion of the expansive and modernistic living room.

Sophomores "Hop" at Annual Formal; Decorations Feature Merry-Go-Round

Five hundred sophomores and their dates celebrated Valentine's Day two days ahead of time when they attended Florida State College's annual sophomore hop held in the college gymnasium last Saturday night. Partners danced to music of Bobby Brown and his chief "farmers" although each member is expected to contribute a certain amount of time and energy.

Carrots, squash, radishes, onions, and spinach are some of the plants that will be cultivated. The garden will be in the back yard of the sorority house. Work started very early and definitely gotten so energetic and planned to have fresh vegetables soon. They will give us' some good exercise and I hope some good snack food."

Rainbow Is Theme Of Reynolds Party

A rainbow room will be the theme of the Reynolds formal, which will be held in the Reynolds parlor February 24 from 4 until 12 p m, according to Alice Walton, chairman of the dance committees.

Carrying out the theme, a huge rainbow will be displayed at one end of the room. Multi-colored streamers will adorn the room and a crepe paper lattice-work with flowers interwoven will cover the windows. Alice Comstock and Pat Harrison are acting as co-chairmen of this decorations committees.

Vivian Collins, who is in charge of the music, announced that twelve new records will be purchased for the occasion.

Punch will be served by members of the refreshment committee, under the direction of Beverly Walton, chairman.

Guests, invited for the evening, are Dr Frederick and Mrs Henry F Becker, Miss Helen Cate, Miss Grace Fox, Mrs Beverly Stevens and Miss Zula Aldes.

Sarah Jane McKelvy and Emma Jeanne Hicks will act as hostess for the decorations and refreshment committee.

Dormitories Plan Social Activities

Entertainment has been planned for the girls this semester by the dormitory social committees, beginning with a formal for Reynolds Hall on February 24. On the same night a Progressive party will be held in the dormitories of Landis, Gilchrist, Brownwell, and Hall. Various games will be played, and refreshments will be served in Landis. The party will be climaxed by a square dance for girls only.

Bryan's social committee has planned for the girls this semester. Their formal will be April 7 but in the meantime, Bryan girls will dance in their recreation room every Monday night. Miss Mildred Smith, instructors on hand to teach those girls who have not had the chance to dance. Bridge games will be held on Friday nights, and Saturday afternoons there will be of interest to those who play Liverpool rummy. Pop corn parties will be featured on Sunday evening.

Engagement Tea Honors AGD Senior

When Mrs A C Fox of Tampa gave an engagement tea at the Alpha Gamma Delta house from 4:30 to 6 o'clock last Wednesday afternoon, she honored Miss Mary Jane, senior, a valentine theme was carried out in the decorations.

Betty Jane's engagement to Harry Hamilton, Jr., has been made public and also the setting of the wedding date as May 28. Miss Mary Jane is from the Ocala sorority house on graduation day and the color scheme colors staying over for the ceremony.

Mrs Fox had been visiting her daughter during the week-end but left Wednesday night for Tampa.

Red and white azaleas, red camellias, and red and white carnations carried out the valentine theme. Small red hearts with the wedding date written on them were placed about the large cake in the center of the table.

Guests who dropped in during the afternoon included Dr Jennie Tilt, Miss Isabel McKinnell, Miss Elizabeth Lyon, Miss J Lewis, Mrs Katherine Hoffman, Miss Mary Chatbrooke, and other invited guests.

Bellamy Speaks

Dr Raymond Bellamy, professor of sociology, spoke before the Methodist men's supper club at 6 o'clock Monday evening in Havana, Florida.

Addressing the group on "Role of the Church in Postwar America," he stressed the importance of the church in the reconstruction period.

Fashion Flashes

Styles have long been discussed with admiration or disapproval. They have come and gone with the seasons—winter, summer, spring, or fall. But what of the styles when the weather forecaster announces "wind and occasional showers"? Fashion runs rampant on the campus of FSC on a rainy day. The apparel, head dress, and accessories of the college students stands in maximum of variety and contrast.

Perhaps the mostly widely-used piece of equipment during a cloudburst is the umbrella. There are umbrellas of all kinds and hues, some dark and somber, some gaily striped or checked, some merely collapsible. But others fold neatly after the storm is over.

Those who find umbrellas a liability rather than an asset might consider the head dresses, adorning some of the modern chicks on campus, which might amaze even Dame Fashion herself. Turbans, chiefs, and scarves in myriad colors. Some fasses go patriotic and don scarves which proclaim the origin at an army camp or denote their previous service in the army. The regulation rainy-day head gear of the WAVES is not an uncommon sight, and if you're lucky you may see a fireman's helmet. There is also the natural look—the loose hair simply curls tighter and then others whose hair merely "frizzle" with the wind and the rain.

Only after the protection of her hair has been assured does the average college girl think of raincoats. Here the variety is a matter of choice, ranging from gabardine and rubber to oilskin. They also come in many colors and styles.

Lastly, foot gear found on the campus is as varied and useful as versatile style and design. There is the gift of rubber in galoshes and puddles around in open-toed sandals, while others wear galoshes or boots of either ankle or knee height. There have even been a few who wear no shoes seen splashing in and out, and it is not at all surprising when one sees 10 different styles of shoes on some bare-footed, ration-conscious member of the student body.

Cotillion Renews Dancing Classes

Cotillion president, Betty Lou Christian, announced that last night in the Student Alumnae building, dancing classes were held for the first time this year. Classes will be held every Monday from 7:30 to 8:15 by members of Cotillion club until the end of the spring semester in May.

Dancing classes have been the main project of the honorary dance club here for the past four for many years. Each Cotillion member is assigned a class instructing any student who is interested in learning to ball room dance.

Wednesday at the Chi Omega house members and taps of the sorority will be entertained with a special defense project. Announcements concerning this will be made at a later date.

Besides the usual hostessing in the name charity the Cotillion is building every night and conducting dancing classes, the group plans to sponsor a defense film next month. They will also participate in the annual Mid-night program, Betty Lou asserted.

Alumnae News of the Week Consists Of Promotions and New Positions Accepted

Hazel Bowman, graduate of Florida State College and former Flambeau editor, is now doing Red Cross recreational work in India, according to a letter received by Mr Earl Vance, head of the Journalism Department. Before being sent to India, Hazel was employed by the government in confidential work in Washington, D C. Hazel's sister, Eunice, is a former FSC student, is now in nurse's training at John Hopkin's Hospital.

1st Lieutenant Mary L. Gill, Florida State College graduate of 1931 and University of Michigan graduate of 1936, with two years overseas experience, is now serving as hospital dietitian at a Station Hospital in Italy. A unit of the Peninsula Base Section, the hospital handles casualties of the Fifth Army, U S Army Corps and Navy from the Italian Theater.

Other Alumnae serving with the armed forces overseas are Lt Jeanne C Phillips, class of 1932 and First Lt Aldea E Howell, class of 1939. Lt Phillips is in Italy assisting the Red Cross Recreational Workers with a craft program in the Locked Ward of one of the government hospitals. She is awaiting a 30 day leave after serving 28 months overseas.

Lt Lloyd, in her second year with the Army, is stationed at a hospital in Southern England which was first a transient hospital and is now a general hospital. Before December, the hospital received patients throughout the day and night, kept them until recovered, and later transferred them to permanent hospitals in England.

Florida State College Alumnae Gloria Johnson, formerly Gloria Johnson, is now living in Worthington, Ohio, where she and Mr Johnson are both music instructors. Mrs Johnson graduated her bachelor's degree in Music from FSC in 1941 and sounds voice and piano lessons in Reynoldsburg and Chaseland, Ohio, before going to Washington where she is director of the Junior Choir of the Methodist Methodist Church. She is studying voice at Capital University and will get her certificate sometime this spring.

Announcement is made of the promotion of Florida State College graduate Dorothy M Secrest from second to first lieutenant. Li Secnon is serving as military personnel officer at Pina Station Hospital, Pine Arsenal in southeast Arkansas.

Lt Secnon enlisted in the Women's Army Corps in September 1, 1943 and later was graduated from the Officer Candidate School at Fort Des Moines, Iowa. She was a Company Executive and Personnel Officer before transferring to the Arkansas munitions center.

While attending FSC Lt Secnon was affiliated with Phi Kappa Phi and Kappa Delta Pi societies.

Dorm Crowns Moore As Queen of Formal

Large red and white hearts with pictures of the nominee for queen and appropriate verses were the setting for the crowning of Elinor Moore as Queen of Hearts at Jennie Murphree's Valentine dance in the Student Alumnae Building last Saturday night. The queen was elected by secret ballot and her identity remained unknown until she stepped through a large red heart just before her coronation. She was crowned by Ruth Dismore, dorm president, and a bouquet of red roses.

Members of the court, also chosen by secret vote, were: Dorothy Bower, Betty Kennedy, Connie McCall, Betty La Bree, Annie Whitfield, Anne Hudson, and Enied Krouse.

Juanita Kreamelman acted as mistress of ceremonies. Members of the Social Committee in charge of arrangements for the dance were: Babs McCarthy, Dot Wynne, Betty Thomas, Pat Pattishall, Charlotte McGeachy, Ruby Grace Daniels, Jackie Brochie, Norma Schaffner, Betty Lou and Ann Tucker.

Junior counselors, serving as floor hostess were: Renee Hedgecoth, Jane Gaertner, Catherine Gallagher, Irma Mitchell, Charlotte McCarthy, Betty DeVane, Helen Rose, Joy Little, Jocelyn Hall, Mary Kennedy, Carolyn Llewellen, Barbara Irving, Ruth Dismore, Ruth Dismore, Ruth Dismore, Jeanne Koesy, Lola Miller, Marvin Winston, Betty Langston, Edna Yearty, Mary Lena Watford, and Charlotte Burbaker.

Guests of the evening were: Miss Marjorie Judy, Mr and Mrs Frank Bolivia, and Miss Ruth Deviney, faculty sponsors for Jennie Murphree: Mr and Mrs K E Chalick, and Mrs Melanie Turner.

Phi Mu Installs Chapter Officers

Sheila Smith was installed as president of the Phi Mu sorority Monday night in a ceremony at the house.

Other officers installed at that time, installed by Miss Smith, vice president; Barbara Irving, secretary; Frances Taylor, treasurer; Delia Rhodes, pledge trainer; Peggy Lu Thomson, assistant pledge trainer; Jonnie Jordan, rush chairman; Ann Bridges, Panhellenic representative; and Helen Brevard, social chairman.

An after-dinner coffee will be held Sunday night at the house, honoring members, pledges, and rushees. Helen Brevard, social chairman is taking charge of the arrangements.

Our armed forces are getting all the penny-box matches produced and 35 per cent of the paper-book matches.

The Tallahassee Lions Club Gives You!

This Great Opportunity . . .

To See the Original

PASSION PLAY

GOOD SEATS LEFT—BUT GOING FAST

Get yours at once, at the Passion Play Headquarters, Cherokee Hotel Building, 217½ East Park Avenue (Phone 714), as you cannot afford to miss this great stage production which will contribute so much to the civic and cultural life of Tallahassee.

Sunday, February 18th, matinee at 2:00 P M.
Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, February 18, 19, 20, 21
Evening Performance—8:15 P. M.
Admission: All Seats Reserved
$3.60 — $3.00 — $2.40 — $1.80 — $1.20

ONLY TWO STUDENT MATINEES:
2:00 P. M., Monday, February 19 — Wednesday, February 21
Admission: Students $.60; Adults $1.80 and $1.20

MAKE YOUR RESERVATIONS NOW!

(Box Office Open from 11 A.M. to 7 P. M. Daily)
Passion Play Headquarters—Cherokee Hotel Building
217½ East Park Avenue—Phone 714

FLORIDA
Today and Tomorrow
"THIRTY SECONDS OVER TOKYO"
Sunday, Monday
"VERY THOUGHT OF YOU"
Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday
"HERE COMES THE WAVES"
Sunday and Monday
"LAKE PLACID SERENADE"

STATE
Today and Tomorrow
"GILDERSLEEVE'S GHOST"
and
"RIDE RANGER RIDE"
Sunday and Monday
"MOONLIGHT AND CACTUS"
and
"RETURN OF APE MAN"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"FRENCHMAN'S CREEK"
Thursday Only
"CAROLINA BLUES"
and
"TILL WE MEET AGAIN"
Friday and Saturday
"CALL OF THE ROCKIES"
and
"FIREBRANDS OF ARIZONA"

RITZ
Tonight Only
"CRASHING THRU"
and
"MEET THE PEOPLE"
Saturday Only
"SENORA STAGE COACH"
Sunday and Monday
"GREENWICH VILLAGE"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"WHITE CLIFFS OF DOVER"
Thursday and Friday
"THREE MEN IN WHITE"
and
"HENRY ALDRICH'S LITTLE SECRET"

National Exam Is Final Test

Chemical Society Prepares Exams for Students

A national examination was given in January by the chemistry department of Florida State College as the final semester test for all general chemistry students. According to the office staff of the department, this examination is the culmination of eight years of study and work which the American Chemical Society has done through the committee on examinations of the Division of Chemical Education in an effort to provide the teaching profession with satisfactory chemistry examinations for world-wide use. Yearly, this committee has revised and improved these objective tests which are being used in the University of Florida as well as Florida State College.

The annual results of the testing program will not be available until next summer but the chemistry department has ascertained that the scores made by FSC students have compared very favorably with the reports of previous years.

Dr L J Lewis, professor of chemistry, said that the department was well pleased with the grades of the students on the examination and hoped that the appraisal of th, scores from this test would be effective as a partial guide in determining the achievement and progress of the students.

The Journal of Chemical Education announced that at a conference held in Chicago in June 1941, the Committee on Examinations recommended the using of these comprehensive tests and summarized the functions as follows: to provide nation-wide, comprehensive, and reliable standards for the purpose of comparison of individuals with other members of their class or with national standards, comparison of classes from year to year, thus helping to maintain or improve standards, and for the comparison of instruction in the same school or school system, to provide an instrument to measure the absolute achievement of individuals, groups, or schools, giving some objective information on the relative difficulty of the various aspects of chemistry; to stimulate research in the clarification of the objectives behind chemistry instruction, and in the study of educational problems, by providing a more accurate instrument by which achievement may be measured.

The Journal further stated that the experts attempt to appraise the entire program and to suggest ways in which it may be improved so that it may become increasingly useful to a growing number of chemistry teachers. The statistics from these tests have been published in the Journal for several years and they show that, on the average, as indicated by the 50 percentile scores, men students obtain higher scores than women; those who have studied high school chemistry are more competent; students in engineering schools are best prepared for this test; and students in liberal arts colleges do least well. The scores are also affected by factors such as the hours of attendance in the laboratory, hours of lecture, and the course credit hours of chemistry.

The program of the cooperative is constantly expanding and it is hoped that this work will prove to be of increasing service to the profession. The committee believes that the greatest progress can be made in this direction by the cooperation of large colleges and universities in this country and the recognition on the part of the educational administrators that sound research and constructive effort in the fields of chemical pedagogy is as valuable as correspondence work in chemistry proper.

Youth Conference to Uphold Tradition of Outstanding Guests

During the nine years which the Youth Conference has been held on the campus of Florida State College, there have been a great number of speakers from foreign lands. This year's conference will be no exception.

An Indian princess from Oklahoma was one of the first Youth Conference speakers. In 1938, the year following Princess Atalea's appearance, an Indian from India was one of three citizens from other countries who led the conference. Besides Dr Bhaskaran Pandurang Hivale, who was the professor of philosophy in Wilson College, Bombay, India, there was Dr Robert MacGowan, who was born in Scotland and who is now an instructor at Florida Southern College in Lakeland, and Miss Yosko Saito, a Japanese coltura soprano.

The following year a Chinese soloist, Miss Louise I-Hsuen Kwan, sang to the conference audience. She was a student of Mme Slavinoff, Russian operatic star and a graduate of the Shanghai Conservatory of Music. A fellow countryman, Chwen Kiang Djang, came with Miss Kwan in 1939. Mr. Djang was Baptist Young People's secretary for China.

Another native Indian to the 1939 conference was Bishop Jashwant Rao Chitambar, the first Indian elected superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal church. Miss Ila Romola Sircar, also a native of India, came the next year. Miss Sircar, a graduate of Punjab University, was general secretary of the student Christian movement in India and one of the youngest delegates to the missionary conference held in Madras several years ago. In the same team with Miss Sircar, Dr McGowan paid a return visit to Florida State.

Miss Olga Avramova of Bulgaria was the singer with the 1941 group. From Brazil Mr L M Braucr came the same year. He was secretary of the home mission board for the Baptist church in Brazil. Dr Hivale, who had spoken to the conference in 1938, returned to speak again in 1941. Robert Baird McClure was the first Canadian to be a conference spokesman. His experience as a Red Cross doctor in China made him familiar with the Burma Road section which was being discussed at that time.

War forced the 1942 Youth Conference to use talent mostly from our own country. Mr Max Brauer was the only native of a foreign country on that team. He, in former times had been mayor of a large German city and a member of the Prussian Senate. Although he had been offered posts in Hitler's government several times, he was forced finally to flee from Germany because of his opposition to the Nazi party. At one time the League of Nations sent Mr Brauer to China as an adviser on municipal government.

The 1943 conference had three nationals. John Williams Hughes was a young Welshman who won the General's scholarship for distinguished service in the cause of peace and international cooperation. During the Spanish Revolution he commanded a medical unit on the front lines and broadcasted from besieged Madrid.

Mr Hipatia Ycaz, graduated from the University of Lithuania and was a delegate to the Amsterdam World Conference of Christian Youth in 1938. He was also a refugee from the German government. The Rev George B Howard was an American citizen although he was born of American parents. He had been an official translator at several Pan-American conferences.

Besides the citizens of foreign countries over 50 Americans outstanding in religious and educational fields have taken part in the conference during the nine years in which it has been held. Leaders of last year's meeting were all Americans. Students who attended conference sessions will recall Dr Walter Van Kirk, the Rev Ernest W Rhea, Miss Gloria Werner, Dr Hugh C Stuntz, the Rev Stanton Lautenschlager, Dr Mark Dawber and Dr Charles T Leber.

Miss Louise Woodford, state director of the Chain of Missions has promised that this year's leaders will uphold the standards set by their predecessors. This year's group will be an agricultural expert on Indian problems, a leader from Latin America, two experts on the Far East, a Mexican missionary, a pastor of a college church, and several home mission workers.

Vocational Guidance Lectures to Begin

Programs to Aid Students In Selecting Vocations

The Personnel department has announced a series of vocational guidance lectures to begin February 19 at 8:15 p m in the club room of the Student Alliance building. The purpose of these programs is to provide information for students who are undecided as to the type vocation they wish to follow after leaving college.

The theme of the semester's program will be "Laboratory Technicians in Civilian and Military Life." WAC Lt Merle Hutchinson graduate of FSC and director of Tallahassee Clinical laboratory, will speak concerning the civilian phase of the field. Lt Melba Schaeffer, a laboratory technician before entering the WACs, will speak on the military phase. Both of these officers are stationed at Dale Mabry Field.

The second program will be held early in March for the benefit of those interested in work dealing with people. Dr Elizabeth Andrew will be the speaker and the title of her lecture is "Personnel Work, New Field for Women."

Announcements of other programs to be held during this semester will be made at a later date.

Liddell Speaks To FSC 'Y' Members

A meeting to investigate the value, functions, and continuation of the Young Women's Christian association on this campus was held February 8, with Dr Anna Forbes Liddell, advisor, as speaker.

A united campus religious program for the purpose of increasing student leadership was the outstanding suggestion made. This organization would be composed of presidents of each religious group, and a member from each committee in these groups would be sent as a representative to the meetings of the United Campus Religious organization.

In her talk Dr Liddell pointed out the values of YWCA on the FSC campus. The organization started Sophomore council helped with the planning of COA, assisted in the printing of the Gold books, and promoted a recreational program in the city of Tallahassee.

"YWCA ventured into new fields as these duties were taken over by other organizations," Dr Liddell pointed out.

Day of Prayer

World Student Christian Federation Day of Prayer will be held February 16 and a program has been planned for 3:30 Sunday afternoon in the Student-Alumnae auditorium.

The program will be a directed meditation and fellowship with students all over the world. The worship committee of YWCA, with Marsha Hart Clayton as chairman, will be in charge.

Casting for Play Is Taking Place

Casting for the "Yellow Jacket," a full length play to be presented in the Augusta Conradi theater April 11, 12, and 13, is now taking place and will be completed this week, according to Miss Evelyn Bowman, assistant professor of speech.

"Yellow Jacket", a Chinese fantasy by George Hazelton Benrimo, will be presented in the regular Chinese manner, using the conventional chorus and property man.

In charge of designing and constructing the scenery for this production are Miss Ann Kirn, instructor in art, and members of stage craft art class 207. They also will handle the lighting effects.

Any speech student who is interested in participating in this production is requested by Miss Bowman to see her immediately.

"Love Will Find A Way"—Sometimes!

One Florida State junior has reason to doubt the truth of that old proverb, "Love will find a way."

Her lieutenant, whom she had not seen in two years, arrived at her home just before she left to come back to FSC at the end of the Christmas holidays. He drove her back to college, but they were not able to talk because it was necessary to drive very fast in order that the girl would arrive at the college before the 12 o'clock deadline.

They could not be together the next morning, because she had classes. When he saw her that afternoon, he was very ill, and on his way to Dale Mabry hospital.

The girl has only one statement to make. "Two years overseas without a scratch, and he gets sick in Tallahassee!"

Hillel Group Hears Brotherhood Talks

With the theme of the evening, "A Tour With a Brother," the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation has arranged a brotherhood evening at Temple Israel, Copeland and St Augustine Streets, Thursday night at 8:00.

The speakers of the evening will be Dr Raymond Bellamy, professor of sociology who will address the assemblage on the subject "Good Will — How to Think About It," and Mr Earl L Vance, associate professor of English and journalism who will discuss the theme, " Good Will — How to Act About It."

Arrangements are being made for suitable movies for the evening. Refreshments will follow the conclusion of the discussions.

All the religious denominations on campus as well as all college girls are cordially invited to participate.

Fire Alarm Catches FSC Girls Unaware

Girls with their hair in curlers or wrapped in towels poured forth from the dormitories last Friday afternoon at five thirty in response to the fire alarm in such attire as kimonas, bathrobes, shorts, and other scanty apparel.

The fire drill, the first this semester, caught the students napping, taking showers and shampooing hair. Many of them hesitated in the path of duty, torn between obeying the instructions instructions given them in regard to fire drills and the disgrace of appearing in public informally.

The girls in New Hall remained undisturbed as they have no fire alarm system as yet.

Walrus, in early days, were plentiful in the Gulf of St Lawrence.

Bellamy Conducts Tour in Museum

Science classes received first-hand information on the bird collection in the museum located on the top floor of the Student Alumnae building when Dr Raymond Bellamy, professor of sociology, conducted a one-hour tour through the museum last Friday morning.

Students viewed the shrunken head of an Indian woman from which still flows long black hair and which is now less than four inches in diameter. The eyelashes and eyebrows remained intact. Colorful Inca pottery, jewelry, costumes and blankets were other objects of interest under observation.

Classes of Dr Leland J Lewis, professor of chemistry, and Miss Isabel McKinnell, assistant professor of chemistry, took part.

Prepare For SPRING
With a New Wool
Spring Suit
and Spring Coat
from
P. W. Wilson Co.
Since 1837

SLEEP MY PRETTY ONE..

Sleep . . . sleep it through. Dream those end-of-the-war dreams, and wake and do nothing and sleep again.

While you sleep and dream . . . while you wake and wish and do the little silly things you do before you sleep again . . . five hundred thousand boys are falling.

Count them.

Count them instead of counting sheep. Try it tonight. They're American boys, boys you know. But be careful . . . they're coming closer. Yesterday the husband of a friend. Today a next door neighbor. Tomorrow . . . ?

Sleep my pretty one. The Women's Army Corps will march without you.

THE WOMEN'S ARMY CORPS OF THE ARMY OF THE UNITED STATES

Recruiting at

U. S. ARMY RECRUITING STATION, WESTERN UNION BLDG., TALLAHASSEE, FLA.

The Vogue

Teamwork for War

The Florida Flambeau

Teamwork for Peace

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Tallahassee, Florida

VOL XXXII, No. 16

FEBRUARY 23, 1945

Youth Conference Will Open Weekend Session on Friday; First Meeting Is Held in SAB

Specialized Speakers Will Discuss Various Topics At Seminars and Open Meetings; Social Functions Are Also Planned

The schedule for this year's Youth Conference which will begin next Friday afternoon with registration at the Baptist Student House, includes time for a banquet and party, seminars, addresses, and personal conferences with the ambassadors.

Dr Winburn Thomas, secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement of America and former missionary to Japan, will preside at all meetings of the conference. Dorothy Caswell, co-student chairman with Margaret Smith, will introduce him to the members of the conference at the opening session in the Student Alumnae building auditorium Friday night.

Isabel Rogers will lead a short worship service before Dr Thomas completes the rest of the conference speakers.

Leaders to Preview

Each of the leaders will give a short preview of their chosen field of discussion for the conference. Dr Raymond B Drukker, director of organized work in Jackson county, Kentucky, will discuss Christian citizenship during the week-end. Latin America will be discussed by Dr Charles W Hinton, former rector of San Ramonmill in Mexico City, and Mr Wade D Hurley, former international secretary of the YMCA. Mr Hurley has also done a great deal of prison camp work since the beginning of the war and is prepared to tell of the conditions for which American prisoners of war are living.

Dr Blake Smith, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church in Houston, Texas, has been closely associated with college student work for many years. He has also been a close observer of the recent change in the Christian attitude toward race and is capable of giving first hand information to those who are interested.

Orient Represented

The Orient will be represented by two women and one man. Mrs Ormond L Archer was a Methodist missionary in Singapore and Malaya, until she was forced to flee from the Japanese invasion. Miss Eleanor Wilson volunteered to be the last woman to leave the Caroline and Marshall islands before the Japanese arrived there. Because of her knowledge of Japan she has been asked by the government to help in the training of aides going to that section. Dr Arthur T Moulton is an expert in the agricultural problems of the Orients of India. At the present he is on furlough from Allahabad Agricultural college where he is a professor.

Miss B Louise Woodford of St Petersburg is state secretary of the Florida Chain of Missions, within the Episcopal church in the college section. She has been in charge of planning the Youth Conference and will be there to help it.

Saturday morning sessions will start at 9 o'clock with worship led by Dr Thomas. Miss Eleanor Wilson will address the whole group before the business meeting at which next year's student partners will be elected. Dr Thomas will again speak immediately following the business meeting.

Seminar Begins

Seminars will begin at 11 o'clock. The group will divide itself as it pleases, each one made up of a particular subject. Discussion about Mexico will be led by Dr Hinton. Dr Hurrey will be in charge of the group studying the student movement in South America. Dr Arthur Mosher will lead those interested in India. Dr Drukker and his seminar will be joined about Christian citizenship. Senior conferences will be held in Dean's room for Dr Smith, Miss Wilson and Dr Thomas will be joined by Carmen of the group studying the philosophy of the Japanese. The same schedule will be repeated at the afternoon with the exception of the one investigating the problems of Mexico. Dr Thomas will lead a discussion of foreign vocations in his place.

This conference is the first one to include a definite time for social contact between the ambassadors. Anyone desiring to discuss a problem privately with the ambassadors will find that there is a time allotted for that purpose after lunch Saturday.

Banquet to Be Held

A banquet in the college dining hall will begin the Saturday evening program. It will be fol-

Continued on page three

Coughlin Is Speaker Here

Public Health in Wartime Discussed in Convo

Dr Paul Coughlin spoke on public health in wartime and the importance of health education in Convocation this morning. He was presented by Senior hall as a part of the program instituted by the Student World Affairs committee to present to the student body each week a discussion of the purpose of keeping students better informed on current events.

Dr Coughlin emphasized the importance of the board of health, both in peacetime and wartime, in connection with its origin, purpose and functions of the board of health, and the duties of the civil and military. To illustrate the value of public health service Dr Coughlin gave examples of the work of the local board of health, which included inspection of milk and water, checking up

Continued on page three

Films to Be Shown Sponsored by VV's

Village Vamps are sponsoring three defense films which will be presented in the Augusta Conrad Theater tomorrow night at 8 o'clock and Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, stated Ann Jackson, president.

The films, as announced by Nell Merkel in connection therewith will include "Winning Your Wings," a technicolor movie starring James Stewart. "Task Forces," portraying the life of the fighting Marines, and "Mission Accomplished."

Jeanne Leech was responsible for the posters concerning the showing of the films.

Ann also announced that in the future, held last Thursday at 5 o'clock at the Kappa Delta house. Betsy Gordon, junior class vice-president and Henrietta Tresvant, treasurer. They were elected at the last meeting of the year. Julia Collins and Betty Love McCallum.

Meginniss Presents Minutes Of Platonic Debating Society

Minutes of the Platonic Debating Society of The State Seminary, West of the Suwannee, predecessor of Florida State College, were presented last week to the college library by Lester Meginniss. A Meginniss, a former student of the State Seminary and member of the Debating society.

The college was co-educational but the debating society had only male members during its first few years. The constitution, by-laws and minutes of the meetings, beginning in 1897, were written by male secretaries in longhand in a large, now somewhat dilapidated ledger which appears to have survived fire and water.

Problems of misconduct subject to fines were emphasized in the by-laws. Among them are: Using profane or indecorous language in the hall—.5c; talking so as to disturb the house—.15c; spitting on the floor or furniture—.5c; coming in an ungentlemanly manner —.10c to .50c.

In May of 1899 there was a motion to "ask young ladies in school to attend the next debate," when the question was to be "Resolved: That Women Should Vote." The answer official decision was in the negative, but in the irregular discussion which followed, in which the women

The Rev Winburn T Thomas, PhD, foreign missionary to Japan, will preside at the Youth Conference beginning March 2.

Vaar-Nason Speaks Here

French Commandante Tells of Experiences

Lt Jacques Vaar-Nason, commandante of the French Air Forces at Tyndall Field, Panama City, visited Florida State College February 21, and gave several lectures on campus concerning his experience in France during the war. He also spoke to the Rotary Club of Tallahassee on that date.

Lt Vaar-Nason spoke in French to a group of French students Wednesday afternoon. He discussed French school and the effect of the war on education in France, and related many of his experiences which he had lived in the United States.

The highlight of the day's program was a tea at 4 o'clock in the Augusta Conradi theatre in the Hall of Music.

The commandante spoke of his country before the war. "France was a peaceful country. Its people were happy," he stated.

When the war began Lt Vaar-Nason was in the reconnaissance flight. "We had the honor to be on the front," he said.

On June 7, 1940, the Germans took Paris. Lt Vaar-Nason was still stationed at Metz, but on June 12 he left, with the rest of the forces there. They found the streets filled with refugees from northern France, Belgium and Holland. The people were afraid of the conqueror, for they had seen their country invaded by the Germans, and they fled. They took everything with them that they possibly could.

After the armistice was signed, Lt Vaar-Nason was stationed at Nice, where the Italian commission was stationed. Deciding to try to get out into Spain, he attempted to cross the border, but about 50 miles from Zaragoza the main guard of Seville caught him. He was kept in jail for a month then he was sent to a concentration camp with other Frenchmen Poles, Dutchmen, Greeks, British and Belgians. In this camp Lt Vaar-Nason remained for seven months Then he went to North Africa.

The lieutenant described the tragic conditions in France to-

Continued on page three

Tickets For Mia Slavenska Are Available

William Primrose, Violist, Scheduled March 14 On Both Series

Dance Ensemble Appears On Campus March 7

Reserved seat tickets are still available for Mia Slavenska and her dance ensemble, the next Artist Series event scheduled for 8 series on March 7, stated Mr Karl O Kuerstéiner, dean of the School of Music.

The tickets are being given out every day through February 28, except on Saturday and Sunday in the Student Alumnae building from 4 to 6 p m.

"One person may take as many as four blue tickets to obtain the reserved seat tickets for herself and friends," said Dean Kuerstéiner.

For the benefit of those who will be unable to obtain tickets to see the Slavenska ensemble Dean Kuerstéiner has announced that William Primrose, who has been called "the world's greatest violinist," will appear the following week, March 14, in Westcott Auditorium, on a double ticket which will be the only ones those who have either the blue or the red tickets.

Tickets for the appearance of Mr Primrose will be distributed every day from 4 to 6 p m. except Saturday and Sunday, from 4 to 6 p m.

The dancing troupe is made up of Miss Slavenska, her partner, David Tihmar, and other well-known dancers, among which are Audrey Keane, Norma Vasilvina, and Joseph Milo.

The musical expression will be explained by the three violinists who are with the group, William Schatzkamer and Mary Ann Shadduck. Some of the compositions to be presented will be "Flight of the Bumblebee" by Rimsky-Korsakoff; "Salome" by Glazounov; "Balkan Sketches" by Tcherepnine; and Classical American arrangements, among which is "The American Ballads," based on the music of Stephen Foster. Another dance is built around the old Negro spirituals. "Both of the latter will especially appeal to the southern audience," said Dean Kuerstéiner.

Dean Kuerstéiner said that Miss Ann Kirn and Miss Evelyn Bowman of the art department, are responsible with Miss Slavenska's special lighting director, Jean Rosenthal, to make the scenery and lighting effects. He also mentioned that Miss Slavenska has designed many of the costumes worn by herself and the other members of her ensemble.

Newspaper reviews of the critics have said that Miss Slavenska and her company have great technical virtuosity, and show cercies but exhuberant character. Ballet Russe has the distinction of rendering of traditional ballet.

Mia Slavenska and her dancing troupe will appear on the 8 Artist Series March 7.

Trial Period Passes Senate

Three Point Program to Be Carried Out

Student Senate approved the three-point program governing the trial period of the new rulings regarding students' return after an overnight absence, voted to extend Senior automatic late permission to one hour after second light flash, and tabled a motion that a resolution be sent to College Council recommending the extension of Senior Hall privileges to all seniors.

Last Friday at a call meeting Senate approved the first two points of the three-point program and approved the third point at the regular Senate meeting the following Wednesday. Also at the meeting Wednesday it was unanimously voted to change the reading of the gold book on Senior Automatic from, "A senior may have this permission until 11:30 p m. the evening of the student's ..." to read, "A senior may have this permission until one hour after second light flash on the average of once a month." This change is also designed to eliminate confused interpretation as the privilege will be at present seems that a senior may not have the privilege on Friday and Saturday nights. Both the three-point program and the legislation on senior automatic have been

Continued on page three

Campbell Addresses AAUP Tuesday Nite

"Workshop Idea in Higher Education" Is Subject

"The Workshop Idea in Higher Education" was the topic of an address by Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College, given before the American Association of University Professor Tuesday night. Outlining the characteristics of a workshop, Dr Campbell stated that the effectiveness of the work is determined by the actual results achieved.

After outlining the history of its development, Dr Campbell listed qualities of a workshop as determined by the group. He also said that the responsibility for different phases of the problem is carried by different individuals and that the workshop is not rigid as to a time schedule.

Stating that the workshop is not a new method of teaching, Dr Campbell said, "Similar procedures have already been used in many fields for a long time. However, in recent years the workshop has developed rather widely."

Continued on page three

Geo Washington's Grandniece Sleeps Here Everlastingly

During the season of George Washington's birthday many Tallahasseeans boast that the grandniece of the Father of Our Country formerly slept here and is now interred in the old Episcopal cemetery on Park ave.

In 1824, Prince Achille Murat, nephew of Napoleon and future husband of George Washington's grand niece, Catherine Willis, settled on a plantation near Tallahassee. Prince Murat, who once bore the title of Prince of Two Sicilies, added much to the politics of Tallahassee. He was alderman in 1825, mayor in 1826, and postmaster in 1826.

Any astonishment that Prince Murat felt in regard to the customs of his Florida neighbors must have been equalled by their amazement at his home furnishings. It is reported that he would eat anything that crawled, swam or flew.

Shortly after settling in Leon county he met and married Miss Catherine Willis Gray.

Hasting two miles from Tallahassee on the old Ochlockonee road one can see the Murat residence. It is a story-and-a-half frame structure with twin brick chimneys built in the early 1800's for Prince Murat and his wife. Sheltered by a group of old time trees, it stands on a plantation named "Belle Vue" by Princess Murat.

Press Club Today

Press Club, in its first meeting since the election of officers for the coming semester, will discuss "Flambeau Policy" at 730 Friday night in SAB club room, it has been announced. Purpose of the discussion is to explain principles of the college newspaper and to answer any questions concerning it. Editor-in-chief, Cordelia Barclay, and associate Editor, Rachel Ball and Janet Pancoast will be on hand to offer explanations and clarifications of policy.

All students interested in journalism are urged to attend the forum-meeting.

SENIOR DEADLINE

All Seniors must apply for degree cards by tomorrow, the registrar's office has announced.

College Council Announces That Seniors With C Average Will Be Eligible for Senior Hall Membership During the Coming Year

FSC Observes Brotherhood Week in Speeches, Program

A radio program consisting of speeches by college students representing the various religions and a program at Temple Israel are features of Brotherhood week on the campus of Florida State College, which is being observed throughout the country February 18 through 25.

The week, which is sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, proposes to further a spirit of cooperation between the various faiths.

Referring to participation by the college in this observance, Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College, said, "We are glad to cooperate in promotion of National Brotherhood week. It is our hope that all students and faculty members will participate in some of the activities of this nationwide observance."

The program, which appeared over Garnet and Gold Tuesday night, included talks by Isabel Rogers, Geraldine Halpern and Ann Parker, representing the Protestant, Jewish and Catholic faiths, respectively and appealed for fair play and brotherhood among the three religions.

Stating that loyal Americans of all religious faiths are united in the war effort, Isabel said that brotherhood will guarantee a lasting peace as nothing else can.

Geraldine Halpern, speaker for the Jewish faith, proposed as a motto for Brotherhood work, "In Peace as in War—Brotherhood." Ann Parker, Catholic speaker, stressed that we are fighting the present war in defense of the ideals exemplified by the spirit of Brotherhood week.

Temple Israel was host to college girls and members of the Tallahassee community Thursday night after the invocation by Rev Jeffrey Alfond, Dr Raymond Mahaney of the Social Security Department spoke on "Good Will—How to Think About It." Mr Ed Earl Vance, associate professor of English and journalism, spoke on "Good Will—How to Act About It." An hour of discussion followed.

Copies of the poem, "Pure Race Meets Mixed-Blood Boys" by H J Phillips and "One Nation Indivisible" by Rosemary Benet, records about world brotherhood, can be obtained by college students at the Flambeau distribution center in lower Westcott.

Continued on page three

Dr A C Wilgus Speaks Here

Topic Is Transition Of Pan American Policy

By telling of the slow transition of the Pan-American policy into a Good-Neighbor Policy that is even at this time being put into execution of the Western Hemisphere in gaining closer unity in the days of war, Dr Curtis Wilgus, professor of Hispanic American History at George Washington University, Washington, D.C. gave a clear picture of the foundation that this organization is built on and of the antecedents it had.

The Good-Neighbor Policy was based on four separate policies dating from 1823, with Monroism, which was one of the principal factors to the Latin American countries," Dr Wilgus remarked. From this the war between Mexico and the United States in 1846, the policy developed into an imperialistic one, which the U S was prone to call "The manifest destiny," which ended in an era of debt in 1871. Then came the "big stick diplomacy" in the war with Spain in 1898, when the U S put Marines in the Southern Seas and attached Cuba to the United States.

With the coming of the fourth policy, Dollar Diplomacy, came the first international meeting of the American states in 1889. Dr Wilgus said, "Dollar Policy is solely them sions and to get the Latin American's trade." Elihu Root, president of Florida State College, given before the American Association of University Professor Tuesday night. Outlining the characteristics of a workshop, Dr Campbell stated that the effectiveness of the work is determined by the actual results achieved.

After outlining the history of its development, Dr Campbell listed qualities of a workshop as determined by the group." He also said that the responsibility for different phases of the problem is carried by different individuals and that the workshop is not rigid as to a time schedule.

Stating that the workshop is not a new method of teaching, Dr Campbell said, "Similar procedures have already been used in many fields for a long time. However, in recent years the workshop has developed rather widely."

Pin-Up Contest Nets $1,668 As Ensign Takes First Place

Ensign Joe Smith has been voted pin-up boy of Florida State College in Dot Dunaway's contest to sell war bonds and stamps for the U S Treasury. The total amount of bonds and stamps spent on Ensign Joe Smith was $1668.60.

He is a friend of Barbara Fennell who lives in Reynolds Hall. He has been in the service for almost a year. His favorite foods are steak and French fries. A confirmed bachelor saying are, "Hey soldier wait for me," and "I can stay, but that's not to go." Ensign says of him, "I think he's the most handsome man I've ever met. Ask me some more questions, I like to talk about him."

The third choice for pin-up boy was Private First Class Sam Dayvid of the United States Marine Corps, who is on duty now in the South Pacific. He is a friend of Betty LaBree, a freshman living in Jennie Murphree Hall. He is

Continued on page three

Chemistry Honorary Increases Members

Test Tubes Supplant Pine, Hoe To Be Initiated

Eight students of Florida State College were invited to membership by Gamma Sigma Epsilon, national honorary chemistry fraternity, this week.

The new pledges were announced by Betty Reall, president of Gamma Sigma Epsilon chapter. They are Betty Jane Fox, Pranksie Vinson, Dorothy Kennedy, Mary C (Teeny) Langston, Mary Jane Kirst, Jean Ann White, Ruth L'Hote, and Jean Hamilton.

Along with the new pledges an initiation next semester will be held. Betty Trigg Thompson, who was invited to membership earlier in the year.

"Tiny test tubes filled with blue and yellow chemicals, the color of Gamma Sigma Epsilon, are being worn by the nine pledges instead of traditional pine and hoe.

Gamma Sigma Epsilon chose the nine new pledges in recognition of outstanding scholarship among other chemistry students.

Dr Annie Petty, other officers of the Florida State College chapter of the fraternity are Helen Thatcher, recording secretary, Jo treasurer; Carol Sherman, in charge of initiation.

Other members of the chapter are Ann Tisdale, Alice Trieste, and Eugenia Jolner.

History Building Work Is Begun

Construction of an addition to the History building has begun Monday, stated Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College.

The new portion will not be located on the southeast side of the building, is expected to relieve the crowded conditions existing at the present time," said Dr Campbell.

The wing will be completed by the beginning of the fall term in September, he continued, to present plans. Consisting of a basement and first-floor addition, the wing will contain four class-rooms and two offices. The basement will be used as a dressing room by performers in the Augusta Conradi Theater.

Two additional stories will be constructed above the new wing after the war, increasing the number of rooms to 18. Paul Smith Construction Company of Tallahassee is in charge of building. Work of excavating ground in preparation for actual construction began last week.

Pemble Elected

Peggy Pemble was elected to senior Senate representative in the election held last Friday in lower Westcott, Rachel Ball was defeated by a vote of 103 to 53.

Only 156 seniors bothered to vote, a bare majority of the class. The former senior representative left school last semester.

Another Statement Raises Director's Approval On Some Functions

Daytime Riding, Golfing, Fairs Are Included

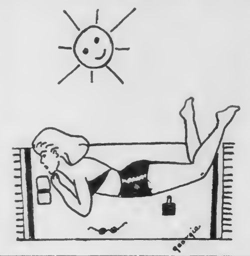
Two statements were issued this week which allow students increased freedom and responsibility.

All second semester juniors who have an academic average of "C" for the past 2½ years and are not in the "mature student" classification will be eligible for membership in next year's Senior Hall.

Approval of the resident hall director is no longer required for daytime riding in cars or on horses, for golfing, hiking, or picnics, for circuses, fairs, or horse shows approved by the college, for dining at approved places, for anything which requires a chaperon provided that the chaperon is present, or for a first date with a young man. It is required, however, to introduce the young man to the resident hall director even though an approval signature is not needed on the date card.

The statement about senior hall issued by college council stated that the organization would be essentially the same as in former years. All members will live in one dormitory area and will have their own governing body whose membership will be representative.

The explanation for the exclusion of mature students the statement said that members of college council felt confident that these women would need the experience of living on Senior Hall in order to be successful. Records from the Registrar's office will be used to determine academic eligibility.



College council considers Senior Hall an important privilege to prove that they are capable of assuming the responsibilities that accompany increased freedom." It will retain jurisdiction over the activities of Senior Hall and the evaluation of its results.

The admittance of practically all members of the junior class into the added freedom of Senior Hall climaxes six years of numerical growth. When Senior Hall was established in 1938, 48 girls were selected for membership on the basis of scholastic rating, health, and personal citizenship record. Hall government was similar to the government of Jenny Murphree Hall. A council of students acted in an advisory capacity for individual members. Girls were entitled to complete personal freedom as long as it did not conflict with the policies of the college. Residents were subject to judicial council only if they were dropped from hall membership for violation of group standards. Senior Hall was considered an experiment in personal liberty and responsibility.

Sixty-four girls were invited to

Continued on page three

Spirit of the Week

• MORE ON COEDUCATION

Discussions of the issue of coeducation for Florida's state colleges seems to be state-wide now.

Directors of Florida Junior Chamber of Commerce, in a business meeting held in Tampa two weeks ago, adopted a resolution favoring coeducation at the University of Florida.

The resolution was adopted after little debate and supported by all state delegates except those from the Tallahassee chamber.

In backing the move to make the Gainesville university coeducational, the state junior chamber limited registration of women to the junior and senior classes and the graduate schools. The resolution recommended the plan be put into effect at the opening of the fall term in 1945.

The plan approved by the Junior Chamber would provide that Florida State College remain as a first-rate state women's college, which position many people feel to be desirable.

The Florida Alligator editorially stated that the Jaycee plan "is desirable and practical. With such a setup, the state of Florida can have one first-class university and one first-class woman's college."

The editorial further stated that the "most attractive feature of this plan is that the cost of conversion under the system for coeducation in the junior and senior years would be negligible. Women now attend the University during summer sessions with no conversion costs."

William G Carleton, head of the political science department at University of Florida, endorsed coeducation for the University of Florida in an address at a banquet of the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce January 20.

Dr Carleton said, "Coeducation is no longer a debatable question. The question was settled in the affirmative fifty years ago. The University of Florida is the only state university which excludes women."

He might have added that the only other Florida state institution of higher knowledge is equally discriminating against men.

Speaking for the Gainesville Coeducation Committee, Selden Waldo, its general chairman, said at the Jaycee meeting, that if the state legislature adopts the recommendations of the State Jaycees, both the University of Florida and the Florida State College for Women, "can become first rate institutions."

"There will be no competition between the two schools since many of the courses women would take at the University of Florida are those not available at Tallahassee," he declared.

Many people believe that coeducation should be extended still further. They believe that Florida, one of the fastest growing states, could and should be represented in the academic field by two leading state universities.

War-time facilities should of course be taken into consideration, they believe, but since "coeducation is no longer a debatable question", the further extension of coeducation should not be an issue, as soon as facilities permit. Those who believe in Florida's great future possibilities hold that the state could adequately support such a change and would profit greatly from it.

• LIBERALISM AND SENIOR HALL

Much should be said for the recent liberality of College Council in reducing the vague and general limitations for members on Senior Hall to a mere academic restriction requiring an average of C for 2 1-2 years.

That this is a decisive and progressive step in the history of the College Government Association on this campus and is a direct response to Dean Dorman's verbal appeal the first of the year advising students to return to principle and allow them to accept more responsibility is evident.

In the Gold Book of 1943-44, under Senior Hall, there reads that Senior Hall "is an honor, a reward, and a privilege" but it limits this honor, reward, and privilege to those juniors considered "on the basis of maturity of judgment, thoughtfulness, and reliability." The Gold Book also stipulated that only "those who have shown comprehension of and contribution toward good citizenship" should be members of Senior Hall.

Stuart Chase is only one of the noted semantic experts who warns people of generalizations such as "thoughtfulness" and "reliability." It is his belief that vague and contradicting meanings of such words lead to misinterpretations of many kinds. Last year out of 366 students 199 were chosen under these wordy limitations. The other one third of the prospective seniors were eliminated on the basis that they did not live up to these requirements.

Although these restrictions eliminated over one-third of the seniors this year from living under the liberal rules of Senior Hall many have thought that all seniors are capable of the responsibility that accompanies "increased freedom."

This last has been accomplished in the recent legislation and all seniors, with exception of those under the scholastice requirements and those considered as "mature students", wil be given ful responsibility next year.

It is the hope of all students that next year all seniors in Senior Hall will live up to their new responsibility and prove themselves worthy of such freedom. In the past years members of Senior Hall, chosen under the former requirements, have proved themselves worthy of self-chosen legislation. There is a hope and faith that ALL seniors can also prove themselves so worthy. It is with this hope that College Council has issued such liberal legislation. And it is in this hope that all seniors who will be eligible for Senior Hall next year should have if they wish to continue the general trend of more responsibility and freedom for the college students on this campus.

• WE MAKE PROGRESS

Showing true response to student wishes, two governing bodies at FSC, College Council and Student Senate, this week legislated on long-sought changes in regulations actions—for which both groups should surely be commended.

Long a subject of discussion, the 12 o'clock rule for overnight absences had been amended by Executive Council recently to permit students to return from overnight absences any time before 11 o'clock at night, or after 7 o'clock in the morning. However, Student Senate took advantage of a constitutional provision and this week completed action to provide for a trial period during which students would be on their honor to return when possible before second light flash. It was decided that a statistical report would be kept to define reasons for which students returned during the late night hours, and thereby to determine the legitimacy of late arrivals on campus. If the report is favorable, the now disputed rule may be abolished. This Senate action must still be passed upon by College Council, but the very action is a forward step in giving students more responsibility in campus regulation.

Further work by Student Senate in session Wednesday afternoon was the movement to extend senior automatic permission from one half hour on week days and no weekend permission to one full hour at all times. That means that seniors will be permitted to stay out on the average of once per month until 12 o'clock during the week, and until 12:30 on weekends. Such a move indicates that girls who have spent nearly four years in college will have a chance to demonstrate to a greater degree their discretion and maturity. This act also has yet to be passed upon by College Council, but Senate must be congratulated for inaugurating the bill.

College Council has also moved to lessen student dependency upon regimentation in the form of permitting upperclassmen to assume more social responsibilities in regard to signing out without director's approval for places which had formerly required such supervision and to have dates without having to have them approved first. This also has done much to aid the cause of student judgment and responsibility. Faculty and students alike have, by this new ruling, taken cognizance of the face that we, as persons soon to be entirely on our own as we follow our professions after college, must learn now to direct our own activities if we are to succeed in the future.

All of the new legislations mark the beginning of a time in which we can prove by proper appreciation and deeds that we are capable of accepting duties and responsibilities of self restrictions—socially, as well as governmentally.

Skits Presented

A group of five skits was presented by the members of Zeta Phi Eta, professional speech fraternity last Sunday on a program sponsored by Mortar Board for the patients at the Camp Gordon Johnston hospital.

The skits included "Hers Villian 'n Everything." "Bo - Peep in Trouble Again." "The Bun," "You Name It and You Can Have It," and "The Typical Doctor."

The girls who made the trip in a GI bus had supper at the field after the program, stated Betty Lou Christain, president of Zeta Phi Eta.

Three Judge Music

Three faculty members of the school of music, Mr Karl O Kuersteiner, acting dean of the school of music, Miss Mary E Winslow, assistant professor of piano, and Mrs Mildred H Davis, voice instructor, have been selected by the National Federation of Music Clubs to act as judges for the Young Artists' Contest, Dean Kuersteiner announced.

The purpose of the contest, which will be held on April 14 in Jacksonville, is to discover young talent in the several branches of music.

The Florida Flambeau

EDITORIAL STAFF

CORDELIA BARCLAY — Editor
RACHAEL BAIL, JANET PANCOAST — Associate Editors
SHIRLEY RUBIN — Managing Editor
BARBARA BESS, DOROTHY LANCASTER, JO ANN CARROLL — Assistant Editors
ANNE GAITHER PEGGY KAY — News Editors

Copy Editor — Janet Rogers
Associate Copy Editor Martha Abbott
Feature Editor — Judy Pepper
Opinion Editor — Muriel Cepinus
Society Editor — Doris Pepper
Outside News Editor — Betty Weaver
Exchange Editor — Lois Byrd
Art Editor — Frances Sines
Assistant Art Editor — Betty Morgan

REPORTERS: Virginia Allstock May Alexander, Miriam Angell, Bobbie Bell, Ellen Bie, Betty Ann Bradley, Burma Cox, Alice Crums, Eileen Davis, Betty Dowd Lucy Felden, Georgia Fields, Delores Gardner, Anne Hutton, Ruth Keller, Beryl Kitchen, Oarley Lechner, Mary Nell McFadden, Catherine Nollman, Delores Papy, Gloria Reed, Shirley Rodgers, Lola Rose, Nicky Sartoris, Louise Sims Peggy Lu Thomson, Jeanne Tillman, Marie Waters, Barbara Wickman.

EDITOR'S NOTE. It is at the present time and in the future the policy of the Flambeau to give equal editorial space and prominence to the editorial opinion of anyone wishing to disagree with any Flambeau editorial opinion.

BUSINESS STAFF

Marianne M Smith — Business Manager
Helen Tarapani — Assistant Business Manager
Shirley Rodgers — Advertising Manager
Betty Strickland Bobbie Rees Dot Miller Georgia Fields Lettie Sullivan Aileen Savers — Advertising Staff
Jean Ann Graham — Circulation Manager
Margie Austin Kathleen Johnson Helen Tarapani — Circulation Staff
Eleanor Bayer — Collection Manager
Helen Conkling Jerry Sconiers Lucille Sconiers Louise Sims Jean Sponable — Collection Staff
Marianne Jones Jean Ann Graham Florence Ginn Lucille Hare Post Office Staff

Entered as second class mail matter January 30 1913 at the post office at Tallahassee Fla under the act of Congress of March 3 1879

Member
Intercollegiate Press

EDITOR'S NOTE: In observance of Brotherhood Week, held nationally during February 18 and 25, The Flambeau presents guest editorials written by representatives of three main faiths on campus. Protestants are represented by Rachael Bail; those of the Catholic faith by Jo Ann Carroll; and those of the Jewish faith by Doris Pepper.

• OUR BROTHERS' KEEPER

Civilization has advanced a long way since the era of the cave man, when clubs were a man's calling card, and his muscles his criteria of worth. Today men are judged on a different basis; intelligence ,responsibility, imagination and ability all have their share in contributing to man's estimated worth today.

Along with our great strides in all phases of learning we have begun to do a lot of thinking about "man's inhumanity to man", and for the past twelve or so years we in America have been setting aside a week especially dedicated to the task of reminding men that they are their brothers' keepers. Here on FSCW campus we have observed National Brotherhood Week in a variety of ways, with a radio broadcast, a proclamation by Dr Campbell, and special programs by the various denominations on campus.

The terrible war raging in all parts of the world today stands before us a perpetual reminder of how energetically the youth of this nation should work to foster a genuine spirit of brotherhood. This is the only nation on the face of the earth today where there is time to think of such abstract ideal goals as the universal brotherhood of man. Unity will necessarily have to be the keynote of this spirit. At the present time the whole nation is firmly united behind the common effort of defeating Germany and Japan as quickly as possible. Every American has a common goal and is willing to work shoulder to shoulder with every other American so long as that goal may be reached more quickly.

However, once that longed for goal has been achieved will we not all be tempted to fall back into our old prejudices, hatreds, and animosities? Have we any assurance that the men of our nation will not again return to their old habits of distrusting and despising men who do not think and believe as they do? For lack of some elevating goal will men repeat those sad stories of petty nationalistic hatreds, race riots, religious bigotry and intolerance that have been such dark blots on the histories of every nation under the sun? Or will men emerge from this strife with a clearer idea of what the word "tolerance" can mean, and how much real worth there is in another man despite the fact that he holds different ideas and his beliefs concerning man's ultimate destinies do not happen to coincide with every other man's?

We can only hope that this last idea will be so, and do all that is in our power here to make it so. Here on this campus we must expend all our energies in ridding ourselves of religious bigotry, intolerance, and misunderstandings if we are to take our place in community life later as broad minded unprejudiced women. How many of us could give, at a moment's notice, even a very few of the basic principles that govern another's religious beliefs? If we were to stop and ask ourselves the question "What do I know about the Protestant faith, or the Catholic, or the Jewish?" we will find that most of our information about other religions is based on hearsay or a series of unrelated facts that we have picked up somewhere concerning the ritual of other religions.

We realize that this is an isolated question about one problem of the complicated question of universal brotherhood, but it is only by progression from these basic leads that we can at last achieve some idea of what the meaning behind the phrase "our brother's keeper" really means.

—by Jo Ann Carroll.

• TIME FOR TEAMWORK

A reminder to every man, that no matter to what color, race, or creed he belongs, he is still a vital part of a whole pattern of humanity, with definite responsibilities to his fellow creatures, is the annual observance of Brotherhood Week. As we here on campus try to define just what a position means to us, we immediately think of many high-sounding and oft-repeated phrases which have little, if any, specific meaning and practical application: good will, fellowship, tolerance. . .

Unfortunately, these words have various interpretations in the minds of various persons; consequently we must look more deeply into the question of "What does Brotherhood really mean to me?" Does this week mean that I shall speak more kindly to the maid who cleans my hall? Or that I shall, for seven whole days, mouth the fact that I am in favor of good interfaith relationships? We think not, for such actions are merely surface ones, and even though they might be ideal for one week, there are still 51 other weeks of the year to be considered.

FSC is composed of all types of girls, from all stations in society, of many different beliefs: Catholic, Protestant, and Jew. Working together concretely, these groups can do much to benefit all; working separately they can do much harm. It is therefore, up to each individual to do her share in the Brotherhood effort. Basically, all religions are striving for the same end—peace and truth. It is merely the rituals followed to reach these ends that differentiate one religion from another. Consequently, what difference does it make if we all go to one church or not? True religion can be defined only in terms of action, not of ideas. All of us want the same goal, all of us are striving for the same future happiness, all of us are searching for the final good.

Mathematicians tell us that all parallel lines will eventually meet in infinity, and if we could visualize a point far enough in space, we could actually see the joining of such paths. We might extend this promise to religious and race precepts, and in so doing, find a working arrangement for Brotherhood. To the Jewish people, as to the Catholic and Protestant peoples, the basic idea of Brotherhood is the Golden Rule; and because such is the case, we must decide upon a course which will make this platitude practicable—not just for one week, but for all time.

We college students might, for example, make, and carry out plans to support wholeheartedly the Youth Conference which opens here tonight. By learning about other groups, we can appreciate their situations and work more effectively with them. We could further act by emphasizing interfaith forums and meetings; by remembering always, and acting accordingly to take cognizance of the struggles of other groups, including racial and ethnic bodies, in order to help them solve the vast amount of problems which face them. These are merely the most obvious actions; there are many more which can be done.

Members of minority groups on this campus, can honestly and gratefully say, that there is very little discrimination shown against them, and it is to promulgate this lack of injustice and ignorance that we would all strive. Therefore, we must make every week Brotherhood Week and by our actions, small though they may be, make everyone — Jew, Protestant, and Catholic, black, white, and red — our companion on the highway of humanity.

—by Doris Pepper.

• WORLD BROTHERHOOD FOR FREEDOM

When the swords, the bombs, the planes, the tanks, the rockets and the other deadly instruments of this war have been beaten into plow-shares, automobiles, radios, the machines of peace, the Protestant churches all over the world must unite with Cathodics and Jews to insure that such a catastrophe will not occur again.

During the course of this war, members of all religious faiths have cooperated to aid both our soldiers and civilians. Peoples of all races, black, white, and yellow, have fought and died for the common cause of freedom. If we have united for death and destruction, how much more important it is for us to meet on a connomn ground of brotherhood to win the peace.

In the Book of Acts, Paul says, "God has made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth." He does not mention the Negroes, the Chinese, the Japanese, or the Germans as being of separate bloods. He says only that God has made all nations of one blood. Fundamentally, all races are the same, they have the same blood, the same heritage in the sight of God. It is only in the sight of men that there is race prejudice, or the concept of race superiority.

"There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus." Paul states again in Galatians. In Ephesians he exhorts that "Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God."

Only through the realization of the teachings of St Paul about world brotherhood can the nations of this world live in peace, only through the realization that all men are brothers can the grave problems created by race prejudice and economic slavery be solved. When Paul speaks of removing men from slavery, he means not only freedom in the next world, he means the removal of slavery today—the removal of the economic slavery which keeps white, black and yellow men living in poverty and suffering.

The Biblical teachings about the brotherhood of all men present a challenge which has never been adequately met. It is our duty and our privilege as Protestants to unite with the Catholics and the members of the Jewish faith to build a world in which "there is neither bond nor free," but one in which all men are free.

—by Rachael Bail.

Attends Conference

Dr M R Hinson, professor of education, went to Gainesville last week to attend a meeting of the State Committee of the secondary Commission of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Each state has a commission committee of from 5 to 7 school men who inspect high schools, examine acerediation reports, and make recommendations as to whether any high school shall be accredited.

Group Organized

The second Christian Science Organization in all Florida has recently been formed on campus, said Jancie Richey, president. It is formed under the auspices of the mother church, First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. Regular meetings are held each Thursday evening at 7:30 p m in 121 Westcott.

The officers are Janice Richey, president; Beverly Heard, vice-president; June Chyna, secretary, and Carol Claus, treasurer.

Contest Prevue To Be Given

AUW Backs Convocation Students Participate

A preview of some of the material submitted thus far the creative contest sponsored by the American Association of University Women will be presented this afternoon and evening in the auditorium. The deadline for the contest is not until March 31, the presentation will be given publicly before the final judges, to stimulate the interest of others with creative ability, the program has been arranged by Miss Louise Gehan, Miss Ann Kirn, Miss Gladys and Mrs. Olive Cross.

Brian Welsh, Margaret Pryor, Beatrice Pratt will present original arrangement of a square dance. A tap dance will be by Sidney Conner, Margaret Cherry, Beryle Kitchens, Jo Ann Speicher, and Betty Ann Wattkins will sing her composition, "Pirate Pavan," accompanied by Miss Ruby Dunlap. There will be a short skit by two pets owned by Mrs. Sara Boswell, Jane Lyle, Jane Gilliam, Mary Elizabeth Bryan, will broadcast about Dorothy Mathews.

Two entertainers hope to present a sample of a later presentation will be given by the winners of the contest.

The AAUW contest was started as a means of encouraging the students to do creative work. When the contest started, the name who wrote short stories could enter. Last year any type of creative writing could be used. This year writers have been enlarged to such an extent that it includes those who can only write but those who can do open dance, tap dance, pantomime handicrafts, or compose.

Speech Dept Gives Two One-Act Plays

"Pink and Patches" and "No Count Boy," two one-act plays will be presented for the American Association of University Women March 1 in the Austin Conrad Theatre at 8:15 p.m.

Before the presentation of the dramas Miss Helen Dunlap, assistant professor of speech, will give a brief talk on SOUTHERN dramatic productions.

"Pink and Patches," directed by Bonnie Hunt, is comedy of the South. A mountain girl yearns for more social doings and a woman from the outside world brings her a present which is unfortunately another patched dress.

The following people will participate in "Pink and Patches": Betty Burt as Texie; Peggy Futch as Rexie, her twin brother; Kathryn Grant as Pink, their mother; and Dana Willson as Mrs. Allen, the beautiful summer lady.

"No Count Boy," directed by Sara Norman, is about a negro boy who had dreams and even persuaded Pheelie to leave her fiance and wander with him over the face of the earth. The boy's mother at the last moment intervenes and he is driven off to some.

The people acting in "No Count Boy" are: Lucy Mae Gaines as Pheelie, Ida Lee Rentz as Knox; Nell crawley as The Boy and Julie Mae Norman as The Old Woman.

All performances are open to the public.

Vaar-Nason Speaks Here

Continued from page one

day. In telling of the separation of families and the deportation of citizens, he stated that one of the greatest problems the Finnish minds now is, how will these people feel when they return?

The commissioner stated in reply to a question concerning the attitude of the Finnish people toward DeGaulle, "He is the only one who never has failed. We believe in him very much. I think DeGaulle will be the one who will open up the door of France."

In closing, Lt. Vaar-Nason said, "Now I must thank all of you American people for the great help have given to France."

Just as he was about to leave the stage, the commandante stopped and said, "I must tell you. For the first time, the women may vote. I don't know if they will vote, but they will." He said that DeGaulle had accorded them this privilege some time as a reward for their courage in ambulance work on the front lines.

Lt. Jacques Vaar-Nason was born in Paris. He is married and has two children. Then he studied in both Italy and England.

He came to the United States in December, 1943. He became a member of the French Air Forces in America, and was sent to Craig Field, Ala. as adjutant commandante of the French air forces there. On January 4 of this year he was relieved from duty as an commanding officer of the French forces there.

Kaufman Gives Violin Concert

Civic Music Tickets Are Obtained from Cowles

Louis Kaufman, violinist, will be the featured soloist at the Civic Music Association concert tonight at 8:15 p.m. Professor W. S. Cowles, orchestra director, announced.

The concert is to be held in the Leon High School auditorium and may be obtained by members of the Tallahassee Civic Music Association. However, newcomers to Tallahassee may obtain membership cards by contacting Professor Cowles. Guest card (single admission) may also be obtained through Professor Cowles.

Mr. Kaufman is a native American, born in Portland, Oregon. Educated in Portland and New York, he became interested in music at the age of five. His family was at that time living in Minneapolis, Minnesota, and a young neighbor woman undertook to teach the youngster to play a violin.

Returning to this country, after two years in Europe, Kaufman developed his interest in music, arranged for him to study with local teachers. "I think he's the most wonderful boy in the whole world," she said.

Lt Troy N Thwest, Navy Ferry pilot at Long Beach, New York, received tremendous applause due to the brother of Lts Hallen, a native Floridian, who graduated Lake sippi State College and the University of Hawaii and belongs to Kappa Alpha fraternity. He had 5 feet 11 inches tall, has brown eyes, brown hair. He likes good food is grits, and his favorite diversions are dancing and ice hockey. He has a host of well-known pictures as "Wake Island," "Suspicion," "Cabin in the Sky," "The Moon and Sixpence," "The Road to Morocco," and "The Major and the Minor."

Grainger Here For Spring Music Week

Mr Percy Grainger, noted pianist-composer and conductor, will be the guest of Florida State College during national music week, to be observed on this campus from March 4 to 10.

Though national music week has been in existence in this country for several years, it will be observed on campus this year for the first time. Mr Grainger will be here the entire week, Mr Karl O. Kuerstener, dean of the school of music announced.

The program for the week will be a large one with many musical organizations on campus taking part. The week will end on Saturday, May 11 by a gala concert which will combine the forces of the band, glee clubs, orchestra, choir, and the organ, and will be directed by Mr Grainger.

The activities will be given wide advertisement throughout the state, and a schedule of rehearsals will be made up for the convenience of music instructors of the state, who will be invited to attend.

Pin-Up Contest Nets $1,668

Continued from page one

16 years old, six feet tall, and weighs 190 pounds. His favorite "likes" are sports, dancing, girls who are good dancers, and funny wisecracks. He was voted the friendliest, most popular, and most valuable football player in his graduating class while in high school. "I think he's the most wonderful guy in the whole world."

Particularly well-known as an exponent of new music, he has introduced symphonic audiences new works of Aaron Copland, Gail Kubik, Roy Harris, Virgil Thomson, Ernest Toch and Robert Russell Bennett, as well as many others.

In recent years, Louis Kaufman has been occupied in the field of motion picture music. His violin has been heard in many of the theater audiences, and he has to his credit the recording of outstanding cinematic scores. Some of his recent recordings have been for the sound tracks of well-known pictures as "Wake Island," "Suspicion," "Cabin in the Sky," "The Moon and Sixpence," "The Road to Morocco," and "The Major and the Minor."

College Council Announces Hall Will Be Extended

Continued from page one

become Senior Hall members in the fall of 1942. It was changed to 12 in 1940. However, 56 seniors were allowed exemption from the draft during year. Less mention was made of the fact that Senior Hall was an experimental unit in an effort to become an accepted campus tradition.

A student vote helped to elect the 60 girls who made the Senior Hall of 1942. In 1943, 105 girls were admitted. Last year, 120 seniors out of 200 were selected as campus leaders, after Student Senate had failed to pass a proposal to eliminate 25% of all juniors be eligible for Senior Hall privileges.

Voice Instructor Featured on Radio

Soprano soloist on the Garnet and Gold news-and-radio program last night was Miss Mildred Wheeler, instructor in voice at Florida State College.

Miss Wheeler, accompanied by Miss Mary Winslow, assistant professor of piano, sang "Air de Lia" from Massenet's Herodiade; "Ritorna Vincitor" from Verdi's Aida; and "I est bon" from Massenet's Herodiade. Miss Winslow played "Ecossaise." News of the college was presented by Miss Bertha Bloodworth, college publicity director.

Next week's musician for Garnet and Gold will be Miss Lucile Warner, assistant professor of piano.

Panel Features War and Health

A joint program conducted by faculty and students was featured by the monthly meeting of the Physical education Association this week.

Members of Miss Margaret Clement's recreation leadership class formulated the panel for the discussion of health and physical education in connection with the war. Local contributions to the war effort were also mentioned.

At the end of the panel discussion a question-and-answer period was held.

National Swim Meet To Be Held Today

FSC Team to Try for First Place in Telegraphic

The first meet of the National Telegraphic Swimming Meet will take place in the college swimming pool this afternoon at three o'clock, at which nine members of the Florida State College swimming team will participate.

In this national event, F S C swimmers have always placed first in the nation, having received first place in a recent year. Last year the college placed second in the southern division.

Events of the meet will be the 40-yard free style, the 40-yard back crawl, the 100-yard back crawl, the 40-yard free style, the 40-yard breast stroke, the 75-yard individual medley, the 150-yard medley relay, and the 100-yard free style relay.

Swimmers participated in the recent Odd-Even swimming meet, at which two pool records were broken, and one tied, were the meet. Some of the swimmers were Mary Ann Bell, Mary Ann Walls, DeLand; Carol Claus, Hollywood Anna Horne, DeLand; Betty Taylor, Tampa; Betty Ann Fountain, Jacksonville; Barbara Jane Lindsey, Ft Meade; Ann Parker, Brooksville; Betty Donnelly, High Springs; Nancy Mae Edwards, Lakeland; Betty Jean Tallahassee; Jay Bete, Lakeland; Grace Lindbreye, Ft Lauderdale; Betty Jean Peacock, Tallahassee; Jo Norma Schaeffner, Calinesville; Mary Elizabeth Hendrickshille; Josephine Parker, Maitland; Jinx Parrior, Park Hill, North Carolina; Charlotte Lindsey, Jacksville; and Mary Louise Perry, Miami.

The second meet will take place February 27 and the best results will be chosen from the two to be sent to Duke University where headquarters for this year's tourney in the south will be held.

Youth Conference Will Open Weekend Session on Friday

Continued from page one

lowed by a party in the auditorium of the Student Alumnae building.

The closing session of the Youth Conference will be held Sunday morning when the Rev Blake Smith will preach the sermon.

There will be a registration fee of 50 cents for the college girls. Everyone who wishes to attend the banquet and party must register. However, students who have not been registered may attend sessions of the conference.

Students Vote For May Queen

Identity of Queen, Court To Remain Secret

Voting took place Tuesday for FSC's May Queen, as in both affernoon and evening convocations candidates were introduced to the student body. The candidates, seniors, were announced by Frankie McGarry, herself a candidate. Students were asked to vote for ten of the 48 nominees, of which nine of those elected will compose the Court, the tenth will be Queen. The identities of both the Queen and her Court will be kept a complete secret until their appearance in the May-day festivities.

Candidates are as follows: Pat Allen, Betty Anne, Rachael De Marlorie Beatty, Dot Boardman, Betty Lou Boynton, Elizabeth Britton, Betty Burnett, Betty Lou Christian, Ala Daniel, Jessie Durden, Margaret Fridy, Anne Gaines, Phyllis Gillett, Jeanne Hammond, Anita Holbrook, Elizabeth Howell (Elizabeth Bibbel), Ann Jackson, Dorothy Sue Jenks, Jean Kendall, Edith Knight, Gerorude Knowles, Dorothy Lee Lewis, Ethel Fay Limbaugh, Alice Lincoln, Rosalie Martin, Frankie McGarry, Mary Ann Mendenhall, Margaret Rose Miller, Marjorie Morris, Jane Oliver, Nancy Parker, Tedy Parker, Anabelle Peacock, Elizabeth Rogers, Betty Rowell, Sara Scarborough, Sarah Stewart, Jane Sims, Sanna Lee Taylor, Mary Ann Thomas, Rosemary Thrasher, Mary Vogt, Doris Wella, Marian Welsh and Elizabeth Whigham.

Flambeau Has 32 New Reporters

Two students in the elementary news writing class have successfully planted the advanced reporters in the offices and for coverage positions on the Flambeau staff. This one-hour course in Journalism is offered by the Florida Flambeau as means to provide reporters for the Flambeau staff. Credit is given to those who are reporting.

Thirty-two new students who have been working around the campus in search of news each week are: Marjorie Hall, Betty Ann Smith, Mary Charles Skipper, Mary Ann Hudson, Lee Butler, June Chyna, Jean Bess, Conner, Ingram, Patricia Hill, Barbara Beckman, Betty Ann Bennett, Ann Douglas, Virginia Croghan, Carlotta Clark, Jeanne Clark, Carol Williams, Tami Thomas, Mary Alice Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Veronia Ann Bell, Jeanne Bell, Beulah McPherson, Josephine Mingin, Jean Lee Bell, Dorothy Perry, Ruth Petty, Madre Pitcher, Louise Rabb, Sara Rigell, Martha Roberson, and Laurel Rosenbaum.

Dr A C Wilgus Speaks Here

Continued from page one

and it was forgotten for the time being.

In the fifth conference in Sandino Cribb in Buenos Aires, communication, aviation, and cultural cooperation were discussed, so that the conference of this hemisphere could understand each other better and not have such ... critical view of each other.

To the sixth conference in 1928 President Coolidge was invited to attend "so keep the Latin American's friendship." Much good interest upon asking about the stand the U S intended to take on the Monroe Doctrine, Charles Evans Hughes leading it. President Coolidge to keep them cool, and Charles Lindbergh to do the same they didn't have a chance to speak in Spanish. Dr. Wilgus The Argentines had gone to the conference to "Keep the Argentine Bloc" to find out the stand but failed.

In 1933 at Montrideo Uruguay, this bloc was created all over again. Through Secretary of State, Cordell Hull's diplomacy, mingling with the other delegates, calling on them, and dining in every way the friendly neighbor, Argentina felt that maybe the United States has ever thing in "a sentiemanly manner," too.

An artificial development has been carried on since the present war began. Meetings were held to discuss how to maintain peace not only in the Western Hemisphere, but also over the world.

Economic and political cooperation has been helpful in developing a better understanding between the Northern and Southern hemispheres. However, there has still been some friction.

The most recent step in furthering good relations, Dr Wilgus stated, was the conference that met Wednesday in Mexico City for consideration of post-war problems.

Lt Phillips Killed En Route to States

Lt Marion Clark Phillips who graduated from FSC in 1933 was killed on February 2 when returning from Italy on a furlough. Her parents, Mr and Mrs L. B. Phillips were notified last Saturday by the government.

Lt Phillips was serving in Africa at the time of the African invasion and later was moved to Italy. She received her training at the Presbyterian Hospital in Philadelphia hospital before entering the service she was assistant director of nurses at Emory University Hospital in Atlanta, Georgia.

Marion Phillips, a physical education major, was a member of the Women's Athletic Association in 1933, was awarded the emblem, ring in the Olee Club and was in many other activities. She attended Cherry Lake Academy and High School in Orlando, Florida.

In This Our Time

By BETTY WEAVER

Many more paves were added to the heroic history of the United States Navy last week when a carrier task force for 15 or 20 aircraft carriers sailed to within 50 miles of Japan bringing to her homeland the war she inaugurated at Pearl Harbor.

This task force was a far cry from the pitiful little group of B-25's bombers that took off from the Hornet early in 1942 to give Tokyo its first taste of the retaliatory sting for the feats of the handful of men who, like the California, South Dakota and Hornet who, they stout-heartedly held back-handed blows at the enemy in the early days of the war, sustained the spirit of American would win the war, but if she would—a thought which many overlooked by Americans who were ignorant of the real and serious conditions in the Pacific.

America is not a revengeful nation who wants only to "pay back" people for their attack on Pearl Harbor comes incidentally with each defeat handed the Japs by the hand of America. We strive only to make sure that Japan and her ilks will never repeat their aggression toward China, America, the Philippines, Poland, Austria nor any other nation, whether it be small or large, strong or weak; we are fighting to keep the Bataan, Corregidors, Sevastapols, and Stalingrads will never be repeated.

During the two years of time days in which the aircraft carrier task force battled against Tokyo and her surrounding islands, it took planes were launched from carrier decks. The aircraft carriers of the carriers were supported by destroyers, cruisers, battleships, minesweepers and submarines. The satisfaction was confirmed by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz himself in his communique in which he said, "This operation has long been planned with the objective to accomplish it fulfills the deeply cherished desire of every officer and man in the Pacific Fleet."

Jops Driven from Bataan

"No living Japanese soldier" is to be found on the peninsula of Bataan, reports General Douglas MacArthur's staff. The announcement came as a result of an American patrol which combed Bataan on the northern shores of Manila bay. The enemy dead on Corregidor have been counted so far as 1700, not including an unknown number buried in caves and blown to the tunnels of the island, touched off by the demolition charges and blow themselves up. Only scattered groups of enemy remnants are left on Corregidor.

The Third Marine division has landed on Iwo to reinforce the two other divisions which are meeting strong resistance on the Japanese island. Iwo Jima launched a series of night counterattacks against the marine positions on northern lines in coordinating with continuous infiltration attempts.

Admiral Nimitz announced that the Marine casualties have mounted to 4,583 with 826 dead. Press dispatches from Guam Island have said that the casualties were nearly 20,000, including Texas. Radio Tokyo claims that Marine losses have amounted to 12,000 either killed or wounded.

The Associated Press reports this story from the United States 94th division in a German village: An American general came into this German village yesterday, commanded a halt to the war and started to confer in front of a machine-gun a soldier had set up.

There was tough fighting still going on in the town. The soldier didn't wait to check the general's rank.

"Get the hell out of here," the GI yelled. "You're going to draw fire and get my men killed."

The general out—and the GI won a promotion to corporal from his colonel.

Band Members Given Awards

Rank and Citation Cords Presented to Thirty

Thirty members of the Florida State College Band, conducted by Professor Frank Sykora, have received rank and citation cords for various services and devotion to duty. They will wear the new decorations at a concert to be given March 9.

Professor Sykora presented cords to Betty Ruth Aushenbaugh, president snc, lieutenant-colonel of the band for four years of service to the organization; to Betty Sanford, vice-president and major and also for four years' service; and to Carolyn Bailey, lieutenant a s first chair player, also for four full years of service.

Ann Richardson, drum major, and Lola Byrd, captain of majorettes, received citation cords for outstanding work. Ann and Lola are major and captain, respectively. Anne McDonald, secretary of the band, holds the rank of captain. Treasurer Rachel Crotwell, is a first lieutenant. Other majorettes are: Betty Smith, assistant Mary Elizabeth Knight, solo-cornet director; Betty Billot, first librarian Geraldin Farnsworth, assistant librarian Frances Durkworth, and assistant managers Elizabeth Hudson and Thelma Yonge. Fay Vogt and Frances are first lieutenants because of their position as first chair players. Dan Dodd, bass drummer, who received this rank of first lieutenants are: Lenore Billot, and Jean Poe, and Mary Christian Morrison.

A second lieutenant rank was conferred on the following students for outstanding membership records: Esther Dale, Margaret Parker, Betty Ruth Goode, Betty Dodd, Mary Ann Richmond, Sidney Thee Conner, Sheryl Taylor, Betty Leiser, Doris O'Neil, and Marilyn Dewey.

Those receiving honorable mention for attendance and individual practice are: the twin freshmen Elizabeth A. Harper, C Harper. Honorable mention for attendance and musicianship was given to Jean Bates and Catharine Friday.

Literary Honorary Asks New Members

Eight girls have been asked to become members of Sigma Delta Phi, national literary honorary. Requisite for the eight girls who met the standards necessary for Phi Delta Phi membership are Rachael Ann Hall, Helen Cooper Floyd, Anne Gaither, Dorothy Lancaster, Cecile Pennington, Marianne Synder, Peggy Li Thomseon, and Ellen Whitman.

According to Winifred Meldrim, president, these girls have shown outstanding ability in the literary field and have had at least one important piece of work publish-ed.

FLORIDA

Today and Tomorrow
"HERE COMES THE WAVES"
Sunday and Monday
"LAKE PLACID SERENADE"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"THE CLIMAX"
Thursday Through Monday
"SINCE YOU WENT AWAY"

STATE

Today and Tomorrow
"CALL OF THE ROCKIES"
and—
"FIREBRANDS OF ARIZONA"
Sunday and Monday
"EARES ON SWING STREET"
and—
"ADDRESS UNKNOWN"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"AND NOW TOMORROW"
Thursday Only
"SONG OF THE OPEN ROAD"
and—
"SUMMER STORMS"
Friday and Saturday
"FALCON IN MEXICO"
and—
"NEVADA"
Sunday and Monday
"PEARL OF DEATH"
and—
"MEET MISS BOBBY SOCKS"

RITZ

Saturday Only
"YELLOW ROSE OF TEXAS"
Sunday and Monday
"ESCAPADE IN FLORIDA"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"IMPATIENT YEARS"
and—
"MY BUDDY"
Thursday and Friday
"NEVER A DULL MOMENT"
and—
"Adventures of Mark Twain"
Saturday Only
"MYSTERY MAN"
Sunday and Monday
"IRISH EYES ARE SMILING"

A Welcome Gift Anytime is a PHOTOGRAPH taken at BOUTWEL'S STUDIO
119½ E. College Phone 297

Initiations and Pledgings to Be Held By Sororities Starting This Week-End

Initiation and pledging will be the main events on the sorority calendar this week along with the usual parties and teas.

The Alpha Chi Omega's will have an informal party Saturday night for pledges and actives. Bridges, darts, and cribbage are among the entertainments planned. The pledges will sing their pledge songs. The Alpha Chi's are in charge of the sorority dance camp month in lower Westcott this week.

The Alpha Xi Delta's pledge president, Mrs. William Bostwick from Daytona Beach, will be the guest of the chapter this week-end.

Alpha Delta Pi's will hold their initiation for 15 girls this week-end. The girls to be initiated are Janet Sood, Anne Fielding, Sara Gallaher, Phyllis Lee, Jane Yaeger, Virginia Black, Marie Everitt, Kathryn Pruitt, Sidney Chapman, Jeanne Mosely, Marguita Lane, Patty Harrison, Jane Bruce Gertrude Curry, and Ann Coy. There will be a breakfast for the pledges Sunday morning.

Frances Choate and Jane Yaeger were pledged Tuesday night by the A D Pi's.

There will be 12 pledged initiated by the Kappa Kappa this week-end. The following pledges will become members: Jovce Hall, Jane Shaffer, Carolyn Bell, Priscilla Clark, Alice Marie Compton, Doris Davis, Jean Fox, Betsy Mary Douglas Tinsley, Elaine Boyal, Marjorie Jones, Betty Lou Lyon, and Jo Jo Morgan.

The Kappa Kappas will have a coffee Sunday afternoon for their chapter members, alumnae, and pledges.

The Phi Mu pledges will give a breakfast for the actives Sunday morning in the chapter house. An after dinner coffee was given last Sunday for the actives by the chapter members.

Guests and pledges were entertained by the Phi Delt actives at an informal party last Saturday night. Skits were sung and at the piano were features of the entertainment and cokes were served during intermission.

Pledging ceremony was held on the Phi Epsilon Pi for Charlotte Lee Lasarow Monday night at the chapter house. Charlotte Lee was given a birthday party with cake and candles by the chapter.

Saturday night the Kappa Delta members gave a supper for their pledges. An initiation breakfast will follow Sunday morning at the Governor Ten Room.

Dana Wilson, Jean De Bevoise Martha Bash, Beth Puhner, and May Pickens were pledge by Zeta Tau Alpha Monday. The following girls will be initiated this week-end: Marybel Smith, Lena Musselman, Ardis McDonald, Bobbie Albright, Martha Cowan, Mary Evelyn Beard, Betty Boles, Mary Nickols, and Clista Hatcher.

A party for all pledges will be given by the Alpha Gamma Delta tas tonight. A George Washington theme will be carried out by a silk showing different phases of his life. The color scheme will be red, white and blue and cakes with white icing and red hatchets on each will be served. Pat Horton is in charge. An informal get together is planned for Saturday night. Suranda Joiner is in charge of the program.

The Delta Zeas will hold a pledge ceremony for Joanne Lons, tonight.

For their war work this week the Delta Sig pledges will make bandages and pleces collected books for the Merchant Marines.

A banquet is planned for Saturday night.

Baptist to Hold "Backward Party"

A "Backward Party" for the Baptist Training Union will be held at the Baptist Student house Friday from 8 to 10 p m.

The purpose of all the training unions are in charge of the party will be entertained. Around 140 students are expected.

The Students Speak

BOBBIE BELL

Elections are coming up! An article appeared in the Flambeau noted in elections heretofore and it seems that students are only gradually taking an interest in campus politics. The question this week, therefore, is "WHAT DO YOU THINK CAN BE A REMEDY FOR THE STUDENT LACK OF INTEREST IN COLLEGE ELECTIONS?"

As many students fail to realize that an organization must have here in college in connection with student elections and time to time to realize that the student government of this school is only as live as the student individual is. If some sort of program of education should be instituted in the student officers. One suggestion is that of a forum.

Betty Bell

I think the importance of the student-held offices should be emphasized more for the benefit of freshmen. They comprise a great portion of the student body, and yet we are not fully informed as to the vital parts that the student offices play in student elections. Adequate information should help to solve this problem.

Mary Charles Shipper

A better understanding of college government. The elections are dry, what they mean to the student body is needed.

Betty Mae Rhodes

More emphasis should be placed on freshmen becoming active in college government. The elections should be conducted in a manner interested in their college and the way it runs.

Emma Jeane Hackle

Perhaps the lack of interest is due to having to vote the same people to office for several years. Maybe more students should run in March in students to run for elections and to vote for those who do would help.

Shirley Grube

Most students do not realize what a priceless opportunity they have when they participate in the college elections. If this fact were given more emphasis I believe students would be more interested in the college elections.

Eila Mae Baer

We do not get to know the people who are running for offices. As a freshman, our associations with them are limited and what we are not in classes with them, and we have no idea of what their offices do.

Blanche Harvey

The importance of their offices as far as we the students are concerned is not stressed enough.

Britve Acheson

More freshmen should have a part in the offices of the government. We are not informed enough about them and since we are such a large part of the college, a chance for more participation should be given us.

Mary Ann Atkinson

YWCA to Elect

Nominations for new officers of the Young Women Christian Association will be held next Wednesday in the Student-Alumnae building at 5 o'clock. The membership committee will act as a nominative committee, but nominations will also be received from the floor.

Final election will be held March 6 and 7 and installation of the new officers will be March 22.

Heaven vs Hell At Tri Delt Dance

Guests attending the Delta Delta Delta formal dance tomorrow night will have their choice —entering the Pearly Gates of Heaven, or the fiery Den of Iniquity which will be the theme of the dance. Plans are now under the direction of Ruth DuBois, Betty Touchton, and Virginia Collins as heads of committees.

The front entrance will be decorated representing the Pearly Gates, with Saint Peter standing overhead to welcome the entering guests. The large dancing room will be Heaven, with silver stars and a large crescent moon sprinkled throughout the room, carrying out the sorority emblem which is a crescent moon and three stars.

The adjoining room will be the opposite. A large devil's mask will cover the entire surface of the doorway, with the only means of entrance being the mouth of the devil's mouth, which will have curtains hanging from it. Inside the room little red devils with pitch forks will add reality to the room of Hell.

Music will be provided by the all girl orchestra of Florida State College under the direction of Mr Frank Sykora. Miss Katherine Montgomery, Miss Ann Cowsert, Miss Lane, will serve punch on the terrace during the evening.

Guests invited for the dance are their patrons and patronesses, Dean Caroline Redfearn and Mrs Millard Caldwell, Justices of the Florida Supreme Court and their wives, Chief Justice Sebring and their wives, Dr Corie E. Mallahan, dean of sociology at Florida State College, and Mrs Moore, and Mrs Carie Landis, for whom Landis Hall was named.

Library Sponsors New Radio Program

A radio book review program will be sponsored by the Florida State College Library every Thursday from 8:15 to 8:30 p m over station WTAL.

Three Florida books which will be reviewed are That Vanishing Eden, by Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, Bulletin No 23 of the Florida Geological Survey, by Dr Herman Gunter, and Florida Place Names and Florida During the Territorial Days, by Dr Caroline Mitchell Martin Sara Norman, Maurine Petty, Pat Pattishall and Bonnie Hunt will discuss the books and give their reviews. These students are members of the speech department's radio workshop course last semester in radio work.

March 1 a list of books will be suggested for reading, and music will be provided by Sarah Lewis, pianist. Miss Lewis will play "The Owl" and "The Wren," accompanied by Mrs Ruth Tidball.

This is the first radio program to be sponsored by the library. It is in the form of a commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of Florida's admission to the union, which is March 3. The publicity committee of the library, in charge of the radio book review program, is composed of Miss Dorothy Dodson, chairman, Miss Florence Bethea and Miss Sarah Graham, assistant librarians, and Lola Anne Sparkman, student assistant.

Sorority Catches Ferocious Animal

"Don't kill the poor little thing!"

"We'll have to be put out. After all, he's the one who snaved us the pigeon."

These two sentences rose above the babel of screaming and shouting at the Kappa Kappa house Monday when fifteen brave girls and a housemaid succeeded in cornering a baby flying squirrel after chasing it from room to room.

He was finally captured in a corner of the sun porch without leading his pursuers all over the formal parlor. At one time the little frightened animal quivered on the top of drapes. His nest was discovered in the book case when he tried to set to the hole he had chewed in the back of it in order to escape.

After being trapped in a paste bowl the squirrel was placed in the branches of a tree across the street.

Campbell Honored

The graduate loan scholarship of the Tallahassee branch of the American Association of University Women for the year 1945-46 was presented to Miss Margaret V Campbell, instructor of modern languages, announced Dr Lorena B. Hahn, associate professor of political science and chairman of the graduate scholarship loan fund committee of the AAUW.

This award is made annually by the AAUW for outstanding post-graduate work.

Miss Campbell, graduate of FSC plans to complete the work for her doctorate at the University of North Carolina.

Program Planned For Methodists

The talent of the various members of the Methodist Student Organization will be the feature of the regular Friday night after supper coffee tonight at the student house.

The program will consist of piano selections by Margaret McCain, readings by Julia Ann Banks, songs by Mary Hart, and accordion selections by Betty Long.

The arrangements for the coffee and the entertainment have been made by the recreation commission of the Methodist Student Organization with the help of Miss Alpharetta Leeper, student secretary.

Prom Court to Be Highlight of Dance

Highlight of the annual junior-senior prom, which is to be held March 17 in the east dining hall, will be the junior-senior court consisting of the three seniors and the three juniors who have been the most outstanding in their class.

Each of the girls chosen will be introduced by the master of ceremonies and will receive a bouquet of flowers. Only juniors and seniors and their dates will be admitted to the dance.

Betty Jo McAteer, committee chairman in charge of decorations and finances. Catherine Barrs, Sarah Bennett, Kit Land, Carol Ann Lewis, Frankie Mack, Young, Virginia Collins, and Margaret Baugh are her committee.

The other committees are as follows: Ann Hoyt refreshments; Corrine Johnson, intermission; Shirley Dungan, tickets; Audrey Perry, publicity; Carol McDonald, chaperones corner, and Stella Barcenas, guests.

Cotillion Sponsors 3 Defense Films

Dance Classes Are Renewed For Lindy, Ball-Room

Defense activity plans, which include the sponsoring of three films, one each month, compilation of material for scrap books to be presented to members of the armed forces, are being accomplished by the Cotillion, according to Betty Lou Christian, president. The first picture, "Keep 'Em Flying" will be shown at the regular Cotillion dance March 4 at 5 o'clock.

"Target for Tonight" and "Parachute Jump" will be shown at the Augusta Conradi theater on March 24 at 5 o'clock and on March 4 at 5 o'clock.

"Reward Unlimited" is a story about Charlie Mack, who is "Target for Tonight" gives an account of his life before joining the Royal raid. The third film, "Paratroops", portrays the daring exploits of the men in the paratroops of the service.

Cotillion members and tape are compiling cartoons and other things of interest to put into the scrap books. The books will be sent as their defense project to the selection.

Beginning March 1 every Thursday night from 7:30 to 8:15 the members of the club will meet for their series of dancing classes, which will be taught by the Reynolds recreation room.

Betty Lou asks that only those who have had high in preliminary dance technique attend the classes, as in this will include such social graces, and instruction in the fundamentals of the "Lindy" and other types of ball-room dancing.

PE Dept Sponsors Series of Lectures

The first of a series of student lectures, open to all girls interested in becoming better officials for basketball, volleyball, tennis and softball games will be held Tuesday evening, February 27, from 7:30 to 8:15 in the classroom of the physical education building.

An examination on rules will be given on Thursday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Miss Grace Fox, instructor in physical education, explained that there is a Women's National Officials Rating Committee here on campus of which Miss Mary Jane Medlin, civic teacher in physical education, is chairman, the purpose of which is to endeavor to stimulate interest in becoming better officials for girls athletics.

The National Section on Women's Athletics has set up standards in the "Technique of girls' athletics, and the campus committee and Florida high schools use it to conduct their activities for girls in the approved manner. There is also a great lack of trained women," said Miss Fox.

Miss Medlin mentioned that among the standards set up by the National Section on Women's Athletics are the requirements that girl's athletics be coached and officiated by women.

Telegraphy Office Learns of Girls' Personal Feelings

"Da-dit, da-da-dit" are familiar sounds in the telegraph office at Byrd Field. Not many be a very small place but one might venture to say that that office knows more than the students personal feelings than any other office at Florida State College. "Dear Mom, Write soon. I'm so homesick." "Dearest Joe Hope you can come this week-end. The girls are looking for you." or "Darling. Will write soon. Please forgive delay." These and various others are typical examples of the messages that the Western Union office sends.

Strangely enough, the "Please send money, urgent" wire does not rank highest. "May I come home?" has to be handled by the most common wire F S C's telegraphers spel out the word home at least fifty time a day.

The telegraph operators seem to have a great deal of interest in understanding our college language. "It's not what we say it is the way that we say it that makes the great difference. Who is to say that we don't understand a wire like this: "Sugary Sue. Riding the next rug, hopping if fast, need time."

Esteren Entertains Spirogira at Party

Esteren entertained the members and spirogira at a Bunko party in the Landis recreation room last Friday night.

Catherine Barrs and Elizabeth Brown won first and second prizes, respectively while Betty Alday got the boor prize in the game. Cokes and cake were served for refreshments.

On Wednesday of this week Esteren will have a formal evening program for this semester. Each day they will post the world news character and the month book in each dormitory. They will also make posters of the months four important persons and short paragraphs about them.

Esteren is also going to sponsor the defense moves a hitch will appear on April 24 and 28.

Workmen Shatter Library Silence

The almost sacred silence of Florida State College library was shattered last Tuesday morning by a stentrian shout which echoed from the first floor to all of the periodical room.

"Blisters and a half inches!" shouted a masculine voice from the height of a 35-foot ladder. The timid students sat quietly and in their books, the next every word in every sentence and stories resounded throughout the room. For a few moments the rafters resounded with heavy figure wielding measuring tapes and hammers. Pandemonium broke for a short time, however, they descended, lowered the ladder and prayed only Silence again reigned supreme.

The cause of this unprecedented occurrence was that men from the college electric shop with the aid of a fire ladder were measuring the periodical room for the proposed lighting.

"We plan to try stringing three rows of lights across from the rafters," explained one of the workmen upon being questioned. "We will also experiment with a single row down the length of the room."

AZD Hold Dance

Alpha Xi Delta is having a formal dance at the sorority house tomorrow night. "Moonlight Gardens" is the theme that have been chosen. The theme will be carried out by decorations of silvery moons and a starlit sky. The lighting will be dim in order to produce the effect of moonlight and shadows.

Mrs W M Bostwick, from Daytona Beach, Florida, the president of their province, will be the guest of honor. Alumnae attending the dance are Miss Sally O'Neil, Miss Betty Jacobs, and Miss Virginia Page.

Your Favorite Food at the M & N CAFE

- Sandwiches
- Sea Food
- Dinners
- Steaks
- Chili

Fashion Flashes

By MIRIAM ANGELL

"Greetings sates, let's scintillate," seems to be the latest rah for the garb being worn for teas, parties, and dates on campus this year. Sequins, sequins, and more sequins are being used to add that touch of chic to everything. A black crepe, the perennial favorite for date bait, with a net yoke and sequin design adds up to something especially smooth for those parties whose invitations say "dress". Something in a white wool jersey scarf with multi-colored sequins is the latest addition to sequin glamor. From the Partisan front comes a collar and cuff set made of glittering metallic beads that may be used like accessories for any dress.

The new fresh-as-spring colors are being accentuated with glittering design on bodice and skirt. A pale yellow rabbits hair wool suit with gold trim is enough to make that special young man's heart flutter to some new tune. Combinations of blue with silver and lavendar with cooper are only a few of the latest fashions.

Heads turn for the latest chapeau made of glittering with sequins and more sequins with veil. The most popular topper of the day is the off-the-face hat that is lighter from the dormitory tea to the president's reception. Small velvets and felts that are first run make a routine complete for Saturday's date with the soldier boy. Bright charming clothes are in line for the duration days you have, but the latest rumor about clothes shortages may not be a rumor but a fact. Let us hope those pretties take on a duration term.

Eyman Addresses Kappa Delta Pi

Dr R L Eyman, dean of Florida State College's School of Education, told members and pledges of the FSC chapter of Kappa Delta Pi at their founder's day program Wednesday night that teacher education, service and internal strength are necessary for the post war world. Unless life it is to play its part in promoting and maintaining peace and security, Dr Eyman declared.

World Peace with Implications for Education was the program's subject of which he gave comprehensive treatment, going into a detailed analysis of how it will constitute that internal strength. He also dealt briefly with our understandings and appreciation of other nations.

"If the point of universal suffrage is to stand, we must have enlarged universal understanding," he stated.

Mrs Marion W Black, president of the chapter presided at the meeting in the SAB club room. Dorothy Lee Tribble, student member, introduced the speaker.

Andrews Publishes Survey Article

"Guidance Survey of Student Problems," an article by Dr Flaherty D Andrews, FSC personnel, has been published in the current issue of the "Educational and Psychological Measurement."

In this survey the students indicated that their chief problems were financial, educational, and vocational. The questionnaire they voluntarily went for counsel most frequently were the personnel director, the academic dean and the registrar.

Recital Given

Johanna Sistrunk, pianist, and Mary Anna Williams, soprano, will sive a certificate recital in the college auditorium on Friday evening, March 2, at 8:15.

Miss Ruby Dunstan, instructor in piano, will accompany the young artists.

Johanna and Mary Anna are appearing in the recital to complete part of the requirements for a bachelor of music degree. A music certificate which will make them eligible to teach music in public schools

Colorful 'Rainbow Room' to Highlight Annual Reynolds Formal Tomorrow Night

There'll be a rainbow in Reynolds from 8 to 12 p m this Saturday when approximately 200 freshmen and their dates dance in the spacious parlor decorated for the annual Reynolds formal.

The rainbow will rise at one end of the parlor, and multi-colored crepe streamers will be softly draped from the ceiling. Early spring flowers will brighten the colorful "Rainbow Room."

Alice Walton, social chairman of Reynolds, is in charge of the dance.

Pat Harrison will sing the theme song "Over the Rainbow".

Guests invited to the dance include: Mr and Mrs John G Kellum, business manager of Florida State College and his wife. Dr Olivia N Dorman, dean of students; Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence; Miss Katherine Warren, assistant dean of students; and Dr and Mrs Doak S Campbell.

Hall sponsors who will act as chaperons are: Miss Helen P

Dorm Teas Feature Guests and Hobbies

At the Wednesday tea in Gilchrist Hall Miss Elanor Wilkinson gave a demonstration of Japanese Ippine Islands. She showed dainty handiwork of the Philippine people and many souvenirs which she brought back with her. Miss Williams was one of the guests at the Brent School in the Philippines.

Landis Hall was host to Dr Arthur Seymour and Lt Barrason of France at their regular Wednesday tea.

Jennie Murphree hall is having a series of Book Reviews. The first was held this past week and was on photography. Mrs Elsa Beth Lyon, of the visual aid department, showed colorful slides of flowers and shells. In addition to this there was a display of favorite snapshots of the students.

In a recent election Peggy Stanland was elected vice house president of lower Jennie Murphree.

The vice president of Reynolds hall is Madge Pilcher Also elected in the recent elections were Teddy Hamlin, secretary, and John Long, treasurer.

Gypsy Party Held By Upperclassmen

In order that the girls in the upperclass dormitories may become better acquainted, Broward, Gilchrist, New Hall, Landis Hall will be the scene of Gypsy Parties tomorrow night from 8 to 10 p m This is to be a progressive party with games being played in the different houses at once with the students going to each dormitory At the conclusion of the party the entire group will be served refreshments in Landis rec.

Committees in each hall are in charge and the party is open to all upperclassmen.

Alumnae Visit

Rovana DuPare and Mary Rham, two FSC graduates of last year, were on campus for a visit this week.

Rovana is now interning as dietician at Charity Hospital in New Orleans and Mary is teaching school in St Petersburg.

Moonlight Scene Is Theme For Dance

Cate, Miss Grace I Fox, and Mrs Henry F Hackney.

Hostesses of the dance include Rita Frasher, Anna Bryce, Carlyn Smith, Clemma Asher, Ann Durrance, Gladys Lester, Audrey Perry, Betty John, Melba Smith, Olive Fleming and Marie Cross.

Co-workers on the final committee are Doris Lorber and Jo Lane.

Working on the decorating committee are: Georgia Jacks, Sylvia Berkman, Martha Cole, Charlotte Bouland, Pauline Blank, Nita Smith, Dunn, Gnann, Sunny Hazen, Virginia Croglan, and Betty Roder. Heading the committee are Pat Harrison and Alice Comatock Sarge McKelver, junior counselor is advisor for the decoration committee.

Chairman of the refreshment committee is Beverly Wallace who will be assisted by Emmy Ann Hankle, junior counselor. Other members of this committee include: Carolyn Purchase, Beryl Mercer, Anne Cooper, Marjorie Davis, Norma Smith, Emily Bregger, Alice Cromartie, Shively, Barbara Mackey, Ann Poppell and Charline Dyles.

The clean-up committee headed by Frances McLaughlin assisted by Georgie Jackie, Prudence Williams, Betty McMullen, Betty Stakemiller, and Tenci Hamlin.

Colorful rainbow souvenir cards for each of the guests are being made by Bruce Flanders and Pat Harnot.

Day Students Have Buffet Luncheon

Day Students entertained Wednesday with a buffet luncheon in their club room in the Student Alumnae building.

Chairman of the affair were Mrs Frank Miller, faculty advisor, Flowers and Wendell Hatcher. Mrs Edwina Speirs and Mary Tinsley. "A good time was had by all, and the food was just wonderful," according to Mrs Geiger, president of the organization to replace Rosalie Almony who resigned from school last spring and also Marie Jean Riley has been chosen to replace Mary D Tinsley who moved into the Sigma Kappa House as vice president.

Nut Week Sponsored

"The purpose of 'nut week' is to enlist more Baptist girls in Baptist activities, who have not been at least one unit organization or who are not active now," stated Miss Katherine Waldo, Baptist student secretary at Florida State College.

Through this student activity it is hoped many new friendships will be made and more interest the student house will be formed.

Nut week for Baptist students will last from February 18 through February 25. The secret of who is squirrel will be revealed at Sunday school February 25.

Participating in this activity are 325 girls. Frances Spencer is freshman vice president of the Baptist student union. In charge of this event with Bobbie Redd working as her co-chairman.

FREE! FREE!

WAR ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE
PICTURE OF THE WEEK

LT JAMES STEWART

in

"Winning Your Wings"

—also—

U. S. Coast Guard

in

"TASK FORCE"

(Full Color)

Short Feature: "Mission Accomplished"

Augusta Conradi Theater—Saturday—8:00
February 24-25—Sunday—3:00

FREE!

Sponsored by Village Vamps

Travel in Mid-Week

When you plan your next necessary trip, phone your Trailways Agent for information first Inquire about the best days and schedules Arrange your trip accordingly, so that you and our service men and women may have a more comfortable and pleasant journey

All Buses Leave
UNION BUS STATION
Cor. Adams and Tenn. Ph. 701

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Christ or Chaos

The Florida Flambeau

In Tomorrow's World

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

VOL. XXXII, No. 17 | Tallahassee, Florida | MARCH 2, 1945

Annual Youth Conference Registration Starts Today; Program Opens at 7:45 P M

Widely Traveled Speakers Tell of World Problems, Plan Seminars, Personal Conferences; Smith to Talk on Texas

Registration for this weekend's annual Youth Conference will begin this afternoon, and will be held at the Baptist Student House.

From 20 to 30 students from the University of Florida arrive this afternoon to begin participation in the joint conference. Although Conference Co-chairmen Bill Rion will be unable to attend, U of F students will take part in all of the seminars and meetings of the weekend program.

Time for the official opening of the weekend tonight has been advanced from 8:15 until 7:45. Tonight's program in the Student Alumnae building auditorium will present a brief address, and a panorama view of the world with all of the several Conference ambassadors summarizing their subjects in ten-minute talks.

Following the scheduled part of the program tonight will be an informal talk by Dr Blake Smith, member of the University Baptist Church of Austin, Texas. His subject concerns the present nation-wide publicized ousting of President Homer P Rainey, of the University of Texas. Dr Smith, who is Dr Rainey's pastor and has been an active part in his affairs, has stated that his topic is to be—"Texas—Style." Students and faculty members are invited.

Attending the conference as assistant Ambassador to Siam will be Miss Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, who returned from Iran and will leave to take her place of the originally scheduled leader, Mrs Raymond L Archer. Ambassador-Australia will be Miss Mary Louise Roberts, wife of the community school in Havana, Persia, Dr Ruth Frey Woodsmall has been with the Third Conference was held.

Other speakers are Dr Winburn Thomas, general secretary of the National Volunteer Movement of America; Dr Raymond Dreikurs, director of mountain work in Puerto Rico; Dr Charles Hurrey, former international secretary of the YMCA; Dr Arthur Mosher, head of Indian affairs; Miss Honor Wilson, only American who has recently left Marshall and Caroline Islands, and Dr Ida Smith.

A worship service will begin the program Saturday morning at 9 with Dr Blake Smith will talk on "Prelude to Christ Unafraid" after the morning seminars begin following individual groups to Dr Smith, Dr Drukker, Dr Wilson, Dr Hurrey, Dr Arthur Mosher, Dr Fisher, and Miss Elsie Wilson.

From 1:45 to 3 p m Saturday general conference by the Ambassadors, Dr Thomas and a worship service at 3 p m. seminars will proceed. Interest for all students registering for the weekend will be in the faculty dining room, at 8:30. Dr Drukker will be master of ceremonies at a Conference to be held Saturday night.

Similar morning worship will be held, with open discussion on the topic, "What We Can Do With Prevention." Speakers for these speakers will be present Conference groups.

Continued on page two

Pre-Med Students To Apply for Test

The aptitude test for all Florida State College pre-medical students will be given by the Association of American Medical Colleges in room 315 Westcott at 3 p.m. April 13, announced Dr Ernest G Andrews, director of Women. This is the only time this year the test will be given, and those interested should apply immediately at the office of the director of personnel. A fee of $10 will be charged for each person taking the test.

The test has been adopted by the Association as one of the medical requirements for admission, and should be taken by all students who expect to apply for admittance to a medical school during 1945 or the spring of 1946 the purpose of the test is to measure the student's ability to learn material similar to that which he will have in medical school to measure her general information, scientific background and her ability to draw accurate conclusions from a given set of facts.

Band Concert To Be Given

Selections Will Represent United Nations Theme

The Florida State College band, under the direction of Dr Arnold Sykora, conductor, will give its initial concert of 1945 Friday, March 9, at 8:15 in Westcott auditorium.

Choice of many nations will be featured at the concert, which will be opened with presentation of colors by the band's color guard, and the playing of the National Anthem.

A French march, "Father of Victory," will be played as the salute to the armies of the United Nations for their recent victories.

Other band presentations will take part in this number.

Current world events again will enter into the picture in "Pan-American Rhythm," with a composition based on intricate Latin American rhythms, will be played in recognition of the Pan-American Union conference now in progress in Mexico City.

America's gallant ally China will be celebrated when the band plays "In a Chinese Temple Garden," by a composer from another Allied nation, Great Britain.

Guest conductor, Jean Hitchcock Scruggs, director of demonstration school band and an FSC alumna from Wilson, N C, will direct one of the college band, will lead the band in an arrangement of the popular song "Deep Purple."

The concert will close with the

Continued on page two

Dr Andrews to Give Vocational Lecture

Dr Elizabeth G Andrews, director of personnel, will discuss "Personnel Work — the Field for Women" on the second program in the vocational guidance lecture series for this semester, on Monday, March 5 at 8 p m in the clubroom of the Student-Alumnae building.

Within the last few years interest in personnel work has steadily been increasing among members of the student body. In addition to the many girls indicate interest in working with this field of employment, are college to name specifically the occupation they would like to enter or what they are in college." Personnel work is one aspect of the broad field of "working with people."

Among the positions in the field of personnel work Dr Andrews will describe educational personnel, industrial personnel department store personnel work, and will indicate the kind of training necessary to qualify for positions in this field as well as job opportunities available to our graduates through the Placement Bureau in the Personnel Office.

Third in the vocational lecture series will be a program, scheduled for the latter part of March, on fashion illustration, fashion design, and commercial design. Mrs Beatrice P Wilkinson and Miss Ann Kirn of the art department will point out lines involved in a successful career in these fields

Drive to Begin

Campus subscription for National Red Cross War Fund Drive will begin sometime this week, Dot Dean Rion, chairman of the drive, has announced.

Plans for conducting the campaign are not complete as yet, but tentative plans include a visit to each girl on campus by her floor chairman, who will receive the contributions. Each girl will be asked to give $1.00 or 100 per cent cooperation of the whole campus is desired.

Major Office Candidates Are Listed

99 Students to Compete For Publications, CGA and WAA

Candidates to Meet Monday For Instructions

The tentative candidates for offices in the coming elections, as listed below, are beginning their preliminary activities, which activities will continue until the time of the elections themselves.

Monday, March 5, at 5 o'clock, there will be a mass meeting of the candidates in the Student Alumnae building, and in the March 9 issue of the Flambeau each candidate will publish a statement giving platforms or reasons for running.

During the week of March 7-13, each candidate will spend two hours in a booth set up in lower Westcott, answering all the questions anyone desires to ask her. They are to spend one hour before their statements have been published and another hour after.

On March 12, the candidates for major offices will speak at Student Assembly, and March 13 all candidates will be introduced in convocation.

Primary elections will be held March 13, and the finals on March 14.

The candidates running for office are as follows:

COLLEGE GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

President: Carolyn Allison, Beatrice Weaver.

First Vice-President: Sarah Bess.

Second Vice-President: Rosetta Carter, Jane Hunter, Ann Grisman, Barbara Mann, Ann Parker.

Third Vice-President: Eugenia Avant, Ann Hall, Barbara Richardson.

Secretary: Yvonne Boatwright, Doris DuBois, Jane Gunn, Madge Fincher, Jimmie Rogers, Lalla Rogers, Betty Sloan.

Treasurer: Ruth Dismore,

Continued on page two

WAPC Will Institute Foster-Parent Plan

British Refuge to Receive Aid For School Year

A plan for the support of British war orphans and refugee children by the various branches on campus has been initiated by Dot Jean Glass of the War Activities Planning Committee. Organizations who are interested are asked to contact Dot Jean or Jane Lyles.

In this plan each organization "adopts" a British war orphan or refugee child, contributing a certain amount of money to his care and education. Photographs, letters, pictures, letters, and gifts may be exchanged between foster parents and child.

No campus groups are yet taking part as an organization.

The Tallahassee chapter of the Chi Omega sorority is in league with the movement and is actively participating in this plan. Each chapter contributes $15 for the school term from September through May. Their "foster-child" is a boy and his children, a pair of 9-year-old British twins named Billy and Bobby Jones. They are at present in school in England, and the chapter reports having received several round-robin letters from them.

Rainey's Pastor To Discuss Issue

Faculty and students are invited to attend a discussion tonight of the recent dismissal of Dr Homer P Rainey from the presidency of the University of Texas.

The speaker is Dr Blake Smith, pastor of the University Baptist Church of Austin, Texas. Dr Smith, one of the seven ambassadors to this weekend's Youth Conference, is Dr Rainey's pastor and has been active in his defense. Dr Smith's topic is "Fascism — Texas Style."

Dr Smith's discussion will follow immediately after the introductory program of the Student Alumnae building, and in the Student Alumnae building auditorium. His talk on the Texas issue will begin at approximately 9 p m.

Artist Series Tickets Ready

William Primrose, Violist, Appears on March 14

Tickets for the performance of William Primrose, violist who will appear as an Artist Series event on March 14 at Florida State College, can now be obtained by officers or either A or B series tickets.

Dean Karl O Kuerstainer, dean of the School of Music, has announced that the reserved seat tickets will be distributed through March 9 in the basement of the Student Alumnae building every day except Saturday and Sunday.

Mr Primrose, conceded by many musical authorities to be the greatest violist living today, was born in Glasgow, Scotland, 37 years ago and began his study of music when he was four years old. His father owned the rare Amati violin which Primrose uses today, but because the violin was not thought to be a very fantastic instrument at that time, it was kept under lock and key. Under his supervise, learned to pry open the lock and played the viola often until his father discovered the culprit and set him to practicing the violin instead.

He studied the violin as his father wished and at the age of ten, played in the Scottish Symphony Orchestra which Primrose was then a member. His first concert debut, he played at the age of ten. Years recognized the youth's special aptitude for the instrument, the Primrose family sent him to the Royal Academy of Music, a well-known teachers.

Continued on page two

Eyman to Speak

Dean Robert Eyman plans to go to Panama City Friday, March 2, to speak before the Bay county teachers on "Youth Needs and Youth's School Aids in Their Adjustments."

March 5 and 6 he will be in Fort Lauderdale discussing plans for the Summer Work Shop with Mr Uric J Bennett, Broward county superintendent and his staff.

Mia Slavenska, former premiere-danseuse of the Ballet-Russe de Monte Carlo, will make her initial appearance at Florida State College in the "B" Artist Series Wednesday night.

David Lang Speaks Here

Florida Child Labor Law Discussed in Meeting

Discussing the Florida child labor law and methods of enforcement before an audience of about 150 people, David Lang, of the Industrial Commission, spoke at a mass meeting held Tuesday night in the county court house, under the sponsorship of the Leon County Defense Council on child care.

Mr Lang was introduced by Mr Amos P Godby, county superintendent, after Mrs C P Heinlein,

Continued on page two

Five Advise Campus Oratorical Contest

SWAC and Hillel Foundation Set April 10 Deadline

Five faculty members from the College of Arts and Sciences have been chosen as advisors for the oratorical contest which is being sponsored on campus by the Student World Affairs Council and the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation.

Faculty members who will act as advisors on the subject "World Citizenship; Challenge to Competence," which is the general theme of the contest, are Miss Pearle Shepard, instructor in English and elocution; Dr Anna F Liddell, professor of philosophy; Miss Daisy Parker, instructor in political science, Dr Paul Shankweiler, professor of sociology, and Mrs Margaret Blair, assistant professor of English.

Deadline for entries has been set for April 10 and the semi-finals will be held April 17 and 18. Finals are to be held April 25 at which time three sterling silver cups with the winners' names engraved will be presented as prizes. More information may be obtained through Cordelia Barclay, SWAC

Continued on page two

Appendectomies And Love Letters Plague Directors

The three members of the play production class have had their ups and downs for the last few weeks, not without actual small difficulties. The task of each of the three girls, Bonnie Hunt, Maurice Petty, and Rose Norman, has been to cast, direct, and produce a one-act play.

Bonnie's efforts were toward a one-act bill-billy play called "Pink and Patches." The cast of members of the cast had an emergency appendicitis operation last Saturday and a last-minute substitution had to be made. Another critical problem was in the selection of two girls for the cast who resembled each other sufficiently to pass for twins. Also needing a baitiered straw hat for one of the "men" in her play, Bonnie had to buy a new one at the ten cent store and spent much

Continued on page two

Library Sponsors Display in Florida

"Know Your State" Campaign Features History, Books

The library is sponsoring a "Know Your State" campaign in accordance with Florida's centennial celebration. An information center has been set up and rare Florida books are on display.

The information center contains tourist books of different important cities in Florida, pamphlets describing the industrial future of the state, pictorial and historical maps, the Florida constitution and some histories of the state. The center reveals some unusual facts such as that Florida rivals Texas in the distinction of having been under five flags.

The display is taken from the McCrorey collection of early Americana. These books are very rare as there are only one or two in existence. The books are for

"Purple Doorknob" To Be Presented

March 8th the Speech Department will present "Purple Doorknob" by Walter Ellis Hampton Eaton, for the AAUW in the Little Theatre. Students directing are Patricia Berry and the student cast is Claire St-John as Mrs Bartholomew, Kerlyn Bryan as Mrs Dunbar, and Anne Hunter playing Viola Cole. The Purple Doorknob is a comedy in one act about a charming, young actress who is sending an anonymous and a bed-ridden old lady. She finally achieves it by getting a job as a nurse for the old lady in her bedroom and making her one of the characters. Miss Berry, instructor of arts, is in charge of the setting and stage craft.

Mia Slavenska Will Perform At FSC on Wednesday Night; To Bring Ensemble With Her

Noted Danseuse and Group Will Present Original Numbers; Formal Dress to be Required For All Downstairs Seats

Mia Slavenska, Yugoslavian ballerina, and her dance ensemble will appear as the Artist Series event at the Florida State College auditorium next Wednesday night at 8:15.

Mr Karl Kuerstainer, dean of the School of Music, has announced that no student may attend any Artist Series event without a ticket and will not be admitted in the main floor of the auditorium without being in formal dress.

Those who do not plan to dress formally should reserve their seats in the balcony. Dean Kuerstainer emphasized that these were rules of the college and must be observed.

Miss Slavenska, star of the dance group, was born in Slavonski-Brod (Yugoslavia) but spent most of her childhood in Zagreb, then capital of Croatia. From early childhood she showed an intense liking for dance and at the age of 18 made her debut in the Opera House of Zagreb. She arranged and choreographed the entire program herself.

After winning the Dance Olympiad at the Berlin Olympics of 1936, she toured Europe with her dance group, then in 1938 she came to America with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, the dance troupe in which David Thmar, her present partner, also had a leading part. For the past two years she has led her present group which also includes Mr Thmar, Audrey Keane, Norma Vasilvina and Joseph A Harris.

Miss Slavenska has been featured in the American movie Ballerina, a motion picture of 1937.

The dancer's flair of costume designing fits in with her profession and many of her original costumes sketched have been shown in exhibitions in art museums.

Because she believes that a complete understanding of music is imperative to a dancer, Miss Slavenska studied music at the Royal Academy of Music in Zagreb for seven years. She is said to have perfect pitch and once while practicing with an orchestra, she asked the conductor to check the score of the horns be-

Continued on page two

AAUW Gives Convo Program

Campus Talent Promotes Creative Arts Contest

In order to promote interest in the Creative Arts contest, which is being sponsored by the American Association of University Women; a program consisting of campus talent was presented in convocation Tuesday afternoon. Featuring an original skit, ballet, dance, song and modern dance, the program was conducted by Miss Louise Cohan of the dramatics office.

A song composed and sung by Anne Watkins opened the program. Anne was accompanied in her singing by which expressive interpretation of Robert Brown-ing's "Pippa Passes." Ann and Ruby Dunstan instructor in piano.

A short skit, "Why not Paint?" presented one phase of activities in the arts and crafts field. This skit was prepared and presented by Sarah Boswell, Jane Lyles, Betty Allison, Mary Elizabeth Knight, Nelle Hawkins and Dorothy Mayhew.

A dramatic dance version of a polka was composed and presented by Marion W-ish, Sarah Bess, and Marjorie Platt. A military tap dance, given to demonstrate the opportunities for creative work in this field, followed. Those composing and presenting the dance were Marguerite Cherry, Beryl Rifc.en, Betty Jo Baechle and Betty Bryson. Representing another division of the contest, Mrs Olive Cross, instructor in English, spoke briefly on creative writing.

An announcement on Youth Conference was illustrated by students representing the various countries in which speakers for the conference have worked. Beatrice Weaver gave a brief sketch of each speaker. Students taking part in the announcement and representing the first and different states and countries were: Betty Redd, Japan; Peggy Strickland, Kentucky; Rachael Ball, South America; Anne Hunter, Mexico; Shirley Hall, Texas; Betty Spear, Texas; Sarah Lewis, Texas and Marshall Islands, and Wilna Humphrey, Iran.

Dr Goulding Offers Books for Display

Fifth, Eighth, Confederate Editions in Library

Several rare editions of The Song Manowers of the Florida Coast written by Mr R F Goulding, grandfather of Dr R L Goulding, superintendent of the Demonstration school, were on display in the library this week. The fifth, eighth, and Confederate editions plus the only other copy in existence of a pamphlet which was bound for the Royal Library of England were in the display.

Dr Goulding has a complete collection of rare copies of his grandfather's books, all of which are on display to the library. This book, published in 1852, is one of the first books to use Florida as a background. The first three editions of The Song Manowers of Florida

Continued on page two

Wilgus Ends Talks Before FSC Classes

Dr A Curtis Wilgus, professor of American history at George Washington University, here last Friday morning when he spoke to Latin American history and Latin American Spanish classes. His subjects were "Democracy and Dictatorship in Latin America: The Novel and Wherefore's of Latin American Revolutions" and "The Historical Background of Latin American Civilization."

In comparing North and South American politics, Dr Wilgus said that Latin American politics are not democratic in the form of the north basis. He added that as South American nations in the stability of South American governments and constitutions do not seem to be as much scorn the United States for only having had two constitutions. Latin America reason that change is a mark of progress and view our two-constitution government as stagnant. Another contributing factor to the numerous revolutions, according to Wilgus, is the Latin American belief in the divine right of revolution. Once a independence was so obtained.

Majority of Students at University Favor Co-education, FSC Student Who Conducts Composite Interview Concludes

By BERYL KITCHEN

Co-education, which has captured the public spotlight all over the state of Florida, has been the subject of many discussions, pro and con, by the boys of the University of Florida, at Gainesville.

In a recent trip to the Gainesville campus, a Flambeau reporter found that even among the possibility of admitting women to the University of Florida as a temporary war relief measure came into the limelight during the late summer months, the Gainesville boys have studied the issue carefully from all angles. They contrasted the 2330 record enrollment at Florida State College for women with the drop in regular students at Gainesville to 682; they debated the matter in student gatherings, both official and off-the-record; and in a student poll, conducted before the holidays, a great majority of them went on record as wholeheartedly favoring the "open-door policy" for women students.

Although the Florida contract at Florida voted down the proposal, saying that it did not feel justified in changing its 46-year policy in order to admit women to the college of education there, Dr John J Tigert, president of the university, declared that the women students, should they be allowed to enter, would be welcomed. He stressed the ample faculty, dormitory space, and feeding facilities available for those women students.

After interviewing approximately 300 students at Florida, the reporter found that many of the boys agreed with the argument used recently by Representative Burke Floyd of Apalachicola. He supported co-education on the grounds that it is "not an experiment but a standard practice in the United States today," emphasizing the fact that over 85 per cent of the states endorse co-education by its use.

Some of those questioned said that they believed educational opportunities for co-education at the University of Florida, while 99 per cent of the fraternity boys when questioned about their views on the subject, stamped their approval on the proposed co-education. In fact, the only one out of the 150 fraternity boys questioned who had decided to oppose the move, said "Why, I'd never be able to see all you pretty Florida gals came down here to school!"

Some of the boys enrolled at the university in Gainesville thought it would make college life much more pleasant, although they dreaded the scholastic competition that girls would create. Many feared (or said they feared!) the distraction girls might cause, while others were of the opinion that the presence of women students would only spur them on to better work.

The Florida Alligator, campus news publication backed by almost the entire student body, editorially endorsed the resolution adopted recently by the directors of the Florida Junior Chamber of Commerce which favors co-education, but proposes limiting registration of women at the university in Gainesville to the junior and senior classes and to the graduate schools. According to the Alligator, Florida under this plan could have both a first-class university and a first-class woman's college.

French Fliers to Be Feted at FSC

Festivities are being planned here for 99 French fliers, after their graduation at Craig Field, Panama City, March 3. Arrangements have been made by their commandant, Lieutenant Commander Jacques Vaz-Nason.

First event is a reception in Landis parlor Saturday at 4 p m, followed by dinner in the faculty dining hall. A formal dance in Landis recreation hall will be the climax to the day's celebration. The school orchestra will furnish the music.

All advanced French speaking students are urged to attend. Miss Pearle Shepard is in charge of the arrangements.

Spirit of the Week

● NOW IT'S UP TO US

For several weeks the Youth Conference has been continually kept before our eyes. In house meetings three weeks ago, part of the program was devoted to the explanation of the Conference; It has been publicized in the Flambeau; posters have been put up on numerous bulletin boards; and Convocation has given some of its time to enlarge upon the details of the Conference speakers and plans.

Almost all upperclassmen remember last year's Youth Conference, or at least remember that there was one; freshmen and transfers have heard and read about it and its activity through the aid of the various agencies mentioned above.

We have spoken about not being well informed about world affairs; it was shown in our last house meeting that we can't even answer current issue questions which are taken from "front page" stories.

Because of our secluded feeling or position, this weekend offers us a great opportunity to get first hand information the easy way—no drudgery of looking up material in research books; instead, all we must do is take a seat and keep our ears open and our minds alert. This opportunity ought to be a true challenge to every student on campus. Of course, it will take a little initiative to make this good show or to give up playing a couple of fast sets of tennis Saturday afternoon, but it will determine whether or not we are truly sincere about wanting to learn more of what is going on around us and to understand more intelligently our fellow men.

It appears that some of us, because of loose conversation which has been heard around campus, have a misconception that Youth Conferences are nothing but dry lectures; others attend only because they can get out of classes. If students who possess this trend of thought would think twice about the marvelous chance we have to learn more about people who are "foreign" to us, to listen to well-known authorities on many subjects, and in general find but what is going on (besides what kind of a sandwich Dagwood has consumed now, the latest popular song, Van Johnson's latest picture and other interesting but not vital subjects) it seems only natural that we as college students would be grateful for such conferences.

It might sound big noble, or whatever, to say it is not just for our own good but for the "general welfare" of America but if we realize that when we let opportunities such as this one slip by us and keep going around in our little shallow self-centered world, we are not only harming ourselves but our country as well. The state is educating us to be future citizens and to carry on better than our parents, therefore the least we can do is get a "painless education."

● WE CAN HELP

Mention of the word college has for many years immediately stimulated mental pictures of ivy-clad walls and cloistered pathways. Unfortunately, connotation and reality have often extended this physical picture to include not only the surroundings in which students live, but also the manner of thinking and participation in which students indulge. We, and others like us, on campus, often find ourselves withdrawing into a cloistered existence, far from the mundane actualities of the world into which we soon shall go.

In a country where war is draining every possible resource to hasten victory, the collegiate world finds it difficult to remain aloof—and so she should. We are not "sheltered women" who must "tend" only to our classes and intellectual abilities; we are a part of a whole, whose duty it is to take an active part in all that goes on about us. We are, or should be, in fact, the "protecting women" who tend to civic obligations and manual activities even while we are till in school. There is, today, as never before, an opportunity for students to come out from behind the shadow of oaks alone and to help in the war and peace efforts.

Florida students in particular must respond to the needs for assistance in practical fields. Many convalescent hospitals have been designated for and opened in this area, and President Roosevelt forcefully indicated the drastic need for nurses. Trained nurses who are working in civilian hospitals find themselves swamped with the necessity for doing many things which can easily be done by trained helpers—nurses' aides, grey ladies, and junior workers; Army nurses find themselves overcome with extra work as their ranks are not increased and have to perform tasks which could be done by others.

Many of us FSC students will return this summer to towns where such conditions exist, and if we were prepared and willing we could go immediately to the aid of both civilian and military hospital staff members. Does it not seem feasible than, that we should request the Red Cross to conduct courses in such fields so that we might be ready to help when we can? Naturally, there must be a desire on the part of the student to learn first aid, and other necessary subjects, and there must be stations to be run through if courses are once instigated here. The Physical Education department has started just such a training—last week they began teaching first aid to any one who wished it. But one course in one field is not enough to absorb almost 2400 students.

Nurses Aides should not be permitted to train and assist at the Tallahassee city hospital, for the College infirmary could certainly not be able to make use of the trainees in any large number, if it could use any at all in its limited space. Grey ladies, who do much morale work by reading to patients, writing their letters, and helping to amuse them with games, might easily begin training while going to school. Much planning is necessary if these aims are to be carried out, but there are at least several campus bodies already organized to make arrangements: War Activities Planning Committee, College Government Association, or even the Pre-med Club.

Naturally, the above statements are merely suggestions, but it is time for students to inaugurate more ways to take an important place in war work. It is up to us to ask for such opportunities to help if we are willing. To say we are not is to admit that we cannot do more than listen by rote the sons taught from words, and cannot put our talents to practical application.

● LEGISLATURE INTEREST

That the issue of co-education is definitely on its way to this year's legislature was made positive yesterday when the state house of Representative Holmes Melton, Jr., of Lafayette County, as stating that he is expecting to cosponsor a bill authorizing co-education at the Florida Legislature this April.

The representative believes that co-education can be accomplished at "negligible expense to the State and without crippling either the Florida State College for women or the all-male University of Florida."

Since this coming issue should hold definite interest to all college students in this state it is hoped that students will consider the question of co-education with a rational point of view. Being the controversial issue that it is, students should hear both sides of the question and determine the merits of the legislators' discussions and contributions.

Artist Series Tickets Are Ready

Continued from page one

showed him how different the approach to the viola should be from the approach to the violin, and by 1930 Primrose had established permanently to the viola and that year accepted an offer to be soloist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. In 1931 he gave his first solo viola performance in Rio de Janeiro.

In 1942 Primrose left the orchestra to devote his time to solo work. This year he is doing many of his 60 engagements with symphony orchestras and about 30 joint recitals with Richard Crooks, metropolitan tenor.

Other colleges which Primrose will appear at this season are: Michigan State College, Mount Holyoke College, Occidental College in California, the Junior College of Jacksonville, California, Limestone College, South Carolina and the Prince of Wales College of Charlottetown P. E. I., Canada.

Library Sponsors Display in Florida

Continued from page one

the use of students and may be had by calling at the desk. One of these books, "The Authentic Story of the Seminole War" is one of the Miraculous Escape of Mrs Mary Godfrey and Her Four Female Children," first printed in 1836. Another book contains pictures by Louise de Meyne de Morrues, the first artist to draw Florida first hand. Some of these books contain descriptions of early travels through Florida, and the surprise the tropics plan to have caused. Also in the display is a letter from the Secretary of War concerning the destruction of a Negro fort in East Florida.

Youth Conference Registration Starts

Continued from page one

Monday's program will begin at 9 a.m. when Dr Thomas will speak on "The New Order in Lac." At 10 Dr Hurley will discuss "Latin America in the World of Tomorrow," an dat 4 Miss Wilson will talk on "Coral Outposts in the Pacific." All talks will be held in the Augusta Conradis theatre.

The annual Youth Conference is sponsored here by the Florida Union of Student Nations. The FSC student co-chairmen are Dot Carwell and Margaret Smith.

Mia Slavenska Will Perform at FSC

Continued from page one

cause they were flat at a certain point in the composition.

Mr Tihmar was born in Baird, Oklahoma, and, like his partner, began at an early age to study the violin.

The Tihmars moved quite often during David's childhood, and he graduated from high school in Denver, Colorado. He attended Phoby College in Nashville, Tennessee, and studied dramatics at Los Angeles City College in California.

Mr Tihmar is interested in all kinds of American art and has study of the folklore of his country is shown in his original ballads presented for the tour this season. One is based on Stephen Foster's songs and has the sentimental attitudes of the Negro spirituals. Both of these dances will be presented at the performance here.

Band Concert To Be Given

Continued from page one

n u m b e r s "Something About A Soldier."

New uniforms have been provided for the 28 new members of the band this year, and rigorous hard work by the musicals have prepared the group for what promises to be a fine musical performance- Mr Sykora announced.

Five Advise Campus Oratorical Contest

Continued from page one

chairman, or Virginia Holmes, secretary, and Gerry Halpern, head of the Hillel Foundation. All students are urged to prepare speeches for the contest, according to Crowder, and they may be written on any subject related to the general theme.

Books Collected

Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman scholastic honorary, has been collecting books which have permitted members to secure books for the Red Cross in the Merchant Marines. This drive has been going on throughout February and will continue until the latter part of March, according to Robin Hill, president of Alpha Lambda Delta. Each member is responsible for turning in one good book that would be enjoyed by the boys in the Merchant Marine. Approximately 30 books have already been collected. Mary Jane Kirst is in charge of this drive.

Collegiate Comeback

Pulling students out of their lethargy seems to be a problem at Auburn, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, as well as at Florida State College, where the following excerpt from The Plainsman is their opinion of the campus slacker.

"THE CAMPUS SLACKER—

He went all thru grade school and high school, doing what his teachers told him and following the herd. Now that he's in college he's doing the same thing, fighting shy of all sheep with black wool, who don't do what the rest do. He has about as much initiative as a student dancing with a chaperone, as much imagination as a hamburger steak and as much color as a polar bear in the snow. He's the dummy who always votes the way he's ordered for campus elections and never questions the right and wrong of certain campus traditions. Like all sheep he'll let himself be pushed along to the slaughter house and never think about where he's heading or why he's being pushed. To hell with him."

* * *

The modern girl's hair may look like a bird's nest but it doesn't worry her, because she doesn't know what a mop looks like.

* * *

The sultan got sore with his wife.

Major Office Candidates Announced

Continued from page one

Madelyn Fleming.

Chairman of Judiciary: Catherine Barra.

Chairman of Residence Halls Committee: Gladys Lester, Peggy Lou Thomas.

Chairman of Off-Campus Committee: Betty Alday, Stella Barrineau.

Freshman Advisor: Betty Bell, Rita Bowden, Betty Jane Mendoza, Audrey Perry, Mildred Turner.

Senior Representative to Judiciary: Ruth Dismore, Dot Jean Hall, Lucille Lewis, Lester Joan Shanor, Louis Sikes, Pegg Lou Thomas.

Junior representative to Judiciary: Rosetta Carver, Jean Anne Hamilton, Betty Barbara Lindsey, Frances Myers, Tressa Myers, Ann Parker, Betty Schwartz, Jean Smith.

Sophomore Representatives to Judiciary: Betty Avery, Evelyn Marie Badcock, Betty Bolles, Marilyn Dewer, Beth Puehrer, Georgia Lee Ann McCarthy, Iris Parsons, Muri Price, Jean Ann Ramsdell, Ida Lee Rentz, Janice Richey, Norma Jean Scarborough, Schaeffner, Jean Shaver, Irma Jean Smith, Barbara Lorna Storey, Catherine Sullivan.

Jean Wells, Bopie (Jo Ann) Whitaker.

President of Landis Hall: Betty Bell, Shirley Grube, Irene Mendoza.

Vice-President of Landis Hall: Peggy Stanaland, Roberta Perrine.

Vice-President of Broward Hall: Marguerite Cherry, Barbara Parr.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

President: Sarah Bennett, Jo Guthrie.

Vice-President: Clarice Trueblood, Alice Ann Wilson.

Secretary: Grace Lindberg Nancy Ware.

Treasurer, Rosemary Marcoux

Senior Intramurals Manager: Betty Jo Bennett, Jean Munroe.

FLAMBEAU

Co-Editors: Judy Pepper, Janet Rogers.

Business Manager: Martha Alice Brack, Barbara Bauth.

FLASTACOWO

Editor: Margaret Bauth.

Business Manager: Marianne Jones.

DISTAFF

Editor: Winifred Medlivin.

Business Manager: Darella Martin, Beryl Taylor.

Dr. Goulding Offers Books for Display

Continued from page one

the year, and it was printed in several foreign languages

The books on display for the purpose of instructing Mr Goulding's children in the art of woodcraft. Mr Goulding wrote other books and articles but The Young Woodsman is considered and is generally considered an outstanding piece of craftsmanship. The book went out of print in 1941.

In order that the students get an insight into the various fields of work undertaken on campus, the library is giving to each college organization full charge of the War Information Center. Each week a different organization, through pamphlets, posters, and illustrations, will present some interesting phase of its work. The correlation of all the information served life of the college girl.

And invented a way to scare 'em. He caught him a mouse,

Which he loosed in the house.

(The confusion is called haremscarum.)

* * *

A new pocket-size magazine, This Month, is appearing on the news stands this month. It is published by the Association for the Promotion of International Undertakings, a non-profit group. An article in the March issue is entitled "1,000,000 B.C. to 1,000,000 A.D." (So far as I know this is not an autobiography.)

The Colonnade, Georgia State College for Women

* * *

From the Vermont Cynic, Burlington, Vermont comes this item: At a meeting of the Student Union Council, the President asked for opinions on the question of wearing slacks and ski pants to classes. The rule which is now in effect states that slacks and ski pants may be worn in zero weather or below, and the student is advised to change to a skirt before going to class. After a short discussion, it was decided that the Council members should wait to see that the wearing of slacks and ski pants does not result in warm weather.

David Lang Speaks Here

Continued from page one

chairman of the child care committee, opened the session.

The meeting, attended by college students and faculty members and representatives of the Tallahassee school system, health organizations, and welfare groups, was held for the purpose of informing the community about child labor law and the ways to check infringements.

After reviewing the major points of the child labor law, Mr Lang held an open discussion concerning the community's well-known violations of the law. Members of the audience, who were interested in the problem, felt the enforcement of the law, rather than the question as to the necessity of such violations. It was then brought to the attention of the citizens as well as law-enforcement agencies have the right to swear out a warrant through the county judge. A local attorney also suggested that members of the community share equal responsibilities with the employers for the infringements of the law occur.

Another point raised in this forum discussion was that the enthusiasm most of the violations of child labor laws have been occurring at night, the inspectors, whose job it is to enforce the laws, work only in the daytime.

In explaining the law, Mr Lang said that it is illegal to employ for employment without a work permit which is issued by local public school superintendents. The permits, when issued, allow for 8 hour work days, 40 hour work weeks, and designate an 8 hour period and a 40 hour week. Night work, the speaker added, is prohibited from 6 to 6:30 p m for those between 14 and 16 years, 10 to 6 a m for those between 16 and 18, except in cases of farm work. Employment is legal in private homes.

Exceptions to the regulations made he explained, to allow certain children to work during school hours, provided there is sufficient proof of economic need, the child has completed the seventh grade and bears a doctor's certificate of physical fitness.

Persons with certificates are prohibited from certain enumerated dangerous occupations, including that of messenger service and until recently that of milk truck driving, Mr Lang brought to the group's attention was the fact that it is illegal to employ any person under 21 in a pool room or any place dealing solely in intoxicating liquors.

Mr Lang also pointed out that the Federal Wage-Hour Law passed in 1943 was given the job of administering the child labor laws, revolves at an annual compensation of $7,300 for its work. Six inspectors, working throughout the state, have declared 339 violations during the past year with penalties amounting to the extend of $7,314, he added.

Smith Is President

Margaret Smith, senior, will serve as president of the Student Union of Music for the remainder of the year, it was announced at a meeting on Wednesday afternoon. Other officers who were elected at the meeting are Jean Bower, junior, vice-president; Eleanor Bragg, sophomore, secretary; and Joyce Evans, freshman, treasurer.

Officers met for the first time Thursday morning with Dean Earl O. Vanderpool of the School of Music. They discussed student attendance at college recitals and plans for the annual Music dinner Music Week in May.

In This Our Time . . .

BY GLORIA REED

On the Western front last week the final chapter of the war against Germany appeared to have opened with General Dwight Eisenhower's drive into the enemy lines along the forty-two mile front along the Siegfried line guarding the Rhine. It was predicted by a Nazi spokesman that this attack would be linked with the new Soviet offensive from the East. That belief soon began to be under way. Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery told his troops, "We have come now to the last and final round; we want all will go for the knockout blow".

The Allied air assault on Germany continues to add the final touch to the new offensive. Last week heavy every plane in the Allied air force, from Russia, France, and Italy, at least 7000 air craft, struck a paralyzing blow at enemy communications which insured that the Germans could not rush troops to the Ardennes along the 450-mile front.

On the Eastern front the Russians are marshalling their forces into two spearheads, both aimed toward Berlin. The advance of these spearheads is expected by military observers to be rapid since the Red Army has pushed the Germans back over 1200 miles in little less than a year. During his address celebrating the twenty-seventh anniversary of the founding of the Red Army, Marshall Stalin said: "Full victory over the Germans is near. The Red Army, in common with the Armies of our Allies, a successful, by bringing to a close the rout of the German Fascist Army."

The American flag has been planted firmly on the doorstep of Japan on top of a volcanic cone on Iwo Jima Island, 750 miles from Tokyo, as close to Japan as the Japanese fought with fanatical savagery to stave off this most pressing threat to the homeland. The loss of Iwo Island by the Japanese means heightened danger from American air power as well as throwing the spotlight on the inability of the Japanese to defend the near approaches to Tokyo.

In the Philippines General MacArthur's forces have successfully completed clearing up Bataan. However, "pocket resistance" still exists in the old walled section of Manila. The defeated Japanese has given the American forces a stepping stone to the coast of China which is only 700 miles away.

In Mexico City, in the Jewel Room of historic Chapultepec Castle, delegates of 20 American Republics met to discuss "Problems of War and Peace." Speaking their own language and representing various kinds of governments, the conference delegates had a threefold purpose: to increase co-operation in the struggle against the Axis, to regulate, and if possible, strengthen economic and political solidarity of the Western Hemisphere, and to take steps toward establishing a post-war security.

On the domestic front last week the stage was set in Washington to replace shutdown ever methods of meeting the nation's manpower needs. Selective service officials said not compulsory methods are needed to provide the 1,900,000 workers which government authorities say are required to maintain certain military programs for the first six months of this year. Two provisions of the present law have been advanced: The May-Bailey bill and the Wagner-Elbers bill.

FSC Studio Presents Florida Book Review

Speech Students Participate On Library Program

An original Florida book review program in commemoration of the 109th anniversary of Florida's admission to the union went on the air Monday night from the college studio.

The program, prepared and sponsored by the FSC Library Club was presented by students of the speech department. Miss Louise Richardson, head librarian, wrote the reviews of Florida literature in Florida books.

Books reviewed were That Vanishing Eden by Thomas Barbour; Studies No. 33 of the Florida Geological Survey by Herman Kurs (head of the FSC department of botany) and barter; Florida, Land of Change, by Katherine T Abbey; Territorial Days, by Sidney W Martin. Other books mentioned were Colcorita, by Edith Pope, an Eagle alumna; Florida Cracker by Karl Bickel; Florida, Land of Change, by Katherine T Abbey. The former faculty member's book of Apache and Juan Ortiz, by Mary B Alfriend, FSC English teacher.

The script which included music was written by Mary Jane Kirst chairman, head of the library's radio committee. Sarah Lewis, soprano soloist, sang "The Wind" and "The Cwl" by Lisa Lehman. She was accompanied by Elsie Brazy at the piano.

Speech students participating were: announcer Sara Normand; reviewers Bonnie Hunt, Maurine Petty, and Pat Patishall.

The Florida Flambeau

EDITORIAL STAFF

CORDELIA BARCLAY ..... Editor-in-Chief
CAROLYN HALL, JANET PASCOGNAT ..... Associate Editors
SHIRLEY BURDEN ..... Managing Editor
GLORIA REED, DOROTHY LANCASTER, JO ANN CARROLL, ... Assistant Editors
ANNE GAITHER PEGGY RAY ..... News Editors

Columnists ..... Jane Rogers
Columnists ..... Betty Wenzel
Columnists ..... Jean Bower
Columnists ..... Mary Ann Wilson
Columnists ..... Mildred Cameron
Society Editor ..... Betty Bell

Sports Editor ..... Jane Rogers
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Betty Wenzel

Columnists ..... Jean Bower
Columnists ..... Mary Ann Wilson
Columnists ..... Mildred Cameron
Society Editor ..... Betty Bell

Assistant Art Editor ..... Betty Morgan

REPORTERS: Virginia Alsbrook, May Alexander, Miriam Appell, Bobbie Bell, Sue Cox, Betty Jo Bennett, Jean Munroe, Jean Bower, Betty Wenzel, Mary Dowd, Lucy Fenlon, Georgia Fields, Delores Gantzer, Anne Holmes, Ruth Keller, Betty Lou Lindsey, Jean Lindsey, Betty Lou Mendenhall, Mary Ann Wilson, Peggy Lou Thomas, Jeanne Tillman, Maria Waters, Barbara Wichman.
EDITOR'S NOTE: It is at the present time impossible for the members of the Flambeau to give equal editorial space and prominence to the editorial opinions of all students. Therefore, we welcome letters to the editor.

BUSINESS STAFF

Manager of Sports ..... Assistant Business Manager
Circulation Manager ..... Assistant Circulation Manager
Shirley Rodgers ..... Advertising Manager
Shirley Strickland, Bobbie Rose, Dot Miller, Georgia Fields, Lillian Sullivan, Allene Sayers ..... Advertising Staff
Jean Lindsey ..... Circulation Manager
Margie Austin, Kathleen Johnson, Helen Thompson ..... Circulation Staff
Eleanor Bayne ..... Collection Manager
Betty Gosling, Jerry Saunders, Loretta Sorrison, Louise Sloan ..... Collection Staff
Marianne Frost, Jean Ann Gentry ..... Florence Cone, Lucille Kerr ..... Secretaries

Entered as second class mail matter January 21, 1911, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of October 3, 1917.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

FSC Completes Telegraphic

Southern Record Broken Clause Is Winner

Three new swimming records were made at the annual telegraphic swim meet held here February 23 and 27. Two of the new records were Florida State College pool records and the other was the 100 yard back crawl which was a southern record, formerly held by Peggy Barker.

Carol Clause, a freshman member of the Tarpon club and Even swimming team broke all three of the records, doing the 40 yard breast stroke in 30.2 seconds, breaking the old record by 1 3 seconds she broke another record in the 75 yard individual medley race, finishing in 59 seconds. In the 100 yard back crawl, she ... the Southern record by ... of a second, winning in 1 ... 23 8 seconds with the old ... standing at 1:24.

FSC results of the telegraphic swimming meet which were sent to Duke University included also first place records of the other ... In the 40 yard free style, B J Singletoo placed first; she placed second in the 40 yard breast stroke and the 75 yard individual medley.

Anna Horne won first place in the 100 yard free style and ... another first place in the ... yard back crawl: she placed ... in the 40 yard free-style. Members of the winning 100 yard free style relay team were ... MacEdwards, Anna Horne, ... Clause and B J Singleton ... Charlotte Bouland, Jean ..., Doris Dubois and Jo Par... completing the number two ... The 75 yard medley was ... by Anna Horne, Carol Clause ... B J Singleton in 51 seconds.

"We are expecting to place ... up in the Southern meet this ... but I don't want to venture ... predictions on the national ..." Margaret L Clements, instructor, states.

Although the deadline for entries in the meet is March 15, results of the meet may not be known until near the end of the ...

"Wintry Blast" ...he's a Nasty Chap

These days, "Wintry Blast" is at his worst, so take care! His chilly winds bring discomfort to sensitive lips . . . and makes them so unsightly.

Be ready for him. Keep a handy tube of Roger & Gallet original Lip Pomade in your pocket. And whenever you step out-of-doors smooth its invisible, healing film over lip membranes.

For both men and women, Roger & Gallet Lip Pomade has long been the accepted relief for chapped, cracked lips. Pick up a tube today at any drug store.

25¢

ROGER & GALLET
500 FIFTH AVE., NEW YORK 18, N.Y.

FSC Girl Raises Prize Steer In Southeastern Stock Show

"Teddy really won for me!" These are the happy words of Jeannette Zetrouer, freshman at FSC, whose steer "Teddy" won the grand-championship over hundreds of well-bred animals at the fifth annual Southeastern Fat Stock and Sale show, held at Ocala on February 22.

"Terry" is a glossy black steer and weighs 1,405 pounds. Jeannette smiles a bit wistfully as she talks about her two-year-old pet, because as custom demanded, she sold her outstanding steer to the highest bidder, Senator Graham, for eighty cents a pound, the highest price ever paid in the state of Florida for beef cattle.

Jeannette cared for Teddy herself until last September when she came to college to begin her study of animal husbandry. "When he was a tiny calf, I taught him how to lead, and ever since, I have fed, brushed, and curred my Aberdeen Anguse," she says.

For over four years, now, Jeannette has worked in 4-H clubs, and won first place in a national 4-H girls' contest last fall. She lives on a 200 acre ranch, four miles from Micanopy, Florida. Range cattle were her regular playmates.

From her father and grandfather, who are both in the beef cattle business, Jeanette has learned how to handle a steer, how to rear a calf and produce a full grown blue-ribbon winner. Snap corn, cottonseed meal, oats, cracked shell corn, and hay—these are the favorite dishes of "Teddy" and "Billy". "Billy", won first prize in his class of steers. This husky fellow who sold for over $600 weighs 1,165 pounds.

"Tiny", the baby in the family, is eight months old. Jeannette plans to enter him in next year's show. Should he, too, be a champ, Jeannette will be closer still to winning the large gold cup in the Chamber of Commerce which is awarded to a three year consecutive winner. As it is, her name is engraved on this golden cup, and she is proud owner of three cups, three purple ribbons, and two blue ones awarded by the judge of the show, Dr L A Richardson in the department of animal husbandry at the University of Tennessee.

Jeannette was away for four days week before last. She was busy grooming her steer and preparing him for the big moment when she led him to victory in the huge pavillion at Ocala. Thursday night, after the show, she attended a banquet with over 500 important cattlemen. Last Friday night, she was interviewed over WTMC, Ocala radio station Last night she talked about "Teddy" on the "Garnet and Gold" radio program. Next week, she will be in Miami to exhibit her steer and bid him goodbye, for soon "Teddy" will be turned into steaks for meat buying customers of the Margaret Ann Grocery store in Miami.

In the future, Jeannette plans to purchase cattle which she can keep. Next fall, with the $94 in prize money, and $1,700 she received for "Billy" and "Teddy" Jeanette is going to buy ten heifers and rear these cows for cattle breeding purposes. Yes, for this girl two thousand dollars can make a dream come true, a dream of "Stardust", the delightful name of a little ranch all her own in the green pastures of northwest Florida.

Jeannette Zetrover, FSC student, whose prize-winning steer, "Teddy," was awarded first place at the Southeastern Stock and Sale Show, held at Ocala February 22.

Chalmers Speaks At Lenten Forum

"Saint and the Individual" was the sermon given by the Rev Alan Chalmers at last Friday's Lenten forum at Ruge Hall. He explained the effect that Saint Paul's background had on his conception of the individual. Saint Paul's education, legislative training, and conversion all influenced his conception of the individual. Reverend Chalmers also talked of the relation between men and women, and relations between individuals.

Because of the Youth Conference scheduled for this week-end, the regular Lenten forum in Ruge Hall will not be held this Friday.

Last Sunday night Rev Alvin Bullen, chaplain of Ruge Hall, spoke on "God and the Nation" at his regular Sunday night talks.

However, next Sunday night instead of Reverend Bullen's sermon, members of Ruge will hear Dr Charles W Hinton ,delegate at the Youth Conference. Dr Hinton is the former pastor of the Church for English and American Episcopalians in Mexico City.

On Friday, February 23, the sacrament of Holy Baptism was administered to Gloria Sue Reed by Reverend Bullen at Ruge Hall.

Time for communion services on Wednesdays has been changed from 7:45 to 7:30. This change will be effective for the rest of the school year.

Zoology Professor Seeks Fitting Name For Lizard Pet

Little "Phyrnosoma" — horned toad which isn't a horned toad at all, but in reality a lizard—is awaiting a name that will give him individuality.

The toad was given to Miss Ezda Deviney, professor of zoology, by a student who felt she could not take care of the animal in the proper manner a toad should be taken care of, after receiving it from a friend in Texas.

There is nothing extraordinary about Phyrnosoma. He is just a lizard about the size of a holly leaf with the right number of toes and other physical requirements. However, he is a bit eccentric, as he must have his sunbaths in the attic and enjoys playing with his companions, two turtles that are about the size of a quarter.

One day while straying out of his home, a shoe box covered on the bottom with sand, Phyrnosoma fell on the floor. Recovering from this accident, he calmly continued a search for cockroaches. Miss Deviney, meanwhile, hoped he would not discover an embarrassing amount.

Any name submitted will be given careful consideration as to the fitness of the character of Phyrnosoma.

PEA See Movies

Movies of past physical education majors in different activities will be the main topic at the next meeting of the physical education association on March 12. The movies were taken by Dr Katherine W Montgomery, head of the physical education department.

Margie Platt, president of the association also announced that on March 31, the physical education majors are planning to go to camp for the weekend.

Lost and Found

The Lost and Found desk requests that the girls who have lost their coats please claim them. The time is limited to two weeks. The coats have been returned for quite a long time and no one has claimed them. The Lost and Found desk is located in the Student Alumnae Building on the main floor.

Pre-Easter Vespers Begin Here Sunday

Miss Ramona Beard, Organist, On First March Series

A series of pre-Easter organ vespers will begin this Sunday afternoon at 4:30 in the Westcott auditorium and will be continued each Sunday during March, it was announced by Mr Karl O Kuersteiner, dean of the School of Music.

Miss Ramona Beard, associate professor of organ at Florida State College, who is in charge of these Sunday afternoon vesper programs will be the organist at the first program.

Dean Kuersteiner says that these programs will last from 40 to 45 minutes and will be of a much lighter nature than a regular organ recital.

Miss Beard's program will consist of "Fantasie in G Major" and "Sheep May Freely Graze," both of which are by Bach, "Chorale in A Minor" by Franck, "My Heart Cries Out in Anguish" by Brahms, "Tumult in Praetorium" by de Maleingrean, and "Easter Morning on Mount Roubidous" by Gaul.

Participating organists for the succeeding vesper services will be Claude Murphree, professor of organ at the University of Florida in Gainesville who is being brought here by the Artist Series for March 11, and Dr D Miller, associate professor of philosophy and religion at Florida State College, who will have the program on March 18.

The final presentation on the last Sunday of March will be in the form of a choral vesper program with 12 choirs from Tallahassee and one group from Dale Mabry participating. There will probably be a separate number by each group and several done in unison, Dean Kuersteiner stated.

Chemistry Honorary Initiates Pledges

The formal initiation for pledges of Gama Sigma Epsilon, national honorary chemistry fraternity, was held Sunday night, February 5th in the Science building.

After the initiation, an informal supper for old and new members was given in the kitchen of Broward. At this time, the essays that the pledges had written as part of the informal initiations were read.

Faculty members present at the dinner were: Miss Mary H Claybrooke, instructor in chemistry, Mrs Katherine B Hoffman, instructor in chemistry, and Dr Jennie Tilt, professor of chemistry.

The normal initiation was held Saturday afternoon, February 4, from 2:00 to 7:30 p m in the Science building.

The new members of Gama Sigma Epsilon are: Betty Jane Fox, Francetta Vinson, Carmen Gomez, Mary C (Teeny) Langston, Mary Jane Kirst, Jean Ann White, Ruth L'Engle, and Joyce Funke.

Reynolds Is Winner Of Baskketball Tilt

Reynolds basketball team was the winner over the Pi Beta Phi's in the finals of the basketball intramurals, which ended this week. The Alpha Gamma Delta's and the Alpha Delta Pi's participated in the semi-finals.

The winning team which scored 28-5 has won all the games that it played. Opponents of Reynolds team have been Broward, Bryan, and Alpha Gamma Delta.

On the team were Marion Floyd, manager and captain, Grace Aileen Boyette, Mary Louise Van Netta, Peggy Welch, and Georgie Jackel, forwards; Edith Ware, Mary Ware, Melba Pedrick, Ida Lee Rents and Agnes Reiser, guards.

New Sport Begins

Practices will start at 5 p m today for tennis intramural games and continue every afternoon including Saturday and Sunday from 3 until 6:30 p m for one week. The tournament will begin next Friday and consist of two separate contests, one each for singles and doubles matches.

A trophy will be awarded for the singles matches, and a plaque for the doubles. Any organization may participate in one or both tournaments, but each person may take part in only one.

The Students Speak

To discover the general feeling and the amount of interest toward the Youth Conference opening this afternoon and to find out what part of it was being anticipated by the greatest number of students, girls representing the different classes were approached concerning their views. Some had never attended a Youth Conference before, others had been present at a few sessions, while others still had taken part to a great extent in past Conferences. The questions asked were: How do yon feel about the coming Youth Conference? What phase of it interests you most?

It's a wonderful plan. I was unable to attend the seminars held last year, but I've been looking forward to this year's conference. As I'm a Spanish major and would like to travel in the Latin American countries after the war. I'm interested in hearing about Mexico and South America.

MARGUERITE CHERRY, Sophomore.

I'm not going for the religious side of it especially, but mainly to learn of the impressions the ambassadors have gained from having lived in the various countries. The seminars on India and Japan appeal to me.

COLLEEN HALLINAN, Junior.

The Youth Conference is a very good thing, and I'm looking forward to the seminar on Japan. I feel that the average individual never stops to think of dealing with the Japanese situation after the war in a Christian-like manner. It seems as though we should be tolerant, but I want an expert's opinion.

MARTHA HART, Freshman.

The Conference will give us a better knowledge of our enemies and allies, but I'm afraid too little interest has been shown by the students. It is one of the most informative outside contributions to this campus. If the one this year compares with those I've attended in former years, it ought to be very good. All students should take advantage of the seminars. However, more people could be reached if the seminars were not held on Saturday morning when some students have classes conflicting with the seminars in which they are most interested. I'm looking forward to finding out about the American prisoners of war and learning of conditions in India.

LOUISE NEWMAN, Senior.

It's so easy for college women as we are to become more or less involved in our own affairs and to forget what's happening on the outside. This Youth Conference is our "golden opportunity" to gain first-hand knowledge of subjects we should be able to converse intelligently about. I'm interested in all phases of the Conference.

ROBERTA PERKINS, Freshman.

Of course I've never attended a Youth Conference here, but judging from what I've heard and read about it I consider it a privilege to hear such qualified speakers. I'm looking forward to the seminars, and especially the one on Japan.

BERNIECE SLOAN, Freshman.

I think it's a good idea. It gives us a broader insight into the situation in other countries and a greater understanding of the problems. I'm especially interesting in the seminar on Japan because I want to find out how they feel about religion and what their attitudes will be in the post-war world.

BETTY JEAN THOMASON, Sophomore.

I've attended the opening sessions of two Youth Conferences and regret that I've been unable to attend the rest, because I think they're very beneficial in promoting world friendship. The seminar on Japan appeals to me more than any of the others.

MARY WALKER, Senior.

As I'm a transfer, I know nothing of how the Youth Conferences have been conducted here in the past years, but it sounds very interesting. Japan is the subject that I want to hear discussed.

ALMA THEIMAN, Junior.

I'm especially interested in learning the philosophy of the Japanese, as my fiance is in the Pacific theater of war, and I want to appreciate his problem in dealing with the Japanese people —perhaps even on their native soil in the near future.

ELLEN WHITMAN, Sophomore.

Freshman Flunkies To Collect Paper

Errand committee of Freshman Flunkies, headed by Betty Kennedy, is soon to take over the job of collecting for the scrap paper drive now in progress, announced Jane Lyles, chairman of the Material Projects section of the War Activities committee.

Duty of the Flunkies committee will be to pick up scrap paper from all points of collection on campus and carry it to the incinerator in the rear of Westcott, where it will be collected by a Florida Times-Union truck.

War Activities Committee urges all students to continue their efforts in saving scrap paper. All paper should be tied in bundles and left in the Westcott incinerator. Jane also announced that there will be another campus-wide scrap paper drive soon, probably immediately after student elections.

WAA Is Sponsoring Recreation for All

Women's Athletic association is sponsoring after-dinner recreation every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday in front of the new dining hall.

Games begin immediately after dinner and last until 7:45 p m. Everyone is invited to participate and the games will continue to be played as long as enough students come out to take part.

Softball, croquet, deck tennis, badminton, shuffle-board, roller skating, and hopscotch are the games. Softball and skating have attracted the most interest so far.

Members of WAA who are in charge of the games are Sarah Bennett, Clarice Trueblood, Virginia Palmer, Annie Guess, Anna Horse, Elaine Gavigan, Joyce Garman, Catherine Sullivan, Rose Marie Ferro, Vera Cone, and Joyce Cayce.

Health Education Class to Take Poll

A survey which is to be sponsored by the Health Educatoin class will be introduced to the student body in the monthly house meetings next Tuesday night. The class will be under the supervision of Dr Fannie B Shaw in cooperation with the Leon County Health Unit.

Acting as an educational survey, it is also to be an effort to awaken the campus to how many girls have been immunized against smallpox, typhoid and dyphtheria, and the length of time since immunization.

The surveys will be presented in the form of mimeographed sheets on which the student can fill in the necessary information. Members of the Health Education class will be present at the house meetings and will give a short explanation of the necessity of being vaccinated. Ethyl Fields is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the survey.

After completion of this survey the class will compile the results and discuss future action.

Two-Piano Recital Will Be Presented

51 Piano and Violin Students Play in Annual Event

A two-piano recital by the pupils of the piano normal department will be held in the recital hall of the music annex Saturday night at 8:15.

The piano pupils of Miss Rebecca Rodenburg, instructor in piano, and Miss Mary E Reeder, instructor in piano and piano methods, and the violin pupils of Miss Olga Eitner, associate professor of violin and theory, will appear in the recital.

This event has been an annual presentation for 15 years and according to their instructors is much looked forward to by the pupils.

This year 51 students are participating. They are: David McCullough and David Lee Pemberton; Emily Floy Williams and Shirley Crotwell; Colin Phipps and Blair Boggs; Janet Inman and Nancy Marshall; Freddy Parker, Sarah Cawthon and Joan Bass; Drew Boggs, Reba Rehwinkel, and Pat Wagner; Ann Cawthon; Edwin Jones; Betty Williams; Shirley Ogram; Joan Coleman; Barbara Lee Pichard and David Pichard; Margaret Neeley; Nancy and Mary Jane Marshall; Ruth Crotwell; Rosemary Ogram; Sara Atkinson; Richard West; Patty Schofield and Carolyn Williams; Gene Sellers and Donald Brown; Faye Norman and Jane Wadsworth; Earnest Jones and Donald Shankweller; Juanita Williams; Doris Jean Doyle and Mary Nell Schoettle; Mary West and Floride Wilkinson; Margaret Toole and Helen McCann; and Sally Caldwell and Shirley Long.

Three children who are too young to be enrolled in the department will assist their older brothers and sisters in their presentations. These younger children are: Larry Leslie who will play with his older brother, Bobby; Sandra Dixon who will play with her brother, Warren; and Emily Register who will play with her sister, Grace.

Geiger Resigns as Day Student Head

In a regular meeting of the Day Student Organiaztion, held yesterday afternoon it was announced that Mary Geiger had resigned the presidency. Nina Kinsey, the vice-president, conducted the meeting in her place. Nominations were taken to fill the place of the former president They were as follows: Betty Lea Dupree, Frances Choate, and Anne Bower.

During the course of the meeting committees were appointed for the freshman Day Student party in honor of the outstanding freshman Day Student to whom a cup will be given. The general chairman is Daphne Rowe, and her committee members are: floor committee, Mary Geiger, chairman, Frances Choate, Allee Gehan, Doris Dunaway; refreshment committe, Liz Hallen, chairman, Nina Kinsey, Marge Christenson, Betty Lea Dupree; entertainment committee, Anne Bower, chairman, Fawn Trawick, Alice Wheeler, Betty Bryson; clean-up committee, Duggie Sullenberger, chairman, Frances Howard-Wheeler, Martha Jeanne Riley, Ouida Winchester; and decoration committee, Audrey Norris, chairman, Beulah Fletcher, Margaret Boliek, Marian Gresham.

Widerquist Heads

Ann Widerquist has been appointed by the executive council of CGA to head the student radio committee, and by Dr Doak Campbell to represent the student body on the college radio committee. This committee is headed by Dr Herman Kurz.

Ann replaces Marjoris Philyaw, who graduated at the end of the first semester. Plans are now underway to inaugurate a permanent series of radio programs presented by the student body.

F Club Will Revise Color Rush Rules

Plans were made for the revision and improvement of color rush rules last Thursday at an F club meeting in the Student Alumnae building.

The rules are to be more specific and detailed concerning starters, judges, ties, the place of the races, and the final run around the fountain in front of Westcott.

The changes were proposed by a committee headed by Gladys Lester with Catherine Barrs, Marion Looby, Betty J Singleton, and Bebe Daniels.

Lilting Flower Hats to top off your EASTER OUTFIT!
at
MARION'S HAT SHOP

FLORIDA
Today Through Monday
"SINCE YOU WENT AWAY"
Tuesday Only
"SENSATIONS OF 1945"
Wednesday Through Saturday
"FOR WHOM THE BELL TOLLS"
Sunday and Monday
March 11-12
"TO HAVE AND TO HAVE NOT"

STATE
Today and Tomorrow
"FALCON IN MEXICO"
—and—
"NEVADA"
Sunday and Monday
"PEARL OF DEATH"
—and—
"MEET MISS BOBBY SOCKS"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"LAURA"
Thursday Only
"ATLANTIC CITY"
—and—
"UP IN MABEL'S ROOM"
Friday and Saturday
"WEIRD WOMAN"
—and—
"CYCLONE PRAIRIE RANGER"
Sunday and Monday
"HI BEAUTIFUL"
—and—
"LADY IN DEATH HOUSE"

RITZ
Last Times Tonight
"NEVER A DULL MOMENT"
—and—
'ADVENTURES of MARK TWAIN'
Saturday Only
"MYSTERY MAN"
Sunday and Monday
"IRISH EYES ARE SMILING"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"TAMPICO"
—and—
"MR. SKEFFINGTON"
Thursday and Friday
"CRY HAVOC"
—and—
"GREAT MOMENT"
Saturday Only
"WEST OF RIO GRANDE"
Sunday and Monday
"CASANOVA BROWN"

FOR DANCE WAX
and
OTHER WAXES
Seek it First at
VAN BRUNT & YON INC
YON'S HARDWARE

"Makers and Bakers of Good Things to Eat"
Birthday Cakes . . . . Party Orders
Given Our Special Attention!
FEDERAL BAKE SHOP
310 S. Monroe :-: Phone 129

NEEDED AT ONCE! THOUSANDS OF WACS to serve as hospital technicians in U. S. Army Hospitals
For full details, go immediately to your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station Western Union Bldg.
If you're trained, you can be assigned to an Army hospital immediately after basic training. If you've had no training at all, but would like to serve in this vitally important way, you can be assigned, after basic training, to a six-week technician course at Army expense
GOOD SOLDIERS THE WAC
Women's Army Corps
MARTIN & DALTON DRUG CO.

DON'T BE A DEADBEAT!
Relax Between Classes and go to
"The Place Everyone Goes"
★
THE SWEET SHOP

Sorority Events Are Varied By Coffees, Elections, Suppers

Sorority happenings for the week included such varied events as the clerical of new officers, ... pledge parties and showers be... made in honor of visiting na... local and district officers, and ... of state trips.

Alpha Chi Omega pledges en... tertained the active members last Wednesday night with a skit pre... sented at court. Afterwards, ... pledges was served for both ... pledges and actives.

Tomorrow night an informal party will be held for actives, pledges and friends. The girls will play bridge and spend an even... ing of relaxation with coca colas for refreshments.

In honor of Hera Day, March 1, the Alpha Chi Omega girls do... nated clothes in the local welfare organization, and prepared packages for servicemen who are now in Chattahoochee.

Friday night, February 23, Johnny Meyers was pledged into Alpha Chi Omega.

Mrs. RossBell Gilliland, house mother of the Alpha Gamma Delta house, was honored on her birthday, February 26, by an after dinner coffee given by pledges and members.

There will be an after-dinner coffee for Mrs R C Flemmer, National Inspector of Alpha Gamma Delta tomorrow night. Eunenia Joiner is in charge of the arrangements.

Newly elected Chi Omega officers are: Patty Lou Hill, president; Florence Bartleson, vice-president; Katherine Godfrey, secretary; Betty Whitaker, treasurer. Dolly Sutton, pledge trainer; Betty Ann Bishop, chapter correspondent. Bobbie Carter, house manager. Betsy Golden, house chairman. Lainie Pratt, social chairman; Carol Bradford, rush chairman. Jane Hudnall, personnel chairman; Sarah Helen Wynne, activities chairman; Thomas Carlton, Pan-Hellenic representative; Ina Jo Wrench, vocational and civic chairman.

Miss Wylie D Johnson, district president of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority will arrive Saturday night for a five day visit with the Tallahassee chapter of her sorority.

Marjorie Morris, social chairman of the Thetas, has announced that the local chapter will hold two social functions in Miss Johnson's honor, a supper on Sunday night and a coffee on Tuesday afternoon.

Joanne Gentry of Phi Mu has gone to Macon, Georgia, for a workshop conference and dedication service for the founder's room at West Lynn's Coffee.

The Phi Mu girls are having a founder's day program Sunday, March 4, at the house. Monday morning, February 25, a breakfast was held for the new pledges.

Mrs J D Cook of Englewood Avenue, Tallahassee, will entertain all of the Pi Phi actives this Sunday night with a chop suey dinner which is to be held in her home. Mrs Cook is an alumnae of Pi Beta Phi.

Alumnae visiting this week at the house were Mrs W Corry, former Virginia Palmer and graduate of PSCW, who stayed a day with her sister Mercedes, and Suzanne Bonner, also a former student at this college, visited the chapter members yesterday. She is vacationing in Thomasville and will return to Miami in two weeks.

Mrs Casper, house mother of the Sigma Kappa house, is taking a trip to Birmingham, Alabama, this week-end. Mrs Sanders is going to be Mrs Casper's place while she is away.

Saturday night, March 3, the active and pledges are having a party.

Hillel Makes Plans For Purim Holiday

A weekend of festivities to be held from March 2 through March 4 has been planned by the Hillel Organization under the direction of Rabbi Goldman in celebration of the Purim holiday.

Tonight there will be a service held at the Temple Church wherein two members of the Hillel organization from the University of Florida will speak to the group.

Saturday night there is to be a skit presented at the Temple Church, entitled "The Story of Purim," followed by a dance. Those participating in the skit are: Esther Arginiar, Shirley Barish, Esther Barash, Polly Marks, Marsha Margolis, Ruth Spevac, Ina Gattler, Sonya Hayman, Irene Gross, and Naomie Shulman.

Those in charge of the week's program are: Ruth Spivac, social chairman; Bryna Ross, cultural chairman, and Shirley Barish, dramatics director.

Caldwell Talks On Economic Problems

Governor Millard E Caldwell will speak on "Florida's Economic Problems" Monday night, March 12, at 8:15 in the Augusta-Conradi Little Theater.

The meeting, which is sponsored by the Legislative Committee of the American Association of University Women, will be open to the public.

After Governor Caldwell's address, there will be an open forum discussion. Following this the AAUW has planned an informal reception in the Student-Alumnae building.

At 10:15 that same evening, Governor Caldwell will broadcast from the college his monthly report to the state.

Mrs Helen Shirley, chairman of the Legislative Committee, is in charge of the arrangements for this address.

Jennie Hobby Tea Pertains to Horses

At the tea in Jennie Murphree Hall last Wednesday there was presented a display of miniature horses and mementos that had been taken or collected by the girls.

"Interest in Horses" given by Dorothy Wynn, Virginia Budd, Dorothy Hasbrouck and Marjorie Munnell, was this week's subject in a series of hobby programs being presented each week by the girls of Jennie Murphree.

Talks were given on Florida rodeos, in which some of the girls had participated, Tennessee walking horses, different gaits of horses, and experiences that the girls had had in dealing with horses.

Nominations Made For YWCA Officers

Nominations for officers of the Young Women's Christian association for the coming year were made Tuesday afternoon at a special meeting of the organization. The nominations were open until Wednesday night.

Those nominated were: Doris Hill president; Helen Atwater, Margaret Cockrell, vice president; Mixie Bridges, Joyce Petty, secretary; Alva Ray, Betty Ruth Goode, Dorothea McRea, Betty McClure Lee, treasurer. Committee chairmen are not elected but are appointed by the new cabinet from suggestions make by the retiring committee chairmen.

Rosemary Hubble made a report at the meeting concerning the possibility of the YWCA taking part in community service in Tallahassee. Miss Greenberg, City Recreation Director, spoke about the pusses and responsibilities of such a project.

When washing cut glass or pressed glass articles, apply sudsy water with a small hand brush to get into the crevices.

Initiation Centers Events Of Sororities This Week

Suppers, banquets, coffees and breakfasts were among the social events of the week centered around initiation held by various sororities.

Pledges of Alpha Delta Pi became members at the formal initiation ceremony last Friday night, February 23. Those initiated were: Jo Ann Massie, Margaret Mace, Sarah Jane Gaither, Phyllis Cole, Janet Boyd, Jane Brown, Patricia Harrison, Ann Fielding, Catherine Pridy, Gertrude Corry, Ann Cox, Virginia Black, Jane Yeager, Frances Choate and Sidney Conner.

The breakfast planned for the following Sunday was postponed until Sunday, March 4 and will be held at the Three Torches.

Alpha Gamma Delta will initiate the following pledges tonight: Dila Lee Barrington, Martha Fox, Barbara McKinney, Phyllis Bullock, Mastredon Rogers, Beverly Watkins, Virginia Budd, Pat Horne, Jean Sharer, and La Fern Quinn.

Following initiation the traditional Dew Drop Inn will be held at the Cherokee Hotel with Bonnie Hunt in charge of preparations.

On Friday night, February 23, initiation of new members into Alpha Xi Delta was held at eight. Those initiated were: Pat Tavy, Betty Ann Mumford, Margaret Nancy Tippins Rose Ellen Sherrod.

Alumnae present for the initiation ceremony were: Miss Sally Boyd, Miami; Miss Betty Jacobs, Pensacola; Miss Virginia Page, Greenville; Miss Muriel Thomas, Gainesville; and Miss Virginia Also, Greenville.

Mrs R B Travers, of Miami, mother of one of the new initiates, is visiting the Alpha Xi house for several days.

The initiation of new Chi Omega members took place last Friday night, February 23, and a breakfast was given on Saturday, February 24. The new initiates are: Margaret Sparrow, Jane Woore, Melissa Wilson, Emily Phillips, Marie Lake, Isabelle Wilson, Connie McCall, Josephine Stuck, Lallie Rogers, Betty Jo Wilson, Marinel Worth and Helen Parramore. At the breakfast, Nell McNiel and Carolyn Keen were in charge of the entertainment, at which time Lallie Rogers was awarded a cup for being (- best pledge.

Alumnae who were present for the initiation were: Mrs H F Richard, Mrs H B Patterson, Miss Sarah Burwell, Mrs Hill Luce, Mrs J R Pugh, Mrs Fred Wells, Mrs Robert Jenkins, and Mrs Charles Alford, all from Tallahassee and Miss Ann Jones, Gainesville; Mrs Spessard Holland, Bartow; Mrs Borden Wilson, Bartow; Nell Ward-Tampa; Mrs Sam Wooten, Bradenton; and Mrs Paul Lake, Tampa.

Initiation for six Delta Phi Epsilon pledges was held Friday afternoon, February 23. The new initiates are: Esther Barash, Shirlee Barish, Marie Davis, Flo Elner, Rita Gendzier, and Jean Lieberman.

After initiation there was a banquet, and the carnage for the occasion were tied with ribbons representing the sorority colors.

The fifteen pledges who became members of Kappa Alpha Theta February 24 are: Ann Avery, Rita Davis, Betsy Zorwiller, Doris Snow, Marian McEwen, Jeanne Oldfather, Beverly Lou, Barbara McCarthy, Lydia Moore, Susannan Ure, Constance Bavaze, Blanche Bosenquet, Louise Carr, Sue Brophy and Jean O'Steen.

Initiation was followed by a supper at the house attended by initiates, other actives, and alumnae.

Eighteen girls were initiated last weekend into Pi Beta Phi fraternity and were honored with a special banquet Saturday night and a breakfast Sunday morning.

Sarah Jane Pitts, social chairman, was in charge of both social functions. The banquet was held in the house Saturday night. Alumnae members attended and pledge daughters and mothers sat together. Cold plates and ices tea were served. The breakfast was held in the Cherokee Hotel at 9:30. Place cards and flowers decorated the table and chicken and waffles with coffee was served. Small burnished gold identification pins were given each newly initiated member.

Pat Pattishall was awarded the scholarship cup for having the highest scholastic bracelet for making the most improvement in scholaship in the last two semesters. Betty Kennedy's name will be engraved upon the Best Pledge Cup which is kept in the chapter living room.

Frances McGarry, president, gave a welcome to the pledges at the breakfast and Olive Flemming, gave a response from the new initiates. Miss Imelthy Perkins, alumnae from Tallahassee was the guest speaker at the function. Other alumnae members attending were Mrs T Sewell, Gayle and Virginia Sewell's mother, Mrs F Sauny, Esther Kerr's sister, and Mrs I Munroe, Theresa Munroe's mother.

Those initiated were: Jackie Pollock, Ann Tucker, Jeanine Harris, Marilyn Ward, Anne Rice, Virginia Sewell, Virginia Curtis, Patricia Pattishall, Ann Livingston, Betty Kennedy, Ann Allen, Olive Fleming, Marty Perkins, Ann Wurgins, Joan Hanney, Esther Kerr, Cleona Asher, Anne Daniels.

Zeta Tau Alpha initiated 13 pledges last weekend. The new actives are: Mary Frances Guest, Calista Hatcher, Joan Newman, Bobbie Albright, Ardis MacDonald, Nellis Beville, Doris Musselman, Betty Bolles, Margaret Smith, Betty Burch, Martha Cowan, Mary Dechman and Mary Nichols.

A luncheon was held Sunday at the Cherokee Hotel in honor of the new initiates. Ruth Ervin presented at this time the traditional honor ring to Betty Bolles. Joan Neiman was announced as the girl making the highest average of her pledge class. Her name will be placed on the chapter scholarship cup.

Guests at the luncheon were Col and Mrs R W B Cowan, Mrs Paul E Bolles, Mrs William Mackin, Mrs H C Coulter, Mrs Mildred Davis and Mrs W A Dodge

Theme Announced

A South American theme will be used in the May Day celebration by Tarpon Club. All members and minnows will participate in the event.

Practice has already begun with minnows training on Monday under the leadership of B J Singleton. The members practice on Thursday. All the members are urged to come.

Tricia Pattishall, Ann Livingston, Betty Kennedy, Ann Allen, Olive Fleming, Marty Perkins, Ann Wurgins, Joan Hanney, Esther Kerr, Cleona Asher, Anne Daniels.

Zeta Tau Alpha initiated 13 pledges last weekend. The new actives are: Mary Frances Guest, Calista Hatcher, Joan Newman, Bobbie Albright, Ardis MacDonald, Nellis Beville, Doris Musselman, Betty Bolles, Margaret Smith, Betty Burch, Martha Cowan, Mary Dechman and Mary Nichols.

A luncheon was held Sunday at the Cherokee Hotel in honor of the new initiates. Ruth Ervin presented at this time the traditional honor ring to Betty Bolles. Joan Neiman was announced as the girl making the highest average of her pledge class. Her name will be placed on the chapter scholarship cup.

Guests at the luncheon were Col and Mrs R W B Cowan, Mrs Paul E Bolles, Mrs William Mackin, Mrs H C Coulter, Mrs Mildred Davis and Mrs W A Dodge

Kappa Alpha Theta Plans Formal Dance

On Saturday night, March 10, the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority will have its annual formal dance in the Student-Alumnae building. The theme, which was decided upon in a meeting on Wednesday, will not be disclosed until the night of the dance.

Guests to be invited include Dr and Mrs Harold Richards, Dr and Mrs Raymond Bellamy, Dr and Mrs T L Wade, Jr, Miss Florence B Tyron, Miss Edna Mae McIntosh, Miss Mildred Pinnreas and Dr Jennie Tilt.

Marjorie Morris and Jean Hoffman are in charge of the dance committee and theme decorations.

Speech Fraternity Initiates Seven

Six students and one teacher became members of Zeta Phi Eta, professional speech fraternity, at initiation services held each Thursday morning. Betty Lou Christian, president of the fraternity, announced.

Fulfilling the requirements of 15 hours of speech and a B average ,the following students were initiated: Bonnie Hunt, Barbara Holt, Maurice Petty, Margaret Steed, Beatrice Weaver, Juniors; and Jean Obee, senior. Miss Evelyn Bowman, assistant professor of speech, was made an associate member of the fraternity.

Notice to Seniors

Seniors who are interested in having a personal interview with a representative from Humble Oil and Refining Company are asked to come to the Personnel Office to make appointments. There are openings in stenographic, clerical, and accounting work, as for laboratory assistants, for which two years of college chemistry are required.

Quiz at Playnight

According to Betty Lou Boyton, Playnight is having a "Battle of the Sexes" Saturday night. The "Battle" is a quiz program with Frankie Hall as mistress of ceremonies.

Grace Limbers is also going to do an original tap dance.

Phone your Trailways Agent first . . .

When you plan your next necessary trip, phone your Trailways Agent for information first. Inquire about the best days and schedules. Arrange your trip accordingly, so that you and our service men and women may have a more comfortable and pleasant journey.

All Buses Leave
UNION BUS STATION
Cor. Adams and Tenn. Ph. 701

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Dress for the men in your life

Carole King DRESSES FOR JUNIORS

Featured in HARPER'S BAZAAR
VOGUE
MADEMOISELLE
GLAMOUR CHARM
SEVENTEEN

EXCLUSIVELY HERE IN THIS CITY

Steyerman's

½ Price Stationery Sale

HAMMERMILL BOND STATIONERY 50c
50 Sheets—50 Envelopes—$1.00 Value
EMRITE STATIONERY 50c
36 Sheets—36 Envelopes—$1.00 Value
LINE MARQUE STATIONERY 50c
25 Sheets—25 Envelopes—$1.00 Value
LINEN STATIONERY 50c
50 Sheet—50 Envelopes—$1.00 Value
GENUINE STEEL DIE ENGRAVED TWIN SET STATIONERY $1.00
50 and 50 Value
POUND PAPER 25c
50 Sheets—Value
SERVICEMAN'S STATIONERY 50c
60 Sheets—60 Envelopes—$1.00 Value
WAR BOND STATIONERY 50c
50 Sheet—50 Envelopes—$1.00 Value
SERVICEMAN'S WRITING KIT $1.00
Stationery, Envelopes, Cards, Pencils—$2.00 Value

MARTIN AND DALTON
210-212 SOUTH ADAMS

Rainbow Colors in "June O'Day" SWEATERS

Cardigan 3.98

Pullover 2.98 up

Look excitingly alive! Glamorously vivacious! Wear June O'Day sweaters colored in the radiant thrilling tones of a spring rainbow. Choose a fitted or boxy 100% wool cardigan and pullover . . . and be sure it's a June O'Day!

Sizes 34 to 40.

Rainbow Colors:

Rainbow Fuschia
Rainbow Pink
Rainbow Red
Rainbow Blue

SEARS ROEBUCK AND CO.

Any Purchase Totaling $10 or More May Be Made on Sears Easy Payment Plan

SEARS

Tallahassee, Fla.
Phone 2400

It Is Your Duty

Don't Forget to Vote

The Florida Flambeau

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Tallahassee, Florida

VOL. XXXII, No. 18

MARCH 9, 1945

Annual Elections To Be Held For Major and Minor Offices During March 13 Program

Major Office Candidates to Speak in Convocation Student Meeting Monday Will Feature Other Candidates Platforms

Annual elections will be held from March 13-16. Candidates for six of the major offices, president of college government Association, chairman of Judiciary, chairman of Honor, and editors of publications, will make one minute campaign speeches in Convocation Tuesday. The primary for major officers will also be held then.

Candidates for the other nine major and the minor offices will present their platforms at the open meeting Monday at 7:45 p. m. in the Student Alumnae Building auditorium.

Polls for the major candidates will take place Wednesday on the voting machines in lower Westcott from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

It is a compulsory convocation. On Thursday at 7:45 p. m. the primary for the minor offices will take place. Finals for the minor offices will be held Friday also at the same machines from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Students are asked to remain in convocation Thursday as the Sophomore Council gives short on its wherever there is room.

All candidates have signed up for two hours at the candidates' table in lower Westcott. The purpose of the booth is to give the students a chance to become better acquainted with the candidates and to give information on the election.

A chart is posted by the candidate booth naming the candidates running for each office and the time that they will be in the booth.

Pictures of candidates will be posted on a chart in Lower Westcott as a guide for voters this year.

Gov Caldwell To Talk Here

AAUW Will Hear Speech On Economic Problems

Governor Millard F. Caldwell will appear at Florida State College for the first time since he has been installed as governor, Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Auditorium Conradi theater. He will address the American Association of University Women on "Florida's Economic Problems."

An open forum discussion will be held after Governor Caldwell's address. Following this the AAUW has planned an informal recep-

Continued on page two

Varied Program Is Given at Dale Mabry

Campus Troupe Has Songs, Dances, Puppet Show

A varied program, consisting of songs, dances, and a marionette show, was presented at the Thursday night at Dale Mabry Field hospital by a group of Florida State College students under the direction of Mary Vogt and Anabel Peacock, who head the entertainment program committee of Landis Hall.

The troupe left the campus at 7:36 p.m in two army trucks sent for that purpose from Dale Mabry Field, and was accompanied on this trip by Miss Margaret Rogers, counselor in Landis Hall.

The program began with a marionette show presented by Margery Morris, Nancy Parker, Mary Penton, and Jean Phillips, who patomined the song "Ma, Ma - Making Eyes At Me". This was followed by a tap-routine by Ruth Bryan, Jr. trio, consisting of Martha Nell Booth, Eugenia Booth, and Jinx Parrior, presenting a short program of songs. [illegible] followed by Mary Nell McGee, who gave a program of accordion and tap dancing. Miss McGee played and sang blues songs. During the intermission the Hi Hat Trio [illegible] a request program of piano music, and the program ended with a [illegible] by the girls in the patients and the troupe joined.

Miss Eunice Richardson, librarian and professor of library science at Florida State College for Women, will speak on "Egypt with Ancient Myths," Egypt's art sketches circulated through the wards and made sketches of many of the patients.

This series of entertainments is under the sponsorship of the Red Cross. Another program will be presented next Thursday night.

Pitiful Pup Pedestrian Pulled From Precarious Predicament

A loud screeching of brakes—a painful, blood-curdling shriek—two girls dashing madly to the rescue of the victim. This was the chaotic scene that took place on the campus this week-end.

Who was the unfortunate creature who issued the painful cry? None other than "Whiskers" a poor, bedraggled, little puppy who met his fate under the wheels of a speeding truck. His rescuers were Cecelia Jaecke' and Teddy Hamilton, wasted no time in rushing him to the infirmary—a broken front leg.

That, however, was the least of their worries. The major problem was how to care for him. It seemed that two great minds ran on the same track, and with a little secret plotting "Whiskers" was soon resting peacefully under the back stairs of Reynolds. It was not long until the news spread and girls came from all over the dormitories with everything from tomato juice to pickles to satisfy his supposed hunger.

[illegible] to hop around [illegible]

Primrose Will Perform Here On Wednesday

Both Series Tickets Given For FSC to Hear Viola Player

William Primrose, who has been conceded by musical authorities to be today's greatest viola player, will appear on the Artist Series program Wednesday night at 8 in the Westcott auditorium. A and B series tickets have been distributed for the event.

Born in Scotland 27 years ago, Primrose began his study of music when he was four years old. His father, a musician, owned a rare and beautiful Amati viola (which Primrose uses today) but strongly objected to the youngster's interest in it. "At that time," Primrose explains, "the viola was thought of as a sort of "Cinderella of the strings,' a harbor for disappointed fiddlers." The instrument therefore was kept under lock and key. Young William pried open the lock to play it until the elder Primrose discovered the culprit and set him to practicing the violin instead.

He followed his father's wishes as far as the age of nine, while a pupil of Camille Ritter played the Mendelssohn violin concerto in Glasgow in public concert, and the late Henry Verrusuchen conducted. He continued violin studies in London at the Guildhall School of Music and at 17 made his formal concert debut with Albert Hall orchestra under Sir Landon Ronald. This occasion, a friend or his father's lent

Continued on page two

Library Staff Edits Bulletin Recently

"Calling All Readers" Is Title of Publication

Calling All Readers is the title of the bulletin recently published by the staff members of the Florida State College Library. The little booklet of which a limited number of copies is available in the library, was released for the purpose of increasing interest in the library and adding to its usefulness.

The greenish gray cover of Calling All Readers was designed by Miss Ethel Hembree, assistant order librarian. The cover design was contributed by all members of the staff, "so we can give much credit to no one," Miss Sara Graham, librarian, stated. Special sections in the bulletin are titled library bull-itin, which will be published quarterly; "Here and There in the Library;" "Library Chatter."

Special attention is called to the thousands of pamphlets available in the library. Subjects from acres to zoology, the trees by Dumbarton Oaks agreement are covered by the library's pamphlet collection. Also listed in the books suggested in the bulletin will be displayed in the lobby of the library.

Kellum Retires College Post

Thirty-Eight Years Service On FSCW Staff

Mr John Gabriel Kellum, business manager and treasurer of Florida State College, will retire at the end of this month after having worked here for 38 years. The executive council is giving Mr and Mrs Kellum a dinner on March 22 which will be followed by a reception given by President and Mrs. Doak Campbell and faculty.

Mr Kellum, born on a farm, went to a country school. At the age of 20 he left and went to a private Normal school in Jasper. From there he began teaching in rural schools.

Later he entered Peabody Normal College and the University of Nashville, Tennessee, on a scholarship and remained there for a year ago a half.

He was secretary of the Florida Educational Association for five years, but he continued teaching until when he was elected assistant clerk of the House of Representatives. This he relected without opposition in 1903.

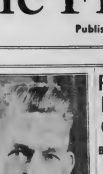
He was principal of Quincy High School from 1904-5. In 1905 he was elected chief clerk of the House of Representatives and resumed in that office until 1907. During this time he was also secretary of the Board of Control of the State Institutions of Higher Learning. From 1913 to 1917 he

Continued on page six

Carter Gives Books To College Library

Mr John Victer Carter of Cristobal, Canal Zone, who presented a collection of Inca relics to Florida State College, has given a nine-volume set of books on Mexican art to the library entitled Histoire de l'antiquity.

Certain volumes have been appraised as real contributions to their respective fields of art," said Miss Eunice Richardson, librarian and professor of library science at Florida State College for Women. The volume on Egypt is deemed especially useful by art students as the text is more valuable in the original than in translation, according to Miss Richardson.



Mia Slavenska and Her Troupe Practice And Travel as Well as Perform on Tour

Speaking with a slight foreign accent, Mia Slavenska, the first star ballerina to come from Yugoslavia, discussed her troupe with interested students Wednesday before her performance here.

The troupe itself is made up of ten men, five women and Miss Slavenska. While on tour, their practicing consists mostly of individual warming-up exercises. This is done for about 10 minutes, and the girls then go to the dressing. When off tour, their practice time ranges from one and a half to three hours.

This was Miss Slavenska's second tour in the states. She was in Miami with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo three years ago. At that time she had not appeared in any other place in the state. Dancing for a certain length of time is not the only thing for her, as she has performed at many in all parts of the country.

Miss Slavenska found as the main problem on this trip the drying of costumes after their performances. She said that with the combination of their great activity and the damp air in this section of the country, drying is really quite a problem. The costumes must be spread out until they dry, and often have to be packed away damp if there is no facility for drying them after performance.

J G Kellum, business manager of Florida State College for 38 years, will retire at the end of this month.

Annual Youth Conference Concluded With Discussion

After a weekend festuring speeches, a panel discussion, seminars and worship services, the annual Youth Conference ended Sunday. This discussion, which brought the conference to a close, summarized the knowledge and viewpoints students gained form the entire program. The conference, sponsored by the Florida Chain of Missionary Associations, opened with brief addresses by the various ambassadors representing a panorama view of the world.

These addresses designed to give a preview of the conference as a whole, summarized the issues in the regions where the speakers have worked. Emphasizing the need for providing opportunities for underprivileged groups, Dr Raymond B Drukker spoke on "Our Own United States." Dr Drukker of the Reformed Church in America is director of mountain work in Jackson County, Kentucky.

"The American College Campus" was the topic of the address by Raymond Smith, pastor of the University Baptist Church of Austin, Texas. Stating that the atmosphere among college students is changing, Reverend Smith said that they are now taking religion and its practical application more seriously.

Miss Eleanor Wilson, recently returned missionary from the Marshall and Caroline Islands, spoke on "Micronesia, the Little Island World." After describing conditions in these islands Miss Wilson stressed the necessity of human interest in the lives of these people.

Declaring that the caste system

Continued on page two

Margaret Clayton Is New YW President

Dr Liddell Will Be Speaker At Cabinet Installation

Margaret Clayton is the newly-elected president of the Young Women's Christian Association. Other officers elected Tuesday night Wednesday were Wilna Humphrey, vice president; Joyce Petty, secretary and Alta May, treasurer. Committee chairmen will be chosen by these officers.

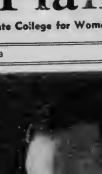
Installation services for the new officers and committee chairmen will be held March 22 in the Student Alumnae auditorium with Dr Anna P Liddell as guest speaker. All YWCA members are invited to attend. At this time the outgoing cabinet will officially turn over its duties to the new cabinet.

According to Margaret Clayton, the YWCA plans for next year include a program designed to promote consciousness of social, economic, and political problems of our day as well as fostering religious unity on campus and furthering personal religious awareness through convocation devotionals.

Another feature of new plans is the creation of the community service committee now being organized by Rosemary Hubbell in cooperation with the City Recreation Department which is directed by Miss Henrietta Greenburg, instructor in physical education.

Seniors Notice

Though the weekend of March 9 all Seniors who find their pictures taken for the annual are requested to sign their names, along with the degree for which they are working, on the Flastacowo bulletin board.



"This information is urgently needed," Cleo Sapp, editor of Flastacowo, said.

Wolf to Speak

From March 19 through 21 Rabbi Alfred Wolf will be on the campus in his capacity as one of the International Relations club humanity classes, closes on Saturday, and student religious groups.

Rabbi Wolf is regional director of the American Congregations of Hebrew Unions and has a temple in Dothan, Alabama.

He is being sponsored on the campus by the Religious Workers Council.

William Primrose, world-famous violist, who will appear at FSC Wednesday night on the College Artist Series.

College Council Returns Senate's Trial Period Rule As Not Within Jurisdiction

Council States Health Is Involved in Regulation; Senate Appoints Committee to Inquire Basis of Health Decisions

Returned this week to Student Senate by College Council was Senate's much-discussed proposal that there be a year's trial period in which no rule should govern out-night absences.

Reason for the proposal's return, according to the statement of the Council, was that: The Executive Council had indicated the matter was under its jurisdiction as "pertaining to health and safety." College Council felt that it did not be within its jurisdiction to consider the matter.

Discussion of the need for a rule to cover overnight absences has held senate attention since October.

Senate's first proposal that no rule govern return from overnight absences, was sent to College Council in January, and was returned by them to the college Executive Council. Executive Council did not adopt the recommendation of Senate, but voted unanimously to modify the old regulation by "disregarding the basis of the . . . regulation, namely the consideration of the effect of all night travel on health and academic achievement." Executive Council ruled that no student might return to her place of residence between the hours of second light flash and 7 a. m.

On February 8 Student Senate acted that, since health was not involved in the rule, it was within its jurisdiction according to the CGA Constitution.

Senate then debated and passed on March 1 the present program of a trial period with no rule governing returns.

Wednesday Senate voted to ap-

Continued on page two

Dance Troupe Appears Here

Large Audience Watches Ballet Program

A capacity audience attended the performance of Mia Slavenska and her dance company at Florida State College Wednesday night.

The program of the ensemble in order of presentation was as follows: Symphonie Variations, a ballet interpretation of the emotions and moods of Cesar Franck's composition; Dances, which consisted of seven excerpts from the third-scene Coppelia, portraying a village fete, preparations for the formation of a marriage, and the last part of the program was a group of unrelated dances entitled Divertissments.

The first dance in Divertissments was Spirituals, a dance showing the emotional struggles of the Negro spirituals. It was choreographed by David Thimar, Miss Slavenska's partner. Next on the list, a dance of American folklore.

The next dance, which was a featured solo by Miss Slavenska was inspired by Oscar Wilde's drama and was entitled Salome. It symbolized Salome's struggle against the law of life and the final defeat when she is thrown against the immovable law and falls back dead.

After this, Joseph A Harris did a pure ballet called Dance. Then Norma Vallavina interpreted: "Flight of the Bumblebee" showing the flight of the bee, its sting as a flower, and its continuation in flight.

Ballare Sketches was a peasant

Continued on page two

Special Convocation For Honor Students

Emory University President Will Deliver the Address

There will be a special convocation in Westcott auditorium at 2:30, Tuesday, March 20, in honor of students with good scholastic standing.

Miss Myrtle E Dolbee, chairman of the committee on the Scholastic Honors Day, said that all students who have maintained 30 hours of credit with an academic average of 2.0 or better, and whom made at least a 2.0 average on the credits established elsewhere are to be included among the honorees.

Dr Goodrich C White, President

Continued on page two

Worldly Articles Are Features Of Tea Held in Jennie Murphree

Seven tables covered with intricate articles from all over the world appeared in the parlor of Jennie Murphree during tea hour last Wednesday afternoon.

Rare pieces of jewelry, foreign dolls, colorful weaving, delicate woodwork, each article a gift from some friend overseas to a girl in Jennie Murphree, was proudly placed on display.

Lee Goodman displayed a silk scarf she received from her father in the Pacific theatre of war. Miss Goodman also displayed a map of Burma and China, and should an American flyer be forced down, he could identify himself with such a scarf and possibly find his way to safety.

A heavy blue and gray handwoven wool blanket from Guatemala was displayed by Mary Jane Sherman. Virginia Curtis showed a lovely silver necklace. A blue [illegible] scarf from India and a hand-carved jewelry chest from North Africa were also on display.

Every section of the world was represented by some article. There were gifts from Russia, Central America, Africa, the South Seas and European countries.

The guests of honor around the tea and viewed the display were: Miss Helen Richey, Mrs Mary Pearce, Miss Eva Rea Maxwell, Miss Roberta Ackerman, Mrs Ellen Tarrel, and Mrs Nellie Andrews.

The collection of foreign-made wood was developed in connection with a series of programs on hobbies and creative interests held each Wednesday afternoon.

Next week, Jennie Murphree girls will hear Miss Emily P Williburn, associate professor of industrial arts. She will talk about arts and crafts as hobbies. Next week, too, there will be a display of articles made by the girls in Jennie Murphree hall.

Scrap Paper Asked

Paper, girls, get all your scrap paper in by this week-end. March 16 is the latest said Dot Jean Sapp of the War Activities Committee. Bring it down to the Incinerator Room (located directly behind the Post Office) Every Westcott. Scrap paper is needed in war activities, so look around and see what you have available. Don't delay, do it now!

Seniors Apply

Dr Carothers, registrar announced that 379 students have applied for degrees in the various colleges. In the College of Arts and Sciences, 160 students have applied. There are 51 candidates for degrees in the School of Education, 46 students in the School of Home Economics, 12 seniors in the School of Music, and 10 in Public school [illegible]

Honorary Sponsors New Defense Films

Zeta Phi Eta, national speech honorary, is sponsoring the defense films in the Auditorium Conradi Little Theater Saturday night at 8 p m on double program with the Red Cross defense demonstration.

These films will be presented: "One Enemy the Japanese" "Day of Battle," and "[illegible]"

Mrs Elizabeth Thomstruction in speech, are members of the honorary at the informal dinner and meeting at her home last Wednesday night.

Those attending were Bonnie Hunt, Betty Lou Christian, Betty Lewis, Sana Jane Taylor, Barbara Holt, Jean Ober, Katherine Steed, Bea Weaver, Maurine Petty, and Evelyn Bowman and Miss Margaret Wyly of the [illegible] department.

Room Reservations Start on March 19

Applications to Be Filed In Order of Classes

Room reservations for the winter year 1945-46 and the summer school sessions will occur between March 19 and April 7. A $10 deposit is required when a student leaves her room for a room reservation for the next academic year, and a $1 deposit must accompany the reservation for the summer term when the room reservation blanks are sent in the latter part of April to Bryan.

Upperclassmen will not be asked to live in freshmen dormitories unless they are junior counselors.

A student wishing to retain her present room must file her application in the week reserved for her. Preference will be given Florida to classification and date on the reservation. Students now living in rooms which will be reserved for another year will be given preference for their rooms.

Seniors who will live on senior hall must make a request for a room and submit an application in a concerky house must file reservations with the chairman of the houses.

Cancellation of room reservations must reach the housekeeper by August 1 if the deposit is to be returned.

The Resident Halls office will be in session during these hours through March 19: 8 to 12:30 p m and 2 to 4:30 p m and on Saturday from 9 a m to 12:30 p m.

Seniors will make their reservations March 19, juniors from March 20-21, sophomores from March 22.

Dr Carmen Rogers Says Travel Is Necessary to Secure Peace

"I feel that this war could have been avoided had the nations not been so provincial and ignorant of the other countries," said Dr Carmen Rogers, English teacher at Florida State College.

In expressing her opinion that travel should be incorporated in the educational system after the war even if it must be done at government expense, she said, "A thoroughly well educated person can 'Travel is the fifth dimension of education'."

As Dr Rogers has traveled extensively, she realizes the necessity of this. The strange and famous places which have figured so prominently in the war when to most Americans have been just difficult names to learn, have been familiar scenes to her.

Before the war Dr Rogers conducted a number of tours through Europe the last being in 1939. She said that as she stood on the docks of the Queen Mary that summer vacation she shook the Southampon she felt it would be a long time before she would again see these shores and is very anxious for the war to be over so she can go back.

Her first news of the war came while she was in Berlin, Germany. With each broadcast of the new came memories of places she had been and loved as well.

The famous port of Cherbourg which played such an important part in both the invasion of Southern France, was the first port Dr Rogers entered on her first trip to Europe. Since the modern docks along the shore had no interest to the ship that had to anchor out from shore, having a tender carry the passengers to land. On one of her tours to France, Dr Rogers visited Compiegne where the armistice was signed in 1918 and where Hitler ironically made the French sign an armistice in 1940.

While in France, she found the most important social festival to be the Independence Day celebration on July 14. This occasion is taken more seriously than the American Fourth of July, with the peasants and common people taking a big part in the parade.

News of Aachen has been of particular interest to Dr Rogers for it was here she saw Prince Bernhard, husband of the present Queen of the Netherlands, when he was wiping his glasses. She passed through here on her trip from Cologne to Brussels.

Another of the cities which has figured so predominately in the war and which Dr Rogers found most fascinating was Algiers. She described this city as having a dash of cosmopolitan atmosphere blended with a definite native element. The native quarters are intriguing with their steep, narrow steps winding among the houses in place of streets. The entire mode of commuting is on donkey or on foot. In commenting on the city Dr Rogers said "It is a city of a great deal of gay color and has one of the most beautiful harbors in the world. The water is clear blue during the day and like star sapphire on a moonlight night."

One of Dr Rogers' most memorable experiences at sea occurred when the ship passed through Scylla and Charybdis, between the to evil Italy and Sicily, and passed into the Ionic sea.

Berlin was in her opinion the most Nazified city in Germany. On one occasion while she was staying in Berlin, Hitler attended a Winter Garden performance in the same hotel. A porter informed her when he came through on his way to a parade. In reference to the parade Dr Rogers said,

"What impressed me most about the Germans was that as soon as Hitler had passed, the crowds lost interest in the entire parade."

In Italy Dr Rogers saw Mussolini as he led the funeral procession of Marconi. Marconi's body could not be seen as it lay in state as also the Fascist salute was given.

Annual Youth Conference Concludes With Discussion

Continued from page one

time in India is gradually breaking down," said Dr Mosher, expert in agricultural engineering who recently came from India, said. "We should use our influence politically to give the Indians an opportunity to work out their problems." Mr Mosher spoke on "Post War Problems in India."

"Iran — Old Persia" was the topic of Dr Samuel M. Fisher, Pisher, educational missionary in Iran since 1920. Dr Fisher said that Persia, which had been living in its great past, has been modernized almost over night.

Dr Fisher told of picture of student religious movements on the campuses of Persia. Dr. Dwight Morrow, certainly an ambassador of good-will, did more to show the people of Persia the United States was and is aware of culture and society of these nations in the south." English is now being taught in Latin American countries by many native teachers in country. The exchange of students is progressing so that Dr Hunter pointed out, in the future, no school will be without a Latin American. Dr Dwight Morrow certainly an ambassador of good-will, did more to show the people of Persia the United States was and is aware of culture and society of these nations in the south." English is now being taught in Latin American countries by many native teachers in country. The exchange of students is progressing so that Dr Hunter pointed out, in the future, no school will be without a Latin American.

Dr Hunter, at the conclusion of his talk, said he was "going to Mexico Dress Parade." The question and give a few predictions concerning the Latin American countries."

"I predict that there is going to be an expansion of organized labor activities and improvement of wages and living conditions.

"I predict and predict a great industrial expansion in that there is abundant primary raw materials and exporting them, will change to a production of the finished products."

"Cotton will be King rather than coffee in Brazil.

"I predict a great campaign against illiteracy in Mexico since her appropriations even at the present time made for education exceed those made for military service.

"I predict that the Latin American countries will not encourage anymore Japanese immigration and will place great restrictions on the Asiatics, especially the Japanese."

Dr Hurrey remarked that fair question concerning Paraguay, Uruguay and Bolivia's government would be. Would it improve the status of these countries if Argentina governed theme as one nation?

"This is one question that we all are waiting to find out the answer to," Dr Hurrey concluded.

Primrose Will Perform Here On Wednesday

Continued from page one

him the Bonnie Bradstraius, now in the Library of Congress.

In 1925 Primrose went to Belgium for further study with Eugene Ysaye. The charms of the forbidden viola were not forgotten: in fact, Primrose confesses he was "constantly in love with it." Ysaye recognized this special interest for he, an instrument and showed him how different the approach to it should be from the approach to the violin. By 1930 Primrose had switched permanently to the viola and that year accepted an offer to join the London quartet. In 1931 he gave his first solo viola performance in Rio de Janeiro. After hearing him, an eminent critic declared "there has never existed a viola player with such phenomenal technique."

Primrose recently completed his 50th concert tour with Victor including a series of duos and trios with Jascha Heifetz and Emmanuel Pearman. Several leading contemporary composers have written for him among them Roy Harris, William Walton, Ralph Vaughan, and Samuel Barber.

Mr. Primrose at his performance here will be accompanied by Gui Mombaerts at the piano. The concert is being held under the sponsorship of Columbus Concerts.

Latin America Hurrey's Topic

Speaker Gives Picture Of Foreign Influence

Dr Charles D Hurrey, world traveler, lecturer and former Secretary of the International Committee of the Y M C A spoke last Monday of the Latin American countries uniting today for a tomorrow of liberalism, less corruption and less desires to govern themselves without outside influences.

Speaking before students and faculty of Florida State College in the Augusta-Conradi Lstie Theatre, Dur Hurrey gave a clear picture of foreign influence and finance, meddling of foreign machines and foreign controlled industries that restrain the fervor the Latin American countries have to express their ideas of "good life for all of the people."

The need was stressed for a Pan-American language with the "America First" idea, carrying it through to personnel, industry, and government. He said he believed that they are being exploited not the people as a part of the whole of the union of the Pan-American nations.

Dr Hurrey is acquiring an inter-dependence culturally, financially, politically. He further commented. Through a great expansion of the use of communications by many nations, the picture of industrial expansion of the Latin American countries is progressing so that Dr Hurrey pointed out, in the future, no school will be without a Latin American. Dr Dwight Morrow, certainly an ambassador of good-will, did more to show the people of Persia the United States was and is aware of culture and society of these nations in the south." English is now being taught in Latin American countries by many native teachers in country. The exchange of students is progressing so that Dr Hurrey pointed out, in the future, no school will be without a Latin American.

The worship service was lead by Isabel Rogas.

Co-chairmen this year elected at a business meeting Saturday were Jane Pancost, Panama and Peggy Lou Thomas. Pat Cleveland will be chairman from the University of Miami. The conference will succeed Dorothy Cassidy, Florida State College for Women, who is now in Washington. Miss Alcharetta Leper, Methodist student secretary was director of the conference at FSC.

A discussion on contemporary music problems climaxed the Youth Conference at FSC Sunday afternoon in the Student Alumnae building. This discussion, conducted a panel of students headed by Wilson Wood, the various seminars held Saturday, presented an evaluation of the conference as a whole.

The meaning of the conference to the college community of new concepts, and problems it presented were among the topics discussed by the panel. This discussion group, lead by Dr Winburn T Thomas, conference director was composed of Vimonie Barnes, Marnice Clayton, Leitia Croom, Josephine Dawkins, Betty Dowd, Dean L. Fleishman, Harriet McCarter and James Richardson.

Emphasizing that world cooperation will come only through world understanding, the panel members stated that the conference brought students nearer economic and political problems and showed that they can be solved in a Christian way. That we must attempt to see all sides of important questions and the practice decisions so reached in our own lives was the conclusion of the group concerning methods of solving national problems. Racial understanding should be fostered through the knowledge of worship for brotherhood, the group decided.

Presiding the morning seminars Dr Smith spoke on "Facing the Future Unafraid" and Miss Wilson gave an address on "Our Interest in the Marshall and Caroline Islands." Miss Wilson led both the morning and afternoon worship services. Personal conference for the students with the ambassadors were held early in the afternoon and it was during the students an opportunity for individual discussion with these leaders. A banquet was held in the faculty dining room Saturday evening for the ambassadors and all students registering for the conference. A party consisting of games, songs and skits followed in the Student Alumnae auditorium with Dr Dressler acting as master of ceremonies.

A united worship service was held in the college auditorium Sunday morning at which Dr Thomas spoke on "Youth Looks into the New World." Special music was by a student choir from the various churches. Sarah Lewis read the scripture, and Iris Wilson gave the responsive reading. A panel discussion evaluating the conference as a whole formally concluded the conference Sunday afternoon.

Midnight Serenade By Two Lieutenants Fetes Landis Girls

The Spanish serorities of the days of gallant caballeros had nothing on the fair ladies of Landis Hall when it came to being serenaded by the opposite sex.

Last week two lieutenant-gentlemen serenaded the occupants of Landis Hall at 15 minutes after midnight. They sang "I'll Walk Alone" and explained that it was because they couldn't hold each other. In the desire to govern all a fifth story window who made a disappointing appearance his singing one lieutenant replied, "You wouldn't be so bold if you were down here."

They harmonized on "In the Evening by the Moonlight" and gave the all night theme of "Accent-tchu-ate the Positive."

Their final selection was sung as follows: Windows were flying up all over Landis court, and ladies were peeping out of them by the dozens. The little effort on the part of the lieutenants to entertain the college girls was very thoughtful, but it was rather late. Many girls did not get out of it nevertheless, the girl said, appreciated the lieutenants and finished singing and bowed so far over that they nearly bumped their heads on the ground.

College Council Returns Senate's Trial Period Rule

Continued from page one

polls a vote of 2 to 1 in favor of a two-thirds majority of the Senate. Vice-chairman Coulter and Executive Secretary Ann Bryan announced that this is a healthy measure afters its recent statement concerning the use of this rule.

The agreement to appoint the committee came after debate of an earlier motion.

Cordelia Barclay moved that a Senate committee be set up to investigate College Council and Executive Council and to report to the next session under the COA constitution which gives CGA all power to "supervise the social life and safety of its students, household and disciplinary regulations and the use of college property and equipment. Cordelia said that Senate should know exactly what its own powers were, unless they knew exactly what power they were to exercise they could not.

Sandra Hamilton was elected secretary.

Janet Pancost stated that the health and safety rule should be strictly adhered to include everything from dancing, cigarette smoking to the number of occupants rooms after light flash, and that the phrase should be defined carefully.

Rosetta Carver stated from the floor that the rule should not be defined specifically, as the use of the term on students' behalf was guided by Executive Council intelligence, and was not rigid.

Another Senate member said that Student Senate had been fighting against rigid rules and had worked to return to the use of principle; yet that now Senate themselves seemed in favor of construction.

It was again insisted that if student's part in government was to function properly it ought to be given its own jurisdiction and know where it could take initiative.

The motion to appoint a committee to fine a definition of the limits of the limits and safety clause was voted down.

Also debated in Senate was the explanation of the Student Council having mature students, girls with grade averages of less than "C" and off-campus students ineligible for Senior Hall next year.

What is the future Student

No Senate members was sure what privileges off-campus students had or exactly why she was ineligible. There also seemed to be no definite information as to why seniors with less than "C" average could not have the added responsibilities of Senior Hall as well as those with better averages. It was also brief discussion on the necessity of leaving girls who married to live off-campus groups out of Senior Hall privileges.

The discussion was postponed until members of Executive Council on Senate could find out more of the information College Council's action on Senior Hall, and clarify the terms.

The Senate also made the recent rule that students could not sit in their automobiles in front of new off-campus houses bordering the tennis courts was raised by Janet Pancost who asked if the Social Standards council had power to order that the Council had such power.

Source of Rule

Social Standards Chairman Dot Boardman said the Council had not made the rule and didn't know where it came from. It was pointed out that such rules were often originated by residency Committees with the aid of Dean Dorman, in so far as they deemed them beneficial to the students.

Debate arose about the power of Executive to make rules, and

Governor Caldwell To Talk Here

Continued from page one

tion in the Student Alumnae building.

Mrs Helen Shelley, chairman of the Legislative Committee of the AAUW, is in charge of the arrangements for the address and Miss Maude Bell, chairman of the hospitality committee, is in charge of the arranging for the reception.

At 10:15 on Monday night Governor Caldwell will broadcast from the college his monthly report to the seats.

Special Convocation For Honor Students

Continued from page one

of music. The Gypsy Rondeau and Footlade will be played by Mrs Frank Hendrix will play the cello, accompanied by Miss Mary Winslow.

Miss Dolbee said that students and friends who may not have attended a similar Honors Day program or a college commencement program are specially urged to attend.

The members of the committee on Scholastic Honors are Miss Dr Elizabeth Andrews, Dr Ruth Connor, Dr Mark De Graff, Miss Gladys Koch, Dr Hazel Sherman, and Miss Myrtle Dolbee, chairman.

Increases to Come

A rise in divorces, marriages and births in the years immediately following the war is predicted by Dr George E Simpson, professor of sociology at Pennsylvania State college.

FSC Alumna Selected to Enter Wing of British Staff College

Captain Janet Caroline Varn, alumna of Florida State, was selected to enter the Auxiliary Territorial Service Wing of the British Staff College.

Captain Varn, who was president of her class at Florida State, was an employee of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company in Jacksonville, Florida, for a year before she enlisted in the Women's Army Corps in July, 1942. After graduation from the first Officers Candidate class, she was stationed in Jacksonville, Florida. In March, 1943 she went to Washington, D C, as an executive officer to Lt Col Betty Bandel, WAC Staff Director for the Army Air Forces.

The three WACs are the first American women chosen for the three-month staff officer course of the Auxiliary Territorial Service, the British counterpart of the American WAC. The school corresponds to the United States Army's Command and General Staff school, generally considered by the Army men to be the elite of Army schools.

In speaking of the course, Captain Varn writes: "You really can't imagine the terrific rough this course is! Our day begins at 7:20 a m when our 'batwoman' brings in hot water for our pitcher! At 7:45 a m somebody beats on a frying pan, whereupon I drag my frame from a concrete block, which is a bed, dress, and have a breakfast of porridge and either sausage or ham on toast—and coffee.

"Our first class begins at 9 a m and at 10:45 a m we break for 'eleventh' which consists of cocoa and itty bitty slices of bread and butter and jam. At 11:15 a m classes begin again and last until 1 p m—when we have lunch. Classes again at 2 p m and until 3:30. Then tea which comes at 4 p m (and they really go in for it over here), and at 4:30 and then, if it is a nice day we study outside until 7 p m. We then have dinner and study.

"We have classes until noon on Saturday. This has been an interesting course, but extremely tiresome and tempestuousness.

The final number, another work of Mr Thilman, was "Marines Hymn." This number was given a new and different arrangement and will be heard studying—and fired mortars, machine guns and rifles.

"But the highlight of the week is our 'At Home' which I wrote about first—came on Monday when I was presented to the Queen. Everything went beautifully and we were among those presented! (Which would have been curtsey)! It was terrific. The Princess Royal almost threw me over her shoulder when I first grasped my hand. It was all quite thrilling and the Queen is most gracious and charming. She chatted with me quite a few minutes and I felt I would have bowled over."

She writes that the only thing she regrets about her new assignment is the fact that she is no longer in the air force. "Even the Ports and B-24s fly over going or coming from their task. I get so proud when I think that I want to cry. They are so wonderful, and every time I see them I start brasens!"

Smith Speaks On Texas Case

University Church Pastor Defends Dr Rainey

Declaring that the ruling board of the University of Texas violated academic freedom by dismissing former President Homer P Rainey, the Rev Blake Smith, pastor of the University Baptist church, Austin, Texas, spoke before the opening session of the Youth Conference Friday night. The topic of Reverend Smith's address was "Fascism, Texas Style".

Dr Smith, president of the Campus Council of Religion which directs religious activities at the university, is Dr Rainey's pastor and has taken an active part in his defense. The address followed speeches giving a panoramic view of the world by the various associations participating in the conference.

"This situation illustrates a perfect picture of fascism," stated Dr Smith. "Rainey was the only person in the way of the group of wealthy men who have absolute control of the schools. His dismissal was necessary to their domination of the educational and political systems of Texas."

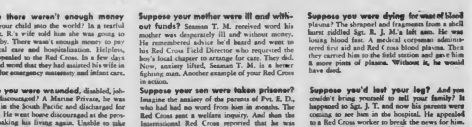
The Texas Board of Regents rejected to certain of Dr Rainey's religious endeavors outside of the classes and forbid his using them. of them, according to the Reverend Smith. When Rainey protested that this was a violation of academic freedom, the board voted his dismissal. Following these demonstrations and his complete vindication by the state senate committee, the board has manfully refused to reinstate Dr Rainey," stated Smith.

"Rainey has the support of the American Association of University Professors, the faculty of the faculty and religious organizations are solidly behind him. A recent report the AAUP states that the Regents were denying academic freedom to the founding Dr Rainey."

Something New

First is was goldfish—but recently a couple of Alaskan Eskimo technic Institute students tried something new. In orde rto win bets of 10 and 25 bucks respectively. Bob Sharman and Donald Goodwin existed on nothing but buttermilk for one week.

Travel in Mid-Week



When you plan your next necessary trip, phone your Trailways Agent for information. Inquire about the best days and schedules. Arrange your trip accordingly, so that you and our service man and women may have a more comfortable and pleasant journey.

All Buses Leave
UNION BUS STATION
Cor. Adams and Tenn. Ph. 701

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Put yourself in his shoes

Suppose there weren't enough money to bring you to the world' is a verital letter, Pvt. R.'s wife told him she was going to have a baby. There wasn't enough money to pay for medical care and hospitalization. Helpless, Pvt. R. appealed to the Red Cross. In a few days he received word that they had assisted his wife in applying for emergency assistance and infant care.

Suppose you were wounded, disabled, jobless and discouraged? A Marine Private, by the name of Joe Williams, was wounded in the South Pacific and discharged for disability. He was home discouraged at the prospect of making his living again. Unable to take up his former trade, in desperation he appealed to the Red Cross. They put him in touch with the proper agency—he's doing swell, now.

Suppose your mother were ill and without money to buy medicine? He received word his mother was desperately ill and without money. He remembered advice he'd heard and went to his Red Cross Field Director who requested the boy's local chapter to arrange for care. They did. Today mother, money lifted, Sgt. T. is a fighting man. Another example of your Red Cross in action.

Suppose your son were taken prisoner? His mother had had no word from him in months. The Red Cross sent a welfare inquiry. And then the International Red Cross reported that he was a prisoner of war. Relief and word was receiving regularly the American Red Cross packages which helped keep up his spirits. Your money gets the packages to him.

Suppose you were dying for want of blood? Can you? The strongest and fragrances from a shell burst riddled Sgt. R. J. M.'s left arm. He was taken to a field hospital where surgeons observered five and Red Cross blood plasma. Then he was rushed by field ambulance and given a full score pints of plasma. Without it, he would have died.

Suppose you'd lost your leg? And you couldn't bring yourself to tell your family what happened to Sgt. J. T. and now his parents were coming to see him in the hospital. He appealed to the Red Cross and they met the train for him. It was a tough job, but the did . . . and soon Mom was holding his head while Dad was telling funny stories—and Sgt. J. T. was smiling happily.

The Red Cross can't do this work without your help!

The actual cruss outlined above illustrate just a few of the thousands of ways in which the Red Cross helps our fighting men—at home and overseas. But without your help there would be no Red Cross to do this humanitarian work. For the Red Cross is wholly dependent on the money that you and other sympathetic Americans contribute. And after these years of war, the work of your Red Cross is greater than ever.

Think of the suffering you can alleviate by your contribution—and how proud you can be of your part in this work. Won't you give all you can?

KEEP YOUR RED CROSS AT HIS SIDE

GIVE NOW... GIVE MORE

IF ELECTED WE HEREBY PROMISE

President of CGA

No one needs to tell you that high school is growing. Likewise, no one needs to tell you that the social problems will arise as a result of this expansion of the new quarter system. To the elected officers goes the responsibility for cooperation, coordination and adjustment in our problems and in our lives on a new campus.

No one needs to tell you that we are fighting a war — after us will come a terrific adjustment which all of us will have to face. Our part, as college students, as I see it, is as a firm ground for future preparation in community life. It is here that, however, for the first time in many years, a student may find expression — that is an added responsibility of the student office — we that each individual is a possible leader, that each student and is not slot in the machine of student life through increased delegation of responsibility, but it will only be successful as we individually do her obligations.

Here can be no definite plan; there is a situation which is constantly changing. You—the voters, are by virtue of choice the men for office who will exercise good judgement as she works for our campus welfare and for the solution to problems, who will try to see that our Government is not a mere organization but a vital factor in the lives of students, who will weed out the impropriates and fallacies and will correct them, and who will act as the coordinator of the ideas and organizations which go to our campus life.

ANN CAROLYN ALLISON

Freshman Adviser

As Freshman Adviser I would endeavor to work for a better understanding between the members of the freshman class and the upper-classmen. I sincerely feel that there should be a closer bond of unity if we are to get the cooperation of all students in our campus activities as well as our problems. The freshman class is a vital part of our school, and can think of no better way to renew and to keep alive the standards of this institution and the spirit of tradition than through the orientation program as carried out through the untiring efforts of the junior counselors.

Having been a junior counselor this past year, I am fully aware of the time and effort that this position would require along with the opportunities for service which it affords. I am greatly interested in serving the girls who will be the bulwark of the school during the next few years, and will do my part to make the entire program for the freshmen beneficial to them and to the school as a whole.

ETTA FRASER

Chairman of Off-Campus

The Off-Campus committee is that group which unifies the policies of the off-campus houses and makes living off-campus as nearly like that in the dormitories as possible. As a candidate for the chairman of this committee, I offer you my qualifications. I have lived in a sorority house on campus for two years, so feel for smooth living in an off-campus house. Rules cannot be enforced if there is need for them There should be social relations and unity. In deciding upon what policies each off-campus, house must have, we should think about the good of all concerned. As far as enforcement of rules and penalties for breaking them are concerned, the Off-Campus committee and the Panhellenic Council work hand in hand. For the past year I have been a representative on the Off-Campus committee, I have learned the order of procedure, and I feel qualified to become familiar with such duties as chairman of this committee.

Also, I have experienced all the rules that the chairman is apt to perform and know just what problems they are up against. This is such a hard job if it is one you enjoy and one in which you have a real deal of interest. As chairman of this committee, I would be a member of Senate and Judicial Board. My chief duties I would do my best to represent just what policies our off-campus students want, and would make my decisions according to what the best needs for the good of all are.

The chairman of the Off-Campus committee should have respect for the students. Je face only, the good of our college at all times. She should render helpful service She should be willing to fulfill responsibilities willingly. She should strive for a feeling of friendship and understanding between the faculty and students. It is important that they respect each other's opinions. If elected to this office, I shall do my best to have these qualifications as my standards, and I shall not forget a single time that I am serving you, my fellow students.

STELLA BARRINEAU

Second Vice-President

As a candidate for second vice-president of College Government Association, as an active member of many function is that of student adviser to Sophomore Council, I should like to see that organization a firm link between all classes and at the same time a reserve of student abilities that is of service to the college.

ROBETTA CARVER

Chairman of Off-Campus

The Off-Campus committee is a combination of house council and lower court. As such, its important functions and decisions of penalties should be closely coordinated with the other courts.

The office is very important, for it can explain the rules and regulations to those who might not understand them since they do not live off campus.

To function efficient with the students, this office offers an opportunity to explain and encourage the successful application of the Honor Code to off-campus life.

If I am elected to fill this office should be aware of her responsibilities and willing to accept them.

BETTY ALDAY

Secretary

The office of Secretary of C G A is a very responsible position for the holder of it. holder, first and foremost, that she beware of its responsibilities.

With this in mind, I present myself as a candidate for the office of Secretary of C G A. I have had secretarial experience in the past, and if elected, I shall arrange to devote all the time necessary for doing the job to the best of my ability.

MADGE PILCHER

Flambeau Editor

If elected co-editors of The Flambeau we plan to maintain and improve the present standards of the paper. We hope to further students' expression and encourage guest editorial writers to contribute to the weekly publication.

In the editorial columns of the Flambeau, we will make an effort to bring before the student eye, pertinent and important campus issues as well as other issues which want to student life. It is our hope that the editorials in the Flambeau will serve as explanatory ones in some instances and thought-provoking ones in other instances. We shall also do all we can to strengthen and improve student-faculty relationships.

The policy of co-editors is done in many newspapers throughout the country with a measurable amount of success. Together we feel that we will be able to use our readers a better newspaper in every respect — in the news, editorial, and student opinion columns. We plan to share equal responsibility and work together to the best of our ability for the welfare of the student body. We should like to prove the theory that "two heads are better than one."

JUDY PEFFER
JANET ROGERS

President of WAA

I am a firm believer in more participation of the student body in sports an' in recreation. We have excellen. facilities here on campus for recreation for every student. I believe that through the cooperation of the WAA Board the students can be better acquainted with these facilities that are available to them.

I cannot say "If elected, I promise," but I will do all in my power to promote a healthful and interesting program which will enable more students to participate in the activities sponsored by WAA. I feel that my past experience in serving on the board as secretary, and also participating in several organizations which are sponsored by WAA such as the Dixie Belles, the Martha corps, and the Physical Education association gives me an understanding of the requirements. If I am elected, I will try to give you, the students, for you the WAA, a program of activities in which all can participate.

JO GUTHRIE

Flagship Adviser

If I am elected as Freshman Adviser, I want to see the present orientation program for freshmen continued. I would also want to have a more complete orientation for the junior counselors during each quarter. Another plan that I would like to see inaugurated would be for the junior counselors to meet with the Freshman Adviser on problems of common interest, especially during the first few weeks of school.

It seems to me that the importance of the freshman year should be overlooked. For I believe that the standards and ideals that this college is to be based on are the attitudes and viewpoints developed in our freshman year.

MILDRED TURNER

Second Vice-President

The office of second vice-president is an important one in CGA and the person who is elected to the office will be in a position to help improve affairs on campus not only as a CGA officer but as advisor to Sophomore Council.

If elected I shall do my best to bring about better understanding and co-ordination between CGA and the student body at large and attempt to bring Student Senate and the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs closer together in viewpoints.

ANN PARKER

Third Vice-President

In addition to aiding the war effort, defense activities can serve as a factor in improving the faculty-student relationship. Working together in such activities is the basis of cooperation. If faculty members and students would really pitch in together in Red Cross work, for example, understandings would be formed not only concerning the job they were promoting but a basic understanding that would carry over into their daily life. Such a cooperation would be gained thereby laying a foundation for cooperation in other matters.

Forums stimulate interest in college and community affairs by focusing the student's attention on current problems. To liven up our discussions, brother students from the U of F might be invited to participate in forums on matters of interest to them, such as co-education.

Most of us need a jolt to burst us out of our day dreams. The war has given us that jolt to awaken. There is still a long fight ahead. Let the second year not another notch and I'm ready to go to work. Are you?

EUGENIA AVANT.

Chairman of Residence

If I am elected to the office of Chairman of the Residence Halls committee, I shall try to duly fulfill the duties and obligations that it entails. Working with the Dean of Residents, I shall try to develop a clear interpretation and understanding of the rules set up both faculty and students, and to promote the living of the Honor Code.

GLADYS (SKOOKS) LESTER

Treasurer

If you, the students, elect me as treasurer of College Government Association, I promise always to perform the duties of this office to the best of my ability and not only to be your treasurer.

RUTH DISMORE

As a candidate for the office of treasurer of the College Government Association, I intend to fulfill the duties and obligations of this office as I can, if I am elected. I would represent the students' interest in formulation of policies at the Council of Executive Council, Student Senate and College Council.

MADELYN KING.

Chairman of Residence

The chairman of the Residence Halls committee is endowed with responsible obligations. However in each capacity she must work for the good of the student body as a whole. In this she must be extremely conscious of the individual needs, and must take opportunity of working with people and building for happy relations. It is the challenge of office holds for me.

As background for running for this office I served as floor chairman during my sophomore year and as house president, my junior year. If I am elected as chairman of the Residence Halls committee, I shall try to perform the duties to the best of my ability.

PEGGY LOU THOMAS

Secretary

Having held the office of secretary in various organizations, both social and scholastic, I have had sufficient experience to enable me to perform the duties of the secretary of College Government Association capably. If I am elected, I shall attend to their duties faithfully and to the best of my ability, and I shall attempt to be of service to Florida State College for Women.

MARY ELLEN BOATRIGHT

Third Vice-President

I believe that I could perform the duties of Secretary of CGA which require a person who can not only take care of the secretarial work but who can also give part in CGA work and be able to represent her class.

I have had experience both theoretical and practical—a wife in my home and a mother in school, and a three month's period of Civil Service employment as a clerk.

I maintain that the student body of today is the citizenry of world affairs. An intelligent American is a well informed American.

DORIS DU BOIS.

Secretary

I believe that the job of secretary is one which requires accuracy, neatness, and above all, responsibility. I believe that I could be a person who is dependable, punctual, and conscientious.

In the event that I am elected, I shall endeavor to maintain the standards of the secretary and shall do my utmost to fulfill the qualifications of this office.

JANE GUNN.

Chairman of Residence

Along with the privileges of a college government such as we enjoy on this campus goes the responsibility of upholding such an organization. I would like to accept the responsibility as Secretary of CGA.

I am in high school and here at college, as secretary of the freshman class. I have had experience in performing the duties of such a position.

Two of the things I consider most important among the duties of this office are reflection; student opinion as a member of Executive Council and in promoting student cooperation with the faculty as well as CGA. This I will endeavor to do if elected.

JAMMIE ROGERS.

Freshman Adviser

As the past year now I have a junior counselor I have to love working with freshmen. For this reason I am running for Freshman Adviser.

Of my main objectives, if I will do myself the credit to the new freshmen a new which will be a credit to live up to it. I believe this involves having well informed counselors on their attempts to make and keep our college the fine and happy place it should and can be for themselves and others. I shall make second semester freshmen feel just like first semester freshmen when they are introduced to the school, and I shall do what I can to make and keep worthwhile the standards which rule our college life.

Respectfully,
AUDREY W PERRY

Second Vice-President

As a candidate for second vice-president of College Government Association, and as an active member of many function is that of student adviser to Sophomore Council, I should like to see that organization a firm link between all classes and at the same time a reserve of student abilities that is of service to the college.

ROBETTA CARVER

Working with Sophomore Council this year as its chairman has been one of the most valuable and one of the most enjoyable experiences I have ever had and there is nothing I would like to proclaim more than the opportunity of continuing this work next year as second vice president of G A and advisor to the new Council.

Being chairman this year has brought me in close contact with many of the things with which the second vice president will deal, an invaluable experience to a candidate for the second vice presidency.

In addition to being adviser to Sophomore Council, the second vice president serves on Executive Council and as such she can know exactly what the problems of our campus will be next year so I can only promise to take a sincere interest in our college government, to keep myself well informed on the various phases of its problems, particularly student opinion, and to make my decisions those which I honestly believe to be the best for our college as a whole.

JEAN COLE

Secretary

If I am elected to the office of secretary of College Council, I promise to do my best to perform its duties well. Being adviser to Sophomore Council has helped a representative to executive council, college council, and student Senate. I will do my best to maintain an attitude of open-mindedness and fairness as I perform my tasks efficiently.

I am interested in holding this office because I have enjoyed serving on Sophomore Council this year, and I would like to have an opportunity to continue serving as its adviser next year, and because I would like to take a larger part in student government.

JEAN ANN GRAHAM

Secretary

I shall make no platform promises, for as many times it appears it brings with it unforeseen circumstances and problems which alter the representative College office holder. The best that one can do is keep informed on the events the routine and the unexpected with a clear head and an unprejudiced mind, and to be ready to fill the needs and demands of the office. If I am elected or not, this is my aim: always to be prepared to serve, and to strive constantly to the best of my ability to make the Garnet and Gold truly "the very best in all the land."

BARBARA MANN

First Vice-President

As the presidency of Student Senate is the first responsibility of the First Vice president of CGA, I would do everything possible to maintain such high standards as initiated to the improvement of student legislation. I believe that Senate should be a group representing student opinion for the purpose of formally considering and acting upon campus problems and procedures.

The office of College Council it would be my desire to carry student opinion to the faculty and in turn to bring the suggestions of the faculty to the students for consideration. I believe that student officers can and should contribute a great deal towards improving faculty-student relations.

It would be impossible to foresee at present all the events and problems that will arise during the coming year. Therefore, all I can promise is that I will do my very best to keep Senate actively concerned with problems for the greatest good of our college.

SARAH LEWIS

First Vice-President

I feel that more concentrated drives and plans for war work on campus. Not so few that a student will not feel that she is interested in but not so many that she becomes confused in the maze.

More student backing of the war effort on campus. The students are capable of doing a lot more than they seem to realize the incentive. I will try to arrange the program so that there may be more student participation.

3. Backing of a "Community Program" which will have one big drive a year. By donating to this ONE drive you can make donations to all the things such as Red Cross, World Student Relief, etc, that you have separate drives for now.

BARBARA WICKHAM

President of WAA

It is the responsibility of WAA to plan recent recreational activities which include the interests of the student body. If the enrollment is increased next year WAA can meet this need by an enlarged program One activity in this program could or a play-day which includes the entire student body. An activity such as this would bind the classes closer together. In my opinion, the segregation of classes is a definite problem on our campus, and this problem could be partially eliminated through a WAA program.

I have worked with various recreational groups and participated in many physical education programs. These and other activities have helped me in recognizing the need for more student participation.

We all realize that this problem of student participation is a major one and I am more than anxious for a chance to do my share in doing my part to promise solution through one our largest organizations.

Signed:
"FRANKIE" HALL

FLOWERY EYE-CATCHERS
for EASTER
Found At MARION'S HAT SHOP

They fought for you
now help them.

Thousands of WACs
Needed at Once to serve as Hospital Technicians in U. S. Army Hospitals!

If you're already trained, you can be assigned to an Army hospital immediately after completing basic training.

As a hospital technician in the WAC you'll be serving your country on a vitally important way at a time of enormous need

Get full details at your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station TODAY!

GOOD SOLDIERS..
THE WAC
WOMEN'S ARMY CORPS

MARTIN & DALTON
DRUG CO.

How Does Your Garden Grow?
There's a New Shipment of Flower Seed
—at—
Seek it First at
ALL BRUTE YOU INC
WON'S
HARDWARE

Spirit of the Week

A MAN? SURE I CAN BE READY IN FIVE MINUTES!

● DON'T NEGLECT THE BALLOT BOX

Next week will give us the opportunity to accept one of ,ne greatest responsibilities alloted to citizens in a democratic group life: choosing the candidates who will be the officers for the coming year.

CGA elections come only once a year, and to a degree, whether college government is successful depends on these elections and the extent to which the students accept the responsibility of the hallot. In almost every election on campus, methods little short of lassoing are necessary to obtain a bare 51 percent majority. The privilege of voting seems not to be realized as such. The fact that tbe rigbt of tbe ballot box ia a responsibility eacb citizen ahould carry out ıa even less realized or acted upon; therefore, the work of college government falls lightly on the sboulders of tbe majority and heavily on the shoulders of a few.

Not only is it imperative that eacb student vote in both major and minor elections, but it ıs even of greater importance tnat the students think carefully about whom they elect and choose as nearly as possihle the person best qualified to bold the office in their opinion after due consideration. It must be remembered that through the ballot an unthinkıng majority of voters can cause more barm in a democratic society than a thinking minority, because the final power of selection is not given to the thinking minority.

Several efforts are made during the election time to enable students to become acquainted with the candidates and their so-called platforms if elected to office. The candidates make themselves availahle for questioning in the candidates' booth in lower Westcott before elections. Both major and minor candidates make apeecbes in convocation and in a special forum for that purpose. Also, in this edition of tbe Flambeau appear statements from eacb of the prospective office-holders, and although neither the speecbes nor the statements are, as a rule, pertinent or definitely objective in content, it ıs well to give some attention to these means of measuring the candidates.

If the students not interested ın holdıng offices are nonetheless interested and informed on campus issues, legislative procedures ,and at least the framework of tbe constitution, those who hold office will of necessity be able to make more progress and do a better joh, having at least a comparatively aware student body with wbicb to work.

The same disinterest or negligence which is prevalent on campus in all probahility will carry over after college into community, state, and national matters where life is in no way as sheltered as it is in college and here the action of the ındividual is of utmost importance. The voting machines here are easily accessible and there ıs no descrimination as to who ıs qualified to vote in the student body. Time and thought on the part of each individual, however, are required for oetter college government.

● CHALLENGE TO EDUCATION

One of the few peace plans that in general bas definitely oeen decided upon though not in detail is the G I bill of rights, which will offer to all service returnees an education with expenses paid. Which educational institutions will be used or exactly bow much money will be given to the service man is not settled, but that all men under sucb conditions will be offered an education is sure.

This democratic experiment should prove a challenge to all boys returning back to the states and is tbought to be widely accepted by them. But another challenge will be to educators and to educational institutions in this country.

That all educators should grasp the opportunity cannot be over emphasized. Both state and privately endowed colleges and universities will find themselves suddenly crowded with men who for two or three years have abandoned all school work and concentrated their entire efforts on warfare. Many have become fired not only by bullets but by thougbts. They have found out the hard way that eacb person must not only share the privileges of this country, but the responsibilities as wel! They have learned that economics, bistory, political science are not merely broad terms but vital things that affect all citizens of this country and of this world. They have learned through the many scarifices of this generation that the last generation failed. They have seen college graduates become corrupt leaders ofa nation, they have seen colIge graduates exploit in dangerous business enterprises, and they have seen colleges subdued undr tyranny.

Yet these boys who have suffered under the failures of their predecessors are willing to make another try; are not only willing but are enthusiastic over their new opportunity. And their willingness along with the democratic generosity ol this offer together can boost American education a great deal.

But the educational methods of today will be placed under trial, for the returnees are going to demand real education. They will not be satisfied with vague generalities and long worded truths. Mere textbooks and objective tests will not satisfy them. They will want something to put their teetb ınto, and they will demand it. It's up to the teachers to give this to hteir new clientele and they must not fail. It will be their joh to make a practical trainsfer of knowledge. They will have to substitute theory for actualiyt.

If this can be accomplished education will have made long strides and they will turn out intelligent rational men and women who will be able t ograsp the present situation. Educators will be able to pat their own backs if tbis can be achieved; Americans will be able to back theri hopes of a democratic way of life with real intelligent.

—JUDY PEPPER.

● WE WASTE TIME

The return by College Council to Student Senate Wednesday of Senate's proposed trial period, with no rule governing overnight absences, brought to tbe floor questions about the extent of Senate's constitutional powers.

It seems reasonable to say that Senate can never be sure of its rıght to take initiative in any legislation if the extent of broader administration power is not clear. Senate gave evidence of its confusion about constitutional powers in the recent six-months discussion and action on the overnight ruling. When the student legislative body must spend hours debatıng suggestiona and taking final action on matters whcih are of dubıous constitutionality, there is time and energy wasted.

Much of the recent confusion abuot wbat ia constitutional bas centered around the elastic "health and safety" clause in Article II of the CGA constitution. The college authorities, in this section, ıntrust to CGA management of all matters not academic in nature concerning students, with three reservations. The reservations include regulation of student public health and safety, management of college residence halls, and use of college property and equipment. These terms are open to many different interpretations, students have concluded in observing that in past years they are said to have included even cigarette smoking and dancing.

Student bewilderment about the source of many rulea whicb do not seem to come from Senate, Executive Council, or College Council was also reflected in Senate. A Senator inquired the source of a social regulation; the Social Standards Council chaırman said she too hadn't known wbere it bad come from or why its unknown source was empowered to make it. Another senator stated flatly that everybody knows many rules aren't in the Gold Book, and that she didn't know wbere they came from.

Since in the Constitution it is stated that Senate may legislate only when such rulings are not in conflict with prior faculty or administrative rulnigs, surely Senate members have cause for curiosity abont sources of existing rules. Since Senate's power ia limited constitutionally by reserved powers of the Administration and also by past rulings, Senators are left in confusion if limits are not defined and if sources are unknown.

Yet Student Senators voted NOT to ask a committee to find out the extent of powers other than its own, and in the process to find its own powers.

We do not see why any measure to clarify the CGA constitution should be in the least objectionable. As long as Senators let their rulings remain on dubious ground, they waste their own time and that of other legislative bodies. The work of one committee might save hours of fruitless Senate debate—why not appoint one?

The Students Speak . . .

For some time there has been much discussion on the subject of making Florida's state colleges co-educational. Now this discussion has assumed statewide proportions For this reason this week's column deals with the question

WHAT IS YOUR OPINION OS CO-EDUCATION, IT'S ADVANTAGES AND DISADVANTAGES?

Young people should have the opportunity for associations along social and educational lines at the same time. Graduates going into the business world find themselves unequipped to meet men in many situations. A long discussed probiem has been the one of a person not socially educated. Very few of our girls in Tallahassee find the opportunity to spend much time in mixed social gatherings. If boys and girls were allowed education together there might be fewer "misfits."

PAT HITZ (Sophomore)

A co-ed school presents a more normal aspect of life in studies, and in social activities. There should be at least one co-ed state school in Florida, and one women's college I am very much in favor of co-education at the University of Florida

WILDA HAYES (Senior)

I approve of co-edncation because it affords a more rounded preparation for life in a mixed society.

COPELYN RAMSEY (Sophomore)

In my opinion co-education would offer a wider variety of courses which are not available in a women's college

ANNELLA BARBER. (Freshman)

I firmly believe in co-education It presents a natural environment for boys and girls, for after all, they will be working with one another after college In the classroom there will be broader opinions expressed and thereby, a wider experience for all. As for the argument of "too much dating and not enough concentration on work"—I don't believe that is true.

RUTH RICE (Senior)

Although co-education has some advantages as follows: It serves as an aid to meeting mén and provides a man for every occasion and also the existence of men on a campus might create an incentive for more neatness among the girls. Courses for men that attract feminine students would be available to both—there are many more disadvantages. Aside from the evident fact that men were around to "cramp" style somewhat, there would be a tendency for better scholastic work to take a "back seat" and give way in many cases for obvious reasons. A drop in the self-sufficiency scale would appear, and girls' ability and leadership would be subordinated. In the sportsm world, the spotlight would tend to be directed much in favor of the boys' sport team: rather than the girls'.

JULIA PERKINS. (Sophomore)

I think that a state co-educational college would be an excelient idea if a plan can be successfully worked out. Florida at present is the only state in the co try that does not have a state university for both boys and girls. Why don't we employ the plan used by the 47 other states?

NELL M'NEIL. (Sophomore)

I think all schools should co-educational Co-education would tend to instill more school-spirit and interest in the school

EDITH RIVERS. (Freshman)

Collegiate Comeback

By BERYL KITCHEN

FSC Synopsis

Well, the annual Youth Conference has come and gone. From all reports, those attending last week-end's meeting accomplished a lot, ın addition to having more than the usual amount of fun . . . Elections will take the campus spotlight Tuesday and Wednesday of next week . . . Mia Slavenska, with her dance ensemble, was really something to write home about! . . . Governor Caldwell's speech Monday night on "Florida's Economic Problems" promises to be quite interesting . . . French students are still talking about the fun they had at the formal last week-end with their "parley-vous," etc.

Overheard Cat Talk

She has a head like a door knob, any man can turn it! . . . Why, she is a typical freshman, carrying one subject and dragging four . . . When she tells a little white white lie, it often ends up as a double feature in technicolor . . . She leaves me with a feeling that when we bury the hatchet she marks the exact spot . . . She's simply furious because the pilot she dates referred to her as his target for tonight . . She is all sugar and spice, with a dill pickle for a tongue . . . That girl has ears like a steamroller Really, they pick up all the dirt!

A Comparison

It has been said that women are like newspapers. It seems that they are, in that they have forms . . . they are made up and have bold types . . . they always have the last word . . . back numbers are not in demand . . . they have a great deal of influence . . . they are well-worth looking over . . . they are never afraid to speak . .. they're much thinner than they used to bo . . . you can't always believe everything they say!

Campus Enemy No. 1

She borrows your best clothes . . . class notes . . . outlines . . . nail polish . . . kleenex . . fountain penn . . . lipstick . . . stationary.

She's always "without" cigarettes and matches . . . ink, stamps, and paper . cash for "cokes" . soap flakes . . . homework.

She's a dinihg room glutton . . .

Cntinued on page five

In This Our Time . . .

By LOLA ROSE

Cologne, Germany's fourth largest city, became one of the Allies' richest prizes since D-Day when it was captured by the American First Army. As Cologne fell Gen George S Patton's men raced toward Coblenz. In the last few days the American Third Army has come within 12 miles of Coblenz.

The capture of Cologne was made official after the spearheads of Lt Gen Hodges' third armored division knifed past the Dom Cathedral and reached the west bank of the Rhine in the center of the city. There was little of the usual house to house fighting as the city was taken. In the assault three columns of Americans smashed into the shell-torn streets as three Allied armies continued the systematic reduction of the German bridgehead west of the last great natural barrier between Gen Dwight D Eisenhower's armies and the Ruhr basin.

The elimination of all German forces on the west bank of the Rhine is in sight but it has become apparent that the momentum generated by General Eisenhower's offensive will not be great enough to carry the Allies' spearheads across the river without a pause for reorganization. The battle that is now being won is merely a preliminary to the greater assaults on the Rhine crossing

On the ninth anniversary of Hitler's remilitarization of the Rhineland, American troops cleared out all of shattered Cologne and were drawn up firmly along a 90-mile stretch of the wide Rhine from Cologne to the Dutch border with the exception of a major enemy pocket at Wesel.

MEIKTILA CAPTURED

A big British armored and motorized force ended a dramatic 11-day thrust through Japanese-held central Burma by the capture of the important railroad and airfield center, Meiktila, 80 miles south of Mandalay. The plunge across the Irrawaddy to Meiktila had been held back by the censors until last Saturda when it was released.

It is estimated that 30,000 or more Japanese troops in the Mandalay area have been cut off north of Meiktila and have no well-developed road or rail escape routes except eastward across the Shan pleateau into Siam

The capture of the Meiktila area promises the eventual destruction of Lt Gen Katamura's Fifteenth Japanese Army defending central Burma, and the army represents about half of the effective Japanese combat strength in Burma. Meiktila is an important railroad center and is one of the main Japanese air bases in Burma for it is surrounded by eight airfields. One of these had been captured several days before the capture of the town. More than 500 Japanese were killed in the push to Meiktila while at the city itself probably 1,000 were killed before enemy resistance ceased.

FORMULA GIVEN

At the Inter-American Conference on Problems of War a Peace in Mexico City this pa week, the formula for dealing w the controversial Argentine que tion can be stated as follo Argentina will receive an opp tunity to abide by the decisi of the conference and if she d so, declares war on the Axis a signs the declaration of the Un Nations, obligating her to abide the principles of the Atlan Charter and not to make a se arate peace with the Axis, she w be welcomed back into the Ame ican family of nations.

39 NATIONS TO ATTEND

Thirty-nine nations have be invited to the San Franc Conference on April 25 A pla has been reserved for Poland w that country reorganizes its pr visional government, but Arge tina did not receive a call Sec tary of State Edward Stett stated that the complicated ing formula reached at Yalta quires unanimous Big Five's co sent on matters involving the of force. This will be one of t main topics at the conference.

COLLEGE COMMENTS . . .

By RUTH KELLER

Dr Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, will speak this next week at Florida Southern College in Lakeland during that college's celebration of its sixtieth year of foundation. Having been 29 years old at the time he took office, Dr Hutchins was the youngest president ever to take office at that university. Founders' Week at Florida Southern will also commemorate the 20th year of the administration of Dr Ludd M Spivey, president of the college When Dr Spivey arrived in 1925, there were two buildings on the Southern campus, no sororities or fraternities, and few privileges for the students.

The Southern

In answer to the question "What does the University need most?" students at the University of Kentucky made various replies, ranging from new academic buildings to more informal dances The suggestion most often given, however, was more MEN

The Kentucky Kernel

College is just like a laundry you get out of it just what you put into it, but you'd never recognize it.

The Branding Iron

Cheer up, girls; our college brothers aren't so bright either. This conversation was overheard in a fraternity house:

"I'm taking my wall home with me in May because it has all my phone numbers on it."

Silence.

Fellow brother (his brow all wrinkled from much thought): "Why don't you just take the phone numbers off the wall?"

The first brother was staggered by this stupidity. "Because drip, they're written in ink!"

The Southern

The associate editor of the Utah Chronicle may have something there. . .

Two freshman coeds at the University of Utah slowly descended the library stairs. One looked at the other with a tragic expression. "I've never had one: never in all my life have I had one"

The other girl looked rather confused. "Never had one what?" she inquired.

"I have never had a dramatic experience how on earth can I write about one?"

Could it be that our English professors are carrying scholastic requirements just a bit too far, when they demand that each and every freshman have had a dramatic experience in his or her life, that he may glorify it in a theme?

The Utah Chronicle

It happens other places, too. At Huntington College in Birmingham, Alabama, the Grand Council requested that the students stop walking across the grass. Bing Crosby had a hard time keeping trespassers off his newly-planted grass once Finally, he put up a sign which read: "Please keep off the grass Remember when you, too, were struggling for recognition." That's a thought to keep in mind when we start across the short cut.

The Huntress

One janitor at the University of Wyoming took all that he could stand. Then he wrote a poem, which he entitled, "I'm Tired" To give an idea of just what he was tired of, here are a few stanzas of his poem:

I'm tired of legs
White, black, or brown
That take up the walk
And eyes of a town.

I'm tired of powder,
Paint and bobbed hair,
Plucked eye-brows, dames' knees
And collar bones, bare.

I'm tired of gowns
That hang like a rag,
Gowns that are sloppy
And high heels that sag

The Branding Iron

As the time for voting for College Government officers at Texas State College for Women draws near, a plea is made by one of its students for intelligent voting. Such reasons as "I enjoyed that skit, I'll vote for her" and "She wears good-looking clothes, she's the one for a student body office" are not qualifications of a capable officer was the warning given the students.

The Lass-O

An idea voiced on the University of Alabama campus favors the grading of the professors by students. The grades for each teacher in each of his classes would be averaged at the end of the quarter, thereby determining the effectiveness of his teaching

The result, they believe, would strongly benefit pupil and teacher.

"A professor conscious of the fact that he will be graded by his student is going to work harder at teaching, just as a student thinking of 'grades goin' home' will study harder."

The Crimson-White

The University of North Carolina, which has been operating on the quarter system, is now shifting back to the semester system, according to a bulletin received recently.

Florida State College will operate on its planned quarter system for the first time next year.

A Winter Carnival Week came to a climax at the University of Wisconsin when champions from the University and from nearby ski teams comp ed in a ski jumping contest. This thrilling event, as the skiers climbed up the ski jump, gracefully glided down, leaped over the edge, and landed far below into Lake Mendota, is a must course for every Wisconsinite's curriculum.

The Daily Cardinal

Or Forever Hold Your Peace

Dear Editor,

More student opinion should voiced on this campus. Stude views are heard wherever an a dience exists, . . in the dinı hall, in dorms, and in stude gatherings. None, however, ha taken advantage of the freedo our press is supposed to ha The college paper should be t voice of the students. I resl that the paper welcomes gue editorials and letters to the ed tor. Can something be done encourage students to take th opportunity of free expression their opinions on controvers campus problems?

ANNE HUTTON.

The Florida Flambeau

EDITORIAL STAFF

CORDELIA BARCLAY — Editor
RACHAEL BAIL, JANET PANCOAST — Associate Ed
SHIRLEY RUBIN — Managing Ed
BARBARA BESS, DOROTHY LANCASTER, JO ANN CARROLL — Assistant Ed
ANNE GAITHER PEGGY KAY — News Edi

Copy Editor — Janet Rogers
Associate Copy Editor — Martha Abbott
Feature Editor — Judy Pepper
Opinion Editor — Muriel Copinus
Society Editor — Doris Pepper
Outside News Editor — Betty Wes
Exchange Editor — Lois B
Art Editor — Frances
Assistant Art Editor — Betty Morg

REPORTERS Virginia Allstock May Alexander, Miriam Angell, Bobbie Be Ellen Bie, Betty Ann Bradley Burma Cox, Alice Crume, Eileen Davis, B Dowd, Lucy Felden, Georgie Fields, Delores Gardner, Anne Hutton, Ruth Ke Beryl Kitchen, Darley Lochner, Mary Nell McFadden, Catherine Nollman, D lores Papy, Gloria Reed, Shirley Rodgers, Lola Rose, Nicky Sartoris, Lou Sims, Peggy Lu Thomson, Jeanne Tillman, Marie Waters, Barbara Wickman

EDITOR'S NOTE It is at the present time and in the future the policy the Flambeau to give equal editorial space and prominence to the editorial opini of anyone wishing to disagree with any Flambeau editorial opinion.

BUSINESS STAFF

Marianne M Smith — Business Manag
Helen Tarapani — Assistant Business Mana
Shirley Rodgers — Advertising Mana
Betty Strickland Bobbie Rees Dot Miller Georgia Fields Lottie Sullivan Aileen Savers — Advertising Sta
Jean Ann Graham — Circulation Mana
Margie Austin Kathleen Johnson Helen Tarapani — Circulation St
Eleanor Bayer — Collection Mana
Helen Conkling Jerry Sonniers Lucille Sonniers Louise Sims Jean Sponeble — Collection Sta
Marianne Jones Jean Ann Graham Florence Olnn, Lucille Hard Post Office St

Entered as second class mail matter January 30 1915 at the post offi at Tallahassee Fla under the act of Congress of March 3 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Delta Phi Gives [D]inner and Dance [F]or French Officers

[Tw]enty-five French officers who [ju]st graduated from gunnery [school] at Tyndall Field, Panama [City], were entertained by the [Frenc]h honorary Pi Delta Phi [S]aturday with a dinner and [a] dance in Landis recreation [hall].

[Pri]scilla Gillette was in charge [of] the graduation celebration. [Accor]ding to Priscilla, the [guests] were scheduled to ar[rive] at 5 p m in Landis parlor. [When n]othing was heard from them [by] 5 45 Miss Mildred Finne[gan], assistant professor of [French], discovered that they were [waiting] outside the Copeland [Street] gates. It seems that [the] men are not allowed on [the c]ampus of a girls' school in [their] country.

[The] campus was shown to the [Frenchm]en after their arrival and [a] dinner was given for them [in Bry]an-Broward dining hall.

[Fro]m 8 until 11 p m the school [band] and under the direction of [Miss] Ruth Aughenbaugh played [for th]e dance. The officers pre[sented] a short program with the [aid] of their commandante, Lt [...] Baar-Nason, which in[cluded] some French songs, a [monolo]gue in English, and an imi[tation] of Maurice Chevalier.

[Over] 100 girls attended the [dance]. The hall was decorated [in th]e French colors. Members [of th]e faculty who were present [were] Dr A R Seymour, Miss Mil[dred] Finnegan, Miss Ruth Camp[bell], Miss Lucy Laster, Miss [...]a Ackerman, Mrs Clara [...] and Miss Eva Mae Atwood.

[The] French officers stayed un[til S]unday and some of them [we]nt to Wakulla Sunday [...]ng.

Campbell to Speak

[Dr] Doak S Campbell, president [of Flo]rida State College, will at[tend] a meeting of the officers [of th]e Souther Association of [Colleg]es and Secondary Schools [Mond]ay and Tuesday, at Mem[phis], Tennessee.

[Dr] Campbell will be chairman [of th]e committee on Curricular [Probl]ems and Research.

[Th]e Association is a signifi[cant] educational group in the [South]," said Dr Campbell. "But [there] will be no general meeting [of th]e association this year be[cause] of transportation difficul[ties]. Only the officers of the as[sociati]on will meet to discuss the [issu]es of the year and import[ant] problems as they arise." [Dr C]ampbell said.

FLORIDA

Today Through Saturday
"[FOR] WHOM THE BELL TOLLS"

Sunday Through Tuesday
"[T]O HAVE AND HAVE NOT"

Wednesday Only
"TAHITI NIGHTS"

Thursday Through Saturday
"TALL IN THE SADDLE"

STATE

Today and Tomorrow
"WEIRD WOMAN"
—and—
"[CY]CLONE PRAIRIE RANGERS"

Sunday and Monday
"HI BEAUTIFUL"
—and—
"LADY IN DEATH HOUSE"

Tuesday and Wednesday
"[SO]METHING FOR THE BOYS"

Thursday Only
"[OUR HE]ARTS WERE YOUNG & GAY"
—and—
"CANTERVILLE GHOST"

Friday and Saturday
"MUMMY'S GHOST"
—and—
"SHERIFF OF SUNDOWN"

RITZ

Last Times Tonight
"CRY HAVOC"
—and—
"GREAT MOMENT"

Tomorrow Only
"WEST OF RIO GRANDE"

Sunday and Monday
"CASANOVA BROWN"

Tuesday and Wednesday
"TWO MAN SUBMARINE"
—and—
"HI YA SAILOR"

Thursday and Friday
"SING A JINGLE"
—and—
"BIG NOISE"

Religious Activities Feature Speakers, Services, Holiday

Guest speakers, special Lenten observances and the celebration of a Jewish holiday characterize the religious activities for this and next week.

The local Hillel organization and the University of Florida Hillel celebrated jointly the Jewish holiday Purim last weekend at Florida State College. Two boys from the Gainesville Hillel participated in the Friday night services, which were followed by a reception. Saturday night at a dance both groups presented skits. The Hillel members were entertained by Mrs Sam Rosenberg with an all-day barbecue Sunday at her home near Tallahassee.

Rev U S Gordon, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Gainesville, will be a campus guest this weekend, and Rev Hugh Powell, new director of Religious Education in the state of Florida, will be a guest the weekend of March 17.

Reverend Gordon will address the Westminster Fellowship at their supper forum the Sunday evening. Reverend Powell, the following weekend, will address the Sunday evening forum to enlist helpers from among the students to assist him in the vacation church schools to be held throughout the state next summer. He will also have a special meeting with Presbyterian students for this purpose.

Miss Juliette Mother, the South-wide Young People's leader of the Woman's Missionary Union of Birmingham, will be at the Tallahassee Baptist Student Union for the weekend of March 16. Miss Mother is to present the book Pray Yes to the Young Women's Auxiliary of the Baptist Student Union.

At Ruge Hall two corporate communions will be held next week. On Sunday there will be a corporate communion for all off campus houses and Wednesday corporate communion will be for the faculty. Next Friday at the weekly forum Judge B A Meginniss will speak on St Paul and the State.

The Rt Rev Frank A Juhan Episcopal Bishop of the Diocese of Florida, has asked that a Sunday in March be designated as Army-Navy Commission Sunday. During the week of March 11 through 18 offerings will go to the Episcopal chaplains in all branches of the armed services.

Freshman Carnival To Be Held Tonight

Freshman Carnival, the annual festival presented by the freshman class, will be held Friday in the Florida State College gymnasium.

Although the theme of the carnival is still a secret, work has already been started by members of the various committees.

"This is the only project the freshman class is undertaking this year, and I surely am glad to see that so many freshmen are taking part in the praparation for it. We hope that this will be the best carnival a freshman class ever sponsored." Ida Lee Rentz, president of the class, declared.

Heading the committees are freshmen who have been elected to an office this year. In charge of the decorations committee are Bams McCarthy and Jean Ann Ramsdale, costumes; Jo Ann Long and Irma Lee Shepherd, concessions; Amarene Thompson and Jean Sharer, publicity; Betty Kennedy and Beth Fuhrer, planning committee; Jimmy Rogers and Martha Peacock.

The planning committee has met twice, at which time the theme and script were approved.

Tryouts for parts in the carnival were held yesterday in the little gymnasium. However, members of the case have not yet been announced.

Honorary Pledges

The Kappa Delta Pi had pledge services yesterday afternoon in the Student Alumnae clubroom inviting new pledges to the education honorary. New members are: Mrs Margaret Powell Arrington, Maurine Ashton, Leida Helen Atwater, Mrs Lottie May Dykes, Doris Helen Hill, Barbara Irvin, Mary Elizabeth Marshall, Harriet Martin McCarter, Joan Victoria Shanor, and Anne Gladney Widerquist. Two other pledges who are now interning are Margie Sue Oxford and Alice Willis Kammerer.

Dean at Meeting

Dean Karl O Kuersteiner, dean of the School of Music, left yesterday for Birmingham, Alabama, where he will attend a four-day meeting of the National conference of the Southeastern Division of Music Education.

Dean Kuersteiner, who has been appointed consultant from Florida, stated that the conference is being held for the purpose of planning a music program for the post war world in particular; however, plans are being made for the present emergency also.

The dean stated that music holds an important place in the world today and it is hoped that they will be able to lay out an over all plan for music's place in national life.

Campbell Speaks

Miss Margaret Campbell, instructor in modern languages at Florida State College, spoke on Chile last night before the Parent-Teacher Association of Haines City.

Arrangements for this trip to Haines City were made through the Alumnae office by Miss Louise Gehan.

Miss Campbell studied at the University of Chile on an exchange scholarship in 1942. During that time she attended classes and did research work in preparation for her Doctorate. Miss Elena Whatt was the exchange student from Chile to FSC

Grosgrain rounders dress up your new

STRAW CALOTS

New edition of your old favorite! Little calot with worldly guile in big rosettes of grosgrain and a wisp of veil for after-six glamour.

$5.00 and $5.95

P. W. WILSON

Millinery Department—Second Floor

Claude Murphree, organist from the University of Florida, who will appear in a recital in Westcott auditorium Sunday afternoon at 4:30.

Pre-Easter Vespers Begin This Sunday

Dale Mabry Choir Will Assist On Program for Palm Sunday

The pre-Easter organ vespers will begin this Sunday and continue every Sunday throughout March, at 4.30 p m in the college auditorium.

The organists during this period will be March 4, Romana C Beard, organist fir Florida State College; March 11, Claude L Murphree, organist at the University of Florida; and March 1j, Robert D Miller, associate professor of philosophy and religion. Romona C Beard will play on Palm Sunday also.

The Palm Sunday vespers will be assisted by the Dale Mabry Field choir, the First Baptist Church senior choir, the First Baptist Church junior choir, the Baptist Student Union choir, the Hillel student choir, the Presbyterian Church choir, the Presbyterian student choir, the S tJohn's Episcopal Church senior choir, the St John's Episcopal Church junior choir, the Ruge Hall choir, the Trinity Methodist Church senior choir, the Trinity Methodist Church junior choir, and the Methodist student choir. It was announced by the School of Music.

Collegiate Comeback

Continued from page four

a telephone monopolizer . . . a shower grabber.

She apple polishes the teachers . . . the hall counselors . . . the teachers . . . the Big-Women-on-Campus . . . the teachers.

She is a tag-along, disrupting study and disorganizing plans . . . she volunteers for all committees, and then works when it's convenient for HER! . . . she's happiest when thundering around and making noise at daybreak on Sunday morning . . .

She feels abused about her mail (and male!) . . . her assignments . . . her class schedule . . . the life in general!

Embarrassing, Isn't It?

To mix up your dates . . . to walk in late to the wrong class . . . to be caught wearing your room-mate's best sweater without permission . . . to be surprised by an unexpected room-check . . . to have a pajama leg shoot out from under your rain coat at b'fast (and to be checked and double-checked by piercing glares from members of the social standards committee!)

Gripe Corner

"They also serve who only stand and wait"' or we stand in line for: tickets . . . telephones . . . signing in or out . . . infirmary treatment . . . showers . . . conferences . . . tennis courts . . . mail.

We fuss about: room-mates . . . dining hall food . . . 8 o'clocks . . . some of the rules and regulations . . . grades . . . the cigarette shortage . . .

We detest: browning oil addicts . . . special called meetings, always at the first possible time . . . term papers . . . "pop" tests.

Stamps on Sale

How's about another bond? Or perhaps another war stamp? Every bond and stamp bought brings the war closer to its end. The Stamp Shack in lower Westcott is being operated by the Alpha Gamma Delt's this week and will be taken over by the Zeta Tau Alpha's next week. Buy another War Stamp instead of going to that movie and help put FSC "over the top!"

New Hall Has Tea To Choose Mascot

New Hall featured a Wednesday tea contest to choose the hall mascot. Frmo a number of entrees of animals belonging to the dormitory girls a tiny stuffed cat was chosen. The cat is owned by Joan Delaney who received it from her grandmother. It was a gife to her grandmother from a young man in Switzerland.

Once when Joan's grandmother was having her house cleaned of termites the workmen left an apologetic note saying they were sorry but they had accidently killed the life-like stuffed cat.

Music Class Gives Program on Radio

A special musical program will be presented over Garnet and Gold from the college campus at 3 p m next Friday. Sponsored and presented by the third, fourth and fifth grade tonette classes of the Demonstration School, this program will be under the direction of Mrs Joan H Scrogin, director of the Demonstration School band.

Mrs Scrogin will give an explanation of the uses of the tonette in musical instruction and will announce the numbers to be played by the children. A tonette is a vocal instrument used as an introduction to the playing of instrumental music.

The Garnet and Gold program Thursday night featured Miss Margaret Dunn, instructor in piano, as "editor" of its music section. Miss Dunn played Chopin's "Nocturne in A-minor. News of the college and an "editogial" concerning the American Red Cross drive were presented by the radio coordinator.

Recitals to Be Held

By request of the students and vote of the faculty, the Weekly recital of the Music School students will be held every Monday at 5 p m in the recital hall of the music annex.

Monday, March 12, the program will include piano and voice solos. The singers are Mildred Mann with Wilda Hayes, accompanist; Katherine Oremli, Ann Fifield, accompanist: Anna Watkins, Miss Dunstan, accompanist: Ysobel DuPree, Anne Bower, accompanist; Betty Ruth Augenbaugh, Fawn Trawick accompanist. Piano students are Eleanor Braggs and Eleanor Loyless.

Contest Not New

The idea of a male pin-up contest did not originate at Florida State College. Houston State Teachers' College, Huntsville, Texas, recently conducted such a contest though it was not for the same reason as that at FSC. The Houston contest was divided into sections with the winners representing servicemen overseas, servicemen within the States, and campus men.

A lap table saves effort in preparing vegetables for cooking and canning.

Brighten Up His Easter!

Send Him a Picture of You Made at

BOUTWELL'S STUDIO

Fashion Flashes

By BERYL KITCHEN

In fashion strategy a gal from Florida State usually rates A-1 . . . and has for years had quite a reputation for being exceptionally well-dressed. Whether in winter, summer, spring, or fall, she manages to select the clothes which play up her personality, looks, and figure to the best possible advantage.

Many factors enter into this first-class rating awarded to the fashion-wise FSCW collegienne. For one thing, she's an individualist, rather than one in a long assembly line. For this reason, she selects clothes which "accentuate the positive" . . . and sticks to them. She looks for grace and sophistication in her clothes, and understands the flattery of line and color in fashions.

In an over-all view of Miss Florida State's fashion tastes at tha moment, one finds that:

She's wild about the ageless and unbeatable combination of navy and white, sometimes with a dash of crimson added . . . the new "doll" waists . . . black playclothes . . . jackets of all sizes, shapes, and descriptions, because they're a sure-fire asset to almost everything . . . baby cap sleeves and the new high necklines . . . wrinkle-resitant clothes, which she can pack for quick week-end jaunts away from campus . . . peplums (on other people) . . . vivid plaid tafettas, that literally rustle of Spring . . . the new Carmen-Miranda platform shoes guaranteed to give her a "lift." . . .

She's sun-worshipping in provocative midriff playsuits . . . sun-back dresses, which show off the beginning of her summer tan . . . "little boy" shorts in gay Mexican colors . . . the new bare-thigh bathing suits, which are next to nothing for getting maximum benefits from Ole Sol's rays. . . . (Note: check tennis courts, camp, or upper arcades for examples of styles mentioned.)

She's smart enough to buy only a few new things for springs, and those few very good . . . to give her wardrobe a once-over, before doing much "spring splurging" . . . to realize that there has never been a Spring when white meant so much and could be used so dramatically . . . to have a "basic" ensemble to which she may add and subtract to make it suit her mood . . . to know that big bold checks in bang colors are taking a bow now in fashion circles . . . to "latch on" to foolproof clothes which make a huge hit each and every time she wears them. . . .

She's caught the very spirit of Spring in her crisp casuals of linen-like fabrics in light spring-hued colors . . in her saucy flower hats . . . in her enchanting flower print silks in lush tropical shades . . . in her navy sheers with eyelet bodices (especially smart in Azalea Pink!) . . . in the ravishing prints which help her radiate the contagious gaiety of spring itself.

Health Education Group Makes Survey

A survey on immunization was taken, by Miss Fannie B Shaw's health class in conjunction with the country healthy service, at the regular Tuesday night house meetings. The survey covered small pox, typhoid fever, and diptheria. typhoid fever, and diptheria.

An announcement was made concerning the dates for elections. Special attention was called to the fact that the vote would not be valid if less than fifty-one percent of the students voted.

Announcements were also made concerning the oratorical contest being sponsored by The World Student Affairs Council and The Hillel Organization, and the YWCA forum at which Dr Miller will speak on Protestantism Students were warned about the heedless destruction of grass.

After the meeting a vote was taken for Sophomore Council Girls in the Freshman Dormitories.

Tennis to Begin

Tennis intramurals begin this Friday at 5 p m on the tennis courts back of the gymnasium. Louise Fernandez is in charge of the officals for the games.

Teams from all of the dormitories will participate. All girls who have the required practice points will be eligible.

Three Sororities Climax Round Of Initiations This Weekend

Initiations still hold the spotlight in sorority activities for the past week. This weekend finds Alpha Chi Omega, Tri Delta, and Kappa Delta holding the last initiations on campus.

The Alpha Chi's will initiate eight girls tonight. They are Polly Blank, Lillian Brown, Margery Potter, Jesse McCalla, Louise Rampey, Gloria Wells, Twyla Bair, and Martha Peacock. There will be a coffee at the house Sunday afternoon from 4 30 until 5:30 p m in honor of the new initiates. Patronesses and alumnae will be guests also.

Tri Delts Initiate

Climaxing "Delta Week," which included a round of parties and activities in honor of the pledges, eighteen girls will be initiated into Tri Delta tomorrow. New initiates will be Patty Allen, Libbie Henderson, Joyce Pepper, Franklin Smith, Betty Shirley, Betty Phillips, Mary Jean Floyd, Norma Hotard, Shirley Crawford, Virginia Hel.., Doris O'Nell, Vivian Collins, Jean Ann White, Madge Pilcher, Arnette Walling, Dottie Hasbrouck, Betty Marshall Childress, and Jean Ann Ramsdale.

Thursday night the pledges presented a skit for the entertainment of the members. At this time Jean Ann Ramsdale was awarded the bracelet for being the best all-round pledge.

Tri Delts coming to Tallahassee for initiation are Lucille Parsons from Tampa, Marjorie Morrison from DeFuniak, and Mrs Ramsdale from Plant City. Following initiation Saturday night everyone will spend the night at the house and the chapter is planning a day at camp Sunday. Jean McPike and Barbara Britton were pledged last week.

Kappa Delta

Kappa Delta will initiate new members tomorrow afternoon. Those being initiated are: Evelyn Marie Badcock, Jeanette Chapman, Edith Collings, Betty Jo Creig, Peggy Grimsley, Anne Holton, Barbara Jane Lindsay, Ann Mikell, Katherine Nelson, Margaret Olson, Murl Price, Peggy Reid, Norma Schaeffner, Joan Sparkman, and Clara Lou Taylor.

New officers will be installed Monday night. They are: Maurine Ashton, president; Louise McMichael, vice-president; Lois Earle Wilson, secretary; Rubie Plant, treasurer; Marie Badcock, assistant treasurer and Edna Price, house chairman.

Delta Zeta initiated eight last Saturday afternoon. They were Lillian Blackwelder, Betty Copps, Dorothy Coster, Grace DeWolf, Eileen Smith, Ann Singleton, Dorothy Vincent, and Alice Walton.

Mrs Hilda Johnson, a national officer from Thomasville, was present for the initiation. A formal initiation banquet was given at the Floridan Wednesday night. The old actives are entertaining the new actives at an informal get together tomorrow night.

Initiation service was held for 14 last Saturday afternoon at the Phi Mu house. Those initiated were Mary Ann Atkinson, Yvonne Boatright, Patricia Conner, Tess Daniels, Barbara Galliard, Alene Goodman, Nancy Hazard, Barbara Lanford, Zeane Lanier, Mary Jane Lassiter, Margaret Leslie, Betty Jean Linderman, Betty Ann Sinclair, and Harriet Warnock.

A banquet in honor of the new initiates was given Monday night at the Cherokee hotel. Yvonne Boatright was presented the trophy for being the most outstanding pledge and Betty Sinclair's name will be engraved on the scholarship plaque for having the highest average. Guests at the banquet were Mrs G H Scudder, district president who was spending several days here, and Mrs J A Caldwell, house mother.

Alpha Gam's Award

Following their initiation ceremony last Friday night, the Alpha Gamma Delta's held their traditional Rose Banquet at the Cherokee Hotel at which time the annual awards were presented. Jean Sharer received the scholarship plaque for having the highest average among the pledge group and Virginia Budd was awarded the diamond in her pin for being the most outstanding pledge.

Mrs H G Flemmer, international officer of the sorority, left Monday for Austin, Texas, after spending the past weekend here, where she will continue her tour of Alpha Gam chapters in the United States and Canada. An after-dinner coffee was given in her honor Saturday night at which time deans and faculty members, patrons of the sorority, house chaperones, and sorority presidents were invited to attend.

Kathleen Robb was recently pledged AGD. An informal party is planned for this Saturday night with Bonnie Hunt, social chairman, in charge of preparations.

Alpha Delta Pi honored its new initiates with a breakfast last Sunday at the Three Torches. Annual awards were presented to three pledges. The cup for the best all-round pledge was given to Janet Boyd. The plaque for having the most activity points to Jane Bryson and the scholarship cup to Anne Fielding. Betty Bazemore and Dale Taylor were recently pledged by the sorority.

Alpha Xi Delta pledged Charlotte Younkman last Thursday.

Miss Willie D Johnson, district president of Kappa Alpha Theta, was a visitor here from Saturday through Thursday. The Theta's entertained Sunday night with a supper, and Monday night with an after-dinner coffee.

The Zeta Tau Alpha's honored Mrs H C Seepe, Iota province president, with an after-dinner coffee last Thursday night. Ruth Ervin, social chairman, was in charge of the entertainment. She was assisted by Sarah Boswell, Joanne Newman, Betty Breck, Nellie Beville, Betty Bolles, and Duffie Groover.

New officers of Z T A are: Polly Council, president; Jacquie Belshoe, vice-president; Sarah Boswell, secretary; Ruth Mann, treasurer; Nancy Lee Wheeler, historian; Sue Walters, rush chairman; Ruth Ervin, social chairman; Virginia Summer, house chairman; Betty Bolles, activities; and Catherine Royall, guard.

Cotillion Teaches

Cotillion's Thursday evening dancing class looks as if it's going to be a very successful project, according to Betty Lou Christian, president of the organization.

The purpose of this class is to teach girls to dance, and Cotillion especially urges girls to come who can dance very little.

The class meets every Thursday night at 7:30 in the Reynolds recreation hall

The Ring You Choose for Her

The diamond you give your sweetheart goes right on her finger to be worn the rest of her life . . . to be shown with pride to her friends . . . to be treasured as a symbol of your love Should not that diamond, then, be fine and beautiful and worthy of such an honor? Come see the kind of diamonds we mean.

Emerald cut diamond in platinum setting. . . .

MOON'S

Rare Books Are Shown

Library Displays for The Florida Centennial

As a continuation of the display of books in honor of the Centennial celebration of Florida's statehood, there are six rare books on the history of Florida, from the McGregor Collection of Early Americana, now in the library.

Two of the books are tales of the lives and tribulations of two women: "A Narrative of the Life and Sufferings of Mrs Jane Johns", published in 1837, and "An Affecting Narrative of the Captivity and Sufferings of Mrs Mary Smith", whose publication date is not known.

From John Bartram's journals, kept all during his travels, comes the story "A Description of East Florida" which tells of his journey from St Augustine up the St Johns river to the Lakes. This book was published in 1769.

Following in his father's John Bartram's footsteps, William Bartram wrote "Travels Through North and South Carolina, Georgia, East and West Florida", which was published in 1792.

"An Account of the First Discovery and Natural History of Florida" was written by William Roberts and illustrated by T Jefferys.

The book, "Florida Breezes" or "Florida, New and Old" by Ellen Call Long and published in 1882, tells of Tallahassee in particular as it narrates the story of 'ante-bellum' Florida.

Also in connection with the Centennial celebration, three maps have been put on display in the library. Of these, two were by Guillaume DeVille, cosmographer of the Royal Academy of Sciences, one showing Mexico, Florida and the mountains and Mississippi, published in 1703, and another of Louisiana and the course of the Mississippi, published in 1718. The third map is "Florida—Alabama and Gulf of Florida Bahama Waterway" with Bahama Islands", published by Thomas Jeffery's in 1777, the earlier impression of this map was 1775, which appeared in England.

In the Browsing Room there are two new books on display— "Amerus Sings" an Annual Anthology of College Poetry and "Prohibition of Herbard de Bury" translated by Andrew Hunt.

The display in the Browsing Room are varied in order to please all types of readers. There is one group of biographies of scientists which consists of the lives of some of the greatest pioneers in the field of science. Another display is currently concerned with the Artist Series to be presented this week.

"Nature's Quarry" published in 1927 and written by Nelje Blanchan, opened at a colored picture of an azalea, is for the benefit of "nature lovers" who would like to see it.

Hinson at Meeting

Dr M R Hinson, professor of education and director of graduate studies, has gone to Hemphis, Tennessee, as a Florida representative for the committee on Accreditation of Secondary Schools. Dr Hinson will attend the meeting, which is sponsored by the Southern Association of Secondary Schools, tomorrow Sunday and Monday.

Flambeau Wagon Becomes Agen Of Red Cross to Injured Girls

A little red wagon has traveled many miles over the campus of Florida State College in the past two weeks.

This little red wagon from the Flambeau office will be nothing its usual load of newspapers anymore. Today it has a new and urgent duty.

On this little vehicle rides Darley Lochner or Alice Comstock pulled sometimes by Maria Lovias sometimes by other helping hands who gladly play their part in getting Darley and Alice to class on time.

Darley is on crutches for about two weeks ago she injured her toe while playing tennis. Alice is suffering from a sprained ankle.

In a moment of inspiration, they solved their transportation problem by converting the Flambeau wagon into an agent of the Red Cross.

Miller Entertains Freshmen With Tea

Mrs Lou E Miller, English instructor, was hostess at a garden tea party at her home Wednesday afternoon. Members of her advanced Freshman English class participated.

Guests arrived at 5:30, and were conducted about the home, garden and patio by Mrs Miller and her daughter, Susan. A set of new kittens, the mistress Betty Sue Chiles, Jean Douglas, Martha Jo Tingagan, Ann Fielding, Jean Fliesher, Alene Gautier, Betty Sue Cox, Winifred Lane, Marian McEwen, Alma Moreno, Jeanne Newman, Martha Peacock, Elaine Segal and Josephine Story.

Richey Will Discuss Japanese Customs

Miss Helen L Richey, instructor in textiles and clothing at Florida State College, will speak on the subject "Japanese Traditions Customs, and Dress" at the Home Economics club meeting Wednesday at 8 o clock in the Student Alumni building auditorium. Barbara Irving is program chairman for the meeting.

Miss Richey lived in Japan for a period of 12 years. For six years she taught home economics in a girls' school which was pioneer in this field. The spent the next six years doing evangelism work and some teaching in Fukushima, the heart of the silk-raising territory in Japan.

In regard to the recent news that primary schools in Tokyo were being closed, Miss Richey pointed out that in that case the children were being evacuated to their ancestral homes because of the recent bombings, much as the children of London were during the blitzkrieg there.

Eyman Returns

Dr Ralph S Eyman, dean of school of education and professor of education, has returned from Fort Lauderdale where he and supervising teachers, supervisors and principals met on Monday and Tuesday to make arrangements for a county wide conference on workshops.

The conference will be held the last of August and the first of September in Broward county in order to better the educational programs of the county.

The common lilac is said to have come from Persia in the 16th century.

Wave of Sickness Besieges Members Of Sorority Group

"Don't be a sorority girl if you want to keep your health."

This statement could easily be made after the experiences of members of one chapter during the last week.

On unlucky day last Saturday there were five of the members who were temporarily released from the college infirmary for the ceremony. Their aches and pains were caused by bruises, the sprained ankle, two cases of tonsilitis, a case of mumps which caused one to have her teeth wired because the jaw to swell.

The situation on the health front remained relatively calm until late Saturday night when a last wave of illness hit the unfortunate chapter members to the infirmary door.

At the initiation tea Sunday afternoon the initiate elected best pledge was unable to attend because of two sprained ankles. Sunday night an active packed her suitcase with all sickness materials. She was tired of fighting a cold.

Another active joined her on Monday with an attack of influenza. Her temperature was registered on arm covered with band-aids which protect allergy scratches. The infirmary attendants began to discover the cause of an irritation on her temperature.

The local chapter of the sorority is seriously considering releasing all sickness in the infirmary so that the sick sorority sisters may enjoy each other's company while recuperating.

Odd Soccer Leader Elects Team Today

Members of the Odd soccer team will be elected today after soccer practice. These girls will participate in the practice clinic games and Odd-Even game.

Margaret Fernandez, Odd leader of these clinics, said the girls have been stressing goal rushing the last week and the former kicks.

"I believe we have a good chance to win," she asserted.

The Odd-Even game for Even soccer this year than ever before." Miss Ruth Evans, head coach announced yesterday.

Practices in the last few days have been concerned with improving the team passes, dribbling place kicks and goal rushing.

Still remaining from last year's team are Babe Evans, Catherine Lewis, Betty Lou and Gladys Lester.

Every class games will be held March 13 and 15 and the Odd-Even game will be March 17 at 4 p m.

Kellum Retires College Post

Continued from page one

was secretary of the State Plant Board.

In addition to the other positions he was also business manager and treasurer of the Florida Citrus Exchange, a director and secretary of the Exchange Bank of Tallahassee. He was elected vice-president of the Farmer Chamber of Commerce in 1921 and vice-president in 1922.

He is director of the Leon County Milk County, a co-operative organization for the promotion of the dairying interests of the county.

Outside of business activities he is a member of the Methodist church in the Presbyterian church and is a Mason.

Mr Kellum married Miss Ruth B Conibear in Lakeland in 1914. She was born in Morton, Illinois.

Red Cross Room

The Red Cross room in the Student Alumni building has not been opened for public use, Dr C Collins, chairman of production for the local chapter of the Red Cross, announced today. There is no call for surgical dressings now and is there likely to be any time soon. All available warehousespace full.

Also, there is no call for sewing right now. The only Red Cross workshop open in Tallahassee at the present time is the knitting room in the County Court House, which is open on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings from 10:00 until 12:00

Keep DURA-GLOSS always "on hand" says Cupid
DURA-GLOSS
Have you discovered Dura-Gloss Nail Polish? How s-m-o-o-t-h-ly and easily it flows on? How fast it dries? How beautifully it brings out your whole personality? There's a wonderful ingredient in it called "Chrystallyne" that makes it a special jewel among nail polishes. 10¢, plus tax.
Cuticle Remover Polish Remover Dura Coat
THE LABORATORIES, PATERSON, N. J. FOUNDED BY E. T. REYNOLDS

Students Do Social Work

FSC Girls Learn Function Of Local Agencies

Students in field practice in the social case work class under the supervision of Miss Caroline Blue, field supervisor, are now working in local agencies, including Caroline Brevard and Sealey elementary schools, Leon County Welfare Association, the State Board of Welfare, two day nurseries, and the home service department of the Red Cross.

The work each student will do is determined by the philosophies and policies of the agency in which social work is done Miss Blue. The students go out from agencies as representatives of those agencies, Miss Blue said, and they must

The girls' work in the elementary schools consists of visits with parents in the homes to determine the causes of reasons for absentism of children, to investigate to see if the financial assistance for hot school lunches, and to bring about better understanding and co-operation between the school and the home.

Work in the Leon County Welfare Association will include personal interviews with interested persons to determine their eligibility for financial assistance in the light of rules set by the Board of Welfare and the Home Service Department of the American Red Cross. Work in this agency will begin with their duties as receptionists.

As workers in the day nurseries, students hope to become acquainted well with the children, study of this type of agency and gain a deeper insight into child behavior.

Of the five hours spent each week on the course, four hours are devoted to field work, which consists of reading records, observing interviews and writing up each interview. Each interview written by the student becomes a part of the agency case record of the concerned agency. The one hour conference class period, Miss Blue discussing the progress on the case or problems which have arisen concerning the case, other's

"This field practice course is a face-to-face relationship in which case work and is limited as such. Its main values are to give more meaning of the theories of social case work to the student, to tie up theory to practice and to help to develop the student's own personality.

As Miss Blue stated "Case work is very helpful to anyone who is going to work with human beings."

Day Students Hold Activity Contest

Day Students having the highest number of activity points, which were turned in at their last meeting, will receive a prize.

The three girls with the highest points, Ann Fielding, Betty Lou Cox and Kathryn Adams, will be chosen by popular vote at the day students, but will lose by representation of the club to which a party will be given in her honor. A loving cup engraved with the winner's name will be presented to her at the party.

Ann Fielding and Katie Hamilton number of activity points have been active in the Day Students Organization and other organizations on campus. Emily Herold is a member of the Pi Kappa Phi club and Freshmen Flunkies. Besides being a member of these organizations she works on the social committee and poster committees. Geraldine Hamilton is taking part in DSO activities is also a 4H club member. Katie Hamilton is the chairman of the social committee

Students Now Making School Diet Analysis

A study of the diet of the Demonstration school lunch room is being made by students in Home Economics 461, conducted with the dietian department of the college.

Samples of the diet as served to the high school students and the state normal school will be collected on several different days. They are now in the process of being dried and prepared for analysis.

While the exact analysis will consume a major portion of the semester's work, preliminary calculations indicate that children with recommended daily allowances, it was found, are consuming approximately 1/3 of the calories and calcium; 2/3 of the protein, 1/2 of the vitamin A and riboflavin and 1/3 of the vitamine C desirable in the entire day's diet of these students.

Students engaged in this study are Margaret Dugger, Norma Falcon, Josephine Maniace, Rose Messina, Carmen Vanguey and Sibyl Weal. It is under the direction of Miss Edna Mae McIntosh, Miss Marie Canteen of the dietetic department is in charge of the

First Inter-American Majors Graduating In June May Expect Broad Opportunities

Positions in Rio, colorful Mexico City or in the State Department may await students graduating this year, for the first time at Florida State College Inter-American majors will graduate in June. One of the newest majors at FSC, the Inter-American major is being offered for the third year, is designed to provide information essential for an understanding of the American nations.

Broad opportunities will be open to graduates in this field after the war' stated Dr Arthur Palmer, head of department of languages. whose department is one of the six constituting this major. The others are the departments of history, political science, geography, sociology, and economics.

Requirements are set to the College Announces Plan for Veterans

Idea Based on Four Points Copied from Yale U

LIBERTY, Mo (I P)—A plan to save returning service men an entire year of their time in college has been announced by streamlining was announced here by President Walter Pope Binns of William Jewell.

This plan as developed by the well-known Missouri college is based on the idea adopted by Yale University for its education of war veterans. Briefly stated the committee has set up four categories:

1. Service men who have no college work but who have completed high school may enter as freshmen and who are capable of carrying college courses should complete their A B agrees in three years instead of the normal four.

2. Service men with one year of college work before they went to war should get their degrees in two years.

3. Service men with two years of college work before they went to war should get their degrees in one year.

4. The college will shorten or lengthen the time of these intensive courses for service men according to the character of the student he does.

By going to summer school, veterans under the plan will be able to reduce the time requirements of these categories. The first category, for instance, the men in the first year of the first category can get the relation M the natural and physical sciences, literature, perspective, social outlook, culture through literature, and linguistics, and a major in one of the sciences or directed reading course.

These courses will be given by a college education in the quickest possible time consistent with high standards, President Binns explained. Binns, Our plan provides a flexible curriculum for veterans under five broad fields with a minimal reading course in addition.

"As each returning service man is discharged he will be given a view of his maturity, training, experience, mental capacity, and ability. Then a course of study will be designed to meet his individual needs as well as his willingness to work."

Girls Wont Dates

Room after Northwestern University announced yesterday they were opening a date bureau to increase the attendance at the Prom a campus dance, Florida State females was heard. Finally this was dvstinguished. We've got a we've got coupons. Furnish the date and we'll furnish the Applicents must furnish full details about themselves. Girls be sure to give your height and weight.

The first bathhouse in America was built in 1716 at the entrance to Boston harbor.

Miss Dunn, New Faculty Member, Abroad As Second World War Begins in Europe

Miss Margaret Anita Dunn, newest addition to the faculty of the school of music, was in Europe when 1939 when the war in Europe began.

"The most powerful and unforgettable thing I had," said Miss Dunn, "was when I saw the war clouds sweeping over Germany to set the oldest, go out to dig trenches and spend hours brimming with excitement at the renowned statues in Hyde Park, London."

Miss Dunn was in London when the original hurricane hit our North Atlantic coast and she said that the repercussions in London were very destructive also.

Miss Dunn comes to F S C fresh from wide experience as a college music teacher in the middle west, including eight years at the Sunset Hill private school for girls in Kansas City, a year at Baker University in Baldwin, Kansas and a semester on the staff at Kansas University in Lawrence, Kansas.

Miss Dunn has received her bachelor's degree in piano from the University of Kansas, had said twenty-six hours of graduate work toward her Master's degree. She is a member of the junior, intermediate, and adult divisions of Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary music society, and of the Kansas Alumnae Club.

She has had concert experience —including a concert appearance in Boston's Jordan hall—and she spent one year in London as an accompanist to Gerald Moore, famous English musician, well known through his Victor recordings. In Boston she was assistant to Nancy Loring, pupil of Schnabel mannheim.

Miss Dunn may appear in a recital here later in the year.

Writing Experiment Continues Progress

Herndon Says Laboratory Is Being Well Equipped

The new laboratory experiment in freshmen composition which began this semester is making progress, stated Miss Sarah Herndon, head of the freshman English, and both American continents be a number of students are engaged in designing and arranging an Inca Museum here at Florida State College.

The collection of Peruvian relics which were presented to the last year by Mr and Mrs Lyman Victor Carter of the Canal Zone will be housed in the museum. Already 13 cases of relics have been sent to the college and according to Mr Snow, who is a personal friend of the donor, there are more cases which will come sometime in the future. The collection contains gold and silver coins, ornaments of beaten silver and gold, textiles, tapestries, pottery and weapons of various types which were in existence hundreds of years before the white people came to America.

Because of his special interest in sculpture he chose a particular interest in the small group of sculpture in silver and gold which are included in the collection. Little silver figures and "whistling jugs" which, through a peculiar arrangement of pressure, whistle when blown, are also included among the trinkets.

Mr Snow has also been assigned the task of writing a booklet on the museum and its exhibits as well as weapons

Mr Snow who is a graduate of Minneapolis School of Fine Arts Minneapolis Minnesota and has been employed in the capacity of curation for the government at the war, plans to make the museum a real service to the college —one that is alive and interesting to the student body as well and enjoy yourself." The museum he will design for the students and faculty will be the nature of an experiment, point to make the Inca museum will be Attacking a problem from the art aspect a group of students whose relics have been shown to the public only by special appointment this date

Modern Dance Teams To Compete Saturday

Members of the Odd and Even modern dance teams will compete against each other next Saturday night at 8 p m in the Auditorium of the Union.

"This is the first time that modern dance has been put on a competitive basis," Ruth Evans, Even leader stated, "and we're hoping that both the Odds and Evens out tonight to see the demonstration of modern dance as a performance will consist of two dances by the Odds and two by Evens: followed by the two teams combining to do techniques finished with the dance and concepts established by the judges.

Margie Elliott, Odd leader closed that the ten girls who made the Odd team are Ann Pallot, Betty Lou Gladys Lester, Ann Smith, Betty Donnally, Alice Tally, Oleta Booth, Harriet Kirk, Mary Lou Welch, Margaret Pruitt, and Margie Platt.

Those who made the Even team are Louise Bourland, Mary Lou Perry, Jimi Parrier, Jo Collins, Betty Jo McCollum, Betty Jo Hall, Marilyn Dewey, Lois Byrd, Dana Martin and Anne Widerquist

Residence Director Toking Vocotion

After several disappointments and changes of plans, Miss Elizabeth McCollum, dean of women, left February 20 on her annual vacation. She spent the month in Chicago, where she was met by Miss Ruth Strang of New York, who is dean of women at Michigan State Teachers' College. Miss McCollum was accompanied as far as Chicago by her sister-in-law, Mrs O McCollum, and two nephews.

The remainder of her vacation will be spent in Florida, in Neptune Beach before returning to FSC Wednesday.

Soldier Dance to Be Held Here Tomorrow

A formal soldier dance will be given tomorrow night from 8 to 11 p m. Approximately 400 Private General Classification in Georgia, Camp Gordon Johnston, Perry, and Dale Mabry will attend.

The swing band will play for the dance. During the intermission, Calista Hatcher, blues singer, and a trio made up of Mary Nell Booth, Jimi Parrier, and Ines Booth will entertain.

Chaperones for the occasion will be Dean and Mrs R L Eyman, Miss Cynthia Reeves, Dr and Mrs Hoffman, and Mr and Mrs M Sing.

Sidney Snow Plans Museum

Inca Relics to Be Placed In Informal Museum

Sidney Snow, artist who has sketched, drawn and sculptured in New Zealand, Australia, Hawaii and both American continents has a number of Inca relics engaged in designing and arranging an Inca Museum here at Florida State College.

The collection of Peruvian relics which were presented to by last year Mr and Mrs Lyman Victor Carter of the Canal Zone will be housed in the museum. Already 13 cases of relict have been sent to the college and according to Mr Snow, who is a personal friend of the donor, there are more cases which will come sometime in the future. The collection contains gold and silver coins, ornaments of beaten silver and gold, textiles, tapestries, pottery and weapons of various types which were in existence hundreds of years before the white people came to America.

Because of his special interest in sculpture he chose a particular interest in the small group of sculpture in silver and gold which are included in the collection. Little silver figures and "whistling jugs" which, through a peculiar arrangement of pressure, whistle when blown, are also included among the trinkets.

Mr Snow has also been assigned the task of writing a booklet on the museum and its exhibits as well as weapons

Mr Snow who is a graduate of Minneapolis School of Fine Arts Minneapolis Minnesota and has been employed in the capacity of curation for the government at the war, plans to make the museum a real service to the college —one that is alive and interesting to the student body as well and enjoy yourself." The museum he will design for the students and faculty will be the nature of an experiment, point to make the Inca museum will be Attacking a problem from the art aspect a group of students whose relics have been shown to the public only by special appointment this date

Modern Dance Teams To Compete Saturday

Members of the Odd and Even modern dance teams will compete against each other next Saturday night at 8 p m in the Auditorium of the Union.

"This is the first time that modern dance has been put on a competitive basis," Ruth Evans, Even leader stated, "and we're hoping that both the Odds and Evens out tonight to see the demonstration of modern dance as a performance will consist of two dances by the Odds and two by Evens: followed by the two teams combining to do techniques finished with the dance and concepts established by the judges.

Margie Elliott, Odd leader closed that the ten girls who made the Odd team are Ann Pallot, Betty Lou Gladys Lester, Ann Smith, Betty Donnally, Alice Tally, Oleta Booth, Harriet Kirk, Mary Lou Welch, Margaret Pruitt, and Margie Platt.

Those who made the Even team are Louise Bourland, Mary Lou Perry, Jimi Parrier, Jo Collins, Betty Jo McCollum, Betty Jo Hall, Marilyn Dewey, Lois Byrd, Dana Martin and Anne Widerquist

Residence Director Toking Vocotion

After several disappointments and changes of plans, Miss Elizabeth McCollum, dean of women, left February 20 on her annual vacation. She spent the month in Chicago, where she was met by Miss Ruth Strang of New York, who is dean of women at Michigan State Teachers' College. Miss McCollum was accompanied as far as Chicago by her sister-in-law, Mrs O McCollum, and two nephews.

The remainder of her vacation will be spent in Florida, in Neptune Beach before returning to FSC Wednesday.

Soldier Dance to Be Held Here Tomorrow

A formal soldier dance will be given tomorrow night from 8 to 11 p m. Approximately 400 Private General Classification in Georgia, Camp Gordon Johnston, Perry, and Dale Mabry will attend.

The swing band will play for the dance. During the intermission, Calista Hatcher, blues singer, and a trio made up of Mary Nell Booth, Jimi Parrier, and Ines Booth will entertain.

Chaperones for the occasion will be Dean and Mrs R L Eyman, Miss Cynthia Reeves, Dr and Mrs Hoffman, and Mr and Mrs M Sing.

Prom for Juniors and Seniors

The Florida Flambeau

New Officers For Everybody

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Z 106

VOL. XXXII, No. 19 — Tallahassee, Florida — MARCH 16, 1945

Honors Day Will Be Held Here Tuesday With Program For Faculty and Students

Dr G C White, Emory University President, Gives Address to Students With B Average In 45 Hours of Credit

Scholastic Honors Day for honor students will be held at Florida State College, Tuesday afternoon, and a formal program will be held in Westcott auditorium at 2:30 p m.

An academic procession, including all faculty members and hoonr students, wil take place at this time. Honor students are those who have established at least 45 hours of credit and who have maintained an average of B or above on these credits.

Honor transfer students must have established 30 hours of credits here and maintained a B average on these credits and also on their transfer credits. Dr. Venila L Shores is in charge of the procession.

Dr Goodrich C White, president of Emory University, will give the honors address at this occosion.

The invocation will be given by the Rev Claud M Haymes, minister of the Trinity Methodist church of Tallahassee. President Doak S Campbell will preside.

Mrs Ramona Beard will play the organ prelude and postlude. The processional will be the "Grand March From Tannhouser" by Wagner, and the recessional, "Marche Militaire" by Shubert.

Mr Frank Sykora, violoncellist, will play a cello selection on this program, accompanied by Miss Mary Caste Winslow.

Faculty members of the Scholastic Honors Day committee are Dr Elizabeth Andrews, Dr Ruth Connor, Dr Mark De Graff, Miss Gladys Koch, Dr Hazel Stevenson and Miss Myrtle E Dolbee, chairman.

A coffee is being planned for the honor students taking journalism by Miss Pearl Shepard, instructor of English and journalism and Mr Earl Vance, associate professor of English and journalism. The coffee is to be held Tuesday evening at Miss Shepard's home.

Dr C P Heinlein, professor of experimental, psychology, will entertain the honor students taking psychology at a tea given at his home Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock.

President Campbell has sent invitations to principals of several high schools, which have graduates among the honor students.

Miller to Present Vespers Program

The third in a series of pre-Easter Vespers will be presented Sunday afternoon at 4:30 p m in Westcott auditorium by Dr Robert D Miller, professor of philosophy and religion.

The program includes classical numbers, a group of well-known semi-classical selections, and the "First Sonia" for organ by Borowski. The program will be arranged as follows: "Prelude in D Minor" by J S Bach; "Andante E Flat Major" by J S Bach; "Afterlude in C Major" by J S Bach; "At Evening" by Buck; "Desespoir," by Quef; "Deep River" arranged by Gillette; "Nobody Knows the Trouble I See," arranged by Gillette, and the "First Sonata" for Organ by Borowski, which includes "Allegro ma no trappo" "Andante," and "Allegro con fucco."

Dr Miller also plays as organist in the Trinity Methodist church, aside from his many duties as professor of philosophy and religion here on campus. He has studied extensively with private tutors and also at the Zechwer-Hahn Philadelphia Musical Academy at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

The last in this series of pre-Easter Vespers will be given Palm Sunday March 25, 1945, at 4:30 p m in Westcott auditorium. Dale Mabry and 12 Tallahassee choirs will perform. Ramona Beard is the organist-director.

Council To Meet

The various heads of the 27 campus organizations will hold a meeting Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the clubroom of the Student Alumnae building. The topics for discussion are the election of new chairmen and plans for cooperation in future campus war work. All members are urged to be present.

Miller Opens YWCA Forum

Protestant Creeds Topic Of Religious Forum

The 275 Protestant religious sects of America were the subjects discussed by Dr Robert D Miller, associate professor of philosophy and religion, and a group of Florida State College students on Monday afternoon in the Student Alumnae building.

This forum was the first in a series to be sponsored by the worship committee of the Young Women's Christian Association. Margaret Clayton, chairman of this committee, stated that Rabbi Alfred Wolf, regional director of the American Congregntions of Hebrew Unions, will speak on Judaism next Monday afternoon at 5 in the Student Alumnae auditorium.

Dr Miller began his forum on Protestantism by discussing the general organization and doctrines of the increasing number of Protestant sects in America. He explained that all the churches were organized in one of three general patterns according to how they selected their minister. First was the Episcopal or bishopric type in which the bishop appoints a preacher to a congregation, second was the Presbyterian type which is similar to the Episcopal except that they elect their supreme officer for a limited time, while in the Episcopal type the bishop holds office for life, and third was the Congregational type in which the congregation appoints their own minister.

Dr Miller discussed the basic differences in church doctrines such as method of baptism, kind of holy communion, and the amount and type of liturgy used in the services.

After this general introduction the students were allowed to ask specific questions concerning the differences of the many Protestant doctrines. The differences between the northern and southern branches of the churches were explained and the technical differences between similar sects

Continued on Page Three

Personnel Office Sponsors Program

The Personnel Office of the college, headed by Dr Elizabeth Gordon Andrews, will present a special radio program Monday night at 9 o'clock from the college studoi.

Dr Andrews will be the speaker, and will outline for the radio audience the personnel services conducted on this campus by her office. She will also give interesting information about personnel work in general, its purposes and functions. "Methods and Aims of Personnel York" is her radio subject.

Students who heard Dr Andrews' recent address on "Personnel—a New Field for Women" will be interested in hearing this further exposition of the possibilities in the field. Dr Andrews has been in personnel work at FSC for more than 15 years.

Included on the personnel program will be a soprano solo by Paula Jean Teagarden of Tallahassee, a student of Mrs Mildred Harter Davis in the school of music. Paula Jeanne will be accompanied at the piano by Betsy Martin of Gainesville, also a school of music student.

Dance Contest

Students planning to enter the Dance contest in the AAUW Creative Arts program are requested to let Miss Margaret Clements know by March 26. The judging of the dances will be held later that week.

Senior Hall

All students who will have senior ranking by September will be eligible to live in Senior Hall according to Miss Glivia N Dorman, chairman of College Council. In order to secure rooms all students who do not at present have senior ranking but who expect to attain it by the end of Summer School should apply to Miss McCollum, Director of Residence, for rooms adjoining those which are designated as Senior Hall

Phi Kappa Phi Adds Members

27 Seniors Are Honored; Diffenbaugh Asked

Phi Kappa Phi, the national scholastic senior honorary society which recognizes outstanding scholarship in all academic fields has chosen 27 new student and one honorary member.

The new student members are: Betty Beall, Dorothy Boardman, Sarah Callison, Betty Chazel, Mary Elizabeth Cotton, Thelma Cutrer, Grace Earnest, Helen Fletcher, Mary Florence Fox, Anne Gaines, Priscilla Gillette, Frances Hines, Edna Jensen, Dorothy Lancaster, Betty D Lewis, Minna McCarthy, Mary McRory, Mary Lucy Mendenhall, Janet Pancoast, Mary Pinholster, Anne Ritter, Isabel Rogers, Louise Simpson, Dorothy Tobias, Alleze Trieste, Elizabeth Troop and Jean Vaugham.

Dr Guy L Diffenbaugh, Dean of the School of Arts and Science, was elected to honorary membership in the society.

The Florida State College chap-

Continued on Page Three

Student Campaigns Presented Tuesday

Major Office Candidates Speak In Convocation

The campus speeches of candidates for major offices were heard in convocation Tuesday, following the introduction of candidates for minor offices.

In the "battle of words" for president of College Government Association, Bea Weaver gave her "Dreams for Florida State College," and Ann Carolyn Allison discussed her aims for that office.

Unopposed as candidate for chairman of judiciary, Catherine Barrs gave an outline of that officer's duties and responsibilities.

Next came three-minute speeches by the six freshman advisor candidates: Betty Bell, Etta Fraser, Kit Land, Irene Mendoza, Audrey Perry and Mildred Turner. Each of them presented her ideas for an improved freshman orientation as extensively carried out for second, third, and fourth quarter entrees as for those students entering school in the fall.

As Flambeau editor candidates, Judy Pepper and Janet Rogers promised a continuance of unbiased news, guest editorials, and student opinion columns.

Winifred Meldrim spoke of her ambitions for the Distaff, being unopposed in the race for editor, and Margaret Baugh, also a lone candidate, gave a resume of her experiences on the Flastacowo staff and of her candidacy for editor.

Announcements were made concerning College Honors day on Tuesday and compulsory convocation on Thursday night.

Seniors Mournfully Look Back Over Past Years and Regret Lost Opportunities

Questioning of several Florida State College for Women seniors regarding their regrets and advice to freshmen presents an interesting picture.

Tedy Parker says she regrets letting so many opportunities slip by to attend Artist Series programs and lectures on campus. She regrets that so many freshmen think she has so much to do that she doesn't have time to play with them. She wishes she had more time to play golf and swim and just laze around.

"Although I'd do it pretty much the same if I had it to do over again. I don't even regret so much being Mortified instead of Mortar Board," said Tedy.

Catherine Barnes regrets that she didn't participate in more extra-curricula activities. She wishes she had read more books, spent more time in the Browsing Room, and gone more often to camp. "I also wish I'd received more mail," she concluded.

Mary Florence Fox rues the fact that "I didn't get started on what I wanted to do in my freshman year." She also wishes she had made a greater effort to meet people and to see more of Tallahassee.

"I think freshmen should be careful not to put too much of their time in sororities, but to do other things also," said Renee Brown.

Sylvia Ogden regrets not choosing her courses more wisely. She advises freshmen to participate in as many extra-curricular activities as possible without neglecting their class work.

Pete Pamhle is concerned that freshmen don't have the idea of the honor code instilled in them early or well enough. She cautions freshmen that participa-

Continued on Page Three

Viola Player Appears Here

Primrose Features Works Of Arthur Benjamin

William Primrose, world famous violist, performed last Wednesday night at the Florida State College auditorium.

Komm, Susser Tod (Come, Sweet Dawn), which was the first number on the program, was arranged for the viola by Tertis. Featured on the program were works of the modern composer, Arthur Benjamin. Mr Benjamin is originally from Australia, although he now lives in Vancouver, B C. Benjamin's compositions presented by Primrose were the Elegy Waltz, Toccata, Concerto on Themes of Cimarosa, and two Jamaican folk songs, Matty Rag and the Rumba. The Rumba was so well received that Mr Primrose had to repeat it.

Other selections on the program were Sonata in E flat, Op 120, No 2, by Brahms; Soft strains of music drifting, also by Brahms; Litany by Schubert, and Caprice No 24, by Paganini.

The instrument played by Mr Primrose is an Amaati, made in 1593. There are only four others of the same make in existence today: two are in the United States and two are in England.

Mr Primrose was born in Glasgow, Scotland. He came to this country in 1930 to play with the London String Quartet. He toured with the quartet for five years and in 1937 he joined the NBC Symphony Orchestra to become

Continued on Page Three

Changes Approved For Quarter System

Dr M W Carothers, registrar of Florida State College, announced that the control committee has already aproved all changes to be made for the quarter system next year.

Dr Carothers said that the schedule committee has started its work to see whether there will be any serious difficulty in regard to room assignments. Previously rooms occupied by classes on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday could be used by other classes on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday. As the classes will be meeting more frequently now, it will not be possible to use the present arrangement.

Part of the manuscript for the new catalogue has already gone to press.

Anne Carolyn Allison was elected president of CGA in the school election held last Tuesday.

Head of State Stresses Needs

Gov Caldwell Proposes Changes for Florida

Needed action for preservation of state resources, for state advertising, for improvement of public schools, and for more local government were discussed by Governor Millard E Caldwell Monday night, in his talk before the FSCW chapter of the American Association of University Women. His topic was "Florida's Economic Problems."

The Governor first explained several plans he believes should be presented to the State Legislature. First is the conservation of fresh water. The richest water resource in the world is in the Everglades and is being abused by unwise drainage, he told the audience. He suggested that a water control authority be established and given the right to change local decisions, if necessary. He added that there is also an acute problem of erosion, which must be controlled, or Florida will be ruined as a tourist state. A committee of 17 citizens of the state have been appointed to study this problem.

"A need for a system of laws to control oil exploitation and conservation exists," said Governor Calwwell. Private industries are spending millions of dollars drill-

Continued on Page Three

Stirling to Speak At Lenten Forum

Rev James Stirling of the University of Florida will speak on "St Paul and the Church" at the regular Lenten Forum to be held at Ruge Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. Reverend Stirling is the Episcopal student chaplain at the University at Gainesville.

Rev Alvin Bullen, local Episcopal student chaplain, has announced that the regular Lent vespers will be held at Ruge Hall Sunday night at 7:30. Vespers during Lent will have as their general theme, The Christain Doctrine of God, and the service this Sunday night will concern God and Economies. Rev Bullen will be in charge of this program.

Drive Tonight In Dormitories

Senior Hall Will Collect Red Cross Funds

Tonight there will be a dormitory drive for the National Red Cross War Fund, sponsored by Senior Hall. Representatives will call at the students' rooms to take contributions.

Students are asked to set aside their contributions and be ready to give them to the Senior Hall girls when they call. Membership cards will be given if the contribution is one dollar or more.

According to the last quotation $571.18 has been contributed by the students, and on Tuesday afternoon $1,934 76 had been collected from the faculty. Mr Henry F Becker, professor of geography, who is collecting the funds contributed by the faculty said that the faculty and staff have done much better up to date than they did last year. He also stated that the students on the whole were not contributing as they ought to. Since they come in close contact with the war through their relatives and friends, it is to be expected that they would realize the necessity of such a drive and contribute free-

Continued on Page Four

FSCW Band Presents Spring Performance

Color Guard Members Carry State, College Flags

The FSCW band, under the direction of Mr Frank Sykora, presented its second annual spring concert last Friday evening, in Westcott Auditorium.

The band, in traditional colors of garnet and gold, began their performance with the presentation of colors by the band's six-member color guard under the direction of drum majorette Ann Richardson. The flag of the State of Florida and the newly adopted garnet and gold FSC flag were brought to the stage. Following the program, persistent applause from the audience brought Mr Sykora back to the stage for several curtain calls, and in reply to requests from the audience, he led the band in playing again the Caribbean Fantasy to close the show.

Miss Jean Hitchcolk Scrogin, guest conductor, who is the conductor of the Florida High School band, led the band in Deep Purple, by DeRose.

On the program, which inclnded the music of many nations, were: The Star Spangled Banner, Father of Victory, French Military March, Finlandia, Hungarian Dances, In a Chinese Temple Garden, Excerpts from the Opera Carmen, and the Caribbean Fantasy based in intricate Latin American rhythms.

Allison Wins Over Weaver In Wednesday's Election; Elect Minor Officers Today

Special Convocation Called Last Night for Primary; Minor Candidates Are Introduced As Preview for Today's Voting

In the final election of major College Government Association officers last Wednesday in lower Westcott, the student body chose Ann Carolyn Allison president of CGA for the coming year with 689 votes over her opponent, Bea Weaver, who had 525 votes. A special convocation was held last night to introduce the candidates for minor offices and to hold the primary election. Finals for these officers will be today, and everyone is urged to vote.

Sarah Lewis was elected first vice-president with 1100 votes. Jean Cole will be second vice-president, receiving 769 votes: her opponent, Rosetta Carver, had 375 Rohin Hill was elected third vice-president in the primaries.

Jimmie Rogers will hold the position of secretary, having received 46 more votes than Dolia Santos. Madelyn King was elected treasurer over Ruth Dismore with a total of 628 votes.

Catherine Barrs will be chairman of Judiciary. Her votes totaled 1629. She is junior representative to Judiciary this year.

Next year's chairman of the Residence Halls Committee is Peggy Lou Thomas, having won over Gladys Lester by 90 votes. Betty Alday running against Stella Barrineau, was elected chairman of the Off Campus Committee, with 692 votes.

Audrey Perry will hold the position of Freshman Advisor. She had 786 votes to the 415 of her opponent, Irene Mendoza.

President of the Women's Athletic Association for the coming year will be Jo Guthrie, who received 794 votes to Sarah Bennett's 425.

Editors for the student publications elected at the same time were: Judy Pepper, editor of the Flambeau, with a margin of 114 votes over Janet Rogers; Margaret Baugh, editor of the Flastacowo, with 1091 votes; and Winifred Meldrim, editor of the Distaff, with 1118 votes.

Primaries were held last night for candidates to minor officers. Irene Mendoza was elected as house president of Landis. Final nominees for Senior Representative to Judiciary are: Ruth Dismore, Jean Koesy, Dot Jean Glass and Gladys Lester. Nominees for junior representative to Judiciary are: Rosetta Carver, Jean Ann Graham, Hariet Kirk, Teresa (Sis) Myers, Betty Schwartz and Betsy Wilson.

Final nominees for sophomore representative to Judiciary are: Babs McCarthy, Ida Lee Rents, Dalia Santos and Irma Lee Shepherd.

Honorary Taps Seventeen

14 Seniors, One Junior, Two Honoraries Invited

The Alpha of Florida chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa Society announced Tuesday the election of fourteen seniors, one junior, one alumna, and one honorary to membership.

The seniors elected were Betty Ruth Beall, Dorothy Boardman, Sarah R Callison, Mary Florence Fox, Priscilla Gillette, Frances Hines, Edna Eloise Jensen, Mary O McRory, Mary Lucy Mendenhall, Janet C Pancoast, Mary Nell Pinholster, Isabel Rogers, Louise S Simpson, and Aliese Trieste.

Theo Vera Brown was the junior elected. This honor seldom falls to a junior and in the present senior class there is one girl.

Continued on Page Four

Thomas L Thomas To Appear Friday

Civic Music Presents Noted Baritone in Concert

Thomas L Thomas, baritone, will give a recital at the Leon High School Auditorium tonight at 8:15 p m under auspices of the Tallahassee Civic Music association. Although the performance will be open to members only, all servicemen will be guests of the association.

Thomas sings for the "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round" broadcast and appears over radio programs. He is now on a concert tour which includes over thirty-five appearances throughout the United States and Canada.

Born in South Wales, Thomas was encouraged to take an interest in music by his father and appeared in children's cantatas at local churches. When he was nine, the Thomas family came to the United States and settled in Scranton where the boy continued with his singing. Thomas participated in amateur musical performances throughout high school.

Although Thomas studied mechanical engineering and draftsmanship after finishing high school, his chief interest continued to be in singing. Coming to New York to continue his vocal lessons, he soon began singing in various churches and for commercial radio programs. He made his debut at the Metropolitan Opera house in 1937. Since that time, Thomas has appeared in recitals and concerts in all parts of the United States and Canada and has sung with the New York Philharmonic and other symphony orchestras.

Students To Attend Centennial Program

Girls of Florida State College are urged to attend the Florida Centennial program which will be held in the Leon High school auditorium next Sunday at 3 p m.

Governor Millard F Caldwell will speak on Florida's Future, and Senator Claude Pepper will tell about Florida's Past and Present.

This program is planned to commemorate Florida's century of statehood since March 15, 1845. On March 3, 1945, President Tyler signed the statehood document in Washington, but it was not until June, 1845, that William D Moseley was inaugurated governor to succeed John Branch, last of the territorial governors. Moseley Collins, great grandson of Florida's first state governor, will read a selection from William D Moseley's inaugural address.

The Tallahassee Historical Society has also arranged for various school groups to sing patriotic southern and national songs. Girls of FSC's Glee Club will sing "Dixie."

Caldwell Talks From FSCW Radio Studio

Governor Millard F Caldwell gave his monthly report to the state from the Florida State College radio studio on a Florida Mutual hook-up at 10:15 Monday night. This was the first statewide broadcast from the studio, which is located on the fourth floor of the Student Alumnae building and operates through WTAL by remote control.

Mr Frank Sykora, associate professor of 'cello and director of the FSC band, accompanied by Miss Mary Esther Winslow, assistant professor of piano, was the featured musician on the regular Thursday night radio program. He played one of his own compositions, Reverie, a selection never before presented in Tallahassee; Ravel's Pierce en form de Hahanera; and Evening by Moniushko.

Mrs Jean Hitchcock Scrogin, Florida State College alumna, in charge of the demonstration school band, will direct a program of tonette music presented by the third, fourth and fifth grades of the demonstration school this afternoon at 3 o'clock through the facilities of the college radio studio. The program, which will take place in the Westcott auditorium, will be a presentation of the latest method of introducing the study of instrument music to children.

Auction Scheduled

All lost and found articles are to be auctioned on March 26 at 7:30 p m at a general sale to be held in the auditorium of the Student Alumnae building

Primrose Prefers 100-Year-Old Viola Owned By Father To Violin as His Particular Medium of Art Expression

By JEAN DOUGLAS

William Primrose, considered to be the world's greatest violist by musical authorities who was featured great artist on Wednesday night's Artist Series program, finds that many people have a mistaken idea about the viola. In an informal interview, he remarked that it was commonly believed that one who played a violin well automatically played any other stringed instrument equally as well. "This, however, is not true," he said. "I prefer the viola to the violin, just as in art, some artists prefer etching to dry point, or oils to water color. The viola is my particular medium of expression."

When asked about his habit of closing his eyes while playing, he recalled a young girl who once approached him and asked for his autograph. She asked him, incidentally, if playing the viola made him sleepy, and answered his questioning "Why?" with the remark that he always closed his eyes on the platform. Her little brother, who was with her, thereupon spoke up and said, "Gh, don't be dumb! He closes his eyes so he won't see the audience. It scares him!"

He spoke of his viola, a superb instrument once owned by his father. It was constructed in 1593, more than 100 years before the time of Stradivarius. Many violas were made during this time, but very few were made after Stradivarius. There are not many of these now in existence, most of them having been destroyed or lost since then. It was then, and still is in Europe, called a "tenor" rather than a viola.

It has only recently been popularized as a solo instrument, having been brought out of almost complete oblivion about 20 years ago in England by Lionel Turtis, a good friend of Mr Primrose'. He has always had great difficulty in finding music for his programs. Though several of the great composers of Europe, Beethoven, Paganini, and Rolla among them, played the viola, none wrote anything of importance for the viola. Many of his concert-pieces have been written by him by contemporary composers, one of whom, Arthur Benjamin, was featured on Wednesday night's program.

He has played before many college audiences, be said, and has enjoyed them all. He finds the campuses very beautiful. He especially admired the huge clump of azaleas on the north side of the Westcott building, mentioning the many colors that blend so beautifully. He likes Florida very much, though he finds it rather warm.

His accompanist, Gui Mombarts, is Belgian by nationality, and was once pianist in the Belgian Piano Quartet. He made his first visit to this country when he went on a tour of the United States with the quartet just as the European war hroke out. When Belgium was invaded he was called to England to join the Belgian army, and two other members of the quartet went directly back to Belgium. When he arrived in England he was no longer needed for the army, and since the quartet was scattered, he returned to the United States. Here, he joined with another violist and began giving concerts, mostly for army camps, naval bases, and in support of the Belgian War Relief. Mr Primrose found him in Colorado Springs, and, impressed by his technique, signed him as his accompanist

From Florida, Mr Primrose will

Continued on Page Three

Spirit of the Week

Ah — maybe this will get me a date for the Prom!

● PLANS FOR PEACE

A heartening evidence that the statsmen of the United Nations are giving much time and careful preparation to the peace plans following this war, that the mistake of the last war of leaving all considerations until the last shot is fired will not be repeated, is found in the numerous confereneces that are being held discussing the issues as they present themselves.

The recent Inter-American conference held at Mexico City, at which Mexico's Padilla presided, brought to light many issues, some of which were decided, some of which will be presented for decision at the San Francisco Security Conference to be held in the near future.

Leaders of the United Nations have been confering and and collaborating in deciding immediate questions affecting war strategy and policy all during the course of the war, paving the way for closer and franker cooperation in determining the peace plans to follow the strife and in working together to maintain world peace in the post-war world.

Not only as the action of the nations' leaders encouraging, hut also commendahle is the attitude of the citizens of these countries, those who have ohtained a global consciousness in demanding that the isolationist view be abandoned and that their countries participate in world co-operation to plan and maintain peace in the post-war world.

The young people of the world are the ones who will be responsible for seeing that this peace will be kept, that minor difficulties arising will receive prompt attention from the world family of nations. The outcome of these conferences will soon be history. While history is still in the making, students should do all in their power to be intelligently informed on the issues now up for decision, so that in the future, they may be able to protect more wisely what world statesmen are now securing for their generation, and, it is hoped, for generations to follow.

● SWAN SONG

It seems fitting, that the topic of my last editorial as editorial as editro of the Flambeau, should concern what has been one of my main hopes for the future of FSC's student body. That hope is that as soon as possihle our student body should ohtain and assume powers over its own social actoins —that the College Government Association should become a Student Government Association, with real instead of superficial control over student legislation and courts.

There are three questions which logically can be asked about installation of student government at this college. They are (1) Is student government more advantageous than the present joint student-administraiton government? (2) Can our present student body be trusted with powers over its own affairs? (3) How can the transition from CGA to student government powers be accomplished?

If we believe in the traditions of a democratic country, then we believe in government in which the people are in control over their own action via elected representatives. W believe that in exercising power over our own actions we gain in resource and maturity.

Why should not democratic ideas be applied to college students, who are said to be training for democratic citizenship? Democracy cannot be learned from books, hut from action, from incorporating its ideas into our own daily lives. If we are not allowed to govern ourselves, while in final training for citizenship, when are we to acquire suddenly the needed practice—when do we get our "field work" and laboratory practice? We cannot become democratic without practice in democracy, any more than we can become responsihle without being given responsihility. If college is preparation for life, we wil go into life unprepared if we do not govern ourselves here.

Student government also has the practical advantage of relieving faculty and administration of many hours of passing official judgment on our decisions. Student government may also relieve students of the hurden of complying with many rules made hy ahle hut occasionally misguided people who do not themselves have to live under their rules.

The second quesion deals with the ahility of students to handle a government of their own efifciently and responsibly. Experiences in other colleges would give the question an emphatic answer of "yes!" We have only to look to the University of Flnrida to see a government hy students, delegated almost total power, which functions democratically and wlel. There is little scientific evidence to show that women are of necessity less capahle of self-government than men. We grant that htis is a women's college in the conserative South—hut experience also shows that student officers tend toward conservative action. We do not anticipate an unregulated social group here, under student government . . . we do anticipate power lodged in student hands for making and carrying out these rules.

The transition fro CGA to a student government need not be a difficult nor even lengthy process.:

First of all, the student body must want student government, and realize that with increased powers will come increased maturity, and opportunity to live in an atmosphere more like that of the "great outside." We believe that there is a latent desire on the part of students for more control over their own actions, and that this desire only needs leadership and channeling.

Second, we can achieve student government hy a simple revision of our present CGA constitution. This present document was adopted several years ago with the assurance that greater student power would follow soon. It has not followed, to any fundamental extent.

To change our constitution to a more democratic one, the reserve powers of the administration (page 00 of the Gold Book) must be defined, with the extent and meaning of the administration's power to regulate "health and safety" completely outlined. The government of the students should not need to have Senate legislation and Judiciary decisions approved by any faculty body. Such student government should welcome advice from the often more experienced college officials, hut should be free not to accept advice if students honestly feel their opinions are more applicahle.

Rules concerning student social conduct should come only from a student legislative body, and all such rules should have an adequate constitutional background.

We believe that the change to Student Government is the only solution to current controversial student issues. We feel that student?made rules will aid the spread of the Honor Code. And, most of all, we feel that democratic student governmeot wil ltrain us for het life awaiting us in a democracy.

● A FREE COLLEGE PRESS?

Since the first amendment to the Constitution of the United States guarantees the right of a free press to the people of this country, the concept of freedom of the press is given lip-service by the citizens of our democratic society. In practice, however, freedom of press has been one of the most widely debated issues of today or yesterday.

If freedom of the press is to be considered as the right of the citizens of a democracy, it would be logical to assert that this concept would cover freedom for every newspaper, including the newspapers of colleges and universities. Although the college press is not organized on the same financial basis as are the great commercial newspapers of today, basically it is the people and the students who support any college or university who pay for the college newspaper. paper.

The Flambeau is puhlished at Florida State College with funds provided largely hy the students. A total of $2,400 is allotted from student activity fees to pay for two-thirds of the expenses of the paper. The other third, comes from $1,000 for local and national advertising plus approximately $10 for subscriptions.

Perhaps the most controversial issue in regard to the policies of a college newspaper is the question of who or what group shall determine the editorial policy of the paper. Soliciting the advertisers for their views regarding the editorial policy of any college paper [illegible] be recognized as showing any semhlance of freedom of the press hy any person concerned with this question.

Since it is the students of FSC who give two-thirds of the financial support to The Flambeau, it would seem that they would be the ones to determine its policy. However, because it is obviously impossible for the editorial staff to discover majority student opinion on any issue before writing about that question, the students elect an editor to use her own discretion in presenting views on campus, national and international issues. The elected editor appoints her staff from those whom she considers competent to puhlish a college newspaper.

Although students do not direct the editor in writing editorials, they have opportuntiy to express their ideas on any suhject through the letters to the editor, through the student opinion column, "The Students Speak," and through guest editorials. The definition of the various functions of any newspaper, is that the news shall be unhiased, and the editorials shall reflect the opinions of the editorial writers.

But the right of some college editors and their staffs to express thier views on various questions is, unfortunately, not always upheld hy college authorities. Only last month the editor of the Flat Hat, student puhlication of William and Mary College, was threatened with expulsion and the newspaper was suspended because of an editorial advocating future equality of the white and hlack races. Although the views of the student editor were unpopular, it [illegible] that the ideal of freedom of the press would give her the right to express them. The true meaning of the Bill of Rights is not the expression of majority opinion or the cautious ideas still intact after the hlue pencil has done its work, hut the right of an editor, whether of a college or of a commercial newspaper, to express his considered views on any prohlem.

At Louisiania State University during the administration of Huey Long, the university president was replaced hy Long because the president refused to reinstate the undergraduate author of a story dealing with a fictitious visit hy a Baton Rouge telegrapher to a professor's wife while the professor was away. The story was puhlished in a student comic miscellany, The Whangdoddle, and the author was promptly expelled. "Such was freedom of the college press under the late Huey Pierce Long," said Time magazine.

Other colleges and universities have either upheld or violated freedom of the college press from time to time. But if we as citizens of a democratic country, desire to support the institutions and ideals of that country, then freedom of the college press to print the truth, to give information about controversial suhjects, no matter how critical or unpopular, must not be ahridged.

● A SMALL PRICE

In a world of wounded and dying men, men drawn from our own communities and homes, we realize how much is being suffered and done for us. There is being little asked in return. To put its drive over the top the American Red Cross needs $200,000,000. This is 75 cents apiece of painless giving. Seventy-five cents is a small price.

With our contrihutions as its support, the Red Cross offers to our men a relieving balm and comfort to their misery. There are 4,500 Red Cross girls over-seas doing all they can to ease the life of the combat soldier. Hot coffee and doughnuts mean a lot to men just out of foxholes. Cigarettes, toothhrushes, soap, phonographs, games, and the sight fo an American girl furnish a link with home. There are Red Cross girls in hospitals near the line of battle, hinding their wounds, comforting them, paying them attention. But the work of these girls is not the only vital service carried out hy the Red Cross.

It is a life-line between family and foxhole. It helps solve family prohlems when distance makes the soldier helpless. Its collection of plasma and whole hlood donations has saved countless lives.

When we were ohliged to protest through the International Red Cross because captured Americans in Germany were being fed so badly; we were told hy the Germans to feed them ourselves. The American Red Cross had to establish a costly and complex system of sending weekly food packages for American prisoners of war, and they did it. The total prisoner of war packages shipped and packed hy the Red Cross Volunteers in this war would fill a train 18 miles long, or about 36 trains of average length.

Since Pearl Harbor, Junior Red Cross has produced 25 million servicemen's comfort and recreation articles—ping-pong tahles, game boards, lap boards, canes, and slippers—for camps and hospitals over-seas. They are channeled through Red Cross and hospital councils to meet military requests.

Since July 1, 1941, Red Cross volunteer nurse's aides have served 21,814.210 hours or the equivalent of about 2,490 years.

---

And we are asked only 75 cents apiece! The Red Cross deserves our support and needs it.

COLLEGE COMMENTS

Here's your weekly round-up of news from other colleges, gals . . . a synopsis of what's new on other campuses, what they are doing for fun, for work, and for the war effort, and fragments of unusual activities.

Girls in the dormitory at Radcliffe College keep their housemates well informed as to how they are on dates by using different colored inks in registering the time they sign in. The code is: Green—just a nice time; Brown—thoroughly routine; Yellow—another flop; Pink—on the high intellectual plane; Red—perfectly swell; Purple—too, too divine!!

"Does your cigarette taste different lately? Whether it does or not, you had better check up on who you got it from." These words appeared in the editorial column of last week's Los Angeles Collegian in big, bold print. The article went on to explain that last week over 20 boys and girls in public schools there had been discovered with marijuana "weeds" in their possession. Now "no-smoking" signs are hanging all over the campus of the Los Angeles City College. The editorial, in warning the students, said, "With the cigarette shortage, 'bumming fags' has become a custom and the danger of dope being slipped in becomes more acute. Many outside adults and juveniles wander in and out of our campus and fountain at will and could easily 'palm off' marijuana in place of some innocent popular brand."

Recently at the University of Vermont, the students held their annual Kake Walk, one of their No. 1 traditions for the past 50 years. The "walking fo' de kake" angle was only one of the many clever features of the event, which incidentally was broadcast overseas to thousands of their alumnae who haven't forgotten the Kake Walk trills . . . the crowning of the king and queen, after weeks of "politickking" campaigns launched by aspirants to the throne and their backers . . . the gaily dressed pickanninies, called "Cotton Babes", who serve as ushers . . . the alumni banquet . . . the skits presented by rival Greek-letter organizations . . . the Masquerade Ball on the evening before the Kake Walk . . . etc. Sounds like quite a tradition, doesn't it?

Mortar Board members of the University of Utah campus have come up with something new in the way of an etiquette book. This little guide to campus customs, which is entitled "To Do or Not To Do," is being sold competitively by pledges of sororities represented on campus.

Tennis champs are always in demand around college campuses. Alice Marble, the only woman tennis player to win six major championships, spoke to the Student Assembly at the University of Tennessee several weeks ago on "The Will to Win."

And at the Los Angeles City College, Pauline Betz, queen of the U S tennis courts, played an exhibition game with Mary Arnold, fifth on the women's tennis ladder, to aid the sale of war bonds and stamps. Admission for the game, which was sponsored by WAA, was only through the purchase of bonds or stamps, and purchasers of bonds were rewarded by an invitation to sit on the players' bench during the game.

Agnes-Scott girls recently had the opportunity to hear Drew Pearson, popular columnist and commentator, analyze the U S foreign relations for them. He also discussed the peace problems which this nation must be prepared to face.

The University of Wisconsin is certainly going out en masse to back the attack by buying more war bonds. Last week war stamp sales soared to an all-time high with a total of $9,554 50 collected, the highest amount ever sold during a oon-drive week. In addition to this, the students are generously contributing to a War Memorial Fund. This fund, honoring those who are endangering and sacrificing their lives in shaping the future, will be held in trust by the Board of Regents until after the war, at which time a building commemorating the Wisconsin fighting men will be built.

Just in the way of a round-up: The University of Vermont also starts into the quarter system at the beginning of the next school years . . . At the University of Wisconsin they have a "Plaid Shirt Week". How 'bout that? . . . It would be nice to have an alumnae like Alexis Smith return to the campus for a visit, wouldn't it? That is what happened at the City College in Los Angeles recently . . . Seems like that school is just full of interesting oews. Recently at their "Howdy Hop," one of their informal ice-breakers, they crowned a King and Queen of Smiles . . . Last week a basketball game between faculty members and upperclassmen was staged at the Texas State College for Women. The score was 75-13 in favor of —well, we'll let you guess! . . . Also on the TSCW campus, a measles epidemic is raging. According to an editorial in their campus newspaper, "The Lass-O" "one of the latest 'must haves' on the campus is that fascinating malady that sprinkles a generous amount of those fashionable little red spots over the body."

In This Our Time

By VIRGINIA AILSTOCK

The capture of the Ludendorf rail bridge at Ramagen has made the most important news of this past week. This action has enabled 60,000 allied troops to pour into the Rhineland.

The capture of the bridge is also significant in that it illustates the lack of German ingenuity and the ability of coolheaded American infantry men to take the desired course of action at the proper time. Fifteen minutes before the German soldiers had been scheduled to blow the bridge, American soldiers reached that sector. Two minor explosions were set off, but the Germans were making no further move until the time designated in their official orders. The Americans had no specific orders about capturing the bridge, but a wiry sergeant saw the opportuoity and made use of it. In ten minutes the course of the European battle was changed.

Lt Gen Courtney H Hodges' First Army has now advanced for a distance of five miles beyond the Rhine with an offensive which extends ten miles along the bank of the river. Two pontoon bridges have been set up to supplement the rail bridge. Crossing by means of these, the Allies have already overrun 23 towns. The U S Ninth tactical air force has aided oy maintaining air mastery over the bridges.

Lt Gen George S Patton's Third Army has overrun another 24 towns in an assault on the Moselle river line guarding the rich industrial Saar basin.

Patch's Seventh Army recently took Hagueneau in the southern Saar after a period of little important action. Simpson's Ninth Army has been shelling the arsenal at Krupp near Essen in the Ruhr valley.

On the Eastern front Kuestrin, key fortress city 33 miles northeast of Berlin, has fallen to the Red Army. This was the hinge for Nazi central Oder river line defenses. The Russians are now merging their crossings of the Odor south of Kuestin into one broad front.

A glance at the battle of the Pacific shows American forces in possession of the important airdrome at Zamboanga.

Fiften square miles of Tokyo were destroyed shortly after midnight last Friday when 300 B29s struck the Japanese capital. B29s also blasted the city of Nagoya an important aircraft building center. Meanwhile, Superfortresses were lashing Japan's base at Singapore.

The battle of Iwo Jima is nearing its bloody end with all remaining Jap troops backed into a narrowing sector on the north coast.

A three-day conference in China took place this past week when Lord Louis Montbatten conferred with Chinese and American military leaders in Chungking. Montbatten is attempting to coordinate his Southeast Asia operations with those in the China theatre.

Here at home it has been announced that from now on all men drafted between the ages of 18 and 20 will be inducted into the army while those between the ages of 21 and 30 will go to the oavy. This does not apply to radio technicians and airmen who will be sent where needed.

Further action of the United Nations now awaits the conference scheduled to be held in San Francisco on April 25. In regard to Argeotina Senator Tom Connally, Chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, stated that the resolutions adopted at Mexico City leave Argeotina free to subscribe to the Act of Chapultepec if she wishes, whereupon she would be restored to "full partnership and brotherhood."

The Students Speak . . .

When asked this week for opinions about social activities on campus, the majority of students agreed that there were enough things to do in which girls participated, but the ways of meeting men and entertaining dates could be improved. The following girls have stated what they think about social activities at FSC:

I think the social activities on campus are very full and well-rounded when you consider the oumber of girls enrolled in school. The college is doing a grand job. The only thing we could ask for is a dance where we take the feminine role.

Virginia Black
Sophomore

Social activities in general should be more varied and include larger groups. Our social activities here at school should better prepare us for future activities.

Judy Burnett
Junior

I think that what we need in the way of social activities is a place like the Sweet Shop or the Spic where we would be allowed to dance. As it is the only place we can dance oow is the "Alum," and we get tired of going there night after night.

Marjo Dukes
Sophomore

There seem to be enough of the various types of social activities, but the main problem seems to be that the students are expected to go to the social functions every time there is one. We just don't have enough time to attend the affairs and study too.

Cleona Asher
Freshman

I think the social activities could be greatly improved.

Margaret Fridy
Senior

I think social activities on campus are pretty well organized. There just aren't enough of them. With 2500 students in the college something further could be done for our entertainment that would make it possible for more than a few at a time to have a little recreation. Why not enlarge the present program?

Barbara Brough
Sophomore

Social activities on campus are many and varied to suit the different tastes of FSC girls. There are dances, teas, outings, picnics, hikes, etc, and each girl on campus should take part in the activities that appeal to her

Gloria S Smith
Junior

When one starts to think of the number of students the social activities become more than a problem. There are limitations, of course, but it seems to me that there should be more cooperation with the activities we have. There is a social chairman and committee in every dormitory open for suggestions.

Toppy Marsh
Sophomore

I think that there should be a way for the girls at FSC to meet oice men from Dale Mabry and other army camps besides just the soldier dances.

Margie Morris
Senior

The Florida Flambeau

EDITORIAL STAFF

CORDELIA BARCLAY — Editor
RACHAEL BAIL, JANET PANCOAST — Associate Editors
SHIRLEY RUBIN — Managing Editor
BARBARA BESS, DOROTHY LANCASTER, JO ANN CARROLL — Assistant Editors
ANNE GAITHER, PEGGY KAY — News Editors

Copy Editor — Janet Rogers
Associate Copy Editor — Martha Abbott
Feature Editor — Judy Pepper
Opinion Editor — Muriel Copinus
Society Editor — Doris Pepper
Outside News Editor — Betty Weaver
Exchange Editor — Lois Byrd
Art Editor — Frances Hines
Assistant Art Editor — Betty Morgan

REPORTERS: Virginia Ailstock, May Alexander, Miriam Angell, Bobbie Bell, Ellen Bie, Betty Ann Bradley, Burma Cox, Alice Crume, Eileen Davis, Betty Dowd, Lucy Falden, Georgia Fields, Delores Gardner, Anne Hutton, Ruth Keller, Beryl Kitchen, Darley Lochner, Mary Nell McFadden, Catherine Nollman, Delores Papy, Gloria Reed, Shirley Rodgers, Lois Rose, Nicky Sartoris, Louise Sims, Peggy Lu Thomson, Jeanne Tillman, Marie Waters, Barbara Wickman

EDITOR'S NOTE: It is at the present time and in the future the policy of the Flambeau to give equal editorial space and prominence to the editorial opinions of anyone wishing to disagree with any Flambeau editorial opinion.

BUSINESS STAFF

Marianne M Smith — Business Manager
Selan Tarapani — Assistant Business Manager
Shirley Rodgers — Advertising Manager
Betty Strickland, Bobbie Rees, Dot Miller, Georgia Fields, Lettie Sullivan, Aileen Sayers — Advertising Staff
Jean Ann Graham — Circulation Manager
Margia Austin, Kathleen Johnson, Helen Tarapani — Circulation Staff
Eleanor Bayer — Collection Manager
Selan Conkling, Jerry Sconiers, Lucille Sconiers, Louise Sims, Jean Spradlin — Collection Staff
Marianne Jones, Jean Ann Graham, Florence Dinn, Lucille Harp — Post Office Staff

Entered as second class mail matter January 30 1915, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879

Member
Intercollegiate Press

oreign Travel Is Chief Hobby Of Modern Language Instructor

ened—that is what Miss ets Ackerman, new instruc- in the modern language de- ment at Florida State Col- has done all her life. Mex- Cuba, Canada, and most of are familiar to the tall, ow teacher whose native state Tork.

t don't wait until the war is to travel again," she said. ere she doesn't underestimate at Wheaton College in Nor- Massachusetts. Miss Acker- received her MA from Co- ia University in New York. From Columbia, she went to st other girls to La So- at the University of Paris Paris Trotter.

for leaving the University of Miss Ackerman decided to the Continent. Her decision to the Continent. Her decision to a comparatively quiet and un- eventful life until after the war. For three years she taught mod- ern languages at Edgewood Park Junior College in Briarcliffe, New York, coming to the University of this school year to FSC as an in- structor.

An instructor in Spanish in Peri- proved to be interesting- ing there that I met Marshall ks in Peru," she explained. Freedom similar to our Amer- ican system existed there as ex- hibited by the French veterans the last war. and Britain was ed by the veterans. Miss Ack- erman is now completing that year at Fsu- mmer. Miss Ackerman trav- to Peru, stopping in Haiti and Suez and then returned to ere she boarded a ship for merica.

ks sure to travel soon over- Miss Ackerman again, and she embarked once more for ope. This time she toured ain, Austria, Hungary, Ger- and Germany with some- ish friends.

ere a hard time getting any- to eat in Germany," she ded, "because I don't under- d a word of German."

ould sit days before war was d in Europe," she said, as was still in Germany, where party was treated royally, so ere and Switzerland, and ed in Vienna. There the party ben treated coldly and had travelled with the Germans to return to Paris, she registered the American Embassy and ed with her friends to the Brit- Embassy. There she was in- ted to take the 2 o'clock train ld of Paris. Germany invaded and that day.

ld trains to the French coast ey were packed with people ed frantically to get out of ce before the conflagration

There were eleven adults and children on the train, and that was meant for eight. I somewhere baby during the ." Miss Ackerman related. At the boats going across the ish Channel, there was hard- tion to sit down. Miss Acker- found a vacant place under chair. A Frenchman sat the boats in order to avoid French mines. Half way the channel they ran into Hurricane. Miss Ackerman's arrival in England was ac- plished only a few hours be- fore Neville Chamberlain's dec- laration of war.

"For two months I stayed in England, trying to convince the officials of Oxford University that I really wanted to study there. They wouldn't let me register be- cause of the lack of food for the students and the shortage of in- structors," Miss Ackerman said.

While there, she was forced into air raid shelters several times, but the enemy planes only proved to be on reconnaissance flights each time. She finally gave up trying to enroll at Ox- ford and boarded what later proved to be the last ship to America before President Roose- velt declared the embargo.

Back in the United States, Miss Ackerman decided on a change to a comparatively quiet and un- eventful life until after the war. For three years she taught mod- ern languages at Edgewood Park Junior College in Briarcliffe, New York, coming to the University of this school year to FSC as an in- structor.

SAB Can Handle Room Reservations Of Girls' Parents

Stained relations between stu- dents and parents who visit in Tallahassee and find that no previous room reservations have been made for them need no long- er exist. The Student Activities building can now handle the prob- lems of said parents.

On the third floor of the Stu- dent Alumnus building, there are five rooms that will open for use as long as four days at a time. They all a beautiful sight. Room 308 has a private bath and rates are $2.00 for single person and $2.50 for two. Rooms 305, 306, 307 are priced at $1.50 per single person and $2.00 per two. These last rooms have a lava- tory in nearby every room and all have hot and cold water bath on that floor of the building.

This room service that is provided for student's parents and graduates of Florida State Col- lege for Women will be fully formally opened on October 11, 1941, and from then on have taken care of an average of 75 persons a month. Rooms are us- ually filled Saturday and Sunday with the most requests for Fri- day and Saturday nights. There- fore it is advised that reservations be made two weeks to a month in advance. Call for reservations, slen the book at the information desk on the main floor of the Alumnae building.

Girls Take Sports Exams For Ratings

The Women's National Official Rating Committee has set up a written examination in basket- ball and volleyball.

Each girl must takinc the exam in volleyball, 36 passed and will be able to participate in a prac- tice test when the intra-mural volleyball games begin.

Instructors Miss Catherine Bu- livan and Bebe Daniels have passed both exams rating them as national official umpires.

The written exam for basket- ball has been given but the prac- tice test has not.

Miller Opens YWCA Forum

Continued from Page One

were discussed for, nearly a half an hour.

Students were confused as to the purpose of the merge of the Presbyterian and Episcopal churches, and Dr Miller explained that the two churches did not mean to become as one but hin- gered a concordant whereby they would respect each other's bap- tisms, ordinations, etc. By this agreement they could exchange church members and ministers. Dr Miller mentioned that the Lutheran church was considering entering into this agreement with the Presbyterians and Episcopali but had made no official action on it to date.

After the forum Margaret Clag- gett and Jane Ann Bell and a few other students discussed the possibili- ty of elaborating this series of fo- rums and having a separate forum on each sect for which the Com- mittee could secure a qualified representative. who would discus- his denomination.

Time Mrs. "Wintry Blast" is at Stewart, so take care! His shifty ways bring bronchial coughs and sea- son Flu . . . and makes them so unsightly.

Be wise for him. Keep a handy tube of Roger & Gallet original Vaseline in your pocket. And whenever you step out-of-doors smear it generously, beating Old Man Ice by membranes.

For both men and women, Roger & Gallet Lip Pomade has long been the accepted relief for chap- ped, cracked lips. Pick up a tube today at any drug store.

25¢

ROGER & GALLET
509 FIFTH AVE., NEW YORK 18, N. Y.

Be Ready For Easter!

Select a Lovely Hat from

MARION'S HAT SHOP

Jewish Leader Visits Campus

Will Discuss Hebrew Ideals In Several Meetings

Rabbi Alfred Wolf, regional di- rector of the union of American Hebrew congregations, will visit Florida State College from Sun- day through 21 to conduct a series of lectures to explain the con- cepts of the Jewish people. He is brought here by the Religious Workers' Council.

Mrs Alvin Bullen, Episcopal student counselor and chairman of the Religious Workers' Coun- cil, has announced the following schedule for the rabbi:

On Monday he will have two meetings which will be open to all s'udents. The first one will be at 5 p m in the Student Alumnae building and his topic will speak on The Jewish Faith. This will be the second of a series of forums sponsored by the worship com- mittee of the Young Women's Christian Association. The sec- ond meeting will be at 8 p m in the Student Alumnae clubroom where the speaker will address the International Relations club on Modern Jewry in the World.

Tuesday the rabbi has a tenta- tive appointment at the regular meeting of Hillel at 5 p m, and at 8 there will be a talk and speak to the RCW at the Methodist Student house. His topic will ie Christian Ideals and Interna- tion Cooperation in the World Today. There will again be an hour after his speech and all students are invited to attend.

One Wednesday Rabbi Wolf will speak to Dr Bellamy's 12 o'clock Bible class. His topic will Semitic Origins, and at 3 will ad- dress the Episcopal students on religion class on the Jewish con- Cepts of God.

At 5 p m on Wednesday Jennie Murphree hall will have Rabbi Wolf as their dinner guest for which the Jewish girls in the dor- mitory will prepare the meal.

The rabbi's final meeting will be with the Episcopal and Meth- odist students at Rage Hall when he will discuss The Jewish Ides of God.

Rabbi Wolf is the present rabbi at the Temple Emanu-El in Dob- bin, Georgia. He has held this post since his graduation from Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati, Ohio, four years ago.

In the fall of 1944 Rabbi Wolf was appointed by the Jewish Chau- tauqua Society to speak at vari- ous places throughout the country to acquaint the Christian with standing between the Jews and students of the United States, and it is in that canacity that he is coming to Tallahassee.

Girls Take Sports Exams For Ratings

The Women's National Official Rating Committee has set up a written examination in basket- ball and volleyball.

Each girl must takinc the exam in volleyball, 36 passed and will be able to participate in a prac- tice test when the intra-mural volleyball games begin.

Instructors Miss Catherine Bu- livan and Bebe Daniels have passed both exams rating them as national official umpires.

The written exam for basket- ball has been given but the prac- tice test has not.

Seniors Mournfully Look Back

Continued from Page One

tion in extra-curricular activities to be done during the fall. She also mourns not having more time in which to play Softball and adds one of the things I regret most is not always having unlimited." Sarah Stewart advises fresh- men to "work while you work and play while you play."

Josephine Maniaci regrets "not getting into the swing of things in my freshman year," while Mary Elizabeth Colton says the only thing she regrets is that her mail box was always on the bottom.

Primrose Prefers 100-Year-Old Viola

Continued from Page One

to South Carolina, where, in company with Rudolph, the Middle West, and Canada. The western cities and farming states were cov- ered earlier in the year. At the end of his tour he will go to South America for a two-month's rest.

LOST—A brown wallet belonging to Nina Kirk last week in Dest. The finder key to the Day Stu- dents' lockers is in it and it is very important that it be re- turned to the Day Student Lounge.

LOST—A brown Eversharp foun- tain pen with a gold top was lost last Friday somewhere on cam- pus. A reward is offered by the owner Ann Bell Eawls, 149 Jen- nie Murphree.

Odds Win in Modern Dance Competition

Demonstration Is First Of Competitive Type Held

The Odd modern dance group was winner in the Odd-Even com- petition Saturday night in the Student Alumnae building. The original dance portrayed "A Child's Fantasy."

The performance presented by the Even team was entitled "Loss Souls." Two occasions constituted the first competitive demonstra- tion of modern dance at Florida State College. The dances were judged by faculty members from the physical education department on the basis of a point system which considered originality of theme, technique, costumes, space and floor patterns and ef- fectiveness in carrying out the theme. The Odd team received 82 points against 85 for the Even team.

Preceding the dances a demon- stration of techniques used by modern dancers was presented. The group giving this demonstration included members of both the Even and Odd teams.

The students composing the Odd dance group were Margie Platt were Glota Booth, Betty Donally, Margaret Pruly, Harriet Kirk, Jeanne Hamilton, Carolyn Platt, Betty Ann Shiver, Lorraine Smith, Alice Tate and Anne Thomas.

With Anne Widerquist as lead- er those making up the Even group included Dorothy Ann Bell, Lois Byrd, Marilyn Dewey, Audrey Hamilton, Dorothy Jo Glasford, Danny Martin, Betty Jo McAteer and Mary Louise Perry.

Panhellenic Honors Faculty and Staff

A Panhellenic reception in honor of the faculty and staff will be given this afternoon from 4:30 until 6 p m in the Student- Alumnae building. Dr Margie Platt's day theme will be carried out with green and white decora- tions.

Mrs O S Lanier and Mary Shel- ley will act as co-hostesses for the reception. A musical pro- gram planned by Mrs A J Cald- well and Donna Mae Bell will be presented for the guests. Chair- man of the other committees are Mrs Rosebud Gaskins and Mary Ann Waller, invitations; Mrs W D Murr, Mary Ann Waller and Mar- jorie Bell, flowers; Mrs J A Cooper, Mrs J W Harrell, and Jane Sims, refreshments; Mrs Ellen Barrow, Mrs T R Crovatte and Bette Parker, serving, and Mrs Ralph Kirk, Mrs Frances Fogg and Sheila Smith, clean-up. Mrs W J Dodge and Mrs Lanier will be in charge of the receiving line, and Mrs W W Crume, Mrs Bar- bara Garner and Mrs Mary Carrey will be chairman of the floor hostesses.

YWCA Installation To Be Postponed

The installation of the new of- ficers and committee chairmen of the Young Women's Christian Association has been postponed until March 26, according to an announcement by Miss Margie Caswell, retiring president.

Devotions and the installation of the full program of events for the coming week, during which the installation was originally sched- uled, the cabinet thought it best to postpone the ceremony until Monday, March 26 at 8 p m.

The ceremony will be held as it was to be Tuesday in the Alumnae clubroom and all YWCA members are invited to attend.

"The committee chairmen were selected at the cabinet meeting Tuesday night, but Dorothy will that they would not be announced until the ones selected have accepted their appointments.

Esteren Plans

Esteren calls all good Erems out to the games tomorrow to put into practice some of those songs and yells heard at the Wednes- day evening surprise pep meeting held in front of the new dining hall.

Sarah Bennett, president of Esteren, announced that an Ese- ter egg hunt is being planned for the members. Martha Jane Brown is in charge of the ar- rangements.

Viola Player Appears Here

Continued from Page One

Toscanini's chief viola player. He remained with Toscanini until 1941. Since that time he has been touring in concert.

When the present tour is over, Mr Primrose and his accompan- ist, Gui Mombaerts, will leave for South America, where they will appear in concert during July, August and September.

Esteren Searches For an Amplifier

Anyone knowing the where- abouts of an amplifier please noti- fy Sarah Bennett, president of Esteren.

"We have big plans," Sara's said, "of having a street dance soon, but the after dinner rec- reation group is having difficul- ty finding an amplifier for the music. We plan to hold this dance in the streets before the new dining hall."

In the plans of the committee are many interesting and amus- ing ideas, according to Sarah, but as present they will not be re- vealed.

The after dinner recreation pro- gram in front of the new dining hall is in full swing according to the committee, and will be held almost every night as the girls en- joy it. Some of the games be- ing played have been hopscotch, baseball, and tag, and some of the girls just sit around talking while they watch the activities of the players.

Head of State Stresses Needs

Continued from Page One

ing for oil here, and a committee of citizens of which he should be selected to determine laws of oil conducting states and compare them with the needs of this state. A plan should be formed in rela- tion to these laws for conserva- the pollution of streams, and conserving the oil around. The taking of oil must be super- vised and must not be allowed to reach the maximum, he added.

Net, the advantages of the state should be considered, he also stated. More service men are stationed here than in almost any other state, he said, with a favor- able climate. In order to encour- them to remain here after war, a committee should be appointed to advertise every major activity in the state, he added.

To solve problem of public schools was next discussed. The state is will to build a new public education mainly because it has a deficient financial status, but upon which to build a new system. Governor Caldwell said that young people suffer from the handicap of jobs competing for school time, and that there are not enough qualified teachers. He praised teachers highly for staying in the schools instead of taking better paid war jobs. He explained that another reason for the low pay scale of teachers is that the schedules have been loaded with non-essential courses and the time has been taken from skilled. Too many young peo- ple have been graduated from school, so the courses should be planned to help them in their fu- ture. A Junior College in Clear- ers Committee should be or- ganized to study the needs in this and overhaul it, so that Flori- ida education can be classed in a higher category, the speaker said.

Next, Governor brought up the necessity of getting a govern- ment back in the hands of the people. A Primary Committee must be prepared to select and elect officers. Governors of states are not to appoint county school officers because of the people's in- ability and lack of interest in choosing local officers, he added.

Another problem is loose state of affairs in tax administration. The speaker said. The budget commit- tee is made up of the cabinet members and does not have facts o owhich to base a central bud- get system. They may recom- mend that the Legislature select one officer, to be in charge of the budget, auditing and purchas- ing. If this recommendation is followed, it will take the specula- problem from the budget board.

The Governor's speech was fol- lowed by a round of applause and questions.

The first question was, "How would you go about educating the people for citizenship?" The gov- ernor replied that this training must start in the classroom and the duty and privilege of voting must be exercised in every child. Very often the people who are in college or who are successful, the very ones who are most capable, fail to vote because of "dirty poli- tics." These people are largely to blame for the present system be- cause of their failing to vote. The simple fundamental things should be taught and the curriculum plan, he added.

Another question was, "Do you think we can do more toward for- est conservation?" The Governor answered in the affirmative, stating that the main thing is to control forest fires. A committee is planning a system to burn forests every three to four years to get rid of the trash and accumulation that would develop over this time.

An informal reception for the governor in the reception room of the Student Alumnae building was held after the meeting.

Future of FSCW in Radio Field Interests College Publicity Director Bloodworth

To have a Florida Mutual pick- up at least once a month aside from local broadcasting is the aim of Miss Bertha Bloodworth, publicity director, for Florida State College's future in the radio field.

Miss Bloodworth, a graduate of the class of 1940, returned to Tal- lahassee last September to re- open and take charge of the pub- licity department which had been closed for two years. The office is located on the first floor of the Student Alumnae building and consists of a reception room, Miss Bloodworths office, a room where the mimeographing machines and some files are kept, and a dark- room for developing and printing pictures.

In addition to her regular du- ties of dispatching news stories to more than 200 daily papers

Dr Richards's Courageously Saves Moment Supreme

Had it not been for Dr Rich- ard's presence of mind, Miss Emily Shefiall would have lost her Moment Supreme. Emily's two friends at the table had spilled a bottle of perfume which came from the original Parfumerie de Jean in Paris. They had been able to get the bottle open. On trying to open it the host took some of the ground glass stopper in the bottle. Thus, she poured it all over the table and perfume out. The disappointed Emily put the bottle perfume away until she could think of some way to remove the stopper.

Last week, it suddenly dawned on her that perhaps some physics experiment applied to the bottle would solve her problem. Her first thoughts were to take her problem to Dr Bellamy. But Dr- ards. Imagine Dr Richards' sur- prise on being asked to remove Emily's perfume bottle stopper.

Of course, he was only too glad to perform another of his experi- ments, so, taking all precautions in case the bottle should break, he took the other end of the wire to an electric switch, and with closed eyes pressed. He became red, and that, in turn heated the neck of the bottle. The warmth of the bottle caused the air than the weded-in stopper so naturally it expanded faster than the stopper and forced it loose. The air inside the bottle grew hotter and the pressure was there to in- crease. Since the pressure in- creased, it had to expand, and not finding any other place to go, it had to force its way out, so out popped the stopper. Dr Rich- ards' problem had been solved.

To make the job complete, he took both pieces of the glass and threw them in the garbage. The next day he presented Emily with her Moment Supreme as good as new, except for a few drops missing due to evaporation.

F Club Makes Rules

A committee has been appoint- ed by the F Club to draw up a set of rules concerning color rush. These rules will provide for more specific rules in regard to the weather. Plans for making the Westcott run safer will be includ- ed in these rules. The rules will be voted on at the next meeting of the club.

Future of Radio Broadcasting

three times a week. Miss Blood- worth acts as radio co-ordinator, in charge of the "Garnet and Gold" programs broadcast over station WTAL every Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock. She writes the script, directs, and times the programs.

According to Miss Bloodworth the most amusing thing which has happened on the program oc- curred the night of October 7 when the studio on the top floor of the Alumnae building was be- ing dedicated. The participants went through the entire program only to find at the end, that be- cause of the hurricane, they had not been on the air at all. Ap- parently the storm had caused a faulty connection. So they had to present the dedication pro- gram again the following Thurs- day night.

A new radio series is being sponsored by the college. "Let's Learn Spanish" is the name of the transcribed program sent out by Time and Life studios which went on the air as a college pro- gram February 2 for 13 weeks, three times a week.

Student activities and faculty achievements comprise the news which Miss Bloodworth gathers daily. After writing her stories she sends a mimeo helps her mimeograph several hundred copies for release throughout the state.

"Of course, there is no way to tell how many of the releases are released through this department is used, but sometimes the clip- pings which we receive from the Florida Clippings Service in Tam- pa, enclose a whole column, and one thousand inches of publicity appeared in Florida papers each month for the first three months of school this year. This is equi- valent to a six and one-half page newspaper," said Miss Bloodworth.

Miss Bloodworth began work- day to have articles about FSC printed in the New York Times and nationally distributed maga- zines such as Life with a "Life Comes to a Party at FSCW," or something similar.

Majoring in English and Jour- nalism while she attended FSC, Miss Bloodworth worked on the staffs of the Florida Flambeau and received some training in the publicity field as student assistant in the publi- licity office. A member of Alpha Chi Alpha, national journalism honorary, and Sigma Tau, na- tional literary honorary, she re- ceived the Bachelor of Arts de- gree in 1940.

After graduating in three years, Miss Bloodworth worked for the TVA in Morristown, Tennessee, a year. For the past two years, she has been secretary to the Board of University Examiners in Gainesville. Besides her secre- tarial duties, she edited and pub- lished examinations for the Uni- versity of Florida and did pro- sional publicity work for the Board. She also managed to do a little free-lance feature writing for the Gainesville Sun.

A small vivacious brunette, Miss Bloodworth can often be found in the Soda Shop drinking a cup of coffee and discussing current topics of interest. "I'm really re- ceiving a liberal education," she says, "for I attend all the Artist Series programs, lectures, and basket ball games. Believe me my job always interesting and excit- ing."

For the Finest

● STEAKS
● SEAFOOD
● CHICKEN
● CHOPS

in Your Favorite Food

VISIT THE

M & N CAFE

Nature Camp To Be Opened

FSC Invited to Send Two Girls to Study Group

State colleges are asked to sub- mit names of a few young women students as counselors, juniors or seniors to attend a na- ture study camp to be held near 85th Springs, Florida, June 5 to 10. Quota from Florida State College will be two names.

The nature study camp is to be sponsored by the Florida Federa- tion of Garden Clubs, and located at Camp O'Leno. There is no charge for attending the camp, whose purpose is to provide back- ground and training in Florida wild plant and animal life for prospective state teachers.

It is the hope of the Federation that the course will appeal to stu- dents who are preparing to teach grammar grades or who will as- sume leadership in home economics in their organized outdoor activities for juniors.

The camp is a state park equipped with recreational facil- ities. Nature trails have been laid out and a canal dredged will end on band to conduct short hikes each day. Formal and informal talks will be given by college teachers and experienced garden- ers, and a reference library shelf will be supplied. Colored slides and movies will be shown in the evenings in the recreation hall.

The plan of study will include wild shrubs, wild flowers and vines, seeds and fruits, birds, in- sects and bugs, wild animals, trees, ferns, lizards, toads, fish, and soil and water, and their va- rious relations to man in their esthetic or practical value.

Students who qualify and are interested in attending the camp are asked to communicate with Mrs L. T. Nelson, 930 East Court Street, Gainesville.

Campbell Attends Memphis Meeting

Dr Dean A Campbell, president of Florida State College, attended a meeting of the officers of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools on Mon- day and Tuesday, at Memphis, Tennessee.

Dr Campbell met with the Exec- utive Committee of the Committee on Curriculum Problems and Research. He was chairman of the Executive Council of the Com- mittee. Other members of the Executive Committee are Dr Claiborne Tyrell, University of Alabama; Dr R P Brooks, Mis- sissippi State College; Superin- tendent W H Shaw, Sumpter, South Carolina; Dr W T. Mayer, vanity of Florida; Superintend- Leo M Chamberlain, University of Kentucky, and Mr Ben Wiseman, Dallas, Texas.

When you plan your next necessary trip, phone your Trailways Agent for in- formation first. Inquire about the best days and schedules. Arrange your trip accordingly, so that you and our service men and women may have a m o r e comfortable and pleasant journey.

All Buses Leave
UNION BUS STATION
Cor. Adams and Tenn. Ph. 701

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Safari
Powder Base
Cream

Rec and selling price $1.60

SPECIAL $1 plus tax

● Never before on sale! Creamy- smooth and light . . . gives skin a young, natural sheen. Helps hide freckles, blemishes. Use with or without powder. Fair, Medium, Sunpoint.

LIMITED TIME!

BENNETT'S
COLLEGE INN PHARMACY
Phone 890
MONROE AVE. PHARMACY
Phone 93

Freshman Carnival To Be Held Tonight

Side Show, Booths, Fortune Teller To Be Features

The annual Freshman Carnival will be held tonight at 8 p m in the physical education building.

The theme of the carnival is a secret, but Jimmie Rogers, co-chairman of the planning committee, has disclosed that activities not allowed in the sold book will be the order of the night.

The concessions will consist of food and drink stands, fortune telling booths, sketching booths, and side show, including a bearded lady, the twin thin and twin wide woman, and a five hundred pound lady.

The committees for the carnival are being headed by the freshman class officers. Jo Lone and Irma Lee Shepherd are in charge of costumes: Annaree Thompson and Jean Shaver, concessions; Babs McCarthy and Jean Ann Fraziniale, decorations; Jimmie Rogers and Martha Peacock, planning; and Bert McConnely and Beth Fuhrer, publicity committee.

Artcraft Hobbies Is Speech Topic

Continuing the creative interest programs at the Wednesday afternoon teas in Jennie Murphree, Miss Ruth Williams, associate professor of Industrial Arts, spoke on "Handicraft as a Hobby." She displayed artcraft collected from various countries.

Also on display were rugs, pottery, mats, baskets, book-ends, wood and soap carvings, and bare slipper made by students in the Industrial art department.

In charge of the entertainment for the tea was Luella Rouse. Hostesses were students in the Industrial Arts department, Juanita Pearce, Rose Mayhew, and Sylvia Lelbovitz.

Two Colleges Have New Career Service

Geneva, N Y.—(IP)—Intelligent choice of a career, the most important problem that young women and women at college level will be helped by a new program introduced by Hobart and William Smith Colleges. This service, "Career Orientation," has been developed by Warren D Bliner, a management consultant, formerly with the airplane division of the Curtiss-Wright Corp. at Buffalo, and now a member of the staff of the coordinate colleges.

According to a recent survey, approximately 50 per cent of students entering liberal arts colleges have made no choice of a career. The Career Determination program is designed to include consideration of many life interests to ascertain rewards, hours and working conditions, and opportunities to aid in making this choice.

Special testing techniques will help students evaluate their own qualifications after research into institutions, abilities, and education needed in their chosen field. Provision is made for movies, lectures by visiting experts, and trips to business and industry to demonstrate actual conditions. Each student receives the usual vocational counseling technique.

To assist students in finding the opportunities for which they are best fitted, a placement service is developed a special placement service.

Hinson At Meeting

Doctor M R Hinson, professor of education, is attending a committee meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools at Memphis to review the accreditation of high schools in the southern states

Doctor Hinson has been a member of this committee for several years.

SERVE AS A HOSPITAL TECHNICIAN IN THE WAC

Ask at U. S. Army Recruiting Station, Western Union Bldg.

MARTIN AND DALTON

Student Recital To Be Presented

Monday afternoon at 5:05 o'clock in the Music Annex Recital hall the weekly student recital will be presented. Miss Lucille Warner, assistant professor of piano, will give a talk on demonstration on chase and audience department.

Voice selections will be presented by Miss Twyla Bair accompanied by Miss Warmger: Miss Virginia Sewell accompanied by Miss Roberta Whitfield: Miss Jonnie Mires accompanied by Miss Dolly Sutton; and Miss Virginia Helle accompanied by Miss Edwina Wiggins. Piano selections will be given by Miss Roberta Perkins and Miss Edwina Wilkins.

The time for the student recitals has been changed from Monday to Wednesday, announced Dean Kuerstelner, School of Music.

Foreign Articles Shown at Parkside

Wednesday afternoon at tea in Parkside Hall, articles from different parts of the world which were contributed by the residents.

Among these were a pair of shoes and a bracelet sent to Edwina Speirs by her husband who was in Hawaii. Letters and souvenirs from her present friend in England were shown by Joyce Gardner, and money from Scotland, France and Canada was contributed to the display by Ermie LePard.

Mrs Harriet Barksdale, house director, showed the girls a necklace carved from ivory which a son had sent her from India. She also told that the ostrich fan she had on display had been used to fan her son, Jimmy, when he had been forced down on the Arabian desert. There he had prepared to leave his Arab friends one of them gave the fan to him as a souvenir.

A silver necklace and bracelet and a tiny carved ivory statue were displayed by Gloria Hughes. The little statue was worshipped by the god for good luck by the South Sea islands and it is very difficult to persuade the natives to sell such statues.

All the articles on display were ones that the residents had been asked to bring from other lands, and they ranged from little Dutch dolls to intricately carved jewelry, fans, and articles appropriate for each student shelves.

Mrs A J Caldwell, chaperon of the Phi Mu House was the only guest at the tea.

Matcher To Discuss Book On Religion

Miss Juliette Mather, southern college youth secretary of the Women's Missionary Union, will discuss the book Pray Ye with the Baptist girls of Florida State College tonight at 8 o'clock at the Baptist Student House.

Miss Mather will hold two additional forums during the week-end on similar subjects: one to be held Saturday afternoon at 3:30 and the other Saturday at 8 p m.

Miss Katherine Walker, local Baptist student secretary, says that Miss Mather has traveled abroad through Europe and Palestine and has also been in Birmingham, Alabama. She also stated that Miss Mather comes to them very well recommended as a speaker.

PTA Meets

At the PTA meeting of the Demonstration School last night a recommendation was presented requesting the increase of the state's appropriation for schools. This recommendation would provide for securing more money for the smaller schools.

Hillel to Sponsor Oratorical Contest

Challenge to Complacency To Be Theme of Talks

The theme of the school-wide oratorical contest which has been in progress at FSC since the week of February 9th is "World Citizenship: Challenge to Complacency". The contest, finals of which will be held April 25, is sponsored jointly by the Phi B'rith Hillel Poundation and the World Student Affairs Council.

All students are invited to prepare speeches for the contest and all campus organizations should appoint one person in their group to represent them, according to Cornelia Barclay, contest chairman. The talks may be on any subject related to the general theme and are to be approximately 800 words or 8 minutes long. The grand prizes are to be awarded publicly in an evening program on April 25. Judges will be representatives of the local-of state officials. Grand prizes will be three sterling silver cups, to be awarded to each of the first winners.

Semi-finals will be held April 17 and 18, with faculty members as judges. Deadline for entries is April 13. Applications and information may be obtained through Cordella Barclay, Virginia Holmes, or Gerry Halpern.

Headgears Cover Rain-Soaked Hair

"I just washed my hair and can't do a thing with it," is the familiar expression so often heard around the Florida State College campus. But the stylish girl of today has the answer to her woes because she has many attractive head-gears to cover the uncombed locks.

The problem arises on whether to don Tom's Navy handkerchief or put Dick's Army cap on her head. Deciding on one or the other, the girl goes out into the weather.

If rain is burning from the sky and threatening to spoil the keeping the hair dry that has been carefully set previously depending on the girl, occasion, or date, if she's among the more fortunate of the girls who have cars, before. Some students brave the weather daringly in GI helmets which, when worn, have a hole big enough above the eye to afford vision without collision.

Out in the pouring rain of rain and drooling hair come the P B C girls with their raincoats pulled over their head or umbrellas warding off the rain. Sometimes a nonchalantly beneath rain hats which cover the sides for Veronica Lake hair, these shaped in the form of jockey caps or hats with brims in front.

Cellophane kerchiefs, fringed shawls and ear-muffs are quite popular.

Aviation Plans

Waukesha, Wis (IP)—At least four Wisconsin colleges and universities are planning to establish aviation departments in the field of aviation after the war, it was disclosed in response to a nationwide survey fod educational institutions made public recently by Ernest R Breech, executive vice-president of Bendix Aviation Corporation.

The Wisconsin colleges who have thus far formed plans in the survey are: Marquette University; State Teachers' College, Stevens Point: Carroll College and State Teachers' College, Milwaukee.

In common with 455 American institutions responded to the survey to date, the four institutions indicated they would require: Flight instruction, large quantities of useable governmentowned aircraft equipment, which will be available to them after the war.

A total of 342 schools in their replies stressed the need for supplying to the nation's colleges at low cost quantities of surplus useable aircraft and equipment, as a fundamental contribution to future continuous development of aviation education. it was pointed out.

This equipment will be made available to the nation's schools on a sale or lease basis under provisions of the Federal Surplus Disposal law, Breech stated. Replies to the Bendix survey to date reveal that at least 307 colleges have expressed plans for teaching some aspects of aviation after the war, according to Breech, who headed the surplus aircraft disposal committee of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce.

The survey further disclosed that 212 colleges already offering aviation courses plan to continue or expand and that 95 colleges which do not teach aeronautics at present are definitely interested in or planning to establish such courses, Breech stated.

Music Objectives Is Topic of Paper Dr Kuerstelner

By MIRIAM ANGELL

Mr Karl O Kuerstelner, dean of the music school, has created a great deal of interest on the campus with his discussion on the objectives of applied music of the past music materials for the methods of instruction, and their designs for the present and future with the purposes of the present day music master's instruction in applied music.

The paper contains a discussion of the differences of opinion to record. Also one of the objective the relative values derived from music training. The two schools of thought in the public school music theory are the primary and secondary. The primary school aims at achieving perfection in performance in any one art, the most important consideration in the study of music. The secondary school aims at using that music should be studied as a means of achieving the child's ability in it only.

Dean Kuerstelner first became interested in the field of applied music objectives while studying at the April 15 Applications and information may be obtained through Cordella Barclay, Virginia Holmes, or Gerry Halpern.

Decline in Foreign Languages Shown

Nicholas M Butler Deplores Educational Decrease

New York, N. Y.,—(I.P.)—Dr Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, in his annual report, deplores the steady decline in the study of foreign languages and literatures, which he says he attributes chiefly to the pressure of social studies upon the curricula.

"The languages, like English literature and history, which have brought almost to extinction by the pressure of courses in general education and the ever increasing demand for special training for vocations. Obviously, this strikes at the very roots of a liberal education. The harmful results of these curtailments of the language-minded and curriculum evidence that he can do so if their usefulness and the great advantage of an intimate contact with the life and language of other peoples, who have all now become our neighbors whether they live in south America, Europe, Africa or China. Many administrators of education, including those outside the language group, feel that foreign-language study will pass with the war period of development."

For many years there has been a steadily growing number of students from other lands at Columbia, Dr Butler reports, but in this report, "The movement in former years of foreign students to Europe and to this country lastly looked upon as a tribute to the world reputation of these institutions, has been succeeded in greatly increased number by those now coming here.

"It is of particular interest that our home universities have also been in residence groups of carefully chosen Russian students, selected by officials of the government and sent to Columbia for very definite purposes. All of these students are products of well-known Russian universities, and many of them have already served in the war on their home front. It is apparent that the government is taking very carefully planned steps to provide itself with a body of men and women able to establish and to maintain contact with other countries through knowledge of their languages.

Columbia University scholars have unforeseen the need of new funds of $10,000,000 to provide for general salary revision is required, Dr Butler said. "The salaries paid are no longer adequate or even reasonable in the present cost of living and the high Federal income taxes call for considering new and most serious problems. The entire salary schedule should be revised at the earliest possible moment."

Odds, Evens Both Win Soccer Games

After losing the first class game to the freshmen last week by a score of six to one, the sophomore-junior soccer team won the second game yesterday with a final score of four to nothing.

In the first half Babe Evans, Bopie Whitaker, and Catherine Sullivan scored goals for the freshmen and juniors, while Rachel Chambers turned a penalty kick into the new generation for the Odds. The sophomore-senior combination was held scoreless the first, third and fourth quarters breaking loose in the second quarter to score two goals.

The winners of the Evens team will participate in tomorrow's game.

Roundup Planned

Sophomore Council is planning a "round-up" of all old and present members next Thursday. At 7:30 p m all members will meet in front of the dining room and have breakfast together.

Thursday afternoon at 5:30 p m there will be a picnic supper. Detail plans are a big secret and the present "blue jackets" are planning a big surprise for the old members.

Horse-Mounted

Russia still maintains a large number of horse-mounted troops. Being the only country still to use horse-mounted troops in battle hasn't proven a disadvantage for Russia. The ability of these troops to make use of the tactical advantages of mobility and shock has often proved itself to be too much for enemy soldiers to face.

'Harbor Crafters' Will Play at Prom

At the annual Junior-Senior prom Saturday night in the East dining hall, the Harbor Crafters, band from Camp Gordon Johnston, will play from 8:30 to 12 p m.

The theme is to be kept secret until the dance and also the names of the girls chosen to be in the prom court consists of girls elected from each of the junior and senior classes. There will be a short program during the dance in honor of these girls.

During intermission there will be an Irish dance by Jo Gutherie, Babe Evans, Anne Widerquist and Mary Louise Perry. A trio, consisting of Frances Myers, Anne Caudlin and Peggy Lou Thomson will also sing at this time.

Refreshments will be punch and mints. Sophomore council girls will act as hostesses.

Guests invited to the dance are: Dr. and Mrs. Doak Campbell, Miss Bonnie David, Mrs. Isabel Dickens, Dean Olivia N Dorman, Miss E Izabeth Lynn, Miss Edith Matthews, Miss Ruth Matthews, Miss Anne F Pope, Dr and Mrs R E Rouse, Miss Margaret Rogers, Miss Celia Segerman, Dr and Mrs. A R Seymour, Miss Alma M Tracy and Miss Kay Warren.

Chaperons at the Prom will be Dr Raymond Kent, Dr and Mrs Cowles, Dr Dorothy R Disher, Miss Mildred Pinnegan, Dr Anna Porter Lindsey, Dr and Mrs Herbert D Miller, Miss Caroline J Pace and Miss Florence B Tyrrell.

Tickets are on sale in lower Wescott until noon tomorrow.

Honorary Tags Seventeen

Continued from Page One

Helen Fletcher, who was elected in her junior year.

Dr Cal L Diffenbaugh, Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, was elected to honorary membership for outstanding academic accomplishment. Mrs Mary Bethel Affriend, a member of the English department and a former alumna, was also elected.

Phi Mu is one of the oldest Greek letter society in the United States. It was founded at Wesleyan and Mary College in 1776. This society is open to members of the College of Arts and Sciences who have a high scholastic average.

Alpha Alpha chapter which was the first chapter to be established in Florida, was organized in 1858. Florida State College for Women was the first state women's college to be granted a charter by the society.

The initiation will be held early in April, and a reception will be given the same evening to celebrate the fifty-seventh anniversary of the installation of the Alpha chapter, which was organized in 1858. England poet and Phi Beta Kappa member, will be the speaker.

Dr Dorothy Disher, associate professor of psychology, is the president of the Alpha chapter. Miss Marguerite Dressler, assistant to the director of personnel, secretary. Dr Marion Irish, professor of political science, is treasurer, and Miss Caroline Linley, associate professor of political science, is historian.

Pea To Meet Soon

The Physical Education Association will have a meeting in the Student-Alumnae auditorium at 6 on March 19. The meeting was formerly scheduled for March 12.

At this meeting the majors will discuss a field day that they will have taking. Also plans will be made for their trip to camp on March 31.

Dr Montgomery is going to show movies that she has taken of the majors in different activities on campus. Nominations for next year's officers will be made at the meeting.

Installations Hold Spotlight In Week's Sorority Activities

Installations will hold the spotlight in sorority activities this week as election of three sororities take office. Alpha Delta Pi and Alpha Xi Delta will have installation Monday night. Visiting alumnae will be present at Delta Pi Epsilon when new officers take over Saturday afternoon.

A party will follow the installation of new Delta Phi officers. They are: Ester Arginiaz, president; Naomi Shulman, vice-president: Eileen Murinson, second vice-president. Ruth Spievak, secretary; Phyllis Singer, treasurer, and Joyce Rosenthal, assistant treasurer. Miss Charlotte Roe of Jacksonville and Mrs Eli Rosenthal will be guests of the sorority for the occasion. A Founder's day party and joint meeting with the pledges will also be held Saturday afternoon.

New Alpha Delta Pi officers who will be installed Monday night are: Mary Stallings, president: Martha Jane Brown, vice-president; Betty Jane Crosby, correspondine secretary; Frances Trasler, recording secretary; Jean Emanuel, treasurer, and Betty Ann Campbell, house chairman. Coffee will be served after installation with Jean Simon acting as hostess.

Alpha Xi Delta elections will also take office Monday night. They are: Mary Cooper Mims, president; Juanita Nord, vice-president; Betty Tarp, treasurer; Jo Dawkins, recording secretary; Roselien Bennett, corresponding.

A banquet will be held next Tuesday at the Cherokee hotel in honor of Alpha Xi Delta alumnae members initiated last Friday. Anne McDonald will have charge of planning the banquet and Louise Sims and Barbara Wickham will be in charge of entertainment.

Marianne Smith and June Pope have been appointed from the wedding of Doris Chamberlin to Lt M L Suter, which took place Sunday afternoon in Quincy. Doris is an Alpha Chi alumna who graduated in December. Marianne before was served Sunday afternoon at the Alpha Chi house with Louise Sims in charge of arrangements.

A party honoring the pledges of the College of Arts and Sciences Chi Omega activities this week. They will give an intermission party during the Junior-Senior prom Saturday night.

Following installation last weekend, Tri Delta honored new members with a banquet at the Three Torches Saturday night. The entire chapter spent Sunday at camp. Mary LaBree was pledged to Tri Delt Wednesday night.

Delta Zeta Party

Delta Zeta is planning a

Pepper And Caldwell To Address Meeting

Girls of Florida State College for Women will celebrate the Florida Centennial program which will be held in the Leon High School auditorium next Sunday at 4 p m.

Governor Millard F Caldwell will be the principal feature with Senator Claude Pepper will tell about Florida's Past and Present.

This program is being held to commemorate Florida's century of statehood which was March 14, 1845. On March 3, 1846, President Tyler signed the statehood document in Washington, but it was not until June, 1845, that William D Moseley inaugurated governor to succeed John Branch, last of the territorial governors. Moseley C Batchelor, commissioner of Florida's first state governor, will read a selection from William D Moseley's inaugural address.

The Tallahassee Historical Society has also arranged for various school groups to sing patriotic southern and national songs. Girls of FSC's Glee Club will sing "Dixie."

FLORIDA

Today Through Saturday "THE GHOST AND MRS. MUIR"

—and—

Sunday and Monday "EXPERIMENT PERILOUS"

Tuesday and Wednesday "MARY TO KENT"

Thursday Thru Saturday "PRINCESS & THE PIRATE"

STATE

Today and Tomorrow "MUMMY'S GHOST"

—and—

"SHERIFF OF SUNDOWN"

Sunday and Monday "NABONGA"

—and—

"GIRL RUSH"

Tuesday Only —STAGE SHOW— "SWING IT, GIRLS"

—Picture— "MISSING JUROR"

RITZ

Last Times Tonight "SING A JINGLE"

—and—

"BIG NOISE"

Saturday Only "MARKED TRAILS"

Sunday and Monday "WING AND A PRATER"

Tuesday and Wednesday "MOON OVER LAS VEGAS"

—and—

"Roger Touhy, Gangster"

Thursday and Friday "TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT"

—and—

"THREE LITTLE SISTERS"

Quarter's Gone

The Florida Flambeau

Spring's Here

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Z 106

VOL. XXXII, No. 20 Tallahassee, Florida MARCH 23, 1945

Student Senate Passes Changes In Gold Book

Constitution, Convocation Cuts, Audit Ruling Are Revised

One Resolution Is Rejected After Discussion

Student Senate passed changes in the constitution, the under standing rules, and convocation rules this past week when it met Wednesday afternoon.

The changes after passing Senate will be presented in a final convocation, where they will be voted on by the student body, after they have been posted for two weeks on the CGA bulletin board. If the changes are passed by the student body in this way they will go into effect in the fall of this year.

The changes in the constitution involved changes in the election system to comply with the change from the semester to the quarter system which will be imposed by Florida State College this year. According to the new system a candidate for a class office must have completed the junior class must have a grade ratio of 1.0 for each of the two quarters immediately preceding candidacy. A candidate for an office in the senior class must have a grade ratio of 1.5 for the quarter immediately preceding candidacy. Each candidate must be a bona fide member of the class for the year in which she runs for office and must have a grade ratio of 1.0 to continue in office."

In section two the change will read: "All students, except second quarter freshmen, must have a grade ratio of 1.0 for each of the two quarters immediately preceding the candidacy. Student

Continued on Page Three

Palm Sunday Vegan Vespers to Be Given

Church Choirs to Participate in Musical Selections

The last of the series of presentations of vespers will be presented Sunday afternoon, Palm Sunday, at 4:30 p m in Westcott Auditorium.

Musical selections bringing out the spirit of Palm Sunday will be rendered by the choirs of the represented among these choirs will be the First Baptist church, Baptist Student Union, Hillel Student Union, Presbyterian Student, St. John's Episcopal church, Ruse Bell and Trinity Methodist church.

A choir from each of these fields has scheduled to perform but will not be able to appear.

The program will be played by Mrs Ramona Beard, assistant professor of music and director of the program. "Blessings of Thee" by Archangelsky-Kronos Shrine Hymnal, and "Hosanna" by Thomson-Shaw; "God Is a Spirit" by Scholtz, and "All Glory Laud and Honor" by Tschner will be sung by the choirs. The Junior Choir directed by Mrs. Beard will render selections as the "Choir Invisible" by S L Straub, organist of the First Methodist church, Tallahassee, will play the "Postlude."

The program sponsored by the Tallahassee Branch Chapter of the American Guild of Organists, of which Mrs Beard is the regent.

Highest Freshmen Grades Announced

Names of 20 girls who made the highest averages in the freshman class for the first semester's work were announced recently by Miss M W Carothers, registrar.

Two girls, Ann Bright Fielding and Winifred Annette Lane, who made three point averages, were honored by the dean's office and crowned on a wooden plaque which was displayed at Honors' Day convocation.

Girls honored are as follows: Sarah Arnau, Constance Bellamy Bliss, Adrienne Ruth Blumberg, Annie Belle Bloss, Audrey Carr Bass, Anne Bright Fielding, Juanita Rogers Kreitzman, Winifred Annette Lane, Lois Ann Norman, Jeanne Marie Newman, Patricia Jane Pattishall, Ruth Joy Petty, Lallie Rogers, Elaine Rose Sloval, Alice Josephine Story, Annie Margaret Strimfelder, Mary Maud Trowbridge and Mary Louise Van Natta.

Forum

A student forum on co-education will be held next Friday night in the auditorium of the Student Alumnae building at 8 o'clock. The history of co-education in Florida, the pros and cons of the subject for the University of Florida and FSC and the possibility of the State Legislature passing a bill in favor of co-education will be topics of discussion.

Dot Jean Glass, third vice-president of CGA and head of the forum committee, announced that there would be four students who have not yet been elected as forum speakers. The speeches will be followed by open discussions in which all students are urged to participate.

Officials Will Judge Contest

Barclay, Halpern, Holmes Urge Student Entries

Four officials of the state of Florida and FSC president Doak S Campbell will be judges for the finals of the FSC-PKL oratorical contest, to be held April 24, College Auditorium, Barclay, chairman of the Student World Affairs Council, has announced.

To judge the finals competitors' speeches will be the Honorable Tom Chapman, chief justice of the Florida Supreme Court; the Honorable Colin English, superintendent of public instruction; head of State Robert A Gray; and Dr Campbell.

All students are asked to enter the contest, in which eight minute speeches on world affairs will be given. The general topic is "World Citizenship—Challenge to Complacency," and the application of this can be used as a theme, according to the SWAC chairman.

Each campus organization has been asked to enter one candidate. Preparation for the prizes of three silver cups. Individuals are also asked to enter.

Deadline for indicating a desire to enter is April 10, and Cordelia Barclay, Virginia Holmes, and Gerry Halpern will take entries. Faculty advisers of PKL and SWAC debate is Dr composition or in oratory.

"We urge every student to enter," Cordelia states. "Everyone on campus knows that world affairs horizons get narrow at times, and this contest is part of a joint effort to broaden them. Everything is simple, the talks are to be short, and any student can take part will enjoy the competition."

Semi-finals will be held April 17 and 18. The contest is sponsored jointly by the Binai B'rith Hillel foundation, the Baptist Student Union, and the newly-created SWAC group composed of heads of the campus organizations.

Dumbarton Oaks Is Discussed by Panel

The International Relations committee of the American Association of University Women of Tallahassee and the International Relations Club of the Florida State College will sponsor a panel discussion on the Dumbarton Oaks conference, Baptist Student Union, Wednesday, March 28, at 8:15 p m, in the auditorium of the Rowena Longmire building.

The program will open with a discussion of the Dumbarton Oaks proposals by Miss Marian Irish followed by a talk on the constitutional aspects by Miss Dana Parker. Problems of international organization will be given by Miss Lucretia Hudson and discussion of international public opinion will be discussed by Mr Earl Vance.

Questions from the floor will follow. Interested students in the Dumbarton Oaks proposal are invited to attend this meeting.

Sophomore Council Will Hold Round-Up

The annual Sophomore Council roundup will take place Tuesday, March 27, 4:30 p m. Actives and seniors who were former sophomore council members are invited to meet with this year's council in front of the new dining hall at 4:30 p m for the round-up. In the evening the girls are to meet at Landis around 8 or 8:30 on a plantation, location of which is secret.

All the girls are asked to wear their council uniforms all day.

Committee chairman for the roundup are: Ceravea Beture, incoming committee; Betsy Hahn food committee; Bookie McMichael, entertainment committee.

Sophomore Council Girls Roundup has been an annual events since 1937.

Reception to Honor Kellum

Retiring Business Manager Receives Recognition

Mr J G Kellum, retiring business manager of Florida State College, was honored last night at a faculty reception.

At the banquet, which was given in the old dining hall at 7:30, Dr Doak S Campbell, president, and members of the executive council were hosts. Dr W G Dodd, assistant professor in the School of Arts and Sciences, on behalf of the faculty presented Mr Kellum with a scroll signed by all members of the faculty and staff. Mr Elmer O Gannon, director of personnel, was in charge of preparing the scroll.

After the presentation President Campbell expressed on behalf of the board of education, board of control, executive council, and faculty, their respect and appreciation for his fine work. Governor Millard F Caldwell also expressed his appreciation.

The reception which followed the dinner was held from 9-11 p m in the auditorium and music lounge of the Student Alumnae building. The rooms were decorated with spring flowers.

In the receiving line were President and Mrs Campbell, Governor and Mrs Caldwell and

Continued on page Two

Four Defense Films Presented Tomorrow

Senior Hall Sponsors Week's Informative Pictures

Senior Hall members are sponsoring four films for defense week which will be shown tomorrow night in the Augusta Conrad theater. The 45-minute program will consist of four brief films: "Mexican Model," "Rubber Scrap Goes Global," "Spirit of Research," "From the Beachhead," and "Women Behind Guns."

The War Activities committee has been responsible for obtaining the defense films being shown on campus recently. Members of this committee, which is composed of the heads of the organizations belonging to the World Affairs council, are invited to attend the movie and to encourage the campus of Florida State College for more active participation in matters concerning the war.

The films which are shown are released by various government agencies. Most of them are available for showing at short notice. They are obtained free except for the transportation charges. The sum is paid from the money made by selling scrap paper. Miss Elizabeth Lyon, professor of physics, is in charge of getting films from the department to operate the projector.

In the past, not many people have been aware of the opportunity, announced Dot Jean Glass, chairman of the War Activities committee. She also stated that she had several unusually good films secured for the near future, including one on South America to be shown on April 14, during Pan-America Week.

A mistake was made Saturday night when Dot Jean Glass forgot to sign up for the Little Theater, not the Modern Dance Club meeting. The Little Theater, a "vaudeville" before the informational reels.

Five FSC Seniors Match Wits In 'Brain Quiz' at Army Camp

Five seniors from Florida State College matched wits with five servicemen from Camp Gordon Johnston in a "Brain Quiz" held at the Camp Service Club Wednesday evening and won by a very close margin, 242 to 239. The winning, $25 in cash, were contributed to the Red Cross, according to a prize agreement by both groups of contestants.

The five seniors, hailed by the master of ceremonies, Lt. Francis Teter, Special Services officer, as "brains," included Mary Mendenhall, president of CGA and a Phi Beta Kappa; Mary Lucy Mendenhall, chairman of off-campus committee and a Phi Beta Kappa; Virginia Holmes, president of International Relations club; Diana Washbon, social chairman of Landis; and Janet Pancoast, associate editor of the Flambeau and a Phi Beta Kappa.

The girls, driven to and from Camp Gordon Johnston in a staff car, were shown over the camp by the members of the opposing team: M/Sgt Saul Miller, 23 Paul J Earn, of New York City; T/Sgt L E Clayton, Fremont, Ohio; T/Sgt Harold Wilkery, Dairy, Maine; and William F Morse, Cleveland, Ohio.

A boat ride for the girls was cancelled because of the rough condition of the Gulf, but the seniors enjoyed going through the chow line and eating in the mess hall with the boys, a visit to the Non-Commissioned officers club, a tour through the post library, and a tour through the camp area, and inspection of Harborcraft, as well as a much-appreciated lunch after the quiz was over.

The quiz, commented the girls, was on a very high intellectual plane. One of them admitted that "I really didn't know what we were in for." Questions on completion of quotations from literature, science, and history by both sides. Historical dates were identified so rapidly that the MC decided that the questions were getting too easy. Sports questions stumped the girls, whereas the boys gilly named heavyweight champions, baseball heroes, and winning football teams.

Philosophy and music, both classical and popular, were also included. Both sides showed widespread information on many subjects. Questions and repartee were often humorous.

Mrs W H Rogers was the chaperone for the trip.

PKL Invites Dr Campbell

Dean Opperman Tells of President's Election

Dean Emeritus Ella S Opperman, president of the local chapter of Phi Kappa Lambda, national honorary musical society, announced that Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College, has been invited to membership in that organization on a faculty status.

Four students and one alumna were also chosen for Pi Kappa Lambda. The students are Betty Roth Aughenbaugh, Margaret Rose Miller, Joanna Sturgis and Mariam Wilson Wilkinson. All are seniors in the School of Music. Mrs Kathryn R Hann was the alumna honored for membership. Mrs Hann has sung in operas throughout the United States and abroad and is now in her second season with the Gilbert and Sullivan opera company.

Dr Campbell studied voice at

Continued on page Two

Alumnae Group Publishes Bulletin

The Alumnae association of Florida State College has just published its first news bulletin for this year. The publication also contains a summary of the college news, is published each quarter, and is mailed to approximately 7,000 graduates from Florida State. About four-fifths of the bulletins are sent to alumnae living in Florida. The other fifth is to various places over the world. Sixty are sent overseas to the alumnae in Europe.

The bulletins are written up and published by the staff members of Alumnae association. Members of the Alumnae office staff are: Miss Florence Conradi, director; Mrs Margaret J Boyle, vice president; Mrs Julia M Jones, secretary; Miss Catherine P Walters, treasurer; Mrs Ella S Bisbee, past president; Miss Louise Cashen, executive secretary and editor of bulletin; Mrs Jessie Wilson Cashen, assistant editor; and Miss Lattie Baxter, Mrs Minna D Harrell, Mrs Elizabeth B Whitaker, Mrs Cedora Futch, and Miss Marjory Raulerson, who are members of the board.

Junior-Senior Prom Started In 1927; Now Is College Tradition

Since the inaugural Junior Senior Prom was held in 1927 it has become a tradition at the reported orchestra. It has continued to be the most outstanding dance season at Florida State College.

Every year the Juniors and Seniors spend weeks, nearly but seldom unrewarded hours lining up that "special man" for the affair. Then several other social dating rules of FSC are abolished for the Juniors and Seniors.

Quite a few sophomore council girls also look forward to the end of the year for the-last girls and are happy to slagger under the weight of the corsages which one need have no fear of now.

In 1934 the plays that won the Distaff prize were given as a command performance for the Juniors and Seniors. A special section of the Augusta Conrad theater was roped off for the prom-trotters and their escorts.

That year the University of Florida's orchestra, The Florida Bulldogs, played for the affair.

In 1935 Noel Coward's prize play "Hay Fever" was presented before the dance.

In 1941 the East dining hall was decorated in red, white, and blue with Japanese lanterns. The prom was given on Feb 21, in honor of George Washington.

The programs had figures of colonial couples on the front and were written in script for dinner plans.

Russ Morgan's orchestra gave out with "Auld Lang Syne" and other swing music. This was the first time a swing band had appeared on campus.

The bandstand was along one side and was decorated with vines like an old-fashioned garden. Nosegays of flowers were placed on the walls between the windows.

In 1942 Kenny's Aces from Alabama brought along a cool blues singer, Betty Parks and microphones were set up to give the ball an important air.

The theme that year was Sonin Sea Island and Kenny's orchestra played from a thatched hut on one side of the hall.

The hall was decorated with silhouettes of bula maidens and native dancers. Sophomore council girls provided the leis to make the scene authentic.

Refreshments were served from a Chinese junk.

The sororities for the first time held snack parties during intermission and the dancers refreshed thither with their dates.

For several years it has been the custom for the annual prom to have a court made up of three of the most outstanding girls and three of the most popular Senior girls.

The court and their escorts walk in and are seated around the orchestra, then the boys standing behind the girls.

This year the theme combined St. Patrick's Day and Medieval castle style.

The entrance to the dining hall was built over to form a semblance of a moat and drawbridge Sophomore girls opened the doors They were dressed in green and

Continued on page Two

Religion Is Speech Topic

Wolf Speaks to Council Tuesday Evening

"Religion as a Basis for Cooperation" was the theme of the talk given by Rabbi Alfred Wolf, of Temple Emmanuel, Dothan, Alabama, when he spoke to the Religious Workers' Council on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Methodist student house.

Rabbi Wolf defined religion as being based on study worship and charity. He spoke on each topic separately explaining in detail what study of God's word in society today.

Under religious study, it was pointed out that the teaching of religion in the primary grades of public schools would not be advisable, because children of that age are just beginning to build the foundation of the beliefs of their denomination through the teachings of their parents. Teachers are to be selected from the Bible by their own religious ideas which are not the same beliefs of every denomination represented in a classroom.

Rabbi Wolf stated, "America is established on the principle of separation of church and state." He said that although religious study should not be made in public schools, it should always be studied in high schools and colleges as a source of literature so that one might learn about other religions. However, a child studies the taught the beliefs and other faiths besides his parents'.

Rabbi Wolf said that it would be difficult for the denominations to worship together because religion "would become watered down." He said that there could be cooperation here by being tolerate of other religions and by visiting other churches, the individual can understand and learn about other modes of worship and in the end, more deeply appreciate his own religion. It was stated that what should be stressed was not allow ministers of other faiths to preach in their churches or religious gatherings at which this could be done. All churches should have prayer meetings, vespers and other services when outside faiths could be fully represented by visiting ministers.

Through cooperation, Rabbi Wolf said, democracy would be at its best. He stated that charity should remain in its sphere and that no denomination must be met with another. In true democracy, there is exclusion because of race, color or creed. The community chest, he said, is the ground on which where all denominations can meet.

During the war, the various movements that are fostering the brotherhood of Christians and Jews were discussed. These movements, the speaker declared, are the organizations working to better understand what faiths, other than his own, represent.

FSCW Alumnae Act

Senator Charles S Ausley roll of the Florida legislature, chairman of Commerce yesterday that the Florida State College Alumnae Association legislative committee has already written to the legislature concerning the co-education issue.

He said that the alumnae campaign for legislators against "any hasty action" on co-education which might possibly do injury to Florida State College.

Emory President Addresses Honors' Day Convocation; Campbell Presents Awards

242 Students Recognized for B Average for 45 Hours; Freshmen Act as Marshals and Ushers; Mortar Board Plaque Given

Play to Open On April 10

Yellow Jacket to Be Given By Speech Department

A Chinese fantasy will be presented when the "Yellow Jacket" given by the speech department at Florida State College. Adapting the form and spirit of Chinese drama, the play will appear April 10, 11 and 12 in the Little Theater.

The play presents hit drama of a young man's adventures through life from birth through his development as a youth, lover and mature man. Seeking and finding adventure, excitement and satisfaction, he at last finds a meaning for his life.

The conventions of the Chinese stage will be used. Costumes and make-up will be especially elaborate. Special music is being arranged by Mr Frank Sykora, associate professor of cello, with members of the band. They will accompany the actors with musical effect of various kinds through the entire production. Miss Ann Kirn, instructor in art, is in charge of casting and lighting. Since the whole drama takes place in one conventional setting, the traditional property man and his assistants will manipulate the chairs and tables to form the various scenes to provide variety in scenery.

The style is not realistic, the modern stage properties are. The play is "presentational," conveying an idea and philosophy of living in a non-realistic manner.

"The cast is progressing rapidly with the production," said Miss Evelyn Bowman, assistant professor of speech. "The unusualness

Continued on page Two

Arts Contest Has March 31 Deadline

Creative Arts Competition Rules Are Listed

Deadline for the Creative Arts contest sponsored by the American Association of University Women is drawing near. As a final reminder, the general rules for the contest follow:

1. All entries should be in by midnight, March 31.
2. All entries must be original work.
3. There are no limitations as to the number of entries any student may submit.
4. Names of contestants submitting arts and crafts must be written on 3x5 cards and securely attached to the manuscripts.
5. Names of authors of music compositions, and creative writing must not appear upon the manuscripts, but must be written lechly on 3x5 cards and securely attached to the manuscripts.
6. Contestants in the arts and crafts must leave entries in the following places:
   a Fine arts: Miss Ann Kirn, b Industrial arts: Miss Emily Wilburn
   c Textiles and clothing: Miss Helen Richey
   d Photography: Miss Elisabeth Lyon.
10. Announcements of winners will be made sometime in April after the judges have had due time to make decisions.

Religious Choices Listed By Girls

One hundred and fourteen new freshmen expressed preferences for 13 different religious denominations on cards which will be submitted to them early this year, according to a survey recently compiled by the office of the registrar.

The Baptist and Methodist churches each received the stated preference of 27 girls. Twenty girls chose the Presbyterian church; three, the Christian Science; one, the Catholic church; one, the Assembly of God; and nine, the Episcopalian church. Two girls preferred the Lutheran church; one the Seventh Day Adventist; two, the Protestant, and three the Christian church.

Seven girls expressed their preference for the Catholic church, and five chose the Jewish faith.

Only five girls out of the 118 new freshmen stated no preference.

Contributions Soar In Red Cross Drive

Combined faculty and student contributions to the Red Cross drive totaled $1,541.70 out of $2,-356.83, with student contributions making up $813.13 of the whole amount. Faculty and staff, under the direction of Mr Henry P Becker, professor of geography, amounted to $1,541.70.

As a result of door to door campaigns in the dormitories, sponsored by Senior hall, student contributions have netted nearly $150 more than last year.

Mary Lee Wilbers and Jackie Partin were in charge of the plans for the Senior Hall drive for contributions.

Spirit of the Week

COLLEGE COMMENTS

By LETTIE SULLIVAN

While we were sitting in class the other day waiting for a teacher who was about two minutes late we began to wonder how teachers manage to survive all the ill wishes they receive from their students. Tally lassies aren't really malicious, but when a professor is about five minutes late it is awfully hard not to hope that something small, like falling in a mud puddle and having to go home to change clothes, would happen to him so he'd be just late enough for them to sign out and leave. It isn't that we don't enjoy our classes, but with spring being here and the sun shining so brightly outside . . . Oh, well! Professors always seem to arrive just before we can leave officially anyway.

—D—

"Life is full of little trials and tribulations," a well known author was said by someone important who knew things and had lived life and stuff. It can be used to loose friends and alienate people if it is said in the proper ear and at the proper time. Everyone always says it's better to give up who told her best friend at home (male, "natchurly") to meet her at the station, but everything had been arranged beautifully. Everybody's been ready to check, and of course this is the only time they can't possibly stay on campus, but when everyone's sick. Just another test of true love. The only thing that always works is a date, so never can decide who is true to whom.

—D—

We know a lot of tired girls who have gotten up enough energy to attend the Pep Club! There aren't any rules or by-laws that say they have to be a few charter members. It is a very select group made up of the most unathletic people on campus. None of the members are Important People, because they use up all their body energy in a good Phi Club member to do anything. The three and four members that attend is so not do anything that takes a lot of energy, like sports and music. If you haven't been invited to join don't feel slighted because the present members are really too busy not doing anything to find new members. We have been asked to stress the fact that any resemblance between the Phi Club and any other organization on campus is purely coincidental and not intended to be disparaging.

—D—

We know that dreams only last a few seconds at the most and that is why we can never understand how it is that people are always awakened right in the middle of the most fascinating dreams. One girl has been going around in a daze for weeks that isn't speaking to her room-mate because her room-mate woke her up just as she was about to kiss Van Johnson. Then people wonder why we are called Slap Happy Lassies.

—D—

Honor Day was very impressive, so we hear. It is very nice to honor all the bright people on campus by giving a tea. The committee did mean that a lot of week-ends were cut short because they couldn't cut classes before or after Tuesday. It seems a little strange that about the only people at the Honor Day ceremony were the students being honored and the students being honored and the faculty. Even so, a lot of the honored students went to the movies and such instead of being impressed. Maybe students are so cynical or something.

—D—

While we were eating one of our meals in the dining hall the other day we noticed a commotion as food was like here before the war. It must have been awfully hard for the school not to have been able to blame it on the war, but maybe they didn't want't anything to blame.

—D—

We've been listening to a lot of sweet little freshmen all week who have been practicing their songs for Spring Frolics. We suppose it's nice for these cute girls to go there and learn to sing, but there's so much parallel to read and there is going to be another dance concert in town this week-end. Guess we'll go try to borrow 44 cents from someone.

—D—

recessional was "March Militaire" by Stubert.

The invocation was given by the Rev Claud M Haynes, minister of the Trinity Methodist Church of Tallahassee.

Mr Frank Sykora, violincellist, played a solo composition entitled "Fond Recollections." He was accompanied by Miss Mary Esther Peacock.

The honor students marched down the aisle from the back of the auditorium to the platform in academic processional. The seniors wore their caps and gowns and the juniors and sophomores wore white.

Twenty-two freshmen with the highest averages participated in the program. They served as ushers. The 20 highest will have their names on a Mortar Board plaque which is placed in all freshmen dormitories. The freshmen in the order of their averages are: Anne Bright Fielding, Winifred Lane, Juanita Krentzman, and Mary Lowndes Lester. The two were senior marshalls. Annie Bell Dasher, Yolanda Pierce, Mary Harvey Stringfellow, and Laura Lee Butler, junior marshalls. Constance Baker, Jacksonville, Florida; Ruth Mary Bliss, and Ruth Joyce Perry were sophomore marshalls. Due to sickness Ruth Elizabeth Ferguson replaced Ruth Mary Bliss.

The ten ushers were Adrienne Ruth Blumberg, Audrey Evans, Esther Louise Hall, Dorothy Jane Narovec, Pat Pattillall, Lallie Rhodes Pope, Mary Elizabeth Sampson, Alice Josephine Story, and Mary Maud Trowbridge.

Miss Myrtle C Dollen, associate professor of Spanish and German, was chairman of the committee for honors day, Dr Elizabeth O Andrews, Dr Ruth Conner, Miss Mary Lou Hall, Miss Helen Lewis, and Dr Mark DeGraff were also on the committee.

It has been called to the attention of Red Cross drive. Turnabout is fair play; soon the men will be able to buy chances for a week-end date with a Badger Beauty! With the addition of this novel idea the University's Red Cross drive is rapidly heading for the top.

The Daily Cardinal.

—D—

SIX AGES OF WOMEN

1. Safety pins
2. Hair pins
3. Frat pins
4. Diamond pins
5. Clothes pins
6. Rolling pin

The Hatchet

—D—

Many co-eds on the University of Wisconsin campus are supplementing their curricula affairs with one of the most thrilling activities. Dying. At least once each week these girls go out to the airport near Middleton. The girls receive their pilot license after they colo. make a dual cross country, and a solo cross country flight.

The Daily Cardinal

—D—

His wife was a WAVE and he waved at a WAC; The WAC was in front, but the WAVE was in back; Instead of a wave from the WAC he got a smack.

He won but a whack from the WAVE that he'd wed.

Badger Navy News

—D—

"Are you satisfied with continuing the present curriculum at a time when war workers are so vitally needed?" was a question asked by the University of Kentucky students this week.

Many students have worked more than a year in war jobs and others are engaged in war work in addition to their studies. The majority of students felt what an education is as vital to our country in wartime as is war.

The Kentucky Kernal

—D—

Marine: "Beer Please."
Waiter: "Pale?"
Marine: "Aw, just gimme."

The Kentucky Kernal

—D—

With or without men, Texas co-eds have their fun. Approximately 600 girls attended the Valentine dance at which Miss Army Sergeant wearing the Purple Heart, and one blonde sailor were present. Not needing to be on their best behavior before men, the girls really let their hair down and gave out with jitterbugging and all its trimmings.

The Lass-O

—D—

The Sultan got sore with his wife
And invented a way to scare 'em,
He caught him a mouse
which he loosed in the house
(The confounded rat called harem-scarem)

Alabama Polytechnic Institute

—D—

Five hounds at Berkley barked and manhunted Joe recently
Then it was discovered that a course in jazz would be found in the academic offering.

The Daily Trojan USC

—D—

"I'm sick and tired of going out with women who are only five-by-four."

When Ludmilla de Waskowsky, who is all 5 feet 1ah inches, made remark at a local restaurant, the ides for the Glamazon Club at Northwestern was born.

The manpower problem was solved by using a series of personals in the campus daily asking where all the tall males were. An answer appeared from "Tex and Bill," who claimed they were "Glamazon boys" ready to serve. The next day five men over six feet four inches tall presented themselves.

Associated Collegiate Press

CO-EDUCATION TO BE FORUM SOOON

Next Friday the student forum committee will sponsor a special forum on co-education. This can and should be a very good proposition issue concerning all students here on this campus for with the passing of the present proposal for co-education will be one of the most discussed issues to arise during the legislating assembly.

State chamber of commerce's, alumni, FSC Life college students of the University of Florida, the state legislature and other influential and interested groups have focused a great deal of attention on the co-education resolutions. It has been a topic of discussion among many of the faculty members here and on the University campus. Students on the University of Florida campus have had open forums on the subject, special information groups, and newspaper articles.

But until this announcement of the student forum, and with the exception of various posters on the bulletin boards, and a few editorials in this newspaper there has been little attention placed upon the coming issue, considering its great importance on all the students of this college. More forums and open discussion groups of this type should be arranged for the possibility of this will more than likely depend upon the success of this forum.

Students are urged to attend this forum with an open attention and to begin to surmise for themselves the situation and what benefits will and will not follow. It will be called upon by legislators, parents, and all tax payers of this state to testify on the possibility of co-education. And they will have to know what they want and why? It is a hope that this forum can start a new and vital interest for the students here at Tallahassee. They have a privilege and a responsibility. May they take full advantage of both!

Emory President Addresses Convocation

Continued from Page One

made. The colleges are preparing the youth of the world to take part in the world's greatest search for truth and freedom, stated Dr White.

Awards Presented

Other events of the program included the presentation of honor awards and musical selections.

Students who will graduate in May Cum Laude are: Cordelia E Barclay, Grace Dorothy Boardman, Sarah E Calkins, Betty Brooks Chasal, Thelma Isabell Cotter, Elaine Ruth Fletcher, Mary Florence Fox, Priscilla Gillespie, Frances Louise Hines, Edna Earle Hollingsworth, Elizabeth Betty Douglas Lewis, Minna Lee Mcclung, Mary Elizabeth Mcnatt, Mary Lucy Mendenhall, Janet C Pancoast, Mary Nell Pinholster, Isabel Wetherington Rose, Sara Sproull Simpson, Dorothy Jean Tolbert, Mary Lou Wilson, Elizabeth Catherine Troop, Jean Vaughan.

Ruth Fielding and Winifred Lane, with 30 averages, received the Mortar Board Plaque for the best work in freshman class first semester.

Announcement was made of the previous award of the Sophomore Omicron Nu Scholastic Cup to Esther Louise Hall for outstanding work in the School of Home Economics in the previous year.

Delta Perez was given the Senior Award Fellowship which helps Spanish majors prepare to obtain advanced training at the New York School of Social Work.

Mrs Ramona Beard, associate professor of organ, piano, and theory, played the organ prelude and postlude. The processional was the "Grand March from Tannhouser" by Wagner, and the

Collegiate Comeback

By EILEEN DAVIS

With the advent of spring the crusading spirit seems to have entered America's colleges. At the University of Wisconsin, Mrs Glenn Frank, widow of the former university president, has joined "that appears to be a rising tide demanding the complete abolition of high school and college fraternities and sororities. In an article published in the current issue of the Women's Home Companion, Mrs Frank argued that any good that the Greek organizations might do was greatly outweighed by their snobbery, reliance on "pull" and artificial caste systems and undemocratic practices. Fred Pramptel, Interfraternity council vice president, answering for his group, claimed "that any statements of the type made by Mrs Frank showed an ignorance of actual practices and principles of the Greek organizations." Abolish Greek letter societies at the University of Wisconsin? Time will tell.

The Daily Cardinal.

—PS—

As election week draws near to George Washington University, the campus is the scene of a movement for the stamping out of the "straight party ticket" voting evil—"straight party tickets". Too many students are voting for either all of one party or progressive ticket without any idea as to whom they are choosing to represent them in their next government. Candidates who can win the battle against this evil are massively are winning elections. Many students have lost their political rights because they have failed bother to vote. The suggested solution to the problem is to have the use of the Australian ballot bearing the names of the candidates. Through this method may make his selection according to ability rather than party affiliation. This will be the first time in two parties to fan the voting flame and hold closely contested elections.

The Hatchet.

—PS—

Trail Blazing Must End! That's the slogan at Texas State College for Women. Girls this year, students came out with loud squawks and complaints because new cedars were planted in the mud and yet the reason for these walks was all too clear, however tight the shoes, they got muddy only too many feet plus so much tramping across the grass that there is no grass left. For the benefit of the perennial grass-cutters, the walks were added. Now grass would have been effective in cutting out treespaths. Who is the Master's plan. Come sprite and greener grass, even more students seemed to appear. Solution to the confusion of this practice is an open invitation to the girls to be more of the danger, students are campaigning against further trailing of grass and to help the grass better than cement, and their leaders hope to make a word to the wise sufficient.

The Lass-O

—PS—

Pedro Armendariz, top Mexican picture star, made personal appearance at Vallejo's Casa Manana last Friday. Sponsored by the Pan American league, the Mexican star, who is a polo player, horseman and the "he-man" type, spoke to the students about Mexico's film industry. Armendariz has appeared in many Mexican films and is now under contract to Hollywood with Hunt Stromberg.

Daily Trojan.

—PS—

Name Band enthusiasts had their chance for a five-filling evening at the University of Tennessee last Friday when Jan Garber, peranee of Henry Busse and his orchestra in the Y gym put all the jitterbugs to jumping. Beginning with "Shuffle Rhythm" the jamming included a requirement by Roberta and Phil Gray, Henry's talented vocalists, and the famous Busse number "Sweet Lilac." Swingsters were in their glory!

The Orange and White

—PS—

A Red Cross raffle at the University of Wisconsin last week gave co-eds a chance to date three of the leading men on campus over the weekend Girls bought chances during the annual University of winning a date for 50 cents or more. All money went to the tion of the Committee on Scholarships and Loans. The winners of the following students were omitted from the list of students having a B or better average. Barbara Ann Bess, Miami Senior High School; Rachel Ball, DeSoto; Betty T Thompson, St Cloud; Betty May Bell, F K Yonge, Lois Ann Sparkman, Plant; Rubie Elisabeth Plant, Leon; Lois Anna Mertweiher, Sanford, were also eligible for honors on that days.

In This Jo Ann Time

In Hitler's Germany

Ten years ago last week Adolf Hitler set out building the German Army for war with the ordering of general conscriptions for military training. For ten years Adolf Hitler has marked the anniversary, calling it "Heroes' Day." Speeches, parades, and pledges decades became the order of celebration. This year, "Heroes' Day" was not the triumphant affair it had been in the past. Instead of military parades along the flag draped boulevards of Berlin, there were parades of bombs and what Nazis who had been bombed out of their homes. Instead of the usual bragging speech of the Reichsfuehrer, there was merely a broadcasted speech by an underling. There could have been little else, for the German people knew that within the last few weeks the front has called for more troops. And the German people also know that soon there will be no more troops to send since the Reich has an estimated 10,000,000 casualties in the war. Germany, running out of soldiers and supplies, is calling civilians to street barricades. How long they will be able to hold out, Allied military leaders will not put a time limit upon. However, Prime Minister Churchill said, "The war in Europe is going to be won in the winter months—will end sooner than summer ends or even sooner."

On the Western Front

The Allies are maintaining superior weight of men and arms, both in the air and on the ground strength on the western front has been built up. With a steady clearing and strong air support, the main obstacle opposing the Allied armies is the Rhine river. Meanwhile, the battle plans of the Allied command are becoming apparent in the four-way attack on the Saar Basin and in the drive toward the Ruhr.

European Air Battle

Although the fronts in Europe are quiet, the air battle rages on. Allied airmen are knitting the bombsites ever more tightly in coalition war. From the east, west, and from Italy, Allied bombers have thrust deep beyond Germany's natural barriers and smashed their objectives. In the great cities, her industrial and transportation centers, she reels from defenses. The main weight of the Allied bombing attack comes from bases in Britain. France and Italy. For the first time, the newest and world's largest bomb—the eleven-ton bomb—was used to destroy German transportation system. Industrial cities were hit: Essen, Dormund and Barmen.

Bombers Over Japan

The greatest air blows yet struck in the Pacific were dealt left Japan's four largest cities, Tokyo, Nagoya, Osaka and Kobe in ruins in many sections and their people in a state of panic. Reconnaissance photographs of the target areas taken after the raids showed that fires caused by the attacks burned for days and that entire districts, extending for miles, were leveled to the ground. An estimated 1,000-ton payload was delivered. Bombs and vital war production was scattered. A news dispatch from a Russian correspondent in China confirmed panic, much of which was beyond the control of the authorities. Thousands of refugees took every available means of transportation in an effort to leave the cities.

Pacific Operations

At Iwo, where American Marines landed 27 days ago, mopping-up of the last two pockets of Japanese resistance on the island's northern rim was completed. The island is now ready for the land and sea bases.

On the Home Front

President Roosevelt stepped into the picture with a statement to dispute with an announcement that he plans to say something about the Yalta conference. Many people at his press conference today, the country, and the world is eager to the fact and he wants it to know them. Many people have thought a congressional investigation would help—one already has been authorized—but he declined to comment. He said the question was tricky and he'll wait until he talks to congress.

The President has just directed the war mobilization board to study the entire question of establishing a guaranteed annual wage for American workers—long a goal of organized labor—and asked how long he had been contemplating it. He replied that he has been thinking about it for 10 years and that it is now one of his post-war aims.

Reception Honors

Continued from Page One

Mrs Kellum, General and Mrs Holcombe, Secretary of State and Mrs R A Gray, State Treasurer and Mrs A Edwin Lee, State Attorney General and Mrs J Tom Watson, Secretary of Agriculture Nathan Mayo, Commissioner and Mrs J M Lee, Mr and Mrs T T Scott, members of the board of control.

Dr Margaret S Sanders, dean of the school of home economics, was in charge of the reception with Dr Andrews and Dr R L Bowman, dean of the school of education, assisting her.

A copy of the resolution adopted by the board of control states:

"WHEREAS, THERE HAS BEEN RESOLVED by the Board of Control, State of Florida, in regular monthly session on the 17th day of March, A. D., 1945:

First, That the Board of Control does hereby approve Mrs J G Kellum, upon his retirement March 31, 1945, from the position of Business Manager of the Treasurer at the Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee, Florida, its thanks and appreciation for the splendid service rendered during his long period of employment, for all his accomplishments for the institution and the State of Florida, and for his spirit displayed

Play to Open On April 10

Continued from Page One

of the play has added to our pleasure in working on it."

The "Yellow Jacket," retaining the original costumes, has been presented throughout the United States by Charles Coburn and his company. It has been seen in Spain and Germany and translated into a number of languages.

PKL Invites Dr Campbell

Continued from Page One

the conservatory of Quachita College, Arkadelphia, Arkansas and a member of the band and orchestra there, he did special work in the clarinet. He has also conducted a number of musical organizations, among them orchestra at Central College, Conway, Arkansas.

Dr Campbell's Ella Opperman is president of the local Phi chapter of Pi Kappa Lambda. Other officers are: Mrs Ernest Moslow, vice president; Miss Gladys Koch, secretary; Miss Ruby Curran, treasurer; and Professor Walter R Cowles, marshall.

The Florida Flambeau

EDITORIAL STAFF

CORDELIA BARCLAY ..... Editor
LETTIE SULLIVAN, MARY FAGAN ..... Associate Editors
SHIRLEY RUBIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ELIZABETH DOROTHY LANCASTER, JO ANN CARROLL ..... Assistant Editors
ANNE GAITHER, PEGGY RAY ..... News Editors

BUSINESS STAFF

REPORTERS: Virginia Ainton, Mary Alexander, Miriam Angell, Bobbie Bell, Sue Bird, Mary Ann Bolton, Mary Ann Bowden, Betty Brown, Mary Ann Bryan, Betty Jo Dowd, Lucy Fenlon, Georgia Fields, Delores Gardner, Anna Hutton, Ruth Kelly, Betty Lou Kennedy, Betty Lou Lewis, Betty Lou Lowe, Mary Elizabeth Mcleod, Betty Mcmillan, Dixie Reed, Shirley Rodgers, Lois Rose, Mary Ann Simon, Peggy Lu Thomas, Janine Pillman, Marie Waters, Barbara Wickman.

EDITOR'S NOTE: If it is the reporter's desire to have his name in the Flambeau he give equal editorial space and prominence in the editorial column to the Sigma Chi Sing Chapter which won first place.

BUSINESS STAFF

Marianne M Simon ..... Business Manager
Barbara Turpeau ..... Assistant Business Manager
Shirley Rodgers, ... Advertising Manager
Betty Strickland, Bobbie Rose, Dot Miller Dorcas Fields, Lettie Sullivan, Alice Sayers ..... Advertising
Peggy Ray ..... Circulation Manager
Virginia Austin, Kathleen Johnson, Helen Turpeau ..... Circulation Assistant
Eleanor Bayer ..... Collection Manager
Betty Cheshire, Jerry Sanders, Lonely Sommers, Lenna Sims ..... Secretaries
Marianne Simon, Jean Ann Graham, Florence Ginn, Lucille Byrd ..... Typists

Entered as second class mail matter January 30 1913, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla. under the act of Congress of March 3 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

ebutantes Are Listed

mer FSC Students Are Named in Register

h-length pictures of Kitty Jo Dennis, Dunedin; Jane Irvine Tulla Foster Peed, three for- Florida State College stu- appear in the Third Edi- of the Debutante Registrar 1944, an illustrated edition of state's debutantes, recently ed by the library.

Kitty Jo Hickman's pic- appears in the section de- to Florida's debutantes Hickman is the daughter of Mrs. E. Hare Hickman of ainsville. She received her ree of arts degree from FSC 943. She is a member of the sters' club, the Florida Yacht b, Delta Phi literary so- Iota Delta Sigma and Alpha Pi sororities. Miss Hick- ed name in Who's Students in American Col- and Universities.

e second FSC student whose ure appears in this book is Joseph Dunn Irving, daughter of Mr and Mrs Henry Arthur Irving, also of Jacksonville She was FSC social secretary, ember of the Pi Kappa Phi ernity, and a member of the Yacht club, Timuquana ntry club, and the Delta Delta sorority.

Julia Foster Weed, daugh- Mrs. Joseph Dunn Weed, also of Jacksonville is also FSC and the Uni- ity of North Carolina. She is member of Alpha Delta Pi sor-the front page is the dedica- to the national sponsor, Mrs E Pentecost of New Jer- Following this is the re- or its publication, which ins We on the home front, In- ring the long established ational issue, are essential ters in the pages of the ambeau.

ruises New Vogue, Hop - Scotch Claims Student as Victim

The newest vogue on campus to be brushed aline, skinned the hinges of doors, is the hop-scotch craze.

The girls with battered bones, resembling a relief ap of the Appalachian Mountains, n probably been playing soc- ince the last good rain. However even the gentle of hop-scotch has its victims. Ann Cassidy, playing hop- ot in front of the dining room ior hurriedly turned an ankle, wed several square inches of from various parts of her ulmey and that was developed hidden passion for very soft ts on the campus.

Hockey players have a potent ntage over soccer players, in they may wield sticks while ir players have to be content ir feet, and it is al- impossible to inflict wounds ir knees. In hockey, ugh eyes and forehead can ntracted with the ball and the are wonderfully useful for ng a smashing fingers. ir sticks are well adapted

When you plan your next necessary trip, phone your Trailways Agent for information first. Inquire about the best days and schedules. Arrange your trip accordingly, so that you and our service men and women may have a safe, comfortable and pleasant journey.

All Buses Leave
UNION BUS STATION
Adams and Tenn. Ph. 701

Meeting Open

All the college faculty and administration are invited to attend an open meeting of the All-Faculty Study Group on Modification of Curriculum and Degree Requirements to be held on March 27, at 8:15 in the club room of the Student-Alumnae building.

At this time Miss Edith West, associate professor of classics, will report upon her attendance at the conference on the humanities held in Nashville last summer. Following her report, the meeting will be open for general discussion of the committee and of their place in our own curriculum.

Carnival Features Raid, Wild Woman, And Den of Terror

Although nothing seemed to have been done until the last few minutes before 8:15 last Friday night, silence in the fake supermore council raid was a source of momentary panic to some, and although teh escape of the "wild woman" was staged with an extemporaneous and unrehearsed scream, the Carnival carnival was very successful this year.

Revelers who had come out for the carnival in costumes reminiscent of the swinging-gay-nineties, filled the gymnasium warily. A clan reading "Keel over inn or Keel out" hung over the door, and a sign reading "Just inside, reading "Through These Portals Pass the Most Beautiful Girls in the World Pass Out" Loud screams from the den of the wild-woman, George Wallace, greeted them on entering. "Some thought that she was a real one" said one of the hosts at the door.

Jeanette Hollister acted as master of ceremonies and was assisted by Virginia Hatton who appeared in costume of Mother Goose, chasing wallers, a tap routine, and a can-can were all part of the show. The most beautiful was a closely-guarded secret until the unveiling at the end, a letter from bar during the roaring 1920,s. At the end of the show the girls rail was auctioned to the more council girls, and bystanders. Everybody unusually unstrange dived for the exit at the sound of the whistle and the sight of the blue coats.

Council committee's report was that everything was sold except two bags of roasted peanuts which were disposed of, "in the usual," said ona committee member, "the last batch of cookies were turned out ot to be best." Red points for the hot dogs were not found until Friday afternoon, and they were frantically prepared in Jennie Wood's domestic kitchen. From there they were carried in large containers to the gymnasium to be sold.

Ida Lee Rentz, co-chairman of the planning committee, states that the carnival was a great financial success, clearing about $80. "It was great fun" she said, "but we're certainly glad to get it over with."

Members of the show have been asked to repeat their performance at Dale Mabry field.

Guests Give Talks At Dormitory Teas

Regular afternoon teas were held last Wednesday in Bryan, Gilchrist, Cocklin and Longmire Parkside, and Hillside parlors.

At the Landis tea held last Wednesday afternoon, Miss Bobbitta Frolen, state supervisor of home economics, showed color movies on Puerto Rico which she took during her stay there in 1938. Rabbi Alfred Wolf talked to the girls who attended Jennie Murphree's tea on Jewish customs and the Passover.

At Reynolds tea, Vera Brown, and Mary Florence Fox, junior counselors and new Phi Beta Kappa members, were honored with sweet pea corsages made by Barbara Fennel. Francis Williams played the violin and cello.

for rear or flank attacks too because of the closed end.

Students of FSC are warned to be careful playing bridge. Chairs have been known to collapse without reason and getting fingers tangled while shuffling the cards offers unlimited possibilities for hand injuries.

Posters, Articles Displayed In Library 4-H Club Exhibit

Striking green and white posters, factual pamphlets, and numerous award articles on display at the information center in the library this week tell the war-time story of the 4-H Club of Florida.

One large poster features the four-leaf clovers, the club's emblem, in bold red letters. "Florida 4-H Club girls, 12,777 strong, help to win the war". Figures on this poster reveal that in 1943, these girls cultivated 8,134 victory gardens and 2,626 fruit orchards. They raised 39,396 chickens, 1,366 dairy cows, and 1,652 head of live stock. Under the heading, "Conserved Food Canned Products" appears the figure 116,768 quarts. In 1943, too, 8,021 4-H girls enrolled in nutrition classes, 47,101 nutrition meals were served, and 7,933 house furnishing articles were made. 1,512 rooms received paint, and 1,512 rooms beautified and improved.

Helpful slogans which instruct the public to conserve, transform, selection and repair appear in bold black print on another large poster.

Two green and white banners tied in gold give the creed of 4-H girls and the pledge, "To Make the Best Better".

On the table to the left, is a green covered scrap book filled with newspaper clippings telling of FSC 4-H girls and their workers and 2,626 fruit orchards. They raised 39,396 chickens, 1,366 dairy cows, and 1,652 head of live stock. Under the heading, "Conserved Food Canned Products" appears the figure 116,768 quarts. In 1943, too, 8,021 4-H girls enrolled in nutrition classes, 47,101 nutrition meals were served, and 7,933 house furnishing articles were made. 1,512 rooms received paint, and 1,512 rooms beautified and improved.

Helpful slogans which instruct

Prom Court Group Revealed Saturday

Rogers, Lewis and Parker Are Senior Prom Queens

The six members of the junior-senior court were introduced to the student body at the Florida State College from the midst of a green garden surrounding a Blarney stone. The court was announced of three outstanding senior girls and three outstanding juniors. The seniors were listed Rogers, Betty Lewis, and Sheldon Parker. The juniors were Jean Allison and Martha Jane Brown and Betty Jo Chambers.

Several hundred juniors, seniors and their dates danced amid decorations consisting of ferns, palm, shamrocks, clay pipes and other articles suggestive of St Patrick's Day.

Betty Jo McAteer was general chairman of the dance. Committee chairmen were: Kit Land, Janet Rogers, Sandy Bennett, Catherine Barrs, Frankie Hall, Ruth Young, Virginia Collins, Margaret Baug'h, Stella Bayless, Alice Neel, Jean Grainger, Shirley Duggan, June Cobb, Betty Lou Perry, Jo Christine Johnston. All sophomore council members acted as ushers.

Dr Heinlein Congratulates Professor Sykora and Band

Florida State College Band and Mr Frank Sykora, conductor, recently received praise for their fine concert on March 6 from Dr C P Heinlein, professor of experimental psychology. The letter written after the band's spring concert, follows:

"Dear Professor Sykora: Hearties congratulations to you, to your guest conductor—Mrs Jean Hitselberger Schmidt—and to the talented and very able personnel of the band. I am very much pleased without apology in this connection because I know that the high quality which you have achieved such unity of tonal effect nor could it have reached such heights of musical excellence without the admiration and respect toward your genuine and inspiring leadership commands.

"To me, it was a glorious evening that I shall never, too soon. The presentation of colors by the color guard was most impressive. The Marine Hymn and their backtions with amazing rhythmic skill. The colorful uniforms of the band provided a beautiful symbolic background which I shall long remember.

"But more beautiful and impressive than the pattern of colorful uniforms was the thrilling music which sounded from the many instruments played with exceptional skill and professional insight. The performers of the percussion instruments fascinated me more than I can describe in mere words. (Confidentially, for the past 2 years I had an insatiable ambition to become a trumpet player; however, too many other interests have prevented my ambition from being fulfilled.) The comet players and soloists were mellow phrases in the thrilling ribbean Fantsy which will linger long in musical memory. Nor will I ever forget the spontaneous instrumental fluidity which provided such exquisite phrases of emotional depth and longing as experienced in Deep Purple, and Stardust. I hope the Band will play Star Dust.

"Whatever credit may be assigned to the soloists and to the particular sections of the Band, the highest commendation is rightfully that of the Band as a whole. In my estimation, the Band is an institution within an institution. The organization makes for that unity of effort and unity of aesthetic action which is the very essence of true democratic living. The college will continue to have bands in long years to come, but the band will be just like this Band of 1945. It is unique. The reasons are obvious.

"A million thanks to all who participated in this memorable event to provide for an enthusiastic and appreciative audience an outstanding evening of glorious and inspiring music.

"With kindest regards and very best wishes, I am,

Cordially yours,
C P HEINLEIN."

Tully Is Speaker On Probation Work

Mrs W C Tully spoke to the class of Ointment of Juvenile delinquency, Thursday, March 15. Mrs Tully's main topic was the work of the juvenile court.

Saturday, March 10, the class visited the Leon County jail to observe detention conditions for juvenile and adult defendants.

The former Judge Tallahassee is giving the class opportunities to do apprentice work in the probation office. Two days a week members of the class go down to the office and keep records.

Vivitors Speak

The public administration classes of the political science department have been having a series or lectures by experts in personnel and clerical management. Last week the speaker was Miss Margaret Reed, graduate of Florida State College in 1942, who is now chief of position classification for the United States War department in the Canal Zone.

Previous visitors to the classes have been: George White, city auditor, Tallahassee; Robert Jenkins, personnel director, Industrial commission; Dr William Joubert, associate professor of business administration, University of Florida.

Observances Are Scheduled

Holy Week Service To Be Feature of Future

The Reverend Valentine Lee will speak on "St Paul and War and Peace" at the last of the Lenten forums tonight at 8:00 p m at Sage Hall. On Sunday night at the Episcopal student house, the Reverend Alvin Bullen will end the Lenten series of Sunday evening services with a sermon on "God and the Church." There will be a regular Sunday evening services throughout the semester, however.

In observance of Holy Week, there will be services on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 26-28, from 5:45 to 6:05 p m at Sage Hall. At 8 p m on Maundy Thursday, there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at Sage Hall. Good Friday services will be conducted at St John's church from 12 to 3 p m. It is announced that Episcopalians should turn in their Lenten envelopes either at Sage Hall or St John's on, or before Easter morning.

Holy Week is being observed at the Methodist student house by Matins, the early morning worship being conducted Monday through Thursday by seniors who have been active throughout the year. Brief meditations will be by Betty Auchenbaugh, Dorothy Cashwell, Mary Ann Wall, and Adams. On Friday, Miss Alphaeus Lewis will conduct Thursday night, in commemoration of the Last Supper, the Set Claude Haynes will be conducted. Communion at 10 p m. Friday night at the ginner hour, there will be a fast period and the group will forego their evening meal.

On Easter Sunday, the Methodist group will sponsor a special Easter service of music at 10 a m with Miss Lewis directing the choir. At 7:15 p m. the worship services will be culminated by the choral cantata "Bread and Hesrts," a two-char- ister portrayal of Mary and Martha. Doi Slinger will take the part of Martha and Jackie Sandell will be Mary. A worship guide will be presented to every Methodist girl.

Today at 5 p m. the YWA will meet at the Baptist Student House. Tuesday, Wed, at 6:45 each morning, Morning Watch will be based on the Easter season.

Recital Presented Monday Afternoon

The weekly student music recital will be presented in Westcott auditorium Monday afternoon, March 26, at 4:30 o'clock.

Piano selections will be played by Kathleen Johnson and Eleanor Ruth Wall Berry Cowan, Margaret Smith, and Evelyn Ann Hilliard Scrivens accompanists.

A vocal number will be rendered by Elva Mary Florrid, accompanied by Mrs Florrid, at violin ensemble, composed of Evelyn Abells and Rachel Croteau, will play "Andantevanki Minor" Opus 57 in three movements.

Course To Be Held

The first war-time short course for outstanding 4-H Club girls and parts of Florida will be given here at Florida State College early in June, it was announced recently by Miss Mary E Keown, state home demonstration agent.

These girls, chosen by their counties to attend the course offered here, will study such things as gardening, poultry raising, homs dairying, canning, and nutrition.

Employees Wanted

To Seniores

The Equitable Life Assurance Society is anxious to send a representative here to interview prospective employees. This company is not necessarily concerned about receiving applications from commercial majors only, so any senior in another field who might be interested is asked to come to the Personnel office.

Two graduates of the Class of 1943 are employed as cashiers with this organization now.

ELIZABETH G ANDREWS,
Director of Personnel.

Select Your Easter Bonnet
from
MARION'S
HAT SHOP

Exam Scheduled

The Psychological Examination will be given at 5 p m on Monday, March 26, in Room 303, Westcott. All students who have not taken this exam are expected to do so at this time.

ELIZABETH G ANDREWS,
Director of Personnel.

Student Senate Passes Changes in Gold Book

Continued from Page One

must have removed all conditions and failure in subjects necessary for graduation. She must maintain a 1.0 grade ratio to continue in office.

"A student previously enrolled in regular sessions who was asked to withdraw from the scholastic average must maintain a grade ratio of 1.0 for three quarters in order to receive a passing candidacy in office."

Section three was approved to read: "All students must have a grade ratio of 1.0 for two quarters immediately preceding appointment. They must maintain a 1.0 to continue in office."

Civil Code Changed

For use in the quarter system the convocation cut ruling ras that students personally absent in bodies, including day students, shall attend convocation programs. Each student will be allowed one cut per quarter other than those which may be used for house meetings, 2 for dead week and exams. In the first quarter, one will be taken for YWCA Recognition Service and the Investiture Service, if it comes. The students should attend at least 4 out of the 5 remaining convocations. The students should attend at least 4 out of the 5 remaining convocations. The council has been Carolyn Allison, new president of COA.

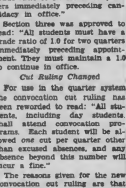
In the second quarter there will be honors' day, CGA installation, and the Festival of Mortar Board, which will leave only 4 convocations, one of which may be cut.

Audit Ruling Changed

Senate also passed a change in the "under auditing rules" which is that "audits shall be made at the end of the first quarter and at the termination of each treasurer's term of office."

Amendment Rejected

Another resolution which was discussed and not passed was that vacancies occurring in class offices, if the remainder of the term in office did not exceed one quarter before regular elections, shall be filled through appointment by the remaining class officers.



In favor of the change in the ruling was Betty Lewis, president of the senior class, who stated that since so few people come to the senate meeting, and because 91% are required to pass on an election the quarter is too short to allow for the two or three meetings usually required to obtain the personnel. She said that the change was expedient to fiuminate the slowness under the present system.

Elizabeth McFarland, editor of the Datniff, was not in favor of the change. She said that even though the present process is long, sacrifices must be made in a democracy. She continued that since students do not use their privileges is no reason for taking away the privileges.

Other senators gave their views on the pro and con of the change after which the bill was defeated.

The resolutions that were passed for changes in the Gold Book

Fleet Footed Flats
for Flying Around Town!

$5.50

White—
Red—Green—
Black—

Turner's

Handbook Is SSC Project

Council Prepares Book For Social Chairmen

"A Handbook for the Social Chairmen in the Dormitories" is the present project of the Social Standards Council.

Realizing that there is no organised way by which the social chairmen of the dormitories will know their duties and how to follow them through, the Social Standards Council is preparing a handbook. This handbook will contain all of the information that a social chairman will need. The handbook will be ready for the social chairmen next year.

Selected for their position by the Social Standards chairman, Dorothy Boardman, with the aid of the residence counselors, the social chairmen have had no previous experience and have very little information in regard to their duties and methods of carrying them out. The handbook, which is still in the elementary stages, will contain all the information concerning social functions in the dormitories, and also to formal dances, which the social chairman will be in charge of.

The handbook will explain how these functions have been carried on in previous years, if it has been invited, the number of students on the various committees, where services are to be secured will be kept, affairs and functions of the individual halls, and other such necessary information.

Dorothy Boardman stated that the handbook was a necessity because of traditions which have been lost due to changes in personnel. She said that Reynolds hall did not have its annual birthday party this year due to a change in the residence hall counselors who were not informed of the event.

The handbook will put into written form all of the traditions of the school which have been formerly transmitted by those who were here in previous years.

A committee was selected to be responsible for the actual organization of the handbook. Gloria St Clair Smith, social chairman of New Hall, is the chairman of the committee. This committee will work with the guidance of Dean Olivia P Gardner, and other members on the committee are social chairmen of their respective halls: Mary Nell Faddeo, Broward hall. Doris Mobleach, off-campus house, Mildred Turner, campus house, and Alice Walton, Reynolds hall.

The work on this handbook was started at the beginning of this school year, but it has just now been revealed. The handbook will be given to each social chairman at the beginning of the next school year.

Each social chairman will write up a report of the activities which she has conducted during her time in office. These reports will be handed down to the future social chairmen so that they may have a first-hand account of what is to be expected of them.

Items Auctioned

There will be an auction in the Student-Alumnae building auditorium on Monday, March 26, at 7:30 p m. Jewelry, records, typewriters, and clothing are among the articles that will be auctioned.

were presented in a committee report by Rosetta Carver, appointed by Senate to investigate necessary changes which Senate should recommend in order to fit into the quarter system.

Send Him Your Photograph for EASTER!
BOUTWELL'S STUDIO

FLORIDA
Today and Tomorrow
"PRINCESS & THE PIRATE"
Sunday and Monday
"DOUGHGIRLS"
Tuesday Only
"GOING TO TOWN"
Wednesday thru Saturday
"MEET ME IN ST. LOUIS"

STATE
Today and Tomorrow
"ONE BODY TOO MANY"
—and—
"SADDLE LEATHER LAW"
Sunday and Monday
"MONSTER MAKERS"
—and—
"SINGING SHERIFF"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"MRS. PARKINGTON"
Thursday Only
"THE CONSPIRATORS"
"MERRY MONAHANS"
Friday and Saturday
"Where Are Your Children"
—and—
"SHERIFF OF LES VEGAS"

RITZ
Last Time Tonight
"TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT"
—and—
"THREE LITTLE SISTERS"
Saturday Only
"COWBOY AND SENORITA"
Sunday and Monday
"GILDA"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"CALL OF THE JUNGLE"
—and—
"ROOKIES IN BURMA"
Thursday and Friday
"EYE OF ST. MARK"
—and—
"MY BEST GIRL"

"fashion firsts"
Be Dutiful . . .
Be Beautiful
for EASTER!
+
The College Shop
102 East College Avenue

Tavern Is Setting of Skit For Freshman Carnival

Highlighting the Freshman Carnival which was held last Friday night at 8 o'clock in the gymnasium was a program composed of talented students from the class of 1942. Side shows and game and food concessions were other attractions offered.

The setting of the skit was a waterfront tavern of the Gay Nineties, the Keel Over Inn and Keel Out," an unapproved place according to the Gold Book." Jeanette Hollister is a drunkard, was master of ceremonies.

Opening the acts was a bartenders' quartet, consisting of Pat Harrison, Eugenia Booth, Sonnie Hayes, and Ann Pressly, singing "Clementine.' Ginger Hatton and Anna Horne presented a scene between a drunkard at the bar and his daughter, bringing the remark, "How did we get in here? Doesn't she know this place is unapproved or hasn't she read her Gold Book?"

Emily Phillips sang "Temptation." Ruth Brokaw gave a specialty dance and Johnnie Myers sang "A Good Man". Betty Jo Wilson, Gladys Risbey, Sarah Daugherty, Catherine Hollaway, Janet Robertson, Joyce Williams, Marilyn Watson, and Mary Morris danced the "Can Can." Joyce Evans and Bob Lee Rentz gave a Negro dialogue. An Apache dance was performed by Ruth Brokaw, Peggy Heller, and Lyn Hatton. Anne Singleton ran through the tavern carrying a plan of water because "Senator Hall's on fire!"

In the side shows were; Mary Ann Walls, the wild woman; Shirley Crawford and Jean Ann Bamsdell, whose voodoo girls; Connie Baker, the fat lady; Jean Bennett and Marinall Lee Vernon, the twin dim wits; Marilyn Dewey, the bearded lady; Polly Cagle, the tattooed lady; and Jo Ann Long and Lillian Brown, fortune tellers.

Other concessions were bowling, bingo, darts, beanbags, the ouija board, and cakewalk conducted by Jane Long and Carlos the evening. Hot dogs, cocacolas, candied apples, and peanuts were sold.

Arrangements for the Carnival were made by Connie Rogers, Martha Peacock, and Rosemary Marcoux, co-chairmen of the planning committee; Babe McCarthy and Jean Ann Ramsdell, of the decorations committee; Tommie Thompson and Jean Sharer, of the concessions committee; Jo Ann Long and Virginia Lee Shepherd, of the costumes committee; and Bech Fuhrer and Betty Kennedy, of the publicity committee.

Open House Is To Be Event At New Hall

New Hall, the latest dormitory addition to Florida State College, will hold open house next Wednesday afternoon from 4:30 to 6:30.

All faculty members and prominent state and local officials have been invited to attend open house at New Hall.

Floor hostesses for the event will include: Gloria Reed, Barbara Dena Wilson, Virginia Allstock, Shearer Hines, Betty Moore, Mary Ellen Marshall Cannon, Lucille Palmer, Barbara Irving, Jacquelyn Rogers, Jean Delaney, Ava Walsh, Betty Bassmore, Virginia Black, Nancy McEdwards, and Mamie Marsh.

Nancy McEdwards is in charge of the ushers who will wear white dresses.

At the punch bowl will be Mrs H D Mendenhall and Mrs Margaret Mattice.

FSC Is Winner Of Swim Meet

U of NC and Duke Fellow In Southern Region

The Florida State College swimming team placed first in the southern division of the national telegraphic swimming meet, according to a telegram received from the regional headquarters in Durham, North Carolina.

Miss Margaret Clemente, faculty sponsor for the swimmers, stated that the telegram had just come from Duke University announcing the FSC supremacy in the southern region. National results have not yet been compiled.

Second to Florida State College in the South came the woman's college of the University of North Carolina, with Duke representing third place.

The telegraphic meet is a type of national competition for women in collegiate swimming. The United States is divided into regions, and the colleges in each region holds individual meets and mail results to the regional sponsor. Mary Washington college, which represents the national sponsor, will telegraph the final results to the colleges when they are compiled.

Carol Claus of Hollywood succeeded in breaking several pool records and a Southern record. Other first place winners in the meet were Betty Jane Singleton, Wilmer Park; Ann Horne, Peg Land, and Nancy MacEdwards, Lakeland.

The other picked swimmers in the local meet were Betty Donnelly, Ruth Brokaw, the guests at Twentieth Century Fox, film producers. Approximately 10 members of Orpheum went out to Wakulla Springs at 9 o'clock Sunday morning in a bus driven by Newt Perry, manager of the Wakulla Springs Lodge. The purpose of the trip was to make a short.

Upon arriving at the springs, the girls donned their swimming suits and went into the water. The first morning several takes were filmed of the girls in technicolor. Members of Tarpon wore yellow swimming suits.

A swimmers' lunch consisting of sold sandwiches was served at noon, after which the Tarpon members again went swimming. The cameramen of 20th Century Fox were prevented from doing any further filming in the afternoon because the cloudiness of the weather.

The Wakulla Springs Lodge served the girls dinner at 6 o'clock, after which they returned to Florida State College. Betty Jane Singleton, co-president of Tarpon, said, "We really had a wonderful time, and hope to be able to go to Wakulla soon."

Mary Louise Perry acted as director during the trip, and Miss Grace Fox, member of the physical education department, was chaperone.

Initiation Planned

The meeting of the Coitilion club in the Tent at Alpha Delta Pi house Monda yafternoon, Betty Lou Christian, president, announced this week.

This was a joint meeting of the members and tape. The tape were asked to bring the top hair they had made in order to get each member to sign them. This procedure is part of their initiation

The formal initiation for the present tape will be next Thursday.

Kappa Delta Plans For Annual Visit From Mrs Dan Hart

The Kappa Alpha chapter of the local Kappa Delta sorority will be visited by Mrs Dan Hart, president of Beta Province of Kappa Delta sorority.

This will be Mrs Hart's official yearly visit to the chapters in her province which is composed of the states of Florida, Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina.

Due to the briefness and informality of the visit, a closer "cepting will be held at the Kappa Delta chapter house Thursday night for members and Tallahassee alumnae.

Marjorie Woodbery is in charge in farrangements for Mrs Hart's visit.

Mrs Hart is a native of Pensacola. She attended Florida State College, where she was active in campus affairs.

The Kappa Delta work began at FSC where she was treasurer and then president to Kappa Alpha chapter.

Since her marriage to Dan Hart of Uniontown, Alabama, she and her husband have continued to live in Pensacola.

Mr Hart is an architect. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. There are two children, Sally, aged 8 and Bob, aged 3.

Mrs Hart is interested in Girl Scout work. She has served for the past two years as Scout Commissioner for the county council there.

Faculty Honors Students With Coffees, Teas Following Honors Day Program

Teas and coffees were given throughout the afternoon and evening of Scholastic Honors day honoring those students who maintained 45 hours of credit and averaged a B or above.

These teas and coffees were given by the various departments and faculty members for the honored students in their respective departments.

The honor students in the department of education were invited to attend a tea given by Dr and Mrs R L Ryman in the main lounge of the Rowena Lemmire building.

The English and journalism departments gave a tea for the honor students who are library assistants and also those receiving honors in the department. The tea was held in the home of Miss Hazel Sherwood, 1115 E Louie Richardson or W Park and Woodward aves.

The ballroom of the Longmire building was also the scene of a tea given by departments of economics and commerce. at which students of the department were entertained.

The modern language department and faculty entertained their students with a reception that at an informal reception that took place in Broward lounge at 8 p m.

Students of high standing in the music department also received of Dean and Mrs K O Kuersteiner st a tea in Gilchrist parlor.

Student assistants and assistants of the registrar's office attended a tea given by Dr and Mrs M W Cartmell and Miss Eve May Atwood in the Rowena Lemmire dormitory.

Dr Liddell invited all honor students whom she had taught to attend a tea given in her home at 647 W Pensacola st.

The department and faculty of home economics opened the Home Management house to their students after they held an informal tea.

Honor students of history, government and social science be gathered in Broward louine for their tea given by the faculty of the departments.

Dr and Mrs C P Heinleth held assistants and also those receiving honors in the department. The tea was held in the home of Miss Williams st, as did Dr Elizabeth Hunt Sherwood, 1115 E Louie Richardson or W Park and Woodward aves.

The ballroom of the Longmire building was also the scene of a tea given by departments of economics and commerce. at which students of the department were entertained.

The modern language department and faculty entertained their students with a reception that at an informal reception that took place in Broward lounge at 8 p m.

Students of high standing in the music department also received of Dean and Mrs K O Kuersteiner st a tea in Gilchrist parlor.

After dinner coffees were also given by faculty members in honor of the honor students. Those were Mr and Mrs J L Vance and Miss Pearle Ireland, who entertained outstanding journalism students at Miss Shephard's home at 94 W Pensacola st.

Dr Dorothy Rose Disher also invited honor students to her home at 1020 Park Ave for afternoon coffee.

Faculty members in charge of the Honors Day ceremonies were Dr Elizabeth Andrews, Dr Ruth Pearce Strand, who acted as Gladys Koch, Dr Hazel Stevenson and Miss Myrtle E Dolbee.

Dog Crashes Prom; Sophomore Council Girls Evict Him

Sophomore Council girls can handle almost any situation from homesick freshmen to keeping people without tickets out of a dance; but they almost met their waterloo at the Junior-Senior Prom. It was the intermission; everything was running smooth ly, and some of the Sophomore Council girls who were active as hat check girls had finished their jobs and were standing

A large red chow dog walked into the dance looking as though he had been a shrewd little thief, checked his hat and was ready to dance.

Two Sophomore Council girls grabbed him by the back of the collar and tried to drag him out of the dance. The dog was unwilling to go but finally the girls got him out to the amusement of the rest of the dancers. And the dance went on.

Sororities Feature Week-End Trips and Informal Parties

The Alpha Delta Pi sorority entertained with a Sunday afternoon coffee last Sunday evening at the Alpha Delta Pi house. Receiving for the occasion were Mary Stalling and Jean Simon.

Bonnie Brice and Virginia Johnson were in charge of the Alpha Chi Omega Sunday supper on the terrace last Sunday evening. Guests members and their guests enjoyed.

The Alpha Gamma Deltas have had several dates for the annual weekend which will be March 31-April 1.

Installation of officers took place at the chapter meeting of the Alpha Phi Omega held on Monday night in the Mary Palmer Parlor, Mrs Fairchild, a faculty member, is guest at the meeting. Plans for the initiation of the new chapter to go to Wakulla Springs this Saturday. Buses will leave at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and will return around eight. Mrs Fairchild will be chaperone to the trip.

The Phi Mu sorority is having a formal dinner-dance tonight at the Phi Mu house. There will be dancing games, and refreshments. All of the members and their dates will attend Wednesday night the Phi Mu pledges and activitses. Ann Weiderquist, is the new pledge.

This weekend, twelve of the Phi Mu girls are going to Gainesville to attend a weekend at several fraternities there.

Mrs R M Levy Has Doll Exhibit In Education Building

An exhibit of dolls made by Mrs R M Levy are on display in lower Education building until March 27. Mrs Levy is the mother-in-law of Eloise Goulding Levy and made the dolls for her grandson, Rich Levy.

The dolls are made of socks and stockings and are stuffed with cotton. Many of the dolls have removable clothing which can be taken off and washed. Some of the dolls represent characters of Hula girls, a West Point cadet, Chinese ladies, mammy dolls, Eskimo, and many other types of salt, short and brightly arrayed.

Mrs Levy, after making a few dolls, invited all the neighbor's children. They became very popular, not only with the children, but with the adults as well. Requests came in and Mrs Levy became a busy woman. She sold dolls to parents, for their children, and to doll collectors.

Mrs Levy found that a thriving business was in the making. However, she turned down commercial offers and now makes only a few for her grandchildren.

Tennis, Softball, Archery To Begin

The Women's Athletic association announced that the new sport season would begin Monday afternoon, March 26, at 5 o'clock. Sports for this season will be tennis, softball, and archery. Blanche Parker is the archery leader and the Evan leader will be appointed. In softball Frai. Ann Evans is the Evan leader and Allese Trieste fills the some position for the Odds. Caroline Pierce will head the Odd archery and Charlotte Bourland will head the Evens assistants who will be named at a later date. She expects this information to be compiled in its finished form within a few weeks at which time it will be given to Dean Olivia N Dorman for approval. The information will then be ready for the new students for the coming school year.

The Evens practice on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and the Odds practice Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

Odds Triumph in Hockey Game With Score 2-1 Last Saturda

Odd hockey team scored goals to the one goal scored by the Evens in the annual Odd-Even games played on hockey field Saturday at 1.

The game was played fast and furiously amid the rooting cheers of the large crowd which followed.

The Odd cheerleaders led the followers to one cheer after another while the Even cheerleaders retaliated with yell for yell.

At the half the score was 0-0. The Odds made a quick run down the field for the first score. Within two minutes the Evens' wards had carried the ball down the length of the field and placed it between the Odd goal posts to tie the score.

Between the third and fourth quarters, the Odd team lined up with their sticks across their shoulders and marched solemnly across the field to present the Evens team with a large box of green and yellow candies.

In the last few minutes of the fourth quarter, the Odds made a push-! up to the Even forward and adroitly placed the little white ball between the Even goalkeeper to score the winning goal.

The whistle blew with the Odds team in possession of the ball on the way to the Odd goal.

Miss Henrietta Greenberg, recreation director in charge of the games and referee, said the teams were better matched than they have been in years and expressed great satisfaction with the skill in techniques the players.

"They have worked faithfully and hard," she said, "and it is a great interest and long hours of practice when a game is played in such perfection."

Just before the game, the Even team aroused great interest among the spectators when the entire team marched in important looking formation in the center of the field with only several feet sticking up in the air among the backs to the spectators.

The crowd guessed they were to somethings many than the additional good luck with. The entire Even team emerged with their sticks in their hands after the wielding of a brush and even paint.

They were artistically arranged with war stripes of green and yellow across cheek, chin, and head.

The Even team members were: Anna Geise, Rosa Lee Davis, Irvin Stucky, Joyce Garman, Tom Langston, Sarah Bennett, Sara Dowell, Audrey Perry, Lina Sheperd, Frankie Hall Beloy, Ann Mahoney, Ann Ward, Marion Floyd, Jane Lyles, and Annette Thompson.

The members of the Odd team were: Anita Need, Clarice Tribble, Nancy Ward, Betty Carr, Grace Lindberg, Lois Rose, Margaret Gibbs, Mary Ellen Mc-Alice J. Trieste, Isabel Rose, Priscilla Gillette, Marion Lewis, Ann Mahoney, Mary Nell Cobb, Ann Willis, Bobby Leonard, and Nancy McEdwards.

Carothers Surprised

Dr Milton W Carothers, ...ead grar, was given a surprise party by staff Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock. A huge devil's food cake bearing the familiar "Happy Birthday" greeting was the center of the celebration.

Garnet and Gold FSC Radio Program Broadcasts Weekly

The Garnet and Gold radio program broadcast every Sunday on the air since last October has practically become g college tradition. Since that time every Thursday night the broadcasting committee of the Florida State College for Women. Garnet and Gold is on the air—Thursday, 10:30 to 11 p m. of college news and music, broadcast by remote control through the studio of station WTAL in Tallahassee.

The college studio, located on the fourth floor of the Student-Alumnae building, according to a statement by Mrs Dorothy Dodd, "looks almost like any CBS or NBC studio. Credit for this is due to FSC's resident engineer, Col H D Mendenhall, who gave the studio its professional appearance. The insulated walls, glass-enclosed control room, and soundproof doors.

For several months Dr Herman Kurz, professor of botany, head of the radio committee, worked on plans for the operation of the studio. Last fall Miss Martha Boone Worth, publicity secretary, was appointed public relations officer and radio coordinator for the college. On October 26 the first Garnet and Gold program was presented, starting Dr Doak S Campbell and the faculty trio, composed of Professor Frank Pelton, cellist; Miss Mary Esther Winslow, pianist; and Miss Olga Ritter, violinist. The trio plays by transcription every Thursday night on the program.

One of the visions for the future of the studio is to have a regular Florida Mutual hook-up so that at regular intervals, perhaps once a month, people throughout Florida may listen to the Garnet and Gold program directly from the campus.

Next broadcast will be Thursday afternoon at 5:30 in the P Phi house.

Betty Lou said that Cotillion would continue its regular dance classes every Thursday night at 7:30 i nReynolds recreation room and at those who have been attending are urged to continue coming so that they may get each successive lesson.

Classical Club Plans Week-end

Plans for a weekend observing Roman holidays were made at a meeting of the Classical club Wednesday night. Slides on Greek and Roman amusements were shown to members by Dr Edmonds Caskin.

The Roman banquet, will climax the weekend, which will be spent at camp lake in April. Members of clothing of Roman costumes. Election of officers will be held at a business meeting during the week.

Chairmen of the various committees appointed at the social occasion are: Joy Little, nominations; June Anderson publicity; Ann Ward, program; Betty Little, entertainment; Betty Hunter, arrangements; Edie Pae Stokes food, and Betty Spear, collection.

April 16 Date For Junior Minstrels

Junior Minstrels will be presented at 8:00 p m on April 6 The following committees have been announced: Bess Daniels, chairman; Bebe Daniels and Marjorie Perry, dance committee; Audrey Dunsmore, Gertrude Nostine, publicity; Sarah Bennett, program; Evelyn Buckner, properties; Kit Land, lighting Marion Looby Corrine Johnston Frankie Hall and all committee members, script.

Rehearsals have already gotten under way. Anyone who wants to work on any of these committees should contact Dot Tucker.

Letters To Be Sent

In conformative form letter will be sent to each freshman and transfer before their arrival at school next year. This letter, explaining the various social functions and social behavior at Florida State College, is an attempt of the Social Standards Council to aid the new student in knowing more about the school.

Diana Washburn is chairman of this committee and will have two

Dance Crashes Prom; Sophomore Council Girls Evict Him

Sophomore Council girls can handle almost any situation from homesick freshmen to keeping people without tickets out of a dance; but they almost met their waterloo at the Junior-Senior Prom. It was the intermission; everything was running smooth ly, and some of the Sophomore Council girls who were active as hat check girls had finished their jobs and were standing

A large red chow dog walked into the dance looking as though he had been a shrewd little thief, checked his hat and was ready to dance.

Two Sophomore Council girls grabbed him by the back of the collar and tried to drag him out of the dance. The dog was unwilling to go but finally the girls got him out to the amusement of the rest of the dancers. And the dance went on.

Sororities Feature Week-End Trips and Informal Parties

The Alpha Delta Pi sorority entertained with a Sunday afternoon coffee last Sunday evening at the Alpha Delta Pi house. Receiving for the occasion were Mary Stalling and Jean Simon.

Bonnie Brice and Virginia Johnson were in charge of the Alpha Chi Omega Sunday supper on the terrace last Sunday evening. Guests members and their guests enjoyed.

The Alpha Gamma Deltas have had several dates for the annual weekend which will be March 31-April 1.

Installation of officers took place at the chapter meeting of the Alpha Phi Omega held on Monday night in the Mary Palmer Parlor, Mrs Fairchild, a faculty member, is guest at the meeting. Plans for the initiation of the new chapter to go to Wakulla Springs this Saturday. Buses will leave at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and will return around eight. Mrs Fairchild will be chaperone to the trip.

The Phi Mu sorority is having a formal dinner-dance tonight at the Phi Mu house. There will be dancing games, and refreshments. All of the members and their dates will attend Wednesday night the Phi Mu pledges and activitses. Ann Weiderquist, is the new pledge.

This weekend, twelve of the Phi Mu girls are going to Gainesville to attend a weekend at several fraternities there.

Mrs R M Levy Has Doll Exhibit In Education Building

An exhibit of dolls made by Mrs R M Levy are on display in lower Education building until March 27. Mrs Levy is the mother-in-law of Eloise Goulding Levy and made the dolls for her grandson, Rich Levy.

The dolls are made of socks and stockings and are stuffed with cotton. Many of the dolls have removable clothing which can be taken off and washed. Some of the dolls represent characters of Hula girls, a West Point cadet, Chinese ladies, mammy dolls, Eskimo, and many other types of salt, short and brightly arrayed.

Mrs Levy, after making a few dolls, invited all the neighbor's children. They became very popular, not only with the children, but with the adults as well. Requests came in and Mrs Levy became a busy woman. She sold dolls to parents, for their children, and to doll collectors.

Mrs Levy found that a thriving business was in the making. However, she turned down commercial offers and now makes only a few for her grandchildren.

Tennis, Softball, Archery To Begin

The Women's Athletic association announced that the new sport season would begin Monday afternoon, March 26, at 5 o'clock. Sports for this season will be tennis, softball, and archery. Blanche Parker is the archery leader and the Evan leader will be appointed. In softball Frai. Ann Evans is the Evan leader and Allese Trieste fills the some position for the Odds. Caroline Pierce will head the Odd archery and Charlotte Bourland will head the Evens assistants who will be named at a later date. She expects this information to be compiled in its finished form within a few weeks at which time it will be given to Dean Olivia N Dorman for approval. The information will then be ready for the new students for the coming school year.

The Evens practice on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and the Odds practice Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

I'm looking for your DURA-GLOSS nail polish
says Cupid

... Dura-Gloss is the nail polish that brings out the sparkle and lovelyness of every woman's nails. Goes on so s-m-o-o-t-h-l-y... Dries so fast and completely... Stays on and on. Smart women, everywhere, keep Dura-Gloss always "on hand"...
10¢, plus tax.
Cuticle Remover Polish Remover Dura Cote
LOPE LABORATORIES, PATERSON, N. J. • POWDERED FOR TERMINAL EFFECT

Peace Plans

The Florida Flambeau

Co-Ed Plans

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Tallahassee, Florida

VOL. XXXII, No. 21

MARCH 30, 1945

Dumbarton Oaks Proposals Are Subjects of Panel Talks By Faculty Group Wednesday

Irish, Illsley, Parker, Vance Discuss Agreements, Constitutional Aspects, Problems And Creation of Public Opinion

The Dumbarton Oaks proposals, their constitutional aspects, the problems of international organization, and the creation of international public opinion were topics discussed at a forum sponsored by the International Relations committee of AAUW and the International Relations club of the college. The forum was presented Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in the S A B auditorium in compliance with a request by the Department of State that pressure groups urge over the country work to acquaint people with the nature of the Dumbarton Oaks proposals.

A panel of speakers including Miss Daisy Parker, Dr. Lucretia Vance, Miss Mariam B Irish, all instructors in political science, Mr. Ed Rood Vance, instructor in journalism, talked to the large audience composed of members of the organizations, faculty members, and students, and answered questions in the open forum which followed.

Proposals

According to the Dumbarton Oaks proposals, Dr Irish said, the planned international organization which is based on "the sovereign equality of all peace-loving states," has as its principal organs the General Assembly, a Security Council, an International Court of Justice, a Secretariat, and a number of subsidiary organs. The organization, which is to be called the United Nations, was approved by Great Britain, Russia, China, and the United States at the Dumbarton Oaks conference in Washington, D C., during last August and September. The proposals will come up for consideration and may be altered at the United Nations conference of "peace-loving nations," a term which Dr. Irish explained includes all nations now at war.

Continued on page three

Dr Annis Discusses Catholic Doctrines

Religious Beliefs Explained To Students in Forum

The basic dogmas of the Catholic religion were succinctly discussed by Dr E R Annis, Tallahassee physician and a member of the Cathedral church, with a group of Florida State College students on Monday evening at the Student Alumnae clubroom.

This forum was last in the series of religious forums sponsored by the worship committee of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Dr Annis said that fundamentally Catholicism was the same as the other Christian religions. The basic principle of belief is to live in such a way as to merit eternal happiness in the hereafter.

"The Catholic church is the Shiboleth by which its members are edified and by which some C hold views," said Dr Annis.

The speaker explained that Catholics are predestined because each one is held responsible for the entire membership of the church's existence.

After this general introduction Dr Annis made a chant

Continued on page three

Meyer To Speak On Department Stores

Miss Beatrice Fischer Meyer, Personnel Director of the David-Jo Peters store, and Atlanta's leading department stores, will speak on "Jobs for Women" in the College Girl's Oyster," Wednesday, April 4, at 5 p m in 303 Science.

Miss Meyer will be accompanied by Miss Bee Todd Withers, class of '42, who entered the Davison-Paxon Training School after her graduation from FSC and who is now assistant buyer for the Atlanta store.

Miss Meyer selects the college graduates who become members of the Davison-Paxon Training School, which prepares girls for store executive work in the store. While she is in the south she will interview seniors who are interested in department store work.

Her talk on Wednesday afternoon, sponsored by the personnel office is one of the series of vocational guidance talks scheduled for this semester. Miss Meyer will present a glimpse of the workings of Davison-Paxon, an affiliate of Macy's department store in New York, and at the same time will give information concerning requirements and expectations in the field of retailing.

Although the annex will, upon completion, be only one story in height and have only two rooms it is understood will make it possible to build additional floors to correspond with the main building at a later date.

The materials being used consist of reinforced concrete, solid brick and the architectural lines will be in harmony with the other campus buildings.

Entrance to the new addition will be attained through an archway connecting it and the old wing, and also from the auditorium of the Little Theater. Along the walk that leads to Jefferson street, passing between the science and history building, there will be another set of steps interposed so that the level of the walk will be the same as that of the basement floor of the new annex.

Ticket Sale Starts Monday

Tucker Announces Cast Of Junior Minstrel

Tickets for Junior Minstrels, to be held in Westcott auditorium at 8:15, April 8, will go on sale Monday afternoon at a booth in lower Westcott and will be sold every afternoon next week including all day Friday. A sheet will be placed on the Junior Minstrels bulletin board in Westcott on which students may sign up to sell tickets.

Original songs, music and dances as well as speaking parts will be featured in this year's Junior Minstrels. Main characters, Corinne Johnston, Kathryn Andrews, Frankie Hall, Georgia Fields, Adrienne Blumberg and Frances Christian will have a supporting cast of approximately 75 students.

The production is under the direction of Dot Tucker, Mary Louise Norwood and Ann Stanton are in charge of musical scores and other committees as announced by Dot Tucker are Bee Daniels and Mary Louise Perry, dance committee; Audrey Perry, publicity; Jeanne Dorminey, substitute; Sarah Bennett, program; "Scouts" Lester, tickets; Marjorie Torres, make up; Peggy Kay, finance; Ella Mae Quinby, music; Evelyn Bellamy, properties; Kit Land, lighting; Corinne Johnston, Frankie Hall and all committee members, script.

The chairman of properties would appreciate knowing where she could find a baby carriage and a lamp post. Anyone knowing where either of these objects could be located is asked to notify Miss Tucker.

Continued on page Three

U S Post Office Asks For Workers

The U S post office department needs student workers in Washington, D C. There are openings for stenographers, clerical workers, and file clerks "all summer," said Dr Annis.

The office pays $1440 per annum salary plus $212 overtime compensation.

A Post Office representative will meet appointees upon arrival in Washington and housing arrangements will be made in one of the Housing projects.

Applicants will be referred to a personal interview by a Post Office Inspector here and a physical examination is required.

For further information concerning application, see the Personnel Office.

Students in History Building Work to the Sounds of Drills

Students having classes in the History building have been forced to plug their ears with cotton the past week due to the various sounds of hammering and drilling arising from the construction work being done on the new addition. V C McClain, superintendent in charge of construction and also said that the work is ahead of progress is being made according to plans.

The annex will run east and north to form a closed-in court which will be landscaped and beautified. This new addition will be used for the purpose of classrooms, accommodating various departments. At present no specific assignments of space have been made, except that the basement area is to be used for dressing rooms for the speech department.

Rogers And Parker Give Swan Songs

Dr Andrews Explains The Qualifications For Honors Work

Farewell speeches by Isabel Clark will present the student review. Janet Pancoast will discuss the possibility of the State Legislature's passing the bill in favor of co-education. The speeches will be followed by open discussion.

Farewell speeches by Isabel Clark, president of the Student Government Association, and Tedy Parker, chairman of Judiciary; explanation of honors work by Dr Elizabeth Andrews, awarding of F's by Woman's Athletic Association President Joe Guthrie; and student announcements constituted Tuesday's convocation.

Isabel said that the students should take individual responsibility to make college life higher by all working together.

"By working together students are able to uphold college standards better, to improve relationships between faculty and students, and to have more responsibility placed in their hands for governing themselves," she pointed out.

Isabel concluded her farewell speech by wishing the best of luck to her successor and thanking the students for the most satisfying and richest experiences in her life.

In her farewell talk, Tedy Parker explained that the honor of Phi Beta Kappa is the highest honor of the students in the college, and that the honor code consists of honor to oneself, to one's college, and to one's fellow students. She stated that the only satisfaction that she got from trying students that break the honor code is that other students might profit from the mistake of the offending student.

"Being chairman of Judiciary has meant a great deal to me and

Continued on page three

Hindus to Lecture On Russia April 14

A and B Series Tickets Valid; Distributed Next Week

Maurice Hindus, author, lecturer and expert on Russia, will speak in the Westcott auditorium Saturday, April 14, at 8:15 p m as an Artist Series feature. Tickets will be distributed Monday and Tuesday of next week from 4 until 6 p m in the Student Building and will be available to either red or blue series tickets. Only those with tickets for reserved seats will be admitted.

Dean Karl O Kuerstener of the School of Music stated that this will be the last concert lecture of the year. "Mr Hindus is a distinguished author and notable personality and I feel that students cannot afford to miss hearing him," he said.

Mr Hindus has recently returned from Europe, where he was as a correspondent on the fighting front and made frequent visits to the Russian sector. The American authority on Russia, he is the author of many books and interpreter of one people to another. Formerly correspondent for the New York Herald-Tribune, he is the author of Mother Russia, Russia Speaks to the World, Broken Earth, Red Bread and other books.

Tickets will go on sale April 14 to the College Book store. Those men will be admitted at half price.

Liddell Presents Challenge to YW

A challenge was presented to the new cabinet of the Young Women's Christian Association by Dr Anne J Liddell, professor of philosophy, in her address at the YWCA installation service held in the clubroom of the Student Alumnae building Monday at 5 o'clock.

Dr Liddell urged the new officers to look forward to new achievements and not to content themselves to the previous accomplishments of the association. She advised them not to stress activities to the exclusion of constructive thinking and creative personal religious life but to find the needs and opportunities "ripe for the sickle" and to "cry" can fulfill and strive to fill them.

Margaret Clayton was installed as president; Wilma Humphrey, vice president; Jane Ann Hall, secretary; Rita Ray, treasurer; Betty Ruth Goode, chairman of worship commission; Ann Cox and Betty Dowd, co-chairmen of social action committee; Doris Hill, chairman of service activity committee; Ann Singleton, chairman of membership committee; and Margaret Cockerell, office manager. Mary Monaco, who is to be publicity chairman, could not attend.

The former officers passed

Continued on page three

Concert to Be Given

The annual spring concert of the college glee club and symphony orchestra will be given April 9 and 10 in the auditorium, a group of selections by Percy Grainger, who will be on campus during Music week, May 6 through 12, will be featured.

Betsy Martin, sophomore, will appear as piano soloist. The program presented with the assistance of Mrs Ramona C Beard, college organist, will include one number given jointly by the orchestra and glee club.

Co-Education!

Co-education will be discussed at an open forum to be held in the Student Alumnae auditorium tonight at 8 p m. All students are urged to attend this discussion.

Robin Hill will give the history of co-education in Florida. On the affirmative side in the argument for co-education will be Rachael Ball, and Nell Clark will present the negative view. Janet Pancoast will discuss the possibility of the State Legislature's passing the bill in favor of co-education. The speeches will be followed by open discussion.

Judy Pepper Names Staff

29 Reporters Elevated To Staff Positions

The new staff of the Flambeau for the year 1945-46 has been appointed by Judy Pepper, newly elected editor, with the assistance and approval of the old editorial staff and Miss Pearl Shepard, instructor in journalism.

Janet Rogers, present assistant editor, in the recent election, holds the position of managing editor while Peggy Kay, Anne Gaither and Betty Weaver are the new assistant editors. Assistant editors are to write editorials and, in general, see that the paper goes to press.

Managing editorship is in the hands of Shirley Rodgers, whose job is to "mother" the paper. Mary Alexander and Peggy La Thomann are the new editors, who keep the news coming in.

The business staff of the paper is headed by Mary Humphrey with the title of business manager. Eileen Davis was appointed advertising manager.

Other appointments are Lola Rose Copp, society editor; Betty Ruth Goode with duties Ruth Keller, Mary Nell McFadden, Jeanne Tillinghast; Evelyn Bellamy, copy editor; Patsy is feature editor, with Eileen Davis and Mary Louise Perry as feature writers; Leticia Sullivan and Betty Hargrove are new columnists; Jeanne Tillinghast, office manager; Marie Waters and Burma Cox, student interviewers; Bobbie Jones, assistant Shirley Rodgers with managing editorship; Beryl Hitchen, society editor, with Darley Lochner as assistant to this position. Betty Boyd is sports editor, with Mildred Reed writes the column "In This

Continued on page three

Unusual Experiment Is Being Conducted By Physics Student

Juanita Cooper, doing individual directed study in physics, is carrying on an unusual experiment. She is comparing the effects of the different cameras having a good lens with that of a pinhole camera, which is merely an empty box with a film plate inside and a hole pierced by a small needle in the opposite side to let the light enter.

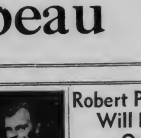
This pinhole camera is the oldest type of camera. It produces an image of respectable size and has a wide angle and excellent depth of field. The main disadvantage of this lensless camera is the necessity of a long-time exposure. Whereas an ordinary camera requires a time of exposure of approximately 1/100 seconds, the pinhole camera requires an exposure of from three seconds to four minutes. As the size of the hole is increased, the time of exposure is decreased, and the picture becomes blurred. The film may also be moved about within the camera. As it is placed closer to the opening, the area of vision becomes wider.

The startling feature of this camera is that it works due to the small amount of light entering at one time, during the exposure, being concentrated in front of the camera directly in the line of vision, thereby making a clear impression whatever on the film plate.

Juanita made her own camera with materials obtained from Eastman Kodak Company.

V-E Day Celebration Plans Are Complete

National Anthem and Service To Announce Beginning



The playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" on the Florida State College organ will announce the beginning of V-E Day, Dr Ruth Doak S Campbell, president of the college, has announced. A commemorative service program to be held behind Westcott if the weather permits; otherwise, in the auditorium, is planned. There will be no general dismissal of classes on that day, the atmosphere but in the event that the announcement comes during the hour, classes meeting the next hour will be dismissed and the service which will last 30 or 40 minutes. If the news should come at night the announcement will be made by the president at the time he deems best.

Since the initial service program is held, an observance of a different nature will be held in the Westcott auditorium that evening if possible. It will consist of an impressive service of thanks of V-E Day and the war, selections by the college choir, and other group singing. Wherever possible, all meetings or programs scheduled for that time will be called off.

Church Choirs Sing In Easter Vespers

The last of a series of pre-Easter vespers was presented Monday afternoon in Westcott auditorium in observance of Palm Sunday. Choral selections were sung by choirs representing the various churches of Tallahassee. The program was sponsored by the local chapter of the American Guild of Organists.

Beginning with an organ processional, the program was led by Miss Ruth Pitts, organist-choirmaster from the state and junior choirs from the Methodist church, Mrs Irene Bond Beard, assistant professor of organ, the program presented the following choirs: First Baptist Senior choir, First Baptist Junior Baptist Student Union, Hillel Student, Presbyterian church, Presbyterian student, St John's Episcopal church, senior, St John's Episcopal church junior, Buze Hall student, Trinity Methodist church senior, Trinity Methodist church junior and Methodist student choir. A choir from Dale Mabry field was scheduled to sing but was unable to appear.

ROBERT P. TRISTRAM COFFIN
Author of "Mainstays of Maine," Prize Poem in Forum, "Lost Paradise," etc.
(Macmillan)

Scholarships Now Available

Physical Therapy Training Given By Foundation

Scholarships for training in physical therapy under the program of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are available immediately for classes commencing in June and July, Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation, announced.

As a result of the increasing use of physical therapy in the treatment of infantile paralysis and other diseases, and because of the acute shortage of trained personnel, the National Foundation is offering these scholarships for study to twelve month courses in approved schools of physical therapy. The scholarships will cover tuition and maintenance in accordance with the student's needs.

"There are opportunities at the present time for the full employment of 5,000 additional physical therapists throughout the nation," Mr O'Connor said. "However, at present day teaching facilities at approved schools can accommodate approximately only 1,000 students. Teaching facilities at these schools are limited by the additional teachers obtained through the National Foundation's teaching fellowships so that the training capacity of the schools may be greatly increased for the duration of the profession."

Pointing out that there are only 2,500 qualified physical therapists in the United States, with more than half of them in the armed services, Mr O'Connor said it is now required several years to train the additional thousands of physical therapists needed.

"The post war possibilities in this

Continued on page three

Seniors Nominate Lewis for President

Betty Lewis was nominated for the office of president of the class in preliminary elections held yesterday.

Mary Lee Withers, Doc Jean Tobias, Alese Trisetz, and Nancy Parker were those selected for permanent secretary. All nominations were left open until 11 p m last night.

Primary elections will be held in Westcott auditorium at 8 a m Thursday in lower Westcott.

The president announced the following dates for future events: tree planting, May 2; junior-senior ball reception, May 4; senior-senior breakfast, May 5; senior talent program, May 8; and Class Day, May 26.

Seniors are requested not to wear caps and gowns to the remaining convocations.

"Yellow Jacket' Rehearsals Are Fun Because of Play's Oddity

Pantomime, quaint music and rhythmic movements are the order of the day at rehearsals of "Yellow Jacket" as work progresses on the play Chinese fantasy, which will be presented by the speech department at Florida State College April 11, 13 and 13 features the characters riding in full view of the audience with comic effects, climbing an imaginary "mountain" and going boating on the "river" in the Chinese manner.

"Rehearsals are more fun than work because the play is so different from any production that has ever been given before," stated a member of the cast. Performers explained that free, unrestricted action will be used and that the movements will be big and broad, leaving quite a bit to the imagination of the audience.

Oriental music heralding the entrance of each group of characters and reflecting a definite mood is to be played by an orchestra from the center of the stage. A Chinese chorus on the sidelines also will announce every entrance.

The traditional property man and his assistants are ever present. To effect a change in setting, they manipulate the scenery in full view of the audience, thereby the actual performance they are to sit at one side of the auditorium eating rice with chopsticks or playing cards while supplying the actors with any paraphernalia necessary they might need.

Strange as these imaginative pantomimes will be the costumes and make up. Dressed in Chinese robes, the actors will wear make-up designed to make their characters obvious to the audience. Disreputable characters, for example, will wear mask-like make-up with brightly colored streaks across their faces.

Robert P Tristram Coffin Will Be Poet in Residence On FSC Campus April 2-6

Noted Maine Writer Scheduled for Four Lectures, Conference With Student Writers And Judging of Contest Poetry

Robert P Tristram Coffin, noted Maine poet, will be on the Florida State College campus April 2 through April 6 to give lectures concerning modern poetry, judge the poetry submitted to the Creative Arts contest and confer with those interested in creative writing.

Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock Mr Coffin will give his first address in the August Conradi Little Theater. At 8:15 Monday night he will speak in Westcott auditorium at which time the citizens of Tallahassee are invited as well as the students of the college. A third talk open to all students will be given by Mr Coffin next Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the August Conradi theater Wednesday, April 4, the guest poet will speak to members of the Phi Beta Kappa and other invited guests.

Mr Coffin is not a stranger here as he visited the FSC campus in 1939 at which time Miss Bertha Woodworth, who is now the college publicity secretary, interviewed him for the Flambeau. He will also visit the Student Alumnae building while he is here next week. Before coming here the poet was on tour in Texas and will go to Milledgeville, Georgia, and Columbia, South Carolina, to discuss his ideas about poetry as a public function to the public.

Though Mr Coffin is noted for his poetry, which has appeared in eight volumes, he is also a novelist, critic, biographer, essayist and is a Pierce professor of English at Bowdoin college. He is an authority on modern poetry and has lectured in 31 of Columbia, also the Turnbull Memorial lectures at Johns Hopkins University, and the Page lectures at Indiana, 1941. He has lectured and read poems at numerous colleges and clubs across America, has been on the staff of the Writing Conference at the University of New Hampshire since its foundation; has been Phi Beta Kappa poet at Harvard, Virginia, Tufts, William and Mary, Hamilton and Wake. Mr Coffin has received many other literary honors from

Continued on page three

Miss Walters To Go Overseas

Has Position with UNRRA Will Leave April 7

Miss Catherine Walters, dietitian at Florida State College, registered nurse and student's nominee, has been appointed as dietitian with the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration (UNRRA).

Miss Walters, who will leave the college on April 7, undergo a six-weeks' indoctrination and training period at the University of Maryland to familiarize herself to take up her work in mass feeding of people in countries being rehabilitated.

An appointment to UNRRA is a high professional honor, since only persons with the best professional training and experiences are accepted. Maturity of outlook, balanced judgment and tolerance are also qualifications.

Miss Walters, who is from De-Land, had her B S degree and her M S degree from Florida State College and has also done summer work at the University of Tennessee and at the University of Chicago. She has taught home economics in Florida schools, notably at Fort Myers for four years and at Sarasota for the three years preceding her coming to Florida State College as a dietitian in 1940.

She is the author of a study of basal metabolism in the diet of young college women of Florida (with Dr Jennie Tilt) in the Journal of Nutrition of January, 1944, and of a wartime guide for teaching home economics in Florida institutions, which she personally distributed over the state.

Any new members who present their membership receipts for admission at either the last concert of the 1944-45 season. This concert by Sidney Foster, pianist, will be given Friday night in the Leon High school auditorium. Mr Foster, who is a former symphony orchestra performer, was a pianist at the age of 10 when he made his first appearance with Stokowski.

All students and faculty who have not sent in renewals for

Continued on page three

Music Club Begins Membership Drive

Obtain Tickets Next Week; Sidney Foster Coming

Invitations for membership in the Florida State Music club association will be extended next week. This will be the only time membership cards can be obtained, according to the rules of the national association, which permits only one week in each year for membership campaigning.

Any new members may present their membership receipts for admission at either the last concert of the 1944-45 season. This concert by Sidney Foster, pianist, will be given Friday in the Leon High school auditorium. Mr Foster, who is a former symphony orchestra performer, was a pianist at the age of 10 when he made his first appearance with Stokowski.

All students and faculty who have not sent in renewals for

Continued on page three

Library Features Easter In Exhibit

An Easter exhibit of books has been placed on various tables in the library by the college library.

A Treasury of Art Masterpieces edited by Thomas Craven, is open to the Crucifixion by Antonello de Messina of the Venetian School.

On the table with this book are The Spell of the Holy Land by Archie Bell, which contains interesting pictures of various places in Palestine. The Quotable Bible edited by Louis M Notkin, The Sermons on the Mount, and Mary, the Mother of Jesus, which is open to the "Adoration of the Shepherds."

On another smaller table are a group of anthologies of Easter poems. Placed near these are two editions of the Bible and The Greatest Book in the World by A Edward Newton, which is an essay on the Bible. Two novels and a biography, The Robe, by Lloyd C Douglas, Ben Hur by Lew Wallace, and Life of Christ, by Giovanni Papini, are on another table. The last book in the exhibit is As I See Religion by Harry E Fosdick.

Spirit of the Week

In Your Easter Bonnet

CO-EDUCATION—YES OR NO?

The suhject of co-education in general and the co-education for Florida bas been greatly discussed in the past months. The issue has merited even State-wide attention with special emphasis being placed upon it hy the University of Florida, even in their festive occasions such as Spring Frolics.

In view of the fact that a special forum is being presented tonigbt for the purpose of bringing to ligbt both sides of the question of co-education for Florida, the following editorials, one affirmative and one negative, are printed to give both views in the hope that students will give this matter due consideration and be in a small way more enligbtened before the forum. A matter of as great importance and as relevant to student life as this should be carefully studied hy each student.

PRO——

Florida stands alone today as the only state whicb does not have a co-educational college or university state-supported. Women have been accepted in the Army, Navy and Marines; they work with men in husiness and industry; they have equal rights as voters, hut in Florida they may not be educated with men in a state-supported institution.

Co-education has been accepted for many years as a part of the American plan of higber education, but it is barred in Florida's state college and university, because of a bill of forty years ago. A survey was made in 1935 listing the eleven greatest universities in America, and reported in the Atlantic Monthly by its author, Edwin R Embree. These universities were rated according to the outstanding scholars who taught there and hy the eminence of the various departments.

They are: Harvard, the University of Chicago, Columbia University, the University of California, Yale, the University of Michigan, Cornell, Princeton, Johns Hopkins, the University of Wisconsin ,and the University of Minnesota. Of the first four on the list, three are co-educational; Chicago, Columhia and California. A total of seven of the eleven are co-educational; four are men's universities.

University of Virginia, the University of North Carolina and the University of Texas are the three best Southern universities, according to Mr Emhree; two out of the three are co-education.

During the 1945 session of the legislature a bill is to be introduced to give Florida co-education. Representative Holmes Melton, Jr, of Lafayette county, who was a law student at the University of Florida during the first semester of this year, will be a co-sponsor of the hill. His plan is to allow women to enroll at the University of Florida during their junior and senior years, the system which has been succesfully adopted at the University of North Carolina.

Three alternatives to this plan have been suggested hy various legislators. First, to leave the two state colleges as they are. Second, to make the University of Florida co-educational temporarily because of the wartime decrease in enrollment there and the increase in enrollment at Florida State College. Third, to admit men and women to both state colleges.

It is feared that hringing co-education to either or both of Florida's state colleges will damage the scholastic standing of these institutions. However, other state universities have become co-educational witbout any damage to tbeir academic standing. If seven out of eleven of the best universities in the country are co-educational, what has Florida to fear"

Another ohjection is that if both colleges were to become co-educational, a duplication of facilities would occur, which would put the two schools in competition with one another. But as Representative Charles E Sheppard of St Augustine points out, "It might be well to turn Florida State College into a college where students of both sexes might secure a classical education and the University of Florida into a school where special training along professional lines might be provided." Or, he suggests, "perhaps Tallahassee is the best place to have a specialized education with the exception of agriculture, and let Gainesville have the standard college course. The law school would be particularly well located in Tallahassee."

The editor of the Florida Alligator, Eddie Kelly, said, "Our aim is to broaden the educational system of the state with no thought of competition with anybody."

The Florida Junior Chamber of Commerce, the University of Florida Alumni Association and the student body of the University of Florida have all endorsed the plan for co-education at the University during the last two years. The Alumnae Association of Florida State College does not favor the plan of co-education.

Different legislators have expressed varying views on the question, but it must be remembered that Florida is the one state in the union that does not offer state-supported co-education to its students. Florida students must leave the state if they desire to go to a co-educational state university. It must be admitted that the problem is complex, that it must be considered carefully. It now rests with the elected representatives of the people of Florida, the 1945 state legislature.

CON——

For over forty years Florida State College has been devoted solely to the purpose of educating women. Established as a separate institution by act of the Legislature in 1905, the college has achieved its prestige and maintained its high standing in the academic world by virtue of its activities as such a separate institution, and this standing is not a fact to be lightly tken or hurriedly cast aside under pressure of war emergency. In consideration of the current discussions regarding the introduction of co-education to this campus, such problems of college welfare and prestige become evident.

Aside from the question of established position in the scholastic world is the question of expense. The task of changing and developing the facilities of the two schools to accommodate both men and women would be an immense one for financers as well as organizers. Under the proposed plan by which the Gainesville institution would become the center for standard college courses and Tallahassee for specialized training along professional lines, the reorganization and development of facilities would entail an immense expense as well as a colossal feat of planning which would seem hardly practical in time of war emergency. Even the plan for establishing co-education as a temporary wartime measure to harmonize Tallahassee's surpluses with Gainesville's lowered enrollments would be a highly complicated procedure. Residence as well as academic halls would have to undergo considerable overhauling to serve their new function and expenditure as well as delay in proceedings would seem to defeat the very purpose of the action.

Further suggestions have arisen as to the establishment of a co-educatoinal status at the state university during the junior and senior college years, leaving the state college in its present standing. It is feared, however, that this plan, though greatly modified compared to other ideas, would serve to reduce Florida State College to the position of a glorified junior college, which students would attend only to secure sufficient academic credit hours to permit admission to the privileged years at the university. Enlargement of the co-education plan is also opposed from the academic standpoint by the fear that the mixing of the two institutions wil lresult in increased social activities and a proportionately marked decrease in the traditionally high scholastic average of the state college.

The solution of the university enrollment shortage would probably be reached in the proposal by which the university alone would become entirely co-educational, reaching its normal peacetime quota by draining students from Tallahassee's over-hurdened supply. But this measure could be little more than temporary. The state college surplus, as the state university vacancy, is a war phenomena—and its duration will probably closely approximate the duration of the war. If incresed male enrollment will follow military victory, as well may be supposed, facilities equal to peacetime accommodations will be required to take care of boys returning to the campus. Similarly, crowded conditions at FSC will probahly come to an end with the return to peacetime salaries and peacetime conditions. Thus it becomes obvious that under this suggestion, the educational balance of power will be three to one in favor of women in the period following war, unless the status quo is maintained or co-education is extended to both institutions.

Opposition to the latter suggestion aries in the feeling that under auch conditions the t o schools would cease to supplement each other. By admitting the same type of student at both institutions, that is, both men and women, the university and the college will be placed on a competitive basis.

All in al!, the prohlem of the introduction of co-education to Florida's campuses is one which requires thought and consideration. There is more to this situation than the superficial transplanting of the sexes, and any decisions which are made must be made with a full understanding of the advantages and disadvantages to be encountered hy the choice.

Short Change

A Marine in a sniper's post on a Jap-infested island had been doing his job and doing it well Suddenly his superior officer whispered to him from behind him. "Buddy you'll have to give me your rifle."

"Why?" interrupted the Marine, "I've been doing all right in the past five hours. I've picked off 19 of the yellow Nips. Why do you want my rifle?"

"I hate to tell you this," said the officer, "but the fellow back home whose war bond purchased that rifle wants his money back."

Let's not forget to buy our war stamps for this week.

The Daily Cardinal

Mrs Vanderam was giving a bridge party when the patter of tiny feet was heard on the stairs

"Hush," she said softly. "The children are going to give their good night message. It always gives me such a sentimental feeling to bear them."

There was a moment of tense silence; then, shrilly: "Mamma, Percy found a bedbug."

North Texas ends Red Cross drive with total of $2,815.06 contributed by students and faculty.

The love of a beautiful maiden
The love of a staunch true man
The love of a baby unafraid have existed since time began,
But the love of loves,
The love greater than any other

Continued on page four

Magazine Jottings . . .

By Catharine Nollman

Conscription For Peacetime?

By HANSON W BALDWIN

A glimpse into the vitally important issue of peacetime conscription—now before Congress—is given in the current issue of Harper's by Hanson W Baldwin who is said to be one of the top ranking civilian writers on military and naval affairs.

Mr Baldwin maintains that if peacetime conscription is ultimately judged as essential to our postwar military policy then it must be had, but the decision must be made in view of the fact that it is a part of the whole problem of postwar defense; that it may possibly carry with it determent to our political, economic, and social policies; and that it must be made on the grounds of military merits alone. He feels that legislation fcr compulsory military training is for tomorrow and not for today. With this in mind it becomes necessary to know more about the coming needs of our military systems than can be analyzed before the present war is completed and the peace begun. The suggestion is made that a committee on the order of the Morrow or Baker Board should be appointed to study the problem.

Although they vary slightly, all the conscription bills introduced to date provide for one year of military training in the army or navy. The ages stated in the bills vary from 18 to 22 or from the time of graduation from high school or preparatory school. After the training is completed each man may be enrolled as a reservist for a stated period and may be subject to periodic refresher training.

The issue of the wartime draft law, which terminates May 15, 1945, need not be confused with the peacetime conscription bills which are also before Congress, for the conscription bills provide for training and not for service. In Mr Baldwin's opinion there can be no alternative to the extension of the present wartime conscription act to an extension of two to five years after the end of hostilities.

Those in favor of pressing the peacetime conscription bill through Congress while the war is still on maintain that after the cessation of hostilities public interest in national defense subsides. Those against immediate action, says Mr Baldwin, believe that it is too grave a subject to be passed in the heat of war and without the influence of the men and women now serving in battle.

The author presents and tears down what he calls the "straw men" arguments for and against conscription. Against the arguments of the military benefits of medical treatment and education comes the answer that those jobs belong to the medical profession, the public health associations and the educational institutions. In contradiction to the thesis that military training will develop discipline and character is the statement by Dr Leonard W Mayo of the New York Times that the main purpose of military training is to teach men to fight and kill. Also from the military training of the youth of a nation there arises the question of a balance of power in government and the danger of allowing the military class to become too influential.

In regards to the international arguments for conscription Mr Baldwin states the conscription will not stop the outbreak of war although it may effect the method of starting and the execution. As to the military standpoint he reminds the reader that although the United States will need to maintain scientifically and mechanically the best equipment in the world and a sizeable cadre of highly trained soldiers, sailors, and airmen of all ranks plus a reserve corps of officers selected for outstanding leadership, this system must be maintained entirely by volunteers for the one year training will not provide troops for service.

As Mr Baldwin sees it, the most valid argument given for conscription is that it will build up a large reserve for the ground forces and at the outbreak of war will enable the skeleton of an army to be filled out with apparent rapidity and ease. However, the inducted troops will have to be refreshed and taught new methods.

The great intangible arguments against conscription is according to the author, "America must remain a land in which the state exists for the people, not the people for the state."

Heartache on the Campus

By MRS GLENN FRANK

In the April issue of the Woman's Home Companion Mrs Glenn Frank, a sorority woman and the widow of the late president of the University of Wisconsin, gives her reasons why she considers sororities and fraternities not only unmercifully cruel, but also incompatible with the ideas of democracy for which the

Continued on page four

In This Our Time . . . .

By GLORIA REED

Allied Air Operations

In Europe during the last week the Allied air forces have been carrying on continuous bombing raids over Germany. The pattern of these attacks would tend to indicate that the Allied command is preparing for a not too distant all-out assault designed to crack the inner defenses of the Reich. The first air targets in Germany were her heavy industries—her tank and gun factories. Later the Luftwaffe's resources bad been the objective. Fourteen of last week's targets were rail centers. Since 12 of these were oil or benzol facilities, it is clear thet the Allied intention was to destroy German mobility — her strategic rail system, the sources for fuel and tanks. By immobilizing the Reich and gutting off its supplies, the Allies were preparing for the bettle of inner Germany. There was only a small German air force to fight the bombers; the Reich relied on ground defense.

Although the main European Allied air raids have been on the German transportation system, the eities also have been heavily bombed. A traveler reaching Sweden from Germany last week said that of the 250 large towns Germany had before the war, the majority of them now are rubble heaps. It is estimated, said the traveler, that 20,000,000 Germans have already fled from their homes to escape bombers and guns. In Berlin, this source stated, the dwellings which once housed 4,250,000 persons have been ruined to such an extent that they can now accommodate only 800,000 and that in Munich there is no light, gas, or running water.

An RAF spokesman said that only one of twenty synthetic oil plants in Germany was still working and only nineteen of seventy-eight coke-oven plants.

In heavy blows against Japan's remaining sea strength last week, navy planes ranged wide over the harbors of Japan's Inland Sea, striking warships and at their bases. This attack, according to navy officials, was extremely daring. Planes from an estimated 15 fast carriers roared out of the skies in successive waves and dropped bomb loads on airfields, seaports and seven major naval bases. The next day the bombers returned to smash at fleet units and shore installations near Kobe, the enemy's principal port.

European Land Battles

In the most massive operation since D-Day, last June 6, Allied forces swept across the Rhine ripping the historic barrier wide open. The United States Ninth Army, with General Eisenhower watching, charged five miles into the Ruhr just south of Wesel; welded four crossing's into a solid 12-mile bridgehead and captured 12 towns southward within four miles of Duisbury, Europe's greatest inland port. This gigantic blow came after: the widespread collapse of German armies west of the Rhine the last of the Westwall reduced, the Saar knocked out of the Reich war machine and the Ruhr brought under fire from two directions.

During this combined land, sea and air assault, Prime Minister Churchill, with the usual cigar clamped in his teeth, watched the Rhine crossing operations from a spot overlooking the great river's banks.

In eastern Europe Russian tanks and infantry smashed within 40 miles of Vienna and surged 43 miles across western Hungary along a 62-mile front in a great new offensive timed with the Allied assault in the west, Premier Stalin disclosed. The Red Army, 31 miles from Berlin, engaged large numbers of troops needed hy the Germans to hurl against the Allies pouring into inner Germany.

Pacific Naval Action

In the Pacific last week the navy supported the air attacks on Japan. Incomplete reports indicated that the Japanese Navy has suffered fifteen to seventeen warships damaged. Within the last week's attacks, the enemy's sea strength would appear to have been seriously hampered for the immediate future.

On The Domestic Front

President Roosevelt has asked Congress for new power to slash tariffs to help "build an economically healthy world." Numerous and stormy objections arose in the senate from Republicans who said the move would be an economic blow to the United States which would mean closed industries and no jobs for returning war veterans. From the way the president stated his proposition, many observers believe this will be the hottest tariff fight since the Smoot-Hawley bill was written in 1930.

COLLEGE COMMENTS . . . . . .

We saw a major on campus the other day. 'Scuse us, what we really should have said is that we saw an Army major on campus the other day. That would distinguish him from a "Major" which as everyone, even the greenest freshman with hardly any orientation at all, knows is a physical education major. We did have something important to say about the Army major, but all that explanation has made it so involved that it will just be easier to drop it. Forgive us for even mentioning it, and we'll start all over with something new.

We have another sad tale to tell you this week. One brilliant girl we know who has had unlimited cuts ever since she came up here won't be able to go home for Easter as she was planning to. She took the first cut she has taken all semester last Tuesday morning before Honors Day Convocation and because Honors Day was a holiday (please don't ask us why it was one) she lost all her cuts. It is even more sad when you know that she is one of the honor students. But we guess Easter at home isn't too important, and the Honors Day program was very solemn and it will probably become a very impressive tradition.

We don't like to complain all the time and we know life isn't all root beer and skittles, but why is it that if you arrive at the dining hall believing yon have a minute or so to spare the "Closed" sign is always up? It wouldn't be so annoying sometimes, but it inevitably happens when you are starving and don't have any money, and don't even have a roommate who has some money. Maybe some day all the clocks on campus will be synchronized and these fascinating little surprises will disappear. Meantime we can comfort ourselves with the thought that it will do us good to miss a meal or so. Vitamin pills are a big help, too.

It seems strange that all the alumni of the University of Florida would like to see co-education in this state while all the alumnae of FSC don't approve of the idea. Maybe it is just that our alumnae want to protect us from the big, bad G'ville wolves, but from the reports of Spring Frolics it sounds as though a few wolves make life interesting. It isn't that the Dale Mabry variety isn't trying hard, but they will be gone after the war and Tally will still be here. Maybe all this is irrevelant, but our lives could stand to be made a little more interesting.

If you've noticed a few girls who seem to be outcasts of society be assured that this isn't their perpetual position. It is just that they have been indulging in the home grown variety of permanent waves and they have to go around for a whole day with their hair done up in some sticky stuff. To be perfectly frank about it, they smell.

Quarterlies are all over and it seems nice to slip back into the old rut of sleeping until ten minutes before your first class, and going to the Soda Shop between classes instead of studying every possible minute. This can go on for about seven weeks and then exams start. Isn't there always someone like us around to spoil your beautiful peace and quiet?

